Delaware Motorists Pay Large Federal "Gas" Tax

Federal gasoline taxes represent a tax toll of well over a half million dollars a year now being paid by Delaware motor vehicle owners and not a cent of this sum is used for highway improvement, according to a statement made today by W. Purvess Taylor, secretary of the Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware.

"Diversion of state motor funds to purposes other than highway construction, reconstruction and maintenance has been so serious," Mr. Taylor said, "that thousands of Delaware motor vehicle owners have completely overlooked the fact that the federal gasoline tax of 1-per cent per gallon, too, has been diverted.

"This one federal tax has reached the proportions of over $500,000 per year. Many people believe that this sum comes back to the state in the form of federal aid for state highways.

W. G. Wysor, general manager of the Southern States organization with headquarters in Richmond, pointed, in his annual report, to the cooperative's progress in the past year.

An increase of 23 per cent in tonnage over the preceding year and a net earning of approximately $200,000. He reported a membership of over 75,000. Expansion of plant facilities was also shown, with a new 60,000-ton, deep-water fertilizer plant at Norfolk, a new seed supply warehouse at Roanoke, and a feed mill now under construction in North Carolina.

H. E. Babcock, of the New York Cooperative Grange Federation, addressed the convention, and Dr. T. K. Wolfe, director of distribution for Southern States, discussed "Farmers in Business." The financial statement was made by O. E. Zacharias, Jr., comptroller.

Armistice Day 1938

By Raymond Pitcairn

At the Arc de Triomphe, in Paris, where rises the undying flame. . . .

At the Cenotaph, in London, where black-veiled women weep. . . .

At the Memorial Amphitheatre, in Arlington, where sleeps our Unknown Soldier. . . .

At these and many other shrines sacred to the memory of hero dead, the world once more pays reverent tribute.

For again we observe Armistice Day—this year on its twentieth anniversary. Again we honor the men who died in the hope that they were making the world a happier place in which to live.

To the young this celebration may mean much or little. But to millions of older men it brings each year more poignant emotions. Not only the recollections of gay and sturdy comrades who now sleep in honored graves. Not only disappointment because a brave new world which was to rise from the ashes of holocaust failed, somehow, to materialize. But deeper still, a sense of loss and disenchantment, when the high courage and the high idealism that marked those days is compared with the attitude of many of our leaders today.

Then the men in high places preached a united nation pressing onward to great and noble ends. Now, too many of them preach a message of group and class hatred.

Then we were told that it was the duty and the privilege of citizens loyally to aid and support their nation. Now, from countless political platforms we hear the reverse—that the people should expect the Nation to support them.

Then men strove for leadership on the basis of what they could do for America. Now, too many of them speak only of what they can get for their political supporters.

Undoubtedly these attitudes are temporary. Only the body of the Unknown Soldier is dead and buried. The spirit there represented is eternal. And if this year's celebration serves to bring that spirit more actively into our National life; if the observance recalls to men, in high place or low, the exaltation that comes with true co-operation toward a noble end—then Armistice Day will again have served its great and patriotic purpose.

CURTIS CONCERT

Program To Be Presented By Music Group

Three students of the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, will give the first of a series of three concerts in Mitchell Hall next Thursday evening under the sponsorship of the Newark Music Society. The program will start at eight o'clock.

The students form an interesting trio. Noah Bielski, violinist, made public appearances in Carnegie Hall, New York City, at the age of ten. He is a member of a Polish-American family living in Brooklyn. A student of violin with Efrim Zimbalist, Bielski has been announced as one of the winners of the auditions for solo appearances with the Philadelphia Orchestra in the present season's concerts for youths.

Pittsburgh Native

Nathan Stutch, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., is an American of Russian extraction. A graduate of Shenley High School, Stutch was a member of the school orchestra for four years and was also first cello in an "all city" high school orchestra. After being accepted as a student for Felix Salmond at Curtis, he began gaining experience as a soloist and this winter is booked for numerous public appearances in an around Philadelphia.

Sol Kaplan, the third member of the trio, will make his professional debut in New York City on December 23. This appearance was won by the unanimous vote of the nine judges of a contest held last summer and will be presented by the Society for Advancement of Music.

RHODES IS WINNER BY MARGIN OF 454 VOTES

Democrats Fail To Gain Single Statewide Or County Office

Sweeping back into power with the devastating force of a typhoon, Delaware Republicans crushed Democratic hopes by rolling up pluralities throughout the state on Tuesday that exceeded 13,000 in many cases.

The avalanche of Republican ballots not only swept U. S. Representative William F. Allen out of Congress and put Republicans into every office on the state-wide ticket, but gave the party undisputed control of the State Legislature—House and Senate.

Democrats, who went down to nearly complete defeat in New Castle and Sussex Counties, could console themselves only with the county offices in their normally faithful Kent, all of which they retained but one.

Control Of Legislature

With the advantage of five hold-over Senators in the General Assembly to two for the Republicans, the Democrats lost control of the upper house when they were able to fill only two out of ten Senatorial seats on which the electorate balloted.

At the same time, the lower branch, which had been controlled by the Democrats, shifted to Republican domination by 29 seats to 14. Only Robert A. Derriackson, lower New Castle County, and George Leslie Gooden, upper Kent County, survived the Republican avalanche in lights for Senatorial seats.

In contrast to this showing, the Republicans elected three out of four in New Castle County, two out of three in Kent, and all three in Sussex. Ten members of the lower house were elected by Republicans in New Castle County, three in Kent, and seven in Sussex.

Rhodes Easy Winner

The Newark representative fight between Dr. George W. Rhodes (R) and Ira C. Shellender (D) resulted in a one-sided triumph for the Republican standard bearer. Dr. Rhodes polled 1,515 votes to Shellender's 1,061. The victor carried two of the three districts, losing only the second (middle) by the close count of 559-515.

George R. Clark, Delaware City Republican, polled 3,725 votes to New Castle's Robert J. Quillen's 3,569 in the senatorial contest from the fifth district, embracing New Castle, White Clay Creek, and Red Lion Hundreds. Quillen, a newcomer in political circles, made it a close fight, losing by a scant 159 votes in contrast to the more than 500 majority given Clark in early returns.

The Independent Republican Party failed to take a single seat in the House or Senate and its legislative life throughout the state was sparse.

Record-Breaking Vote

True to advance surveys, the election brought out a record-breaking off-year vote, passing the 100,000 mark for the first time in an off-year. The total of 107,430 surpassed by more than 8,000 the 99,163 total for the last off-year election in 1934, but was still 20,175 below the all-time record of 127,605 established in the 1936 Presidential election.

In New Castle County, 71,212 persons went to the polls; in Kent, 15,515, and in Sussex, 20,605. The Democratic plurality of 15,658 of two years ago for the entire state became a Republican plurality of 11,842 this year, on the basis of the attorney-general election.

Williams Plurality 13,615

At the head of the ticket, George S. Williams of Millsboro, Republican, defeated Representative Allen for Delaware's single seat in the U. S. House of Representatives by polling 60,887 votes to 47,072 for Allen, giving him a plurality of 13,615. Williams had 41,371 in New Castle County to 30,668 for Allen, and 11,673 in Sussex, home of both candidates, to 8,432 for Allen. Kent was carried by Allen, 7,972 to 7,543. In Wilmington, Williams polled 26,827 to 19,927 for Allen.

In the hard-fought battle for the attorney-generalship, James R. Morford, Republican, polled 56,500 in the state to 47,424 for Stewart Lynch, Democrat, giving Morford a plurality of 9,076.

The race for state treasurer ended with Ernest C. Blackstone, Democratic incumbent, behind Fagan R. Simonton, Republican, by 11,995 votes. Simonton polled 59,276 in the state to 47,282 for Blackstone.

Improved SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 13

THE SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not kill.—Exodus 20:13. Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer.—1 John 3:15.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

The sanctity of human life finds its foundation in the fact that God created man in His own likeness and image. Because that is true no man has any right to take the life of another for any cause except at the direct command of God. Only by the orderly process of law for the protection of society and in accordance with the Word of God may there be any such action by man toward man. Both of these truths are declared in Scripture in God's covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:5, 6), which was made possibly a thousand years before the Ten Commandments were given to Moses.

Life is held rather cheaply in our day. Nations count their boys and girls as only so much "war material." Life is destroyed on the highway, in the shop, or in the home. Let us declare again the solemn command of God, "Thou shalt not kill."

I. The Prohibition of Murder (Exod. 20:13).

The word "kill" in this commandment is one which means a violent and unauthorized taking of life, and is therefore more properly translated "murder." Not all killing is murder. A man may kill another entirely accidentally, or he may be the duly constituted legal officer carrying out the law of the land in taking the life of one who has forfeited his right to live because he has slain another. There is also the right of self-defense, be it individual or collective. But these are the only exceptions; let us not attempt to justify any other.

Murder is too prevalent in our land. In 1936 there were 13,242 outright killings—a murder every 40 minutes. The head of the United States secret service estimates that there are 200,000 persons at large in our land who "have murder in their hearts and who will take human life before they die." Also in 1936 there were 37,000 deaths in automobile accidents. Some of these were by unavoidable accidents, but many were really murder because the one responsible drove with defective brakes, dangerous tires, or while he was intoxicated. Add to these the deaths in industry caused by failure to provide proper safeguards or healthy working conditions, and by the exploitation of child labor, and we say again, that we should cry aloud, "Thou shalt do no murder."

II. The Cause of Murder (Matt. 5:21, 22).

The Sermon on the Mount, from which the rest of our lesson is taken, while it "describes the character of the citizens of the earthly kingdom which the Messiah came to set up" and "assumes a class of people already saved, regenerated, and in fellowship with their King" (James M. Gray), does provide fundamental principles for the guidance of the Christian.

In this matter of murder, Jesus cuts right through the outward aspects of the matter and points out that an angry hatred in the heart is the root of all murder. If we hate, we have murder in our hearts. Circumstances may hinder its fulfillment, but the danger is always there until we remove the cause. Just being angry—calling our brother "Raca" (the modern equivalent of which is "nobody there"), and calling him "thou fool," which classifies him as "morally worthless"—these are the three dreadful downward steps to murder. And they begin in anger. May God help those of us who have strong feelings that we may not yield them to the devil in such anger against our brother!

III. The Prevention of Murder (Matt. 5:23-26, 38-42).

Prevention with God means more than putting up a barrier to keep us from killing. He deals with the heart, and thus puts the whole life right. It is not even a question of how we may feel against our brother. If he has sinned against us we are to do all we can to win him. He may be unreasonable, grasping, and unfair. However, the spirit that will win him is not that of retaliation or sullen submission to the inevitable, but rather a free and willing giving even beyond what is required.

The full interpretation of this passage is not possible in our limited space. It is clear from other scriptures that it does not mean that wicked and unscrupulous men are to be permitted to defraud and destroy God's people. At the same time, we must not explain away the heart of our Lord's interpretation of this great commandment. Let us seek His grace that we may, like Him, silence by our loving deeds and words even the bitter gainsayers of the gospel.

Stage Door Speakers

In Chapel last Thursday, the Stage Door production staff and cast had charge of the program. Jane Trent introduced the following girls: Production Manager Blanche Lee, Scenery Manager Janet Grubb, and Properties Manager Mary Armour, who spoke on the phases of production with which they are connected. Make-up Chairman, Thelma West gave a short demonstration on how to apply stage make-up; Edie Cushman, the leading lady in Stage Door, was her subject.

Art Activities

In Miss Mildred Burney's art activity class the students are beginning plans for the making of marionettes. When the project is completed, a play entitled "The Sleeping Beauty" will be presented by the group.

On November 4, Newark High School played the Delaware J. V. team. It was a fine game—the final score being 14-7 in our favor.

Girl Reserves

A Girl Reserve organization is being considered for all girls twelve years of age or older. On November 7 all those girls who were interested met with Miss Marjorie Starkweather. We are expecting good results.

"Buzz"

On November 4, ten minutes were deducted from the regular activities period for the distributing of the new "Buzz." It was a great success and the sales were even more than one hundred per cent in some of the home-rooms. Instead of being a magazine, it is a newspaper consisting of four pages. The majority of students agree that it is the "best we ever read."

BILLY

Santa Claus slowly paced up and down his comfortable study in his toy work shop at the North Pole. His hands were clasped behind his back and his brow was furrowed. He was considering a grave problem.

His favorite toy general, an old, old man, but still straight as a ramrod, stood at attention at one corner of the fireplace. This general had been in charge of Santa's toy army for the last century. "General," Santa said, as he paused in his stride, "You and I have talked over many things for the last hundred years. I have asked you to leave your barracks tonight, because something has been troubling me for quite a long time."

"Santa, if I can be of any service to you, just give me my orders and I will fight to the last man."

"Oh, it is nothing like that, General, although I am well aware of your loyalty. It is just this. Here it is 1937 already. The last three hundred years just seem to have slipped away. I have been toiling in the workshop scurrying to the designing room, perspiring in the packing room and then feverishly lashing my reindeer so as to deliver all toys by Christmas eve."

NURSES TO SUPPORT RED CROSS

The support the Delaware State Association of Graduate Nurses gives the annual Red Cross Roll Call will be clearly brought out this year by contributing as a separate group, under the chairmanship of Miss Lucile E. Dugan, who has her campaign already in full swing and plans to have it completed by tomorrow—the day the Roll Call normally begins. Cash returns of the nurses' contributions will be made as a unit, but in driving for 100 per cent membership, individual communities will also be allowed to claim credit of these, even though they do not collect the money.

To facilitate the collection of membership contributions from registered nurses, and others, Miss Dugan has appointed a sub-chairman in each hospital, and other gathering places of nurses throughout the state.

Each of these is authorized to receive the membership contribution of any graduate nurse or other person. Miss Dugan emphasizes that a nurse should contact the chairman most convenient to her, and not delay until she can reach the one in her own training school.

The committee members and their special fields are: Miss Dugan, general chairman; Miss Catherine MacLus, Delaware Hospital, Wilmington; Miss Freida Roerden, Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington; Misses Evelyn Whitell and Rebecca Smith, Wilmington General; the Misses Kathryn Mealey, Kathryn Mullin, and E. M. Shields, St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington; Miss Effie Kahle, Delaware State Hospital; Miss Irene Luff, Kent General Hospital; Mrs. Mable Harrington and Mrs. Winona Brown, Milford Memorial Hospital; Miss Elizabeth Wilkie, Beebe Hospital; Mrs. Anna Van W. Castle, Visiting Nurse Association of Wilmington; Miss Grace Murray, State Board of Health; and

Mrs. Helen Snow, chairman of the private duty section.

The Story of Billy and Ruth "Toy World Stylists"

RUTH

"Well, Santa," rumbled the old general, "Who is there to say your job has not been well done?"

"Only myself," Santa replied promptly. "Only I know what we have needed to complete our organization."

"What in the world can that be?" the general asked in astonishment. "Your shops are known to every boy and girl in the whole world. Tens of thousands of gnomes cheerfully work day and night to turn out the millions and millions of toys. You are the symbol of Christmas giving. You represent the cheer, the good humor, the gladness in the hearts of all men. What can you possibly need to complete an already perfect picture?"

"My dear, dear friend," Santa Claus answered, as he affectionately placed his arms around the shoulders of the fine general. "My dear General, we need the enthusiasm, the sparkle, the taste, the actual hidden desires of a young boy and girl. Surely, I am not an old man. I have scarcely been at my task for ten centuries. I am vigorous and hearty, but, General," and Santa smiled. "Do you ever read the business papers of America? If so, you may have noticed the repeated use of the word, 'angle.' We read of the 'Feminine angle' or the 'Style angle.' I guess it is high time we thought of the 'Modern Child Angle.' What with the Earth People's Golden Age of Invention—Radio, Aeroplanes, Submarines, or hundreds of things. Let us face the music, General. Just between us, can we keep right up to date? Are we making too many Noah's Arks? Do we really need forty-two million drums? Are music boxes as thrilling to boys and girls as they were twenty-five years ago? A boy and a girl must answer these questions. Let us use a good earthly word, 'Stylist.' It has a nice, pleasant sound, too. 'Stylist,' meaning those who set or make the styles in toys for America's girls and boys. These stylists will design and suggest toys that will have greatest play value for children of all ages. Then, these stylists will tell the children all about them. We need two stylists . . . one girl and one boy."

Lions Detain Mails In Northern Rhodesia

Lions held up the mails in northern Rhodesia recently. The mails being carried from Port Beaufort to Bulawayo, a distance of 170 miles, were held up for several days. The reason for this was that the mails were being carried by a lion.

On the trip they encountered a group of lions the third day from Port Beaufort. The lions formed a shield by turning the bicycles upside down and by holding the mails against the lions. The lions were very angry and became more and more angry. The lions were obliged to take refuge in the bushes. The mails were held up for several hours.

COUNTY'S PIED PIPER

George M. Worrlow

"Every varmint must go," said Agricultural Agent Worrlow in announcing a county-wide rat-rider campaign last week. The drive will be conducted on Thanksgiving eve. Under the plan, all rats in New Castle County will be attacked at the same time and consequent migration and re-infestation will not take place.

RAT WAR PLANS NOW COMPLETED

Drive Against Rodents Backed By Local Farmers

On the night of Wednesday, November 24, farmers of New Castle County will attempt to eliminate one of their biggest pests—the rat, a rodent that has increased alarmingly in population from year to year.

Interested in doing away with this menace because it is estimated that each rat destroys $2 worth of grain every year, federal rodent-control specialists have developed a method of catching fresh meat and fish, appetizing to the pest, but deadly.

Farmers throughout the county will distribute the poisoned food on Thanksgiving eve and an effort has been made to have all rural residents cooperate in order to prevent migration of the rats to other farms.

Research Nets Results
Years of experimentation by government workers, followed by scores of rat-killing campaigns all over the country, have proven that the addition of red squill, relatively harmless to people and animals except rats, has the power to completely wipe out the rat population of any community, town, city or larger territory when cooperative effort is employed.

A rat campaign on a single New Castle farm, close to another farm not baited, County Agricultural Agent George M. Worrlow declared, will have little value as long as rats from neighboring farms are present to spread the deficiency area. For this reason, cooperative effort will be the key to the success of the drive.

Red squill is used, according to Mr. Worrlow, because it has no harmful effects on humans, household pets, or poultry, even when taken in large doses. It is also a slow-working poison, requiring a maximum of three days to kill the rodent. In pain, the rat will go out in the open in search of water, or return to its burrow. Deaths occur underground in the majority of cases, and in others in the open, where the bodies may be picked up and disposed of.

Those wishing to cooperate with the drive are requested to notify Mr. Worrlow.

Aging Bread Employed In Making Maple Toast
Bread that is several days old can be used to make maple toast for breakfast. Toast the bread on one side. Butter the untoasted side and spread with maple syrup; dust with cinnamon and place under the broiler until bubbly and browned.

Children always appreciate hot milk toast and this is an excellent way to use leftover bread. Toast the bread thoroughly. Place it in a shallow soup dish and cover with hot milk. Add a generous piece of butter and a pinch of salt.

For a dainty accompaniment to a custard or light pudding, dip narrow strips of dried bread into condensed milk; roll each strip in shredded coconut. Brown lightly in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.).

New Guinea Gold Mines Are Credited To Aviation
Mines made possible by aviation in New Guinea are increasing their output and spreading civilization, according to Rapal reports. In the ten years since gold was found there, a $25,000,000 enterprise producing $8,000,000 worth of gold a year has been developed.

"Aviation put what is now known as the Bulolo gold field on the map," said Charles A. Banks, a mining engineer. "We hacked out airfields in the jungle. With three airplanes, we took 25,000 tons of machinery across fifty miles of jungle and over mountains 6,000 feet high, through fogs that suddenly blotted out valleys."

Shall We Dump Our Wheat?

By ERNEST MINOR PATTERSON
President, American Academy of Political and Social Science

Our crop of wheat this year will probably be one of the largest in our history. As the reports come in the price falls until some speak of the situation as a major disaster. Accordingly, plans are being considered to dump the surplus. One of them is to sell the surplus at a lower price than it would bring on the market. This is a good illustration of modern economic difficulties.

First there is what looks like the absurdity of viewing a surplus crop as a disaster. One would think that a large number of bushels of wheat ought to be welcome, especially when so many people are out of work and when, in spite of gigantic relief efforts, many would be glad to have more bread. Yet modern economic life is so intricate that a surplus crop may result in so low a price that the farmers who produce the wheat will lose heavily. It is very complicated and perplexing.

But why meet the problem by a subsidy on wheat exports? It is argued that last year we exported nearly 100,000,000 bushels of wheat and that this amount may be thought of as "the American share of world trade." Therefore the wheat interest of other countries ought not to object if we facilitate the sale of this much wheat in foreign markets. A subsidy would have to be paid in some indirect way by American consumers or taxpayers, but this burden may be less serious than that of a demoralized domestic wheat market and the reactions on the rest of us that will come if our farmers have serious financial troubles.

Unfortunately there is another fact to remember before we decide. There is a world-wide feeling against "dumping." This word is used with many meanings, but should be employed to describe selling at a lower price in one market than in another. Usually this means selling abroad at a lower price than at home. This is so serious a matter that many countries, including our own, have anti-dumping laws.

Perhaps some readers will remember that a few years ago there was great excitement aroused in the United States when it was reported that Russia was "dumping" wheat in our markets. The report seems to have been false, but at the time it aroused intense indignation. The reasons for the objections, however, are easy to understand. The sale here of a considerable amount of Russian wheat at an especially low price would have tended to demoralize our markets.

Resentment against dumping is to be expected, but it will occur in other countries as well as here. It is reported that this year wheat producing nations will have almost twice as much available for export as buying countries will need.

Yet "dumping" is very common. Other countries do it so extensively that there may seem to be a justification for our action. It has been suggested that we will arrange an understanding with Canada because we have a trade agreement with her and in order to avoid the charge of "dumping." We may reach an understanding, but the proposed sale would still be "dumping" and there are a large number of other countries affected besides Canada.

Presiding are Miss Marian Denney, chairman of the Home Economics Association, and D. Kenneth Steers, president of the D. P. H. E. A. Discussion leaders are: Miss Marion Breck, supervisor of home-making education; Mrs. Kathryn Trent, director school nurses; Dr. Woodbridge E. Morris, director maternal and child health; and George W. Ayars, state director of physical and health education.

The Delaware Physical and Health Education Association business meeting will be held on Friday morning at the conclusion of the sectional meeting. The Constitution Committee will present, at this time, a draft of the proposed constitution. The annual election of officers will take place and other association business conducted.

Consumers Tax Commission In Drive On Levies

Analysis Made Of 268 Government Agencies Operating In Delaware

Delaware has nine times as many different taxing units within its borders as it has public libraries and hospitals combined, the National Consumers Tax Commission reported this week.

The commission's analysis, made at its headquarters in Chicago, was announced by Mrs. William H. Beacom, of Wilmington, the Delaware national committee member who is one of the leaders in the commission's campaign against taxes which penalize the consumer.

"A public administration service study showed a grand total of 268 governmental agencies in Delaware with the power to raise revenue from the public," the analysis stated.

Overlapping Of Taxes
"This total includes counties, incorporated places, and others—one agency for every 889 residents or for every 7.33 square miles. With so many agencies looking for revenue, in addition to federal and state governments, there is bound to be overlapping and pyramiding of taxes."

"It is small wonder, therefore, that taxes of all types—63 per cent of which are hidden to the consumers who ultimately pay them in the form of higher prices—are now equal to 23.6 per cent of the national income. In combating these taxes, the NCTC women are striving to safeguard the American standard of living."

"The tremendous extent to which our taxation system has grown is shown by contrasting this figure of 268 governmental units in Delaware with the number of public libraries and hospitals throughout the state. Their combined total is only 28."

Blind Man Writes Opera
Herbert Ferrers, who lost his sight sixteen years ago, has just finished dictating, in Alphamstone, England, the music of a full-length opera, "The Blind Beggar," which treats of a blind man who overcomes his affliction. He first composed the music in his head, then for fourteen days dictated it, bar by bar. Ferrers formerly was conductor for Carl Rosa and other opera companies.

They Take Pride in Their Jobs
Wherever you find telephone men and women and talk with them for a while, you'll notice these things:
A certain pride in the job they're doing. A feeling that it's part of an important service to the community and the nation. A desire to do the job the best they know how.

You'll notice, too, a strong sense of loyalty to their company and a sincere friendliness that has made "the voice with a smile" something more than a famous phrase. Perhaps all this is best summed up in another famous phrase—"the spirit of service." All America knows what that means. It has been demonstrated in fire, flood and storm—and in your every-day telephone service, the finest in the world.

The more you use your telephone service, the more it is worth to you. Let it help you do your shopping, run your errands, speed up your business affairs and keep you in touch with friends and family everywhere. The Diamond State Telephone Company.

Get State Help

The sweeping Republican victory in the state elections, following closely on the heels of the carnage which befell the University of Delaware football team in the blood-pit of Atlantic City's Convention Hall last Saturday night, provides a wonderful opening for the betterment of athletic conditions in and around Frazer Field.

As far back as September 22 we advanced the suggestion of athletic scholarships for Delaware football players with the money being advanced by the state government. Various members of the university's alumni body were occupying themselves at the time with starting a Buck-A-Month Club from some 700 graduates and former Delaware students. We did some mild heckling of the idea when it was introduced. The plan was to work perfectly well still be inadequate. And it isn't working perfectly. Collections, payments, receipts, or donations, call them what you will, are less than $500 in almost two months, according to reliable estimates, when the total should be something close to $1,400.

Money Is Available

While the alumni leaders have wasted a lot of time that might have been used in pledging candidates to the General Assembly for some state support of athletics, it is still not too late to get some action.

At the annual Homecoming Day gathering of the group here Saturday, for instance, a lobbying committee might be formed for the purpose of carrying a request for scholarship funds before the General Assembly. And with a friendly preponderance of Republican voters in the alumni body meeting with a friendly preponderance of Republican Senators and Representatives, the idea is not entirely vague.

And the money for such an idea is available, too. The General Assembly that meets in January, for instance, will find more than $500,000 in new money—returns from racing at Delaware Park—with which to toy.

Racing returns, which will be collected by the state at the conservative rate of $300,000 annually, have never been earmarked for use by any previous General Assembly. It is still new money, ready to be spent. And it will be spent once the boys swing into action at Dover. Why not get some of it for Delaware's football, which is in urgent need of some financial bolstering?

It Was Inevitable

That facing the Hen gridders took at Atlantic City Saturday night was as inevitable as nightfall. It had to come sooner or later. The fact that it didn't come earlier in the season can be credited to Steve Grenda's coaching ability, the courage and gallantry of the small band of Hen gridders themselves, and to sheer good fortune.

That Delaware's chief casualty—and it was bad enough—was nothing worse than a torn cartilage in little Larry Hodgson's knee can be laid to the grace of God and Coach Jud Tamm's willingness to permit his P. M. C. regulars to cool their heels on the bench for the greater portion of the evening.

When a squad as small as Delaware's, both in size and number, stacks up with bruiser outfits such as those presented by Ursinus, Dickinson, Lehigh, and P. M. C. something has to happen to somebody. It isn't often that the big fellow takes the kicking around.

Chickens Come Home

Those blind members of Delaware's faculty who laughed down their noses in scorn, the editor of the University News who did some silly chortling, and those university heads who assumed a satisfied air following the Hens' surprising win over Ursinus are probably beginning to realize that the law of averages is something to consider at all times.

Sports writers, who tried to point out that Delaware was in for a disappointing season, were regarded as unfriendly and disloyal. Yet they were merely telling the truth about a situation that will grow even worse unless some heed is shown soon.

Drexel comes to Frazer Field this week and it is a hungry band of Dragons that will be out to pluck the Blue Hen's tail.

Walter Holas' lads have suffered three defeats and a tie as against two victories. Their physical advantage is such that they should add the Hen's scalp to their collection under any circumstance. And the fact that they are seeking redemption for three defeats this year makes them doubly tough to shave.

That same law of averages looms larger and larger as the Washington College game approaches. The Shomans haven't registered a point to date, which means that they are due soon to break out in a rash of touchdowns at somebody's expense. Let's hope it doesn't happen to Delaware, but IT CAN HAPPEN HERE—everything else has!

Chick-Lites

By

J. FRED MITCHELL

The lot of a football lineman is a futile one. For six minutes he charges head-on into driving knees, flailing fists, and flying cleats, trying to create an opportunity for a swivel-kipped halfback to dash into the hearts of the crowd by scoring a game-winning touchdown. But that is football.

Now soccer is different. Here the process is somewhat reversed. It is the duty of the linemen to score while the backfield men are entrusted with protecting their goal from enemy rushes. The backfield men never venture too far from their goal so naturally they are seldom in a position to score. When their opponents have driven to a threatening position, it is the duty of the backs to drive the ball as far back down the field as possible.

CHICK-LITES

It is the ambition of every football lineman that someday the time will come when he can grab the ball and reel off one of those sensational runs that electrify the crowd. He goes about his bruising, fruitless task with this hope always burning in his heart.

The same is true of the backfield man in soccer. Although his job is not so gruelling, it is comparably fruitless. He is ever hoping that someday he can in some way assume the role of point-maker. He marks time faithfully while his team mates marches off into the twilight. He does not do this begrudgingly though. He has chosen his position, and he fills it to the best of his ability.

CHICK-LITES

No doubt many of you know Eddie Mal. But you don't know him because you read his name in headlines. You see he is a backfield man. In fact he is one of the best soccer players Delaware has ever had. Don't be embarrassed. It is quite natural that you didn't know this either. If you don't believe me, ask Coach Bill Lawrence. Eddie came darn near making the headlines last Saturday. No, it wasn't because he stayed sober at the P.M.C. game. Why should that be so unusual? Oh, is it? Well, it was this way. Delaware played Dickinson College in soccer last Saturday morning. At the end of three quarters the score was tied 1-1. Delaware was penalized for something or other, and Dickinson was given a free kick. The ball was placed down about twenty yards from the Delaware goal, and the Dickinson captain kicked. Eddie, protecting his goal, saw that the ball was sailing straight for a score. He lashed out with his feet, and the ball skidded off his muddy shoes right through the goal posts. His face flushed, and his shoulders dropped. He had scored a goal for the enemy. He dreamed of scoring, but not for his opponents. Even more appalling was the fact that it might prove the winning point, since there were only a few minutes to play.

Then Thompson started to fight. With Delaware leading the way, and Eddie praying, they finally knotted the count. When the whistle blew, the score remained tied. Coach Lawrence went into a huddle with the team and they decided upon playing an extra period, hoping to break this deadlock, themselves by scoring and successfully turning back all enemy advances, to end up on the long end of a 3-2 count.

This only goes to show you what some men would have to do to obtain fame.

CHICK-LITES

It looks as if P.M.C. didn't think very far ahead the way they crimped our ends last Saturday. With Hodgson and Julian out, there are only two left. If either Sheats or Wendell should be injured, Lord knows who will be converted into a wingman. We extend our sympathy to Larry Hodgson. Straight from the mouth of the captain of the P.M.C. team comes the statement, "The best man in the Delaware line. He is just about the best end we have faced all year."

Delaware Host To Drexel's Dragons Yellowjacket Eleven Underdog In Clash With A. I. duPont Team

INVADERS FAVORED TO TAKE HOMECOMING CLASH

Blue Hens Again Underdogs; Norm Lord Shows Promise At Flank Post; Philadelphia Team Boasts Of Weighty Line And Speedy Backs

By Bill Fletcher

A dragon, spitting fire with the pain of two consecutive defeats and screeching because it was unceremoniously knocked out of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, will face the University of Delaware Blue Hens when Drexel invades Frazer Field on Saturday. The game will start at 2:15 o'clock.

Tied Southerners

Like their host, the charges of Walter H. Halas have succeeded in chalking up victories on only two occasions, but unlike Delaware, they have held their opponents to narrower margins. Randolph-Macon, the southern team that ran wild against the Hens in the second game of the season, held the Philadelphia team to a 6 to 6 deadlock and although this is not concrete evidence, it will go a long way in making the invaders top-heavy favorites.

Actually, a well-balanced team playing heads-up football should have nothing to fear, but riddled by injuries and handicapped by the lack of reserve material, the Delaware aggregation will have its hands full in attempting to ring the bell for the some 5,000 spectators included in the homecoming crowd.

Two Victories

Drexel sports a 19-3 win over Susquehanna and defeated Juniata 18-13. On the other side of the ledger, the Dragons were knocked off by Gettysburg (21-12), Franklin and Marshall (21-0), and Muhlenberg (12-6).

Delaware has suffered overwhelming defeats at the hands of Randolph-Macon, Dickinson, Lehigh and Pennsylvania Military College, while victories were accounted for over Ursinus and St. John's College of Annapolis.

With only a few minor injuries, the Hens should be in shape for Saturday's clash with the exception of Larry Hodgson, varsity flank. Suffering with a torn cartilage in his knee, sustained in the P.M.C. fracas, Hodgson, who has played a bang-up game at end all year, is probably sidelined for the rest of the season. His absence from the lineup against the Dragons is definite and it is problematical whether or not he will be in shape for the finale at Chestertown.

In the diminutive gridders' outside spot will probably be Norm Lord, a freshman from Milford High School, who has been converted from center duties. He has shown up well in practices thus far and may earn for himself a starting berth.

Sheats Improving

Earl Sheats, the other varsity flank, is nursing an injured ankle, but is expected to be in shape to start, while Joe Julian, reserve tackle, is slowly bringing a twisted knee back in form.

Once more the Blue and Gold gridders will meet a bulky line and a hard-driving set of backs that will call on the Hens' best in the way of defensive strength.

Delaware's offensive will again rest on the shoulders of Howie Viden with Hen followers hesitantly daring to hope that Bill Plummer, 125-pound ball-carrier from Radnor, Pa., who played well last week, may break loose for a field day.

Sessions this week have been centered chiefly to light drills, including workouts against Drexel plays and the improvement of the deceptive running and passing attack.

For years there have been members of the Princeton varsity football team, hailing from Baltimore. Probably the most famous family are the Poes. Edgar Allan, Nelson and Johnny. Others of more recent vintage include Jake Slagle and Pepper Conatible.

Fort Hoyle Artillerymen To Invade Devils' Lair With Light-Fast Team

With the Cooper Army East Coast Championship Trophy still in the air due to Fort DuPont's 6-to-6 tie with Fort Jay last week, the First Engineers grid aggregation face further stern opposition in the Sixth Field Artillery crew from Fort Hoyle, Md., this Sunday.

According to advance notices from Hoyle, the visitors will present one of the hardest hitting group of pigskin jugglers in the historic First Division. Recently the Artillerymen registered an impressive 7-to-0 win over the Baltimore Firemen.

"They're a light, fast team like ours," Coach Walsh stated this week, "and we're used to pushing the big boys around." Engineer scouts sent over the Mason-Dixon Line last week report Hoyle's 167-pound quarterback, "Shrapnel" Smith as a dangerous passer.

Tulane Football Squad

Has 2 Central Americans

Tulane's football Green Wave has a Texas cowboy, a couple of choir singers, two Central Americans and a planter from Mississippi on its football roster.

Harry Hays, fullback, is a Texan with high boots, and can put a horse through its paces. Ralph Wenzel and Claude Groves, both from Kansas, do the choral work; Wenzel in the university's a capella choir and Groves in church.

Ray Miller and Carl Dailey were reared in Central America, and Billy Payne, halfback, plans a career as a planter.

Buddy Banker, Tulane's all-America halfback candidate, lived up to advance notices despite the fact that the Green Wave was upset by the strong-bulking Clemson College Tiger.

Banker, playing 12 minutes of the game, accounted for the Wave's touchdown, previously setting the ball up with short gains and a pass to Paul Krueger, quarterback.

The Wave was on defense most are reverses and short passes over center, which Fort Jay used effectively last week. Louis (Kat) Fitz will remain at center for DuPont and he will be assigned to rove on the defense as a counter for Hoyle's quick offensive backs.

Wheat Storage Urged Of English Farmers

Storage of more wheat by encouraging farmers to hold it in stock until late in the year is outlined in a plan put before the Council of Agriculture for England at a meeting in London.

The plan is to subsidize farmers who hold wheat until later than they would otherwise by means of deficiency payments under the 1932 Wheat Act. The council's standing committee has recommended the division of the cereal year into three periods, September to December, January to April and May to August.

Deficiency payments would be calculated from the average price for each period and a standard price rising in the course of the cereal year.
