BIG REPUBLICAN RALLY HERE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

WILL BE LAST PUBLIC MEETING OF THE CAMPAIN

DR. R. M. McELROY TO BE SPEAKER

COUNTY AND LOCAL CANDIDATES TO BE PRESENT

Local Republicans have completed plans for a big rally which will be held in the Opera House next Friday evening. A fine program of music will be furnished by the Continental Band, prominent state and county candidates will be present, and other Republicans prominent in state affairs.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Dr. Robert M. McElroy, of Princeton University, a powerful, eloquent speaker who has presented the issues of the campaign in Wilmington recently and who was heard with great interest by many from this locality.

Dr. McElroy is connected with the Department of Political Economy at the University, and is considered one of the best and most logical speakers in the East.

From all indications a record crowd will be at the Opera House next Friday night, the last public meeting to be held by Republicans in this vicinity.

Senator L. Heister Ball will address a rally at Glasgow this evening.

A historical paper read by Mrs. Ernest Frazer, concerning early settlements, plans for winter study and routine business were features of the first fall meeting of the Daughters American Revolution held last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur L. Beals. At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HAVE HALLOW- E'EN SOCIAL

Attendance at Rally Day
Service Tops the 200
Mark

Arrangements have been completed for a Halloween social to be held at the Presbyterian Church next Friday evening at 7.30. The committee has planned a program which will provide amusement for young and old and are putting forth every effort to have the affair fully compensate for the loss of the picnic which on account of stormy weather, they were compelled to give up last month.

The members of the Sunday school are privileged to bring their friends. The children may mask if they so desire.

Refreshments will be served.

The rally day observed last Sunday was a complete success. The goal, 200, set as the attendance mark, was topped by at least a half dozen. An entertainment provided by the little folks was well presented and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Reverend James H. Randall, of Kennett Square, Pa., addressed the Sunday school briefly and preached very acceptably at both the morning and evening services at the church. Communion service will be held next Sunday morning. Regular service in the evening.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary E. Foard

The sudden death of Mrs. Mary E. Foard on Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Carter, came as a shock to her many friends in this community. While her health has not been good for several years, she has recently been as well as usual and on the evening preceding her death was in unusually good spirits. She awoke about 6 o'clock Thursday morning apparently in her usual health and was about to tell her granddaughter, Miss Mildred Carter, who occupied the room with her, of a dream she had concerning Miss Carter's fiancé. In the midst of the recital she stopped, gasped and complained of her head, asking Miss Carter to hold her up. A few seconds after her head had been lifted from the pillow she fell back unconscious.

Dr. Walter H. Steel was summoned and responded instantly. He made every effort to revive her but she failed to respond and died in about two hours.

Mrs. Foard was the widow of Richard Foard and with her family lived in Cecil county, Md., the greater part of her life. Since the death of her husband she has made her home with her daughter. She is survived by two children, Mrs. Carter and William E. Foard, of Wilmington; and by two brothers, Postmaster Levi K. Bowen of Newark, and Edward Bowen of Elkton.

The funeral was held at 2.30 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Carter home on South College Avenue, and interment was made in the Presbyterian churchyard at Elkton.

The large concourse of friends from her old home in Cecil county and from the neighborhoods in which she has lived bore testimony to the esteem in which she was held and to her sterling worth as a neighbor and a friend.

Although she has been unable for some time to take active part in affairs of her family and of the community, she has, nevertheless, maintained an eager and intelligent concern in all of their interests. The athletic and academic achievements of her grandsons, Bayard and Gray Carter, and the approaching marriage of her granddaughter, Miss Mildred Carter to Charles Affleck, of Norfolk, were matters of absorbing interest. A premonition of her approaching death, perhaps, impelled her to state a few days previous that if anything should happen to her she wanted the wedding to go on just the same.

In deference to her request, the ceremony will take place at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock but invitations to the reception and dance which was to have followed at the New Century Club have been recalled.

AFTERNOON OF AMERICAN MUSIC AT NEW CENTURY CLUB

Vocal and Instrumental Selections
Delight Large Audience

A delightful program of American music, vocal and instrumental, was enjoyed by a large number of club women and others at the New Century Club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. E. Griffith, State chairman of music, read a particularly interesting paper on American music, interspersed with illustrative instrumental renditions of the selections discussed. The vocal selections were charmingly rendered by Mrs. Julian Adair, also of Wilmington. The program follows:

Piano solos from "An Indian Lodge," "Indian Idyll," by McDowell; "To a Vanishing Race," by Cadman.

Vocal solos "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Deep Water," a Creole song by Burley; "Allah," by Dr. Chadwick.

Instrumental solos, "Improvisation," "To the Sea," "Moonshine," "The Silver Clouds," by McDowell.

Vocal solo, "The Fairy Piper," Dure.

Piano solos, "Spring Dawn," Mason; "Creole Lullaby," Gottschalk.

Vocal solos, "Necklace of Arms," Nevin; "If All the World Were a Violin," Rogers; "I Hear a Thrush at Eve," Cadman.

These were followed by three selections by women composers, "The Pine Tree," by Salter; "Years of the Spring," by Beach, and "Nothing but Love," by Bond.

At next week's meeting the first of the series of historical papers which will constitute the winter's study will be read by Mrs. Wilson whose subject will be "New York."

METHODIST CHURCH TO HAVE EVERY MEMBER ATTENDANCE DAY

The Sunday School Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church at a meeting last night made arrangements for an "Every Member Attendance Day" to be observed some time soon. An expert on Sunday School work will be secured to assist in developing the work for the fall and winter.

CRYING CHILD AVERTS FIRE DANGER

The timely crying of her little grandson early Sunday morning and the consequent arousing of his mother, Mrs. Leila Richardson, averted what might have been a serious fire at the home of Mrs. Alice Herbener in the Ferguson block on Academy Street, early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Richardson came down stairs for milk to appease the crying child and discovered smoke issuing from the kitchen. She aroused her brother, Harry Herbener, and her mother. Upon investigation they discovered that burning soot in the chimney had set fire to the wainscoting. Attempts to battle with the flames were unavailing and a fire alarm was sent in. The Aetna Co. responded speedily and succeeded in putting out the blaze. A number of the boards had to be torn out and were found to be badly charred and burned, indicating that the fire had been smoldering for some time.

It was found that a brick had been removed from the chimney, evidently by workmen in putting in pipes, and had not been replaced.

EIGHTH GRADE CON- STRUCTS MINIATURE OIL SETTLEMENT

Prepares Geography Lesson in Sensible, Practical Manner

Many residents, wise and otherwise, are interested in oil, many of them too deeply for complete ease of mind, especially when the promised "gusher" in which they have invested "sight unseen" refuses to gush. The only gush appearing in the deal coming from the oil stock salesman. The younger generation is likewise interested in oil and is manifesting its interest in a practical, sensible way.

Under the direction of Miss Ivy Hudson, one of the students in the teacher training department at Women's College, students in the Eighth Grade in the public school are studying the subject and doing it in a way that will prove intensely practical. They have made a typical oil field about three feet square and laid it out on a shallow box elevated to a height which makes it easily accessible to the average youngster of that age and permits him to work therein without backbreaking effort.

Here from information gleaned through reading and study they have laid out an oil well village. Houses, stores and buildings that make up such a settlement are made of durable paper, a process which calls for accuracy of measurement and keenness of observation to assure their weathering the storms and making a good appearance. The drills and pumps have been made in very lifelike replica by the boys from their erector material and the whole landscape arranged in true oil field style.

Great interest has been manifested in the work, the students working longer than the "Union" demands in order to achieve good results.

While groups of students work out the construction problem others prepare an exhibit of oil and its by-products which makes a creditable array and fixes in the mind of the learner the facts about this great American industry as no mere textbook study however attractively developed could possibly accomplish. Wide mouthed bottles of uniform size contain the products from crude oil through the various "cracking" processes which yield gasoline, benzene, kerosene, the various heavy oils used as lubricants and the solidified materials such as vaseline. Some associated products from soft coal are also shown in the exhibit.

On this latter project the boys and girls have been working assiduously and will doubtless add it to the collection of illustrative material that will serve for subsequent classes.

Projects of this kind are in operation in several classes where these young teachers conduct work planned under the direction or with the approval of specialists in modern educational methods. In the Opportunity Class the girls are taught to sew under the direction of one of these students and have just completed a simple sewing bag. A machine has been loaned for this work and the girls are learning to use it. The work thus far accomplished is very creditable. Some of the girls have learned the simple embroidery stitches and are putting their initials in color on the bags. Aprons will be made next. This work is under the direction of Miss Learned, one of the college students. The long table formerly used in the library and taken out when that room was turned into a class room to relieve congestion, has been placed in the "Opportunity" room and will be used for a work table by the boys who will be taught the rudiments of manual training.

The room formerly used for an office is now utilized as a library but lacks a table. This will doubtless be provided soon.

For The Homemaker's Eye

The sweet potato crop is abundant this year and since this tuber contains much bodily nutriment, and can be served in so many ways, it makes an economical food.

Sweet Potato Pone

Four cupfuls of hot, mashed sweet potatoes, 1 cupful of hot milk, 1/2 cupful of butter, 1 cupful of sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls of ginger, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, 1 orange.

Boil the sweet potatoes in their skins, and while still hot remove the skins and mash. Cream and butter and sugar together, add potato, milk and seasonings and the juice and grated rind of orange. Beat thoroughly, pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Sweet Potato Pie

One and one-half cupfuls of hot mashed sweet potatoes, 1/2 cupful of sugar, 3/4 cupful of hot milk, 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, grated nutmeg, lemon juice, 2 eggs.

Mash the boiled potatoes while hot and add to them the beaten yolks of eggs and hot milk, sugar, grating of nutmeg and a few drops of lemon juice. Finally fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Pour into the pie crust and bake in a hot oven.

Stewed Sweet Potatoes

Boil the potatoes and when partly tender remove and cut into cubes. Mix in a bowl containing two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two cupfuls of milk, salt and pepper. Dredge with two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook in a double boiler for 20 minutes.

Sweet potatoes may be scalloped as the white ones are, and a very delicious vegetable dish is made by making the sweets after boiling, adding salt, pepper, butter and milk and baking with a sprinkling of grated cheese until brown.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By the exercise of a little care the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to the fire the interior sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface leather shows appreciable signs of injury.

Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

Never wash tea or coffee pots with water in which there is soap. When they become badly discolored fill with cold water in which is dissolved a tablespoon of powdered borax and heat slowly until water boils. Rinse thoroughly with hot water and dry. Always dry on back of range.

Wet an old linen napkin in cold water, wrap around milk bottle rather loosely, place in a shallow dish of cold water and set in the pantry window. It works on the same plan as the iceless refrigerator and will keep milk cold and sweet through a real hot day.

Knives should not be washed in the pan with other silver, as this scratches the blades and dulls the edge. It is a good plan to provide a pitcher deep enough to hold the knives with the blades, not the handles, under water.

Clean steel knives with a coarse, gritty powder. First remove all grease and dirt and then dip a piece of raw potato or a cork in the powder and rub the blade until all stains are removed. Then polish with the dry powder and wipe with soft cloth.

When any metal kitchen utensil springs a leak at an inconvenient time, make a good temporary cement by mixing a little white of egg with wood or coal ashes to make a thick paste. Put this over the hole and hold the utensil over the heat until the paste bakes.

Four animals recently came to a river where the sum of $1 was charged for conveying each across. They were a goose, a duck, a skunk and a frog. One of the number was unable to go over because he could not produce sufficient cash. Which one was it?

Answer: It was the skunk because all that he had was a bad (s)cent. The goose paid down the duck paid with his bill; the frog produced a greenback.

FARM TELEPHONES

PEOPLE in the farming communities perhaps best appreciate the real value of telephone service.

There are few sections of the country so thoroughly covered with telephone lines as the State of Delaware.

A complete network of copper and steel reaches out into every corner of the State.

As the principal industries outside of Wilmington are farming and fruit growing, the telephone development has necessitated an extensive pole-line and wire plant, extensive in the sense that the subscribers are comparatively far apart and long lines are necessary to connect them.

A widely scattered telephone plant is expensive to build and expensive to keep in first-class condition.

No one appreciates so well as does the man living in the country the greater necessity of telephone service to him than to his city cousin who has everything at his elbow. And it is obvious that the farther out into the country a subscriber lives, the greater the cost of providing the service, and the greater the cost of keeping the lines and equipment in repair.

These facts cannot be ignored by the telephone company in fixing its schedules of rates.

The welfare of a public service company depends on adequate revenues resulting from rates that are fixed on an equitable basis. There is no other alternative, and there never will be. It's just the same in the telephone business as in any other!

And the welfare of the Company is, as you can not fail to see, the welfare of the users of its service. Inadequate revenues are bound to starve that service, and should the service break, no one would suffer more than the rural communities. Farm life would move backward a dozen years.

Farmers of Delaware are interested in the establishment of a flax plant at Elk Mills, handling of flax—preparation in ready-to-ship mills in the north. The work plant is well under way and it is added that the number to be erected in all sections be grown.

WORK ON PLANT FOR FLAX HANDLING UNDER WAY

Baskets of Movement Claim Crop Will Be Good for Farmers

Farmers of Delaware and of the Eastern Shore will be deeply interested in the establishment of a plant at Elk Mills, Md., for the handling of flax—for its cure and preparation in readiness for the textile mills in this country and abroad. The work on the new plant is well under way, it is said, and it is added that it is to be the first, or central, plant of a large number to be erected in this country, in all sections where flax may be grown.

By the recent discovery of a process for curing flax, reducing the time hitherto requisite for a period of months, to as many hours, this fabric, it is said, can be produced at a remarkably low cost, a cost, indeed, that will make it the most formidable competition that cotton has ever encountered. The part that will concern the farmers of this section, is the announcement by heads of the enterprise, that they will look to our agriculturists for their supply of raw material. Those of this State and those across the Maryland line will be solicited to plant a fair percentage of their lands in flax, and to harvest it when it is ready for processing.

It is proposed to pay such a rate for the harvested crop that it will reach almost double the value of other things grown by the farmer. The chiefs of the big enterprise say the cultivation of flax is easier than that of any of the staples of the farm. It is easily planted, like wheat or oats, for example, and harvested by machinery, almost entirely without manual labor.

It is declared also that flax does not impoverish the soil to any degree—at least less than almost any of the other crops grown on the farms of this section. In addition to this desirable quality, it is said flax chokes out all noxious weeds, and is used in some sections of the country for this economic purpose. It grows so sturdily and thick that no noxious weed, however deeply seeded the land may be with them, can survive the choking process.

Apparently the culture of flax has everything to commend it, especially the important fact that it will yield more than twice as much in dollars and cents as any cereal or forage crop.

The inability of Russia to produce flax while she is still fighting and the falling off in the product of the fibre in Ireland has created a scarcity in the product, so marked, indeed, that the British government is said to be offering a subsidy on the production, to encourage a return to its cultivation.

By the new treatment flax will be, as said before, as cheap as cotton, and will largely take the place of that staple, so it is thought, when the details of the proposition are carried out. It is the intention to eventually induce farmers from all sections of the United States to raise flax and to establish plants in all parts of the world by which it may be treated by the newly discovered process, through which chemical manipulation takes the place of the laborious and tedious manual labor.

Farmers will be asked to plant several thousand acres in flax in early spring, that many be harvested in about seventy days and be followed by another crop on the same soil if desired. It seems as if this will be an opportunity for the farmers to multiply the products of their lands, for experiments have been made, it is said, that prove the soil needs of flax to be fully met by our land in Delaware and throughout the Eastern Shore.—Every Evening.

WILL UTILIZE TOMATO SEEDS

From 1,000 to 2,000 tons of tomato seeds go to waste each year in the bag pulping plants east of the Mississippi River. Investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that they can be profitably recovered and converted into an edible oil and a press cake or meal for stock feed, with a gross return of more than $85,000 and a net of about $35,000. Plants would operate two months a year on tomato seeds and might be used for grape and pumpkin seeds in addition, reducing the overhead.

CANNING SEASON DECIDEDLY UNPROFITABLE

The tomato canning season which has just closed has not been a profitable one, either to the packers nor to the growers around this section of the shore.

Because of the prevailing low prices many of the farmers did not attempt to pick their crop at all, letting the tomatoes rot in the field rather than going to the expense of buying baskets, picking and hauling.

Growers and canners estimate their loss on the Eastern Shore, because of these conditions, at more than $1,000,000.

The canners were up against the condition of having on hand a large amount of last year's pack, which they could not dispose of because the price at the beginning of the season was lower than they could put tomatoes up for, and later dropped to even a lower level. Many of the canneries on the peninsula did not operate at all, while others canned a while and closed down.

One of the leading canners on the Shore estimates that the 1920 pack was only about 75 per cent of that of 1919, while the 1919 pack was about 30 per cent of the previous year.

Canners who sold "futures" say they are having all sorts of difficulty in getting their customers to live up to the terms of their contracts, the latter pleading all sorts of excuses to annul their contracts because of existing low prices.

Both growers and packers are hoping that the market prices will advance to such a figure that the industry may continue on a profitable basis during the coming year.

WHITE SWEET CLOVER FOR FORAGE

Red clover, recent investigations have shown, is practically self-sterile; that is, under the influence of its own pollen a very small number of seeds on a given plant will set. In this respect it differs from white sweet clover, which tests have demonstrated will set nearly as many seeds under the influence of its own pollen as it will with the pollen of another plant. This makes the breeding of white sweet clover a much more promising undertaking than the breeding of red clover. These facts have been brought out by recent experiments conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with Iowa State College. The Federal department's investigators plan to follow up these discoveries with the selection and breeding of white sweet clover for increased forage and seed production.

It was also found that sweet clover needs a great deal of moisture to mature the seed properly. This is one of the reasons why the second crop of sweet clover sometimes has a better seed yield than the first. There being a smaller amount of growth on the second crop, the plants do not draw on the water supply so strongly and there is more water left for the maturing of the seed.

MORNING ON THE SEA

Still morning on the sea,
Gray light on herb and tree,
And silver melody
In leafy height—
The swallows circle near
In swift and light career—
Wheel up, and disappear
On drifting flight.
The hills in quiet stand
Enfolding sea and land,
A strong and guardian band,
A steadfast throng;
The clouds stoop low and keep
Still watch by vale and steep
Above the winds, asleep
With all their song.

STANTON TO HAVE CORN SHOW

The following committee was recently named to arrange for a corn show to be held soon:

C. P. Dickey, George L. Denny, Jacob C. Maclary, Mrs. Lawrence Othson and Mrs. Lewis Dickey.

Diamond State Grange members are in sympathy with the resolution received from the Richardson Park Civic Club, asking the State Highway Commission to take over and rebuild the Newport pike.

Announcement was made of the supper to be held in the hall on Thursday evening, October 28, by the Shepherds of Bethlehem Lodge.

During the lecture hour, Earle Dickey spoke on the Japanese situation. The grange will discuss this question more thoroughly at some future date.

FORGET IT!

Let's not hang onto the things that check our progress in life, that prevent us from carrying out what we know is right. Let go of worry; let go of anxiety. Blot out of your character things such as scolding, fighting and fretting; cast from your mind the thoughts of criticism and abuse, stop that anxious, over-strenuous life; let go the selfishness, the things that are useless and foolish, let go of the sham, the false and the straining to keep up appearances in life; steer clear of vice, that cripples you, the false thinking that demoralizes you, and you will note a complete change in yourself, so much so that you can safely assure yourself of eventual success.

If you have had an unfortunate experience, forget it. If you have made a false step, do not take it too much to heart. If you have been placed in an embarrassing position, if your character has been injured, make the best of it, don't dwell on it. There is not a single redeeming feature in these memories. They make you blue. They depress you and in time will be your ruin if you don't let them go. Thinking of your troubles will cause you many unhappy hours, so let them go and be happy.

If you have been unfortunate, imprudent, if you are talked about, if your reputation has been injured so that you are nearly certain that you will never repair it, do not go around with a long face and proclaim your misfortunes, just brace up and be independent. Start all over again and put all your energy on keeping a clean slate for the future. Do not let your little enemies, worries, anxieties, forebodings and regrets—get the best of you and sap out your energy, for this is your capital for future achievement.

Whatever is disagreeable, whatever irritates, nags, destroys your otherwise peaceful mind, forget. Let bygones be bygones. You have better and greater use for your time than to waste it on useless trifles. Keep the door shut on your enemies. "Don't wait for cheerfulness to come to you, go after it, use it and never let it get away from you."

INDIAN SUMMER

And now the days of Indian summer!—
When Sol still smiles in kindly, cheerful mood,
And cobwebs lie across the meadow,
Where larks had nested for their little brood.

The haze low-hanging dims the landscape,
The tinted leaves are flashing in the sun;
The air is still, and all is peaceful,
As though each pressing duty had been done.

But when the outward view is tranquil
A tragedy may hidden be, inside—
Each little leaf, so gently falling,
May be a little cherished hope that died.

Ah, well! All nature gives a promise
That what is dead shall surely live again;
So let us hope and love and labor
To garner gladness, all insensible to pain.

AND THEY LIVED HAPPILY EVER AFTER

One of the novelists referring to his hero says:

His countenance fell,
His voice broke,
His heart sank,
His hair rose,
His eyes blazed,
His swords burned,
His blood froze.

It appears, however, that he was able to pull himself together and marry the girl in the last chapter. —Boys' Life.

COUNTY TEACHERS HEAR VITAL FACTS CONCERNING ATTENDANCE

See Demonstration Teaching and Exhibition of Games for Supervised Play

At the New Castle County School Teachers' Institute held here Saturday, these officers were elected for the year: President, Warren K. Yerger, superintendent of the duPont school; vice-president, Mrs. Mary E. Rich, of the Women's College, and secretary and treasurer, O. E. McKnight, of Middletown.

The enrollment in the public schools of the State outside of Wilmington this year is 16,000, which is an increase of about 4000 over the enrollment of last year. These figures were given by Dr. R. W. Cooper, educational director of the Service Citizens of Delaware in discussing school attendance.

W. H. Jump, county superintendent of schools, praised the co-operative work of the Service Citizens, the health units of the State Board of Education, the State Board of Charities and the Parent-Teachers' Association. Mr. Jump also dwelt on phases of the school law. He urged teachers to take precautionary steps to see the schools are properly supplied with coal for the winter.

Professor W. A. Wilkinson, of Delaware College, announced if the teachers desired they might have English, physiology and history courses added to the extension courses at Delaware College and would be given credit for their work if they ever desired diplomas. Sixty asked to be enrolled.

Sectional conferences were conducted by Mrs. Ina Barnes for the primary grades. Demonstration classes were held, the leaders being chosen from the teacher training department of the Women's College, and these were followed by round table discussions.

A. R. Spaid, State educational commissioner, spoke of his trip through Yellowstone Park while in Denver attending the National Educational Convention last July.

Miss Ruth Jones, a county attendance officer, said attractive leaders and ones who were sympathetic were necessary to perfect attendance. She announced tags and certificates would be given for perfect attendance.

Dr. G. S. Osineup discussed work being done by the dental clinics and the plan whereby those unable to provide funds for the treatment of their children could obtain medical service at cost.

The teachers were entertained on Friday evening at Women's College, when the teacher training students gave exhibitions of supervised play and served refreshments.

AND THEY CAN'T SAY HE'S SEEING DOUBLE EITHER

According to a story that is going the rounds and which the genial druggist neither confirms nor denies, Dr. George W. Rhodes is responsible for the prize fish story of the year. The story goes thus:

"Dr. Rhodes while fishing in Noxontown Mill Pond, near Middletown one day last week, caught two large bass, each weighing between four and five pounds, on one artificial bait in one cast. This is a feat in fishing which seldom happens and as far as can be learned Dr. Rhodes is the only one in this vicinity who has ever accomplished it.

With Dr. Rhodes at the time was Richard Morris, trust officer of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company. Mr. Morris was rowing and Dr. Rhodes, seated in the stern of the boat, was trolling with a line in each hand, one his own outfit and the other that he had borrowed from Dean E. Laurence Smith of Delaware College for the day.

Suddenly Dr. Rhodes felt an unusually heavy strike at one of the bait. Mr. Morris stopped rowing and took the other line. Dr. Rhodes finally reeled in the line and on it were two large big mouth bass. Both bass apparently made a strike at the artificial bait at the same time and both got hooked on separate hooks."

A VOTE THAT COUNTS FOR PROGRESS

Voters of this district who have the welfare of the State at heart, who desire to see a continuance of the progressive policies which have characterized the present administration, voters who desire to have as their representative a man who is not bound by pre-election promise to any ring or faction but who purposes going to Dover with the interests of all his constituents at heart, will give their support to Charles L. Medill regardless of previous party affiliation.

Such is the sentiment expressed by the solid, substantial, thinking citizen unblinded by partisan rancor, alert to the interests of the State, of the County,—of all of us.

A modest, unassuming, upright, honest business man, a clear thinker, unswerving in his adherence to right and justice, Mr. Medill is known to every citizen, for he was born in Newark and has lived here all of his life. An alumnus of the local high school, he received his business training in Wilmington, became associated with Central National Bank there and upon graduation, has continued with the institution for 14 years, and risen to the position of paying teller.

He has never held nor sought political position. He accepted the nomination for representative at the urgent call of the people of his district who saw in this young man one who knew their needs, one to whom they could safely trust their affairs in the trying period which is before us. That same confidence in their fellow citizen will be manifest next Tuesday at the polls and from all indications, could not be better placed.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS AND IMPROVEMENTS

Louis Handloff purchased last week the dwelling house owned and occupied by C. B. Major, adjoining the Newark Department store and the two properties occupied by Mr. Major as a butcher shop and by William H. Cook as a fruit and vegetable stand. It is understood that Mr. Handloff will get possession early in the spring and will erect a large department store there.

Knowles R. Bowen has purchased of D. C. Rose, a lot on Depot Road adjoining that of his father.

The family of James Longfellow moved to Wilmington last week. C. R. E. Lewis who purchased the property occupied by Mr. Longfellow here moved into it on Wednesday.

Many to Compete for Big Prizes at Elkton

Saturday next will be a gala day at Elkton. During the afternoon the Singery Fire Company will house their new fire engine with a parade in which several fire companies will take part. The Newark firemen will be in line with their apparatus accompanied by the Continental Band. Hon. William T. Warburton will make the address. In the evening a Halloween parade will take place in which four or five bands will be in line. The entry list is filling up and the committee hopes to have Delaware well represented. All first prizes will be $10 in gold, except the automobile which will be $20 in gold—all second prizes will consist of articles donated by the merchants of the town. All third prizes will be $2-1-2 in gold. Several special prizes are also offered independent of those to be awarded in the various classes. It is expected an exceedingly large crowd of people will witness the evening parade.

A customer sitting in the first chair in Scotty's barber shop in Indianapolis the other day had ordered "all the trimmings," which of course included a shave and the haircut. So when Scotty got his taper lighted and had the single under way, a little kid just outside the door was heard to exclaim: "Look, mamma! They are hunting 'em on that fellow with a candle!"

EXPLAINS WORK OF REHABILITATION DIVISION

Raymond M. Upton, director of the Rehabilitation Division at Delaware College, in a chapel talk at Women's College on Friday told of the work being done in that department. He explained that the object of this rehabilitation work was to qualify again those men who had become unable to do their work because of injuries received during the war. The number of men who are receiving the benefit of this work constantly increases. At Linden Hall at Newark on May 3, 1920, there were thirteen men, now there are more than seventy-five. The ages of the men range from nineteen to forty-seven years. The social and educational needs of the men are met with a club known as the Rehabilitation Club.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY PLANS FOR BIG FRUIT EXHIBIT

Preparations are now under way for the annual meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society in Wilmington, November 30 and December 1. The general display of the society will be in the ballroom of the Hotel du Pont, and the meetings and lectures will be held in the du Barry Room.

Professor Wesley Webb, secretary of the society has not announced the program yet, but it will be given out in a short time. There will be a number of speakers well known for their acquaintance with the problems which confront the horticulturist and a number of government experts from the Department of Agriculture will be among those who will deliver lectures.

The exhibits will include numerous excellent exhibits of apples. The peach exhibit will not be as large as it was last year, but it is expected that there will be plenty of peaches and fruit for exhibition purposes. The exhibit of sprayers and other paraphernalia connected with orchard work will be shown in the basement of Odd Fellow's Hall. This display will be complete with sprayer pumps, pumping articles, fire pots for controlling the temperature on nights when frost is expected and all sorts of horticultural equipment.

"The wets have no chance in this community."

"None whatever," replied Uncle Bill Bottletop.

"Some of us even got absent minded and gave three cheers when the news was passed around that the town pump had gone dry."—Washington Star.

WOMEN HOLD KEY TO POLITICAL SITUATION

According to statistics compiled from the 1920 census and from the women's vote in the Maine election, about 9,000,000 women will vote in the November election and they undoubtedly hold the balance of political power. This statement is based on a computation made from the women's vote in the Maine election.

About 80,000 women voted in Maine census of 1910, that number in Maine census of 1910, that number is 32 per cent of the number of women 21 years of age who live in Maine. The Maine women number, according to the 1910 census, 248,309.

In the United States, according to latest census statistics, there are 26,883,566 women of voting age. If the ratio of 32 per cent which existed in the Maine election prevails in all the States, and it probably will, as the women generally want to vote for the first time, there will be cast in the November election an aggregate woman vote of 8,602,741, or nearly nine millions. In the Northern states the per cent probably will be higher, and in the Southern states lower, because in the "Solid South" the black man is largely disfranchised, and the Negro women will receive the same political discrimination in that section. But the nation's average probably will be about 32 per cent which will give nine millions.

Similar statistics show that there are 29,577,690 men of voting age in the United States. In the Presidential election of 1916 there were cast 18,528,743 ballots, 62 per cent of the total male population 21 years of age. It can hardly be expected that so large a percentage of the women will vote, but it may be safely said that at least 32 per cent of them will.

There can be no question but that the women now hold the key to the national political situation, and can throw victory to Republicans or Democrats. Judging from the way they voted in the Maine election, it would seem that a great majority of the newly-enfranchised citizens are preparing to line up throughout the country, except in the South, for Harding and Coolidge.

ISSUE INVITATIONS TO MARRIAGE OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. George Carter have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Mildred Lee, to Charles Jackson Affleck, of Norfolk, Va. The ceremony will take place on Saturday evening, October 30th, at St. Thomas' Church here, at 7 o'clock.

Many social affairs have been given in honor of Miss Carter, who is especially popular. On Wednesday evening her aunt, Mrs. William E. Foard, gave a linen shower in her honor at 804 Adams street, Wilmington. The lower rooms in the Foard home were tastefully decorated with Japanese lanterns. Vocal and instrumental music and dancing were features of the evening's diversion. Refreshments were served. Miss Carter was the recipient of many handsome pieces of linen for use in adorning her home in Norfolk, Va.

On Friday evening Miss Carter's co-workers at the Wilmington Trust Co. tendered her a linen shower and enjoyed a delightful social time at the Carter home on South College Avenue.

Weddings

Lewis-Phillips.

The marriage of Miss Arzie Wheatley Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Phillips, of Hurlock, Md., and Conrad K. D. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Lewis, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, by Rev. T. J. Price.

The bride wore a gown of white net trimmed with satin ribbon and a tulle veil held in place by a pearl studded band. She carried a bouquet of bride roses. Her sister, Miss Edith Phillips, was maid of honor. She wore pale blue organdy and carried pink roses and snapdragons. The brides going away gown was of blue silver-toned with which she wore a black velvet hat. Albert L. Lewis, Jr., a brother of the groom, was best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Brown, of Bridgeville. Previous to the ceremony she played an arrangement of "O Promise Me," with variations.

The house was decorated with autumn foliage and evergreens. Following the ceremony a reception was held after which the young couple left for a wedding trip through the South. Upon their return they will make their home in Wilmington, where the groom is connected with the Security Trust Company.

Whittingham-Tiley

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bates Tile, at Essex, Connecticut, on Saturday, October 23, at noon, their daughter, Thelma Anderson, was married to Richard R. Whittingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Whittingham, who are now spending the winter in Delaware City.

The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate families of the contracting parties. Previous to her marriage the bride was instructor in Home Economics at Delaware City High School. The groom is connected with the American Machine Co. here. The young couple will be at home after January first, in Wilmington.

Breetz-Strahorn

A wedding attended by many Newark young people was that of Miss Elizabeth H. Strahorn, formerly of Newark, to William Breetz of Youngstown, Ohio. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Pratt, at Kemblesville, on Saturday evening at 4 o'clock.

The bride was becomingly attired in white georgette crepe. Miss Ellen Crow, of this town, was bridesmaid, and Morris Edwin Pratt, of Kemblesville, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of her sister. The bride lived in Newark until about two years ago, when she went to Youngstown, Ohio.

After a visit of several weeks in this vicinity the couple will live in Youngstown.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT DINNER

Last Sunday was the occasion of a brilliant affair when Mr. Nevin, manager of the local American Store, gave a dinner party to a number of his friends at his home on Delaware avenue. The dining room was attractively decorated with roses, ferns and carnations.

Mrs. C. W. Colmery assisted Mr. Nevin in receiving and acted as hostess at the dinner party. A musicale, in which the guests took part, followed the dinner.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Colmery, Alma M. Towson, Mary C. Chalmers, Mary K. Eder, C. E. Eder, Frank Davis and Jack Keeley of Elkton; Bess Nealy, Jack Mucklow and J. P. O'Sullivan, of Philadelphia; Myra Everett and Sara Fraser, Felton; Walter Powell, Wilmington, and Harlan Tweed, Newark.

STUDENTS TO HAVE THANKSGIVING DINNER

It is understood that while this is the students' Thanksgiving dinner, the faculty members are invited to participate at a cost of $1.00 per plate.

The concert and entertainment arrangements at the close of the dinner is in the hands of the Student Council.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving remembrance of Miss Julia Smith who departed this life October 25, 1919.

COLLEGE STUDENT INJURED

Miss Ethel Ferguson, a student at the Women's College, was seriously injured on Wednesday when hit in the head by a pitched ball while playing baseball on the college campus with a number of fellow students. Miss Ferguson was knocked unconscious and for a time her friends were much concerned over her condition. Shortly after the accident, accompanied by her sister, Miss Alice Ferguson, who is also a student at the college, and Mrs. Wilson, matron of the college, she was sent to her home in New York. Her father is a physician and on her arrival there he had an X-ray taken. It has been learned that the X-ray shows the skull was not fractured as was at first feared. Miss Ferguson is recovering and is expected to return to college in a few days. Her sister and Mrs. Wilson returned the next day.

CAMPAIGN WAFFLES

AND PIES

Mrs. Warren G. Harding's waffles have become known to all politicians and Republican leaders in the United States who have visited the Harding "front porch" during the past few months.

Here is the way in which Mrs. Harding makes the waffles which, with creamed chipped beef, fresh fruit and good coffee, comprise the Harding Sunday morning breakfast the year around:

Two eggs, two tablespoons of sugar, two heaping tablespoons of butter, one pint of milk, one pint of flour, two heaping teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt. Beat yolks of eggs, add sugar and salt, milk and flour; next add melted butter. Just before ready to bake add baking powder and beaten white of eggs. Cook it in hot waffle irons. Use plenty of butter and maple syrup.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the Republican Vice Presidential nominee, used the one-two-three rules for her pies which share in fame with Mrs. Harding's waffles. One cup of flour, two tablespoons of shortening, three tablespoons of cold water, or milk if the crust is to be very light and flaky.

FOREIGN BORN WOMEN

TAKE VOTE SERIOUSLY

Women of foreign birth or extraction are taking their vote more seriously, if anything, than American-born women, according to Mrs. Jeanne Carpenter of the foreign language department of the Republican National Committee.

Mrs. Carpenter, with Miss Julia Rogers, of St. Paul, Minn., has been organizing women of forty-three languages and dialects into political clubs during the past few months. These women, she says, are all keenly interested in politics and largely organize themselves and the women of their own language. This has been shown recently in the way in which these women have registered. Frequently a larger proportion of women of a foreign-speaking community register than men of the same community.

Foreign-speaking women are Republican, she says, because they are interested in the "back to the farm" movement which Senator Harding has endorsed so strongly; because it offers the best program for the things in which they are particularly interested, such as health, education and food; because they are opposed to the Wilson League of Nations and have faith in Senator Harding on account of his experience as a member of the Foreign Relations Committee; because they want a change from the past eight years of Democratic waste and mismanagement; because the Republican party stands for the independent naturalization of married women.

These women, Mrs. Carpenter says, take their citizenship more seriously than American-born women because America is the land of their adoption, the country in which they have voluntarily decided to raise their children. Therefore, they want to know all about the political parties and their platforms and to know results. They ask more intelligent questions on politics than a similar group of American women ordinarily do, she says. Those of them who do not read English look carefully for all political news in papers printed in their own language.

AUTOCRACY VS. DEMOCRACY

By William J. Bryan

If the President were willing to concede to the Senate the right to exercise its constitutional authority; if he were willing to act in the spirit that permeates a cooperative body of his own government as he was to make concessions to every foreign nation; if he were as willing to consent to a little freedom on land as he was to abandon the freedom of the seas, the treaty would have been ratified months ago, we would be in a league of nations and he would have been the first president of this great tribunal, an honor which he had fairly won for himself and for the nation.

Just a little recognition of the other officials to exercise the authority conferred upon them by the same authority that gives him all the authority he had would have put the treaty out of the campaign and thus enabled us to deal with domestic problems as well as do our duty to the world. But having reached the highest pinnacle of fame to which a human being was ever lifted he has rewarded the confidence of his nation and the generosity of his party by an exhibition of egotism which would be pathetic if it were not tragic.

No large party in a democracy can hope to appeal to the conscience and judgment of a nation until it has a higher purpose than sycophantic service to one autocratic individual.

When the United States aided in attacking the arbitrary idea of government in Germany it was with the hope of banishing it from the world; not for the purpose of transplanting it on American soil.

Omega Alpha Holds Informal Dance

The Omega Alpha Fraternity held its first informal dance of the season last Saturday night in Old College. The hall was attractively decorated with banners and the colors of the Fraternity, orange, black, and white.

Dancing began at 8.30 and lasted until 12 o'clock, after which refreshments were served in the Lounge.

Many of the Alumni were present as well as several guests. Music was furnished by Jones' orchestra of Wilmington, and proved to be all that could be desired.

The patronesses were Mrs. F. M. K. Foster, Mrs. C. O. Houghton, Mrs. C. A. McCue and Mrs. Wilson.

WAGING WAR ON

LADY KILLERS

An exhibit of "lady killers," the kind found in too many homes is being put on in different parts of the State of Washington by the Washington State College extension department and the United States Department of Agriculture. The attendance wherever the exhibit has been held has been in the hundreds, both men and women finding much of interest.

Among the "lady killers" are found the washboard, the sad iron, the scrub brush, the water pail, the short-handled dustpan, the ax, and a number of implements with which many women are obliged to do their work.

To offset the "lady killers" was another exhibit of ways and means of lightening work in the home. In this were included "kitchen jitneys"—a type of tea wagon—iceless refrigerators, washing machines, plans for simple water systems, fireless cookers, fruit and vegetable driers, oil stoves, portable gas makers, and hydraulic rams. Several manufacturers showed light and power plants suitable for farm homes at the same exhibit. Small conveniences costing anywhere from 5 to 25 cents were also displayed. Getting more conveniences for doing work into the home is the aim of every home-demonstration agent. Last year, through their advice and by their aid, thousands of labor saving devices and conveniences were installed in country homes, thereby lessening the housewife's work and increasing her efficiency, comfort, and enjoyment of life.

An amorous young man met a mathematical maid. He was as keen on flirtations as she was on problems, and he asked her, in the conservatory, to tell him her age.

"How old am I?" replied the girl. "Well, when I am as old as my sister was when she was as old as I will be when she is twice as old as I then was I will be twice as old as I now am."

The young man, eager to please, looked at her in polite astonishment and exclaimed: "Never!"—Stray Stories.

TO THE VOTERS OF WHITE CLAY CREEK HUNDRED

Being a candidate for the House of Representatives from your district and disliking very much to annoy you by a personal canvass, I take this method of appealing to you for your support at the polls.

I am no politician, but have had experience in legislation, and understand very well the duties of the office.

My political ideals are those of Jefferson and Lincoln, democratic as opposed to aristocratic or plutocratic control.

Much to the taxpayers' detriment, the affairs of this State seem to be run in the interest of an office-holding clique whose desire is to feed well at the public crib.

The State is burdened with useless commissions, many working at cross purposes but all piling up burdens on the taxpayers.

Increased taxes in the State and in this County are already oppressive to our farmers who are confronted with a falling market for their produce.

All taxpayers are paying heavy road and school taxes and are certainly justified in being disgusted with the results.

In the last 20 years our population has increased a little over 20 per cent and our expenses have increased about 600 per cent.

Do you not think it is about time to stop the reckless and needless commissions from wasting your money?

Good roads and schools we must have but needless officeholders and useless commissions are giving us no help in that direction.

If your views are in accord with mine, I would like to serve you in Dover, and assure you in case you elect me, that I will be your servant and not be controlled by any political ring or faction.

UNEDUCATED HAVE LITTLE CHANCE

Investigation of "Who's Who" Reveals Some Interesting Data

An investigation of the educational advantages enjoyed by the eight thousand persons mentioned in "Who's Who in America," for the years 1899-1900, brought out the following facts: Out of the nearly five million uneducated men and women in America, only thirty-one have been sufficiently successful in any kind of work to obtain a place among the eight thousand leaders catalogued in this book. Out of thirty-three million people with as much as a common-school education, 803 were able to win a place in the list, while out of only two million with high school training, 1,245 have have manifested this marked efficiency; and out of one million with college or university training, 5,768 have merited this distinction. That is to say, only one child in one hundred and fifty thousand has been able in America, without education, to become a notable factor in the progress of his state, while the children with common school education have, in proportion to numbers, accomplished this four times as often, and those with high school education eighty-seven times as often, and those with college training eight hundred times as often. If this list had been selected by the universities or school teachers, or if literary leaders only were chosen, it might easily be claimed that the apparently greater success of the educated was due to the line of work from which the leaders were selected. But the selection of the men and women in this book was not in the hands of professors, but in the hands of a firm of business men. They selected leaders in all lines of industry, commerce, agriculture, and other fields of practical endeavor besides the professions, and still this enormously increased efficiency and productivity of those with education was found.

The child with no schooling has one chance in 150 of performing distinguished service; with elementary education, he has four one chance in 150 of performing education 87 times the chance; with college education 800 times the chance.

INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE MINDED TO BE OPENED MONDAY

At a meeting held last week at Dover of the Delaware Commission for the Feeble Minded, Mrs. T. Coleman du Pont, of Wilmington, was elected chairman of the board, succeeding Mrs. Selden S. Deemer, deceased. Since Mrs. Deemer's death Robert G. Houston, of Georgetown, had been acting chairman. He was named vice chairman.

Senator Thomas F. Gormley, Mrs. du Pont and Selden S. Deemer were named a special committee with power to select a superintendent for the institution, which it is expected will be opened on November 1. This committee will meet on Saturday, October 30, when it is expected the superintendent will be named. The selection of the remainder of the staff will probably depend largely on recommendations of the superintendent. There are already a number of applications for the latter office from persons in all parts of the country.

Reports submitted to the board show that the building, on the farm purchased for the home near Stockley, Sussex county, is 99 per cent completed. The finishing work is now being done by painters and will be ready for occupancy on November 1. This is a large administration building with two wings, one for the male and the other for the female inmates of the institution. There is also a dwelling house and farm building on the property, which have been improved.

Those who attended the meeting in Dover were: Mrs. T. Coleman du Pont and Senator Thomas F. Gormley, of Wilmington; Selden S. Deemer, of New Castle; Arley B. Magee, John B. Hutton and Mrs. Emma Burnet, of Dover, and Robert G. Houston, of Georgetown.

"You know," said the woman whose motor car had run down a man, "you must have been walking very carelessly. I am a very careful driver. I have been driving a car for seven years."

"Lady, you've got nothing on me. I've been walking for fifty-four years."—Detroit News.

THE FORUM CHANGES HANDS

Famous Magazine Taken Over by New York Journalist

The Forum, a magazine which for thirty-five years has had the most prominent men of the country among its contributors, has been bought by George Henry Payne, well-known as a friend and associate of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and recently opponent of Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., in the Republican primaries for the United States Senatorship. At the present time Mr. Payne is a Commissioner of Taxes for the City of New York, and within the month has published "The History of Journalism in the United States."

The change in the ownership of The Forum has attracted considerable attention because of the prominence and activities of the new editor who was one of the first to organize outside of the Senate against the League of Nations without reservations. He formed the Committee of American Business Men which included such national figures as T. Coleman du Pont, Julius Kruttschnitt, Otto H. Kahn, James M. Beck, L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, Henry T. Tamm, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Jules S. Bache and Henry Rogers Winthrop. Mr. Payne also organized and made the first fight against President Wilson's attitude on the Panama Canal Tolls.

In 1912 George Henry Payne was closely associated with Theodore Roosevelt as one of his New York managers, and up to the time of Col. Roosevelt's death was an intimate friend and in continuous touch with the Colonel on political matters.

The November number of the Forum will be under Mr. Payne's editorship. One of the features announced for that edition is a definite program of tax reform by the foremost financiers of America, Otto H. Kahn, of whom Theodore Roosevelt said only ten days before his death that "he (Mr. Kahn) is doing the clearest and soundest thinking in the country." The Forum was founded thirty-five years ago by Isaac L. Rice, and under the editorship of the late Walter H. Page, ambassador to England, was one of the leading serious magazines in the English-speaking world.

SAVE WASTE PAPER

Few of us realize the importance of saving waste paper. Today when the country is threatened with a wood and paper famine and our forests are disappearing so rapidly, every effort should be made to save every scrap of paper. It is estimated that the saving of paper would make it possible to save over 1,000,000,000 feet of lumber each year. Waste paper, such as old magazines, all kinds of printed matter and paper books, takes the place of wood pulp and saves millions of trees. Such material is used for making paper boxes, roofing and building boards and paper shipping containers of all kinds, which carry as much as 100 pounds. If every one would save the waste paper in his home it would not be necessary to use a single tree for such material. It would require more than 500,000,000 feet of lumber each year to make the paper shipping cases used throughout the country.—Boys' Life.

GIVE BOYS AND GIRLS A PERMANENT PLACE AT THE FAIR

On the shoulders of the farm boys and girls of today rests, in considerable measure, the future of American agriculture. Their success or failure financially and their satisfaction or dissatisfaction with their environment is of direct importance to the whole country. I have always been much interested in what the boys' and girls' clubs are doing to help them, and I believe this important and far-reaching branch of extension work should be encouraged in every feasible way.

One of the needs of the clubs is more adequate housing on the State and district fair grounds for the club members and their exhibits. At most of the fairs tents are now used for this purpose. These have proved to be very inadequate especially when the weather is bad. A movement is now under way, which I am very glad to indorse, to provide a permanent exhibit building and a permanent camp for the junior farmers on every large fair ground. This would emphasize the importance of the work these young people are doing and make them feel that their aid in promoting through exhibits at fairs is being the interests of agriculture properly appreciated.—E. T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture.

The young housewife, looking very pretty and workmanlike in a big green overall, was cleaning out the pantry cupboard.

"Dickie," she called to her young husband, who was smoking in the spick-and-span little drawing room "I want you to bring me a mouse trap home tomorrow."

"But, angel," cried the young man, "I brought you one home only yesterday."

"I know, pet," called back the young bride, "but that one has a mouse in it."—Spanish River News.

COCKLEBUR CARRIES DOUBLE-BARRELED GUN

In eradicating the cocklebur, remember that it carries a double-barreled gun. Every bur carries two seeds, only one of which sprouts the first year. Even when the product of that seed has been killed the other will be in shape to make trouble the next season. The United States Department of Agriculture has a circular on the cocklebur—how to get rid of it.

"AMERICA FIRST!"

Two Words Explain Forward March to Republican Victory

The forward march to Republican victory moves irresistibly. The reason is summed in two words—"America First." That means more than the preservation of our national independence against super-government abroad. It means more than the protection of constitutional functions against White House theft of authority at home. It means that the pressing domestic problems of "America First" are in the public mind and that these domestic problems are again to have progressive and constructive and effective attention at Washington.

We must and we shall do our whole duty by the world's peace, with an eye to "America First." But the electorate refuses to forget that the Wilson league—a contract for international war parading the clothes of peace—is only one of a score of utter failures and betrayals which November's "solemn referendum" must settle. It refuses to keep its eyes riveted on Europe. It refuses to ignore the driving domestic problems, close to every hearth-stone, before which the Democratic party has stood impotent and confessed bankruptcy.

It is thinking of "America First" and all the accumulated work in Washington which cannot much longer be denied effective attention if "America First" is to last. It is thinking of these throttling taxes which must be speedily changed—and reduced as quickly as possible—if American prosperity is to survive.

It is thinking of intelligent and effective efforts to reduce high living costs with least possible disturbance to mass earning power.

It is thinking of the real prosecution of those real profiteers who have thus far escaped under cover of much federal noise and precious little federal action.

It is thinking of government at Washington reduced to a business basis, with wanton extravagances cut off and political pensioners separated from the public crib. It is thinking of guarantees for industrial peace. It is thinking that housing and agricultural problems must be faced and courageously solved; that tariffs must be made safe in their protection of American markets in the world trade war now opening; that the extraordinary and burdensome wartime powers of the government must be eliminated so far as possible; that we get back to the limitations of the Constitution in times of peace and stay there; that Washington must no longer be a laboratory for experimentation in every socialistic nostrum; in a word, that we must speedily set our own house in order, that we must face to the front and move out with a forward-stepping program—eyes ahead, but feet on solid ground.

Democratic campaign strategy desperately but vainly seeks to escape its just and due responsibilities for failures in these domestic regards. Democratic management attempts to hide behind a "peace" smoke-screen, which is as counterfeit as the 1916 pledge that he would "Keep us out of war."

But "America First" is uppermost in the American conscience today—and it means that the American voter is intent upon making America safe at home as well as abroad. As sure as sunrise, the electorate, ten days hence, will complete the job of Democratic repudiation and American salvation which it so vigorously and so necessarily commenced two years ago.—Will H. Hays.

"Here! What's coming off out there?" yelled Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark., as a wild clamor arose in the yard.

"The baby was playing with my fishing tackle," howled young Bearcat, "and he swallowed a fishhook."

"Well, what the Sam Hill is that for you to make such a hooraw about. Hain't you got no more fishhooks?"

Faculty Club Plans Extensive Program

On October 22nd the Executive Committee of the Faculty Club met, and from that meeting has come a most excellent and interesting program of coming events.

November 2nd will be election night. The members of the Club will gather together at a Halloween party and during the course of the evening election returns will be announced. This promises to be a meeting of great interest and frolic for the faculty. As an added attraction luncheon will be served at midnight.

Sometime in the first part of November the Club is planning to give a reception to President Hullihen and his wife. The arrangements, however, have not been completed and no date can be announced at this time.

On November 23rd the Faculty

Club will unite with the student body at a Thanksgiving dinner. This occasion, no doubt, will be the one of most interest to the students, and everyone, both faculty and students, should look forward to this night of feasting and fellowship.

December 6th has been the night set for the reception of the football squad by the faculty. The reception will be held in the Faculty Club room.

Instructions for Republican Voters

Every Republican Must Put a Cross in the Square With the Eagle to Make a Legal Ballot

After entering the polling place you announce your name to the election clerks.

A clerk finds your name on the registration book and you will be handed an envelope with the number of your voting district on it and the names of the election clerks.

You may secure a ballot beforehand and may take it with you already marked instead of taking one from the election clerk.

If you have marked and folded your ballot before entering the polling place you simply put it in the envelope which is handed to you. If you take a new ballot, you mark this, fold it and put it into the envelope. You go into the booth to mark the ballot.

Straight Ticket—A cross in the square with the Eagle marks the ballot for the straight Republican ticket, voting all candidates.

Scratched Ballot—If you have decided not to vote for some one candidate on the ticket, you simply draw a line through the name of that candidate—after putting a cross in the square with the Eagle.

Split Ticket—If you have decided not to vote for some one candidate and wish to vote for the candidate on another ticket for that office, you draw a line through the name of the man you do not wish to vote for and put a cross in the square to the left of the name you wish to substitute—and be sure to put a cross in the square with the Eagle.

The name substituted must be one printed on the same line with the name crossed out. Do not write any name on the ballot. Such writing is illegal and the ballot would not be counted.

To vote the Republican Ticket, straight, scratched or split a cross must be made in the square with the Eagle. If there is no cross in the square with the Eagle the ballot will be counted only for the individual candidates whose names are marked with a cross.

If you accidentally spoil one ballot, you will be given another.

The voter is not supposed to receive any assistance after he enters the polling place. All information must be secured beforehand. The voting process is very simple: Announce your name, take the envelope from the clerk, mark your ballot, fold it with the printed side in, place it in the envelope and return it to the Inspector of Elections who will be waiting to take it and place it in the ballot box.

There is no special way that the ballot must be folded. Just fold it neatly and quickly to a size to go in the envelope.

Use pencil, not ink, to make your ballot

Foremost in Price Revisions

Our prices as based upon cost of merchandise this season have been absolutely fair. Our prices have always been the lowest, otherwise we never would have gotten the confidence of our customers and succeeded as we have. Whittling down our profits to cut the cost of our goods to our customers has been the policy of this store from the beginning.

Now, when the world's business is turning a critical corner, we are making greater sacrifices than ever before—helping to relieve our customers from the high cost pressure by bringing our goods down to rock-bottom prices. We are offering our customers exceptional opportunities.

Almost our entire stock—regardless as to whether the merchandise has but recently arrived or has been carried over from last season—is now marked at prices that involve a sacrifice not only of profits but actual cost has been disregarded as well. Come in and convince yourself.
