Strike-Caused Parts Shortage Menaces 4,000 At Local Plant

Chrysler's Local Auto Assembly Plant Faces Shutdown
Within Next Few Days As Strike At Ohio Parts Supply
Center Causes Shortage Of Materials For Production

Some 4,000 production workers at the Chrysler auto assembly plant at Newark may be laid off within the next few days because of a strike-caused parts shortage.

The stamping plant at Twinsburg, O., was struck Tuesday by a labor dispute, and officials in Detroit said several plants throughout the country would be affected.

At Newark, spokesmen said there are still parts en route to the plant, but could not say just how long the supply would hold out.

They estimated that the plant would be forced out of production the first of next week at the latest.

Chrysler officials said the lay-off would be in two stages, pending a study of inventories.

Body Parts
The Twinsburg plant produces body parts for virtually every car model.

Twinsburg workers walked out Tuesday complaining about safety working conditions.

The International United Auto Workers Union ordered the strikers to work and set a 12-day strike period.

The membership of the local re-assembly plant was suspended Sunday for 12 men on suspension instead of 12.

The company said grievances over pay and working conditions had not been settled. The union denied this.

At the secondary level, groupings according to ability and achievement have been implemented. Curriculum improvements in the district; seminars for all pupils in special subject areas have been developed; Russian language classes have been held on an extra-curricular basis at the high school; and remedial reading programs have been included in the curriculum for pupils with reading difficulties.

B&O Plans To End Newark Operation Of Freight Office

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has petitioned the Public Service Commission for permission to close its freight office at Newark but to continue freight service here.

In the proposed change, power work for Newark freight business would be handled at the Childs, Md. station, 6.8 miles down the line.

The Newark freight office is in the old brick passenger station at Elkton Road and Delaware Avenue. Its one employee would be transferred if the office is closed.

Carload lots are loaded on trains at Newark, and would continue to be handled that way. Less-than-carload lots are picked up by trucks and taken either to Wilmington or Baltimore for further routing. This would also continue.

A spokesman for the line said the four freight offices in New Castle County (Yorklyn, Elsmere, Newark, and Wilmington) are too many in these days of fast communications.

Delaware Invited To Help Establishment Of National Agricultural Hall Of Fame

Delaware participation will be invited in the establishment of a national Agricultural Hall of Fame on a 400-acre tract, 12 miles west of Kansas City, Kan.

Agricultural leaders spearheading the project have developed plans for a central building with a rotunda in which will be placed life-size busts of farmers, farm leaders, inventors, scientists and others who have made outstanding contributions to the establishment and advancement of agriculture in the United States.

One wing of the building will house a library pertaining to the history and development of agriculture. Two other wings will be devoted to exhibits depicting the progress of agriculture from the time Squanto taught the Pilgrims how to plant and cultivate corn, to present-day highly mechanized and scientific farming systems.

Former Governor Elbert N. Carvel is chairman of the state committee. He was elected to head the Delaware effort at a recent meeting of representative farm leaders in Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware.

Also attending the meeting were Mr. Paul Bickford, representing the Delaware State Farm Bureau; Harold Shipley, manager of White Brothers Supply Company, Middletown, representing Delaware farm machinery and equipment dealers; Frank Richardson, Camden farmer; and Paul Hodgson, assistant superintendent of public instruction; W. Lyle Mowlds, state supervisor of agricultural education; George K.

Vapaa, Kent county agricultural agent, the National Association of County Agricultural Agents; and Dean George M. Worrlow, University of Delaware school of agriculture, who was elected secretary of the state committee.

Another Delawarean—Clark W. Davis, general manager of DuPont industrial and biochemicals department, is national vice-chairman of the project. Davis met with the local group and explained how the proposed center will operate. He described it as a national shrine to agriculture—a dynamic educational center that would attract 1,000,000 people a year, many of them city people.

In explaining the project, Mr. Davis observed that farmers have contributed considerably more to the American heritage than baseball players and other groups that have established halls of fame.

"It seems fitting then that American agriculture and the farm people who have made such outstanding scientific and economic contributions to our national community, be properly honored," he declared. Mr. Davis pointed out that approximately 40 per cent of the entire U. S. labor force is employed either directly in agriculture or in related fields.

Carvel said the project offers Delaware farmers a unique opportunity to tell the agricultural story to non-farm people.

He announced that he would appoint a representative state committee to plan and carry out Delaware's part in the national effort.

Library Director Dawson Reports Journal Increase

The concern of the world's scientists for the dissemination of research findings has never been more evident than in 1959.

"There is no mystery about the increase in the number of journals and the widespread interest in them," Dr. John M. Dawson, director of libraries at the University of Delaware, observes. "Research today can't wait for books. The most recent findings are more quickly available in journals."

Library holdings at the university reflect the increased demand for journals by research-minded faculty members. In 1955, the library subscribed to 855 journals. Today, 1,521 titles are found on the shelves.

Olde Princess Anne Days Planned For Oct. 10-11

Princess Anne, Md. — "In this day of plastics and A-Bombs we are apt to forget how pleasantly our ancestors lived," remarked Mrs. Clyde Johnson, chairman of the art and antique exhibit here for the Olde Princess Anne Days celebration, Oct. 10-11. "Of course," she continued, "we could not expect the hand-spun and hand-woven fabrics we will have on display to rival modern machined nylon, but to me and many others they are the most beautiful and remarkable of our heritages from our distant ancestors."

Mrs. Johnson went on to talk about the real Olde days when great grandfather was cradling his field of grain, great grandmother was cooking over the big open fire in the kitchen and wearing a "slat-bonnet" to protect her complexion from the heat.

Antiques being assembled include pewter and silver, and dog-eared account books of long ago. Perhaps the most curious is a "poison cup" made of glass which in the "olde days," was attributed mystical powers.

Brackish Waters May Save Crops In Dry Weather

Many crops can be saved during periods of drought by irrigation with brackish water, according to Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse, University of Delaware department of horticulture.

Such water is common available in Delaware where the sea has flooded into surface water sources or infiltrated into wells used for irrigation, Fieldhouse said.

When available, fresh water should be used for irrigation, but investigations by the department's Agricultural Research Service have shown that many crops are tolerant and productive when irrigated with brackish water.

Brackish water usable for crop production is one-eighth to one-tenth as salty as sea water.

Experiments in Virginia show an accumulation of salts in the soil where brackish water has been used for irrigation. However, winter rains usually leach these salts out before the next growing season.

Brackish water applied before seeds have germinated causes a marked reduction in germination. For this reason the use of saline water must be restricted to the period after seeds have germinated, Fieldhouse warned.

One hundred ninety-two dairy men and their guests attended the annual fall dinner meeting last Thursday in Harmony Grange Hall on Limestone Road for Wilmington area members of the Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative.

Norman Dempsey of Corner Ketch, retiring president of the Wilmington marketing committee, presided, and Dean George M. Worlow, University of Delaware School of Agriculture, was toastmaster.

Newly elected members of the cooperative were: Philemon Sheats, George Baxter, and Victor Dickerson of Middletown; and Laurence Wilkinson of Landenberg, Pa. Twenty-five dollar saving bonds were won by Woodrow Haas of Wyoming; Ernest Butler of Middletown; Leon Wilkinson of Landenberg; and Harvey Ogden of Kirkwood for having the most level milk production in 1958.

Another new housing development is starting along Kirkwood Highway on the former Gladish farm between Mill Creek and the entrance to Delaware Park. The new location has been named Pinecrest and permits have been granted Variety Builders for the erection of two homes—one at $11,000 the other $10,000.

Mrs. Ferris Eastburn of Limestone Road, attended the quilting last Wednesday at the New Garden Meeting House by members of the New Garden (Pa.) Sewing and Reading Club.

The Waverly Club will begin a fall and winter program next Wednesday with a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Alfred Morse near Kennett Square, with Mrs. Lewis Palmer, co-hostess. Mrs. Morse will have charge of the International Relations program. The roll call will be current events.

SPOILING THEM?

IT'S ONLY MONEY — BUT IT'S OURS!

When eighty billion of anything are moving around in all directions, it probably is inevitable that some will end up, strayed or possibly stolen.

Federal agencies had more than eighty billion dollars move around last year. It was quite a job to see that just right number go to just the right places for just the right uses. Even when some of those billions of dollars were scattered into millions of necessities such as ships and shoes and shooting irons, it was still a king-size chore to keep up on all of them.

No wonder then that the Comptroller General's office, checking the Philadelphia Navy Yard, found a $26,000 boat worth $200,000 worth of other equipment which the Navy had track of and written off. Or that the same Navy Yard had 1,022 more sandalwood chairs than it had people to sit them. Or that a 40-year supply of WAC clothing turned up at another military base. Or that for every government job the government now owns two and one-half typewriters, that the Navy buys sunglasses for $5 while the Air Force has the same glasses as surplus for $1.25. Or that some of the foreign aid dollars aren't buying what we think they are buying.

Yes, it's probably inevitable. Yet the sneaking suspicion is that not quite so many tax dollars would go astray if not quite so many of them were going around.

Navy Notes — Assignment Asmara

Flight — Tripoli
By William P. Mote

A graduate of Newark High School, Class of 1957, Navy Radioman Bill Mote, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Mote, Newark, is stationed at Asmara, Africa, 65 miles from the Red Sea. His articles concerning Navy life will appear from time to time.

We ate breakfast and then walked around outside the chow hall. This was our first look at Africa. No grass, but many flowers and palm trees growing all around the air base.

We were held up for an extra two hours due to a little trouble with the plane's engine. Only one was working right when we landed, but the air force men worked on them and by dawn they were all running as they were supposed to, and we all got in again.

After we took off, we had to stay strapped in for a little while. We passed through a bit of rough air and then settled back and enjoyed the view, ate our box lunches high over the desert, and watched the miles of sand slide away below.

Our plane had many passengers, mostly military men of friendly foreign countries in the Mid-East. Many had been to military schools in the U.S. and were now on their way home. They all had one thing in common—they hated the Russian form of government.

We flew over the Nile and soon were over Arabia. We were to land at Dhahran and from there fly to Asmara. We landed in the late afternoon and had our passports collected. I felt lost without my little green book.

We went to the terminal and a man that looked like someone out of Sinbad glanced at our luggage. He grinned, said "you all OK," and scrawled with white chalk on my bags. That was all there was to that.

A lot of people stood watching us. The planes were the main attraction of the Arabs here. They loved to watch the people from them. I am only sorry that my fear of these people kept me from trying to talk with them. They, I am now sure, would have proved very interesting and were only curious about us.

Constitution Day Program Launches NHS Assemblies

LWV To Conduct Annual Fund Drive

The Newark League of Women Voters of Newark will conduct its annual fund drive next week, beginning Tuesday morning with a coffee at the home of the president, Mrs. Joseph R. Perkins, Jr., on Chestnut Hill Road.

Explaining the purpose of the drive, Mrs. Perkins said: "The League promotes individual responsibility for government. We work on issues which concern everyone and we try to reach the whole community with non-partisan information. We keep dues as low as possible so that money will not be a barrier to membership, but even with member contributions, more money is needed to do the job."

"Locally we receive about a third of our budget from non-member contributions and our goal this year is $400," she said.

Mrs. Perkins stressed that the league drive is not a general appeal for funds but is a personal call on old friends and certain other individuals to acquaint them with the league's purpose and offer an opportunity to assist with a financial contribution.

"It is just about impossible to find a date when another group is not also asking for funds," Mrs. Perkins said, "but far from conflicting with such appeals, we believe the league work helps them. Only in a free, democratic society is there a place for voluntary activity of any kind. The League of Women Voters is dedicated to making democracy more vital through informed citizen participation in government."

Recent activities of the local League of Women Voters have included plans for more equal voting districts in Newark; support of the city manager plan; study of planning and zoning; and county government.

U. of D. Obtains Senate Approval For $2,656,000

Then State Senate passed two bills last week authorizing the University of Delaware to borrow some $2,656,000 for capital improvement.

The amount is about 54 per cent of the $4,933,000 requested for the 1959-61 biennium by Dr. John A. Perkins, university president, in an appearance before the Joint Finance Committee in February. After several days of testimony, the request was included in an omnibus bond bill, it was cut approximately in half and introduced separately in August.

The bills (SB-260 and SB-261) authorize the sale of bonds for funds for additional steam generating facilities, one-half the cost of constructing and equipping a dormitory (the remainder to come from federal funds) and an extension for the Brown Chemistry Laboratory.

Jimmy Murphy, Tommy Drennan, Jimmy Dorsman, Joe Opendenaker, and Gary Poffenbaugh.

Mike Sylvester received dinner stripes, and Harold Feller, assistant.

Gary Poffenbaugh received his graduation certificate and transfer into the Boy Scouts. He was presented with his troop neckerchief and slide.

Cubs and their parents will take part in a Cub Scout regatta this Saturday at Stanley's Pond at 10 a.m. The Cubs are making sailboats for the event; will bring picnic lunch, and may fish after the races.

The one car maker who makes missiles comes up with a new way to build cars

UNIBODY CONSTRUCTION surrounds you with silent strength, thanks to total design.

As prime contractor to the United States Army in the making of America's most successful missiles (Redstone and Jupiter), we've learned about finding out beforehand what's going to happen, and about the importance of total design.

We have applied this new space-age experience to the design and manufacture of new 1960 cars soon to be announced by Chrysler Corporation.

The single greatest result is that we can be sure that the first car off the production line will be as perfect as those which roll off five months later.

Built like a missile by electronic engineering

Instead of thinking of a car as a number of different components that would eventually be assembled, we attacked the problem of the whole car. Total design, is another way of saying it. It has resulted in what our engineers call "pure automobile."

Electronic engineering—something entirely new in the motor car industry—helped us achieve this. Here's how it works . . .

165 years' work in a few months

For example, in mounting the engine to the frame, two rubber mounts and a heavy-duty spring are used.

We called on our missile-making experience and our battery of amazing electronic computers, and made more than 900,000,000 calculations for these mountings—a job that would have taken an engineer 165 years of full-time work. We had our answers in a few months. The result? Mountings that are in exactly the right place to soak up all engine-caused vibrations.

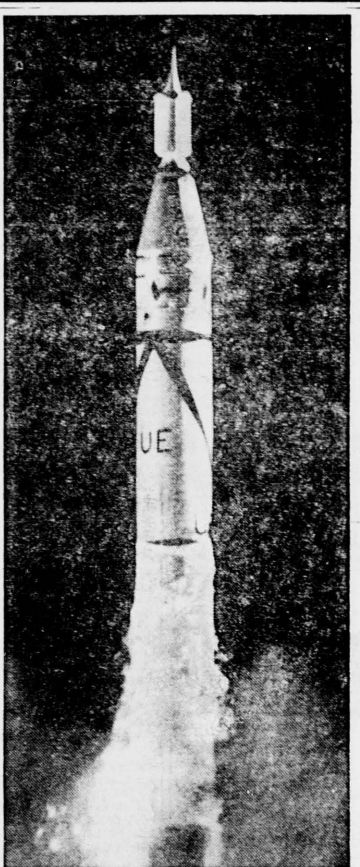

UNIBODY surrounds you with silent strength

These are the quietest cars you have ever known.

One reason is, we've done away with the old method of bolting body to frame. Now, they flow together as one welded complete unit. A surprising number of the squeaks and rattles have gone with the nuts and bolts.

We call this construction UNIBODY. Framed like bridge trusses, the new bodies have twice the torsional strength of previous models, along with 40% more beam strength.

Thanks to total design, UNIBODY gives you all the advantages of earlier forms of "unitized" construction plus this exclusive: you ride surrounded in silence, without the annoying road noises that other cars pick up and telegraph in to where you sit.

Imagine an automobile—

- that looks pure automobile . . . newly styled with natural lines of motion
- that could last twice as long as ever before
- that so reduces air drag it's like buying gasoline a penny a gallon cheaper
- that will withstand the ravages of rust years longer than ever before
- that locks the doors when the engine starts
- that gives more headroom without raising the roof, more legroom without stretching the car, wider doors you can step through rather than squirm through.

Our 1960 metals and chromes (right), will last years longer than the metals and chromes used by other car makers (left). Identical salt spray tests prove the difference.

Hens To Fly To Massachusetts Tomorrow For Saturday Grid Contest With Redmen

The University of Delaware football team will fly to Amherst, Mass., tomorrow night to prepare for Saturday's engagement with the University of Massachusetts Redmen, at 1:30 p.m.

The game will be the second in the series between the two teams. Delaware soundly romped over the Redmen, 28-14, last season at Delaware Stadium.

Massachusetts, fielding a club made up primarily of sophomores and juniors, threatens to be much stronger this season. The Redmen defeated the University of Maine in its Yankee Conference opener, 21-16, scoring all 21 points in the final 20 minutes of the contest. Maine had been regarded the only real threat to dethrone Connecticut, the conference champion.

Much of the Redmen success this season can be attributed to the installation of Delaware Coach Dave Nelson's Winged-T offense at the Amherst school. Saturday will mark the first time Nelson has faced his own offense in 11 years of coaching.

Coach Charles O'Rourke, entering his eighth year as the Redmen's coach, said the new offense has given them better balance in their running and passing game. Operating the Winged-T are a pair of alternating quarterbacks, veteran John Conway and sophomore John McCormick. Conway threw two touchdown passes in the Maine contest.

Massachusetts has good depth in the line and in the backfield and is using two teams interchangeably. Seventeen lettermen returned from last year's squad that compiled a 2-6 record.

Coach Nelson will field an all veteran team, principally the same that started last weekend's game with Lehigh at Delaware Stadium.

Quarterback Gampy Pellegrini will head a backfield composed of halfbacks Jack Turner and John Bowman and fullback Tony Suravitch. Line starters include ends

Dick Broadbent and Mickey Heinicke, tackles John Mordas and Ray Klapinsky, guards Leon Dombrowski and Otto Fad, and center and Captain Mark Hurm.

Backfield Coach Tubby Raymond has credited Turner, last year's top ground-gainer, with "giving his all" during game and practice sessions.

He said the Philadelphia native will go down in Blue Hen history as one of Delaware's "all-time great backs."

Karl Frantz, veteran end, rejoined the team last week after announcing his retirement from the game at the start of the season. One of the team's top receivers over the past two years, Frantz will probably see limited action until later in the season.

In other sports activity tomorrow, the Blue Hen cross-country team will open the season with a triangular meet with Franklin and Marshall and Juniata, at the F&M course in Lancaster, Pa., at 1:30 p.m.

Dick Green, of Middletown, is captain of the Delaware club, coached by D. Kenneth Steers. The largely sophomore team will seek to better its record of last season, when it dropped all six meets.

One of the top prospective runners is Carl-Olaf Homen, special exchange student from Finland, who was an outstanding trackman in his native country.

"I'll be waiting for you—and for some blue, bonito, and albacore," a friendly fisherman said in farewell last Friday morning from the dock at the Pen-Mar basin on the North East River, as with Cap'n Gibby and Young Skip Young, we set forth on a long voyage through the Chesapeake-Delaware Canal, down Delaware Bay to Lewes, and into the Atlantic Ocean.

And our well-wisher was waiting when we returned late in the evening, two days later, he said, "No body could fail to catch fish after traveling all that distance and trolling offshore in the Atlantic at this time of year."

It was smooth enough when we started out, with a slight breeze ruffling the surface of the North East, and things continued calm through the canal and into the Delaware until the bay widened. And then a southeaster began kicking things up across the broad expanse of water, and we rolled and pounded in white-capped heavy seas from Port Mahon to Lewes.

Substitute Navigator

Without the skilled services of Navigator Bulldog Bill Murray, we passed what we thought was Broadkill Beach on the Delaware shore, three times.

The first time, Broadkill proved to be Bowers, and the second, Slaughter Beach. When we crept past Broadkill late in the evening, throttled down to a very slow speed, indeed, the substitute navigator was reluctant to express an opinion, but Lewes was just ahead—and about time, too.

We made the Roosevelt Inlet just ahead of darkness.

At the Anglers, with hot clam chowder and softshell crabs on the table, the picture brightened, and when Brother Lew Waggoner finally put in a delayed appearance from Baltimore as we lingered under the after-dinner coffee, enthusiasm for the morrow was simmering under a full head of steam. Lew's rendezvous with our trio had been delayed by a brush with a Bridgeville gendarme and a traffic stop sign.

We slept aboard the 23-foot cruiser "Young-Un III" that night, snug, dry, and warm under the cabin top and canvas canopy dripping with a heavy dew over Lewes, with "the two old squires," as Skip said somewhat to the perturbation of his father and his father's older friend, sharing the more comfortable cabin quarters while Lew and Young Skip sacked out in the cockpit.

Small Fry

The wind was walling in the gray dampness of a very early morning when we cast off and beat our way out around Cape Henlopen into the green-gray, white-capped mountains of the rolling Atlantic, and a horde of gulls and terns was swooping and shrieking over, battish and snapper blues just off the cape.

But we were after bigger game, and disdained even trolling a lure for these small fry, heading southeast for P-Buoy and the albacore, dolphin, big blues and bonito.

Many miles later with the Delaware coastline hull-down on the western horizon and indicated only by the two observation towers at Dewey Beach, we were yet six or seven miles from our destination when Skip said that he smelled smoke.

"The engine's hot from trolling at slow speed," Gibby said in an effort to console himself, but further investigation revealed that the engine was indeed smoking—and not from trolling.

With the pounding in the heavy seas, the battery had broken from its mooring and fallen onto the motor, knocking off the flywheel driving the water-cooling pump.

Dead on the Water

For some bad moments, we wallowed dead on the ocean while repairs were improvised with the aid of a fish hook as a pin to hold the wheel on the shaft—and then we came about, heading back for Lewes.

Safely back in the lee of the cape, the wheel came off again, but we had it made by then.

Coach Mike Lude, Capt. Mark Hurm Address TD Club

Delaware line coach Mike Lude, and Hen football captain Mark Hurm were guests of honor at the first luncheon meeting of the Newark Touchdown Club last Monday noon at the Newark Country Club, with President Bayard Perry conducting the meeting, and Capt. LeRoy Hill of the Newark Police Department, program chairman.

Lude lauded the Hens for their poise against the unexpected "T" offense offered by Lehigh in last Saturday's opener, and explained the lack of Delaware passing in the second half as due to the success of their outside game with 60 per cent efficiency. "A 40 per cent efficient performance is ordinarily enough to win," Smilin' Milo Lude concluded.

He said that with a bit of luck, Delaware could have won by four touchdowns "and would have looked much better on paper, but we wouldn't have been a bit better," Coach Lude said, expressing satisfaction with the score and game as it was.

He praised Quarterback Gampy Pellegrini for "a very good game," and said "he did what we wanted him to do," concluding that the quarterbacking for the Hens was "in pretty good shape."

As ball receivers, Lude listed Tony Suravitch, Dick Broadbent, and Heinicke as "top hands" in the Blue Hen roster.

In addressing the Touchdown Club, Captain Mark Hurm said that he felt the Hens might "go all the way" after the Lehigh game, barring injuries to key personnel.

Delaware freshman football coach Raymond "Scotty" Duncan will be the guest speaker at next Monday's noon luncheon meeting of the Touchdown Club at the Newark Country Club.

Other guests included George Frick, John Healy and Stan Stocki.

Three Strikes

All hands caught albacore and bonito—plenty of them—and to top things off, had three marlin strikes. Messrs. McFarlin, Reckords and Shue each had a strike from a white marlin—and although the fish didn't linger after the strike, the memories did.

Fishing out of Rock Hall last week, Pete Furness with Earl Lofland and Joe Dickerson aboard Capt. Woody Ashley's "Capistrano" caught 26 rock, weighing from three to nine pounds.

"We trolled with white baits and pork rind," Pete Furness said, "about half a mile north of the Bay Bridge, late in the evening."

"The only time in my life I ever caught any rock, too," Pete said reflectively, adding to Fred Mitchell's mild satisfaction—"and I've never caught a sailfish."

"The love of money may be the root of all evil, but let's face it—we're all evil minded,"—J. C. Salak.

Sally Stephenson Tops Dorothy Ott In Chrysler Golf

Sally Stephenson won the Chrysler Handicap Golf Tournament for women at the Newark Country Club last week, defeating Dorothy Ott, 1-up, in the final round.

Mrs. Stephenson gained the final round of the tourney by defeating Eloise Cannoles, while Mrs. Ott won over former state junior golf champion Joan Aneda.

In last Tuesday's Ladies Day event, Mary McDowell of the Newark Country Club scored the low gross 83 for 18-holes, with Helen Davidson carding the low gross 100 for the visiting Dover women.

Zona MacPhee, with 71, and Ingrid Dowling, with 73, scored low for the hostess club, while Esther Parker and Ann Walters carded low net 76's for the visitors.

Kay Barrows of Newark scored the low nine-hole net 39, while Grace Magee turned in the low net 43 for the Dover delegation.

Later that afternoon we watched from the wharf as the party boats were unloading hundreds of big albacore and bonito taken around P-Buoy—just a few miles to the southeast of our turning point.

Several weeks ago, however, Bob Evans, Bob McFarlin, and Wilmer Shue of Newark, with Sam Reckords in his "Hobo" cruiser piloted by Cap'n Frank Harrison out of the Indian River Inlet, did make it to P-Buoy—and under difficult conditions, too.

A heavy fog dripped over the ocean, but Cap Harrison plotted a course that brought them through the wet shroud head-on to the buoy—and fish.

Other new officers are James Perlick, Elktion, vice president; Allen Fleming, Glendale, secretary; Joseph Scarborough, Elktion, treasurer; Peter Gittney, Elktion, field trial chairman; and Lorne Thwaites, New Castle, trial secretary.

Suravitch Scores Fourth Quarter TD As Hens Win 12-7

Delaware Beats Lehigh To Open Season After Trailing By 7-6 Count

Trailing Lehigh, 7-6 in the early moments of the fourth quarter at Delaware Stadium last Saturday, Coach Dave Nelson's Fighting Blue Hens made a gallant stretch run to top the Engineers, 12-7, with Fullback Tony Suravitch scoring from the four-yard line to climax Delaware's victory march of 71-yards.

Lehigh scored the season's first touchdown on a six-yard second and by quarterback Bob Scheu in the first quarter, and Delaware matched the six-pointer on a two-yard smash by halfback Jack Turner, the climax of a 61-yard drive, in the second period.

However, while the touchdowns were even the score was not. Lehigh led, 7-6, on the strength of a perfect placement by Joe Posillico following Scheu's tally.

Delaware, remembering last season's 8-7 heartbreaker at Bethlehem, tried for two points and the lead after Turner's touchdown. The bonus PAT play worked, but was ruled illegal.

Quarterback Gampy Pellegrini pitched wide to halfback John Bowman who, while on the move, underhanded the ball to Turner in the end zone. The officials ruled Bowman had advanced beyond the line of scrimmage before releasing the ball.

The decision, unpopular with the Delawareans, became even less palatable as the day wore on with the Blue Hens failing to overhaul their spirited guests.

One choice opportunity was wasted late in the second quarter, two more were blown in the third period and a fourth was dissipated late in the final stanza.

However, by the time of the fourth failure, Suravitch had smashed it to his touchdown and all was forgiven.

The competition for outstanding lineman honors was tight, with votes going to Delaware's Dombrowski and Boyd and Lehigh's co-captain Ed Murphy, but the press captain and center, Mark Hurm.

Suravitch was challenged for the backfielders' award by Lehigh's burly sophomore fullback Boyd Taylor.

Yellowjackets Wallop Elkton High, 39-0 To Extend Winning Streak To 14 Games

The Newark Yellowjackets walloped Elkton High's gridders, 39-0, last Friday night at Elkton to extend a three-season victory skid to 14 games as Bob Hoffman made his debut as head football coach for Newark High School.

"The boys certainly gave me a good start," Coach Hoffman smiled, "and in turn, I let them have a pretty good time, too. There were 48 players suited up, and all of them played."

Hoffman praised the field, the jacket, Co-Captain Carl Elton, and the team's spirit. "I had our wing-T backs flying all over the place."

The Yellowjackets made touchdowns in each of the first two periods before turning the game over to the reserves.

Halfback Maynard Coker led the scoring with 12 and 20 yard touchdowns runs of 12 and 20 yards.

Marsh Saunders dug dirt on a five-yard thrust after a pass and ran 40 yards and halfback Bob Bell raced 18 yards for other touchdowns.

Art Carney kicked two points and Arnold Saunders more and brother of Marsh counted for the other extra points.

The Yellowjackets met a second set of opponents at this Saturday, with kickoff scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Newark Jayvees open a five game season next Monday home, in a game with the junior varsity gridders at 7 p.m.

Parents Cautioned To Protect Child With Proper Shoes

With school starting again, many parents are buying shoes for their children—and the chances are that within an amazingly short time the shoes won't fit anymore, clothing specialist Janet Reed at the University of Delaware says.

About 80 per cent of our children have something wrong with their feet by the time they reach high school, Miss Reed reports, and most of the trouble can be attributed to poor fitting shoes.

"By the time our youngsters reach ten years of age, half of them are well on their way toward foot problems!" she warns.

The major trouble is the fast growth of a child's feet. For a baby under eight months old, you may need to buy him new shoes every month. From 15 months to two-years old, junior will probably need a new pair every two to three months.

In fact it is usually a mistake to buy a youngster two pairs of shoes at once. A common error is to have a "good" pair which doesn't get much use and then the youngster gets them after they are already too small, and wears them until they wear out, whether they fit or not!

Children's feet are very pliable and can be deformed by poor fitting shoes without serious discomfort to the youngster, so the only way to guard against this is to be sure the shoes fit when they are purchased and to change them as often as necessary to keep up with the child's growth.

Redness or marks on the feet when shoes and socks are taken off may indicate poor fitting shoes. Any rough, hardened skin may indicate trouble. If the toe rubs the end of the shoe is too small. He should have half to an inch to spare. Have your child fitted by a reliable shoe dealer, Miss Reed recommends.

Infants should have a soft soled shoe with no heel. Babies' feet develop better without shoes until they have learned to stand. Toddlers should have firm but flexible soles with little or no heel.

Play shoes or canvas sneakers should not be worn for long periods of time because they do not give enough support.

172,000 Acre Crop Of Soybeans Rated Tops For Delaware

Delaware farmers are beginning to harvest the state's 172,000 acres of soybeans, the largest acreage in Delaware's history—three per cent larger than last year—according to agronomist Frank B. Springer, Jr., University of Delaware.

Expected yield per acre will run between 22 and 25 bushels per acre according to U. S. Department of Agriculture's crop reporting service. Last year's average per-acre yield was 22.5 bushels.

Because of the importance of quality beans Springer suggested farmers get soybeans in when they are ready. Corn will stand in the field better than beans and will not suffer as much.

The beans should be combined when moisture is between 12 and 14 per cent. If they are above 14 per cent moisture they will crack during the thrashing.

Cylinder speed on the combine should be very slow, Springer said. Even as slow as 500 rpm's may be necessary to reduce cracking. Cylinder speed should be checked two or three times a day as the beans dry out during the day.

You should stop and make needed adjustments regardless of the time pressure, Springer said. If you look behind the combine and find four beans per sq. ft. you are losing one bushel per acre. If you find that many beans on the ground, either

PRESENTING AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CARS

THE IMPERIAL OF 1960

Tomorrow, at showrooms across America, we introduce the totally new... totally wonderful Imperial.

It is built more carefully, tested more thoroughly; than any other car which has been or will be introduced this year. It requires more individual hand-crafting than other cars. It takes longer to build... because the skills which build it are the kind that can't be hurried. It has brought automotive craftsmanship back to America.

The new instrument panel has bold, readable calibrations... logically placed controls... and a remarkable new Panescent lighting which aids vision and depth perception at night by eliminating glare and reflection.

New swivel seats turn automatically as the door is opened. An exclusive, improved Auto-Pilot tends the accelerator on long trips (two very practical options)... the engine has more wheel-turning power than any other passenger car engine in the world.

When you drive our Imperial of 1960, you think you will agree it proves one satisfying point... that a fine car can be almost awesomely impressive, and still be a vivid, engaging personality... a good companion as well as an obedient servant.

Compare Imperial's riding quality, space and comfort... ease of entry and exit, front and rear... driving liveliness... and learn that it is, in fact, the finest car America has yet produced.
