STUDENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN ASSEMBLY

WCD Chorus Will Sing

The Women's College Chorus will present the first entirely musical assembly of the year at the College Hour in Mitchell Hall on Monday, June 4, at 4:15 p.m.

The chorus of forty-five voices, under the direction of Mr. Anthony J. Loudis, will sing a number of songs by American composers: "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," two "Rosemary" choruses, "Dirge For Two Veterans," "Eric Canal," "I Hear America Singing," and "America the Beautiful."

During the program the audience will also be asked to join the chorus in the singing of some of the more familiar of these songs.

An additional feature of the program will be the famous three Gershwin preludes for piano as interpreted by Mr. Loudis. Although these selections have also been scored for an entire orchestra, they will appear as originally written for the piano.

NEWMAN CLUB TO MEET

The Newman Club will hold its last meeting of the year on Thursday, May 31, in the Computers' Room of Robinson Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Eugene J. Kraemer, chaplain of the organization, will conduct the discussion portion

Preceding Entertainment Sponsored by Student Council

June 2 has been set as the date for the annual Prom of the Junior Class of the Women's College. The semi-formal dance will be held in the WCD Gymnasium from 9 to 12 next Saturday evening with music by Leo Zollo and his orchestra. Members of the faculty, alumni, the entire student body, and guests are invited to attend.

An entertainment program to be held in the Hilarium of Warner Hall preceding the dance has been planned by the Student Council.

Under the direction of Peg McCarthy, president of the Junior class, and the co-chairmen, Jean Barlow and Lucy Rumpstich, plans have been prepared in an attempt to make the prom an outstanding success. The entire class has cooperated on the various committees.

Decorations based on the theme of "Heaven" have been worked out by the decoration committee under the leadership of Blax Cummins. The gym will be found complete with golden gates, a "stairway to the stars," and a blue ceiling.

The orchestra was selected by Gloria Moat and her committee, and programs have been prepared under the direction of Ruth Vernon.

Dottie May Kalmbacher has handled well the business connected with the prom, and invitations have been extended by Berniece Jones. Advertising and publicity have been the concern of Frani Cox, and the miscellaneous, though important, details have been entrusted to Annabelle Prettyman.

Patrons and Patronesses for the dance will be: Dean Marjory S. Golder, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, Dean and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, Miss Edna Frederick, and Miss A. J. DeArmond.

The officers of the Junior Class are: president, Peg McCarthy; vice-president, Iva Short; secretary, Libby Hopkins; treasurer, Elaine Klauber; and student council representative, Lucy Rumpstich.

POST WAR DISCUSSION PLANNED

Sponsored by Philosophy Dept.

On Wednesday, May 30, at 7:15 p.m. the Department of Philosophy is having a discussion about a topic important to all of us, "The Allied Nations' Post-War Program."

This meeting will begin by a brief presentation from four students of the political philosophy class of the various aspects of post-war settlement and the chartering of an international organization. A round-table and general discussion of the post-war program of the allied nations will follow. The discussion will culminate with the passing of several resolutions indicating the views of the meeting on these questions. The

SENIORS PLAN POST-GRADUATE OCCUPATIONS

This is the first article about the plans of our seniors upon their graduation on July 1. As soon as possible another article will relate any further information which can be secured. FOR MEN ONLY presents the futures of some of the male members of the senior class.

Esther Walker will teach physical education at Smyrna in the fall. Teena Fryling has accepted a position as a teacher in the Newark Elementary School, while Betty Harkins will be seen in an elementary school in Wilmington.

The duPont Company has laid claims to several of our members. Doris Sockrider has accepted a position with the Patent Division in Wilmington. Jack Carrow will be with duPont if the Army doesn't claim him. Polly Winter will be in the chemical laboratory as an analyst. Catherine Carrick will be in the laboratory of the company in Buffalo.

Bill Kirsch will stay at the University to do graduate work in chemical engineering. Rachel Morrison will work with Dr. Rostler here on campus. Bob Bickling has been awarded a fellowship to do graduate work in chemical engineering at the University of Wisconsin, and Leon Parker will also go there.

Rhoda Ginsberg plans to do graduate work in mathematics at Columbia University. Peg Larson has a graduate scholarship in history at the University of Michigan.

MEET THE CAST

Joe Woods

Another Wilmingtonian in "The Physician in Spite of Himself" is none other than Joe Woods, who comes to the University from P. S. duPont High School. Joe made his first stage appearance as a Wise Man in the Christmas play. Although he hasn't decided upon a major as yet, and frankly admits he is leading a most unexciting life, Joe proudly confesses that he is "mad about Lana Turner, and who could ask for a better life than that?" In rehearsals Joe has been a one man riot as the rather timid lover, Leandre. (Whistle, whistle woof!!)

Clare Simon

Seeing Clare on the stage, we still can't believe she is the senior Chem major who is such a whiz in the lab. In her hometown, Perth Amboy, New Jersey, Clare helped to write the senior play given by Perth Amboy High School, and was also a member of the cast. Clare's spontaneous acting in the dorm amateur shows assured us of the wonderful performance she has been giving during rehearsals. As the peasant mother in "The Physician in Spite of Himself," Clare has a considerable amount of stage presence which adds the needed ingredient to her dead pan part.

Barbara Kirk

Bobbie "Solo Flyer" Kirk, a graduate of the Oakwood Preparatory School of Poughkeepsie, New York, has had enough experience with high school plays both in the acting and directing fields to be able to do justice to the whole five lines (according to her official count) which she says in the play. In high school she was student director of "Our Town" and took part in numerous other productions.

Tickets may be purchased in Mitchell Hall on school days from 3-5 and 7-8 p.m. They may also be purchased at Rhodes Drug Store.

INVESTITURE SERVICE HELD

Seniors Receive Caps and Gowns

Sixty members of the senior class at the Women's College were formally invested in their academic caps and gowns on Monday, May 28, at a ceremony held in Mitchell Hall. Dean Marjory S. Golder, presiding at the meeting, addressed several remarks to the assembly. Immediately after the talk, Dr. W. Owen Sphierd formally invested the seniors.

This traditional ceremony usually occurs on Founder's Day in October. As this event was not celebrated this year, the investiture service was postponed until this spring.

The procession formed on the west side of the library and marched into the auditorium. The Little Sisters, who carried the gowns, assisted their Big Sisters into the academic wear. For the ceremony, the seniors wore black while the freshmen wore white. Mr. Lester Bucher was the organist for the occasion.

ART CLASS VISITS MUSEUM

On Saturday, May 26, a group of students in the Modern Art class visited the Museum of Art in Philadelphia. Miss Harriet T. Baily of the Art Department accompanied the following girls: Virginia Alleman, Mary Edith Boyce, Catherine Carrick, Betty Fryling, Rachel Morrison, Marjorie Remley, and Barbara Shaw Sunday.

ART REVIEW

—by Jack Harty—

The Museum of Modern Art has a showing of Children's Paintings in the Art Gallery of the Library. It is rather difficult for me to pass judgment on this exhibit because I don't know just how much to expect from a child of six or eight years of age. Most of the work seems to be in tempera, and the children have expressed themselves in the wildest colors imaginable. The subjects range from "Plane Falling in Flames" by a bloodthirsty David, 7 years old, to the cool serenity of "The Farm" by Kurt, also 7.

In "Houseboat," by Joanna, the artist has put a portrait of herself in the sky where youthful artists usually put a large sun. Symbolism has apparently found an early convert in Joanna. A tempera "Abstraction" by Kathleen, 4, has a very free and easy color pattern, but I don't think Kathleen really knew what she was doing.

Short biographical sketches under the paintings are interesting and give the background of the artists. "Abstraction" by Ivan has an explanation that Ivan's father is a modern architect and engineer; I wondered why Ivan painted that way.

JUNIOR PROM

—A Feature—

Those of you who plan to attend the Junior Prom next Saturday evening will get a preview of heaven, or a reasonable facsimile thereof. You may even get a chance to walk up the "stairway to the stars" and glimpse the faculty high in the clouds. From somewhere over the rainbow the smooth melodies of Leo Zollo and his orchestra will penetrate the heavenly vapors.

Our business manager, Dottie May Kalmbacher, has been seen strolling the campus with her little black account book trying to balance the budget. She has her committee so well managed that the girls have found it difficult, if not impossible, to escape her revenue collectors.

It seems that Gloria Moat had a little trouble getting the orchestra, but with much diligent correspondence, most of it by Special Delivery, the contract was arranged. Mr. Zollo has agreed to include in his program a number of pieces selected by members of the Junior Class.

Ruth Vernon and her committee have worked out an original motif for the dance programs. (Since there's a pencil shortage be sure to bring your own.)

Invitations have been extended to faculty members by Berniece Jones, chairman of the invitations committee.

We're counting on Annabelle Prettyman and her "eager beaver" miscellaneous committee to wind up all the odds and ends in order to make the prom a bang-up affair.

Lt. Dick Cann, '43, was with the paratroops in Germany during the last weeks before the surrender.

Capt. Irvin Guerke, '41, has been with the Marines throughout the South Pacific campaign. At present he is home on furlough before he reports to New River, North Carolina, for reassignment.

Tech. Sgt. Frank O'Day, '44, wrote in a letter: "I met the Germans at Saarbutern in March and was on the front line until they surrendered in Austria." During that time Frank was recommended to receive the Soldier's Medal for saving two men from drowning.

Lt. Howie Smith, '43, is in the Philippines at a replacement depot.

Pfc. Eddie Golin, '44, is now stationed with the Air Corps in Columbia, South Carolina.

Lt. Henry "Hap" McAllister, '39, is a dental surgeon with the 3rd Marine Division, and is believed to be on Guam.

Lt. Ames Betts, '42, is a B-24 pilot with a photographic group in South America.

Sgt. Horace Warrington, Jr., '44, is stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Cpl. Bill Gerow, '41, is with the Criminal Investigation Division under the Provost Marshal in the Philippines, where he met Major Grover Surratt, '37.

Lt. Bob Bishop, '42, writes that he met "Hap" McAllister on a beach on Iwo Jima, and that he frequently sees Capt. Jim Miller—both are with the Fourth Marine Division.

Pvt. Peter Bliss Hill of the Radio Division of the Air Corps is home on his first furlough since he entered the service ten months ago. He expects to return to Texas on June 3.

15th AAF in Italy—Cpl. Raymond J. McPherson, Jr., 22, 5013 Ninth St., N.W., Washington, D. C., 451st Liberator Group tail gunner, has been awarded the Air Medal at his 15th Air Force bomber base. The announcement was made by his group commander, Col. Leroy L. Stefanowicz, Wildrose, N. D. Corporal McPherson, a former student at the University of Delaware, enlisted in the army on May 11, 1942. He received gunnery training at Tyndall Field, Fla.

Peter Neil De Shan, '46, S1/c, a former student here, has been selected for Navy officers' training and will enter Princeton University.

FOR MEN ONLY

Here we are with the final column for this term, so we are devoting this week's stupidity to the plans the fellows hold for the coming vacation.

Starting at the top, Bob Bickling, Fuhrer of Brown Hall, will journey west along with Leon Parker to continue their studies at the University of Wisconsin. They follow in the footsteps of Dr. Colburn, who is also an alumnus of the Badger school, and we look for big things from these two human dynamos.

Russ Johnston, civil engineer par excellence, will also follow in the footsteps of his predecessors by finding the softest, most profitable position possible with the County Engineers.

Headed for the Hercules Powder Company we find Johnny Ott and Bill Barnes, while Gordy Brewer will become a junior partner in the family firm, the Texas Company.

Several fellows have decided to go to camp this summer, with Tom Walsh already having accepted Uncle Sam's invitation to join his little fraternity, and George Assimos, Dick Guerke, Marshall Carpenter, Roy Seiden, planning to become integral parts of the U. S. fleet.

Tom Haley will return to Bellanca Aircraft where he will again serve as an aeronautical engineer. Tommy Riffin, the other half of the duo, is considering accepting several invitations to appear at major golf tournaments over the nation. The National Open will be his first stop on the "Al Schacht of the Links" tour, and he plans to visit all leading clubs over the country. However, should this plan fall through, he will accept one of his numerous offers as a welder. Old "Blow Torch" is ranked among the top welders among Mr. Coyle's class of budding geniuses.

Whelan Klemme will go home to Belleville, Illinois, where he will again serve as second vice-president of the Eagle Foundry, Inc., which, by the way, is owned and operated by Whelan W. Klemme, Sr. His roommate, Fred Trimble, is said to be planning a tour of the state with his Revival Meeting troupe, the singing of which will be led by Bob Neeson.

Speaking of Neese, his plans are so many and so varied that it would require volumes to go into detail. However, the latest dope (Neeson) has it that the bespectacled wizard will enlist his most valuable services in the American Field Service. We'll see you in the fall, Cactus! Ed Tobin will continue manufacturing his teething rings. Says Tobe, "Full production until V-J Day!" His roomie, Vic "Louis Prima" Talmo, plans to spend the entire summer sleeping in the sun behind Brown Hall.

Med school will claim Park Huntington, Dick Behringer and Larry Schorr at various times during the summer and fall. Of course, Larry has yet to find a school that can use a good curve ball.

Randy Broderson and "Bussy" Newcombe will find work (as little as possible) for the vacation period and hurry back to the U. of D. in the fall in another effort to wangle the authorities into an admission that they might graduate by 1950. It seems other vets are having similar troubles.

Ray "Scotty" Duncan will return to Rehoboth Beach where he will again be the idol of millions perched on his little stand on the beach (selling hotdogs, of course).

In closing, we just want to bid a fond farewell to all of those who have borne with us through the tripe which has appeared in this column during the past year. Well, so long—for a little while, and here's hoping you have a swell vacation, and a better columnist in the fall.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

The series of informal Sunday afternoon teas which has been sponsored by Dean Golder and Miss DeArmond for members of the graduating class will conclude with the tea to be given next Sunday, June 3. Various groups of girls have already attended the teas given on May 20 and May 27, and those who have not yet been guests may look forward to an enjoyable time.

resolutions will then be sent to Secretary of State Stettinius.

Those students who have had philosophy or who are now taking philosophy are invited. Also attending will be the members of the departments of English, history, economics, modern language, political science, psychology and sociology, for it is believed that as departments this group would be uniquely interested in these questions.

THE MEN MAY RANT AND RAVE BUT IT'S ALWAYS THE WOMEN WHO HAVE

—THE LAST WORD—

Sussex Scribbles:

Sussex is fast becoming the leading dorm on the campus. Our admirers now give free demonstrations of multi-colored flares at midnight on the lawn. Move to Sussex and see the show!

Good news: Libby H.'s brother is returning from overseas after a year's absence.

Dell dedicated herself to the cause of scientific research and became Dr. Kitay's best subject for hypnosis, when she returned to "the days of her childhood" through hypnotic suggestion. She can prove it, too—ask her to show you her composition done at the age of ten.

While most of Women's College enjoyed themselves at Bainbridge, Sally Heinel, Mary Bukay, and Betty Kerr had fun at the Faculty Club meeting. Our school doctor can really dance, can't he, Sally!

Barbara McKinstry visited the St. Regis and painted old New York in pastels this week-end on a trip to see her sister.

Warner Whirl

Hear that some of the gals had a good time Friday night helping to cement inter-American relations by dancing with the Mexicans who came down to entertain at the Faculty Party. Peg tells us that she had quite a struggle with conversation. After the initial impressions of her fluent "Si si!" and "No no!" wore off, in a last futile attempt she resorted to "Vamos a comer." (Let's eat) and it worked!

Some sidelights from the Bainbridge Dance . . . A gob cut in on Rue, asked her to dance, and struck up a conversation which went something like this: "Where are you from? Annapolis. And you? Delaware—have you met any other girls from Delaware? Yes, I danced with a nice girl named La Rue. What did she look like?" etc. etc. Could it have been loss of memory or were the lights that low? . . . And tell us, what was it that Jane Moss forgot, and had to go back for, after she had settled down in the bus for the long ride home? . . . Almost all the regional jitterbug styles were represented at the dance—you could almost identify home towns by the way the bell-bottomed trousers accented the own beat. Incidentally, probably the most unique style belonged to the fellow Vandy danced with—some would call it smooth!

New Castle Notes

The dancers at Bainbridge are taking their toll. Anne Hulme came home from the dance Friday night sporting a diamond. Needless to say we were all excited about it but that is nothing to the way Anne felt. She was positively incoherent. The finishing touch came the next morning when word came that "Ham" made the Academy . . . oh, well, Anne, that's only a four year course!

The excitement of an engagement was evidently too much for Bernie because she ended up in a rather disconcerting position on the 1:39 Saturday. She was leaning on the back of a seat in a dream world all of her own, when the back of the seat moved, bringing her to. Upon closer investigation it proved to be a rather patient soldier who was getting a little glassy eyed.

Bobbie's trip to Washington must have been rather exhausting because she slept through three stops and some kind gentleman woke her up in Broad Street Station. We hope that the seat was as comfortable as the WCD beds, Bobbie!

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
NEWS

Alumnae Fund returns for the current campaign have now passed the $2000 mark. By July 1, the Alumnae Fund Committee, headed by Gertrude Draper, expects to have received $2700 in honor of the twenty-seven years of Alumnae Association work since the founding of the organization in June, 1918.

Voluntary contributions to the Alumnae Fund take the place of dues in the Association and provide for the gifts to help the college in supporting the Alumnae Office, the Alumnae issues of the University News and Alumnae Scholarships of $200 each. This year the Alumnae Scholarship Committee, headed by Evelyn Stoll Reinhardt, '28, has awarded four scholarships. The recipients of these scholarships this year are as follows: Winifred J. Robinson Scholarship to Betty Ann Logue from P. S. duPont High School with Marjorie R. Fothergill from Wilmington High as alternate; Emalea Pusey Warner Scholarship to Annie Louise Fouracre from Middletown High School with Peggy Anne Muncz from Caesar Rodney School as alternate; the newly-created Dean Golder Scholarship to Helen Connolly of Felton; and the Everett C. Johnson Scholarship to Virginia Diehl from the Philadelphia High School for Girls with Rita Patnovic from Hazelton (Pa.) High School as the alternate.

Frances Malcolm Patnovic of Claymont has served three years as president of the Association and, prior to that time, two years as chairman of the Alumnae Fund Committee. At the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1, Olive Murray Jones of Newark, who is at present a member of the Executive Council of the Association and a past president of the Newark Chapter of the Association, will take over the organization.

of the meeting after the formal business of the year has been concluded. Then refreshments will be served by a committee who have been appointed to plan this meeting.

It has been announced that no new officers for next year will be elected at the present time but that they will be chosen soon after classes resume in the fall.

On Sunday, May 27, the members attended as a group the 8:30 Mass in St. John the Baptist Church, Newark. A Communion Breakfast given by the members of the parish followed at 9:45.

At the last meeting, the Rev. Francis J. Desmond, director of the Catholic Youth Organization of Wilmington, spoke on his activities with the CYO and also discussed the possibility of an affiliation of the local club with the National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
ELECTS OFFICERS

J. M. Cherpak Chosen President

Mr. Joseph M. Cherpak, class of 1926, was elected president of the Alumni Association of the University of Delaware at its annual business meeting held on Saturday afternoon, May 19, in the lounge of Brown Hall. Mr. Emery W. Loomis, class of 1914, was elected vice-president. Their terms of office will begin July 1.

Mr. Cherpak, a resident of Wilmington, played on both the varsity football and baseball teams while in college. He also served as president of his freshman class and was a member of the student council. He is now manager of the Diamond State Telephone Company in Wilmington.

Mr. Loomis of Lansdowne, Pennsylvania, served as associate editor of the REVIEW and was president of his class in 1910. He is employed as the district manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Other officers elected were Alexander J. Taylor, Jr., '30, treasurer; Paul D. Lovett, '18, of Newark and Jefferson F. Pool, '21, of Wilmington, members of the Alumni-Council-at-Large. Fred S. Price, Sr., '07, Harvey L. Mayer, Jr., '29, Lt. David F. Anderson, '30, Roger W. Fulling, '32, all of Wilmington, and W. Leslie Beck, '13, of Drexel Hill, were elected to the nominating committee.

Harry W. Loose, Jr., father of Betty Loose and retiring president of the Association, presided at the meeting. At a later meeting of the executive council, A. J. Taylor read the treasurer's report and William Ott stated that the contributions to the fund campaign have totaled $8,271.46 toward the $8500 quota, of which $1500 is to be used to establish the George A. Harter scholarship fund. Members of the scholarship committee include: Joseph M. McVey, Howard Ennis, William Simpson, Ralph James, and A. Rae duBell.

Mr. John Munroe, instructor in history, who is the executive secretary of the group, gave a report of the Association's activities which consist chiefly of keeping members of the Association, of which more than one-third are in the armed services, in touch with one another and with University affairs.
