Masons Set Cornerstone At UD For Math, Physics Buildings

Campus Ceremonies Conducted Friday For $2,000,000 Building To Serve Math, Physics Departments; Rees Cites University Growth From 481 In 1920 To 3,204

Officers of the M. W. Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Delaware performed a time-honored ceremony last Friday, laying the cornerstone of the new mathematics-physics buildings at the University of Delaware—the 11th cornerstone-setting ceremony on the campus since 1914 when Robinson Hall was erected for the university's College.

A cheering audience of 75 faculty members and guests gathered for the ceremony at 10 a. m. on the corner of the new building, which will be a two-story structure of 110,000 sq. ft. of space.

Provost Carl J. Rees, a faculty member for 41 years, outlined the university's growth in mathematics and physics departments at Delaware College and University of Delaware.

Rees declared that the laying of this cornerstone for the mathematics and physics buildings, a dream is now coming true.

Progress Since 1920
During the progress which the university has made during the past 41 years, Rees observed that the enrollment in 1920 was 481 and with today's 3,204 and the space available for instruction in mathematics and physics is about 8,000 sq. ft. The new building contains 83,000 sq. ft. of space.

Dr. Johnson, grand master mason in Delaware, was in charge of the ceremony assisted by H. Cantwell, Walter S. Johnson, S. Proulx, W. Stewart, J. Howard Link, John J. McClear, J. F. McCoy, J. R. Cleary, J. F. Smith, and J. R. Smith.

Rees was seated in the corner of the building, and a number of items were read to the university and the Masonic Lodge. Among them was a copy of Senate Bill 140 relating to the building of the University of Delaware, a campus map, a directory of a daily newspaper, a brochure of a Land-Grant College, and a copy of remarks at the occasion by Provost.

Those attending the ceremony were President John A. Perini, William D. Shay, architect of the building; Dr. F. E. Williams, director of the physics department; G. Cuthbert Webber, chairman of the mathematics department; and other faculty members.

Gilmore Ott Named School Principal At Christiana High

Selected Jr. High Chief Central To Head New Christiana Sr. School

Gilmore B. Ott was appointed principal for the new Christiana High School by the Newark Board of Education at its regular meeting last Tuesday.

Ott will assume his new duties on July 1, 1962. This will allow for one year of planning and preparation prior to the opening of the district's second high school in the fall of 1963.

Principal of Newark Central High School, Gilmore Ott became junior high principal in 1955 when separate junior and senior high schools were established. He came to the Newark school district in 1948 as a science teacher.

A graduate of Shippensburg State College, with a master of science degree from the University of Pennsylvania, Ott is working for his doctorate at Temple University.

The Newark Board of Education amended its motion approving a contract with the Newark Housing Authority. The original board motion stated "a maximum of 125 housing units" whereas the contract written to federal specifications stated "approximately 125 housing units."

The board also approved recommendations of a committee from Newark High School for issuing the varsity letter for scholarship. The board previously directed that the varsity letter be awarded for outstanding scholarship.

Varsity letter regulations require that up to the top three per cent in each class from 10th to 12th grade shall be eligible for the award, and students must have an overall grade average of at least 90. Students from all programs of study are eligible for the award, and the scholarship committee will review all students in the top three per cent of each class, making the awards from this group.

Re-Registration Law Approved, Goddin Explains NHA Program

Council Adopts Ordinance Governing Six-District Plan For Complete New Registration, Voting; 1962 Budget Presented; NHA Subject To Local Law, Goddin States

Meeting in regular session last Tuesday night for the last time this year—the scheduled night after Christmas was ruled out with unanimity—Newark City Council approved an ordinance governing local voting registration and elections under the new six-district program; received copies of the municipal budget proposal of $1,700,000 for the fiscal year 1962; and were assured by Avery H. Goddin, spokesman for the Newark Housing Authority, that all NHA projects are "subject to the planning, zoning, sanitary, and building laws" applicable to the locality in which the project is to be situated.

The new registration-election ordinance provides for complete, permanent voting re-registration for local municipal elections, with a card system similar to that used by the county election board, and 10 days are allotted for this re-registration in 1962—three days each in January and February, and four days in March. Registration and polling places are to be established by the city election board, with "suitable" polls in each of the six districts where contests exist.

Copies of the budget proposal for next year were presented as required by city charter for this first meeting in December, and the budget is to be discussed at the second regular meeting of council in January. The finance committee of Carl S. Rankin, C. Vernon Steele, Russell E. Bing, and LeRoy C. Hill, Jr., is to review the budget in a preliminary meeting to aid subsequent council discussion. "This thing is big," the mayor said, deferring an original budget date by two weeks and urging finance committee digest with "four minds instead of seven" might more readily reach agreement.

Addressing council for the Newark Housing Authority, former water district councilman Avery Goddin, a member of the NHA, said:

"Excellent Cooperation"
Newark Housing Authority has had excellent cooperation in you and your employees and we regret that we may have been a source of embarrassment to you. Until a joint or other public meeting is held, I wish to leave you with four thoughts:

"First, our accomplishments: For all of the nine months of our existence, we have been completing and executing the paper work required before we may borrow federal funds for public housing. There has been slow work, due for the most part to flaws in some of our papers and to lack of assistance from some local concerns. In fact, we have not been able to submit the Agreements of Cooperation because there is a flaw in one of the accompanying resolutions. We hope this will be remedied this week. Thus at this moment, we have not qualified for a federal loan; we still have no money for technical assistance; and we can't start planning until finances are secured. Because of the delay, we have decided to postpone our regular December meeting.

No Secrecy
"Secondly, the Newark Housing Authority is not hiding behind a cloak of secrecy from you or the public. We were disappointed that not one citizen of Newark, other than those concerned, attended the well-publicized meeting with the local board of education. Only a few citizens have attended our less-publicized regular meetings. However, council will find in city offices two complete files of our minutes of these meetings. We are sorry that we did not inform you of these files at an earlier date.

Service awards were presented to Jeff Smith, three years; Dana Frazier, Tom Worrell, and John Roselle, two years; and Harry Burrows, one year.

BEVERLY KING

Whether it's for school or a Christmas party, a last minute search for clothes will not hamper these Delaware 4-H girls. They'll be attired in clothes of their own making.

These eye-catching examples show what can be done with fabric, pattern, needle and thread.

Andrea Moore (top left) 15, of Bridgeville, models a dress popular with 4-H club girls. The full skirt with fitted bodice and scoop neckline was made in a becoming purple cotton sateen print. Andrea was named to the Honor Court at State Dress Revue for this costume.

All set for a Christmas formal is Dianne Isaacs (top center) 17, of Greenwood, in this pink nylon dance dress of her own design. It features removable sleeves and bustle, so that she has two different dresses. Dianne was named 4-H Style Princess in Sussex County in 1961.

Chilly days won't bother Carol Sinclair (top right) 16, of Dover, when she wears this wool plaid coat. Carol worked hard to match the green and brown plaid to all the important places. She was second place winner in the State Dress Revue.

Delaware's entry in the National 4-H Dress Revue in Chicago this year was Beverly King (lower right) 15, of Newark.

Beverly's winning costume is a French inspired design, tailored in a soft mint green wool flannel. She plans to continue her interest in sewing with a career in home economics.

Charlotte Harris, Beverly King Win 4-H Trip Awards

Some 2,200 persons, including 1,400 boys and girls from 4-H clubs reached Chicago on Thanksgiving week-end for the opening of the five-day 40th National 4-H Club Congress. Eighteen of the 4-H's were from Delaware, and two state award winners of the post-Thanksgiving trip are Charlotte Harris, 15, and Beverly King, 17, both of Newark.

The dairy project winner, Miss Harris, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Harris. She also was the 1960 outstanding 4-H Guernsey project participant.

The Oliver Corporation was Miss Harris' host at the congress.

Miss King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert King, won her dress revue project honors modeling a pale green wool suit with lined jacket and skirt. She also was the 1959 New Castle County style queen. Some of her 25 garments have been shown at 39 exhibits.

Simplicity Pattern Company, Inc., arranged Miss King's Chicago trip.

Another state 4-H project winner this year was Barbara Kelsey, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kelsey of Newark. For taking top honors in the beautification of home grounds program, she received a 10-level wrist watch from Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen.

In 4-H only four years, Miss Kelsey specialized in making the yard and exterior of her home attractive and useful. She also was active in clothing, entomology and dress revue programs.

NO SHOPPING WORRIES FOR HIM

FRAGILE — HANDLE WITH CARE

Christmas mails are gay with parcel post packages. Their contents are guarded by a familiar label—Fragile—Handle With Care.

More precious than china or glass—too fragile to withstand daily despair—are the lives and hopes of people facing tribulation across the world. These, too, are protected in CARE packages bringing food and tools to nourish the hungry, give them the vigor and means to help themselves.

For its feeding programs, CARE's annual food crusade is underway. It seeks to deliver 5,000,000 packages, the names of Americans who donate $1 per package. Foods are mainly staples from our farm abundance. The gifts will reach distressed families and groups in 17 countries of Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East.

Every dollar package you send means that hungry people eat their fill—knowing that people far away in the United States responded to their need, as friend to friend.

No one can insure the route to peace on earth. Goodwill between men cannot be sealed and weighed.

But the world moves closer to brotherhood every time a human being helps another—with CARE.

Mail your holiday contribution to: CARE Food Crusade, 14th, Eighth and Market Streets, Philadelphia.

Perkins Promotes Culture For Students

With Belief Some "Is Bound To Rub Off"

University of Delaware President Perkins believes that if students live in a cultural environment, culture is bound to rub off on them.

To implement his idea, Perkins has provided funds for works of art, films and lectures above and beyond the normal course requirements of the student.

Not only have his efforts received the wholehearted endorsement of the faculty and student body, but others interested in cultural activities have given their support.

Most recent evidence of community cooperation is that of Mrs. Samuel Leher of Wilmington who has arranged to have the works of 49 regional artists displayed at the university for the coming year. Included will be 55 paintings; two pieces of sculpture and five etchings, the latter an outright gift from Mrs. John Sloan through the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts.

To further this project, President Perkins has appointed a purchasing committee to improve the campus collection. The committee will seek funds to purchase many of the items now on display and will secure other works for the university.

Committee members are Mrs. Leher; Mrs. Rita Quinlan, Cannon Hall residence director; Dr. Edward Ott, director of admissions; and Dr. James R. Gervan, of the department of art and history.

Principal display areas will be the Student Center, the university library, Harrington and Hullen Halls. A public preview of the exhibit is scheduled for Jan. 7, in the Student Center.

Top Farm Organizations

Back Christmas Seal Sale

Three ranking farm organizations have joined in an appeal to all Americans to support the 1961 Christmas Seal campaign.

Dr. Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, said today that letters have been received from the National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation, and National Farmers Union expressing unanimous approval of the work performed in the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

"We are proud to have the support of these outstanding organizations, and are gratified to realize that the support of the officers and members can be counted on in the Christmas Seal campaign now underway," Beatty said.

City Council

"Thirdly, the State of Delaware approved the legislation that gave you your charter and the legislation that permitted the creation of housing authorities in Wilmington, Dover, and Newark. There is no significant conflict between the powers, duties, and obligations of ours."

The Delaware Housing Authority, Law, Section 4310, was quoted at its last meeting to prove that we have the power of condemnation. Section 4312 of the same law states: "All projects of an authority shall be subject to the planning, zoning, sanitary, and building laws, ordinances and regulations applicable to the locality in which the project is to be situated."

Can you honestly believe that the Newark Housing Authority can ignore this or any other section of applicable Delaware law? We do not!

Cooperation Controversy

"Lastly, the controversial Agreements of Cooperation. Federal law states that no contracts for money may be signed without these agreements. Thus, they are a prerequisite to any progress by us. Much of the agreement is straightforward and clear, and asks only for the cooperation given to private developers and citizens. The section on 'Payments in Lieu of Taxes' is complex. However, if we can assume that we will build the 50 dwelling units recommended by the economics section of PHA, and we allow for the economics of the probable tenants, I estimate that payment in lieu of taxes will be insignificant for some years.

"I hope these few remarks will help to clarify what appears to be a confused situation. The Newark Housing Authority will make every effort to discuss public housing in greater detail at whatever date you may select in the future."

Council approved city purchase of a Plymouth police patrol car from Hollywood-Perkins; the purchase of a truck from the Fader Motor Company for use by the public works department; and a Motorola police radio, on the basis of bids received with recommendations of municipal officials concerned.

A request for blacktop paving of Art Lane was rejected with Public Works Director Ben Campagna's opinion that the road should not be black-topped before spring. Residents were informed that the contractor would have to keep the street passable. If not, the city will maintain the street, submitting bills for such maintenance to the contractor.

The building inspector is to investigate a complaint of substandard construction with a residence on Art Lane.

Councilman Coverdale questioned the home rule bill presented at Dover, asking "does anyone understand the bill?" No one apparently did, and he urged that council take some official action on it.

Mayor Durnall said that the mayor's association had been fighting for the bill for five years, but expressed his opinion that the legislation was "sunk." Durnall pointed out that home rule is not mandatory.

Campaign reported that the south well field was in full operation and that the city was not using Delaware Water Company supply, nor water from the Academy Street reservoir. Emergency snow routes in the city as proposed by the engineering department were approved, with no parking to be permitted after one hour of snowfall.

Hugh F. Gallagher, Jr., in the audience, stressed that he had attended the last regular meeting of council with the Newark Real Estate Association concerning the proposed public housing program, "in the interest of the city."

Councilman George Wilson stated that he was "more concerned about the things the real estate association did not say than what they did say."

"I would like them to state whether there is a need for housing, and whether they will act as realtors for all of the people," Wilson said, referring to Newark Real Estate Association attendance at a proposed meeting with council and the Newark Housing Authority.

Teach Your Bird Nursery Rhymes!

To teach your budgie (parakeet) to talk, you must first teach him your par. Do this by sheer love and gentleness which will dissolve away his instinctive mistrust of humans and make you the centre of his daily existence.

Next, teach him his name by constant repetition. Remembering that the bird is only learning to mimic the sound you make, be sure to make exactly the same sound every time you teach him something. Teach him in a loud, clear voice, speaking with more emphasis than you normally use. And never start a new word or phrase until he can say the old one well.

Finally, let the bird have a good fly around before his lessons. He'll be much more likely to concentrate when he's worn the edge off his energy!

Teaching is best carried out with the bird perched on your finger and held a few inches away from your mouth. If he's not tame enough to do this, he'll never become a really good talker, so it's worth persevering with.

Many people are quite content to have their birds say simple phrases like "Good morning" and "How are you?" but others are more ambitious. I've trained birds to recite as many as fourteen nursery rhymes, word for word, speeches from Shakespeare, and even one that could sing ten pop tunes of the day!

When this part has been taken shape, add the last line in the same manner — "HIS SOOTY FOOT HE PUT."

Once the bird can say a whole verse clearly, you should speed him up a bit to make it smoother. Do this by repeating the complete verse to him several times at about normal talking speed. By patient use of this "adding on" method, there's practically no limit to what you can teach a budgie to say.

One last word. Remind him fairly frequently of older pieces you want him to keep up. Like children, budgies soon forget!

Paul Hess Speaks To Ninth Graders On Oceanography

Wonders of the world beneath the sea were described to ninth grade science students at Ogletown Junior High School, by Paul Hess, University of Delaware.

Hess accompanied his talk with a new film on the science of oceanography.

Instruments used in ocean research were on display, including a Nansen bottle for obtaining deep water samples; a bathythermograph for temperature readings; and a flowmeter for measuring ocean currents.

Hess emphasized that opportunities are open to students in the field of oceanography.

He expressed concern over constant pollution of coastal waters and stressed the need for educating the public to take better care of this natural resource.

Delaware Wildcat Grid Game Shifted To Local Stadium

The Villanova-Delaware football game will be played at Newark instead of at Villanova, as originally scheduled for 1962, according to Dave Nelson, Blue Hen athletic director-coach.

The date is Saturday, Nov. 20. This gives Delaware five home games, Villanova joining Lafayette, Connecticut, Rutgers and Bucknell on the stadium program.

With both Villanova and Delaware retaining most of their key players of this season, the game shapes up as one of the most attractive on the Blue Hen slate.

Nelson explained that the game originally was billed for Villanova because the Wildcats wanted six home games. Since then, Villanova changed its mind and agreed to the switch to Newark.

Nelson disclosed that he is discussing games with Colgate for the 1965 and 1966 seasons.

Eight Yellowjackets Face Claymont Tuesday In 18-Tilt Opener

Newark High School's basketball teams face their next interscholastic competition of the new season with a pair of home games scheduled for next week.

Coach Cliff Browning's Yellowjacket varsity is to meet Claymont High School's varsity cagers at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, with Coach Francis Fulghum's Yellowjacket jayvees opposing the Claymont junior varsity squad in a preliminary opener at 7.

Both Newark squads will entertain the North East (Md.) High School cagers next Thursday night on the home court—same time.

The Yellowjackets will have a Christmas holiday breather, just before competition next year—on Jan. 3—at Mt. Pleasant to resume an 18-game interscholastic basketball schedule.

With Tony Higgins on a misty Monday morning last week at the Betts farm near McDonough just off the Delaware River, we had the pleasant privilege of witnessing Sailor's premiere performance in retrieving a duck—and that in itself was well worth the cold, pre-dawn sortie into the Betts marshland.

Sailor is Tall Tony's golden retriever, a tawny young dog that had been strictly a pet—until last Monday. And then Sailor came into his own—a sporting, working dog—a real retriever.

After keeping a breakfast rendezvous with Mr. Higgins at Newark's Hollywood Diner at very early, appointed hour, our departure was delayed somewhat by the arrival of an old friend—Tom Farmer—dressed in hunting regalia for an anticipated opening day meeting with a big buck that Mr. Farmer had been scouting up White Clay Creek, just over the line in Pennsylvania.

In talking over old times with Tom Farmer, and inspecting his new rifle, we forgot about the current clock, and dawn was well underway by the time we were on the highway.

Fog lay heavy over the highway until we drove up over the St. Georges Bridge—and then we were in the clear air of a blue and gold morning while the fog shrouded the lowlands beneath us, with an occasional patch of woods or a house-top rising above what appeared to be a world of snow.

The fog had lifted as we drove across the Betts pastureland to a herderow on a ridge overlooking a series of shallow, non-tidal ditches and ponds amid frosted, golden marsh, and shouldering a dozen decoys, we stopped at the edge of a shallow marsh to a well-brushed blind to see a drake mallard planing straight ahead, ready and willing to pitch except for the fact that two hunters were standing stark in the open.

"Well, we could have gotten him!" Tony Higgins breathed a bit shakily as the mallard flared off.

But with the decoys riding on the pond out front, we sat for more than an hour in the blind without seeing another duck.

Phensants were cackling at various quarters, and we attempted to mark them down for future attention while peering through the frosted grass of the duck blind. And behind us beyond the ridge where we had left the car—the car was a quacking chorus of feeding ducks, along with the occasional honk of a goose.

A wedge of a dozen geese passed by, far out toward the river, and after a long, cold session of complete inactivity, we left the blind in an effort to stalk the duck talk we had heard—and could still hear.

Ducks were gabbling some quarter-mile away across an open field from a series of potholes just beyond a fringe of persimmon trees, and a tangle of low brush, and we were within range when a quintet of black ducks exploded from the water and marsh—with a safety screen of scrub and trees between.

There wasn't a chance for a shot, but there were other ducks in the air, and we crouched down in the brush beside the ditch and waited. Some half mile below, from another marsh, a great cloud of pintail took to the air, and then another great bunch, rising and writhing like smoke—and we had a thousand

Brookside Boy Bags Big Bruin

Dave Case, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus E. Case, Jr., 10 Copperfield Lane, is photographed in front of his Brookside home with his 240-lb. black bear atop the family car.

Dave, a junior at Newark High School, killed the bear on Dec. 2, with one shot between the eyes—and at a dangerous distance of but 20-ft.—while hunting with his father and William Lewis in Sullivan County, Pa., near Bloomsburg.

The big bruin—a brown or cinnamon phase of the black bear—fell from the first shot fired from Dave Case's new lever action 30-30.

Walt Martin Tops Class A Tourney In Billiards Play

Walter Martin, undefeated with three wins, leads Class A competitors, and Tom Kramer, Don McClain, and Art Sullivan share a first-place tie in Class B play in the Newark Billiards Tournament conducted by Charles "Bunny" Walter.

In Class A play, Neil Beckett, Chum Tweed, Helmer Johnson, James White, and Michael Carina are tied for second place with 2-1 records; Ron George is 1-2, while Ed Logan, Chris Laskaris, and Pete Street are looking for first wins.

In Class B competition, Lum Thorpe, Ernest George, and Chris Laskaris are tied for second place with 3-1 logs; Lou Fisher and Richard Russell are 2-2; and Gene Russell, Art Moore, and Don Russell have 1-3 marks.

Don Kelleher and Kenny Tweed have suffered four setbacks without a win.

Rawstrom's Squad Defeated By F&M; Freshmen Triumph

Dutch Holsinger, of Wilmington, was the only individual winner for Coach Harry Rawstrom's Blue Hen men, who dropped a 54-41 decision to Franklin and Marshall last week to even their record at 1-1.

Holsinger set a team diving record with 71.12 points.

In freshman competition, Delaware's swimmers dunked F&M 62-33 and the Blue Chick wrestlers blanked Haverford 38-0.

Individual winners for the freshmen were Leonard Bird, John McGinnis, and Kelsey Brown.

Pins were registered by seven freshmen wrestlers: Bill Ashley, 123; Jay Ferriek, 130; Don Smith, 137; Newark's John Heuberger, 147; Don Beckoven, 167; Mike Aber, 177; and Paul Bashore, heavyweight.

Southard Jones of Newark, won a decision in the 157-pound class.

Dan Lanning, Houston Win For Hen Wrestlers

Delaware's wrestling team opened its season last week with a 17-11 win over Haverford. Al Slader, of New Castle, Del., registered a pin in the heavyweight division to clinch the victory.

Winners by decision for the Hens were Barry Haldeman at 137 pounds; Bob Young at 147; Newark's Dan Lanning at 157, and John Houston, of Bear, at 167.

Joe DeCollo's 563 Paces Classic League Leaders

Joe DeCollo bowled a high 563; Frank Dunn, 562; Frank Porter, 553, and Jim Alphin, 536, as Wegman swept three games from Adams in Newark Classic Bowling League play.

Morris Adams and John McCormick rolled a 554 and 532 to lead the losers.

The Browns, led by Bill Bellman's 593 and George Moore's 539, took three from Stimmel despite Dave Stimmel's 572.

Charles Bowles and Fred Eldredh with 521 and 515 led Eldredh's to a twin win over Calvert's Sunoco, with Ken Grist rolling a 528 in defeat.

The golden retriever trotted on until he reached the narrow and open part of the ditch—sprang into the water—and swam ashore to drop the mallard at his master's feet.

That was the one duck of the day—but she will be long remembered by two of the party, at least. Sailor took the whole thing as a matter of course.

Irv Wisniewski's Unbeaten Blue Hens Wallop Bucknell In 4th Win Of Season

Coach Irv Wisniewski's Fighting Blue Hens continued undefeated by walloping Bucknell's Bison 77-59 in Carpenter Field House last Tuesday night—Delaware's fourth victory of the season, and the second over a Middle Atlantic Conference university division opponent.

The Blue Hens return to action after Christmas in the Dec. 29-30 Loyola Invitational Basketball Tournament at Baltimore.

Sophomores Dave Sysko, Bill Haggerty, and Pete Cloud paced the Delaware attack with 21, 17, and 15 points against Bucknell.

Sysko and Haggerty are former Salesianum stars, and Pete is a Conrad grad.

ducks flying now, where there hadn't been a one a few moments before.

Several bunches buzzed by—just out of range—and a pair of blacks whipped overhead to afford a pair of shots except for the fact that we were looking the other way—until too late.

After his companion had left with Sailor to relocate the decoys from the original blind—and he flushed a pair of mallards from the untended blocks—Tony Higgins had a chance at a hen mallard that came roaring in. And Mr. Higgins made his chance good, knocking the beautiful brown-bodied, blue-winged susie dead onto the water some 50-yds. up the ditch.

When his companion returned with the sack of decoys and the dog, Tony Higgins sent Sailor out after the golden retriever's first duck.

"Fetch, Sailor!" his master called, flinging a stick far up the ditch where the mallard lay flat and well-camouflaged amid the reedy flossam.

On the pond, the skinned skin enthusiastically through the skin, ice, and surged toward the stick. The duck lay several yards to the right.

On the pond, the skinned skin enthusiastically through the skin, ice, and surged toward the stick. The duck lay several yards to the right.

After his companion had left with Sailor to relocate the decoys from the original blind—and he flushed a pair of mallards from the untended blocks—Tony Higgins had a chance at a hen mallard that came roaring in. And Mr. Higgins made his chance good, knocking the beautiful brown-bodied, blue-winged susie dead onto the water some 50-yds. up the ditch.

You don't need an expensive light meter. The flash gun is built in too. And your picture is ready in just 10 seconds.

There are 12 years of improvements, refinements and brand new ideas in this camera. And yet it actually costs about the same as the first Land Camera on the market.

If you've always wanted a Polaroid Land Camera—and who hasn't?—this is your chance. Come in for a free 10-second demonstration today.

Jervis Langdon, Jr., president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has outlined plans for improving the company's earning power.

Langdon estimated that the company's 1961 net income deficit will be between $25 and $30 million. He predicted, however, that the railroad will be operating in the black by the end of 1962 if freight traffic volume remains at present levels.

He also reported that operating costs are being lowered through consolidations in the passenger traffic department, and by increasing efficiency in other transportation services.

School Choristers Continue With Carols In Shopping Center Christmas Program

Seven more programs of Christmas carols will be presented at the Newark Shopping Center.

Traditional caroling by choruses from Newark area schools started Monday with coordination by the Newark Recreation Association.

Center visitors heard performances by the Jennie E. Smith School chorus on Monday evening, and the Brookside Elementary School chorus on Wednesday night.

The 50-voice mixed chorus of Central Junior High School under the direction of Robert McAlpine, will present this evening's program at 7 o'clock.

The Central Elementary School chorus of 50 voices, also under McAlpine's direction, will carol at 7 o'clock this Friday night.

Next week's schedule begins with the performance of the Holy Angels Choir at 7 p.m., under the direction of Father Clapps.

On Tuesday, appearances by two choruses have been scheduled. The 50-member Girls Glee Club of Oglethorpe Junior High School under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Painter, will present a program of carols at 7 o'clock.

Uncertified Seeds Dangerous Gamble For Soybean Crop

How much are farmers paying for enough seed to plant an acre of soybeans?

This question was asked John Gerwig, agronomist at Rutgers University, when he appeared at the Delaware Crop Improvement Association's recent annual short course.

"Between $3 and $50 per acre," Gerwig said. "Alert farmers who are using certified seed are spending about $5 per bushel. Those who plant uncertified seed are paying 15 to 20 cents a bushel less, he points out, but it may be costing them as much as $50 an acre more."

When asked the difference between certified and uncertified seed, he pointed out that certified seed is of known origin; has been carefully inspected for purity, germination, and the absence of diseases and noxious weeds.

Uncertified seed is "just good seed," usually too appealing to an elevator operator for crushing. So he cleans it and sells it as seed. Gerwig insists that planting uncertified seed is too big a gamble for farmers to take.

Jim Ashton Warns Of Flowing Bowl At Office Parties

The office party with its flowing bowl can boost the Christmas traffic toll the Delaware Safety Council warned yesterday.

"Either dry it up or cut it out," the council urged business and industry.

Surveys made by the National Safety Council Council show that a sizeable percentage of Christmas traffic accidents occur in the early hours of the holiday period. Many of these can be traced back to the office party and its highball hilarity.

"This is no effort to dampen the traditional Christmas spirit," the council emphasized. "It is a practical attempt to eliminate a definite source of death and destruction on the highway at a time they hurt the most—the Christmas season."

"Good sense requires that if you drink, you should refrain from driving. If you must drive—don't drink. The throttle and the bottle don't mix," Manager J. James Ashton cautions.

Delaware Day Observed At Special NIS Assembly

Following the reading of the governor's proclamation, by Frances Shelton, short talks given on "Delaware During the Civil War," were presented by Meredith Beauchamp, Jake Correll, Bascom Steele, Brian McCaulley, Harry Barbarika, and Bayard Baylis.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

U. of D. Agricultural Extension Service

This is the most wonderful season of the year, when most everything is gay and in good spirits, when warmth and joy are part of our everyday greeting. True, it is a busy season full of entertaining, shopping and working to make the holiday a perfect one for all around us. This, of course, means lots of meals are planned and prepared but with the good supply of food now available at all of our local markets, meal-making is easier this week.

Seasonally, big supplies of fresh pork are coming to market, and pork roasts, chops and hams are on sale this week. Smoked pork is on special sale, too. Whole hams are a feature in a few markets, and sausage and bacon are wearing lower price tags.

Beef is definitely available this week and those of you who like steaks can indulge since prices are much lower than the last three weeks' average price. Might not be a bad idea to put some extra steaks in the freezer to help build up that depleted stock. Frying chickens continue to be good buys as prices are low while quality is high.

Turkey is once again making its appearance and prices are very reasonable.

Other meats to check are leg-of-lamb, shoulder roast of veal and rump roast of veal. A few stores are offering these meats at a saving.

Vegetable prices are see-sawing with many standbys that went up last week going down this week. Cabbage, celery, lettuce, green peppers, and turnips are cheaper this week. Up a penny or so in price are baking potatoes, rutabagas, snap beans and sweet potatoes. There are, however, a group of able,
