"GIRLS' STATE" APRIL 29

Miss Catherine Park To Act As Governor
The Department of Delaware, American Legion Auxiliary, will sponsor the second annual "Girls' State" on Saturday, April 29. In cooperation with the various other departments of the National organization, this work is carried on as a part of the Americanism program of the Legion and its Auxiliary.

Arrival Delayed
Arrival here was delayed by an unforeseen accident when one of the horses slipped while crossing the bridge at Havre de Grace, Md. The caravan was met at the town by the University of Delaware band and escorted to the college gates.

It is the hope of the officials of the American Legion Auxiliary that all election state officers will be present in Dover on April 29, together with the parliamentary of both the House and the Senate to guide the girls in the proper procedure of state government.

Cooperation of the various civic and service clubs is asked in this movement, with regard to sponsoring the girls and boys from various schools. The only expense involved for the organization would be to see that the boy or girl has transportation to and from Dover.

Students at the Women's College, University of Delaware, who will act as presiding officers are: Catherine Park, governor; Elaine Owens, lieutenant-governor; Mary Henry, secretary of state; Ann Hamilton, state auditor; Betty Hellen, state treasurer; Margaret Moore, insurance commissioner; and Jean Metherall, attorney-general.

Parents and friends of the girls are urged to attend this pageant which is the largest the Girl Scouts of this area have attempted. Although there will be no admission charged, tickets have been distributed to each troop, four to each member.

The final report on the cookie sale recently conducted by the three local troops showed it to be again successful, the girls having sold 559 dozen to interested friends and relatives.

ENACT HISTORIC JOURNEY

Ceremony Held At Old College Following Delay
An old carriage, drawn by four horses, arrived in Newark yesterday afternoon, marking the 150th anniversary of George Washington's historic journey from Mount Vernon to New York for his inauguration as the first president of the United States. In the coach were three men, impersonating George Washington, Charles Thompson, and Colonel David Humphreys.

Thompson's brief remarks on that occasion are preserved in his own handwriting in the Washington papers.

Over 200 Attend Newark Rotary Club's "Charter Night" Monday

22 Organizations Attend; Williams Principal Speaker

Wilmington Attorney Heads State Americans Committee
Thomas Muncy Keith, Wilmington, attorney and former assistant solicitor, was named chairman this week of the Delaware Committee of Americans by Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard Law School.

In asking Mr. Keith to serve as state chairman for the Committee of Americans, Dean Pound urged him to "awaken a government consciousness in every native or naturalized American throughout our historically interesting commonwealth. Never before has it been so essential for every franchised and truly patriotic American to insist upon justice, frugality, and balance in federal and state governments."

DEMOCRATS DOWN BILL FOR STATE TO SETTLE

Levy Court Sees Jump In County Tax Rate Of 15c; Recesses Ended
Following unexpected recesses this week, both houses of the General Assembly reconvened at 11 o'clock this morning in an attempt to complete the affairs of the prolonged current session on Friday. This is the 70th legislative day, or ten days over the limit for which members draw salary and expenses.

Additional property taxes loom in each of the three counties to produce revenue to meet maturing highway improvement bonds and state aid roads bonds during the next fiscal biennium. This is a result of the defeat in the Senate on Monday of the bill which would have authorized the state to pay off these bonds.

Democracy Still Balk
The defeat of the bond bill was due to the refusal of the Democratic minority members to vote for it because it required a three-fourths majority. They have refused to support any legislation requiring more than a majority vote as protest against passage of so-called ripper legislation by the Republican majority.

Although the Levy Court of New Castle County predicted the local rate would have to be advanced to 50 cents, the increase specified by the bill will be 4.1 cents per $100. In Kent County where the present rate is 40 cents per $100 the increase will be 34.7 cents. In Sussex County where the present rate is 35 cents the increase will be 19.1 cents per $100. In New Castle and Sussex Counties the present law limits the property tax to 50 cents per $100 while in Kent the limit is 40 cents which is now in effect.

Gas Tax Reduction
There will be a companion bill to this one which will provide that the tax on gasoline be reduced from four to three cents per gallon. Also there will be an amendment to the existing law which specifies no money raised by tax on property in any of the counties can be used to pay the maturing road and highway bonds. The total maturities in the three counties will be approximately $500,000. The increases specified in the bill will return enough money to meet this sum. The increase in property tax and the reduced gas tax would be effective (Please Turn To Page 8)

Dramatic Conference At University On Saturday

PAUL WINS RECOGNITION FOR GENTILE CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:22-29; Galatians 2:14, 15, 16.
GOLDEN TEXT—A man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ.—Galatians 2:16.

Persecution from outside was soon followed by what was even more serious—difficulties within the Church. If Satan cannot destroy God's work in one way, he cunningly tries another plan. Although the first council at Jerusalem (Acts 15) had decided that "to the Gentiles also hath God granted repentance unto life," the question did not stay settled, for there were persistent Judaizing teachers who now contended that even though the Gentiles could be saved, they had to come into the Church by way of Judaism and first fulfill the Jewish rite of circumcision.

I. A Serious Difference of Opinion

—Grace Versus Law.

The story of how this vital and fundamental question came up is found in the early verses of Acts 15. The entire future of the gospel ministry was in a sense dependent on the solution of this problem. Christianity is the only religious faith in the world that presents justification by grace as the way of redemption; all others follow (more or less) the path of salvation by works. The question now was: Shall works of the law be mingled with grace—can Jesus Christ alone save men, or is salvation through Jesus Christ plus something else? How was such a serious question to be settled? Should argument and strife be permitted to go on until the stronger party prevailed? Better judgment indicated the desirability of

II. A Christian Method of Settlement—Council not Controversy

There may be times when it becomes the duty of the Christian worker to take an uncompromising stand for the truth of God and refuse to be moved, come what may. But certainly there should be no such spirit in dealing with differing interpretations of Scripture on the part of sincere and earnest Christian brethren. How much would be gained in the Church today if, instead of magnifying differences and permitting personal desires and ambitions to intervene, men were willing to sit down in the spirit of Christ around the tables of Christian council and brotherhood, presided over and directed by the Holy Spirit (see Acts 15:28).

The whole question was honestly and carefully considered by the second council at Jerusalem, with the result that there was a vindication of the preachers of God's grace. After presenting a plain disavowal of those who had troubled them and subverted their souls (what a serious thing it is to teach error concerning God's Word!), the council being of one accord, gave recognition to Paul and Barnabas as men who had "hazarded their lives for the name of the Lord Jesus" and were worthy of confidence and support.

No man should think more highly of himself than he ought. Humility is a Christian grace which well befits a sinner saved by grace. But the Bible abounds with admonitions to honor one another, to recognize the laborer as being worthy of his hire, to give recognition to those who are over us in the Lord. The brethren at Jerusalem were thoughtful and courteous enough to so honor and encourage Paul and Barnabas. We could well follow their example in recognition of faithful servants of Christ in our own church or community.

III. A Momentous Decision—Salvation by Grace

The final decision of the council is sent not only by Paul and Barnabas, but also by a committee from Jerusalem, a gracious gesture of fellowship. Courtesy is not out of place in dealing with even such difficult things as controversies on Christian doctrine—in fact it should be most in place in such a situation.

As a matter of record (a wise procedure in such a case), a letter was sent which, after addressing the Gentiles as "brethren," reviewed the history of the matter and then, without mentioning circumcision at all, puts upon the Gentiles "no greater burden than the necessary things." And what were these? Those things which relate to purity of life as those who were enjoying Christian liberty. The law of Moses need not be kept as a ground of salvation. They were saved by grace. But grace can never be the cloak of careless living, nor can liberty in Christ be interpreted as license to live in sin. We are set free in Christ, not that we may sin, but that we may "go and sin no more."

Blessed Day

Blessed is the day whose morning is sanctified! Successful is the day whose first victory is won by prayer! Holy is the day whose dawn finds thee on the top of the mount!—Joseph Parker.

Librarianship—A Profession

Chapel on Thursday featured a speech by Mrs. Alice Brooks Mooney, of Drexel Institute, on "Librarianship as a Profession." First, Mrs. Mooney told us that librarians need girls with a good scholarship record, a broad culture and background, and a wide reading interest. Also, they must be able to understand people. There are four definite divisions of library study: Administration, classification and cataloging, book selection, and reference work. Public libraries, county libraries, college libraries, school libraries, and special libraries are among the various kinds of librarianship which one may enter.

A girl, whose eye is directed toward librarianship in the future, should include in her schedule of college work history, literature, French, German, economics, psychology, sociology, science, and art. Mrs. Mooney concluded by saying: "If you're looking for something that's going to help you grow, I hope you'll consider librarianship."

TOMMY'S MOTHER LEARNS SOMETHING

TRELLA DICK

Mrs. Green couldn't understand why her four-year-old son, Tommy, didn't ask to go over to Junior Dressler's any more. She pondered the matter for a week, then took Tommy and went calling at the Dresslers'.

Tommy was reluctant to go. "Have to do too much housework," he muttered.

Mrs. Green did not understand this remark, but did not question him. Junior ran down the walk to meet them.

"See," remarked Mrs. Green to her sulky son, "Junior has missed you. Now aren't you glad you came?"

Before Tommy could answer, Junior shouted: "You can't play with any of my toys, Tommy Green, 'cause you sneaked away last time and didn't help."

Mother On Porch

His mother had appeared on the porch, and Mrs. Green, expecting her to give Junior a severe reprimand for his rudeness, was surprised when she merely greeted them cordially, and sent the boys off to look at Junior's new bunny.

"We've missed Tommy," she said, when they were seated. "He told Junior he wouldn't come any more, but I hoped he'd get over it."

"What's it all about?" questioned Mrs. Green.

"About putting toys away, and picking up the pieces when they use the scissors, and tidying up in general."

"O, that explains a remark he made to me!" exclaimed Mrs. Green. "He didn't want to come over, he said, because he had to do too much housework. I didn't know what he meant."

You Wouldn't Laugh

"Of course you wouldn't," laughed Mrs. Dressler. "You probably don't have any trouble with him. Your house is always so spick-and-span, you must have wonderful cooperation from him. I guess I am not tactful enough about the way I ask him to help tidy up, when they've finished play. Of course I can't keep Junior feeling right about putting

FOOD for THOUGHT

By CHARLOTTE SPENCER
Nutritionist, State Board of Health

The high cost of eating is undoubtedly one of the most important reasons why many of us do not eat sufficient quantities of the protective foods. However, the less we have to spend for foods the more important it becomes that we know how to buy the best food at the least possible cost and that we know how to prepare what we have bought in the way which will best preserve the original food value.

The buying of cereals is one place where the clever housewife can buy more food value for less money than the one who is less well informed. Dark uncooked cereals are by far the most economical in every way. White cereals not only cost more per serving as a rule, but also have lost valuable minerals and vitamins during the refining process. Dark uncooked cereals are an essential part of the shopping list of the woman who is trying to feed her family well on a limited income. The ready prepared cereals may be just as good for us as those which we cook in our own kitchens, but they are from three to five times as expensive.

Prunes And Apricots

Dried prunes and apricots are particularly desirable since they provide minerals which our diets commonly lack. Bought in bulk they are a valuable but economical addition to any diet. Apricots may seem to be more expensive when we buy them, but we are not paying for any pits in a pound of them.

The most economical way to prepare vegetables is to use them raw. The most careful cooking will destroy some of the precious vitamins and minerals. Many vegetables such as turnips, cauliflower, carrots, onions, cabbage, and greens are delicious when eaten raw. Indeed some of the best hotels in the country have been featuring such things as raw spinach salad on their menus. The wise and economical mother will teach her children to like raw vegetables alone, or mixed in salads and sandwich spreads.

Minimum Of Water

Economical cooking of vegetables includes cooking in a minimum of water for as short a time as possible. The water in which the vegetables have been cooked should be used in such things as gravies, sauces, and soups.

An illustration which I saw some time ago showed a woman holding a large basket of groceries. Half the bottom of the basket was gone with the groceries falling through. The headline above the picture was "Lady, you have a leak in your market basket." The truly economical housewife will be very careful to see that there are no leaks in hers.

Stanton P. T. A. Card Party To Be Held Tonight

Stanton, April 19.—The ways and means committee of the Stanton P. T. A. is arranging a benefit card party for tomorrow night (Thursday) in the school. Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, chairman of ways and means committee is in charge.

The Stanton P. T. A. monthly meeting has been changed to April 27, due to the card party being held in the school tomorrow night. A delegation from the group attended the Delaware State P. T. A. convention Saturday at Delmar.

Arbor Day Marked

The Stanton school observed Arbor Day Friday at the school, and a special program was arranged by the seventh and eighth grades. A walnut tree has been planted on the school lawn.

Miss Lore Little, principal of the Stanton school, announces that pre-school medical examinations were given at the school this week. Seventeen children were listed for registration.

City Fair Again To Be Celebrated In Seville

Spring has arrived in Spain; and this April will bring again the celebration of the Feria, or City Fair, in Seville. This festival, so typical of the city which has often been called "the heart of Spain," will complement the colorful processions and ceremonies of Holy Week and Easter with feasting and dancing, and great holiday crowds will flock to the bull-fight arenas.

The splendors of the Easter celebration in Seville have been traditional for centuries. The following week sees the toreros performing at the years first bull fights in the Plaza de Toros, and everyone in Seville prepares to enjoy the Feria. Thousands of Chinese lanterns light the streets at night, while the air is fragrant with orange blossoms and filled with the music of guitars and castanets.

HINTS FOR PRACTICAL PAINTING

Home Management
Expert Offers
Timely Ideas

When men talk about painting, they usually are thinking of protective painting—giving the house or other buildings a covering to prevent weather damage. But when a woman takes a paint brush in hand she intends to make something look better. She wants to brighten up her kitchen walls, lighten the woodwork, or change the color of her bedroom furniture. She has decorative motives, and she also knows that her painting labors will give the house a fresh, clean appearance.

For the homemaker seized with the spring urge to paint, Miss Louise Whitcomb, home management specialist of the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service has several practical suggestions.

First, prepare for the job. Get the right kind of paint for the work you wish to do, and follow the manufacturer's directions as to stirring, thinning, undercoating, and so on. Wall paint will not do on a floor. Floor or deck paint has a binder that stands up against wear from feet. If any of this paint is left over, mark it plainly to show what it was used for.

Needs Some Preparation
Anything to be painted needs some preparation. New, unpainted wood requires very little beyond dusting off. You can remove building residues like mortar and plaster with a scraper or sandpaper. After putting on a priming coat, fill nail holes and loose joints with putty. Be sure the wood is thoroughly dry.

A chalky painted surface can be dusted off to prepare it for painting. But if the old paint has begun to scale or peel, it will have to be scraped or brushed with a wire brush. Then loose putty should be removed from nail holes and joints and replaced by fresh putty after the first coat has dried. Rub varnished or enameled surfaces with fine sandpaper, curled horsehair, or fine steel wool.

Good Brushes Important

Be sure to buy good brushes of the right size for the work you want to do. A 3½- or 4-inch flat brush is generally used for walls, ceilings, and other large surfaces. A smaller flat brush, 2 to 2½-inches, is needed for wood trim, and a special oval "sash brush" for painting around windowpanes. Oval brushes are better than flat ones for any surfaces that are not flat. Keep one brush for varnish and never dip it in paint.

Experienced painters never allow paint to dry on a brush. And they don't keep paint brushes in water. They put them in kerosene if work stops for more than an hour. Brushes that have been used in flat-finish paints may be kept in kerosene, if the kerosene is mostly removed before they are used again.

Patients in Moscow who want gold fillings in their teeth have to take their own gold to the dentist.

Nervous, Weak, Ankles Swollen?

Much nervousness is caused by an excess of acids and poisons due to functional kidney and bladder disorders which may also cause Getting Up Nights, Burning Passages, Swollen Joints, Backache, Circles Under Eyes, Excess Acidity, Leg Pains and Dizziness. Help your kidneys purify your blood with Cystex. Usually the very first dose starts helping your kidneys clean out excess acids and this soon makes you feel like new. Cystex must satisfy you completely or money back is guaranteed. Get Cystex (see box) today. It costs only a dime at drug stores and the guarantee protects you.

SOME FUN!

"For mercy sake!" Mom said, "aren't you being extravagant, calling all the way from Scheenaday, dear?"

Daddy said, "Not at all. You see, the rates are very low for Long Distance calls on Sunday and besides I wanted to hear your voice and Peggy's."

So I got on the 'phone and, Gee Whiz, it sure was fun!

It certainly is fun, Peggy. And if people knew how low Long Distance rates are, especially after 7 each night and all day Sunday, they'd call more often. For instance, a three-minute station-to-station call to someone a hundred air-line miles away costs only 35 cents at the reduced night and Sunday rates.

It's fine to expand the home market through new industrial uses for farm products, but first the uses must be found and made economically practical at prices fair to the farmer.

E52 GROUP TO GIVE COMEDY

"Much Ado About Nothing" To Be Given Friday

One of Shakespeare's gayest and most amusing comedies will be enacted on the Mitchell Hall stage on Friday, April 28, when the E52 Players and the University Drama Group will present "Much Ado About Nothing." The play is a typically Elizabethan drama, with a satisfying combination of plots and counter-plots, hot-headed lovers, witty badinage, and impressive poetry.

Special Music
Anthony Louis, of the university music department, is preparing a special musical score for the play. He is selecting music that is as closely related to the period as possible, including works of the sixteenth century composers, Purcell, Byrd, and Garvais. The recordings to be used have been made by a group of instrumentalists who specialize in the playing of ancient music with the musical instruments of that particular period.

Miss Mina Press, a graduate of P. S. duPont High School, who has already won fame in university dramatics as Ibsen's tragic "Hedda Gabler," and as a comedienne in "State Door" and "Excursion," will take the part of the quick-witted, vivacious Beatrice. G. Taggart Evans, president of the University Drama Group and an experienced actor in non-professional dramatics, is to be Benedick, the self-avowed woman hater who delights in quibbling with Beatrice until the convenience of friends forces him finally to admit his love for her.

Other Characters
Joseph Dannenberg will appear as Don John, the jealous villain, while Harry Stutman is to be Dogberry, a self-important, if ineffectual constable. Others in the cast are Russell Willard, Edith Conahan, Jane Trent, Charles Sigler, David Buckman, Allen Porter, Parker Thomas, James Carpenter, William Richardson, Ralph Margolin, and Michael Poppitt.

Miss Kay Rosenthal, costume chairman, has accepted the task of finding Elizabethan outfits for the large cast. To Miss Mary Armour, property mistress; Miss Janet Grubb, chairman of scene painting, and Reynolds Knotts, stage manager, falls the duty of creating a sixteenth-century atmosphere. Miss Thelma West is in charge of make-up, Miss Edith Holden is business manager, and Miss Margaret Smith, publicity chairman.

Safety Hints

According to the Delaware Safety Council, home, which should be the happiest and safest place in the world, produced more fatal accidents in 1938 than did industry, or any other accident-producing unit, including traffic.

Medical and hospital bills for the care of home-accident victims last year were almost $2,000,000 a day, and every day scores of new graves were filled by such accidents. Last year, 32,500 men, women, and children were killed in the home, 500 more than were killed in 1937.

No home should have to be a contributor to this horrible annual toll. Observance of a few preventive regulations and the diligent exercise of intelligent watchfulness can reduce the home hazards greatly. Accidents do not "just happen." They are always caused. Accidents that can happen, do happen. Sooner or later trouble is almost bound to result from unremedied dangerous conditions.

Remedy Dangerous Conditions
Spring is here and housewives are doing their spring cleaning. Now is a good time to fix the dangerous conditions in the home. The Safety Council offers two rules that we should follow and that will help eliminate the dangerous conditions in the home. Always remember the two "F's"—"FIND IT—FIX IT." Find the hazard, then fix it immediately. Make an inspection of your home today. Most of us, practically all of us, recognize a dangerous condition immediately. Right now is the time for all members of the family to find the hazard and immediately fix it. Right now is the time that we should make "FIND IT—FIX IT" a standard practice in the home. Always bear in mind that the houses we live in and the things we use and take for granted are imperfect things. They can all be made safer.

Too much cannot be said about the necessity for having an alert, constructive attitude toward safety conditions in the home. Where life and limb are at stake, there is no valid excuse for any other frame of mind.

Better Home Show To Be Held At Dover Tuesday

Following weeks of preparation, the Kiwanis Club's "Better Home Show" will open in the Dover Armory on Tuesday night and will continue until Saturday. John F. MacDonald, chairman of the committee in charge, announced this week that all preliminary arrangements have been completed and the building is now being appropriately decorated for the event.

On display will be a variety of modern materials and products for erecting and furnishing homes. Most of the exhibitors will have valuable and useful souvenirs to be given away to visitors. Admission to the event will be free by presenting tickets which may be secured from the exhibitors.

Interesting entertainment programs will be presented nightly, including band music, demonstrations by firemen, and finger printing by the State Police for all persons who desire it.

Newark, Delaware, April 20, 1939

COUNCIL SHOULD HELP, TOO

The action taken by the Lions Club of Newark this week in donating $200 toward a recreation center is not only commendable in itself, but it also furnishes definite and emphatic response for those doubting individuals who scorn the value of service clubs.

All too often civic organizations, lolling in the comforts of genial fellowship, become mere "eating clubs" and social groups. It is doubly heartening, therefore, that the Lions recognize their pledge to service by launching a movement for children in a fashion that is both concrete and convincing.

As Newark's oldest service club for men, the Lions, in inaugurating the recreation center, provide inspiration for their compatriots in the new Rotary Club, which received its charter this week. The action should also be heartening to the New Century Club, the Business and Professional Women, Parent-Teacher Association, American Legion, and kindred organizations.

Any movement that will take children off the streets, provide them with supervised recreation removed from the dangers of motor traffic is a movement worthy of the support of all right-thinking citizens.

It is propitious that the Lions should have launched their playground movement on Tuesday -- the same day the Council of Newark was organized for the new fiscal year. With practically every organization in the town participating in a common or some form of civic betterment, the time has come when the municipal governing body begins lending aid.

Two years ago, when a community swimming pool committee was settling its accounts for the summer, an appeal was made to Council for free water. The request was tabled without any action being taken.

Last year, the same committee, working in cooperation with the University of Delaware, again promoted the community pool. With one-half or more of the expenses for the season going for water, light, and pumping charges, the committee ended the summer with a deficit. Bills were paid at the expense of individuals and civic groups who anted more than their share in second and third donations for the year. Several of these individuals do not even have children. Their support is given for community betterment alone.

Another swimming season will soon be here. Children will be asking: "Is the pool to be open again?" That's a question for the Council to answer. Individuals, service clubs, and civic organizations cannot do everything. The municipal government must be made to realize that its responsibility goes beyond the routine affairs of paving streets, replacing broken water lines, laying sewers, and the like.

There are people living in Newark. And with people around social problems must be met. Council should begin stirring itself into realizing its obligations concern the welfare as well as material advancement of the populace as a whole.

THE 1939 OUTLOOK

Nearly all economists agree that unless some unforeseen upset occurs there will be at least a moderate improvement in business during 1939, although the first three months are likely to remain about stationary.

While government spending of borrowed money will continue to stimulate business, the national debt will reach more than 44 billion dollars during the next fiscal year. The number of unemployed, now still about 10 million, will show some decrease during 1939, but will remain a most serious problem. Unemployment relief will continue to be the greatest single item of expense.

The United States News predicts that strikes will increase in number compared with last year, and that the farm problem will continue to be unsolved, although farmers will receive "bigger and better subsidies."

Leading observers do not expect a European war this year, but Germany and Italy will continue to press for further territory, and may obtain added concessions without fighting for them.

Stormy debates are expected in Congress over government spending, national defense and a wide range of domestic and foreign questions, but it is too early to predict the outcome of these important controversies.

A message flashed on the screen of a moving picture theatre in Dublin informed Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cox that their home was burning.

James Wilder, a pauper of Glasgow, was sentenced to a bread and water diet for a week for lying about the poor-house officials.

When postman John Mauviot of Bristol, Eng., got tired and threw away a large bundle of letters, he was sentenced to prison.

Miss Helen Tripler of Liverpool was awarded $5,000 damages because she was so badly hurt in an accident that she can no longer play golf.

James Marguerison of Derby, Eng., was arrested for evicting a tenant who had voted contrary to his landlord's wishes.

WEEK TO WEEK in WASHINGTON

By J. E. JONES

Turns To Economy

Democratic Leader Senator Barkley and many of his followers in the New Deal reversed their position when they finally voted on relief. For six years they have yielded to the wishes of the President, but the time came when they cut 50 million dollars off a WPA relief bill.

Economy has won its first great victory—for that is what the vote means. Congress has made it perfectly clear that it is satisfied to vote all necessary money NEEDED for relief, but it has been just as emphatic in saying that there are too many officers and officials who promote extravagant methods in administering relief.

Senator Barkley, the Democratic chief of the Senate said: "If I am going to cast here today subjects me to criticism, I accept it from whatever source it may come, whether on the inside of this Chamber, or on the outside." That was defiance from the prince of New Deal Senators. It was a direct contradiction to the letter of April 11 from President Roosevelt to Senator Pepper, saying that the reduction of the appropriation would deprive 300,000 or 400,000 relievers from receiving aid, and also dash the hopes of 700,000 or 800,000 people on the waiting list. Congress has declared for economy in relief administration, and not economy in relief.

Evidently the economy fight has begun in real earnest.

Trade Losses

Barter deals with Germany, Italy and Japan are destroying the leadership of the United States in the Mexican machinery market, says a statement issued by the United States Department of Commerce a few days ago. The official survey reveals that the United States supplied 75 per cent and Germany 16 per cent of the imports in 1937, and that Germany switched the orders so that for the first six months of 1938 the United States had 63 per cent and Germany 25 per cent of the business. "A further reduction in the shipments of machinery is anticipated this year," is a significant conclusion of the Commerce Department. By translating pesos into American dollars it appears that the German barter inroad is taking away approximately $15,000,000 in commerce from United States manufacturers and transferring it this year to Germany.

German participation in the Mexican machinery market is steadily increasing, especially with regard to purchases by the Mexican government. In the petroleum field the government, finding it difficult to sell all for cash in the world markets, is engaging in barter deals with Germany, Italy and Japan," says Harry Hopkins' Commerce Department.

Chief users of American machinery in Mexico has been the mining industry but the German trade invasion finds the Hitler government exporting into Mexico large quantities of trucks, broadcasting equipment, machinery for highway construction, rails, pipe, Diesel engines, power generating and transmitting equipment, bridge steel and rubber hose.

"The expropriation of the privately owned oil properties in March, 1938, resulted in a withdrawal of capital from Mexico," says the Department of Commerce, and adds: "The Mexican government, since that date, has purchased practically no oil refinery equipment, all of which formerly came from the United States."

In cataloging lost trade it appears that United States exports of lumber machinery to Mexico have decreased from $100,000 annually to about $30,000 to $35,000 a year. Every branch of machinery manufacture in the United States is hit by the barter games of the Dictator governments in various parts of Latin America.

American business men who have climbed aboard the Good Neighbor band wagon to share in the promised development of commerce throughout Pan-America are experiencing a good deal of skepticism in view of the adverse reports like the above from our own Government.

The Circus

There is only one great circus in the United States, and that is Ringling Brothers. Last year a labor strike, hard times and the high cost of entertainment closed the show. The circus has opened again for a tour of the country. The indications are that business conditions are more favorable for a successful season of the circus.

If the professional circus makes good in 1939 all our little private amateur circuses ought to get through the year better than we did in days of "recession" and depression.

Ladies To Wear Wool

News comes from London of the acceptance by her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of England of a dress from the wool growers of America. From Washington comes word of a similar acceptance by Mrs. Roosevelt of a dress from the wool growers of the British Dominions. As a result of these gracious gestures the farmers of England and the British Empire will have a personal interest in the forthcoming Royal visit.

The fact that these two "first ladies" are to wear the dresses on the occasion of their first meeting is symbolic of the friendship which exists between the peoples of the two nations and of the great part which the woolen industry has played for many years in the prosperity of both England and America.

Wool for the fabric from which the Queen's dress is to be made, came from the finest clips of the thirty-four wool growing states. It represents the hard work and determination of more than a half million American farmers who depend at least partly on their wool for the money which buys them food and clothing. By accepting the two dresses both Her Majesty and Mrs. Roosevelt have shown their interest in the lives and success of the people whom they represent.

The Queen herself knows Scotland and that island well. She grew up among them and has taken advantage of every opportunity to safeguard their interests; to promote their welfare. In accepting the gift of the American wool growers she again shows herself to be a great and considerate woman whose primary interests lie not with the social life of the world's capitals but with the working men and women of the land over which she rules. Like the Queen, Mrs. Roosevelt's interest in the farmers is well known. If the example of Mrs. Roosevelt and Queen Elizabeth has weight with the women of America, wool will be widely worn this summer. Let us hope that this gesture of two women will do much to bring prosperity to millions of other women throughout this country and the British Empire.

Neutrality

Under the practices and precedents of Government the American Congress has the power to declare war. But in the past the challenge to aggressors and enemies has always remained in the hands of the President. McKinley and Wilson appeared before Congress declaring that "a state of war exists."

The situation at the present time is such that President Roosevelt might, under circumstances that may transpire, lead the nation straight into another World War. He is the key to the situation, by virtue of his office.

In consequence proposals are being discussed in Congress for a Commission of about 15 national leading officials to act with the President in reaching an agreement before any declaration of war is decided upon.

Nearly every year the proposal comes up in Congress, and it is about to appear again, providing that war shall not be declared until there has been a referendum of the people. Congressman Ludlow, Indiana, has rallied extensive support to this proposal. However, if a crisis approaches, this measure may be swept aside. Strange as this seems, Congress has always voted down referendum plans after discussions. The legislators have always considered that the referendum is slow and clumsy in its processes, and the people not sufficiently acquainted with all the facts in deciding questions of going to war. All they have to do is fight and die. The statesmen say that the comlications that lead to war must be weighed by experts—and they are the experts.

Queen Minnie

It's almost as hard for a cow to get into the World's Fair as it was for the famous camel to squeeze through the eye of a needle. "Amos Minnie," owned by Henry W. Leeds of Atlantic City's famous boardwalk hotels, will be the first Guernsey cow from New Jersey to be admitted to the great event of TODAY-TOMORROW that will celebrate the 100th anniversary of George Washington's inauguration. The Leeds Locust Grove Dairies at Westville, New Jersey, have long been famous as the supply house for the exclusive brands of milk and cream used at the Leeds and Lippincott hotels in Atlantic City. There are 275 cattle in the herd, and their blood-line is as pure and undiluted as anything that can be found among the FFV's, or the Yanks of the nation. The American Guernsey Cattle Club selected "Amos Minnie."

Lindbergh Comes Back

Colonel Lindbergh returns to America and the incident of the bestowal of the Hitler iron cross seems to have been forgotten. We can't surrender our heroes so easily.

Looking Forward

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Persons Wonder

So strange is the behavior of President Roosevelt in his attitude toward business on occasions that many persons sincerely have wondered whether he really wants to encourage the forces of economic recovery and thus return the country to a condition of prosperity.

Of course it is inconceivable that anyone in a position of official responsibility should wish to retard recovery. Yet, despite his frequent protestations, Mr. Roosevelt has done inexplicable things which have the effect of discouraging business through the creation of uncertainties and fears of what the future may bring forth.

For instance, there is the appointment of Thomas A. Amle to the Interstate Commerce Commission. If ever there was a sick industry it is the railroad business. Yet if needed railroad improvements and expansion could be brought about it would mean work in the heavy goods industries for tens of thousands of persons now jobless.

Investors Hesitate

Such improvements and expansion, however, call for millions of dollars of new capital. The huge volume of idle money in our banks evidences the abundance of funds in this country waiting for profitable investment. Yet the owners of that money—and they include people with savings deposits and life insurance policies as well as rich men—hesitate. They hesitate because they cannot be sure that their money will be paid back to them due to the critical condition of the railroads.

This lack of confidence on the part of investors, however, has been doubly intensified by naming to the Interstate Commerce Commission a man who avowedly is an advocate of government ownership of railroads, as Mr. Amle is, and who has little else to recommend him as a supervisor of the nation's transportation system. Moreover, not even in the realm of political maneuvering can any plausible reason be found for the Amle appointment. People in their right minds do not throw money out of windows and they do not invest money in enterprises in jeopardy of being taken over by the government. So, no matter what Mr. Roosevelt says, his action in naming Mr. Amle discourages progress in rehabilitating the railroads and retards recovery. Thus this action injures the railroad worker, the steel mill mechanic and the farmer.

President's Attitude

The President's paradoxical attitude toward business is aptly illustrated by the sequence of events following his statement that business had no further reason for worry, made while enroute to the war games in the Caribbean. Insisting there was no reason for a lack of confidence on the part of business, the President said no new taxes were planned; that the Federal Government had no plans of expanding its competition with the private utilities, and that, in brief, business could look ahead without misgivings as to the Administration's future plans.

As a move toward reassuring the business community, the President's remarks constituted a good start—though a divergence between his promises and performances make it necessary that such words be backed up with action. But, passing that over, the country on reading these words the next morning had a right to feel better about the outlook.

Yet the beneficial effect of those words was completely destroyed by the time businessmen got to their offices the next day. For fast on the heels of the first dispatch from the Presidential train came another. It quoted the President as expressing a fear that he would be unable to remain away from Washington as long as he planned because of a new, secret and threatening crisis in Europe.

And then, some thirty-six hours after the first remarks, the Justice Department announced a renewal of warfare on business in the form of an anti-trust suit against eighteen tire companies for engaging in

Atlantic Air Supremacy Contested By 3 Nations

With three countries, the United States, Britain and France, racing to establish the air supremacy across the Atlantic, both for passengers and mail, the contest is beginning to get warm.

Aviation heads in London are said to be showing the greatest irritation. Britain is fighting the United States' policy that for each foreign aircraft landing in the United States an American aircraft must leave on a reciprocal route to the territory of the nation concerned.

British airmen say an agreement to this by Britain, France, Germany, Holland and Italy, the principal European air-operating countries, would give fifty per cent of Atlantic air traffic to the United States.

Accuracy In The News

The first function of every newspaper is to present information that is accurate, if not always complete. When a paper fails in that initial assignment, regardless of cause or circumstance, the occasion is followed by the usual flood of letters to the editor and telephone calls from an aroused and indignant public demanding retribution for the published inaccuracies.

Though the error be insignificant and the mere slip of a key incorrectly hit on a typewriter or typesetting machine, public reaction from some sector is bound to be one of wronged righteousness. The majority of newspaper men look for this kind of reaction, know how to accept it, and forget it.

Every so often, however, news is made when the man bites the dog and a case in point is provided by the publicity bulletin released at the University of Delaware under the date of April 17.

Cock-eyed Record

In the first sentence: "With four victories, two defeats and one 13 inning tie . . ." the bulletin, referring to the Blue Hen's baseball record, caused the man to snap quite merely at the canine. For with victories over Bridgewater, Hampden-Sydney, Lynchburg, Vermont, and Drexel are against a lone loss to Randolph-Macon, the Blue and Gold's mark on April 17 was at variance with the bulletin. And the "one 13 inning tie" merely happened to have been a 15-inning deadlock with the Penn A. C.

Poor style, even for a newspaper and a publicity bulletin, is indicated in paragraphs two and three where three sentences start as follows: "On Saturday . . ." "On the following Saturday . . ." and "On Saturday . . ."

Bad form for a newspaper, but absolutely horrible for the University of Delaware. And was it any paper that mischievously repeating the baseball team's record according to the figures in the bulletin. The luckless sheet will never be able to convince its started readers that the bulletin was quoted correctly.

Weather Handicap

With the temperatures of the last few weeks being followed by the prolonged and emphatic precipitation of the current seven days, spring sports in this locality are suffering a general letdown.

Baseball schedules have been washed into the discard. Lengthy delays for the start of tennis and golfing wars have been occasioned by the rain. Track teams have hardly had any opportunity to test their spikes in the cinders. Big league ball clubs have dropped thousands of important dollars that usually fall into the till for opening games, even by the Athletics and Phillies. Spring so far has been a big freeze and total washout. Eastern Shore League teams, which assembled this week for the first of conditioning prior to the start of the 1939 race on May 4, have had to be content with playing bridge and table tennis for exercise.

The guy who predicted that a bad start maketh a good ending will have plenty of opportunity to prove his theory this year.

Personal Stuff

Dick Roberts, slated for the catching berth with the Milford Giants again this year, left Tuesday for pre-season practice. Two other backstops have been signed, but Roy Myers, who understudied Dick last year, has been released.

Weather permitting, the Shore loop is certain to open with plenty of zip and fireworks. . . . Drexel versus Milford will provide fun for the whole community.

Spotted by a scout for a Canadian team while playing for the Lloyd A. C. of Chester, against the Brooklyn Bushwicks a couple of weeks back, George Victor (Shorty) Chalmers was offered $275 a month to transfer his ability to the Dominion. . . . He's still with the Lloyds.

Harry S. Russell, president of the Eastern Shore circuit, will address Newark Lions Tuesday night. . . . He'll be the guest of Len Fossett. . . . And will renew acquaintances with Dr. E. E. (Dutch) Weggenmann (on a friendly basis). . . . They are old rivals from the Delaware-Washington wars of 1928 and prior.

Desecration!

That kindred look of sadness being worn by Raymond Vansant Buckingham and Robert Roy Connell was brought on by a common ailment. When birds were permitted to fly where rabbits usually run, and pointers and setters were turned loose instead of yelping hounds over the Eastern Shore Circuit's course on the S. Hallowell Club's estate at Milford Cross Roads last Saturday, Buck and Bob, who usually argue and wrangle, immediately fell into one another's arms and wept real tears.

"It's desecration," they sobbed, "like chewing tobacco in church and spitting on the floor!"

Flashes By Bill Fletcher

THE UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE TOSSERS' SATURDAY battle with Drexel Tech was one of those tilts in which all the breaks of the game smiled broadly on the locals and frowned ominously on the hapless invaders.

TO START WITH THE DRAG- one earned one good, honest tally in the second inning, a margin though not exceedingly comfortable, seemed good enough with Lovey Chase, their hurler, turning back Blue and Gold batsmen with few scattered hits, two to be exact, up until what turned out to be an unfortunate fifth inning.

A walk, two costly errors, and a punt yielded three runs in this screwy frame, putting the Hens in front where they stayed throughout. Howie Viden, the first man up, drew a pass to first and Wilmer (Lunk) Apsley layed one down that was fielded by Chase who threw the ball to first. Mike Halas, Dragon second baseman, who played an excellent game for the Hens all afternoon, attempted to cover the initial sack and the ball went through his hands like termites through a wooden leg.

BY THE TIME THE BALL WAS recovered, Viden was on third and Apsley on second. When Chase again handled Amos Crowley's punt, he attempted to cut off the play at the plate and sent the ball for a ride that carried it over the catcher's head.

Two runs scored and Crowley went to second, then to third when John Daly layed another one down that the Dragon infield, with a "Let George Do It" attitude, allowed to go for a hit. Mitchell's sacrifice fly to the right garden brought Crowley safely across the plate for the third run and then Chase turned on the heat and retired McCord and Ernie George via the strikeout route.

And so with a lone questionable hit that would have gone for an easy out in nine out of ten ball games, one walk and a couple of errors that meant the ball game, the Hens gained a two-run margin that they maintained thereafter.

The eighth frame was just as cock-eyed as the fifth, with the visitors collecting four hits and a walk which netted them exactly . . . one run.

HALAS, THE FIRST MAN UP, walked, but was forced out when Harry Wolf grounded to Mitchell who threw the ball to Crowley covering second. Jack Quinn singled, but in attempting to reach third on Walt Ehmling's hit, was caught when George rifled a perfect strike (maybe that arm's coming back) from centerfield. Wolf tallied on Ehmling's blow. Art DiLarson and Frank Quinn came through with successive singles, but the former was forced at second to climax the rally.

Another lucky frame for the Blue and Gold came in the seventh when a walk, an error and two sacrifice hits yielded two runs. Amos Crowley walked and in handling Daly's punt, Chase threw wildly to first, pushing Delaware men around to second and third. Mitchell layed down a punt that scored Crowley and McCord followed with a fly to right that sent Daly scurrying home for the second run.

Apsley, who handled third base in a more efficient manner than he has ever shown in previous years, was credited with seven assists and three putouts. He was, by far, the Hens' outstanding star of the afternoon, despite the fact that he collected only one hit in four trips to the plate. He was on bases twice, however, and crossed the plate in the fifth.

Chase was easily the star and the goat for the Dragons as he limited the locals to six hits, but tossed the game away with two costly overthrows.

The visitors' showing was more or less a disappointment to the crowd of Blue and Gold followers who are accustomed to seeing a scrappy Drexel team that gives and takes no quarter.

The Hens will have to do a little more hitting than they have shown thus far this season if they expect

Poor Hitting Fails To Handicap Hens

CONQUESTS REGISTERED DESPITE PLATE WORK

Top Of Batting Order At Bottom Of Slugging List; Howie Viden, Only Regular To Wield Stick Above .300 Mark; Daly, .286

By Bill Fletcher

In seven starts to-date, the University of Delaware tossers have reached into the hat and pulled out five victories, one 15-inning deadlock, and a single defeat, all of which would challenge even the renowned Thurston, who at least had to have a few tricks up his sleeve to perform successfully.

The Blue Hens' excellent record thus far this season has been compiled despite the poor hitting, and when we say poor, we mean "lousy." A team average of .223 in the seven games played up until Saturday would stamp the Blue and Gold outfit as a poor offensive team, yet it has been blissfully rolling up victory after victory for some reason or other.

Topping the list of hitters is Conrad Sadowski, a substitute outfielder, who has played in two games and collected three hits in nine trips to the plate. His average of .333 shunts Howie Viden, a regular garden tender, into second position with nine hits in 30 times at bat for an average of .300.

But from Viden down, Coach Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty's troubles begin. Johnny Daly, the freshman southpaw, in two games, has struck out a mark of 286; Amos Crowley, .250; Captain Phil Reed, in two games, .250; Big Bill Deaver, in three games, .250; and Bill Tibbitt, who has been working out in right field as well as on the mound, .242.

With the exception of Crowley who is banging out a neat .250, the rest of the Hens' infield is in the last five places along with Outfielder Ernie George.

Wilmer (Lunk) Apsley boasts of a .233 mark, an average that puts him several points above the top of Delaware's batting order. George, third in the order, is hitting .207; Earl Sheets, clean-up man, .206; Freddy Mitchell, lead-off hitter (.1), .156; and Earl McCord, who comes up second, .143.

That "Dame Fortune" has smiled on the sons of Delaware cannot be disputed for you wouldn't suppose a team with a batting average of .223 had a chance against opponents with even a small degree of stick prowess, yet the Hens have chalked up a majority of conquests.

A well-balanced mound staff, consisting of Captain Phil Reed and Bill Deaver, veterans, and Johnny Daly and Bill Tibbitt, freshmen, has done most of the contributing to the Hens' success, while the team, as a whole, has displayed the ability to play for and with the breaks.

Dover Orioles To Play Port Richmond Sunday

Eastern Shore League Team Handicapped By Rain; Veterans Return

The Dover Orioles of the Eastern Shore League will swing into action at Oriole Park Dover, on Sunday afternoon when they play Port Richmond, of Philadelphia, in their first exhibition game. The contest starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Manager Ray Brubaker, new Oriole pilot, will face a rather stiff task in getting his charges in shape for the initial contest. Although the squad was scheduled to start training on Monday, a lengthy delay was occasioned by heavy rains.

More than 30 players reported at Dover for spring training this week and included were several veterans from the 1938 squad. Present indications are that the Orioles will be able to develop a strong team for the coming Shore League season.

Among the players who saw service in the loop last year are: Clemence, Lodgson, Besser, and Muhler, pitchers; Kucinak, catcher; Monch, infielder; Reisinger and LeGates, outfielders, all of the 1938 Oriole team; Schuler, who was one of the circuit's leading hitters as the hot-corner guardian at Pocomoke, and Vergnani, a slugging outfielder obtained from Easton.

Manager Brubaker has decreed two practice sessions daily at Oriole Park during the remainder of the training season.

NEWARK BOWLERS TRIUMPH

Three Alco Teams Salvage Lone Win From Locals

Bowling representatives of the Amalgamated Leather Company found the going tough here Saturday night, when only one of three teams managed to eke out a victory over local teams.

The Tanners' crack outfit bowed to the National Fibre Company as Charley Essner, rolling up a total of 591 pins, paced his mates to a 2,725-2,629 conquest. Joe Bulow was best for the defeated outfit with a score of 384, but two of his team-mates fell below the 500 mark to give the locals a decided edge.

The Alco second team salvaged a 27-pin victory for the visitors' only winning performance as it racked up a 2,333-2,306 conquest over Wilson's Service Station. Jack Mol-rooney chalked up 520 pins to pace the winners while Charley Mitchell was best for the defeated local team with 510.

Feminine Stars' Farm
A Newark girl's team showed its heels to the Alco feminine stars, however, to give the local outfits a 2-1 edge for the evening.

Led by Caroline Chalmers, with a mark of 438, and Catherine Sheldner, who bowled over 417 pins, the Newark outfit scored a 1,930-year conquest. Joan McGulgan, with 1,907 pins, was best for the losers.

In another special match rolled Wednesday night at Elkton, Md., a local girls' team crossed the line and came back with a 2,055-1,948 win over the Out To Wins. Nellie McDaniel, chalked up 494 pins to pace the local aggregation, while the hostesses were led by Ethel Denney, with a score of 464.

OBITUARY

Charles Wollaston Edmondson
Charles Wollaston Edmondson, in his twenty-first year, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Edmondson, on Tuesday, April 21, after an illness of several weeks. The deceased contracted pneumonia. Typhoid fever followed, which caused his death. Funeral services from the late residence on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in White Clay Creek Cemetery.

Narrowly Escapes Death

With a yell like Hueria calling for help, Elwood Smith, colored, narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon. Digging trench for sewer connections at the Rankin Armstrong property, a cave-in buried Smith with about 1000 pounds of white clay soil. The man was completely trapped. He was unable to move, even his head being caught by a heavy board.

He had his voice with him, however, and while not oratorical, he attracted attention of a good crowd who rendered timely assistance. Only by this quick service was he saved. Digging him out, he escaped with few bruises and cuts about the head.

FROM CONGRESSMAN
GEORGE S. WILLIAMS

VISITORS—Delawareans who visited the Congressional office recently are: Dr. P. A. M. Rovitti, A. E. Lindley, Charles W. Bush, all of Wilmington; Sherman Corkran, Rehoboth; Ruth E. Obier, Seaford; Jean Collins, Newark and Eyvind Finson, Dover.

RAILROADS—Congressman Chandler (D-Tenn.) has introduced a bill, which has been reported to the House, designed to give railroad relief in their present financial difficulties. This legislation has created wide interest and numerous communications have been received asking that it be given favorable consideration. This new legislation has some advantages over the present method of reorganization of financial embarrassed railroads and should merit serious consideration by Congress.

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS ACT

After four years of bitter criticism from practically all sides, the National Labor Relations Act is on the block for amendment. Hearings are being conducted before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor, on proposed changes to this legislation. Senator Wagner of New York, author of the bill, is vigorously opposing a score of the proposed amendments to the grounds that this bill is a bulwark of democracy and justice. The New York Senator was the first witness to appear before the Committee as hearings were started, and took an hour and twenty minutes to read a long statement into the records. Other witnesses will include members of the Commerce and Agriculture Departments, American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, of business and Railroad Brotherhoods, labor experts and finally Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor. It is very doubtful if any revision to the law will be enacted during this session of Congress, as the scheduled hearings will last at least a month.

INVESTIGATION OF WPA—Criticism of the WPA activities has grown to such an extent that Congress has voted to launch an investigation into this agency. The 12-man subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee will investigate the WPA with the following points in view: Investigation of costs and methods followed in developing WPA construction projects; Inquiry into the writers' and theater projects and other special projects of the WPA; Scrutiny of the budgetary and administrative accounts of WPA; Investigation of the most "glaring examples" of waste and inefficiency. The accounting staff of the General Accounting Office and other Government agencies will probably be called on for assistance.

FREE TRADE AMONG STATES—The fact is being gradually recognized by many that the trade among the 48 States of this country is not as free as it should be. Little attention has been paid to barriers that have arisen against interstate trading, but now such barriers are injuring business and even threatening national unity and so something is to be done about it. The first move was made when the Council of State Governments provided a forum in Chicago recently for discussion of the subject. Unless some way is found to have the States agree on more nearly uniform regulations and tax laws where interstate trading is affected, it is feared that a struggle by States to protect their individual commercial interests will take place.

SUBSIDIES AND MORE SUBSIDIES—Congress has offered one formula for treating the American agricultural troubles—subsidies and more subsidies. A subsidy for 500 million dollars was asked by President Roosevelt in January for soil conservation payments. Now more subsidies are being asked for Congress by different groups representing corn, dairy, wheat and cotton.

$150,000,000 to subsidize exports of cotton, wheat and lard and the distribution of dairy products, fruits and vegetables, is being asked. Another 250 million dollars to subsidize the incomes of individual farmers. These two subsidies combined call for 400 million dollars to be expended beyond the January budget estimates. Yet no plan has been suggested on how to raise the funds.

OUR DEBT—A man was recently heard to say "When a nation's in debt, its powder is wet." I think there was a great deal in what he said. All disease is fought off by a healthy body and a buoyant engaged, wholesome government fights off all temptations to increase indebtedness. Our condition is indeed critical if debt, like illness, fails to make us stop and take warning. There must be an end somewhere to this

WORK NOW STARTED ON FIELD

Plans For Part Of Work Drawn And Submitted

By Miss Emma S. Maclary
Newport, April 19.—Worked was started on Monday on the recreational field at the Krebs School site. Arthur G. Craig, chairman of the recreational field project, announced that the National Youth Administration is furnishing the labor for work at this location. Plans for a portion of the work to be done by W. P. A. have been drawn, and the project has been submitted to Washington for approval. The first step will be the erection of 120 feet of retaining wall where adjoining land is higher than the school property. This will provide protection for the grounds from washing down during storm, and will also provide seats for spectators observing sport events. Stone for the wall has been donated by residents of the community who were raising a building. The committee will require additional stone for the foundation for a building to be erected on the site, and Mr. Craig will appreciate donations of stone from anyone who might have such material available.

Assembly Program
Third grade pupils of the Krebs School, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Lynch, teacher, presented the assembly program at the Krebs School on Friday. The presentation of the program was the culminating activity of their unit of work on Mexico.

Diphtheria immunization treatment was given children of pre-school age at the Krebs School Friday, and some small children were vaccinated against measles.

Mr. Glenn Gildersleeve, director of music in the Delaware schools, was a visitor at the Krebs School this week, and work is being started on the opera to be presented at the closing exercises.

The Krebs School P. T. A. will conduct a "Hobby Night" on Thursday evening in connection with its meeting. A delegation of members from the group attended the state P. T. A. convention held at Delmar, on Saturday.

Auxiliary Sample Party
The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Minnie Fire Company will hold a sample party in the fire house on Tuesday evening, April 23, for the benefit of the uniform committee, of which Mrs. Blanche Mahan is chairman.

The Newport Girl Scout Troop realized the sum of $22.00 from the sale of cookies recently. Norma Jean Hastings was invested by the troop this week, and three new members will be received in the near future.

The Woman's Club of Newport observed a reciprocity program on Tuesday afternoon with the Marshall Civic Club, the feature of which was a luncheon at noon. In the afternoon, Mrs. George R. Gottschall, chairman of conservation, was in charge of the program, and had as the speaker, Miss Violet Findlay, supervisor of nature studies in the Wilmington schools.

Approximately 125 guests were present at the official welcome of the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. McCoy, who are returning to the Newport M. E. Church for the sixth year. The affair was held in the assembly room of the church on Wednesday evening.

Pastor Welcomed
Mr. George F. Jones, representing the board of stewards, welcomed the pastor and his family, and the Rev. Mr. McCoy responded to the greeting. Mrs. McCoy also responded, commenting that they had spent five happy years at Newport and were looking forward to another year here.

A pantry shower had been arranged by the congregation and a very generous supply of provisions was received by the pastor and his family. Organizations of the church extending welcomes were the Newport M. E. Sunday school, Arthur G. Craig, superintendent; Junior League, Miss Gertrude Hamill; Ladies' Aid Society and Women's Bible Class. Mrs. Florence Roberts, Men's Bible Class. Mr. David Stevenson, president. Gifts of flowers, table linen, etc., were presented to Mrs. McCoy.

Fourth Annual Home And Garden Tour To Be Held
Thirty interesting and lovely old homes, gardens and public buildings on the historic Eastern Shore of Virginia will be open to the public during the fourth annual home and garden tour, sponsored by the Bi-County Auxiliary to the Northampton-Accomac Memorial Hospital at Nassawadox, Va., on April 28 and 29.

Also featured will be exhibits of antique jewelry, china, glass, and silver, in both counties. These two Virginia counties are rich in historic interest and unique in that most of their colonial homes are occupied by descendants of the original owners.

Without spending that is bringing us closer to bankruptcy every day, and we seem to be no nearer to the end today than we were seven years ago. Although there is much talk of economy, there is more talk of bigger and better subsidies. Relief costs continue to mount yet the number of employed do not show any encouragement. There is a cure for our ills if we would only stop this spending, and look for it.

Government In Need Of Card-Punch Operator

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for the position of alphabetic card-punch operator, with a salary of $1,260 a year. Applications will be accepted not later than May 15.

Applicants must have had at least two months of full-time paid experience in operating card-punch machines. They must have reached their eighteenth birthday, but must not have passed their 33rd birthday.

Full information may be obtained from C. S. Crompton, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the Newark postoffice, or from the secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners at any first or second-class post-office.

Two Colonels To Inspect R. O. T. C. Unit Here

Earlier orders detailing Major Edwin A. Hens, field artillery, to be one of the regular army officers to inspect R. O. T. C. students at the University of Delaware on April 27 have been changed to designate in his place Colonel John P. Bubb, infantry, regularly on duty at Newark, N. J.

According to an announcement from Governors Island, N. Y., headquarters of Maj.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the Second Corps Area, two officers will make the annual administrative and unit training inspection.

Colonel Bubb will be accompanied by Colonel Albert Gilmer, coast artillery, New York. They will be at the university here after they have inspected the R. O. T. C. students at Christian Brothers' Academy, on April 25.

General Assembly

only during the next two years.

Announcement of the plan brought an immediate protest especially from the legislators from Kent and Sussex Counties. It was stressed that the Kent County increase of 34.7 cents per $100 would be a crushing burden which that county could not withstand especially since it is already taxed to the legal limit of 40 cents per $100. Sussex County members also voiced their opposition to adding 19.1 cents to their tax burdens, especially because this would bring the levy in excess of the 50 cents which is the limit set by law. It was asserted such a bill could not be passed by this Legislature.

Action May Be Held Up
While the bill will be introduced it is likely it will be allowed to lie dormant for a while to determine sentiment of the residents of the three counties regarding it. The Legislature will not adjourn sine die even after concluding its business. The session is to be kept alive by long recesses or adjournments and it is likely the tax bill will be taken up at some future meeting.

Active Secretary
It is of interest to record of Charles Thomson that, being the only

Washington's diary entries from February 3 to September 30, 1789 have unfortunately been lost, but evidently they were extant when Jared Sparks published the "Writings of Washington" in 1836. For Sparks quotes the following entry: "April 16—About ten o'clock I bade adieu to Mount Vernon, to private life, and to domestic felicity, and with a mind oppressed with more anxious and painful sensations than I have words to express, set out for New York in company with Mr. Thompson and Colo. Humphreys, with the best disposition to render service to my country in obedience to its calls, but with less hope of answering its expectations."

The little party left Baltimore early in the morning of April 19, and reached Wilmington in the evening of the same day.

governor, of Wilmington; E. Paul Burkholder, past district governor, of Dover; and Arthur Chenoweth, superintendent of Atlantic City schools and chairman of the District Conference which will be held at the resort on May 7, 8, and 9.

Rev. Thomas Wingate, governor of the 184th district, a former student at the University of Delaware, commended Captain Cook for his efforts in organizing the local chapter, and presented the charter to Dr. Thomas F. Manns, head of the Newark club, who in turn, presented it to the members.

A gift was presented to Captain Cook on behalf of the Newark organization, while Newman, on behalf of the Middletown club, offered the local group a gong and gavel which was accepted by William S. Hamilton, secretary.

Other officers of the Newark club are: F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., secretary; S. E. Dameron, treasurer, and R. W. Barrow, sergeant-at-arms.

A fine illustration of the scene of notification, painted by the late Howard Pyle, of Wilmington, is to be found in "Woodrow Wilson's 'Life of George Washington'."

Washington's diary entries from February 3 to September 30, 1789 have unfortunately been lost, but evidently they were extant when Jared Sparks published the "Writings of Washington" in 1836. For Sparks quotes the following entry: "April 16—About ten o'clock I bade adieu to Mount Vernon, to private life, and to domestic felicity, and with a mind oppressed with more anxious and painful sensations than I have words to express, set out for New York in company with Mr. Thompson and Colo. Humphreys, with the best disposition to render service to my country in obedience to its calls, but with less hope of answering its expectations."

The little party left Baltimore early in the morning of April 19, and reached Wilmington in the evening of the same day.
