NEW SPAN MAY BE COMPLETED BY JANUARY 1

Bridge Over P. R. R. Is Now 99 Per Cent Finished, Says Joseph Bader

BAD HAZARD REMOVED

Scene of Many Accidents Is Gone; Now Putting Finishing Touches to Erection

According to statements made yesterday by Joseph F. Bader, construction engineer on the over-head bridge project spanning the Pennsylvania Railroad on South College Avenue, the job is now ninety-nine per cent completed and, if weather conditions permit, should be ready for use on or about January 1.

All that remains to be finished now is the building of stairs to the center of the bridge for pedestrians and finishing painting touches on some of the supports.

Erected on Schedule

Work on the span, which has been erected to eliminate one of the most dangerous grade crossings in the state, was started about the first of July and has moved right on schedule up to this point.

An average of fifty men have been working for the past six months on the construction which is 1500 feet long, including the approaches, and twenty-seven feet wide. A five foot sidewalk runs along the east side of the bridge.

Nine thousand tons of concrete were poured into this $100,000 job and 400 tons of steel used in its construction. The steel span over the railroad is being girded with a protection coat of sand and cement.

Protests Failed

Following the announcement that the bridge was to be constructed and after preliminary excavating had been made, a storm of protests poured forth from many of the residents and property owners of the south side properties whose homes were moved back because of the path of the span. Although the matter was taken to the Town Council, no action was taken.

The construction is a decided asset to the community for it has eliminated one of Newark's foremost danger points.

Future Farmers Of America Entertain At Annual Banquet

More than 100 persons attended the fourth annual father and son banquet held Tuesday night at the Newark School cafeteria. The affair was sponsored by the Future Farmers of America with E. Gallaher, president of the Newark Board of Education, gave the address of welcome. Raymond E. Worrlow, county agent; Edward McCauley, 4-H Club agent-at-large; State Game Warden Clarence Foster, members of the Newark Board of Education, members of the school faculty and the Rev. H. E. NEWARK HISTORY TOLD BY WRITER

New Book By Francis A. Cooch Released; Banker's First Effort as Author

Appropriately titled, "Little Known History of Newark, Delaware and Its Environs," an interesting book by Francis A. Cooch, 212 W. Main Street, was placed on the market yesterday.

Consisting of a series of historical anecdotes concerning well known people and places in this vicinity, Mr. Cooch has presented an intimate study of a subject that has been long neglected.

The banker-writer, who is a scion of one of Delaware's oldest and most outstanding families, started working on the book, his first, in September, 1932.

Gathered Material

Spending the greater portion of three years in gathering material and data, during which time many of the stories were published in this paper, Mr. Cooch finally settled down to the business of writing the book in the fall of 1935.

Thirty-three chapters, a lengthy appendix and an index of all names and places are included in the 297 pages. Printing was done by The Press of Kells.

Twenty-five illustrations, picturing many people still living and numerous historical buildings still in use, are included in the works.

Started as Hobby

Using Mr. Cooch's own words contained in the preface of the book, "In the beginning I had no intention of writing a book. I just wanted to know how 'Corner Ketch' got its name. Then our good friends, the Derickson sisters, told us the story of 'When the Hessians Came to Mill Creek Hundred'."

Mr. Cooch found the stories "too good to keep" and they were sent to this paper, "which printed them with flattering display," he adds.

Credit is given to many sources such as genealogies, historians, laws of Delaware, records of the offices of New Castle County, Harrington's Reports, contemporary newspapers and to Mr. Cooch's own scrapbooks that have been kept for nearly forty years.

Introduction by Ryden

The introduction to the book was written by Dr. George H. Ryden, head of the history department at the University of Delaware, who classifies Mr. Cooch's sketches as having "an authentic ring," and "Carry conviction to the reader."

Dedication of the book has been made "To my wife, Mary, 'Mother of Men,' who accompanied me on my visits, listened patiently to my oft repeated stories, corrected my spelling, assisted in proofreading, and often kept me from telling what should be left untold," to use the author's own words.

Student Pays Fine

Walter T. Holland, Salisbury, Md., a student at a Wilmington business school, was fined $10 and costs for exceeding the speed limit this week. Arrested by Officer LeRoy Hill shortly before midnight Sunday, the youth was given a hearing before Magistrate Daniel Thompson.

SCHUSTER IS PROMOTED TO HIGHER RANK

Board of Trustees At Local College Name Agronomy Head Asst. Dean

OHIO STATE GRADUATE

G. L. Schuster, professor of agronomy at the University of Delaware, was promoted this week to assistant dean of agriculture at the university, effective January 1, by action of the board of trustees.

Schuster, who has been connected with the University of Delaware since April, 1920, was graduated from the Anderson High School, Anderson, Indiana, in 1912. From there he went to Ohio State University where, in 1916, he was graduated with the degree, bachelor of science in agriculture, and where, in 1918, he received the degree master of science.

Studied at Ohio State

During his graduate study at Ohio State University, Schuster was assistant in the department of farm crops. In 1919, he went to West Virginia University as assistant research agronomist and instructor in agronomy, where he remained until April, 1920, when he received his appointment as head of the agronomy department at the University of Delaware.

In 1927-28, Schuster attended Cornell University where he had been awarded a graduate fellowship. He traveled abroad in the summer of 1929 studying European agricultural conditions and experiment station methods with a group of American agronomists and agricultural experiment station directors.

Is Well Fitted

His promotion will put him in charge of resident teaching, a position for which he is well fitted. He acted as chairman of a committee which recently studied and revised the curriculum of the college of agriculture and has been active in agricultural affairs in Delaware.

He has been secretary of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association since 1925; was elected a member of the Delaware chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, honor society, in 1924; was elected Fellow, American Society for the Advancement of Science, 1925; is an active member of the American Society of Agronomy, and, in 1935, was president of the Delaware College College Faculty Club.

Appreciative of the fact that the Flower Hospital is rendering a very useful service to the town of Newark, much of which is done without pay, therefore, authorized by a resolution of the Council, I am making this appeal to the generous citizens of Newark and community for contributions which will be used to carry on and extend this service.

Mrs. George Danby has been appointed by me to organize a group of canvassers to solicit funds, and I am asking our citizens to make their contributions just as generous as their means will permit.

Donation Day has been set for Monday, December 21, and canvassers will call on that date.

Mr. Cooch's reply to the many speeches in his honor was brief. He emphasized that in this capacity as a state official he intended to represent the people of the state, giving a square deal to all. He was presented a past sashem's jewel by Past Great Sachem William Ferguson.

Great Senior Sagamore John Geary, of Wilmington, gave the address of welcome. Herbert Stetser, the national chief of records of the Great Council of the U. S., was the first speaker and urged that full cooperation be extended to Mr. Cooch in his official duties.

Started Last Year

The movement was started last year by a group of local women and Mayor Collins, in a proclamation issued this week, announced Monday as the day for the combined support of all organizations in the town.

Mrs. George Danby, chairman of the drive, announced last night that most of the fraternal organizations had been contacted and expressed a desire for the support of every household in the community.

Donations will be taken at the Town Council office or will be called for by town employees when they are notified. Contributions may be also left at the Flower Hospital.

O'Connell Rushes Home Tuesday As Sister Dies

Ralph (Irish) O'Connell, athletic coach and teacher at Newark High School, departed Tuesday for an early but sad Christmas vacation when word was received that his sister had met sudden death.

In leaving for his Turtle Creek, Pa., home, O'Connell stated that while details were not available, it was likely that his twenty-year-old sister, Dorothy, who had always enjoyed excellent health, was an accident victim. She was preparing to enter college in February.

At the height of the football campaign, O'Connell was called home due to the grave illness of his mother.

AETNA GROUP TO CONTINUE AID MEASURE

Firemen Vote to Accept Two Ambulance Proposals By Council-Committee

FUND STILL MOUNTING

Total Contributions Little Under $3,200, Report at Noon Indicates

Accepting the joint proposal made by the Council of Newark and the Newark Community Ambulance Committee, the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company will house and operate the new vehicle which will soon replace the outmoded contraption now in use.

At a business meeting preceding the annual Christmas party last Friday night, the firemen voted to accept the proposition which has been hanging fire since announcement was made in September that the old ambulance be scrapped on December 1.

While not acting previously on anything relating to the new ambulance, the idea for which was introduced by the Newark Business and Professional Women's Club late in October, the Aetna organization has been cooperative in continuing the operation of the present machine until the entire matter could be settled.

Committee Heard Plans

The firemen's committee of Chief Elmer Ellison, First Assistant Chief Charles Tasker and Second Assistant Chief Edwin Shakespeare reported both propositions made by the Town Council and the ambulance committee last week before action was taken by Aetna members.

Following the purchase of the new machine, the ambulance committee will cease to exist. The vehicle will be turned over to the firemen who will operate and house it.

Maintenance and operating expenses will be met by the Town Council. The entire responsibility of operating, maintenance and housing the old vehicle was borne by the firemen for more than ten years.

In addition they paid a note of $1,300 which was taken over with the ambulance when the Chamber of (Continued on Page 6)

New Soil-Saving Plans Presented To Farm Leaders

Meeting yesterday in the offices of County Agriculture Agent George M. Worrlow, leader of the New Castle County Soil Conservation Committee were told of changes in the plan for 1937.

Dean C. A. McCue, director of the agriculture extension department of the University of Delaware, who recently returned from a meeting of land grant college representatives at Dallas, Texas, led the discussion.

Program More Favorable

The new program, stated Dean McCue, will be more favorable than it was this year due to increased allowances for soil-building practices. He also stated that beginning in January 1938 the program will likely be turned over to individual states for administration.

In Delaware this will require special legislation which will necessitate action by the State Senate and House of Representatives next month, it was pointed out.

Mr. Worrlow, who is secretary of the county committee, reported that $44,059.25 had been received by local farmers for compliance with the program to date.

Fourteen Present

In addition to the speakers, those attending the meeting were: A. D. Cobb, assistant director of extension work at Delaware; R. O. Stelzer, a member of Dean McCue's staff; E. H. Shallcross, Middletown, president of the county group; J. Leslie Ford, Cooch's Bridge; Senator-elect Frank Moody, Welsh Tract; Joseph C. Hutchinson, Townsend; George K. Ball, Marshallton; R. T. Cann, Kirkwood; B. Irvin Armstrong, Middletown; W. P. Naudain, Newark; Paul W. Mitchell, Hockessin; G. Arthur Ginn, Taylor's Bridge; and H. B. McDowell, Jr., Middletown.

Lesson for December 20

THE SUPREME GIFT OF LOVE Christmas Lesson

LESSON TEXT—1 John 4:7-19.
GOLDEN TEXT—Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men. Luke 2:14.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Christmas Comes.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Immanuel—God With Us.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Jesus Came to Earth.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Greatest Gift of All.

"I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old familiar carols play
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good will to men."

Thus sang America's well-beloved Longfellow. But at once his honest heart began to question—"Is there peace on earth? Are not men and nations striving against each other in hatred and violence?" Were he alive today he might ask his questions with even greater fear and sadness.

How blessed then that as followers of the Christ we are again permitted to stand at the lowly manger in Bethlehem town and rejoice anew that "the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth" (John 1:14). Let us all who bear his precious name covenant together to "keep Christ in Christmas," and in the giving of gifts remember God's great gift. Let no home fail to have read on Christmas day the Bible story of the Incarnation (Luke 2:1-20).

The lesson for this Christmas Sunday has been well chosen from the First Epistle of John. The "Apostle of Love" is our teacher as we consider God's supreme gift of love. We note first of all

I. Its Origin (1 John 4:7, 8).
"God is love." In other words, love is not merely one of his characteristics, but of the very essence of his being. He not only loves, but he is love. Therefore only those who know him can truly love, and those who have not love do not know him.

II. Its Manifestation (vv. 9, 10).
"We may give without loving, but we cannot love without giving." God's love "sent his only begotten Son into the world that we might live through him." Let us be sure to emphasize that Christmas celebrates the coming of the Saviour into the world.

III. Its Results (vv. 11-19).
1. Love between men (v. 11).
This verse presents an absolutely irrefutable argument. If God could love us, surely we should love one another.

2. Fellowship with God (vv. 12-16).
No man has ever seen God, but God is manifested in the lives of men who, because they have taken his Son as their Saviour (v. 14), and have confessed him as such before the world (v. 15), have come into perfect fellowship with God. Only through such lives will the world know God's love.

3. Boldness in the Lord (vv. 17, 18).
It is tragically true that even on Christmas day when we speak of peace and good will, it is a fact that men and women outside of Christ are his enemies and must look in fear toward a day of judgment. But how different for those who know Christ as Saviour. Perfect love, God's love, has cast out all fear and they may face with boldness even the day of judgment.

If any reader of these lines lacks this holy boldness, why not make this Christmas season a time of spiritual "nativity"—take the Christ of Bethlehem and Calvary as your Saviour just now!

4. Appreciation of his love (v. 19).
Love begets love. God's love for us moves us deeply and we love him. He loved us "while we were yet sinners" (Rom. 5:8). Much more then, being saved, we should love him, and love the brethren. (See 1 John 4:20, 21.)

So "let us keep the feast, not with . . . the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (1 Cor. 5:8). Then we may indeed wish one another

A Joyous Christmas!

Real Poverty
Poverty is, except where there is an actual want of food and raiment, a thing much more imaginary than real. The shame of poverty—the shame of being thought poor—it is a great and fatal weakness, though arising in this country from the fashions of the times themselves.

Faith in Our Fellow Man
It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust.—Johnson.

A Happy Man
Happy is that man whose calling is great and spirit humble.—Demosthenes.

An Object in Life
No man was ever so much deceived by another, as by himself.—Greville.

FAST AND LOOSE

An old dorky approached the minister cautiously and very lightly tapped his shoulder.

"Parson, suh," he said, "Ah wants you all to pray for me. Ah's in a bad way, suh."

"Well, Rastus, what's wrong with you?"

"Suh, Ah's got a floating kidney, Ah has, suh."

"But Rastus," replied the minister, "I can't pray for physical things like that; I only pray for spiritual things."

"You all can't pray for a floating kidney? Then how come you all prayed last Sunday for the loose liver?"

FORD

advances into 1937 with the LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines. 85 horsepower for maximum performance, 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success. Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase — to the same advanced design — with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes—but only one car and one purpose—to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

Frank Nardo, one of the members of the Nardo Trio, a musical unit from this town, was the winner of the Grand Prize, $25, offered by the State Theatre last Thursday evening. The number drawn was 13,575. The winners of the $1 prizes were: Patricia Wilson, Oliva MacClary, Dora Lindell, Helen Smith, all of Newark, and Mrs. Elm of New York City.

State Theatre House Notes

Friday and Saturday

The biggest circus would blush for shame, and the biggest zoo envy the huge collection of animals used to add thrills in "Tarzan Escapes," M-G-M's thrilling jungle adventure romance with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in the leading roles. From the roaring lions to the "blood-sweating behemoth of Holy Writ," as the circus posters describe the hippopotamus, every animal ever seen as an actor is in the new picture, and many more. Hollywood animal raisers, zoos and circuses were called upon and in addition many animals, such as the Malayan sun-bear, were especially imported for the production. Herds of elephants, zebras and giraffes work in the man-made jungles for the new adventure of the great Edgar Rice Burroughs character.

Monday and Tuesday

King Football invades the motion picture realm with RKO Radio's "The Big Game" with a fine cast of players and a line-up of nationally-known pigskin stars. Co-featuring Philip Huston, June Travis, James Gleason, Bruce Cabot and Andy Devine. Some of the famous football heroes appearing in the Pandro S. Berman production are Bobby Wilson, William Shakespeare, Jay Berwanger, Gomer Jones, "King Kong" Klein, "Chuck" Bennis, Monk Moscrip, "Bones" Hamilton and Frank Alustiza.

Wednesday and Thursday

"Kelly the Second," a rollicking comedy, starring four of the screen's comic stars, Patsy Kelly, Charlie Chase, Guinn Williams and Peter Kelton. The story in short is of fighting proclivities of a truck driver that keep him in constant trouble until a girl turns him from a liability into an asset by making him a pugilist and saving her romance. No comic possibility has been overlooked in this film of a well chosen comedy cast.

Special Show Arranged

For Wednesday at State

A special Christmas matinee has been arranged for the State Theatre on Wednesday, December 23, starting at 2 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. A. D. Cobb, chairman of the Newark Welfare Committee.

The program will be presented exclusively for children and admission to the extent of a new toy will be charged. No cash admission will be collected by the management.

Featuring Patsy Kelly and Charlie Chase in "Kelly the Second," the program will include a color cartoon, "Toyland Broadcast," and other short reels.

Toys collected will be turned over to the Boy Scouts for distribution to needy children in Newark and vicinity.

Commerce, introducers of the idea, found it impossible to carry the load.

Fund Still Grows

According to J. Q. Smith, chairman of the recent drive for funds, the total continues to mount. At noon today, cash contributions amounted to $2,645.51 with the grand total, including pledges, boosting the sum to $3,197.01.

A meeting of the general ambulance committee, headed by Dr. J. R. Downes will be held late this afternoon in the offices of the Council of Newark when the question of purchasing the new machine will be discussed and may possibly be settled.

There is a movement afoot to delay action until after the holidays in order to permit all local dealers to submit sealed bids.

Local Leaders Elected To Posts By Beekeepers

Elwood Nuckols, Cheswold, was elected the first president of the Delaware State Beekeepers' Association last week at a meeting of apiarists held at Camden-Wyoming, when the organization was formed.

Other officers of the new association are: Vice-president for Sussex County, Asa Reynolds, Georgetown; vice-president for Kent County, Charles A. Peet, Frederica; vice-president for New Castle County, John L. Phillips, Newark; and secretary-treasurer, Paul L. Rice, extension entomologist of the University of Delaware.

According to unabridged dictionaries, one meaning of "starve" is to die of cold.

Local Woman Aids In Joint Legion Installation

Following the installation of the newly-elected officers of the Diamond State Post No. 11, American Legion, at Lewes, on Friday, Mrs. John R. Fader, department president, installed the officers of Auxiliary Unit No. 11.

Two officers of the Auxiliary staff and one of the state chairmen accompanied Mrs. Fader to Lewes.

Mr. Conant, vice commander for the state, installed the legion members in the absence of George D. Hill, state commander, who was unable to be present because of illness.

Time and Tide

Unless somebody soon grabs the reins laid down by Charlie Cole at the end of the 1935-36 basketball season, Newark isn't likely to be represented on independent courts this year except by the limited organization known as the High School Faculty, which holds a berth in the New Castle County loop.

Midway in the 1934-35 campaign this town boasted of unlimited basketball talent and three floors. The independent passers, however, weren't allowed to stick their noses into the holy halls of Newark High, University of Delaware or the State Army for the purpose of playing basketball.

So, in desperation, Charlie Cole, then at the helm, led his charges to Elkton where they were granted a berth in the Cecil County League. Despite a Maryland law that permits only residents of that state free use of army property, Captain Russell M. George, commanding Company E at Elkton, welcomed the Newark lads after hearing their tale.

R-W-R

In Reverse

After winning the Cecil County League crown in both '35 and '36, the Newarkers find themselves dropped in Elkton. Reorganization of the Maryland circuit limits membership to six teams—all of which hail from the home county.

That's not only right and as it should be, but it also is in obedience to Maryland regulations. After opening the gates to Newark two years ago, Captain George and people in the county were almost run out of their own army by an influx of teams from Middletown and Delaware City, in addition to the Jackets from this state, and Edgewood Arsenal—a soldier team from Harford County.

All of which reverts to the status of basketball here two years ago—only it's worse, now that Cole has thrown up the sponge.

R-W-R

Two Teams Possible

While no little criticism is being aimed at Bill Gillespie, principal of the local high school and leader of the New Castle County League entry, for failing to include ALL independent basketball players here in his plans, it's pretty much his business what he does.

While several teams in the local circuit consist in part of high school faculty members, the practice isn't being followed in Newport and New Castle, nor is it possible with the Worth Steel quintet.

Newark, too, could have a representative town team that would be on or near the top of the heap at the end of the season. Gillespie sees the thing in another light, however, and that's his business.

There is still sufficient material for another team in Newark, but a successor to Charlie Cole is needed to lead the procession. Now that a precedent has been set at the high school, where an "outside" team in Gillespie's combine has been granted playing privileges, a similar courtesy might be expected for another quintet—especially one consisting entirely of

CLARK'S QUINTET IN FINAL
TILT BEFORE HOLIDAY RECESS

Shooting For Third Win of Season With Chances of Copping Good; Little Change In Lineup Expected; Visitors Boast of Fast Club; Three Over Six Feet

By Bill Fletcher

Coach Lyl Clark's cagers will meet Haverford College here Friday night to wind up the athletic program for 1936. The Blue Hens will be seeking their third victory of the season when they tangle with the Pennsylvanians and a conquest will place the Chickens on the right side of the ledger for the five pre-Christmas games scheduled.

Little change will be made in the line-up that opposed Hampden-Sydney on Tuesday which included Earl Sheats at the pivot post, Lew Carey and Jack Daly at forwards and Captain Teedie Wilson and Lou Hayman at guards. Bruce Lindsay, in view of his fine showing, is slated to see action.

6 ft. 3 in. Center

Haverford is led by Captain Sturge Poorman who reaches into the ozone to a mere height of 6 ft. 3 in. Captain Poorman has been a regular starter at the pivot post for three years and plays a reputedly fine defensive game.

At the forward posts will be Joe Carson and Bruce French, both possessing an uncanny ability to drop in the field shots. Carson is a holdover from last year's varsity squad and will be starting his first game at the post. French, also a substitute last year, is a rangy six footer and can move around the court in no slow fashion.

Guards Fast

Slated for the guard positions are Ted Wingard and Bob Jackson. Wingard, who also measures six feet played brilliantly on last year's varsity. A rugged build enables him to take shots off the back board and a far-ranged optic results in frequent tallying of long shots.

Jackson, a new man in the line-up, is rugged and fast and has shown up well in pre-season practice.

Roy Randall, in his fourth year as coach of the Haverford aggregation, is a former All-American football player and performed on Brown's "Iron Man" team of 1926.

When the Hens return from the Christmas holidays, they will be faced with a none too easy array of tilts with P.M.C. furnishing the opposition on January 9, University of Baltimore on January 13 and Washington College on January 16.

A Great Record

His collegiate career ended, Vic Willis, Jr., is home for the Christmas holidays. Following the recent Maryland-Western Maryland tussle at Baltimore, "Junior" hung his football uniform on the hook after one of the finest records ever registered by a College Park athlete.

Willis will graduate in February and between now and then he is keeping his athletic talents whetted by playing professional basketball in Washington. In ending his college sports days, Vic was again named to an end post on the mythical All-Maryland team last week by the estimable BALTIMORE SUN. It was the third successive year that honor was bestowed upon the towering Newarker.

Handling the Ball

Watch the defensive team. They tell you, on the floor or on the sidelines, what type of pass the offense ought to use. A player has to know that, and a fun has a lot more fun if he does too.

Most of the time the ball is snapped across the court by the two-hand chest pass. The fingers are on the side of the ball and the palms behind it. The throw is made by shoving the arms forward with a snap of the wrist. This is the common technique in a short, fast passing game.

In close quarters, however, the under hand flip proves its value. The one-hand overhead pass, thrown like a baseball, is good for a long, fast, accurate placement. When a zone defense has been allowed to get set and is closing in on the attackers, bounce and hook passes may meet the emergency. In the bounce pass, the ball should strike the floor about a yard from the receiver. As soon as the defense crouches to stop the bounce pass, switch to the hook.

Relax When Receiving

The essential point in catching the ball is to be relaxed, not to tighten up as many players do just before the ball reaches them—a fumble almost invariably follows. Tip: On high passes the receiver's fingers should be pointed over the head, with the thumbs and palms behind the ball. On passes between the chest and waist the fingers are pointed straight ahead with the palms facing each other, thumbs again behind the ball. On low passes, the fingers point downward, palms in back of the ball. Whatever the position, let the hands and arms move toward the body just as the ball touches the fingers. That slows down the ball's speed and at the same time brings it into position for the return.

Take it easy as the game opens, and warm the whole team up to its customary speedy passing by actual handling of the ball. Cut the spin, watch your technique, and relax. Those first few minutes count, and that's when those bad passes and fumbles often come.

Next week—Dribbling.

25 Yellow Jackets
Report For Basket
Ball Drills Tuesday

By LeRoy Carlyle Hill, Jr.

(High School Correspondent)
Twenty-five candidates reported for basketball practice Tuesday and Coach W. K. Gillespie found himself faced with the difficult task of rebuilding a new team. Only two lettermen, Bob Egnor and Bob Ewing, answered the call.

Preliminary scrimmages have seen Butts, Ewing, Douglass, Egnor and Skillman performing on the first team with Aiken, Hill, Doordan, Morrison and Cole making up the second string.

The Yellow Jackets will go into action against Wilmington High School on January 8.

Junior High Deadlocked

Intra-mural basketball became deadlocked in the Junior High School when a hard fighting seventh grade team trounced a highly touted freshman aggregation to the tune of 18-9. The eighth grade, in turn, stopped the seventh grade, thereby giving each team one win and a loss. Playoffs will be played with the winner meeting the seniors for the school title and the champions will have the honor of engaging in a tussle with the faculty.

Blue Hen Basketeers In
Rout Before Rutgers "5"

Making their second appearance on a foreign floor this year, the University of Delaware basketball passers suffered a 76-38 reverse Wednesday night at New Brunswick, N. J., when Rutgers' collection of towering tusslers romped to their third easy triumph.

Made to look foolish from the outset, the Hens never were close to the scarlet-shirted dribblers. Wilson with 11 points and Lew Carey with 10 markers paced Delaware's scoring.

CUNNINGHAM DEFEATED

New Date Sought for George
Kelly's Postponed Show;
Xmas Recess

By "Cue Keeley"

Grey-thatched Jimmy Martin, Newark's number one artiste of the cue stick, took undisputed command of the lead in the new Tri-State Pocket Billiards League this week with a pair of important victories.

Hanging the crepe on Rising Sun last Thursday night, Sir James throttled Carl (Tip) Hanna, new entrant in the loop and co-representative of that sector with Tommy Riale, by the margin of 125-82. In stopping Hanna, Martin had a high run of 38 balls, the best mark of the young season.

Sinks Cunningham

Martin appeared on his favorite table at the State Parlor last night to win a nip-and-tuck engagement from 17-year-old Donald Cunningham, 125-110, for his third victory of the campaign against no defeats.

The protege of Fred Brown, champion last year of the defunct Tri-County loop, Cunningham showed improved form against Martin over that displayed last week against Jack Fossett in a match at the State.

While neither contestant could muster anything like a surprising string, both being limited to runs of 15 balls, the game was a thriller from the outset. First Cunningham would run a frame and then Martin would duplicate the procedure.

Fossett Lends Support

Jock Fossett, Newark's second starter in the Tri-State wheel, aided his fellow townsman Monday night by handing Horace (Tubby) Ringler of Oxford his initial setback of the race, 125-86. The match was also played at the State.

Fresh from a triumph over Riale last week, Ringler was in a two-way deadlock for first place with Martin when Fossett made a comeback following his defeat by Cunningham to win from the visiting Pennsylvanian going away.

Defeated by Martin in his first appearance of the season, Brown took the wind out of Huss's sails last Friday night at Oxford. Huss had previously stopped Hanna.

Seeks New Date

While the Better Billiards Program, which is bringing a string of nationally known stars to Newark in a series of appearances, has been recessed over the Christmas holidays, Martin is seeking a new date for George Kelly's appearance here.

The Philadelphia Irishman, ranked as one of the greatest showmen in the business, was carded here on Friday.

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

THE BLUE HEN CAGE team scored a rather impressive 32-21 victory over the boys from Hampden-Sydney Tuesday night.

Although the gentlemen from the South sported an unquestionable height advantage, Earl Sheats, freshman pivot man for the Hens, played a remarkably fine game underneath the opponents basket. True enough, the Middletown turnout missed plenty of those shots under the basket but everything came out O. K. in the wash—so wash?

He displayed an aggressiveness in this tilt that stamps him as a decided defensive asset and along with that, amassed a total of eight points to trail Jack Daly for the Delaware scoring honors.

No less aggressive in his tactics was Daly, who even went out of his way to do a little elbow edging. JACK'S BRIGHTEST SPOT came midway in the second canto when he dropped in three field tosses within the same number of minutes to put the tilt on safe ice for the Hens.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the game was the foul shooting of Clark's henchmen. Fourteen foul tosses were converted by the Hens with only six failing to register on the tally sheet. Five out of seven were hung up in the first half and nine of thirteen in the second chunk.

On the other hand, the southern lads could counter only five of their sixteen charity tosses.

With the Hens sporting only a one goal advantage from the field (9-8), the free tosses proved a major factor in the Chickens' victory.

DELAWARE GALLERIES, at times, display actions somewhat akin to barbarism and many of the spectators' performances are relative to the Cave Age as was noted at the game Tuesday night.

This business of hooting and booing the visiting players while they are foul shooting and noisily criticizing (Continued on Page 9)

Midnight Fire Bell

The fire bell alarmed the citizens

early Sunday morning when the barn of W. E. Renshaw, the property of A. C. Heiser, was discovered in flames.

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company responded to the call and rendered their customary good work, saving the property from being completely destroyed, and safeguarding the surrounding buildings. The loss was partly covered by insurance. All of the contents with the exception of a little harness, were saved.

The annual election of the Aetna officers will be held at the regular January meeting on the first Friday of the month. Nominations were closed.

Child Injured

Little Miss Harriet Ferguson, 15 years of age, was seriously injured when she fell from her tricycle while trying to race a horse and buggy Saturday morning. Harriet, or "Tom Boy" as she is affectionately called by her playmates, fell on her head. She is recovering very slowly.

Horse With Us Still

The noise of the gasoline engine has the effect of making the horse seem rare these days, and yet the following clipping proves to us that the idea is an erroneous one.

"Ten years ago horses constituted but 29.2 per cent of all live stock; now 42.4 per cent. Mules scored an increase of 166.2 per cent in the last decade. If you try to buy a good horse either for driving or draft work, you will find them high enough.

"It is too early, then, to count out the noblest of animals. He isn't in the buffalo class yet. And those who raise good horses are going to make good money for many, many years to come."

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

Newark, Delaware
December 7, 1936

Dear Santa:

I would like for you to bring me a cow-boy suit, a train, some small trucks and cars and picture books. I am not a very good boy, but will try to be good until after Christmas anyway.

Thanking you,
I am,
Jimmie Seydell.

December 1, 1936

Dear Santa Clause,

I want a Electric train, a big wagon, a pop-pie station, a little house with a lamp in it and a rifle. Hoping you will bring me all these toys as I have been a very good boy. Please bring Mother, Dad, Billy, Beckly and Dorothy something too.

Yours truly,
Walton Barrow

The scene is in a Kentucky courtroom. A judge upon the bench has, unfortunately, crossed-eyes. Three defendants are lined up before him. "Guilty or not guilty?" he asked the first.

"Not guilty," answered the second. "Who's talking to you?" said the judge.

"I didn't say a word," answered the third.

Using the same old makeup scheme from day to day and from year to year makes a newspaper dull and unattractive. A few boxed heads and stories, some italic heads, varied sizes of illustrations will all help in relieving the monotonous appearance of a newspaper.—Oklahoma Publisher.

She had just received a beautiful skunk coat from her husband.

"I can't see how such wonderful furs come from such a low, foul-smelling beast."

"I don't ask for thanks, dear," said her husband, "but I really must insist on respect."
