RECOMMENDATIONS MADE TO COUNCIL

Board of Health Active in Enforcing Rulings for Town Betterment

Activity is the rule of the hour in Newark Board of Health circles. The members individually and in mass recognizing the need for more active activity in the battle against disease. Although one new case of typhoid was reported during last week the members feel gratified at the record of the last eighteen days—two new cases which is lower than they had dared hope for, considering the conditions that prevailed six weeks ago. According to opinion expressed Tuesday Newark is off the black list, and residents stand in no greater risk of infection here than in other towns of Delaware.

On the contrary the strenuous campaign being waged promises to place the town first on the list in sanitary rating, among towns of the Peninsula. At a recent meeting of the Board a motion was adopted requesting Council to make some arrangement for the collection and disposal of garbage of the town on and after January first, 1917. A letter was also addressed to Council, to be read at the next meeting, expressing the opinion of the Board of Health that the allowance of water granted each residence, at the regular rate, be increased from 2500 to 3,500 gallons, before there shall be any excess charge. At the same meeting the resignation of Mr. Louis Curtis, as secretary of the Board was accepted and Dr. H. J. Watson appointed in his place.

Notice for the removal of manure was sent to one resident. The health situation was carefully reviewed and it was considered safe to permit the opening of the schools and colleges on Monday, September 18th. Following the development of the cases of infantile paralysis near Kemblesville, reported in another column, a special meeting was called to consider the school situation. It was decided to exclude all children from the infected district, until further notified. Dr. Watson met with Mr. Friedel on Tuesday to consider special cases.

Officer Apsley has been given notification slips to be issued to all dealers in fruit, candies, meats etc., to keep their stock covered until the flies have abated. The officer has been instructed to enforce the new ruling vigorously.

The town has been divided into sections, attention being centered upon each in turn, relative to sewer connection. Notices have been issued to all property owners on Main street east of the Newark Center to make connections, and following the next Council meeting like notices will be sent to owners on South Chapel street, and those above the B. and O. on New London avenue to Cleveland avenue, and on Cleveland avenue from New London to North College avenue.

Three hundred pounds of chlorate of lime has been ordered to be used in the general clean-up.

Van Overen and Mrs. Irvin Dayett, fancy tables; Mrs. Wilkinson, E. Cranston, and Mrs. A. M. Webber, cakes; Mrs. Harry H. Hance, ice cream tickets; Frank Moody, ice cream; Charles Appleby, oysters. PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

Over Five Hundred Pupils Enrolled—Music a Part of the Daily Curriculum

Newark Public Schools opened on Monday of this week with a total enrollment of five hundred and three, divided as follows: senior class including six commercial students, completing the work begun last year, 27; second year, four year course, 29; first year, four year course, 42, or a total in the high school of 98. In the grammar school the records show an enrollment of 242, and in the primary, 163. For the last two years there has been a noticeable falling off in the number of pupils from outside the district, a fact which is accounted for by the ruling of the State Board of Education, making it necessary for all pupils so entering to pass an examination, in order to standardize throughout the state the work of the various grades. Of the thirty-two who presented themselves for this examination a very small proportion received the desired certificate.

The teaching staff at the school, in greater part, remains the same as last year. A complete list follows: First grade, Miss Katherine Heiser; Second, Miss Rose Pepper; Third, Miss Elsie Davis; Fourth, Miss Emily Pennington, Fifth, Miss Agnes Medill; Sixth, Miss Elsie Cloud; Seventh, Miss Frances Medill; Fourth and Fifth Overflow, Miss Mary Hoffecker; Sixth and Seventh Overflow, Miss McKee; Eighth, Miss Lillian West. In the High School, Principal R. F. Friedel, Miss Mabelle Pennock, Miss Minnie Armstrong, and Miss Katharine Baird, and teacher of music, Miss Ruth Shepherdson.

Perhaps the most noticeable change in the schedule from that of last year is in the time set aside for music, a feature which is certain to meet the approval of the townspeople. The director of this work, Miss Ruth Shepherdson, is a graduate of the conservatory of Cranes' Normal Institute of Potsdam, N. Y., who has an unbounded enthusiasm for her work, which leads one to predict for her a great success in the undertaking. Miss Shepherdson will teach rather than supervise, in daily periods in all the primary and grammar grades. In the high school the time will be given principally to chorus work.

Owing to the changes on the list of text books, authorized by the State Board of Education, as recently issued, a great many changes have been made in the books throughout the grades. All of these were ordered weeks ago, and were on hand Monday, ready for the use of the children. Classes according to the permanent schedule will begin tomorrow. School opens at 9 o'clock, dismissing in the primary grades at 11:30, in the high school at 11:45. In the afternoon the sessions convene at 1:15, and close in the primary building at 3:15, in the high school at 3:30, and in the grammar grades at 3:45.

S. S. RESUMES SESSIONS

Novel Contest Introduced Among Members

As the ban placed by the State Board of Health, in view of the danger of infantile paralysis, was removed last Monday, the Newark Presbyterian Sunday School will be opened next Sunday, September 24th, to all scholars. The officers of the school have arranged for a contest between two divisions of the school, the contest to be of the nature of a trip to Jerusalem. Each member of the school will be furnished with a ticket, and the start will be made by boat from New York. The object of the plan is to add to the membership of the school.

Appointed Deputy Federal Reserve Agent

Henry B. Thompson, president of the Board of Trustees of Delaware College, has been elected, it was announced last Friday, as Class C director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. Mr. Thompson has been designated as Deputy Federal Reserve Agent.

Lady Eglantine Victorious

The Federalsburg, Md., Courier says: Unlike mortals who die and are returned to the earth from whence they came, Lady Eglantine, world-famous hen whose recent demise set all chickenkind agog, will not return to the—egg, not earth—from whence she came. She is stuffed, not buried. Calmly and with unruffled (the taxidermist did a good job) mien she gazes out upon the world where once she held undisputed sway, and her home in the library of her owner, A. A. Christian, of this city, is fully as luxurious as she ever graced.

Bathers' Peril At Bethany Beach

Former State Senator Louis M. Drexler and his two sons last Monday with life buoys managed to rescue a party of young people who ventured out on the first bar at Bethany Beach to play ball. A heavy wave rolled in and swept the party into deep water. All were brought ashore but Miss Virginia Netherland, of Washington, D. C., gave little sign of life. While an automobile was speeding for a doctor life guards went to work and succeeded in reviving the young woman.

Educational Meet- ings Postponed

At a conference of the County Superintendents and the Commissioner of Education at Dover, it was decided to postpone the series of general public meetings which had been planned for the week of Sept. 25-30, because of additional cases of infantile paralysis that caused further delay in opening the schools in some parts of the county; large general gatherings of the public seemed inadvisable and in violation of the spirit of the quarantine.

New Typhoid Case

Mrs. William Moore, wife of the well-known brakeman on the Newark and Pomeroy railroad, was taken to a Wilmington hospital on Monday. The patient is suffering with typhoid fever.

Infantile Paralysis Near Newark

Two cases of infantile paralysis developed on Sunday in the country about five miles above Newark, near Kemblesville, Pa. One is the young daughter of William S. Kennedy, a farmer and alumnus of Delaware College, class 1903, and the second, the child of a colored servant employed by the family.

The Pennsylvania health authorities have placed a strict quarantine on the premises.

First Meeting Next Thursday

The first fall meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be held in the Newark Grammar School next Thursday, September 28, at 3:30. A large attendance is urged at this the beginning of the school year. Everyone interested in school work is invited to attend the meeting.

Barn Near Elkton Burned

Fire of unknown origin on Friday morning destroyed the large barn and shedding on the Tucker farm, formerly known as the Rudolph place, on the Glasgow road, near Elkton, 1570 bushels of wheat, 60 tons of hay, a lot of straw, implements and machinery, were consumed with the building. Two calves perished in the flames. The loss falls heavily on the tenant, Walter Laws, a brother of Joseph Laws, tenant on the Cann farm near Glasgow, the barn on which was burned by lightning on the previous Friday. The loss is put at from $8,000 to $10,000 with some insurance on the buildings and part of their contents.

COLLEGE YEAR BEGINS

Faculty and Students Ready for Work

Examinations have been held at the dual colleges of Delaware, every day this week. Since early Monday morning the hacks and express vans have been loaded to their capacity, bringing students and faculty to the old college town in readiness for the opening of the institutions tomorrow, when regular classes begin at 8:15 a. m.

The first faculty meeting was held last Monday, with forty in attendance. The daily classes, during the year, it was announced at this meeting, will convene at 8:15, giving thirty extra minutes as a greater convenience to the faculty members teaching in the two colleges. "The prospect for students is excellent," President Mitchell declared this morning, "although it is too early to make a definite statement as to the enrollment of the college."

The returning students find many changes to greet them after a summer's absence. In the pile of brick and debris on the campus, skirted by workmen's shacks, there is little to suggest the old dormitory. All the laboratories have been moved to the old Jones and Elliott properties, the book store to the Donnell property, the library to the former Post building. From an open stretch along Main street, between the old Jones and the Maxwell properties, one catches a glimpse of the rising walls of Wolf Hall, and the wide sweep of the Boulevard. Boarding houses, with the disappearance of the old landmarks, are temporarily scarce, the group having scattered farther east along Main street. Delaware materially, is in transition. A spirit of progress, which it is good to feel, pervades everywhere.

In the classrooms, the students will find a number of new instructors, most of whom fill positions newly created this college year. The new faculty members are:

Professor George S. Counts, from the University of Chicago, professor psychology and education. Professor Counts conducted the survey for the government recently at the Gary, Ind., schools.

Professor Allan R. Cullimore, from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, dean of engineering. Professor Paul W. Boutwell, University of Wisconsin, instructor in chemistry.

L. A. Belding, Stevens Institute of Technology, assistant professor mechanical engineering.

C. H. Rawlins, Jr., Johns Hopkins University, instructor in mathematics.

It was learned that the prevailing price of milk today was 3 1-2 to 4 1-2 cents, f. o. b. Wilmington. This milk, under Milk Inspector ruling must test 3 1-2 per cent fat and 12 per cent solid. These prices are such that can be made by the individual (continued on page 8)

WINTER EGGS IN DELAWARE

A. M. Pollard gives the second of a series of practical articles on Eggs and How to get them on the ordinary farm under ordinary conditions. This article tells of the importance of strong Healthy Fowls, and urges careful Selection. Eggs and more eggs is the theme of these articles rather than Scientific Poultry Husbandry.

The writer's absolute allegiance to the gospel of hen health and egg-production marks the path that spells greater improvement in egg production, year by year. This condition, we hope to see on every farm in Delaware where poultry is kept. There are a great many factors as regards the problem of successful poultry management. I know of no industry in the world that is so exacting in its demands as the poultry industry. To get the maximum results from poultry, everything must be just right. You know how easy it is for the cook to spoil the soup by forgetting to add the salt. Well, when you neglect to do some little thing for your poultry, that comes up in the every day routine, it means a smaller number of eggs the next day, and still fewer the next. Now I believe that perfect health, stamina, and vigor of the fowls themselves, goes a long way toward making a real foundation of success. Proper feeding, the best of housing, the best of management, cannot fully overcome the effects of sickness or general debility in the flock. The vigorous hen will make more eggs than her weaker sister. The husky exhibition bird will show to much better advantage than one which is in poor physical condition. So every farmer will do well to take the necessary steps to put his birds in prime condition and keep them so. Poultry health is never given the attention it deserves. You see comparatively little regarding it in print, and it is seldom debated among poultrymen or farmers. The popular topics are feeding, housing, and management. But housing and feeding alone do not determine results.

A healthy hen will, other conditions being equal, lay a goodly supply of winter eggs. A bird may be entirely free from such diseases as roup or chicken-pox, and still be in poor health. Lack of constitutional vigor, the inability of some organ to properly perform its work, are all good and sufficient reason for discarding the birds so affected, or at least adopting such action as will overcome the trouble. Remember that in breeding poultry, we must not forget the remarkable influence of heredity, and by breeding together birds that are just boiling over with health and vigor, we can be fairly sure of securing healthy young stock. Of course, it is too late in the season to change our matings, but we can begin a rigid culling of the young stock. The time to select your layers should begin the day on which the chicks are hatched. Weaknesses and disability make their presence known early in life. Given a flock of layers in which good health prevails, the next thing to do is to keep them in this condition. A selected bird in good health, just can't help but lay. After putting your selected pullets into their winter quarters, and there comes a change in the weather, look out for trouble. Take a lantern and go through your houses, listen, and if you hear any sneezing among the birds, just start then and there on a campaign of disease prevention. Stop these colds before they get started. I know of no better treatment than the following: Close your house tight, doors and windows. Then place in a bucket any good coal tar disinfectant, then light the lamp under the tank and allow to burn all night. Usually, by giving this treatment, two successive nights will rid your house of colds. Cultivate and lime the runs and change the litter often. Remember that grain thrown in filthy litter may be the medium of distributing germs throughout the flock. Musty feed is dangerous. It invites ptomaine poison. Now, many farmers neglect to provide the materials the hen needs in the production of eggs, allowing the fowls to exhaust their energies and weaken their bodily powers in an effort to gather what their appetites call for, or draw from the stored-up energy of the body, in an effort to lay eggs. Egg production is a reproductive process. The strength and power to do nature's work must come from the food supply. Hens will lay no more eggs than they can obtain the material to produce. If the carbonate of lime is limited, so will the number of eggs be limited because of the lack of shell material. Every one knows that phosphorus is essential to all the vital processes of nature, yet how many farmers furnish bone or other phosphorus carrying materials to the hens? Much of the diseases among fowls can be traced to the weakened condition of the fowl's body, due to improper or incorrect and insufficient food. So from the foregoing, you will see that it is absolutely necessary to have healthy chickens to get winter eggs.

Farm Credit Law And What It Means To The Farmers

The new system of farm credits provided by the law recently signed by the President, promises to mark a new era for the farmer throughout the country. The agricultural development of the United States can be greatly enlarged through the long time credits at low rates of interest which are made possible by the new law. Certainly there is no inducement to greater farm development unless it can be made profitable. To make farming profitable there necessarily must be the required capital open to farmers on reasonable terms.

A review of the farming industry for years discloses that in times of financial stringency they have been the chief sufferers as a result of the scarcity of funds, and hence improvements along agricultural lines have too often been impeded. They have been the victims of extortionate rates of interest. Many of them have been constantly in the shadow of mortgage foreclosures, because of the high interest charges.

The advocates of the law very properly have claimed that the farm loan banks will serve the function of emancipating the farmer from the disadvantages he has so long had to contend with. Officials now say that the farmers of the country will be provided with an abundance of credits, available at all times, upon long term mortgages at low rates of interest, with a provision for repayment of the principal on easy installments. The farmer under the new system should be able to pay the interest on his mortgage and the principal of his debt through annual installments which will be less than the straight interest charges, paid on the old mortgage under the former system.

More profitable farming, with more comfort and prosperity for the man who tills the soil, and with the future prospect of a life of security and independence, is assured under the new order of things. It is the confident prediction of many students of affairs that the new law, through its many advantages, will attract to the soil large numbers of persons who have heretofore found it impossible to engage in agriculture because it has been difficult to secure money on farm obligations.

S. A. Brown, a life long resident of Seaford, where he long conducted marble works, died at his home there last Tuesday aged 85 years, from the effects of a fall at noon. He was riding home in a resident's wagon after a walk about town and in alighting became dizzy and fell against a block of marble. He received prompt treatment but died in a few hours after the accident. He was a staunch Republican and formerly was active in politics. His wife, a sister, Mrs. Eli Sharpe, of Lewes, and two brothers, Henry of Federalsburg, Md., and Hugh C., of Seaford, survive him.

Terra Cotta Works Burned

Wilmington and West Chester firemen were called to Kennet Square on Saturday to fight a blaze which started shortly after noon in the elevator shaft of the J. C. Cassel terra cotta works, but on their arrival found the building practically destroyed. A lumber yard near the scene of the fire was in danger for a time but it was saved. The loss is put at $25,000. The B. F. Slater warehouse at West Grove was fired by lightning and destroyed with its saw mill machinery.

Escapes Death In Vat

Thomas Brennan, aged 60 years, long employed at the Radnor Pulley Mill, Elkton, on Friday night stumbled and fell into a vat in which the chipped wood is cooked till converted into pulp. Luckily the vat was but partially filled, otherwise he would have been scalded to death. As it was, he was badly burned on an arm and leg and is recovering at Union Hospital.

Well-Known Lawyer Injured

Former City Court Judge J. Frank Ball, a well-known attorney of Wilmington, while on the Tenth and Market streets crossing on Saturday morning, was knocked down by an automobile driven by C. Canby Hopkins, clerk of the Levy Court. His right shoulder was injured and he was bruised about the legs and body. Mr. Hopkins conveyed him to his home, 1019 Park Place, where Dr. Delacour attended him.

Met Death In Auto Wreck

Isaac Darlington, second assistant chief of the Wilmington Fire Department last Tuesday, proposed to give Fireman Joseph H. Smith of the Friendship Company, who was 70 years old that day, a ride in the city automobile used by the former. It was suggested that William Heal, the oldest member of the company and also the oldest retired city policeman be taken along. They found him at his home, 225 Poular street, and the party started for New Castle but turned about before reaching that city, and while their car, Smith says, was trying to pass another it ran upon a pile of small stones along the roadside. One of the wheels collapsed and the car turned over twice. The three men who were on the same seat with Heal in the middle. They were all thrown out. Mr. Heal struck on his head and Dr. R. R. Roth of New Castle found him dead when he arrived on the scene. Darlington and Smith were stunned but soon revived. Darlington's left arm was dislocated and bruised and Smith was cut about the face. Mr. Heal was 84 years old. He was retired from the police force last year after serving twenty-five years, and had been a member of the Friendship Fire Company for 56 years. He was a veteran of the Civil war and of remarkable vitality. He was widely known and popular and leaves a large family.

Twelve Acres Brings $40,000

The Rosengarten property of 12 acres at Marcus Hook was sold on Friday for $40,000 to Stedman W. Bent, former manager of the big steel plant at Sparrows Point, Md. Charles M. Schwab is said to be interested in the purchase. The old Marcus Hook foundry is located on the tract and was put in operation a short while ago under the management of James F. Powers, long president of the Powers Foundry Company of Elkton. He has many orders for grey iron castings booked ahead. The tract is on the Delaware River front, but what use will be made of it has not yet been learned.

The Havre de Grace—Perryville Bridge Company is seeking to have the order of the Maryland Utilities Commission reducing its tolls on and after October 1, set aside, and the matter is likely to bring on a legal battle in the Courts before it is finally settled.

BACK FROM SKY AND SEA

Vacation is over. Numberless seashore and mountain resorts have surrendered their summer populations; camps and country houses have given the city back its own. Routine is to begin again. And now, after our rest, we take up our work like children at play. If we have been in quiet contact with natural things and natural people, if we have made new and better friends, if we have realized in nature new beauties of harmony, if we have felt the thrill at sea and mountain and star, then we are coming back to the shop with a new hold on living. The sea, perhaps, has called us outward. The sky has called us upward. Wordsworth, Beethoven, Millet—these star-treading souls felt the same zest of spirit at times and caught visions of new beauties, and through them insight into new truths. The magic of word and tone and color swept in unembodied beauty through them and was crystallized into lasting symbols. Their souls were washed clean with God and they let them flow, purified, into the Eternal images of art. The qualities that we love in the Tintern Abbey poem, with its quiet, sublime wonder, in the Pastoral Symphony, with its fluting nightingales and dancing peasants and booming storms and star-still serenities, in the fresh, rustic studies of the clear-eyed Jean Francois—these qualities must have been the results of vacations. And so we come back to the desk, to the shop, to the work of head and spirit and hand, to breathe our rehabilitated spirits into the flagging common life of every day, thrilling with knowledge that even a prosaic job may be a splendid art. We hope anew. We shall strive to achieve on a loftier scale. We have come back from the sweep of the sea and the sky believing that even ordinary things are worth while, remembering that the first attribute which God Himself displayed was a capacity to work.

THE PRIMARIES

County Primaries Saturday, September 23rd. Republicans will name candidates for local and county offices. While the county offices have but little to do with party politics, the candidates chosen may materially aid or assist the party in State and National issues. It therefore behooves every voter to use his best judgment in the selection of these men. Choose those whose records for business sense and integrity will best appeal to the intelligence of the voter at the polls. The conduct of public officials strengthens or weakens the party, not so much by their political beliefs as by their administration of the everyday affairs of the public business. As usual, there are hosts of candidates. As usual some of the perennials are back clamoring for support.

Let every man go to the polls, use his business judgment and select those men for public affairs that he would choose to conduct his own. Such selection will do credit to the party and strength to the ticket and render the best service. Personalities, political preferences and party differences are not the issue of the Primaries. The issues are to choose those men that will best serve their constituents. Without fear or the reward for party service, without the penalty of party differences the choice is for men. Let our county and local tickets be in keeping with the State ticket, and the result can be easily reckoned. The party can then present a list of names to the voters in November that will guarantee the results desired—party victory and public service.

ASSOCIATION TO STUDY FRUIT PROBLEM

Permanent Officers Elected. The meeting of the recently organized Fruit Growers' Association of Delaware, held at Dover on Wednesday of last week was attended by about twenty of the leading fruit growers of the state, all of whom were enthusiastic over the work the organization seeks to accomplish, which is to better advertise and standardize the fruit grown in Delaware. Hereafter the organization will be known as the Delaware Apple Growers' Association," as the constitution adopted at the meeting on Wednesday specifies that name.

Permanent officers of the association were elected as follows: president, W. M. Dixon, Woodside; vice-presidents, W. P. Peach, New Castle county; Frank C. Bancroft, Kent county; Alvan Bacon, Sussex county; secretary, Frank W. Richardson, Dover.

An executive committee was appointed as follows: S. H. Derby, Woodside, for three years; E. H. Shallcross, McDonough, two years, and Thomas S. Smith, Bridgeville, one year. A committee on marketing and transportation, consisting of members from all three counties, was also appointed. The appointment of a committee on legislation was deferred until a later date.

The constitution adopted at the meeting specifies the object of the Delaware Apple Growers' Association as follows: "The object of this association shall be to promote better methods of growing, marketing, advertising and standardizing the pack of Delaware apples; to secure legislation favorable to the apple industry of Delaware; to secure just an equitable transportation and storage facilities and rates for Delaware grown apples; to promote and support any lawful object that will insure just and lawful financial returns to the apple growers of Delaware; to establish and protect a trade mark for Delaware grown apples, and to further the dissemination of all knowledge or research that will benefit the apple industry of Delaware."

The constitution further provides that the annual meetings of the association shall be held upon the first Wednesday in December of each year, at such place as shall be designated by the executive committee. The annual dues will be $2 a year. It is believed that this association will accomplish more beneficial results for Delaware apple growers than any other movement that has ever been launched in this state, and which should serve to greatly increase the profits of our apple industry.

A CELEBRITY UNSPOILED BY FAME

To Be Shown At The Opera House

Mr. Bushman's newest picture, "Million a Minute," to be shown at the Newark Opera House on Wednesday, September 27th, gives this crowned king of the screen an exceptional opportunity for the display of his splendid talents. Mr. Bushman gained his place at the top of motion pictures because of the sincerity of his work and the legitimate use of his wonderful abilities. He never has appeared in anything save clean, wholesome pictures, and his success has been built on a firm foundation. It is a great pleasure for those working with Mr. Bushman to bear testimony to his admirable qualities in private life. His uniform courtesy, his frankness and his abundant good nature have combined to make him a great favorite in the studios. We felt that our readers might be interested to know just how we feel about a celebrity unspoiled by fame.

To the Republican Voters of White Clay Hundred

This is to announce that, at the request of friends, I am a candidate for the nomination for Representative to the General Assembly from White Clay Creek Hundred.

It is unnecessary, in a district the size of ours for me to state any qualifications, I may have for the office. My residence of 20 years during which time I have been associated with the citizens in a public way, makes any word of mine futile. My qualifications are known, personally or by reputation to probably every voter in the district.

To that end, I respectfully present my name for the judgment and consideration of the voters, assuring them of my appreciation of their support. At the same time I pledge my best service, if elected, to the needs of the hundred and community.

No Resignations In Militia

The rumor current last week at some of the regimental officers connected with the State militia had resigned, was denied on Monday by Adjutant-General L. W. Wickersham. The rumor is no doubt due to the fact that the officers are not on duty now, and the militia, in the eyes of the government is not a complete unit. Their equipment has been turned in merely as a routine matter, in order that it may be turned over to the government or stored as required.

NO LET-UP IN WAR AGAINST FLIES

Now Is The Time To Prevent Swarms In Spring

The war on the house fly must not stop. The recent ruling by the Board of Health requiring the covering of food products within the town of Newark is a matter of precaution taken to prevent the few isolated cases of fever that might occur from that source of infection.

The killing of flies during the late summer and fall will prevent the immense swarms found in the early summer following. The flies that exist from Sept. 1 to Nov. 15, are the ones that lay the eggs which produce millions of flies six months later.

Swatting the fly now will assist the Board of Health next summer in its campaign against the world's most unscrupulous germ carrier. The work of the Board this summer in removing all manure every ten days has been very successful and with the exception of three or four prosecutions had the hearty co-operation of the citizens having stables. Let our efforts toward exterminating this pesky nuisance continue throughout the winter, and with some garbage removal regulations passed in the near future we shall be proud to speak of Newark as a flyless and mosquitoless town.

Dr. H. J. Watson, Secy. Newark Board of Health

PLAN FOR COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

To Be Held At Townsend In October

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New Castle County Sunday School Association held recently at the home of E. Ross Farra, its secretary, plans were laid for the county convention to be held at Townsend M. E. Church, October 26. The following committee was appointed to take care of the arrangement of a program for that day: William B. Smith, Jr., J. Chandler Pyle, E. Ross Farra, Miss Grace Baird, and Miss Ethelwyn Maloney.

Comprehensive plans were also made for the third annual older boys' conference and for the first annual older girls conference which will probably be held November 24, 25, 26. Older boys and girls from all Sunday Schools of Delaware will attend, although the conference will be held under the auspices of the New Castle County Association.

The secretary was instructed to prepare a leaflet showing the name of each Sunday School in New Castle county, enrollment and average attendance during the year, and also showing money contributed to organize Sunday School work in the county and state.

Mrs. Frances McCoy was appointed assistant to the corresponding secretary. Those present at the meeting were: William B. Smith, Jr., Miss Grace Baird, Mrs. Frances McCoy, Miss Edna C. Barker, Henry C. Downward, E. Ross Farra, and Chandler C. Pyle.

The first meeting of the committee in charge of the older boys and girls conference will meet at the Y. M. C. A. next Friday night at 7.45.

Wilson, That's All

"He Kept Us Out Of War"

Wilson kept us out of war! And he has spent $100,000,000 in doing so in the Villa episode alone. He is now spending $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a week. He has spent on keeping us out of war with Mexico altogether to date at least $250,000,000. It is estimated that he will spend at least $100,000,000 more.

Besides the lives: Vera Cruz, Columbus, Carrizal, not to speak of Santa Ysabel and the thousand minor butcheries which cause the total bloodshed of peace with Mexico to exceed the total casualties of the Spanish war of 1898. And then the outraged women, the ruined men, the plundered property, the insults, the sufferings of disowned Americans. And the disgrace and discredit of it all in the eyes of the world.

What a price to pay in treasure, blood and honor! But he kept us out of war!

—New York Evening Sun.

Who Said Sectionalism?

"Of the 100,000 National Guardsmen at the border on July 31 the southern states sent 2,000 men from Virginia, 500 from Louisiana, and 3,000 from Texas. The rest of the southern states had not a single man at the border, while Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, and Pennsylvania had 42,000 men, 42 per cent of all the troops then present."

Remember the "Come Catch Villa" Posters?

By the way, what has happened to Villa? Has he been captured yet? It is some time since the President started out to accomplish this by sending American soldiers into Mexico.

Has It Been Done?

In his speech of acceptance, delivered at Sea Girt, New Jersey, August 7, 1912, President Wilson set forth the reduction of the high cost of living as the characteristic task of the Democratic party. "It is not as easy for us to live as it used to be. Our money will not buy as much. High wages, even when we get them, yield us no great comfort. We used to be better off with much less, because a dollar could buy so much more. The majority of us have been disturbed to find ourselves growing poorer, even though our earnings were slowly increasing.  The high cost of living is arranged by private understanding.  Men of the same interest have drawn together, have united their enterprises and have formed trusts; and trusts control prices.  Laws must be devised to prevent this."

We have had prosperity—of a kind. What about the cost of living?

Ask the Bridgeport machinist what rent he pays. Ask any of us where paying the butcher and baker leaves our monthly income.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Useless Opposition To
The Tide Of Progress

There are some people who are still wondering whether Woman Suffrage will ruin home life and cause general disaster in spite of the fact that women now vote in 12 states, in none of which have these disasters occurred. Which recalls a story of pioneer days.

Settler in Missouri presented his wife with a cookstove, the first ever seen in that part of the country. The nearest neighbor, a man living ten miles away, came to see how it would work. He watched the dinner cook, ate it with the utmost relish and then remarked with a shake of the head, "Well, Sarah, it works all right, and the victuals taste first-rate, but I don't believe it'll ever be a success."

"Poor doubting Thomas!" The women in Wyoming have been voting since 1869 and the stoves have worked all right and the victuals taste first-rate and it is a success.

Doubtless many of my readers remember the story of the ancient king who had his throne carried to the seashore. There he sat and commanded the tide not to rise. Surely, a decree to the effect that women shall not vote would be quite as absurd, as well as useless.

Last July, a monster suffrage parade was held in London. A great sign was carried by the women, bearing these words, "They also serve who stay at home." Not one person in the whole of England or any place else, for that matter, could possibly dispute this fact. What would have become of not only "Tommy Atkins," but of all the English "Tommys," French "Jeans," Russian "Alexanders," and German "Carls," if the women had not served? There seems to be little doubt in English minds, that after the war, suffrage will be granted the women.

Is any American man skeptical as to whether we American women would be just as eager to serve in case of war? Have the women of this country ever held back when their men were behind the guns? Surely, we women of the twentieth century have not so deteriorated.

Are we not just as surely serving in times of peace? Isn't cooking palatable food and bringing up a family in the way it should go, the highest form of service? Isn't a woman who spends the best years of her life, mending stockings, shirts and dresses just as capable of helping to mend the laws? Some of our man-made laws surely need mending. A person addicted to the use of slang, might say that they need darning.

Women help pay Congressmen's campaign expenses. That the campaign is well under way, may be judged by the increased thickness of the "Congressional Record," nowadays, owing to the various political speeches and campaign material which are inserted every day. Members may, with the consent of Congress, circularize their entire constituency with issues of the "Record." These records are sent out from the Government Printing Office at the expense of the Federal Government.

Then, too, the mailing, under the franking privilege, of a variety of public documents, and the cost of materials, are items of great expense to the Federal Government.

Besides this, there is to be calculated the amount of stock and printing involved in personal correspondence, regarded as frankable and treated as such.

As this is a close election year, all members are availing themselves of the franking privileges to the limit, and nothing in the form of a "tickler" which may be sent to their constituents at the expense of the Government is being held back.

It is well to remember that a large share of this expense is borne by the voteless women of the country.

Milford In Trouble Too

The Chronicle, in its issue of Saturday, makes these editorial comments on the conditions in Milford:

"The only effective part of the municipal government that is now alive to the interests of the people, is the Board of Health. It is unfortunate for Milford that it has such a department, or an epidemic of any contagious disease would find a deplorable condition in town administration business. There is no police, other than a night watchman, on the job, and the traffic on Walnut street each day and evening is a menace to the people. There is no control, or any apparent realizing sense of the duties required in this particular direction by the Town Council of Milford. There may be men in the Council who want better conditions, but they evidently are not in the majority. The whole truth is that Town Council has no fixed policy to carry out, and seems to not have any knowledge of what should be done. It is a shame that Milford has slumped into its present condition. It is time that a commission of three freeholders, who are men of ability, shall be created to govern the town of Milford. One man should collect the taxes, supervise the highways and act as the executive officer for Milford. For this he should have a salary of not less than one thousand dollars per year, and give bond for the faithful performance of his duties. These should be elected for three years each. Get the authority from the next Legislature.

"The town of Milford is in a chaotic state at the present time, so far as its municipal government is concerned. The present Town Council or a majority of it was elected upon a false issue which was created by a few persons, who were honestly animated by a desire to carry into effect their individual ideas as to matters of an individual character, but who lost sight of the greater facts, that to conduct a town government of three thousand people and care for more than a million dollars worth of property, is a task of far more importance to all the people than the hitching of teams, or the employment of an individual policeman. The result has shown that the Council selected was indifferent, or not familiar with the duties resting upon them, and that they have taken no real means to ascertain what their duties were. As a result the town has gone back, or at least stood still. No improvements have been made, were put forth.

The storms have damaged the streets and sewers so that it will require thousands of dollars to place them in proper condition. The moral and peace side of the government, as maintained by the police, has been simply nil. There has been a steady deterioration of the police force and there has been no effort made on the part of Town Council to secure an officer as chief who had the ability to organize, or to suggest what policy should be maintained to get better order.

A "do-nothing" policy has been carried out for the year 1916. The streets have been far from clean, the sidewalks are not in order, and the entire business of the town is paralyzed. The ordinances under which Milford is supposed to be governed are obsolete and should be revised by a capable lawyer."

Wesley M. E. Church, Dover, will be re-opened on Sunday after undergoing extensive improvements during the past two months.

Next morning both Battalions broke camp at 6.20 a. m. and started for "home." It was easy hiking for about five miles down hill, until the sun had gotten up. After this it was pretty tough. After about five halts we arrived in Camp Deming at exactly 12.15 p. m.—twenty miles in six hours, counting time for halts. Pretty good we all thought.

All hands got paid at 1 p. m. the next day, Friday. Many soon forgot their sore feet and blisters by confiding in John Barleycorn. They appeared to want to forget their troubles. Some did and some didn't. As a result the guard house has had quite a few visitors since then. In order to get out of camp now we all have to get passes signed by the major. All are divided into three classes according to the previous conduct of the men. Those of the first class get a permanent pass, those of the second, one now and then; and the third, none at all. Most of us in Company E, I am glad to say, are in the first class. They made this ruling so that it would not be necessary to punish all because of the misdoings of some others.

There has been a Base Ball League formed here consisting of Deming, 1st Arkansas, 2nd Arkansas, and 1st Delaware Infantry. We have played two games in the new League, and have won both of them. We beat the 2nd Arkansas yesterday, 10 to 1. There are five Company E men on the team, namely "Biddy" Bounds, "Toady" Ferguson, "Cy" Price, who hails from Oxford, Pa., "Buddy" Brower, and myself. We are leading the league at present. We are scheduled to play the 1st Arkansas next Saturday at Deming.

This concludes the camp happenings to date only that a couple of the sergeants in Company E have invested in some Mexican burros "Mone" Foster got his to wake him up in the morning. Another of our most prominent men got one, we all think for "Cy" Price and "Woody" for this sand is certainly hard on shoe leather. The whole company was treated tonight with cigars sent to us by Dr. George Rhodes. They sure were appreciated.

The "hay" for mine.
 Sincerely yours,
 J. W. O'Daniel,

Maintaining One's Physical Fitness

What profiteth a man that he gain the whole world yet lose his health?

Naturalists say that long ago the prehistoric waters were infested with a species of enormous shark which finally became extinct by reason of the workings of its voracious appetite. Thus Nature eliminates the overfed.

The desire for ease of life and plentiful diet is universal and is the great stimulus of man and animals alike. When man becomes greedy and takes more ease and food and drink than is his share, Nature discards him.

In the race for power and place, for ease of circumstance and relief from the stimulus of hunger, the modern man is apt to forget that unless he is careful of his body he will soon be made to suffer for the infraction of Nature's inexorable physical law. With the loss in body tone comes an equal loss in mental acuity and the brain which for a time was able to operate despite the complaints of an over-fed, under-exercised, self-poisoned body, stops working. Statisticians have discovered that the mortality rate of persons in the United States over 45 years of age is increasing. The strenuous life of today is not alone responsible for this. Lack of health-giving exercise, superfluity of diet, lack of restoring sleep, over-stimulation, the high pressure of the race for power, wealth and position, plus physical neglect,—these bring early decay. The goal is reached,—wealth is amassed,—honor, position, and power are just being grasped when the accomplishment turns to the ashes of dissolution. The brilliant mind becomes clouded, the steady hand is no longer accurate, the eye which once gazed fearlessly on the whole world is dimmed and it is not long before the final break-up occurs. All of this was entirely preventable.

Other things being equal it is the man who leads the well-balanced life who lasts the longest, whose work to the end is uniformly the best, he who neither overworks nor over-plays, neither over-eats, over-drinks, nor over-sleeps, he who maintains a standard of simple healthy diet in moderation, who offsets mental work with physical recreation, who is honest with his own body as he is with his own business. When success comes to such an one his physical and mental condition is such that he can enjoy in peace of mind and contentment of body the fruits of his labors.

The regulations of U. S. Public Health Service state: "It is the duty of officers to maintain their physical as well as their professional fitness. To this end they shall be allowed time for recreation and study whenever their official duties will permit." If the government regards it as essential that its sanitary experts shall be safeguarded in this way, is it not equally important to every citizen that he similarly maintain a high standard of physical integrity?

Telephone Service Tomorrow

N almost prophetic vision, forty years ago, enabled Alexander Graham Bell and his fellow pioneers to conceive that mammoth network of telephonic communication which now binds together the cities of the land, each with every other.

The purpose of the first Bell Company was to provide telephone communication in and between "all the States and foreign countries," and so did these pioneers build, ever with an eye to the future. Invention has piled upon invention, betterment has crowded betterment; the telephone has spanned the continent and the oceans! Such is still the unchanging progress! While only recently Chief Engineer John J. Carty of the Bell System said: "No one can tell how far away are the limits of the telephone art. I firmly believe that some day we will build up a world telephone system, which will join all of the people of the earth into one brotherhood."

There is no such thing as success unless there be a great compelling ideal and purpose towards which to strive! When, as in the Bell System, that striving is realized even in the little things of service, there can be no doubt as to the continued accomplishment of to-morrow.

A TRIP BY "PEDES" TO THE FLORIDA MOUNTAINS

The boys of Company E, encamped at Deming, New Mexico, had some hike the other day. We left on Tuesday, September 5th, for the Florida Mountains, about twenty miles southeast of camp toward Columbus. We made thirteen miles the first day and pitched shelter tents out on the prairie among plenty of sagebrush, cactus, and other prairie plants, also among some animals. We broke camp the next morning and continued our journey.

The First Battalion had left the morning before. They were supposed to be our enemy, encamped at the foot of the Floridas, at a place known as Capitol Park, a pass in the mountains. We were to maneuver up to them and then try to take their position by obtaining an advantageous position. The place where the "enemy" was encamped could easily be seen from our camp. It is about seven miles to Capitol Park. The land appears level, only slightly inclined, but when we had gotten within a mile or so of the place upon looking around we could see all over what looked to me like the "whole world." We could see for miles and miles—nothing but prairie with now and then a mountain looming up along the horizon. We noticed that the vegetation became more luxuriant too. There were flowers of all description in full bloom. The grass, too, was green. This is accounted for by the fact that it rains every day up near the mountains. It certainly was a wonderful sight.

After approaching to within a mile of the "enemy" we took to cover, which was a ravine. We followed this up to a small mountain, where we halted and ate some hardtack and canned beef. By the way, hardtack isn't so bad when you are hungry either. After "lunch" we moved upon the "enemy" concealed by trenches. Company E formed the reserve. The other three companies formed the battle line. They began advancing upon the "enemy" by companies, in lines of skirmishers. We remained in the rear to take up any weak point that might occur. We came upon the "enemy" with a yell. Company H was flanked by Company A of the First Battalion. A platoon from Company E went to their aid in the nick of time, and soon silenced A's rifles. About this time the commandant's whistle sounded, ending the battle. The result was decreed a draw. We were told, though, that neither side had carried out what the should have done, but just the same we learned something new, as one result of the hike.

We all pitched tents between two great mountains which were about three thousand feet high. After supper, about five p. m., a bunch of us decided to walk to the top of the highest mountain. The adventurers were Landon Smart, Stan Loomis, "Toady" Ferguson, Alec Crothers, "Butch" Riley, Cy Price, and myself. It was certainly some climb. Needless to say we never reached the top but we got within two hundred feet of it where we took some pictures. We surely were up in the air. One of the fellows thought he would be getting ahead of the rest by scaling a very high and treacherous rock. He got up one hundred feet and then found he couldn't get down. He discarded shoes and leggins and after a hear-in-the-mouth scare managed to slide down somehow. Upon reaching solid earth he was heard to say, "Never again." He meant it too.

We were so interested we completely forgot the time, and before we knew it we were caught about two thousand feet up among the rocks, without any light and about four miles from camp. It happened that some other "nuts" had been climbing too. They heard us above them, so they set fire to some yucca bush which burns very brightly. Soon the whole mountain side was alight and we had little trouble in climbing down. By the time we reached camp every mountain around us had fires of yucca ablaze on them. The citizens of Deming said they had seen them from the town and had thought the light from our campfires.

We reached camp and immediately turned in for the night. "Top Shelly" and "Mone" Foster went upon a mountain, and from the height, took a picture of our camp. They got them from the photographers today and the pictures are fine.

Some of the boys had luck in killing some rattlesnakes and curing their skins. George Parker got a beautiful diamond-back rattler about five feet long and of a good diameter, containing twelve rattlers. We didn't see any, most of us were glad to say.
