Retail Merchants Plan Annual Sales Carnival In City Of Wilmington

Wilmington merchants are planning, under the sponsorship of the Retail Merchants' Section of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, Inc., the 75th semi-annual Dollar Day on Wednesday, Feb. 9. This sales carnival is expected to attract shoppers, as always, from all sections of the state, nearby Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

"The highest quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices" is the theme of the big sales event, according to S. Ray Phillips, chairman of the cooperative sales committee of the retail merchants' section which has completed plans for the bargain event.

"Those who want bargains or top grade merchandise at prices which will not be possible either before or after Dollar Day, will find them," a committee member said.

The array of bargains will range throughout the entire field of retail merchandising and Mr. Phillips added that "no matter what the need, it will be available at money saving prices."

There will be real values in the latest spring fashions as well as in furniture, rugs, appliances of all sorts, gadgets and any need in the home, garden, shop, garage, office or strictly personal.

Merchant members of the chamber participating in the event may be identified by special window signs and price tickets of a distinctive design and color that have been issued to them by the retail merchants' section. Shoppers are urged by the committee to patronize the stores and thereby be assured of the greatest possible savings with courteous service.

Through the cooperation of Chief of Police Harvey Wideman, police will be assigned in the downtown area, similar to the Christmas season plan, to aid shoppers in their parking and traffic problems.

RUMMAGE SALE

City Council

Police Car Bids

Four bids were opened for the sale of a 1955 2-dr. passenger car to the City of Newark for police work, with the Fader Motor Company submitting the low bid of $1,480. These bids were referred to the police committee for decision and acceptance.

Solicitor Sinclair reported that a review of the deeds for the Phillips Packing Company property, which council agreed to purchase as an additional source of city water at a cost of $40,000, reveals that the tract includes 23 and not 27 acres as originally estimated.

Council considered 23 acres still a bargain at the price, and the solicitor was authorized to proceed with the agreement of sale.

Councilman Frank Scott reported that the electrical committee has scheduled a meeting with local attorney Samuel Handloff and representatives of the Delaware Power and Light Company, for review of the city electric power contract, and Councilman Samuel Diehl stated that Chairman Carl Rankin planned to call a meeting of the bond issue committee some time next week.

Concerning some $700 on a re-billed sewage charge previously questioned by University of Delaware officials, the city secretary was instructed to write the university authorities, requesting payment of such charges.

Drainage

City Engineer J. Francis Neide presented four cost estimates for constructing drainage facilities which will permit road access to the Greater Newark Development Company property.

At Mr. Neide's recommendation, a box culvert with upstream wing walls will be constructed by the city at a cost of $2,515. The measure was passed by a 5-1 vote of council.

Mr. Coverdale dissented, stating that the city had accepted proposed road dedications in the area without obligation, and cited a previous case where a developer was required to install streets at the developer's expense. He also said that long-required drainage rectifications at the University of Delaware, had remained unattended.

Councilman Diehl pointed out that the city had diverted city water drains into the ditch affecting the Greater Newark Development Co. property, that property-owner George Townsend had shared in the cost for diverting this flow, and he stated that he felt it was the city's responsibility to take care of requested construction of the culvert.

Sidewalk Suggestions
Concerning the new sidewalk paving regulations, Mr. Neide suggested that street and building elevations be determined by the city before building permits are issued, and that sidewalks to be provided by property owners at their request, be laid by licensed contractors rather than by individual land-owners.

A request by Ren George, to construct an addition to his laundry building on the south side of North Street, between North College Avenue and Wilbur Street—each side 20 ft. deep—exceeding the 20-ft. curb limit prescribed by city ordinance—will be referred to the planning commission.

Lumbrook Sewer Line
Mr. Neide announced the near completion of the Lumbrook sewer, stating that it will be necessary to divert sewage flow from the Main Street area to the county interceptor system, to avoid overloading the disposal plant.

Such diversion was authorized by council, with plans for entirely eliminating the sewage disposal plant in the near future when all city sewage is discharged into the county line.

The city engineer was authorized to proceed with alterations for engineering department office space.

4-H Crop Judging Contests Planned For Next Thursday

The 1955 4-H Crops Judging Contest will be held at the University of Delaware next Thursday, starting at 10 a.m. The contest, sponsored by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, has become a regular feature of the Delaware Farm and Home Week each year at the university.

In addition to taking part in the judging contest, 4-H members have the opportunity of entering exhibits in the Crop Improvement Show, reminds Sam Gwinn, state 4-H leader. Members may exhibit in any of the classes named in the premium list and are especially urged to exhibit in class D, a special class for club members.

The Delaware Crop Improvement Association will award each county judging winner a full scholarship to the University of Delaware 4-H Short Course or State 4-H Camp. The classes of small grains to be judged will be soybeans, wheat, oats, barley and red clover.

Club members interested in making exhibits or entering the judging contest should contact their local leader or 4-H agent as soon as possible.

On the second floor of the Academy Building, at a cost of $3,300, a request from officials of the Newark Shopping Mart, for installation of lights on Elkton Road, was referred to the light committee, and a request for the provision of gravel walks by the owner was approved, with the city to provide 12-inch drain pipes.

Council approved the annual $100 city contribution to the Newark Visiting Nurses Association; accepted a check for $50 in fines collected by Magistrate Clarence Foster for January; and instructed the City Engineer to provide a cost estimate for finishing work on a drainage ditch behind the American Legion Home in George Road Village.

Minutes of the recent meeting of the planning commission were read and council agreed with the recommendations of the commission to reject requests for rezoning the property at 140 Academy Street, and the Reed-Phillips property on the east side of South College Avenue, from residential to business.

The city solicitor is to prepare ordinances rezoning the entire Lumbrook area from RS to RD, and to rezone the Kuk Corporation property on South College Avenue, from residential to business.

Building Inspector Clarence A. Bader will be requested to attend future meetings of the planning commission.

Fire Alarms
The Christiana Fire Company was the first of several at the scene of a brush fire on the property of the State Highway Department on the Christiana-Bear road on Saturday afternoon. The firemen fought hard to keep the blaze from spreading to dry fields nearby, and it was several hours before the fire was declared finally out. As it was a bitterly cold day the coffee served by members of the Ladies Auxiliary at the scene was doubly appreciated.

The Christiana engines also answered a call to the property of Dr. L. Douglass Giles on the Stanton-Ogletown Road on Friday afternoon. Two buildings were completely destroyed but the quick work of the firemen, directed by Chief Herbert Cleaves, prevented the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

In anticipation of the new $75,000 American-La France fire truck to be delivered to the Christiana Fire Company this week, the oldest engine has been overhauled for sale to the Woodcrest Fire Company.

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three."

You can take it over for only $2,319.⁸⁸

Most people still don't believe it. But it is true. And when you look into the facts, you'll find these two solid truths:

Buick is one of the "Big Three" in sales volume—and hotter this year than ever before. And Buick is one of the "Big Three" when it comes to prices which make such popularity possible. The price we show here proves it.

So why not get what a Buick has to offer, if you are in the market for a new car?

You find that the dollars you pay for Buick buy you a lot more automobile—and the sheer satisfaction that comes with bossing a brawny traveler of this caliber.

You find it in the record-high V8 power that gives life to this spirited performer. You find it in the soft and level and cruiser-steady ride that comes of all-cou springing and torque-rube stability. You find it in the extra roominess, the extra frame strength, the extra tread width, the extra silencing — all part and parcel of every Buick.

We could tell you about the little things, too. Things usually charged for as "extras" in other cars, but yours as standard equipment at no extra cost in every Buick. Things like direction signals, oil-bath air cleaner, full-flow oil filter, automatic lighting in glove and trunk compartments — and so on.

But—you get the idea. This is a buy, this '55 Buick—a great buy—and a thriller from the instant you press its gas pedal. Come in this week and check things for yourself, won't you?

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT WEEK

This is Junior Achievement Week—a period set aside as a reminder of a little known voluntary association of businessmen and youngsters.

Junior Achievement is a kind of apprenticeship system. Groups of a dozen or more students band together to form a company along recognized business lines. Sponsored by sympathetic business firms, these youngsters decide on their project—some product which they, in their naturally limited capacity, decide to manufacture.

The youngsters form a corporation, according to law, and sell stock for working capital. They elect officers and directors, and as their own employees, work at fixed hourly wage rates to market their own products.

Thus, step by step, they learn how to start and run a business. Their product may be simple, but on a miniature scale, they are in business.

And in Newark, the products are not so simple. Two Junior Achievement companies—JAC Enterprises, and Prima Products, sponsored by the businessmen of the Newark Chamber of Commerce—are engaged in the manufacture and sale of wood fiber flowers and costume jewelry. Real, professional products, too.

Congratulations to the student workers of Newark's Junior Achievement companies, and to the men of the Newark Chamber of Commerce who have fostered this plan as a sound training program for the adults of tomorrow.

HISTORICAL REVIEWS OF THE NEWARK AREA

By ETHEL M. HILL

The old school house at Milford Cross Roads built in the 1700's was of stone, the windows high above the floor so that pupils would not be distracted by the passing teams. In the center of the room was a big, fat, pot-bellied stove with a white-washed bowl.

My father and mother both went to this school when they were children.

Just to the north ran the Hominy Ridge Road until Louviers completed their grading when they tore down the house where Alma Johnson had lived, and closed the road.

It was down over the hill on this road where the boys of Milford school used to hurry through their lunch and go down to the place in the gully where they found the most beautiful crystals—six sided, like a lead pencil, and sometimes four to six inches long. These were considered great treasures.

It was a pleasant walk, looking down the valley past the houses of Samuel Jackson and Abe Mote, to White Clay Creek beyond.

Crystal Prospectors
One day George Ferguson, Kinsey Chambers and Joe Jacobs went for crystals. They were very successful that day, in finding crystals, but were a little late getting back and the teacher, Mr. Coates Mote, had rung the bell.

He decided he would teach them to obey the rules. These boys were teenagers and he decided they would be more than a handful to whip, so when four o'clock came, he turned the big brass key in the lock, saying he would see them in the morning.

Consternation overcame these happy, carefree boys. They had to get home and help with the milking. Farmers did not like a lantern in the barn, and they could not get the wood box to fill and kindling to get.

Of course they could climb out a window and a drop of eight feet to the ground did not seem too bad. But they had been watching a big crack in the southeast stone wall. One boy grabbed the local blacksmith-made poker, another the broom handle, and in a matter of minutes they had rolled a big stone out of the corner. A little work on the rough edges left them room to crawl out and hurry home to the milking.

Escape
The next morning when Mr. Mote unlocked the door and saw the hole in the wall, he sent at once for the school commissioners—Mr. Nivin, Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Chambers. They came, viewed the damage done, said they would be back with sand, lime, cement for mortar, then would come back and see how the boys had rebuilt the wall—and that they had better make a good job of it. This they did.

Had the boys walked on down the Hominy Ridge Road which ran parallel with White Clay Creek, they would have come to the ruins of the foundation of the hominy mill. This was on the east bank of White Clay Creek, a little below Tweed's Mill. The log cabin of the miller was there too, and the dam and the remains of the race still show. This river persons the idea that a fortress may have existed here at one time, but the grinding of hominy was the most interesting thing here.

This mill was built before the Rankin Mills, later sold to Tweeds.

The Rankin Family
The Rankin family were of Scotch descent and were born on the banks of the Clyde. Joseph Rankin brought his family to White Clay Creek Hundred long before the Revolutionary War.

Joseph Rankin was a follower of John Knox in Scotland. He helped to organize the Head of Christiana Church and is buried there.

As Emma brought them up I knew exactly on which tree they had grown. They were Rambo's little, red-striped, hard and juicy, but quite good. The Rambo tree grew in the northeast corner of the orchard.

Every farm had a good orchard. They knew they would need apples for cider and for dried apples and for applebutter which was made over a fire of logs in the orchard in a half barrel sized kettle with a wooden stirrer having a handle eight feet long.

The neighbors always came to peel apples and tell the news of the neighborhood. At such apples! Big ripe, juicy Baldwin's, Green Fallwaters and Smokehouse.

Awards were presented to Cub Scouts by the First Presbyterian Church, with the opening ceremony conducted by Den 16. A report from the Den Mothers on attendance for the evening showed Mrs. Carrington Den 5 as winner with 21 present.

Mrs. Joseph Crowe, who conducted the meeting, called attention to the display tables showing some of the projects and accomplishments of the Cubs, and there was a discussion of possible plans for a Pack trip to the New Castle Air Base.

Letters To The Editor

Will the United States pursue a policy to expand world trade? That question is now before Congress. The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, the basic law under which the President is authorized to reduce tariffs in return for tariff concessions from other countries is about to expire. The following letter has been sent in the name of the League of Women Voters of Newark to Rep. Jerome Cooper, Chairman of the House Ways and Means committee holding hearings on proposed extension of Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. It was also sent to Rep. Harris B. McDowell, Delaware's representative in Congress.

Feeling that a more liberal trade policy would help to strengthen international unit among the free nations, the League of Women Voters of Newark, Del., strongly urges the passage of H.R. 1.

If the United States wishes to maintain its economic leadership we must take a long-range point of view. Many countries are working toward political as well as economic freedom and need our support.

While we believe that a modification of the "peril point" and "escape clause" is desirable, it is our conviction that:

1. The United States is dependent on the rest of the world for many of her raw materials and markets for her products. Other countries must have dollars from selling their exports in order to keep buying our exports.

2. Although we could be self-sufficient in some items, we must continue to import these items in order to deter Communism in the more vulnerable areas of the world.

3. Where certain of our industries would suffer from competition with imports made more cheaply in other countries, we should remember that competition is at the basis of our system, and allow the rest of the world to practice it.

4. The eventual results of a liberalized trade program would result in a proportionate rise in domestic purchasing power in the countries affected which would make them less dependent on their exports to us.

The League would like to urge EVERY CITIZEN to write his Congressman expressing his views on trade. Our trade policy is at stake—support H.R. 1.

Brookside Group Names Assistant Preschool Teacher

Preschool Association Selects Mrs. Jamison Assistant Instructor

Mrs. James Jamison of 123 Madison Drive, College Park, has been appointed assistant teacher of the Brookside Preschool Association. The school started its second semester on Monday.

There are 34 youngsters enrolled for the new semester. With a capacity of 40, there are five vacancies in the kindergarten and one in the nursery.

Mrs. Belle Goldyn is the teacher, and classes are held in the Brookside community building.

Mrs. Jamison attended West Chester State Teachers College and has been a nursery teacher at Perry Point Nursery School, Perryville, Md. She has also taught Sunday School for a number of years, was Christian education director of Coatesville, Pa. Presbyterian Church and director of fellowship of Nottingham, Md., Presbyterian Church.

The pre-school association is taking a door-to-door survey of Brookside to determine the future needs for its services. Mrs. D. H. Smith, membership chairman, is in charge and 10 women are serving as sub-committees.

Each family is being asked the birth dates of its pre-school children and whether they expect to enroll the child in the Brookside or any other kindergarten.

If we are but fixed and resolute—bent on high and holy ends, we shall find means to them on every side and at every moment.

Automatic Safety Devices Provided At Grade Crossing

City Obtains Protection From PRR At South Chapel Street Railroad Crossing

The grade crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line at South Chapel Street is finally protected by automatic gates and flashing lights. The equipment went in operation last Thursday.

The crossing, a bone of contention between the railroad company and the Newark city council for some 15 months, had previously been guarded by watchmen. About a month ago the guard was put on a 24-hour basis at the city's insistence after years of 16-hours-a-day service.

The watchmen's shack has now been razed.

Besides the usual pair of flashing lights on a standard, the system has three more blinking red lights on each gate.

South Chapel Street was unopened south of the railroad until a year and a half ago when it suddenly became the main entrance to Newark for the hundreds of families who moved into Brookside in 1953 and 1954.

The Westminster Fellowship Sunday evening meetings at the Pencader Presbyterian Church will be discontinued until after Easter, due to widespread illness among members.

At the Willow Gun Club meeting last night at the home of president S. W. Foss, the holiday of semi-monthly trapezoids was discussed. The club secretary has a limited number of official NRA rule books covering the positions, procedure and courses of fire used in all matches from local club competition to Camp Perry.

None of these books will make a champion out of an average shot, but they will show you how to act like a veteran!

At Cost
The price of 22 ammunition sold by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship (Dept. of Army) is presently so close to the price of commercial ammunition that there is no advantage of the club continuing to purchase cases of 22's from the DCM for resale to the members.

The decision of all club members concerning the purchasing of the club range site must be made in the near future. Since the cost would mean an assessment of almost $50 per member with the title resting with the club, it was proposed at the January meeting that a separate corporation be formed to buy the property. This would be a closed non-profit corporation of 10 to 20 shareholders leasing the property to the club at a rental sufficient to pay taxes and expenses. Therefore the number of club members who would be able to participate in the purchase must be known soon, as the minimum share cost will be about $100.

Salem Church
The Young People's Group of Salem M.E. Church held a covered dish supper Sunday evening for members and their parents. Among the 50 persons present were the Rev. and Mrs. Golden and Sunday School Superintendent Miss Alberta Johnson.

The church will serve a turkey dinner Saturday, Feb. 12, beginning at 5 p.m.

Publicity chairman of the New Castle County 4-H Leaders Association, Mrs. Myrna McElwaine, reports that at the recent meeting in Ag Hall, some 25 leaders and co-leaders planned for the year's work and discussed window displays for 4-H Week in March.

Edward W. Wilson, Sr., is the new president; Mrs. Cora Pierson, reporter; and Mrs. McElwaine, secretary-treasurer.

The first of three leader training meetings was held Tuesday evening at Middletown High School, with the Feb. 8 meeting to be at Ag Hall (7:30 p.m.); and the Feb. 15 meeting at Middletown.

Granville E. Sweeney of Glasgow, president of the Christiana Bowen, a group affiliated with the National Archery Association announces that family memberships in the club are $5 a year. Those interested can call him at Newark 8-8287; Les Hill at New Castle 2210; or field captain John Sweeney at Wilm. 5-1730. The club's home field is at Delaware Park, with a 14-target range. Two monthly meetings are held in the Old French Kitchen building at the track.

Mr. Sweeney, present club champion, assures your correspondent that beginners equipment can be purchased cheap. Mrs. Sweeney has been Delaware State Champion for the past four years.

Tournaments for the coming year have been scheduled by the Philadelphia, Delaware, and New Jersey Archery Clubs, including the International Championship at Fairmount Park in July. Boys and girls under 16 can enter in team shoots at Lancaster, Pa., on March 5. A banquet is served for all competitors. The senior division (over 19 years) will compete the next day, with many prizes awarded.

For the sports enthusiast, there are field shoots with simulated animal targets placed in the woods and fields.

Services for the late Amour L. Church, who passed away Sunday at his Chestnut Hill Road home, will be held this afternoon at the R. T. Jones funeral parlor. A resident of Delaware for 27 years, Mr. Church was a native of West Virginia.

Donna Meade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meade of the Glasgow Road, celebrated her sixth birthday Saturday with a party for her neighborhood playmates, and Billy and Patty Murphy from College Park.

Mrs. Joseph W. Ennis, safety chairman for the Federation expressed her thanks to the Delaware Safety Council for their courtesy in supplying the pledge cards and bumper strips.

In signing the pledge, a driver promises to live up to seven basic rules of driving courtesy. After he has signed, he receives a courtesy bumper sticker for display on the rear bumper of his car.

Six Social Security Rulings Offered On Domestic Help

Property Owners Get Winter Rest From Insect War

What home owners can't see does bother them, at least as far as their landscape is concerned.

Even in winter, the weekend gardener is interested in his winged enemies—whose pests that devastate the back yard landscaping. So say Davey tree experts, who report one of the most frequent questions asked these days is:

"Where are the insects that will be swooping down on our trees and other plantings come spring?"

The answer varies with the kinds of insects. Some sleep through the winter in adult, larval or pupal stages. Others lay their eggs and complete the life cycle with the coming of cold weather. A very few migrate to warmer climates.

One of the most destructive of the insects that hibernate as adults is the elm leaf beetle. This pest seeks refuge in homes, garages and other warm places for its winter comf. It has a built-in alarm that wakes it about the time leaves unfold. Then it is off on its leaf-chewing machinations.

The brown tail moth, the codling moth or apple worm and the European pine shoot moth are among these that hibernate in the larval stage and emerge as moths in summer. The elm bark beetle, carrier of the dread Dutch elm disease, is the most notorious of the slumberers in larval stage. The spring cankerworm overwinters in the pupal stage, the one between larva and adult.

ROTC Instructor Lauds Leadership Gained In Sports

Col. Hiddleston Explains Qualities Of Leadership Developed By Athletics

Colonel E. W. Hiddleston, professor of military science and tactics at the University of Delaware believes that "The qualities which produce a good leader in the armed forces are the identical ones required in a good leader in athletics and in industry."

Leadership qualities are necessary for a man to succeed in the field of athletics, or in any of the other fields taught at the University of Delaware, Col. Hiddleston states.

An example of the fact that football players make good leaders lies in the fact that three of the last five regimental commanders of the Delaware ROTC cadet regiment have been varsity football players.

"It is interesting to note," states the officer, "that of the 14 seniors who played football at the university during the past season, 11 are members of the ROTC. It is expected that they will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve. Furthermore, one of them is a distinguished military student and is eligible to apply for a commission in the regular army."

Tom Redfield, stellar right end of the 1954 Blue Hen squad, is the present cadet colonel of the ROTC ranks.

William Grootinger III, James Carbonetti held the post 1950-51 and 1952-53.

According to Col. Hiddleston, ROTC helps develop leadership benefit in the military field as well as other areas of endeavor, as well

Delaware Fills Grid Schedule With Bainbridge Navy Opener

Nelson Announces Sept. 24 Opening Test At Delaware Stadium With Powerful Bainbridge Naval Center Squad As Hens Meet 5th Service Team In 64 Football Seasons

Delaware's football schedule for 1955 has been completed with the addition of a ninth opponent, the Bainbridge Naval Training Center team, Coach Dave Nelson has announced. The first meeting between the two teams will mark the opening of the fall grid campaign on Sept. 24 at Delaware Stadium. Sparked by former Notre Dame All American quarterback Bob Williams, the service team, regarded as the East Coast naval champions, swept in a 52-0 record last fall. Bainbridge scored 132 points to their opponents' 135. The season opener will mark the fifth time in 64 seasons of Delaware football that the Fighting Blue Hens have faced a service team. Past Delaware opponents registered victories over Lakehurst Naval Training Station, Fort DuPont, and U.S. Radio Training School, and battled to a 6-6 draw with the U.S.S. Minnesota battleship team. All four games were played at Delaware.

The Commodores of Bainbridge have not faced a college eleven since 1953 when the squad battled Temple to a 7-7 tie in Philadelphia. Next season, 234-pound fullback Fred Cason, leading scorer and ground-gainer last fall, will reappear in the starting lineup. Cason collected eight touchdowns, 14 extra points and 579 yards of turf to merit selection as third team All-Navy fullback. In 112 trips with the ball Cason averaged 5.2 yards per carry. His season total of 62 points exceeds by two points the total of right halfback Jimmy Flynn, the Hens' scoring ace last fall. As a freshman Cason starred at the University of Florida.

Navy Pilot
Piloting the powerful Bainbridge eleven is Coach Herb Agocks, former All-East player who lettered three years at the University of Pennsylvania. Although in 1954 he designed a straight-T attack, built largely around Williams, Agocks is an advocate of the multiple offensive and may incorporate this system in his future plans.

Agocks' predecessor was Jim LaRue, former assistant coach at Kansas State and now assistant coach at the University of Houston. Bainbridge's 8-2 record last season, identical with Delaware's (including the Refrigerator Bowl victory), is the best record for the service team since the glory-filled days of 1944 when Charley "Choo Choo" Justice thrilled the training center fans, and Grantland Rice likened the eleven to the Chicago Bears' powerhouse of the 1930's. Spearheaded by Justice's 14 touchdown drives, the Commodores experienced an undefeated season.

Won and Lost
In the past four years, Bainbridge's team has won 23, lost 12, and tied four.

Boutin, Ludlow Pace JV Scoring In 2-Game Split

Newark Jayvees Stopped By Claymont, Win Over Visiting Archmere JV's

Stopped in their home stand against Claymont last Friday night, Coach Al Brayman's Yellowjacket Jayvees rebounded from a 41-34 defeat to salvage something from the evening's entertainment at home with Archmere on Tuesday to defeat the junior Archers 42-32.

The 4-game winning streak momentarily interrupted by the visiting junior Indians, the Newark Jayvees hung up their fifth scalp of the season with the Archmere victory.

Boutin led Brayman's basketballers with five field goals and one out of four free throws against Claymont, while Bob Conway, with nine, and Lou Scarborough with eight points, were consistent on the firing range.

The Newark Jayvees outscored their Claymont opponents in the first and third periods, 11-8, and 7-5, but the Indian junior varsity had the best of the going in the second and final quarters.

Nels Ludlow, at center for the Newark junior varsity, was high man in the game with Archmere, sinking four shots from the playing floor and converting four out of five foul tosses.

Ted Boutin, contributed eight points; John Heitzendorfer and Lou Scarborough, seven each; while Bob Conway and Fred Gainer came through with six and two points.

The Newark Jayvees will meet the Brown junior varsity in a preliminary event to the varsity contest tonight at 7 o'clock.

Burd McGinnes, former combat Marine and now technician for the State Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, has published some interesting facts about Delaware's deer herds from statistics made of the recent season's results.

For example, the percentage of juvenile deer taken in both 1954 and 1955 was the same—41 percent of the total kill.

The final tally for the five-day deer season was 281 deer of which all but one were killed by shotgun hunters. This is just about half of the 505 deer taken in the previous year.

The relatively high percentage of young deer shot shows that Delaware's deer are reproducing at a satisfactory rate.

Nearly Even
There were 133 male deer brought to the checking stations and 128 does which again displayed a one to one sex ratio of the deer herd.

Nearly three-quarters of the kill was sustained by the youngest age group, that is, young-of-the-year and deer one and one-half years of age. Average diameters of buck horns were practically identical for the two seasons, also the hind foot lengths. Such findings will reflect changes in vigor of the deer herd over a period of time.

Delaware's deer hunters still preferred the 12 gauge shotgun because 85 per cent of the successful hunters used this weapon to bag their deer. Rifled slugs were utilized four to one over buckshot loads.

The 100 hunters who had the opportunity to hunt on Bombay Hook Refuge bagged 13 deer. It is estimated that an additional 15 deer were removed from this refuge herd on surrounding, privately owned land. Thus the 28 deer removed are believed to constitute 30 per cent of the herd population. Such a percentage removal was the goal of refuge personnel and is well within the tolerance limits of a herd.

Marsh Protection
Coastal marshes of the state continue to furnish excellent cover for deer. Marshes often offer the only means of escape to deer when they are hard pressed by hunters.

A few hunters are already going off on the "buck law" tangent by speaking for a season open on bucks only.

Experiences of "buck law" states have been marked by acute troubles and deer problems. States where both sexes have always been legal have not been faced with these headaches. The principle of a "buck law" is all right for shot-out or depleted deer herd, for a period of one or two years. But such a regulation builds a barrier in the public mind which is insurmountable when a return to an "any deer" season becomes a necessity. If the deer herd reaches a danger point, a buck season is not the solution. Complete protection by closed seasons for a year or two is a more logical approach.

Bowmen
Delaware archers hung up only one deer but these long bow sportsmen realize they have a task ahead of them this year—practice and plenty of it.

During the first day, refuge personnel at Bombay Hook estimated

from
The Sporting News
by J. G. Taylor Spink

The possibility of expanding the major leagues into ten-club circuits is well into the discussion stage. One of the most important developments of the major league get-togethers in New York the last weekend of January was a study of three "dry-run" schedules for a ten-club American League. A similar study was made by the National League.

All of the tentative schedules were drawn up by Harry Simmons, secretary of the International League. He drafts the playing charts for his own league and a number of others. But the man credited with originating the ten-club idea for the American League is Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians.

General Manager Frank Lane of the White Sox, chairman of the realignment committee, gives Greenberg the credit. "I don't believe we'll be using any of them until 1957, but that doesn't mean it can't happen in 1956."

The West Coast
One of the schedules studied by the American leagues included Los Angeles and San Francisco as the ninth and tenth clubs. Another scheduled figured Toronto and Montreal as potential additions. The third schedule listed Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston. But this one also allowed for the possibility of Minneapolis-St. Paul as a substitute for one of the Texas entries.

Bill Veck, chief of the New York Week, P. K. Wrigley's ambassador. He came armed with all sorts of information about what the Pacific Coast had to offer as major league territory. Wrigley is a man of high ideals who puts the best interest of the game above any personal gain, and while he owns both the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles franchise, he doesn't want to be in the position of pushing too hard to get the National League to move out.

American Edge
As a result, the American League with its committee headed by the aggressive Lane, may at the moment have the best chances to annex California territory. Lane says that the broad objectives of his realignment committee are to determine the feasibility of expanding the American League, to take every step necessary to be ready for expansion, and to set up a program for admission of any clubs that qualify.

Qualifications
Here are some points in the matter of a city's qualifying. It must have an area big enough to support a big league club. It must have a large enough stadium, adequate financial sponsorship, and intelligent, experienced baseball men behind the operation.

While ten-club major leagues are under serious discussion, there are those who have other ideas for expansion.

Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas club in the Texas League, proposed to the New York meeting that there be 12 clubs in each major. Give the eight new clubs, he said, four years in which to prepare for major league status. In that time they not only could build up their parks, but also could build up their teams so they could enter the major leagues on a competitive basis.

Lane said Burnett's proposal was given consideration along with the others, and said it sounded interesting. "I'm for anything," Lane said, "that will help the entire baseball picture."

17-Year Vet
The University of Virginia's basketball whiz, Buzzy Wilkinson, has just about a whole lifetime of basketball behind him. He's only 22, but he's been playing for 17 years. Buzzy played basketball in 7th grade school when he was only five years old, and made the varsity by the time he was a fourth grader. He played all four years in junior high and high school.

It's probably ten to one that a baseball fan can't tell which three Yankees have won the Most Valuable Player award. Naming Yogi Berra probably would be easy for most. He won in 1951 and 1954. Then the fan might be able to name Phil Rizzuto. He won in 1950.

But naming the third would be a stumper for most. Well, he's Jim Konstanty. Jim was voted the Most Valuable Player in 1950, when with the Phillies.

Hall of Fame
If voting for baseball's Hall of Fame runs true to form next year, Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin probably will be chosen. They ran fifth and sixth in the balloting this year, behind the four who were elected to the shrine. It's usually the runners-up who get the honor the following year. Not since 1947 have as many been voted into the shrine as there were this year when Joe DiMaggio, Ted Lyons, Dizzy Vance and Gabby Hartnett were chosen.

Now that Bill Stewart has resigned as a National League umpire, the man with the longest stretch of service is Babe Pinelli, with Larry Goetz next in line.

Pinelli came up from the Pacific Coast League as an umpire in 1935, and Goetz advanced from the American Association in 1936.

That about half the archers on the area got shooting, and that's good bow hunting in any man's opinion.

The fairly large kill by shotguns should dispel belief that the archery season drove deer out of their usual haunts or made them wilder.

A few hours of shotgun blasts and the larger number of gun hunters should have more effect on "spooking" deer than the silent hunting style of bow hunters.

In Adult Recreation League basketball play at the Newark Armory last Monday night, the VFW cagers shelled the Shamrocks 67-34 to stretch their undefeated string to eight games, while the Main Street improved their second place standing by taking the luckless Brookside basketball squad, 38-28.

The Guardians moved into a third place tie with the Shamrocks by stopping the Continental cagers, 54-40.

Director Ray Ciesinski urges basketball fans to turn out on Monday nights for the free shows at the Armory, with three contests slated for next Monday, beginning at 7 o'clock.

The National Guard will meet Brookside in the opener; the Vets play Main Street in the feature attraction at 8 o'clock; and Continental engages the Shamrocks at 9 p.m.

Volunteers officials are being sought by the Recreation Association to assist in conducting the games played by the six Adult League teams at the Armory each Monday night.

Drexel Defenders Set Pace In Race For League Title

One third of the way through the race for the southern division Middle Atlantic Conference title, Drexel and Haverford are setting the pace with 3-1 league records.

PMC, with a 2-1 mark, is second, while Delaware and Ursinus are tied for third with 1-3. Swarthmore is winless.

Drexel, defending southern division champions, opened league competition with a 68-70 win over challenging Delaware, and then took Ursinus and Swarthmore.

Drexel, with a slight edge over the Foris, leads the league in scoring with an average of 92.3 points per game. Big gun for Drexel is Bob

Jim Smith Leads Hen Cage Scorers With 168 Points

Kelleher, Waddington, Green, Top 100-Point Totals During Season

Guard Jim Smith paces the Delaware basketball team, with a slight lead over co-captain Pete Kelleher and Center Jack Waddington. Smith's 168 points represents 20.6 per cent of the Blue Hens' scoring efforts to date.

Kelleher, Waddington and forward Dallas Green are the only other Delaware players to crack the century mark this season.

Kelleher, the Hens' second-ranking scorer, has tallied for 159 points on 59 field goals and 42 free throws. Waddington, connecting on better than 40 per cent of his shots along with Kelleher, has scored 143 points during the campaign, while Green has a total of 112.

Team totals for the Blue Hens and their opponents show the Newark courtmen trailing in the scoring department. Tossing in 33 per cent of the shots from the floor, the Blue Hens have scored 296 field goals, while opponents have been successful in 318 attempts.

Delaware foul shooting—the critical phase of many of the games this year—has also lagged behind the free throw efforts of court foes. Clicking on 223 attempts—a percentage of 62.4—the Hens have bowed to the opposition which has tallied on 62.4 per cent of the foul shot attempts, completing 266 one-pointers.

Fewer fouls have been called on Delaware foes than on the Hens, and the scoring column listing 815 points for the Newark squad and 942 tallied against them, tells the 3-9 Delaware story this season.

The best shooting by Delaware was against Ursinus when the Blue and Gold collected 35 field goals. Smith leads in individual scoring efforts, with his 24 points against Hofstra as the high scorer of the varsity season. The versatile guard also leads with 10 field goals scored in one game, while Waddington holds the advantage with 10 foul shots in one test.

Buckley, who has scored 55 points, for sixth in individual scoring. Phil D'Arrigo, Haverford's spectacular guard who topped league scoring honors last season, is again in front over second-ranked Ralph Schumacher of Ursinus. D'Arrigo's 72 points consist of 25 field goals and 20 free throws. The crafty courtman rallied for 28 points against Ursinus and against PMC.

Newark Loses Indian, Archers Cage Contests For 5-5 Record

Coach Harry Squatrito's Varsity Cagers Nipped By Claymont's Last Minute Rally; Drop 77-57 At Archmere Test; Ray Klapinsky, Jim Martin Top Scorers

Rolling in high gear after three impressive and decisive victories over Elkton, New Castle, and A. I. duPont Tigers, the Newark Yellowjackets were upset, 66-64, in final minute of play by Claymont on the Newark court, Friday night, and dropped a 77-57 encore with Archmere home on Tuesday. In the Jackets' first meeting with Archers, away, Coach Harry Squatrito's squad lost a break 55-56 decision.

Claymont's Indians held a 17-14 advantage at the end of the first period on Friday night, but Newark displayed stellar brand basketball in the second quarter to top the visitors, 20-8, for a 34-25 halftime edge.

A Minute To Play
In the third and fourth periods, the invading Indians tomahawked away at the Newark courtmen, outscoring Newark 24-19 in the third quarter, and drawing to within two points of the leaders with a minute to go.

And that last minute was a rough one for the Yellowjackets. Claymont's Frazer Smith sank a field shot to tie the score and Arlie Olson rang the bell with another and the 66-64 victory in the final 15 seconds of play.

Ray Klapinsky, with a big 10 field goal, and Joe Lehman, with seven more and four successful foul shots, were high scorers for the Yellowjackets, while Claymont's Gil Mahla, was game-high man with 25 points.

Newark Captain Bill Hiddleston came through with five field goals; Jim Martin contributed eight more and Bob Downes, sank six points, with four via the free throw route. Larry Blasotto's single field shot

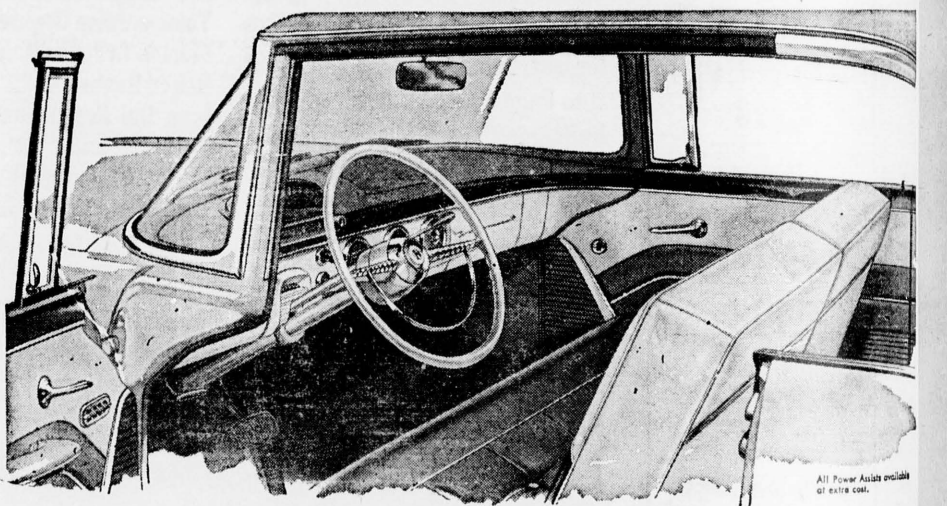

SERIES SEATS
The fact that the Baltimore Orioles finished seventh last season hasn't killed off all enthusiasm in the front office. Ticket buyers can find this statement in a folder describing ticket deals: "If the Orioles win the pennant in 1955," it says, "ticket plan subscribers would be assured World's Series tickets."

THE YANKEE CLIPPER
If the major leagues ever expand to take in the West Coast, they'll find a ready and willing executive waiting. Joe DiMaggio said the other day that he has not lost his interest in baseball and would like to get back in—if and when the majors reach the coast.

Just a week ago today, seven people were made homeless by a fire which destroyed their garage apartment on the Stanton-Ogletown road. Shelter was provided for them over the weekend at the home of Dr. L. Douglas Giles, owner.

As this goes to press, we are glad to report that a tenant house on the property of Judge Davis, Polly Drummond Hill, has been made available for a month, which will allow time for a permanent home to be located.

Since all the furniture and clothing owned by the family was destroyed, it is hoped that there will be a generous response to this appeal for help. The need for furniture and bedding is acute.

Major Alfred Deck, Jr., visited his parents in Eastburn Heights, this past weekend, with Cadet Ronald L. Bryant as his guest. They returned on Sunday to Fork Union Military Academy, Va.

Mrs. Mary Smalley, Harmony Road, was taken ill last Thursday and has been spending the week at her brother's home in Wilmington. Howard Bradley, Harmony Road and Old Capitol Trail, is back home again after a dental operation performed at the hospital early this week.

The Roseville Park Branch Library is located at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond, Laurel Ave. and is open to the public on Saturdays from 10 a. m. to noon.

Medicinal school children are invited to attend an important meeting of the Medill School PTA on Wednesday, Feb. 9 at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria. A book review dealing with children and the school will be given by Mrs. Vernon Lewis.

Activity units are now meeting once a week instead of every other week, with much interest in the Junior Red Cross. This group is making stuffed animals for children in hospitals.

Mrs. Hedger's first grade is studying about the weather and making weather charts. They have goldfish in the room and are planning a unit on pets.

Miss Boyerle's first grade is also studying about pets and the weather. Mrs. Sickman's second grade is making booklets on community helpers and Bobby Elliott has brought in a farm display, with Martin Van Horn, Henry Lomax and Alex Douglas, contributors.

REPORT TO THE STOCKHOLDERS
with big dividends for America!

This is a serious financial report. For these youngsters are actually engaged in a profitable business of their own. They're learning the right way—through direct experience under the guidance of successful businessmen—how a business prospers in the American system of free enterprise.

Through the Junior Achievement program they form their own companies, float stock, manufacture their own products, keep books, handle advertising and merchandising—and pay dividends from their profits. But, more than this, they're learning to appreciate the economic system that has made this country great. These enterprising boys and girls are an investment in the future of our country.

Junior Achievement is sponsored by a long list of America's best known corporations—staffed by volunteer advisors—who are training teen-agers for their future in free enterprise.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton
Consumer Information Specialist

Thrifty meals result from the meats featured this week in Delaware food stores. Pork shoulder, pork spare ribs, beef rib cuts, chuck roast of beef or veal, breast of lamb, lamb shoulder and pork loin all make economical roasts. Beef, veal and lamb for stew are attractively priced. Frankfurters join sauerkraut in a national promotion this week and there are good values in many stores.

Stewing chickens and tom turkeys are best buys in the poultry department.

More favorable fishing weather has yielded heavy supplies of fresh whiting, sea bass, porgies, fluke and cod at low prices. Frozen haddock, halibut, smelts and perch are likewise inexpensive. Oyster supplies are normal and prices remain unchanged. Shrimp are plentiful and relatively economical.

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Apples are slightly lower in price with the best values appearing on Rome, Staymans, and Red Delicious from nearby producing areas. Citrus prices are weaker following a rise which accompanied bad packing weather in Florida and reduced shipments. Oranges, including Temples, and grapefruit remain excellent values. Tangerines are becoming less plentiful as the period of peak supply passes.

Watch lettuce quality carefully because wet weather in California has adversely affected the crop. Prices are reasonable but only when selection is made cautiously.

Cabbage is higher in price with the cold weather. Old crop Danish cabbage which has been in storage in New York state is lowest while newer southern cabbage is greener and higher in Vitamin A—but it carries a higher price tag.

Chrysler Employees Offered Discount On Company Autos

2300 At Delaware Tank
Plant Eligible For 18%
Price Cut On New Cars

Chrysler Corporation employees in 150 plants and establishments throughout the country are able to purchase Chrysler-built cars with factory-installed accessories at a discount of 18 per cent under a new employee purchase plan announced by the company.

Robert W. Conder, vice president and director of industrial relations, said the discount does not apply to transportation costs, delivery and handling charges, or federal, state and local taxes, which are in addition to the factory retail price.

"The plan was developed in recognition of the desire of many of our employees to drive the cars they help build," he said. "All of us at Chrysler Corporation have an interest in increasing the use of the fine products we manufacture."

"By purchasing Chrysler products ourselves, and encouraging others to buy them we create sales and, in turn, more security for Chrysler Corporation employees."

Under the plan, an eligible employee may place an order for a car with the corporation and will designate the dealer who will participate in the sale. Payment for the car will be made to the company, which in turn will pay the dealer a special amount for participating in the sale. (The dealer's customary mark-up is 24 to 25 per cent.) A vehicle may be purchased only by the employee for his own use, and may not be sold for six months after date of purchase.

Employees will make their own arrangements for financing their purchase and for selling their used cars, as trade-ins will not be handled under the plan.

A total of about 2,300 employees at the Chrysler Delaware Tank Plant and Chrysler Parts Plant located in Newark will be eligible to purchase cars under the new plan.

Student of the Week
Roy Blomquist, a senior at Newark High School, was born on Mar. 23, 1937, in Wilmington, Del. Roy, who came to us from Richardson Park, takes the scientific course and claims physics as his favorite subject.

Roy, who is a member of the Fire Patrol and was elected as senior representative to the Traffic Court, has blue eyes, light brown hair, stands 5'11" tall, and tops the scales at 154 pounds. He thinks going steady is a lot of trouble, and prefers quiet girls, which accounts for his pet peeve, "gabby girls." He enjoys hearing Fred Chaffart sing, and eating Chinese food. His spare time is spent in his woodshop and his hobbies consist of boat-building and racing.

Roy's future plans include attending the University of Delaware and Temple University, in order to practice dentistry ten years from now.

When he was asked his secret ambition, he replied, "To get my uncle, who recently fixed my teeth, in a dental chair."

Roy claims that he will always remember writing a critical analysis for English.

U.S. Savings Bond Sales In '54 Top $10 Million Mark

A. D. Cobb Reports State
Participation In Savings
Bond Plan 90.8% Of Quota

Sales of Series E and H U.S. Savings Bonds in Delaware in 1954 amounted to $10,662,000, or 90.8 per cent of the quota assigned to the state by the savings bonds division of the U.S. Treasury Department.

In a final tabulation of last year's activities of the Delaware district office, Alex D. Cobb, state director, said Delaware was 1.4 per cent below the national average of 92.2 per cent.

Delaware's quota was $11,700,000. The payroll savings method added 2,000 new savers or buyers last year, Mr. Cobb said. Because of lay-offs and other employment cuts, the net number of savers was slightly reduced.

"Companies which employ 500 or more persons represent a high potential field for payroll savings in purchase of savings bonds," Mr. Cobb said. "These companies are designated by the Treasury as 'target companies,' of which 21 operate in Delaware. The average employee participation is about 25 per cent."

In companies where the non-pressure promotion plans of the state sales director have been followed, participation has, in almost every case, risen from 40 to 45 per cent.

"Bank cooperation was splendid in 1954," Mr. Cobb said. "It was largely responsible for 1954 sales on E and H Bonds being 16.5 per cent above the 1953 sales, as compared to an 8.4 per cent increase in Region 6, and 11.8 per cent nationally. Bond-a-month sales increased 38.7 per cent in 1954 in Delaware. Sales of Series H Bonds in Delaware increased 70 per cent last year."

Cold Weather Egg Output Advice Offered By Agent

Laying hens will roll out the eggs even in coldest weather if their houses are geared for winter production, says Asst. County Agent Ralph Barwick.

They won't seem to know the weather has changed if ventilation, lighting, litter and watering and feeding devices are set properly, Mr. Barwick claims.

Laying hens need plenty of fresh air but chilling drafts can spell trouble. Never close the house entirely. Open the windows from the top and leave eight or 10 inches of ventilation even when the temperature drops below 32. Air drafts are caused by cross-ventilation. Check to see that back and end windows—which were opened during hot weather—are closed tightly.

Check for leaking water fountains and make sure the birds aren't wasting too much feed. Less waste results if the feeders are only about one-half full.

WINTERTHUR

The 12 new rooms which have been added to the Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum since it was opened to the public three years ago are being featured in the February issue of "Antiques" magazine, in an article by John A. Although reservations for admission to the Winterthur Museum must be made in advance, tickets are generally available and may be had by writing the Museum at Winterthur, Del.

Scouts Cook, Hike In Saturday Cold On McBerty Farm

Scoutmaster Bill Peoples Conducts Troop 55 Scouts Into Chill, Open Spaces

Boy Scout Troop 55 enjoyed a real cook-out and hike last Saturday in spite of the cold at Ford McBerty's farm near New London, Pa., about ten miles from Newark. High, wooded hills form a small valley for a creek which the troop followed for awhile, and then climbed up a steep hill where they cooked their meal.

Scoutmaster William Peoples showed how to make a broiler from a forked stick, and used it to cook a steak over the coals. Michael Murphy cooked hunter's stew in tin foil while Richard Feeny and Donald Woodman baked bread over their fire in what the scouts call a "twist". The boys took advantage of the opportunity to pass tests for merit badges and enjoyed exploring the area and crossing the creek on the thick ice.

Herbert Christman, Wayne Crissman, James Dalton, Robert Horgan, Thomas Howell, John Lindsay, Ronald Morrison, George Stanley, Edward Thornton, James Wharry and Rodney Wilson were the other scouts with leaders Ralph Wilson, Charles Eastman and Robert Thompson.

John Wharry, John Lindsay and Harold Stanley provided transportation. During Scout Week—Feb. 6-13—Troop 55 will have a window display in the Newark Department Store. Scout Sunday will be observed Feb. 6 at the 11 a.m. worship service of the Calvary Baptist Church on Delaware Avenue with the entire troop attending in uniform.

A covered dish supper at 6:30 p.m. and Court of Honor for all parents will be held Tuesday at Calvary Baptist Church, and colored slides will be shown of Yellowstone National Park.

High School Cheerleaders To Present Snowflake Ball

The cheerleading squad of Newark High School is planning the annual Snowflake Ball, Feb. 26 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the gymnasium. Proceeds will be used to repay the Newark Recreation Association for the girls' new cheerleading uniforms.

The dance will be climaxed by the naming of a queen chosen by chance. Students in grades 9 to 12 are invited.

Girls on the squad have been conducting Newark merchants to obtain any discarded winter window decorations to be used for the dance. All the decorations will be scattered with snowflakes.

Former Government Intelligence Agent Teaches Newark Eighth Grade Scholars

Interview by Ginger Lanier
Newark High School Journalism Class

After spending three years during the war with the Counter Intelligence Corps, Robert Mayer finds Newark a change for the better but not exactly tame. Hailing from Lancaster, Pa., Mr. Mayer attended Millersville State Teachers College, Pennsylvania, where he majored in English and history. While in college, he was chosen to be a delegate to the mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth called by former President Harry S. Truman.

After college, Mr. Mayer took agent training and attended Japanese and German language schools. Upon completing the courses, he was sent as a special agent to Texas and Arkansas and then on to Germany where he worked as an agent on the zonal border between Soviet Russia and the American sector of Germany.

While in Germany, he resided in the guest house belonging to the Duke of Coburg and worked side by side with the German police, whom he admires greatly.

In comparing his undercover work with his present teaching job, Mr. Mayer had this to say: "Teaching deals with people and what makes them tick and so does intelligence work. Also, teaching tries to build up the student's intelligence, while an agent's work deals with tearing down Soviet intelligence."

Mr. Mayer resides in Newark and teaches eighth grade English and history in Newark Junior High. Teaching runs in the Mayer family for Mrs. Robert Mayer teaches a second grade at Newark.

Round-up champions from the Brookside troop included Bucky Eller, David Zug, and Lane Potter, who reported with mavericks Dale Gibson, Jack Keen and Robert Bell. Scouts James Fenske and Wesley Barrows also attended the celebration.

Everyone has experienced this and found it to be true—that living right, in goodness instead of evil, makes you feel strong, happy, healthy. Knowing this truth, why then should anyone choose to live even for a moment in the slavery of sin?

High Teaching Standards Urged By Educator Group

Despite the shortage of teachers which exists in the elementary schools of our state, professional standards for teachers must not be lowered, according to a recent declaration by prominent Delaware educators.

At its most recent meeting in Allison Hall on the University of Delaware campus, the committee on teacher recruitment of the Council for Delaware Education adopted a statement opposing the admission of sub-professional teachers to the classrooms of our state.

Members of the committee emphasized that only by maintaining high standards can members of the teaching profession hope to increase their salary scale. In addition, students taught by less qualified persons would undoubtedly suffer in the quality of training received.

Record Egg Crop Provides Best Buy In Protein Food

Across the nation poultry flocks are turning out record supplies of eggs which means that egg prices are extremely low—the "best buy" protein food right now.

Delaware has joined in a nation wide effort by the poultry industry to bring the low price of eggs to the attention of consumers. January has been designated as "National Egg Month" but market economists predict low egg prices are likely to continue for several months.

Egg production during the last of 1954 has been the highest on record and production is continuing to increase seasonally. January egg prices are at or below those that poultrymen generally receive in the spring of the year when egg prices are usually at their seasonal low.

On the other hand, says Mr. Schabinger, if you are one of the many farmers who doesn't have all the hay, or hay and silage combination your cows will eat (or what you do have is of poor quality), then the protein content of the grain ration will have to be higher—a 16 per cent crude protein is enough unless the roughage is very limited.

An official delegation of 25 University of Delaware students has been invited to attend the Eighth Annual Foreign Policy Institute on Tuesday, Feb. 14, at the University of Pennsylvania Museum, 34th and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia. The program will be jointly sponsored by Temple University and the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia.

Arrangements for the Delaware student group will be made by Dr. Herbert Dorn, professor of economics and faculty advisor to the World Affairs Council. President John A. Perkins is a member of the Council's Board of Directors.

Theme of the conference will be "The Impact of the New Germany." Opening addresses will be delivered by M. Andre Philip, French Delegate General to the European Movement, and Dr. Hans Kohn, professor of history at City College of New York.

Dairymen Advised On Protein Needs For Pasture Cows

What kind and how much protein do my cows need? This question is one that crops up wherever dairymen meet.

Edward H. Schabinger, county agent says it all depends on the quality and amount of roughage you have available. For example, if you have all the luxuriant pasture cows will eat, a 10 percent crude protein grain feed is high enough. This is true Mr. Schabinger points out, because rapidly growing pasture plants contain large amounts of protein.

If your winter roughage is made up of some high quality legume hay and silage, or all excellent hay, and you feed all your cows will eat, then about 12-14 per cent crude protein grain is sufficient.

On the other hand, says Mr. Schabinger, if you are one of the many farmers who doesn't have all the hay, or hay and silage combination your cows will eat (or what you do have is of poor quality), then the protein content of the grain ration will have to be higher—a 16 per cent crude protein is enough unless the roughage is very limited.
