LARGE ENROLLMENT EXPECTED FOR FIRST SUMMER TERM

About 600 Is Estimated Number to Register

Dean W. Earl Armstrong estimates that approximately 600 students will attend the first session of summer school this coming summer.

That number divides as follows: 80 civilian students, including girls; 275 veterans now on campus; 120 teachers from Delaware schools; 15 out-of-state teachers; and about 100 new veterans are expected to enroll for the summer session.

No decision has been made as yet for the offering of the second term of summer school, but as long as 344 students have expressed desire for having a second term, chances are that it will be offered.

Arrangements have been made for the housing of all students who will not commute, in college dormitories. Dining facilities will also be available. Veterans who have already submitted their letter of eligibility will receive their regular allowance and subsistence. Veterans enrolling at the University for the first time will have to submit their letter of eligibility. Registration for summer session for students now on campus will take place sometime before the end of the spring term. Registration for other students will take place on the first day of the summer session.

The Deans of men and women will serve in their respective capacities during the summer session. At the present time the department heads are considering the courses requested and they will attempt to give the courses which will benefit the greatest number of students. A summer session bulletin will be issued in the near future to all students planning on attending the summer session. This bulletin will list all the courses to be offered.

If a second term is given, the term will consist of five weeks instead of six weeks for the first term. The short term is due to the fact that the school buildings have to be put in condition for the fall term.

Phi Kappa Phi Elects Members

At a meeting of the University of Delaware Chapter, Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, on March 20, 1946, the following members were elected from the student body:

William Pierce Barnes, Jr., E. Jane Platt, Mary Caroline McNeal, Dorothy Louise Smyth, D. Joan Davis, E. Russell Johnston, Jr., Margaret Ann McCarthy, Ruth Anne Tupp, Jeanne Harriet LeFevre and Ruth Lamborn Vernon.

Professor George L. Baker and Professor Evelyn Clift were elected from the faculty of the University.

SGA Plans to Open Student Union On Monday, April 15th

Plans are underway to create a Student Union—the first organization of its kind at the University of Delaware. The Union will be set up in the Commuters' Room of Robinson Hall, and will have its opening on Monday night, April 15.

The Union is being sponsored by the Student Government Association, and at present, a committee of six members is laying the groundwork for this newest social organization. The committee members are: William Piper, chairman; Jane Platt, Dave Reinhardt, Peg Sluizer, Kurt Seligman and Henri Miller.

The main purpose of the Union is to provide a spot where the students can gather for social activities during their off hours, for dancing, card-playing, ping-pong, and the traditional college bull session. The Commuters' Room will be furnished with a juke box, a cigarette machine, and a coke bar, serving soft drinks and snacks. Due to classes in Robinson Hall during the day, the Union will be open from 5 to 10 p. m. from Monday to Friday, but will be open from noon till midnight on Saturday and noon till 10 p. m. on Sunday.

This organization is just getting underway, and the student body as a whole can do much to make a success of it. The committee will be enlarged as the needs arise, and members will be chosen from the students impartially, with regard

Dr. Rees to Talk On Applications Of Math in AAF

Dr. Carl J. Rees, professor of mathematics, will speak at the meeting of the Alpha Chapter of Pi Nu Epsilon, national mathematics fraternity, on Thursday, March 28, at 7:30 p. m., in the Men's Faculty Club Room in the basement of the Library.

For his topic Dr. Rees has chosen "The Use of Sampling Theorems," with special emphasis on their application in the Army Air Forces. He has also consented to conduct a question-and-discussion period after the talk. From his experiences around the world and particularly in China, Dr. Rees has an excellent background for such a subject.

This meeting is one of a number held throughout the year to study and discuss interesting questions of a mathematical nature. Membership in the society is by invitation, but it is customary for members to invite guests to some meetings.

Officers of the local chapter are Dr. G. C. Weber, faculty director; William Kirsch, president; Prof. Ralph W. Jones, treasurer; and Jeanne LeFevre, secretary, who is also in charge of serving refreshments at this meeting.

Author to Speak On State Rivers

"Rivers of Delaware" will be the subject of a talk by C. A. Weslager at the Assembly in Mitchell Hall next Thursday at 11:10 a. m. Mr. Weslager is the president of the Archaeological Society of Delaware and a writer of books and essays relating to historical and folkloristic subjects. Two of his books, "Delaware's Buried Past" and "Delaware's Forgotten Folk," have received wide attention, bringing the "Diamond State" to the attention of outside readers.

Mr. Weslager spoke at assembly last year on archeology and his ability to popularize an otherwise dry subject was proven at that time.

Currently, he has been engaged on a new book relating to Delaware rivers, and has thoroughly explored the waterways of the state for his material as well as delving into documentary sources. As one who has championed the Delaware scene as a rich source for literary and historical material, Mr. Weslager will show how the state's little-known rivers have played an important role in its development.

3 New Members Elected to E-52

The E-52 Players, with this last production, have accepted three new students into their membership. Having earned the required points, Virginia Smith, Adele Flanzer and Joan Cauffiel are now full fledged members.

Virginia Smith is chairman of the Costume Committee, and has been active in college dramatics since her Freshman year. She is an Elementary Education major from Elsmere, Delaware.

Joan Cauffiel is chairman of the Lighting Committee and has handled the lighting for the Christmas Pageant of 1944, and all the plays this year. A graduate of P. S. duPont High School, she is now a senior majoring in Home Economics.

Not only an active member of the Make-Up Committee, Adele Flanzer is also a talented actress. She has appeared in the Cradle Song, the Christmas Pageant of 1944, and I'm A Fool. Her magnificent portrayal of the Fortune Teller in the Skin of Our Teeth has made her a well known figure on campus.

Veterans' Advisory Office Opens In Library Basement

Former YMCA Director Appointed to Iron Out Problems

Mr. Paul Adams has been appointed to the position of Training Officer of the Veteran's Administration to assume his duties here immediately, according to an announcement made by Dean Daugherty.

This office founded for veteran's guidance is located in Seminar Room C in the basement of the library and is open to all veterans. Mr. Adams would like to make personal contact with each individual veteran and to act as advisor and mediator in his courses of study at the University of Delaware.

It is also the purpose of the new officer to serve as an information bureau for all things pertaining to the veteran's welfare under the GI Bill of Rights.

Mr. Adams, in fact, will act as a liaison officer serving to coordinate the veteran, the University, and Veteran's Administration in all dealings. This sort of office has long been needed here because of the great difficulty encountered by veterans in scheduling the needed courses and to fulfill the required curriculum.

It seems that Mr. Adams has quite a personal interest in his new post since he will now come in contact with many of his old acquaintances formed during his work in the past, when he was physical director for the Y. M. C. A. in past years. Mr. Adams worked with many of the boys here now as veterans of the war.

Before entering the Army in 1941, Mr. Adams served as associate physical director and then as physical director for the Young Men's Christian Association in several cities on the eastern seaboard among them New York, Utica, Ithaca, and Wilmington. During the time spent in the Armed services, Mr. Adams attained such positions as officer in charge of recreation and conditioning at the Naval Mine Warfare school at Yorktown, the site of the famous Revolutionary War battle. After that Paul Adams was shifted to Corona, California.

All in all, Mr. Adams seems well qualified to help any veteran that needs aid whatever the problem or need may be. As stated by Mr. Adams himself, "It is hoped that the veterans will feel free to come in to see me if only for a short chat."

Third Lecture On Marriage Held In Mitchell Hall

Dr. Tarumianz Keeps Up Enlightening Pace

Keeping pace with the rapid and enlightening lectures on marriage Dr. M. A. Tarumianz, superintendent of the State Hospital at Farnhurst, Delaware, added to the students knowledge on this subject by speaking both fluently and wisely on the topic of "Personality Adjustments."

The first three quarters of an hour was given to the reading of a paper of the famed doctor's composing on the subject of marriage. In today's world the family is oft times regarded "as a product of the sex cravings of men and women," he said. "Sex eventually becomes the dominating cause for marriage." Although sex is of paramount importance in the beginning of all marriages the inevitable responsibilities bring about "changes in relationship."

"The American philosophy of life and the mechanic age have influenced women toward individuality," Dr. Tarumianz claimed. This has considerably complicated the general idea of matrimony.

Touching the subject of divorce, he stated that "divorce does not give an accurate measure of the success or failure of marriage." The chief reason for the prevalent high ratio of marriage failures is due, primarily, to "sex antagonism." This condition, the doctor added, should not be because "men and women are meant to be complimentary." However, there is "no laboratory technique established for a successful marriage." Believing that it can be of help, "psychology has taken a serious interest in sex." From the conclusions drawn they have found that the "present attitude of sex is medieval," but vast strides have been made to remedy this condition.

There are five reasons for marriage the lecturer emphasized. "1. The Romantic Theory of Marriage. 2. The Licensing of Sex. 3. The Notion of Penalty, or The Rat Trap Conception. 4. The Social Institution. 5. Fellowship.

Laying extra importance on the

"Say, Doc, When's My Check Coming?"

Dear Editor:

In response to a letter to the editor in last week's edition of the REVIEW protesting "the strange attitude of our representatives in the student government toward the people they are supposed to represent," I would like to relate the following information.

All student government meetings are not held at 4:30 on Tuesday afternoon, but on Monday at 7:00; this change was brought about several weeks ago because several members of the S. G. A., due to classes, could not attend the meetings in the afternoon. The notice of a change in time was published in LETTER TO EDITOR entitled "Formal Protest," in the March 13 edition of the REVIEW.

Speaking as a member of the Senate of the S. G. A., there have been no secrets, as have been inferred, but a struggle to organize a new form of government which has no previous minutes, by-laws or rules to go by. It is a difficult task and almost every decision will in time be revised as this new form of government ages.

All meetings are open to any member of the student body, and several people have attended these meetings and offered suggestions. I am sure that if the troubled students will eliminate the idea of secrecy, which only breeds distaste, and offer suggestions instead of criticism a better form of government will develop.

Sincerely
Alvan M. Wolfe

Dear Sir:

Do you remember the University of Detroit Turtle Trudge? Among numerous events, it too was a victim of the war, the last Trudge taking place in 1940. But now, Delta Pi Kappa, journalism fraternity at the University of Detroit is reviving the annual event, with the sixth running slated for April 25.

Now we're asking your school for an entry. Perhaps your school is a veteran of the Trudge. If so, you know all about the race. If not, here are the details:

Turtles representing various colleges and universities throughout the country are shipped to the University of Detroit to take part in the Turtle Trudge, or the race of the turtles. Each school entering a turtle may also enter a picture of one of its coeds in the Turtle Trudge Queen contest. The queen will reign over the ceremonies on Trudge Day. Of course, if your school isn't coeducational, you may enter the picture of any girl whom you believe to be a good candidate (except professional models).

A miniature gold cup is awarded the school whose turtle wins the Trudge, and the girl who is chosen queen is invited to Detroit to preside over the festivities, with all expenses paid by Delta Pi Kappa.

In the past, the Turtle Trudge has gained much publicity, both local and national, with such schools as Texas Christian, Tulane, Southern Methodist, Tulsa, Yale, Santa Clara, and the Universities of California, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, etc., entering candidates. So we sincerely hope that you will send a turtle to represent your school. The only requirement is a dollar entry fee to help cover the expenses of the event.

Let us know your decision at your earliest convenience. If you decide to send a turtle, box him up and send him to: Joseph Sullivan, Delta Pi Kappa, 4066 Pin-gree, Detroit 4, Mich.

Drop a letter to the same address, enclosing your entry fee and your school colors, so we may paint your turtle in appropriate hues. If you would like to enter the race, but are unable to obtain a turtle, enclose an additional fifty cents and we will purchase, paint, and enter the animal in the trudge for you.

Respectfully,
Joseph Sullivan
Delta Pi Kappa

In The Spotlight

Dorothy "George" Catts

One of the most outstanding girls on the campus is Dorothy Catts, better known as "George." Her renown is well-deserved. After all, it's not everyone who can do a back flip with no hands, such as the ones George performs at games. It's not every girl who has the honor of being the sweetheart of the 113th Infantry and a first lieutenant to boot. It's not every girl who can make all of her own clothes with the excellent results that George gets. (Believe me, I know.)

Before she came to the U. of D. George danced with the Roxettes in New York. She has also toured with USO shows. She has been dancing all of her life and would rather dance than eat, which is going some, you must admit. Here at Delaware, she has appeared in many of the E-52 Players' performances, among them The Great Big Doorstep and The Christmas Carol this year. At present, she is assistant director of S. O. O. T. She organized and has captained the cheerleaders since last February. George hails from Cranford, N. J., but some day would like to live out West in a house on a hill. She thinks Delaware is wonderful and her only suggestion for improving it would be a more friendly attitude on the part of the students.

Under the line of pet peeves, George could name only one—people who crack their knuckles! But her list of "likes" is just about endless. They include lemon flavoring, the color yellow, cashew nuts, doing creative work, spaghetti, seafood, and Sigma Nu. She has two good reasons for partiality to Sigma Nu. One is her brother who is in Germany now and plans to return to Delaware; the other is Bob Furmeister to whom she is "pinned." When asked for a definition of the term, she replied demurely that she had "narrowed her field."

Her plans for the future include doing experimental work for a company such as General Mills, marriage in three years, and eventually, to be a grandmother. That, of course, can't be guaranteed, but she certainly has been successful so far.

BLUE HENS CONTINUE DRILLS WITH LONG PRACTICE SCRIMMAGE

Baseball Season To Open Tuesday

Blue Hens Oppose Univ. Of Conn.

On Tuesday the University of Delaware baseball team will take the field against the University of Connecticut nine to open their 1946 baseball season. Coach Martin's squad has been working out for about a month now and he hopes to have his team ready to go when the "play ball" signal is given. This is the first official baseball season since 1943.

This week Coach Martin made his last cut of the squad and it is his hope that the boys he has chosen will be able to give the University a winning club. Those selected on the 1946 squad are: Luke Selby, Bill Cole, Harold Lambert, Phil Doherty, Newell Duncan, Raymond Duncan, Charlie Griffith, Gerald Doherty, Tom Shirk, Paul Hart, Gene Gallagher, George Schaefer, Phil Neff, Len Dougherty, Frank Mathewson, Bill Roy, Joe Truitt, Mac MacDonald, and Dick Wolf. The starting lineup has not yet been decided upon, but it is certain that those mentioned above will see plenty of action during the coming season.

The possibility of having a J. V. team has also been discussed for the benefit of those boys unable to make the varsity squad. It is also to be noted that those boys who have been cut from the squad are still eligible to take part in the practice sessions until a J. V. squad is formed.

Below is a reprint of the University of Delaware's '46 home baseball schedule. It is hoped that the support will be as great for the baseball team as was the interest showed in the basketball team this past season.

All games played on week days will begin on Frazier Field at 4:00 p. m. The Saturday home games to be played on Frazier Field will begin at 3:00 p. m.

Squad Enters Sixth Week Of Intensive Work; Many '41-'42' Veterans Take Part

On Friday the University of Delaware gridders staged a spirited practice scrimmage. After five weeks of intensive work both in the Field House and on Frazier Field Coach Murray divided his squad into two teams for the contest.

The Blue team scored three times while the Whites reached the 10-yard line on one occasion but fumbled at that point.

Those boys who have been outstanding in the spring training and in the practice game on Friday are: Fred Sposato, Paul Hart, Joe Hearne, Gerald Doherty, Angie Cataldi, Bob Jones, Ted Zink, Bob Papy, Al Northwood, Jack Coulter, Bob Glisson, and Jack Weaver.

Doherty, Campbell and Northwood played on the University of Delaware "informals" this past season, while other members of that club who are working out in spring drills are Angelo Cataldi, Scotty Duncan, Joe Hearne, Carl Stalloni, and John Rothrock.

All games including Monday, March 25th, are listed in the standings for the week.

With the Intramural League going into its last week we find the boys from the Training House leading the pack with only two more games to play to cinch the title. These games are with the Annex and Brown Hall.

On Monday night Theta Chi who has been setting the pace all season was handed its second defeat of the campaign by Kappa Alpha in a hard fought game, 27-22. The teams were only separated by a couple of points throughout the whole game until just before the final whistle when a goal by Ruos, who sparked the KA five, gave them a five point lead which they kept for the remaining seconds.

George Ruos led the scoring with 13 points on 6 field goals and a foul, while Bob Campbell was high for the Theta Chi quintet with 12 markers.

In the other contest of the night, Sigma Nu defeated the Brown Hall squad, 46-37, in another thriller. The game was a close one throughout the first three periods, but late in the third period Luke Selby, Brown Hall's big center suffered a badly twisted ankle and was forced to leave the game, this coupled with the timely shooting of Bob Eissner and Verdell Short gave the Sig Nu club the large margin of victory.

"Paul Hart"

With three years in the Navy Air Corps behind him, Paul Hart, Delaware's six foot, two hundred pound fullback returned to the campus this semester to add another cog to Coach Murray's grid machine.

Hailing from Folcroft, Pennsylvania, the ex-torpedo bomber pilot has six years of football experience behind him. Starting out at Collingdale High, where he played for two years, Hart then prepped a year at Friends Central in Philadelphia. From here Paul came to Delaware where a pre-season injury kept him idle all of the 1941 season. In 1942 he became the Blue Hens leading ground gainer while amassing 14 touchdowns during the eight game schedule.

While in the Navy Paul played center and quarterback with the Navy's crack North Carolina Pre Flight eleven. Bigger and faster than he was when he left school, Hart is expected to carry the bulkwork of the Delaware offensive this coming season.

JOHN J. DeLUCA ELECTED ATHLETIC COUNCIL PRESIDENT

Dr. Lanier Succeeds Dr. Daugherty; Basketball Letters Awarded

At a meeting of the University of Delaware Athletic Council this past week Mr. John J. DeLuca was elected president, succeeding Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, who resigned in order to give more time to his office as Dean of Men.

Mr. DeLuca a graduate of the University of Delaware in the class of 1922 is rather well known in sport circles here at Delaware and also in Wilmington. While at Delaware he earned his varsity "D" in football. This is his fourth year on the Delaware Athletic Council. Mr. DeLuca is also president of the Wilmington Clippers.

Dr. Daugherty has been a member of the Council and president for 14 years. Dr. Charles Lanier was elected to succeed Dr. Daugherty.

Other members attending the meeting were President of the University Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, and Director of Athletics William D. Murray.

The council approved the award of basketball letters to Joseph Mackey, Newell Duncan, Raymond Duncan, Robert Kirkland, Richard Grossman, and Philip Neff.

The council also approved the golf and tennis schedules and the plan to hold the Delaware Inter-scholastic Track and Field Meet at Frazier Field on Saturday, May 25th.

Grossman Selected On All Star Squad

Local Star on First Team; N. Duncan Placed On Second Five

Ursinus College, winner of the Southern Division championship in the Middle Atlantic States Basketball Conference has placed three men on the all-league first team selected by the coaches of the six teams represented in the circuit. It was disclosed today. The other two first team posts went to a forward playing for Swarthmore and a University of Delaware guard.

The Collegeville (Pa.) Bears selected for the All-Southern Division five were Glest, a forward, Kennedy, a center, and Love, a guard. Rounding out the mythical quintet are Fausnaugh of Swarthmore and Grossman of Delaware.

Newell Duncan, Delaware's top scorer for the season, was tabbed for a forward berth on the second team on which Haverford placed two men and P. M. C. and Swarthmore one each. The Main Liners named are Johnson and Wagner while the Cadets placed Gallagher, Dillenbeck of Swarthmore's Little Quakers rounded out the second five. The complete selections follow:

First Team

Glest, Ursinus, forward
Fausnaugh, Swarthmore, forward
Kennedy, Ursinus, center

RSSO Schedules Second Brown Hall Party

Attention all RSSO members—this Saturday night will be a red letter night on the RSSO social calendar. So dust off your little pink membership card, borrow a nickel, and make a date with that certain co-ed for the BIG Brown Hall House Party.

The members of the Decorations Committee have refused to reveal what new fiendish ideas they have conceived for this party. All they will say is that it will be "bigger and darker" than ever. There has also been some small talk about "all Hades breaking loose," but this has not yet been confirmed from official sources. At any rate you can be sure that there will be lots of surprises, and lots of fun.

Attendance is limited to members of the RSSO and their guests. However, membership cards can still be obtained from Brown Hall House Council members or from RSSO representatives in the other men's dormitories.

Bob Elssner besides leading his club with a total of 22 points on 10 field goals and 2 fouls also was the high individual scorer for the week. Following him was Verdel Short who added 16 to the cause. Luke Selby was the top scorer for the Brown Hall five with 12 counters.

Next week marks the end of this intramural basketball schedule. It is desired to get the rules drawn up as soon as possible for the intramural softball league which will begin immediately after our vacation. In view of this Max Kurman, intramural director has asked that a meeting be held in the Athletic Office on Thursday night at 7:00 o'clock. ALL INTRAMURAL REPRESENTATIVES PLEASE BE PRESENT.

only to their interest in the Union. Anyone desiring to volunteer their services for the Union will be welcomed, and may do so by contacting Henri Miller, or any other member of the committee. The committee is asking interested persons to volunteer their services for the first two weeks of operation, with the possibility of awarding a bonus at the end of that time, and paying said personnel thereafter.

Any suggestions concerning any phase of organization or operation of the Union will be gladly received by the committee, including the possibility of a more suitable name for the Union. A new organization, as badly needed as this one, has unlimited possibilities for success with the backing and wholehearted cooperation of the students. You can make it what it should be—a Student Union.

Education Bureau To Open in Wilm.

Guidance Bureau to Be Located at Lore School

A veterans' educational guidance center for Delaware will be opened at the Charles B. Lore School, Fourth and Bayard Streets, Wilmington, on Monday, April 8, it was disclosed by Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, president of the University of Delaware.

The center, officially designated as The Veterans' Administration Guidance Center—University of Delaware, will have as its director, Captain Henry Weitz soon to be released to inactive duty by the Army, Dr. Sypherd said. He also stated that Miss Margaret R. Black will serve as psychometrist at the center.

The center is being established to provide educational and vocational guidance services for veterans who apply or who are referred under public laws 346 and 16. At this veteran's facility, ex-service men will be interviewed, given psychological tests and assisted in evaluating their educational and vocational potentialities.

Prior to his induction into the Army as an enlisted man in July, 1942, Captain Weitz taught and conducted educational and vocational guidance work in the public schools in Rahway, N. J. In the Army he was a classification specialist at Camp Lee, Va., an induction station psychologist at Ft. Benning, Ga., assistant section chief in the Office of Director of Military Training, ASF, and finally an instructor and general advisor in the Department of Psychology at Biarritz American University, from which he is now returning to this country.

Captain Weitz received an A. B. degree from Dartmouth College in 1933 and a Ph. D. in psychology and guidance from Rutgers University in 1942. He is 34 years old and married.

As psychometrist at the center, Miss Black will give psychological and aptitude tests to veterans and will assist in analyzing and interpreting the results of such examinations.

From May, 1943, to January, 1946, Miss Black was an Army hostess at Camp Pickett, Va., and at the Indiantown Gap (Pa.) Military Reservation. From 1932 to 1943 she was director of music at the Salisbury (Md.) State Teachers College and was at one time on the staff at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

Miss Black attended the University of Delaware from 1921 to 1923 and received an A. B. degree from that institution in 1940, having attended summer sessions there and at the University of Maryland and Penn State College during the intervening years.

Old College Speaks

An official informer informs us that a recent check revealed that the only restaurant in town that had butter was College Inn.

Incidentally, they made a liar out of us last week. Two days after our column had been turned in and a day before it appeared in print we were served coffee at Old College.

Have you heard of the fellows who registered for a double room upon entering Delaware? The only thing double about it is three double beds. It is pretty hard to study in a room with five fellows, especially when one or more of them usually has friends in for a bull session. Suppose you knocked the other four and their friends out with a baseball bat—dig in a book and what happens? A train thunders by and shakes out the light. We are not just literally speaking for it has actually happened. There is not a place in the room where a lamp can be plugged in so we have pieced together an extension cord. It is not only our system of wiring that is short either, for one of our over head lights has a habit of going out when the fellow in the next room slams his door. Don't be surprised to find Old College going up in smoke some night from a pair of crossed wires.

Well—after getting shocked a couple times we get our desk lamp on, but by this time the baseball bat victims are coming to so you decide it would be better to study in the library. Once there you again bury your nose in a book. This time there is no bull session going on or is there evidence of a train roaring past; in fact, the quiet annoys you and you begin noticing the patter of little shoes guided around by a pair of shapely legs or perhaps it's the aroma of "Evening in Newark," "Breathless," or some other perfume that drifts around your book and you look up to see Louise Daugherty . . . (That girl's perfume really sends us).

This could go on for pages but I suppose we really should be studying biology instead of explaining why we didn't get any done last week and consequently failed the test.

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK: That all fellows stay out of Pop's between 9:45 p. m. and 10:00 p. m. This will give the girls a last minute chance to dash in and buy their animal crackers.

College students throughout America have been invited to attend the first Summer Center of Guatemala, sponsored by the University of Houston, President E. E. Oberholzer of the University of Houston has announced. It will be the first such center ever opened in Guatemala by an American college.

Beginning June 3, the study center in Guatemala will feature courses in English of social, economic, and cultural conditions in Guatemala, Dr. Joseph S. Werlin, director, explained.

Students will leave Houston by train and bus for Mexico City and from there will proceed by plane to Guatemala City, where they will study in cooperation with the University of Guatemala.

The courses offer standard college credit in junior sociology or history. Students may also attend on a non-credit basis, and the courses are open to non-students as well.

"The Summer Center of Guatemala offers students an excellent opportunity to obtain first-hand information about our neighbors south of the border; plus an opportunity to enjoy a vacation-like trip to Guatemala," Doctor Werlin said.

Approximate cost for the Guatemala Summer Study Center will be $300, including transportation, food, housing, and field trips, the director added.

International study centers throughout the world are being planned by the University, with prospects for a summer center in Paris in 1948 and later sessions in Southern Europe, North Africa, the U. S. S. R., and the Far East, with terms in the east and west alternating annually.

Further information may be obtained from Doctor Werlin at the University of Houston, Houston, Texas.

Last week an article appeared stating that a set of permanent rules had been drawn up for Freshmen men and women. Ever since the controversy at the beginning of this there has been some doubt as to whether or not Freshmen should undergo a Hell Week. It is especially questionable in the case of the veterans who will enter next semester. As Paul Montague said, "As for the vets, they may be thinking in a higher plane and not want to fool around. College in itself is hard enough. The basic idea is all right, but well it's an individual matter, and as for myself I don't care for it." Another yes and no answer came from Dan Reutter, "Yes, it's a part of school life but I don't think the vets should do it." C. A. Walls and C. W. Pinto, and I wish someone would tell me which one is which, jointly say, "No, if I had to go through with it I wouldn't like it." Another straight "No" came from Clarence DiSabatino who added "The returning vets are too old."

There were some who thought there should be an initiation, but almost without exception they believed in a modified type of Freshman Hell. Rita Patnovic and Nancy Jernee think that it should be the way it was written in the Review, that is just a hat, a button, and the restriction of certain privileges such as cutting campus and sitting on the wall. They also think "that an actual Hell Week will have to be done away with for it creates too many hard feelings."

To get back to the question Fran Sutherland believes "We should have it but there should be no Hell Week, only a Hell day. And the vets should take part in it too, for the sake of school spirit." Lois Weber said "Yes you should have something but nothing violent." Malcolm Colton, speaking for himself and not hiding behind someone else's name, declared "there should be a cap and a button but no physical abuse." Connie Simon thought as Malcolm did, "A hat and a button are O. K. but Hell Week antics are ridiculous." That seemed to be the general consensus of opinion. Hazel Gamble's answer further points this out. "Sure there should be some kind of initiation. It's a part of college life, but it shouldn't be tough."

Negative replies came from Harry Sadoff and Charles Joseph. Harry says "It's kid stuff" and Cassanova Joseph maintained, "People who come to college should be grown up enough not to have to go through that silly kindergarten stuff."

Lucy Rumpstich, who perhaps knows more about the proposed plans than most of us, further explained them by saying, "It's a custom most colleges observe and it gives freshmen a way of getting into college life for it provides means of meeting others. Many of the vets will be upperclassmen and there will also be many younger boys. For the Freshman vets there will be a provision whereby they may choose whether or not they wish to observe the initiation." She concluded her argument for it by saying "It will be lots of fun." Let's hope it will be "fun" and not a miserable fiasco as this year's was. A little thought beforehand may prevent a lot of unpleasantness later on. The initiation should make the Freshman enjoy college life and not humiliate them so that they grow to hate it.

NOTE TO ED—I know I used "Hell" a lot but how the hell could I have avoided it?

ASME Hears Talk By Roger Fulling

Delegate to National Convention Appointed

Mr. Roger W. Fulling of the DuPont Company addressed a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers on Monday evening in Evans Hall. Mr. Fulling's topic was "What Industry Expects of the College Graduate."

At a business meeting before the talk, Baynard Roe was chosen to be the Delaware Chapter's official delegate at a national convention of engineers to be held for three days at the Pratt Institute during the week of April 22.

A committee was appointed by Chairman John Ott to formulate plans for a banquet to be held in Wilmington the last week in April.

The speaker for the evening stated that although he was associated with the chemical industry, his views on what industry expects of the college graduate would apply to all industries because they are the basic requirements in all fields of endeavor. Elaborating further he said there are ten important requirements of an engineer today: intelligence, loyalty, judgment, dependability, economic sense, health, appearance, cooperation, and social responsibility. Each of these are very important to success, however, having an economic sense and a sense of social responsibility are the two most important.

Speaking further he said, "Persistence and determination are important characteristics of an engineer. These two features usually determine if the novice engineer will succeed in his new position."

According to Mr. Fulling there are five ways in which a person as a student can begin to acquire the necessary personality for success in industry. Scholarship will be a determining factor when a graduate is interviewed for a position. The following of a broad physical education program will insure a person against physical breakdown in future years. Extra curricular activities were stressed because of their ability to give the student the power to talk and mix with a variety of people. Lastly the speaker added that the improvement of speaking and writing ability as well as improving one's social assurance in order to have confidence will prove an invaluable asset in future years.

Skin of Our Teeth Scores E-52 Hit

By Jack Horty

The Skin of Our Teeth is one of those plays that you either like or you hate—there can be no half way measures about it. There were many in the audience last Thursday and Friday nights who were frankly disappointed in the play and must have wondered why the E-52 Players chose to give it. It is something different in style and theme from anything that Mitchell Hall playgoers have ever seen. It is not easy for an audience to accept something new in the theatre, but if they refuse to continually the value and use of the theatre will decline and pass away. I'm sure that those who failed to appreciate "The Skin of Our Teeth" were unimpressed by Thornton Wilder's play and not the production which the E-52 gave of his Pulitzer Prize winner.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" has some wonderful roles: its characters speak a sort of high-flown intellectual jargon mixed with low-brow wisecracks; it has moments of real meaning and depth and moments of high hilarity; it has pathos and excitement. And above all it is wonderful theatre. It is so many things that an audience may be confused and this undoubtedly troubled many people last week.

Sybil Levenson in the role of Mrs. Antrobus gave a very fine performance. Sybil's scene at the microphone in the Second Act was wonderful comedy—the type of comedy she has not had a chance to display in her previous roles. She is a remarkably calm and smooth actress and her comedy scene was all the more surprising in this light.

The amazing thing about Sally Dodge's performance as Sabina was that she made the role so completely her own. Making her debut in Mitchell Hall, Sally is not yet a smooth actress; her inflections are sometimes rather odd, but she had such vivacity and force in her performance, she made Sabina memorable.

Layton Maybrey's best scenes were in Atlantic City when he was being seduced by the exuberant Sabina. His acting is intense and crisp and always expert. Basil Macknick was obviously miscast as Henry. Basil is undoubtedly a good actor but it is physically impossible for him to suggest the innate evil in Henry. Only in the last act did he seem evil. His second act costume (short pants and baseball cap) was very poor because it emphasized the comic aspects of Henry. Ann Scannell was beautiful and charming in the thankless role of Gladys Antrobus. Adele Flanzer was vibrant and emotional as the fortune teller, but Bob Herold

Sigma Nu News

Plans are being completed at Sigma Nu, under the direction of Rushing Chairman George Rossiter, for Rush Week, which extends from March 25 to 30. Highlighting the week will be the smoker on Wednesday night, for which George is lining up last year's football movies, to be presented by Coach Martin. The traditional Saturday night house party will climax the week's rushing.

Last week a new pledge was created when Joseph Karpinski was pinned with the Sigma Nu "Novice Button." Joe is a second term freshman and lives in the Training House.

Preparations are being made by several of the alumni brothers, Joseph Cherpak and Milton Draper, to obtain portraits from two of Delta Kappa's foremost war heroes, Major General John W. O'Daniel and Major General Julian C. Smith. General O'Daniel, more familiarly known as "Iron Mike," graduated in the class of '17, and commanded the Third Infantry Division through most of its combat experience in the E. T. O. General Smith, Marine Corps, commanded the Second Marine Division, famous for its landing on Tarawa. He is currently commanding general of the Department of the Pacific. These portraits will occupy honored positions in the Green Room when they are received.

didn't make the most of the Telegraph Boy.

Layton Maybrey's Act 1 set seemed too impressionistic to me with its jagged edges, teeth-like wall, and vine running around the room, but his Atlantic City set had a wonderful garishness and vitality. The staging (particularly Act II) and the entire production were far superior to anything seen in Mitchell Hall in a long time.

It seemed like old home week on Friday night when the Theta Chi's turned out practically en masse for the final performance of their favorite sons, Harry (Dinosaur Head) Huxford and Frank (The Mammoth) Wilkins, in "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Sig Ep News

At a meeting of the fraternity held last Wednesday night, March 20, Ken Barnes and Carl Cantera were officially pledged to Sig Ep. Both new pledges are members of the Sophomore class; Ken, a native of Newark, attended the U. of D. prior to his entrance in the Navy, and returned here last term; while Carl, who hails from Wilmington, attended Princeton and Annapolis before he entered Delaware at the beginning of this term.

Jack Warren, former president of Sig Ep, who graduated in 1942, is now working in the Chemistry Department.

Covering the Campus

SPRING IS IN THE AIR WHEN . . . Love is in bloom and engagements are flying thick and fast—frinstance, Bobbie Kirk to Johnny Stopyra, announced at the Inter-Frat dance Saturday night. Congrats! . . . The campus blades line up on the wall between Brown and Harter Halls and view the lovely Newark scenery—and the local coeds strolling by . . . The Harterites are seen basking in Ol' Sol out on the lawn, taking more than one wolf's mind off his studies . . . You see Lenny Dougherty monopolizing Nancy McQuaid while Charlie Joseph attempts to give Mary Kumler the big rush . . . You see a lot of bruised noses and limpy walks resulting from the Blue Hens spring football practice . . . Old musical favorites begin hitting the juke boxes again such as Artie Shaw's "Stardust" and Glenn Miller's "Little Brown Jug" . . . You hear the familiar crack of wood against rawhide from Frazier Field where the baseball team is having batting practice . . . The track team gets under way and people begin thinking of other sports like tennis, golf, swimming and weekends at the shore . . . Sport and cowboy shirts for men and nice white ones on the women become popular instead of overcoats, sweaters and boots . . . Students begin thinking (and wondering) about the coming final exams—and then that welcome summer vacation, afterwards . . . Most of us hate to work, love to loaf, but realize that if we want to be back here next September we'd better come down to earth and snap out of it!

A WORD OR TWO FROM A SPRING FEVER VICTIM . . . A couple of bouquets to Dr. Kase for going through with his part in "Skin Of Our Teeth" while suffering from a throat ailment—and to Fred Hartman for a realistic performance of a blind man in the same production—and to the group of Seaford High School students for being a very appreciative audience Friday night . . . Sign found down at Sussex Hall: "To U S Recruiting Office." Hmmm! . . . Directions issued to Henri Miller for Ticket Takers at Mitchell Hall, "I have had Malcolm upstairs and Jean Meyer downstairs; please change them" . . . This was heard in a recent Chem. class—Dave Scott, always the seeker of more knowledge, asked his instructor the derivation of the Chemical term, "ester." The instructor didn't quite know but Scott's fraternity brother, George Grier piped up with, "It comes from Lady Esther face powder!" The crowd roared!

idea of compatibility, Dr. Tarumianz noted that "marriage depends upon fellowship along the pertinent lines of two people. Affection," he added, "is all-powerful." Hence, the need of the modern woman for a mate that is not "just a provider" can not be over emphasized. To be happy while married, the man and woman should possess ample quantities of good health, humor, patience, faithfulness and loyalty. The unwanted qualities are jealousy, temper, lack of integrity, chronic alcoholism, and others too obvious to mention.

The second part of Dr. Tarumianz's lecture dealt, quite frankly and truthfully, with personality and sexual maladjustments. In conclusion, the speaker projected the idea that "most successful marriages are between people who have analyzed their own personalities and know their own faults."

Similar to last week's speaker, Dr. Tarumianz answered all questions (except those of a religious nature). Defining promiscuity, he said, "It is the most horrible thing in human life." People are inclined to pay entirely "too much attention to the idea of sex and not to the application."

Included in the audience was the speaker for this week's lecture, Dr. Lovett DeWees, of the Times Medical Building.

This story came out of a journalism class at the University of Kentucky when the class was discussing the value of evidence presented in a sensational murder case.

The question was raised whether the victim would turn to face his attacker before turning to flee.

A returned war veteran in the class spoke: "I believe the man would have turned toward the slayer before running. My reason is that I once came face to face unexpectedly with a German soldier. He crouched and half lunged toward me before turning to run."

There was a pause and then the veteran pointed to his wrist, "This is his watch I'm wearing."

"Where, oh where has my little dog gone?" And Donald R. Williams, student at the University of Utah, wondered why it had to happen at all. So did members of the University's Geology Department.

The dog, Nippie, followed Williams to school one day. Nippie was later discovered contentedly sleeping in the Geology Building. Beside him was a well-chewed bone.

The bone, well-chewed as it was by the pup, had previously been the department's highly-prized, ancient Orinthe-Scelinda bone.

According to the custom of a psychology professor at Purdue, the doors of the lecture room are locked when the bell rings, thus preventing the entrance of people who cannot seem to get there on time.

At a recent meeting of the class, several civilian students arrived a fraction of a second too late to get in. Before long they were joined by more and more fellow students, and in practically no time the group numbered a dozen, including three sailors.

Much twisting of the door knob ensued but to no avail. The situation looked hopeless, but in the case of the sailors absenteeism meant demerits so something had to be done. After looking about, one member of the group discovered there was a door to the lecture room through the math office beside it, but this entrance was barricaded by filing cabinets.

That problem was soon solved when the fellows managed to move the cabinets. Then into the lecture room and to their seats trooped the determined twelve. Relenting at the sight of such eagerness, the prof decided they deserved an extra ten points for effort.

Press Club Changes Name and Constitution; Becomes Augustan Soc.

At a recent meeting of the Press Club a committee of six members was chosen to draw up a constitution for the CALDRON and also to select a new name for the club. The constitution was drawn up and has been approved by the Student Faculty Committee on Student Publications. The new name chosen was the Augustan Society. The staff of the CALDRON has also been recently elected. The Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager were appointed by the Constitution Committee while the other members of the staff were appointed by these two officers.

AWARD FOR SERVICE

A sleeping village in the path of a raging flood . . . at her switchboard an operator makes call after call to alert the community and summon aid. She leaves only when rising waters reach the board and the building itself becomes flooded.

For this and similar acts of public service, more than 1,200 telephone men and women have received the Bell System's most coveted award—the Theodore N. Vail Medal.

Service to the public has long been a tradition in the Bell System. The thought "service first"—day by day as well as in emergencies—has helped give this nation the best communications service in the world.
