Newark ready for Memorial Parade

by Cathy Thomas

A longtime tradition continues Sunday, May 15, with the presentation of the 53rd annual Newark Memorial Day Parade. Filled with military pageantry, the parade promises to stir patriotic feelings in both veterans and civilians. More than 80 community and military marching units will participate in the parade and memorial services Sunday afternoon.

"I think it is a community event that citizens enjoy," said Linda Burns, secretary for the Newark Memorial Day Committee. "It gives them a sense of patriotism and what their country is about."

Starting off the day's events, a memorial ceremony honoring Delawareans who have given their lives in military service will be held at 1 p.m. in front of Memorial Hall on the University of Delaware campus.

The ceremony will include presentations by the U.S. Coast Guard Drill Team from Cape May, N.J., the U.S. Army 82nd Airborne Division Band from Fort Bragg, N.C., the 4th U.S. Marine Band from New Orleans, La., the 287th U.S. Army Band of the Delaware National Guard and other military and community marching units.

Following the memorial ceremony, the parade will begin.

"When you hear the fire siren at 2 o'clock, the parade is starting," said Burns.

The parade will proceed east along Newark's Main Street from South College Avenue to South Chapel Street and eventually disband on Delaware Avenue.

The units will pass a reviewing stand at Academy and Main streets.

Following the parade, at about 3 p.m. a ceremony honoring Newarkers who have given their lives in military service will be held at the Newark War

Mayor Redd won't seek sixth term

by Cathy Thomas

In an unexpected turn, Mayor William Redd announced during Monday night's City Council meeting that he will not seek reelection to another term next year.

Redd, who is in his 16th year as city mayor, said he felt it was time to move on to other things. He also said that by stepping down he hopes to create a renewed interest in city government.

"The interest in city government has lagged tremendously," said Redd following Monday night's meeting. "I'd like to think the lack of interest is a vote of confidence."

At the same time, Redd said the "amazing degree of lethargy" among voters is not healthy. The election scheduled for this past April was cancelled because none of the candidates faced opposition.

Redd, 66, retired from the DuPont Co. in 1983. He said he felt he was leaving the city in good shape and there was nothing else he wanted to accomplish in city government.

Redd's mayoral term will expire next April, shortly after the municipal election. He said he expects to stay away from city government following the end of this term.

"I want to be able to take a three-month vacation if I want to, instead of a three-week vacation."

Also Monday night, Council approved a resolution establishing Sunday's Newark Memorial Day Parade as an official function of the city. Parade volunteers, concerned about financial liabilities if any problems occurred, requested the resolution.

"The parade committee is totally composed of volunteers," said Sheldon Slater, co-chairman of the parade. "We have always worked under the assumption that we were an official function of the city of Newark."

Redd agreed, saying "this would merely make official what has always been understood."

The city is the largest contributor to the parade. The resolution is meant to absolve parade volunteers of any personal financial liability if problems occur during the parade.

However, the resolution is meant for this year's parade only. Future city involvement in the parade is to be studied by City Council.

Also Monday, Council gave approval to a contract for the construction of a $309,000 parks maintenance facility, although the low bid was $75,000 over budget.

The city's old park maintenance building was destroyed by fire last summer. City Manager Carl Luft said it was difficult to budget for construction of the new building.

"We budgeted very little for this project because it was unexpected," said Luft. "This wasn't the type of thing we had a lot of time to plan for."

The extra $75,000 needed to pay for the project will come from the city's unappropriated surplus funds.

Construction should begin soon on the new facility, to be located in the Phillips Avenue maintenance complex. It's believed the fire that destroyed the old building was started by an antiquated electrical system.

Christina approves premium

Few teachers eligible for incentive plan

A limited number of Christina School District teachers will be offered an early retirement incentive under a plan approved Tuesday night by the school board.

The one-time plan, which would provide a $10,000 incentive to some teachers, is aimed at avoiding some of the layoffs planned for next year.

The district has proposed eliminating some teaching positions because the state has tightened restrictions on funds that have paid for those positions in the past.

Frank Rishel, director of Christina personnel services, said the plan will actually save the district money because lower seniority teachers would be kept. Those teachers eligible for retirement are paid at a higher rate.

"We will recoup the money (spent on bonuses) plus some by the second year," said Rishel.

Rishel expects teachers to take advantage of the plan. "I don't know how many (will retire), but I'm sure there will be some interest (in the incentive plan)."

Superintendent Dr. Michael Walls said he was glad to see unanimous board approval of the plan because it sends a message to teachers targeted for layoff that board members are concerned about the situation.

The plan will carry several restrictions. Only thirteen teachers in the areas targeted for layoff are eligible for the plan. Those areas include

FYI

There will be no excuse for boredom this weekend. Newark will be hopping with activities, from a showcase for athletic dogs to Wilburfest to the annual Memorial Day parade. Not to mention a circus at Delaware Park.

The Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus will come to town Friday, putting its elephants to work raising its 8,200 square foot "big top" beginning at 9 a.m. The tent raising is free and open to the public.

Circus performances will be at 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and also at 8 p.m. Saturday. Tickets cost $8 for reserved seats, $5 for general admission. Call 478-2015.

The Ashley Whippet Invitational, for disc-fencing dogs and their owners, will be held Saturday morning at Barksdale Park. The Frisbees will start flying at 10 a.m. Two hours later, Wilburfest '88, a music festival on Wilbur Street, located off Cleveland Avenue, will begin.

Capping off the weekend will be Sunday's Memorial Day parade at 2 p.m. The parade, one of the East Coast's largest, will be followed at 3 p.m. by a Newark Business Association parking lot party behind Mellon Bank.

Paperboy assists shaken family when young girl falls from window

by Cathy Thomas

Soccer, math class and helping other people are all important to 13-year-old Jeff Mittlestadt of Newark.

And it was Jeff's willingness to help a neighbor that became very important following an accident last Saturday near his Kimberton home.

Jeff, a carrier for the NewArk Post, was delivering papers in Kimberton when he saw 4-year-old Nicole Bee fall from a second story window to the sidewalk.

"I was delivering my papers," said Jeff. "I just heard the screen fall and I saw her fall on her side."

Jeff picked up the child and took her inside her home at 19 Palmer Place. He then helped calm Nicole and her mother, Annette, until the ambulance arrived.

Nicole was taken to Christiana Hospital for treatment. Miraculously, she only suffered minor bumps and bruises in the 15-foot fall to the sidewalk.

Annette Bee said Nicole was playing with her 5-year-old brother at the time of the accident. "My son opened the window. My daughter must have been sitting in the window," said Annette.

Authorities believe Nicole leaned against the screen, which gave way.

Annette, who is new to the neighborhood, was glad Jeff was

Ferguson considers bid for mayoralty

Dr. Hugh Ferguson, possible mayoral candidate.

Former candidate says issues of '86 campaign already addressed

by Cathy Thomas

With the announcement from Mayor William Redd that he will not seek another term next year, several local politicians may begin considering a possible bid for his seat.

Redd's opponent in the 1986 election, Dr. Hugh Ferguson, is one possible candidate.

The 1986 campaign was hard-fought. At the time, Ferguson said he felt it was time for a change in city government.

Two years after the election, Ferguson, principal at Wilmer E. Shue Middle School, said many of the issues during the campaign have since been addressed by city government.

The city and its police department have new management and there is a new comprehensive plan.

"I'm happy all the things that were campaign issues, they've dealt with," said Ferguson. "I'm happy the ways things went."

As far as Ferguson trying again for the mayor's seat, he will wait to see what support he has. "I'm an educator first and I haven't given it much thought yet."

Ferguson said he ran two years ago because he was concerned about the city, but now those problems have been addressed.

Mayor Redd's term will expire next April, shortly after the election.

Rep. Amick will run again

State Rep. Steve Amick

Campaign for second term planned

State Rep. Steve Amick, R-Newark, Monday night announced plans to seek re-election to his 25th District seat.

"I have been involved in the sponsoring of a number of bills which protect the rights of individuals," said Amick. "I am proudest of the one I introduced which has resulted in legislation to greatly reduce the liability for civic associations. This law will enable these civic groups to represent the interests of their communities more effectively."

Amick, who is now completing his first term in office, has been a member of the Land Use and Economic Development Committee, the Transportation Committee and chairman of the Joint Sunset Committee, which oversees all state agencies.

A lawyer, Amick is employed by the DuPont Co. He is a graduate of Newark High School, Washington College in Chestertown, Md., and Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa.

Amick and his wife, Louise, reside on West Chesnut Hill Road in Newark.

PUBLIC NOTICES

A panel discussion on "Child Care in Delaware" will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 19 in the Brookside Community Center on Marrows Road.

The free discussion is sponsored by the Greater Newark Republican Womens Club. Panel speakers include: State Sen. Margo Ewing Bane, State Rep. Jane Maroney, Paula Breen of Child Care Connection, Jo Anne Barnhart of the office of U.S. Sen. William V. Roth and Sandra Hicken Ma of the Delaware YMCA.

County Executive Justice opens re-election campaign

Republican New Castle County Executive Rita Justice kicked off her re-election campaign Monday night during a ceremony at Hockessin Memorial Hall.

In her announcement, Justice addressed what she calls the three major achievements of her first administration: managing growth, providing quality services and promoting a financially sound county government.

Justice said she is the first county executive in New Castle County history to seek two full terms.

"The lack of continuity in this government has meant that we have never effectively planned for the future," said Justice. "And the county has paid dearly for it."

Justice will face Democrat Dennis Greenhouse, Delaware's state auditor, in the November general election. Greenhouse announced in February his intentions to seek the county executive's position.

Chrysler Corp.'s Newark Assembly Plant.

Chrysler, OSHA reach settlement

Chrysler Corp. has reached an agreement with the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration to pay in full the fines levied against the company last summer for violations at the Newark assembly plant.

Chrysler will pay $1.57 million in fines for alleged violations discovered by OSHA during inspections early last year.

Pavment of the fines does not constitute any admission by Chrysler of violations cited by OSHA, according to the agreement.

As stated in the settlement papers, "This settlement agreement and statements herein are made solely for the purpose of compromising and settling this matter economically and amicably and to avoid protracted, expensive and time-consuming litigation."

The Department of Labor proposed the $1.57 million fine last July for 811 alleged instances of job safety and health violations at the plant.

OSHA officials inspected the plant over a four-month period beginning in January 1987 in response to a worker health complaint.

The fine, the largest in the history of OSHA at the time, was proposed for alleged violations involving overexposure of employees to lead and arsenic and serious deficiencies in the company's compliance with the OSHA hazard communication standard. The standard requires that workers be notified of dangerous chemicals in the workplace.

Currently half of the nearly 4,000 employees at the plant are on layoff while the plant is retooled for production of the A-car.

Newark couple killed in destructive house fire

A Newark couple died early Sunday when fire swept through their Breezewood home.

Killed in the fire, which stunned neighbors on what was to have been a festive Mother's Day, were Raymond and Elizabeth McGarry, both 51.

According to State Fire Marshal Paul Santa Barbara, the McGarrys were found on the second floor of their home at 3 Noble Lane. Officials are still investigating the exact cause of death for the couple, but it is believed that smoke inhalation possibly killed them.

Santa Barbara said Tuesday that officials have not yet made a determination on what started the fire.

"It started on the first floor, but we're still trying to pinpoint the exact location," said Santa Barbara. "It has all the indication of being an accidental fire."

None of the McGarrys' five children, age 18 to 25, were home at the time of the fire.

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder of Newark fought the blaze, which was reported about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Damage to the home is estimated at $65,000.

Rabid fox spotted in Newark neighborhood

Some residents of west Newark have been terrorized by a fox believed to be rabid.

"It chased a woman and her dog," said Bob Hairgrove, animal control officer for the Newark Police Department.

The fox has been spotted roaming in the Woodmere area, along Casho Mill road.

Hairgrove said they believe the animal is rabid because of its aggressive nature and the fact it has been seen a lot during the day. "It's a nocturnal animal that has been out in the daytime," said Hairgrove.

Hairgrove is trying to capture the fox. He also wants to get some its actions on videotape, so its behavior can be studied by state health officials.

This fox is not the first one spotted in the Newark area.

"Four rabid foxes have been caught north of Newark since January," Hairgrove said.

Hairgrove is advising residents to stay away from any wild animals in the city and to watch their pets closely.

Several rabid raccoons have been spotted in New Castle County this past year, prompting state health officials to issue emergency orders for the vaccination of all pets.

City commission selects May award recipient

John E. Dohms is the recipient of the city's A Better Newark Award for the month of May.

Dohms' property at 126 E. Cleveland Ave. was chosen for the award because of renovations that have been made to the exterior of the property.

The Newark Conservation Advisory Commission established this monthly award to recognize property owners of homes and businesses who attempt to improve the appearance of their properties through structural renovation and landscaping.

Nominations for the award are accepted at the city secretary's office in the Newark Municipal Building.

Mayer decision 'disappoints' Amick

by Cathy Thomas

Although the Newark Planning Commission has given its approval to the proposed Mayer property development, final determination of Bellevue Holding Company plans to erect offices and a shopping center on the Elkton Road tract will come from City Council in several months.

Expressing disappointment over last week's commission approval of the controversial development is State Rep. Steve Amick, R-Newark.

"My constituents are telling me we have enough shopping centers and they really don't want any more," said Amick.

The 73-acre site, at the intersection of Elkton Road and Christina Parkway, will include commercial, office, warehouse and residential development under the proposal.

Under the plan, 26 acres will be set aside for commercial development of a shopping center, an Acme supermarket and a motel. Office and warehouse development is planned on 42 acres and the remaining land will be residential development.

Amick said he will be working to persuade council members to vote against the project and will speak in opposition to the proposal at council's public hearing.

The planning department had recommended the commission vote against the subdivision plans. While the department expressed interest in annexation of the land, planning director Roy LoPata said the amount of commercial development on the site should be reduced.

Although he would like to see the amount of commercial development reduced, Amick said he would rather not see any commercial development on the site at all.

John Mayer, a family member of the property owners, has said his family will have an interest in the property for 99 years to ensure the upkeep of the property. Amick believes it was that agreement that persuaded commission members to vote in favor of the project.

"I'm afraid that (agreement) doesn't give me a lot of comfort, but it obviously gave the commission some comfort," said Amick. "I'm very disappointed. I guess I really don't understand the reasons they've (the commission) elected to do it (the development)."

IT'S YOUR MONEY

by Ballard, Jefferson,
Moffitt & Urian, P.A.HOW'S YOUR RETIREMENT PLANNING?

When will you retire? On what? Have you deferred some of your current compensation to fund your retirement, expecting to be in a lower bracket then? It's advisable to re-evaluate your retirement plans periodically to make sure that they are realistic in light of income, tax rates, and Social Security regulations.

Heretofore, planners have expected retirees to be in a lower tax bracket because they had less income. But many seniors today have pensions, invested capital, capital gains on home, even taxable Social Security benefits, that may keep them in maximum brackets.

The current tax rates are lower than they've been in many years: a top of 28 percent, plus a surtax of 5 percent for those with taxable incomes between $71,900 and $149,250. But there are no guarantees that rates will stay at that level. It will take some educated guesswork to determine whether an individual would be better off paying low taxes on money now or paying later at an unknown tax rate.

Memorial Day parade features local bands

from 1a

Memorial at Main and Academy Streets.

Participating in this ceremony will be the 4th U.S. Marine Band, the American Rifles historical unit of the Delaware National Guard and the U.S. Navy Ceremonial Drill Team from the Washington, D.C. Navy Yard. The ceremony will be followed by a precision drill performance by the U.S. Navy Ceremonial Drill Team.

Several area high school bands will participate in the parade this year including Newark Brandywine, William Penn, Salesianum, North East, Md., Conrad Alumni and Independence School bands will also march in the parade.

Community groups such as fire companies, scout troops and veteran's organizations are also part of the parade.

"We are honoring not only those who protected our country in the past, but those who protect it now and those who will protect it in the future," said Burns.

Burns has been actively involved in the planning of the parade for several years. Many of her family members were in the armed services, including her mother, who was a military police officer for the Women's Army Corps. Her husband was also in the service and she, herself, worked on an army base at one time.

"(Planning the parade) is challenging," said Burns. "It's a community event. It's something you can do for the community."

Because of her family and her full-time job at the Newark Police Department, Burns believes she won't be able to spend as much time working on next year's parade.

"It's very time consuming. What this (Memorial Day) committee really needs is a part-time coordinator," said Burns. "I'm not going to abandon the committee. I will help them (next year)."

Looking at this year's parade, Burns said the committee is in need of volunteers to help handle the last-minute details.

In addition, they are in need of financial support. Burns said the committee provides a hot meal and transportation for the marching units that have travelled to participate in the parade. The bill for the food and transportation can run as high as $10,000.

The city helps out by providing financial support and donating costly city services, such as police and public works manpower. However, Burns said the committee still needs private donations.

As has been the case for more than the past 30 years, the parade marshal is retired U.S. Army Col. Daniel N. Sundt, whose birthday falls on Memorial Day.

"I started (as parade marshal) in 1957," said Sundt. "It (the parade route) is not a long walk, not for me. I just stay in good shape. I look forward to it each year."

Reviewing officer for the parade is Major Gen. Ronald K.

AT A GLANCE

The Newark Parking Authority and the Newark Business Association are hosting a parking lot party Sunday following the Memorial Day Parade.

The party, featuring free refreshments and balloons, is intended to demonstrate to Newark-area residents that public parking in downtown Newark is just a step away.

The party will be held in the public parking lot at Main and Center streets. It will begin at approximately 3 p.m.

Nelson of the U.S. Marine Corps. The parade will also be reviewed by Delaware Gov. Michael N. Castle and Newark Mayor William Redd.

business education, driver's education, English, home economics, biology, social studies and counseling.

Also, a teacher considering the plan will have to decide quickly. The intent to retire must be submitted to the board by June 1, 1988 with an effective date between July 1, 1988 and August 31, 1988. The teacher must also be eligible for pension from the State of Delaware Retirement System by September 1, 1988.

Jeffrey Pyle, Christina Education Association president, told the board Tuesday night that CEA is glad to see the plan but believes it is too limited.

"We're not opposed. We would like to see it opened up to a wider range (of teachers)," said Pyle.

Paul Mittlestadt, Jeff's father, is very proud of his son. "I think he's different than most kids. I think he cares about people," he said. "He's a very good kid. He's always thinking about someone else."

The whole situation was a little scary for Jeff, who said he just responded in the way he has been taught by his parents.

"That's the way I was brought up, to care about other people. I think you should care about other human beings."

$60,000 found

Delaware State Police confiscated $60,000 in cash Wednesday, May 4 during a traffic stop on Interstate 95 near Newark.

According to police, Bob Bishop, 36, of North Hollywood, Cal., was travelling northbound on I-95 when he was stopped for speeding. Police became suspicious when Bishop could not identify the owner of the vehicle. The trooper at the scene asked for and received permission to search the vehicle.

In side panels on the rear seat, police found the cash.

Bishop was released pending further investigation.

"I'm not easily impressed. But this banking and brokerage statement impresses me."

"My Bank of Delaware Financial Management Account is one of the few things in life that continues to impress me with its sheer quality.

This statement I'm holding says it all. When I see everything on paper, I wonder how I ever managed without it.

The account consolidates all of my banking and brokerage activities into a single package. For example, I don't have to collect my dividends or clip any coupons. The account takes care of all that. It also acts as custodian for my assets.

I get a daily cash sweep - to the last penny - with a choice of money market options. And when I need this money, I simply write a check. As many as I choose.

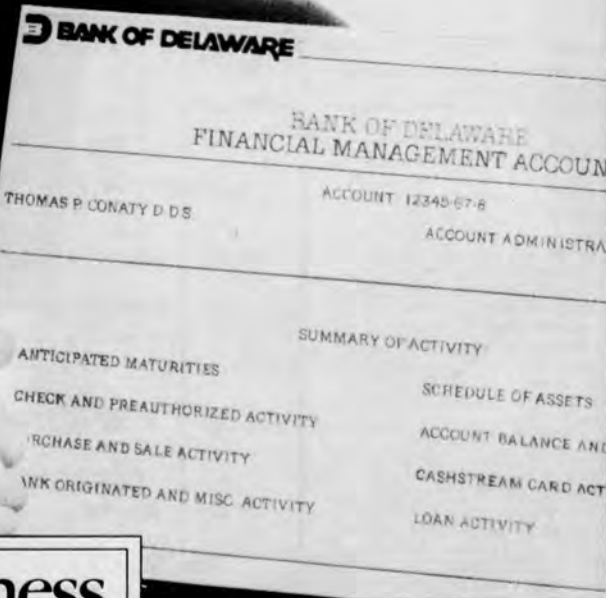

I also get access to Christina Brokerage Services, Inc. - one of the finest discount brokers in the country. I'm now saving as much as 70% on commissions. I have my own private Account Administrator. And I can access a line of credit with interest as low as 1/2% above prime.

They throw in a lot of other good things too. Like a no-fee VISA®, a free CashStream® card, no-fee travelers checks, free safe deposit box. The list goes on.

If any bank has won my respect, it's Bank of Delaware. Their Delawareness idea translates into a top quality product."

St. Mark's High team wins fourth Delaware Science Olympiad

A team from St. Mark's High School captured its fourth straight Delaware Science Olympiad title recently, the first time any school has won the statewide competition four successive years.

The 15-member St. Mark's team and its two faculty coaches — Margaret Christoph and David Stover — will represent Delaware in the national science competition to be held May 20-21.

Science Olympiad is designed to increase interest in science and science careers. The competition also strives to provide recognition of students for outstanding academic achievement.

More than 40 teams representing 30 differing high schools participated in the state competition. The event requires students to demonstrate specific science skills in chemistry, physics, biology, earth science, computer science and other areas.

In all, three St. Mark's teams participated in the Delaware Science Olympiad. The B team placed third and the C team placed seventh.

This was the 12th annual state competition.

Newarkers on the winning St. Mark's team are: Patrick Doyle, senior, Carriage Lane; Kartik Subbarao, junior, Hunter Forge; and Joseph Certesio, senior, Gilbert Court.

Summer computer camps

UD campuses to host program for youths 4-8

Summer computer camps for children between the ages of 4 and 8 will be presented in Newark and Lewes as part of the computers as Partners Project (CAPP), sponsored by the University of Delaware's Department of Individual and Family Studies.

The camps are designed to provide children with the chance to have fun while learning how to use various types of computers. Children have different preferences and skills, and this camp will help them use computers in ways that they find particularly rewarding and enjoyable. Apple, Atari, Commodore, IBM and Macintosh computers will be available.

Younger children will develop beginning keyboard skills, learn to use various computers, use software designed for early childhood and develop pre-programming skills.

Older children will approach the computer as a creative tool. Emphasis will be placed on creative expression using interactive software involving graphics, animation, music and word processing. Programming with LOGO and Robotic Logo toys also will be available.

A staff of trained teachers and parent volunteers will be on hand to assist the children as they explore the world of computers.

The camps are scheduled Mondays through Thursdays, from June 27-July 15 in Newark and from July 25-Aug. 12 in Lewes. At both locations, a section for children from 4 to 6 will meet from 9-11:30 a.m., and a section for children from 6 to 8 will meet from 1-3:30 p.m.

Cost of the camp is $125, and some scholarships will be available. Deadlines for registration are June 1 for Newark and July 1 for Lewes.

For additional information, contact Nancy Pegan at the University's Department of Individual and Family Studies in Newark, telephone 451-2304.

UNIVERSITY

Delaware Valley senior artists sought for University exhibition

All professional and amateur artists and craftpersons 55 years of age and above who live in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania or New Jersey are invited to submit work to the University of Delaware Division of Continuing Education's sixth annual juried regional exhibition, "Senior Artists of the Delaware Valley Area."

The juried exhibition will be held from June 11-July 26 at Clayton Hall on the University's Newark campus.

This year's judges will be Albert Gold, Philadelphia illustrator and faculty member at the University of the Arts; Edward Grant, a painter from Neavitt Md.; and Mitch Lyons, a printmaker and ceramist from New London, Pa.

Entries for this exhibition will be accepted in early June. In Newark, entries will be received at Clayton Hall from 8 a.m. - 6 p.m., Monday, June 6.

Each eligible artist or craftsperson may enter up to three works in any media, completed in the past five years and never previously exhibited at Clayton Hall. Each artist designates whether the work is entered on the professional or amateur level.

For purposes of this show, a professional artist is one who has exhibited in at least three juried shows and creates art with the intent of selling it, and an amateur artist is one who creates art for pleasure, not as a business.

Judging results will be phoned to artists on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 7. Unaccepted work will be available for pick up from Clayton Hall on Wednesday, June 8, and from Rehoboth on Thursday or Friday, June 9-10. Exhibited work also may be picked up from the two sites after the show ends.

As the top prizes in this show — in addition to judges' ribbons and a popular ballot — judges designate several artists for participation in a special award exhibition, "Jurors' Choice," to be held at Clayton Hall in the spring of 1989. Judges' awards will be presented at a public reception on Sunday, June 19.

Guidelines and entry forms for this exhibition are available from Patricia Kent, Clayton Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, De 19716, telephone 451-8841. Past contestants will receive entry materials automatically.

Five honored by the University

Three distinguished educators, a leading business executive and a noted publisher were honored Tuesday by the University of Delaware.

Receiving University of Delaware Medals of Merit were:

• Dr. George H. Henry of Newark, a prominent figure in Delaware education and professor emeritus of education since 1971.

• Jeremiah P. Shea of Wilmington, chairman and chief executive officer of the Bank of Delaware.

• Thomas Yoseloff of Cranbury, N.J., author, editor, publisher, patron of the arts and philanthropist.

University of Delaware Medals of Distinction were awarded to:

• Dr. Edward H. Rosenberry of Newark, professor emeritus of English since 1979.

• Dr. G. Fred Somers of Newark, H. Fletcher Brown Professor Emeritus of Biological Sciences since 1981.

The University of Delaware Medal of Merit is awarded in recognition of contributions to human progress primarily through sustained service to others in the community, state and region.

The University of Delaware Medal of Distinction is presented to citizens of the state and region who have contributed greatly in the areas of professional achievements or public service of national or international significance.

Carrier of the Month

Brett Duckworth

The winner of the Carrier of the Month honor for April is Brett Duckworth of Caravel Farms.

Brett, a ninth grader at St. Mark's High School, joined the NewArk Post carrier corps about a year ago to deliver Hickory Woods. Since that time Brett has expanded his route by serving new homes built in his area.

The son of Barbara and Jim Duckworth, Brett spends some of his free time following and playing baseball. He also collects autographed baseballs, and so far his collection has reached six.

He plans to attend college and enroll as a business major.

For being named the Carrier of the Month, Brett will be given passes to the movies.

Council on Ethics

Dr. Norman E. Bowie, director of the University of Delaware Center for the Study of Values, has been named a member of Arthur Andersen's Advisory Council on Ethics.

Arthur Andersen & Co., a major international business consulting firm specializing in accounting, tax and information systems, established the council to assist in the development of a meaningful business ethics program for use at the university level.

Wise appointed director of UD's
new hotel management program

The University of Delaware's new Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management Program (HRM), scheduled to begin this fall, has its first director.

Paul E. Wise has joined Delaware's Department of Nutrition and Dietetics faculty to direct the program, which will focus on the management of lodging, food and institutional services, combined with practical experience in the industry.

Wise holds a bachelor's degree in hotel and restaurant management from Pennsylvania State University and a master's in food marketing from Michigan State University, and he has been involved with the hospitality business for much of his life.

"My father owned a small restaurant in Boiling Springs, Pa., and I began helping out when I was 10 years old, cleaning up and learning how to cook. While a student at Penn State, I held a variety of jobs from waiter to baker to manager," he said.

Since its formation in 1982, Wise has directed a Hotel and Restaurant Management Program at Prince George's Community College near Washington, D.C., which has, over the years, grown to a program with an enrollment of nearly 300 students.

Wise spent part of his career in the U.S. Army, with extensive responsibilities for food distribution and as a club manager. He also directed the education of service personnel in club management and food service operations, forming the Army's first Culinary Team, which has competed in and won several awards at hotel and restaurant shows.

Before he retired from the military, Wise was responsible for the operation of 670 Army clubs and hotels, which produced more than $300 million annually. He was inducted into the International Military Club Executive Association Hall of Fame.

Designated a certified catering executive by the National Association of Catering Executives and a certified hotel administrator by the American Hotel and Motel Association, Wise serves on the Education Committee of the latter group. He is the 1988 Pennsylvania State University Hotel and Restaurant Society Alumnus of the year.

Wise said response has been good to the University's new program, with more than 100 applicants for 25 available slots. Only freshmen will be admitted this year, with transfer students accepted later.

Students will be required to have 800 hours of paid work in the field before internships during their senior year.

UNIVERSITY CALENDAR

• Dr. Anna Janney DeArmond will be honored as Newark Woman of the Year by the University of Delaware Women's Club during its annual luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Friday, May 13 in the Newark Country Club, West Main Street. ## Macy's to host benefit for Delaware charities

Macy's will host a benefit shopping day for selected Delaware charitable organizations Tuesday, June 14 at its Christiana Mall store.

Last week, Macy's distributed benefit day shopping tickets to 21 organizations, including the YWCA of New Castle County, March of Dimes and Catholic Social Services.

Those organizations will now begin selling tickets at $5 apiece to the general public, and will keep the proceeds. In addition, Macy's will add another $3 for every ticket actually used June 14 and will award bonuses of $2,000-to-$5,000 to the three organizations which sell the most tickets.

In all, the benefit day will enable participating organizations to raise from $3,000-to-$10,000.

Joseph Garbarino, senior vice president of sales promotion for Macy's New Jersey, said, "This event affords Macy's the opportunity to give something to the community with which we have had a long and successful relationship."

Participants are: American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, American Lung Association, American Red Cross, Catholic Social Services, CHILD Inc., Children's Bureau of Delaware, Delaware Association for Retarded Citizens, Delaware Hospice, Delaware March of Dimes.

Also, Geriatric Services of Delaware, Hadassah, Hagley Museum and Library, Leukemia Society, Mental Health Association, Sunshine Club, St. Francis Hospital Junior Board, Spina Bifida Association, United Cerebral Palsy, Wilmington Flower Market, and YWCA of New Castle County.

Mister Donut opens shop in Glasgow

Jim O'Hanlon's Mister Donut has opened its fifth shop, the latest on U.S. 40 in Glasgow.

The new 2,200-square-foot building features a drive through service station, front atrium windows and a bright wrap-around roof awning. Seating capacity is 60.

The shop will offer soups, baked goods, beverages and a complete selection of doughnuts, including the popular Delaware Donut, according to Sean O'Hanlon, owner.

O'Hanlon is the son of the late Jim O'Hanlon, who founded the chain in 1962.

O'Hanlon said the new building is designed to make use of a fast feeder service system.

Consider 'dollar-cost averaging'

There is no foolproof system for outmaneuvering the volatile twists and turns of the stock market. But there is an investment system known as "dollar-cost averaging" that may be the next best thing.

Simply put, dollar-cost averaging is an investment technique by which you buy more shares of a given stock when the price is low and fewer shares when it's high.

And unlike many other touted investment formulas, dollar-cost averaging is a snap to execute. Select a stock or mutual fund that you want to accumulate over a long period of time, and buy a pre-determined dollar amount of shares on selected dates, regardless of the price of the shares or general market conditions on those dates.

Chances are, over the long run, this systematic approach will keep the average cost of shares lower than the average price of the shares purchased. Put another way, by using a constant dollar amount for your purchases, it will cost you less per share than it would if you bought a constant number of shares of those same selected dates.

The secret in dollar-cost averaging is that it forces you to buy more shares when market conditions appear to be at their worst, and fewer when conditions appear to be their best. The tendency among investors is to avoid investing in the stock market when the market is down. But in reality, that's the best time to buy because that's when prices are the lowest.

Here's an example: You decide to invest $1,000 a month in XYZ Corp. In January, the stock is trading at $50 per share. With your $1,000 allotment, you buy 20 shares. In February it drops to $30, you can buy 33 shares. In March it rises back to $50, you buy 20 shares. In April it rises to $70 a share, you can buy 14 shares. Average cost of the stock over the four months is $50 a share — or the equivalent of 80 shares for the $4,000 you invested during the four months. But though dollar-cost averaging, you were able to buy 87 shares.

by Steven V. Chantler

FINANCIAL DIRECTIONS

While dollar-cost averaging is no guarantee against loss, it has proved to be very successful as a long-term accumulation system. Its success is based on several assumptions:

- The long-term trend of stock prices is up.
- The market movement of most securities is cyclical.
- Even though market prices in general may fall substantially, they will eventually return to their former level.
- Long-term prospects for the U.S. economy are favorable.
- So, if you want a plan that helps you take advantage of the market's volatility, try dollar-cost averaging.

(Editor's note - Steven V. Chantler is a financial planner with IDS Financial Services, New Castle.)

Kettner

Top typist

Ann Kettner of Newark is the fastest typist in northern Delaware, having captured first place in Western Temporary Services' 11th annual national typing contest preliminary held March 25-29 in Wilmington.

Kettner out-typed 30 competitors, leaving them in a cloud of keys by pounding out 103 words per minutes with just two errors.

As champion, Kettner won a night for two at the Wilmington Hilton.

National finals will be held next week at Western offices across the country, including that in Wilmington. Typists will vie for a trip for two to Hawaii, $500 cash and a Panasonic electric typewriter.

Bloomfield

Conner-Marvel

William E. Bloomfield, a native of Newark, has joined the Conner-Marvel & Pierce Companies as a financial services representative.

Bloomfield will concentrate in the areas of financial planning, life, health and securities sales. He is a graduate of Purdue University, with a bachelor's degree in financial counseling and planning.

OPINION

EDITORIAL

A record of which to be proud

Mayor William Redd

William Redd announced Monday night that he will not seek another term as mayor of Newark. When the mayor's current three-year term expires in April 1989, he will retire from municipal service.

The decision was made with deep consideration of the best interests of the city. Redd hopes that by stepping down, interest in city politics will step up. He is concerned about the apathy shown in this year's non-election, when none of the three City Council candidates faced opposition.

Such concern for the city and for public involvement in the government of the city has been typical of Redd's long tenure.

Redd believes in Newark, and in Newark's charter form of government. And he has fought hard for both.

Since taking office in the mid-1970s, Redd has worked with city managers Peter Marshall and Carl Luft to help Newark city services grow to meet the needs of a growing community.

At the same time, however, Redd has helped ensure that a larger Newark would not lose its sense of perspective, its small-town community feeling.

Looking back over the Redd years, one must be impressed with the city's accomplishments — a tremendously active department of parks and recreation, a budget which is consistently balanced, an oft-honored traffic island beautification program; in short, a city that works.

At times, Redd has been at the center of controversy, to be sure. But always his primary concern has been for the betterment of Newark and its government. He cares, and his leadership will be missed.

Of local heroes and Ernest Hemingway

At times it seems, judging by the news, every young person in America is causing mischief of one sort or another. Fortunately, that's not true.

Take the case of 13-year-old Jeff Mittlestadt of Kimberston, right here in Newark.

Jeff was out and about Saturday delivering newspapers when a 4-year-old girl fell from a second story window to the sidewalk below.

Jeff saw the accident happen, and his quick action helped lessen Nicole Bee's pain and her family's anguish. He picked up the child and carefully took her into her home, then helped calm both child and mother until an ambulance arrived.

Nicole is doing fine now, having suffered only minor bumps and bruises in the fall.

Far from seeing himself the hero, Jeff was very modest about his accomplishment.

For all you aspiring writers (somehow, that phrase brings to mind Snoopy sitting on top of his doghouse, typing out detective stories), the Newark Post is sponsoring a summer fiction contest so one of you can entertain all those perspiring readers.

Providing for public education in Delaware

Each day during the school year, thousands of children head off to school where they will spend nearly one third of their day. As parents, elected officials, and business leaders, we share the same concerns: that the young people of this state are learning and that they will be able to apply what they learn when they go to work.

There are many elements to a good education system but none more important than our teachers. These individuals play a large role in shaping the future of our children and, ultimately, the future of this state and nation.

One of my top priorities as governor has been ensuring our ability to retain and recruit quality teachers for our classrooms. We have taken a number of steps which have proven quite effective.

First, we have made dramatic improvements in teacher salaries. New statistics show that the average salary for a Delaware teacher has increased a total of 29 percent over the past three years. That's the fourth highest percentage increase among the fifty states for that time period. When considering actual dollar increases, we ranked second overall.

In 1985, Delaware's average teacher salary ranked 21st in the nation. Just three years later we ranked 12th. Only two states advanced their ranking further than Delaware during that time.

by Gov. Michael N. Castle

STATE SIDE

What all this means is that we can now effectively compete for the best and brightest teachers. With the increases we have proposed this year, I'm confident our education system will be an even more attractive place to work. Today we have a better education system for our children, one that provides them with the opportunity to grow into self-sufficient adults making vital contributions to our community.

HOW TO ATTRACT ATTENTION WITH A GOOD HEADLINE

The headline should be considered the most important element of an ad. It's one of the most effective ways to attract the attention of busy readers. The headline must sum up in a few words the major purpose of the entire ad. Your headline should select your particular audience by featuring the benefit which will have the strongest appeal to that group. Your headline could contain an appeal to the reader's self interest because a reader is interested in the products only if it relates to them. Your headline could contain news, because consumers are always looking for new or improved products. Or your headline could contain words that arouse curiosity and lures the prospect into reading on.

John Caples, a member of the Copywriters Hall of Fame and author of "Tested Advertising Methods" suggest the following formulas for writing a good headline:

- 1) Begin your headline with the word "announcing."
- 2) Use words that have an announcement quality.
- 3) Begin your headline with the word "new."
- 4) Begin your headline with the word "now."
- 5) Begin your headline with the words "at last."
- 6) Put a date into your headline.
- 7) Write the headline in news style.
- 8) Feature the price in your headline.
- 9) Feature reduced price.
- 10) Feature a special merchandising offer.
- 11) Feature an easy payment plan.
- 12) Feature a free offer.
- 13) Offer information of value.
- 14) Tell a story.
- 15) Begin your headline with the words "how to."
- 16) Begin your headline with the word "how."
- 17) Begin your headline with the word "why."
- 18) Begin your headline with the word "which."
- 19) Begin your headline with the words "who else."
- 20) Begin your headline with the word "wanted."
- 21) Begin your headline with the word "this."
- 22) Begin your headline with the word "advice."
- 23) Use a testimonial-style headline.
- 24) Offer the reader a test.
- 25) Use a one-word headline.
- 26) Use a two-word headline.
- 27) Warn the reader to delay buying.
- 28) Let the manufacturer speak directly to the reader.
- 29) Address your headline to a specific person or group.

These have proven successful again and again and they can be expected to get results for you. The next time you need a good headline, try one!

White tops Blue, but who's the Hen QB?

by David Woolman

Saturday was a beautiful sunny day, far too nice to spend watching a football game, although 2,580 University of Delaware football fans did turn out to view the annual Blue-White intersquad game.

Unfortunately, what they saw was a rather dull affair won by the White squad 21-7.

The game did verify the reported resurgence of the defense, and the continued lack of spark from the quarterbacking corps, except from sophomore Bob Prosniewski.

The only surprise was head coach Tubby Raymond's admission that he feels he has an idea who will start the season at quarterback. He did not reveal his choice.

"I'm not going to send both of them home (with the decision) when I can say 'the job is possibly yours (to both),' " said Raymond. "I want to get the most out of this summer."

The defense was impressive, particularly the first string (on the White team) which allowed the first string offense (the Blue team) only one score, a touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 25-yard drive. While the combined offenses managed over 500 yards, neither managed many sustained drives.

"I thought it climaxed what we were trying to accomplish here this spring," said Raymond of the game. "Our defense is immeasurably better. It's better in the places where we were ineffective last year."

"I think the defensive front played extremely well. They had the passers in trouble all day.

"I think the secondary, particularly the young people, played well, and of course, we were looking for that."

"I really had a good time playing football today," said end John Levelis. "I saw a lot of guys running around hustling like they were enthusiastic about playing football. That was a switch from last year."

"It was a real team effort. It was just a good experience."

The feeling started at the beginning of spring practice and grew. "It started out that everyone was a little down because Coach Raymond was so hard on us," said Levelis. "But that was expected with the kind of season we had."

"We came together. We had to. I think it's going to carry into

Chins up, Glasgow splits pair

The Glasgow High School baseball team scored five runs in the second inning against A.I. duPont last Tuesday. It was a good sign. Not good enough to bring victory to the Dragons but good enough to show that their upset victory over Concord was neither a fluke nor forgotten.

"They have the spirit of wanting to play good baseball," said coach Dennis Dietrich. "We had some rough spots in the Concord game, too, but in the first part of the game they played well."

The Dragons defeated Concord 5-4 the previous Saturday to improve their Blue Hen Conference Flight A record to 3-5, and to earn themselves a little respect in the conference.

"They made the plays they needed to make in that game," said Dietrich. "They stayed in the game; they never gave up."

The same attitude allowed them to come back from an early 3-1 deficit to take the lead against the team that was predicted to run away with the Flight. Glasgow went on to lose 15-6 to A.I., hurt not a little by Luis Sierra's three homeruns.

"They're up and down," said Dietrich. "Early in the season they were down after a couple of bad games, but they stayed in there."

"I hope that they keep their chins up. A lot of times you get a shellacking, and that's what we got today."

Sierra's three-run homer in the top of the first staked A.I. to a 3-0 lead. Glasgow's Dan Coleman singled in Mark Steele to make the score 3-1.

In the bottom of the second, Glasgow had their inning. Greg Hastings singled, and Larry Epperson and Rob Eastburn walked to load the bases. Paul McDonald singled the first two in, and scored along with Eastburn on an one base error hit by Steele. Bryan Blomquist doubled Steele to third, and Steele scored on an error hit by Josh Nudge.

But A.I. went on to score multiple runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings, the last Sierra homer finally chasing starter Blomquist, who was replaced by Steele. Sierra went four for four on the day, and was intentionally walked once.

"I've been very pleased with Matt Olson," said Dietrich of the firstbaseman, who was one-for-four. "He's having a good season, with a good on base average."

Glasgow, now 3-6 in conference, 3-8 overall, plays at Christiana today, hosts William Penn May 17, and closes out the season by hosting Delcastle May 19.

In the Mood: Newark tennis star eyes title

by David Woolman

It is another windy April day at the tennis courts next to Glasgow High School, and David Moody gives yet another player a lesson in how to deal with the elements.

While others on his Newark team and on the opposing Mt. Pleasant squad struggle, he hits hard with the wind behind him, hits drop shots with the wind in his face and simply shows a mastery of what to do in every situation.

"When you've played as much tennis as he has played," says Newark coach Charles Remsburg, "not too much can throw you, really."

"He's baaadd," says the victim of the day, John Rodgers. "He's so fundamentally sound. I pretty much knew I couldn't beat him. He's got that aura around him."

"He has a total arsenal," says Remsburg. "I've only been (coaching tennis) for four years, but the other coaches claim he is like no other player they have ever seen; that there's just no part of his game that is weak."

"He can forehand, backhand, and place them down the sidelines on both. He has a good overhead, he comes to the net real well. He has an excellent first serve, a nearly equal second serve that will curve away from you. He has the shots. There's nothing he can't do. If a player goes at him in one way, there's always another way for him to beat you."

"I think it just came," says

Moody (9-0 this season) of his versatility. "I started off learning tennis the opposite of most juniors. A lot of kids would rather go out after they learn tennis and watch the pros, and want to hit the ball as hard as they can."

"When I learned tennis, I learned it from consistency; sitting on the baseline and getting it back and forth. As it came on, I got power. I enjoy going to the net, so I started developing that, but since I developed my consistency before, I can sit on the baseline with people."

The 17-year-old first picked up a racket when he was ten, because his parents played. He entered his first tournament when he was 13.

"Actually, I played more basketball. I enjoy tennis more, but I still played basketball until two or three years ago."

"I like the idea of being on your own. They make it a team sport, but it's not really a team sport. You're out there on your own, and you have total control over whether you win or lose. I like that."

Moody learned tennis from Scott Tharp, and now works as Tharp's assistant pro in the summers.

His record at Newark is 41-3 in regular season play; Newark is 31-15 in match play in the four years Moody has been on the team, and the team has never won without Moody winning his match.

Moody played third singles his first year, and finished second in the state. He moved up

Newark High girls court BHC tennis title

The girls team hit balls against the walls of Newark High School's old gym with a vengeance on a rainy day last week while Michelle Lyon complained about the last time the tennis team was mentioned in the Post. The article, she said, focused more on the previous year and its star, Sherry Haideri, than on the present team.

Valid criticism from a team that has succeeded at the improbable task of surpassing last year's achievements.

"Considering that they're defending champions and everyone is out to get them, and they're losing five starters from last year's team, to do better than last year's championship team, that says an awful lot about how hard they've worked," said coach Hugh Mitchell. "They've accepted the challenge, and have answered by beating teams that last year's team could not beat: Archmere, Tower Hill...."

"They're the best team I've ever had."

Defending the Blue Hen Conference title will be significantly more difficult this year with the marked improvement made by Brandywine, who the 'Jackets were scheduled to play this Tuesday. Even without the conference title, the current 10-2 record eclipses that of last year.

What's more, senior Susan Cosgrove broke Haideri's school record with her 41st career win over Mt. Pleasant two weeks ago.

"I was excited," said Cosgrove, who plays first doubles with Elizabeth Craig. "Sherry had the record, and she was an awesome player for four years. It was a feeling of accomplishment."

"I don't think I would have had as much success if I hadn't been here (Newark). We have a really good program, and a really good coach."

Lyon, a junior, currently owns a 36-4 record and will likely own the Newark record before she is through.

"It means a lot, because a lot of people don't know what this team has, and the kind of potential it has," said Lyon, who plays first singles. "It's a close-knit team and only we know what is going on. Coming out as a freshman (where she played third singles) and starting out as well as I did, and playing well as I did last year (at second singles) is really nice."

Newark High has yet to rebuild its tennis courts, forcing the team to practice at one of the local parks and play their home matches at Glasgow. That's just one more

Drexel honors Masley

Frank Masley (at right in photo), a Newark native and graduate of Christiana High School who competed for the U.S. Olympic Team in the 1984 and 1988 Winter Olympics, was recently welcomed back to school by Drexel University President Harold M. Myers (left). Masley, a fourth-year mechanical engineering student at Drexel, finished 12th in the men's luge competition at Calgary, the highest finish ever by an American. He has retired from competition.

Championships on the line

High school track and tennis seasons move toward their climaxes this weekend.

Wilmington's Baynard Stadium will host the New Castle County Track and Field Championships, a preview of the state meet. The county championships will begin Friday with qualifiers. Finals will be Saturday. The state meet is Friday and Saturday, May 20-21.

The state tennis tournament starts Saturday, with the boys playing in a half a dozen different venues around Dover and the girls playing at Glasgow and Christiana high schools as well as the University of Delaware courts. The second and third rounds will be played on Monday and Tuesday, with the boys in Dover and the girls in Newark. The finals will be played Wednesday at the Colonial Tennis Club in Dover.

St. Mark's earns 11th victory in hard-fought battle with Christiana

It could have been as bad as the week before. The Christiana High School baseball team faced another fine hitting team with a good record and a lofty reputation, with Bryan Duzan on the mound.

Unlike the 17-1 drubbing against Newark the previous Thursday, however, the Vikings made St. Mark's work for their 11th victory, falling short 6-4.

"We really didn't expect to win," said Kevin Mullins. "We just wanted to play well. We came out relaxed and hit the ball."

"The win against Dickinson (Saturday, in which Christiana collected 21 hits) gave us confidence from hitting the ball as we did."

Duzan, knocked out of the Newark game in the first inning, gave up only six hits and two walks in six innings against the Spartans.

"I certainly didn't expect it," said Duzan. "I felt good. It was all I could do."

"The pitching was the big difference," said Christiana coach Jack Moore. "When you have a pitcher that you know is going to do well, the team seems to do well behind them. When the pitching falls apart, I think the defense and the hitting fall apart, too, a good example of which was Thursday night (against Newark)."

"Now that Bryan has some confidence in himself, I think that he'll do much better. He had a few bad starts. Now that he did well against the best team in the state, it's going to help him."

The same can be said for the entire team.

"It hasn't happened in the past," said Scott Bowers, "but now everybody feels that we can come out and beat everybody. Staying close to the best team in the state always boosts your confidence."

"It's a lot of fun and it makes us feel more respectable in the league," said Mullins.

The game brought up some of the problems St. Mark's has been having, if an undefeated team has any problems.

"I'm happy with the win, but I'm not happy with the way we played," said Pedro Swann. "I think we're taking it for granted that we're going to win games."

"I don't think we were playing and hustling the way we could today, and that concerns me," said St. Mark's coach Tom Lemon. "I'm also a little concerned about us being more consistent offensively. I think we have the kids to hit the ball and score a lot of runs, and we haven't done that."

Christiana scored in the first inning, as Andy Capone took first on a passed ball after striking out, stole second, and scored on Adam Weber's single. St. Mark's tied the game in the second when Craig Bilinski hit a single to score Rob Knotts, who reached on a fielders choice.

Christiana reclaimed the lead in the third, as Mullins was hit by a pitch, moved to second on Capone's single, and scored on Scott Bower's single.

The Spartans took the lead for good in the fourth inning. Joe Kreisher and Mike Donovan walked, were sacrificed to second and third by Knotts, and brought home by Paul Lavigne's triple.

Hens second in ECC

The University of Delaware baseball team finished second in the East Coast Conference tournament last weekend after finishing second in the regular season.

The Blue Hens lost to Towson State 21-9 Monday afternoon to be knocked out of the double-elimination tournament.

The Hens defeated Rider 13-5 on Saturday, and lost to Towson 2-1 before defeating Hofstra 12-5 on Sunday. Towson State's victory gave them the ECC championship, their first ever. Towson also won the regular season title.

Delaware finished with a 35-12 season, their 22nd consecutive winning season.

Newark netters enjoy the Moody advantage

from 1b

to first singles his sophomore year and earned a 11-3 total record while losing in the quarterfinals of the state championship to the eventual state champion. He was 11-2 at first singles last year, losing in the state tournament final. The match, lost to Stephen Rao of St. Andrew's in the final points of the third set, remains on his mind.

"I really want a rematch," says Moody. "He's a nice player, and I love playing him. It was so much fun."

"It's always on my mind. I think about it a lot, because I was so close to winning that match. It does motivate me."

"My problem is that I got sick of tennis when I came back from Europe (where he played for one of the Junior National teams). I played five hours a day for five weeks. I took a break and never really regained my form."

"I'm playing well, but I'm not in as good shape as I should be. I think right now, if I was in as good shape as I was at the end of last year I'd be playing 10 percent better. I'm going to start, in about a week, seriously training and playing every night to get ready for the states."

"I want to get to the point where when I reach the Brandywine and A.I. matches, I'll be in as good shape as I was last year. Then I'll make the finals."

The A.I. duPont match, today, is for first place in the conference. If Newark (7-2, 6-1 in Blue Hen Conference Flight A) wins, and defeats Brandywine Tuesday, May 10, they will win the Flight A championship, something they just missed doing last year.

"I'd rather see our team win the conference championships than me win all the time. I wouldn't pick any other team. I have a lot of friends on the team and enjoy playing with them. I hit with them quite a bit, and I try to help them as

• Newark — Girls defeated Archmere 3-1 in a rain shortened match. Michelle Lyons, and the pairs of Shelley Donald and Anna Berilla and Susan Cosgrove and Elizabeth Craig won. Boys lost to Archmere 3-2. David Moody and Robert Cords won their matches.

• Christiana — Girls defeated McKean 3-2. Robin Stawicki, Debbie Scerni and the pair of Colleen Maloy and Amy Gobeil won their matches. Boys lost to McKean 5-0.

• St. Mark's — Girls lost to Ursuline 5-0.

• Glasgow — Girls defeated Wilmington 4-1. Kim Leckie, Amanda Backof, and the pairs of Tina Cooper and Juliet Knopf, and Lynn Palute and Karen Raser won their matches.

much as I can. I try to be there if they have questions."

"He's a very quiet leader," says Remsburg. "It's very positive."

"He does present a problem in that he is so good that pairing him off with kids at practices is a difficult thing to do, because he can destroy their confidence. He's a very unassuming kid, therefore from the standpoint of the other kids, there's no 'holier than thou.' He's very supportive of the other kids and they get along very well. From that standpoint, he's a tremendous asset to the team."

Still, the quality of his play (for example, a match this season in which he allowed his opponent three points in two sets) has earned him a reputation which makes his job as first singles and his quest for the state championship that much more difficult.

"It seems like every time I go to the big schools, they're always shooting for me. I always have a crowd rooting against me."

"There's some pressure. It's mainly pressure in the big matches. I expect to win all of my matches into the states."

David Moody's repertoire of shots includes this between-the-legs effort.

Newark girls 'top team,' coach says

obstacle for the team. "Because we've had to go through so much," said Cosgrove, "it's made us closer. We've had to travel to practices, but we've hung together as a team and haven't let it affect us."

Anna Berilla, 12-0 as a freshman at second doubles with partner Shelly Donald, affirms the team spirit.

"Everybody is really friendly. They all help and give pointers. You never feel intimidated by anyone. You always know that they're part of the team, and that they're there to help you."

Cosgrove admitted to some worry about replacing so many starters, "at first, when we first started practicing, just looking around and seeing so many inexperienced people, but after the first couple of matches, we all realized that we were going to be alright."

"I expected we'd do well. I don't know that I expected we'd beat all the teams we have."

A pair of sophomores, Anisa Haideri at second singles and Christie Nardi at third singles, round out the team, which has even more talent waiting in the wings.

"The five or six non-varsity players are better than any five or six non-varsity players I've ever had in the past," said Mitchell. "I see a lot of potential in these kids."

The team should improve on last year's showing in the state tournament as well.

"We peaked right before the tournament," said Mitchell. "I'm predicting we'll have a pretty good tournament."

The tournament begins Saturday with first round play at a number of venues.

UD riders win five awards

Equestrian team fares well in national intercollegiate championships

Five riders from the University of Delaware, participating in unfamiliar events against stiff competition, earned five awards at the National Intercollegiate Riding Championships, held May 1 in Richmond, Va.

Two teams from the University Equestrian Club participated, with the first team, consisting of David Good and Elaine Albers, finishing fifth of 10 teams overall.

"This is the first show of its kind our team has ever competed in," said Good, the Club president. "We rode against national caliber riders in events we aren't professionally trained in. Our goal was just to get some experience and make a strong showing."

The competition was different from the shows in which the Club usually participates in a number of ways. In general, the Club competes in flat riding and jumping events, with horses provided by the host of the show and scores judged on the rider's performance alone.

The national competition had four events: dressage sportif (an event similar to but more extensive than the flat riding event), stadium jumping (an event similar to but more challenging than the usual jumping event), cross country, and a written test.

The UD contestants brought their own horses, rented from Caravel Farms, and were judged on the performance of horse and rider.

The first team finished fifth in stadium jumping and third in cross country, with Good finishing sixth individually. The second team, Kelly Griffin, Karla Schmidt and Allison Suddard, finished in sixth place in the cross country event. Sweet Briar College won the overall show.

"Now that we know what to expect, we can train our riders and work towards this show next year," said Susan Masters, president-elect of the Club.

The Club takes lessons at Caravel Farms once a week, each rider taking lessons at their own level. The Club contains 30 active members that participate in shows.

The Club participates in 10 shows a year, split between the spring and the fall. They finished eighth among 17 teams in a three-state region this past year. They traditionally host their show in the fall.

Calling all setters, spikers

Deadline nears for First State Games volleyball competition registration

The call is going out to all bumpers, setters and spikers in the Diamond State. Teams are wanted for the open section of the First State Games volleyball competition.

Most of the teams that have already applied for spots in the qualifying round have played together as a team in the past, either in recreational leagues or U.S. Volleyball Association competition, according to Barb Viera, coach of the University of Delaware volleyball team and volleyball director for the Games.

However, Viera said any group of experienced volleyball players are welcome, even if they have not played together before.

There will be three divisions of open competition: men's, women's and co-ed. Applications are on a first come, first served basis until Sunday, May 15. There are positions for 24 teams in each group.

The qualifying rounds will take place June 4 for men's teams, June 5 for women's teams, and June 11 for co-ed teams, all at the Carpenter Sports Building on the campus of the University of Delaware.

Applications can be picked up at parks and recreation offices, YMCAs, Carpenter Sports Building and Delaware Sporting Goods. Additional information is available from Tom Sullivan at 834-1975.

There will also be a scholastic level competition for high school girls. Players will try out and then be placed on one of four teams, each with its own coach, for the competition. Applications are available from volleyball coaches at all high schools which have volleyball teams. The tryouts will be held June 12 and 18.

Applications for the scholastic team coaching positions are also being accepted. So far, none of the four positions have been filled. For more information contact Barb Viera at 451-2261.

Defensive effort encourages Blue Hen coaches

from 1b

the pre-season camp. Over the summer, I think the attitude will just keep building and building. Hopefully it will explode against Navy (the first game of the season)."

The offense as a whole lacked spark, but that was expected, what with Dave Sierer and Craig McCoy in a tense battle for the quarterback position, running backs Gil Knight out and Admiral Sydnor not at full strength, and the inspired defense.

"I think the problems we had, the inconsistencies, the problems of moving the ball, are related to some new people playing, and some mistakes that I think we can correct," said Raymond. "I'm a little disappointed (with the quarterbacks). I would hate to have to start the season next week."

Rather than clear up the quarterback question, Raymond added another element in the person of sophomore Robert Prosniewski.

"I certainly wouldn't rule out the possibility that he'd be involved in it before it's over, unless one of those guys takes over. I keep waiting for them."

"I don't think Prosniewski is ready now. He won't be ready in the first ball game. He may be ready to press those people late in the season."

"The one thing about him is that going into the spring we didn't know whether to play him defensively or as a quarterback. Early on, we decided that he was good enough to look at as a quarterback."

"We really have to identify an heir apparent, somebody who would be ready to play a year from now. He certainly has identified himself as a quarterback."

"He has a little bit of flair. He plays like Gannon (former Blue Hen All-America Rich Gannon, now with the Minnesota Vikings) did. He's quick. He believes in himself. He believes he can turn ballgames around. He did in high school. That's one of the reasons we're interested in him."

Raymond also complimented the play of Curt Chastain, a freshman center, Jim Lazarski, a running back turned cornerback, cornerback Marc Sydnor, and freshman split end Shuran Woodyard.

Daryl Brantley only carried the ball eight times for 22 yards, but scored two touchdowns for the Blue. One capped an 11-play 44-yard drive in the second quarter, and the other was a score from the four yard line on the first play after a blocked punt.

Lou Seville scored the other two touchdowns. The first was the first in the game, a thirty four yard run through the middle. The second was the last of the game, a 14 yard run in the fourth quarter for the Blue team. He finished with 48 yards in nine attempts.

HOME FRONT

Galloping toward the White House

It appears that the field in the race for President of the United States is narrowing, fast. Nevertheless, I figure that there is a small chance, even at this late date, for a dark horse to win the race by at least a nose. After all, the horses haven't quite rounded the final turn. Riding this ridiculous horsey analogy to the end of the trail, I think I would be a good candidate for jockeying that dark horse into the winner's circle.

Not being able to dismount from this analogy, some people might wonder what my racing colors are. In a previous column in which I tossed my horse shoe onto the track — jeepers, this horse metaphor really has the bit between its teeth — I came out four-square against the national debt, ring the collar ads, organized crime, matching socks, toxic waste, and succotash.

On the other hand, I have made it clear that I advocate a stable economy, good manners, an increase in exports, standardized safety belt clasps, a decrease in health care costs, mirrors that make me look svelte, and girlish giggles.

After reading the preceding paragraph, the discerning reader recognizes that I don't base my stands on popularity. After all, I lost the under-twelve vote when I came out in favor of cooked carrots — especially when they are served with butter and brown sugar. And I know the Cleanliness Is Next To Godliness lobby dropped me from their approved list like a badly stained tie when they learned I was not opposed to Waxy Yellow Build-Up.

You will know for sure I am a serious, honorable and incorruptible candidate when you read my next announcement which is going to cost me the vote of every English teacher and professional grammarian this side of a dangling participle. My first act as President of the United States — even before I declare matched socks illegal — will abolish the two verbs (and all their tenses) that confound all but those geniuses who understand transitivity and intransitivity, the verbs that lie in wait to lay waste to all but the most intrepid. (Or is it verbs that lain in wait to laid waste?) No doubt you recognize what I am writing about: the Dreaded Lie-Lay Dilemma.

No more will people chew the ends of their pencils in perpetual perplexity while trying to figure out if they lay or laid the book on the table yesterday. And are their son's boots lying or laying the back of the closet? My advisors tell me that I can substitute "Frickle-frickled" for lie and its tenses and the word "clumth-clumthed" for lay and its tenses. After next January 20th, there will be no more verbs to frickle in wait to clumth waste to anything.

As long as I'm going to alienate teachers and clarify the English language, I might gallop on and combine "two, too, to" into "towoo" and "their, there, they're" into "ther." With that done, I will outlaw "whom" altogether.

My brother promised a substantial contribution to my campaign if I'd add a plank pledging to do something about the way English is spelled. Wud that I cud. Tho I sertenly see a need to change the way English is speld, I dowt the task is feesible, so my onor won't alou me to aksept the kash.

My dad and sister, who live in Colorado, have made a reasonable request which my presidential campaign is happy to honor. They speak for the millions on non-recognized but voting people residing in the Mountain Time Zone. At least four times a week TV announcers should slide in Mountain Time between Central Time and Pacific Time when they give the times of TV shows.

Speaking of time, I'm against daylight savings time; springing forward and falling backward — or what ever it is — is too confusing. In addition I am opposed to whiny children, shoe laces that know, checkbooks that won't balance, pantyhose, that run on the first wearing and nuclear war. On the other hand, I support permanent press, dented cars, short check out lines at the grocery store and a balanced budget.

What do you thing? Should I gather my strength and sprint down the home stretch to the finish line, or should I check the odds, roll up my platform and amble off to the barn?

Professional beachcombers pose with their sand-searching equipment at Ocean City, Md.

Combing the beaches for buried treasure

by Nancy Turner

If the thought of buried treasure conjures up images of iron strapped trunks filled with gold and peg-legged pirates clutching parchment maps, you may fall into the category of tourists who build sandcastles and spend at least 35 percent of any beach vacation searching for whole conchs.

But have you ever wondered, just for a moment, what it would be like if an ocean wave flooded your sandcastle moat, only to leave behind a giant diamond ring or a $100 bill?

Where might that shark's tooth necklace you lost in the surf in 1968 be at this very moment? Or how about the one escaping half dollar that rolled, with guided determination, across a dozen or so weathered boardwalk planks before slipping suddenly into the darkness beneath the cracks?

There is gold in them there dunes and as sure as there are finders and there are keepers, each summer season has its losers and its weepers who surrender thousands of dollars in money and valued possessions to the Eastern seaboard's sandy shore, to the mysterious land of lost and found.

When applied to finding lost loot, one rule of thumb is "where there is trash, there is treasure," since trash, unfortunately, is a population indicator.

During peak season in Ocean City, Md., between the hours of 6 p.m. and 2:30 a.m., seven nights a week, four-wheel drive tractors pull giant mechanical beach sanitizers over 10 miles of public waterfront from the inlet north, to the Delaware state line. The work route has yielded as much as two dump truck loads of beach refuse in a single evening.

Designed to collect cans, bottles, cigarette butts and discarded paper, the sanitizers work by scooping sand and then sifting it over a wire, basket weave screen. It doesn't have to dig to China, only about two inches deep, to rid the sand of foreign materials as small as a dime.

Woodrow W. Shockley Jr., the assistant head of the 51-member Ocean City Public Works Department, said that his workers do find valuables mixed with grimy debris. "I don't know why it is, but usually if the guys are going to find anything, when they dump the hopper (from the sanitizers), the good things will be right on top. What you call 'treasure' gets turned into the office. At the end of the summer, if no one has claimed it, it is distributed back to them."

John Wilkerson, of the same department and in his 16th summer working in beach sanitation said, "More than anything, we find trash. We pick up keys, radios, pot pipes, change, false teeth, wallets, jewelry and a whole lot of sunglasses, but the machine tears things up. Like if we find a necklace, it's usually caught up in the mesh in two or three pieces."

Gladys Beckett is beautician, psychologist, friend

Gladys Beckett with customer.

by Nancy Turner

"Being a beautician means being a doctor, lawyer, psychologist, marriage counselor and friend, all rolled into one when you have had some of the same customers for as long as I have," said Gladys Beckett of the Metropolitan Styling Salon in Newark Shopping Center. "I love my work and everything about it."

A native Newarker and 1936 graduate of Newark High School, Beckett will turn 70 on May 12th and has been a licensed cosmetologist for over 50 years, ever since her family doctor said that she would not be physically strong enough to be a nurse.

She graduated from Milford Beauty Academy in Wilmington after completing 1,000 hours of training in 1937 and has been employed at the Metropolitan Styling Salon since September of 1955.

Full of pep and charm, the local sprite's 32 hour work week is usually spent with some of Newark's fairest "band box belles" who keep regular standing appointments week after week and don't want to have to use so much as a hair pin in between.

Beckett confesses that she sometimes misses the genteel atmosphere of a by-gone Newark where ladies scurried into salons, still wearing their hats and gloves from a bridge or tea party on Fridays, to get $1.50 shampoo and sets for fancy university balls, but "friendship lasts a long time," she said. "The customers and people I work with are my life and we have grown together like a family."

Classic hair fashions evolve in cycles. The newest raves in coiffures are very similar to fabulous styles that debuted decades earlier. Whether they are for pin curls of the '40s, the Italian cuts of the '50s, or the pixies of the '60s, Beckett says that the techniques for achieving the looks are what change the most.

With a diffuser in one hand and a mousse spritzer in the other, getting Newark teenagers "dolled up" for prom night has only gotten easier.

Remember when "I can't do a thing with my hair" was a fret? Now it's a simply, wild electric style that began by using spiral permanents to surpass "the natural look" of blow drying at about Mach II speed, a few years ago. But, according to Beckett, even in the 1920's and 30's you could get a similar perm for about $7.50. At this price, the look, which was sometimes frizzy, would last for 9 months, or at least until you had to get your hair cut.

"We started using Eugene and Helene Curtis machine permanents when I was in beauty school," said Beckett. "They looked like milking machines. They had a lot of electric coils hanging down from a big stand that were spiral and had to be hand wrapped and clipped. Once you were hooked up with these things all over your head, you didn't hop out to go powder your nose. You had to stay put for so much time, plus the cooling down time. We had a lady faint once in a perm. Her head just popped right over. We held it up so she wouldn't get a stiff neck while it finished."

A favorite saying used to be that "beauty knows no pain." That was before Lady Clair decided that only "her hairdresser could know for sure."

At some point in time, in between the formulation of the two adages, girls and their beauticians became great friends.

If you are one of Gladys Beckett's beautiful Newark belles, wink once. Some secrets, like friendships, are meant to last forever.

Anniversary

Elks mark 25th

Newark Elks Lodge 2281 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks celebrated its 25th anniversary Wednesday, May 11.

The Lodge was instituted in 1963 with a membership of 73. During the last 25 years, it has supported national patriotic efforts, charities and educational programs.

Members of the Newark Lodge, headquartered on Del. 273 near Christiana, have devoted many hours to local programs — scholarship efforts, Little League team sponsorship, Eagle Scouts, drug awareness, veterans programs and a Youth Fair.

Elks is one of the oldest and largest fraternal organizations in America. Lodges provide recreational facilities for families, and are the focal points for community service efforts.

Squadron

Northeast River

Three Newark area residents were installed as Northeast River Power Squadron officers during recent change of watch ceremonies.

Commander is William J. Heagy of Bear. Stephen Costa of Newark is executive officer and Thomas J. Kennedy, also of Newark, is administrative officer.

Three other Newark residents received honors during the ceremony. Cim R. L'Heureux was named 1987 Man of the Year. William Urban was cited for his work as editor of the squadron newsletter and Robert Turner was honored for the sail contest.

The newsletter was also honored with a U.S. Power Squadron district award, named outstanding publication.

Miss Teen-ager Pageant

Christine L. Wright of Newark is a finalist in the Miss Delaware National Teen-Ager Pageant, to be held June 30 at the Baltimore Marriott in Hunt Valley, Md.

Pageant scoring is based on poise, personality, academics, written application and a personal interview with the judges.

Wright, a senior at Newark High School, is the daughter of Henry N. Wright Sr. Her hobbies include twirling, swimming, modeling, dancing and music. She is sponsored in the pageant by Boyko's Bicycle Shop.

Schuster

Historical Society honor

Stephen Schuster has been honored by the Historical Society of Delaware for his work during the 1987 Candlelight Tours of New Castle.

Schuster, a resident of Denver, Colo. and the son of Marie Schuster of Newark, was one of six volunteers honored by the Society.

Older Americans Month celebrated

by Ken Finlayson

NEWARK
SENIOR CENTER

Older Americans became recognized nationally in 1965 when President Lyndon B. Johnson proclaimed May to be Older Americans Month. The Newark Senior Center is celebrating this, the 23rd anniversary of the proclamation, as are senior centers all over the country.

Eleven Newark Senior Center artists are joining older artists throughout Delaware in displaying their paintings in Dover's Legislative Hall.

Twenty-two of their works were judged by a team of experts and certificates were awarded. Henry Murphy received first place for a drawing entitled "The Dory," and Terri Ward received honorable mention for her oil painting "Blue Flower."

Some of the artists' renditions are available for sale but many are prized by the artists, their relatives and friends greatly beyond their market value.

The Newark seniors work at their craft every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon under the tutelage of Sema Mellian. They create in a wide range of media — oils, acrylics, water colors, and pen and ink. Four of their paintings — "Old Grist Mill," "Spring Thaw," "The Sandy Glen" and "Snowtime" — have been converted into monochrome note cards. The cards are available for sale in packages of eight at the Newark Senior Center's Wise Owl Shop, and proceeds go towards defraying the operating costs of the Center.

May is also the month that the Newark Senior Center honors its volunteers. Saluted are those who give their time and effort to deliver Meals on Wheels to Newark's homebound elderly; drive elders to medical appointments or to the hospital; help with the Wise Owl Shop, Community Day, the flea market and the bazaar; organize the many fun activities such as chorus and Senior Players; and help with the many logistical details involved in an active Center.

According to the National work dramatically increased their life expectancy.

According to Robert Orenslein, psychologist, and David Sobel, physician, in their book "The Healing Brain," the brain's main purpose in life is to act as our health maintenance organization. It is speculated that volunteering releases endorphins that result in a "high" feeling and that reacting with other people is good for both the immune and the nervous system.

Be that as it may, we have direct testimony from Newark Senior Center volunteers that tension, the aches and pains that go with aging, and the disconsolate feeling associated with living alone, disappear when engaged in volunteer activities.

Thus it is clear that giving one's self to others not only serves a needed and useful purpose but can result in a longer and healthier life.

Why don't more people volunteer? A national survey shows that 12 percent don't know how to get involved. Another 12 percent think they may be too old, while 8 percent feel it requires more skill than they can muster.

All these concerns can be resolved by contacting the Newark Senior Center.

There's treasure in 'them thar beaches'

sheer luck, when I was dumping a load from the back of a truck. It was just lying there, right on top, about to be covered up for good." Wilkerson continued to say that while employees were discouraged from sorting through the hoppers of beach debris for treasure on the job, he would do a little treasure hunting on his own, but his wife just doesn't go for the idea of him bringing the beach trash home after work in the back of his pickup truck.

Frank O. Marshall, who also works with the sanitizing machines, had an interesting story: "Last year, this lady lost a small purse on the beach. She thought it had been covered with sand. While she was waiting for help, she took her foot and dug a trench in a circle around where she thought it was, to keep other people away. She didn't leave that spot. When we got there with the sanitizer, we sifted through the area a couple of times and watched the screen. And there it was. We found the purse. She opened it up, right in front of us and pulled out $30,000 from inside. I guess you can see anything in the summer."

To get to the buried booty and that which is lost by swimmers, Wilkerson says he sees a tremendous number of people using metal detectors to comb the coast. He has heard of them even finding gold pieces from sunken ships that have washed inland during northeasterly storms. "We can only go to the high side of the high water mark with the sanitizers because we can't sift wet sand," he explained. "Those metal detectors can really go to it from there to the water's edge. From the pier to 9th street, (less than one mile), I counted 76 of them one night.

"Most of the time, the best finds are between 8th and 12th streets, where the beach is wide and most of the kids hang out. They are the ones who seem to lose more of their jewelry, like class rings. We usually find only small change up by the high rise condos (starting about 94th Street).

"We know this retired couple everybody calls Mom and Pop from Pennsylvania, who come down here with their detectors in the summer. Last year, they sold over $1,000 in found jewelry during one month, before they had to get back home 'to hoe the garden.'"

With the ocean spray tickling your nose and the gentle sensor "beep" of a finely tuned detector tickling your ears, strolling the summer sand can be a delight; but "under the boardwalk, out of the sun" is where the fortune hunters are having their fun.

Richard Harris, director of Public Works in Wildwood, N.J., said, "there are people in Wildwood who actually earn a living in the summertime with sifters under the boardwalk. They use homemade box forms, about 18 inches wide with small chicken wire attached."

Since the City of Wildwood spent about $250,000 a couple of years ago contracting the removal of excess sand, it is possible to walk comfortably under 90 percent of the boardwalk. The boardwalk has been in existence for about a century, so it is not surprising that since excavation, some of the finders' treasurers have included "one and a half pennies" and $5 gold pieces.

"I've heard people tell about finding all kinds of things, which is a lot different from what I have actually seen with my own eyes," said Harris. "One guy did show me a diamond that he said he had gotten appraised for around $5,000. Now I don't know how to tell the value of diamonds, but I know it was large so the value might have been right."

Wildwood has the widest beach on the East Coast, about 300 yards of potential treasure from the water's edge to the boardwalk.

"The majority of people that I see with metal detectors are senior citizens because they seem to have the most time to walk the beach," Harris continued.

"I'll tell you something about those metal detector people though, they are closed mouthed. They don't spread their joy around too much, as far as telling what they make and find. If they did, the next thing you know, we would have everybody walking around on top of each other with detectors on the beach."

THE ARTS

Garth Fagan dancers to perform at Grand

This month marks the end of the 1987-88 season at the Grand Opera House, but far from slowing down, the Grand is ending the season in "grand" style. There are three programs remaining and one of them is a sure-fire winner for the whole family.

This program has the rather strange name of Garth Fagan's Bucket Dance Theater. It is a modern dance company of incredible intensity. Serious lovers of the dance find it fascinating and younger audiences are captured by the energy and motion of this professional troupe.

The leader of the group, Garth Fagan, has, in the words of Dancemagazine "become a choreographer in the great tradition of modern dance who has evolved his own movement idiom and his own aesthetic, and trained a group of dancers to embody them."

The company which will perform at the Grand Opera House Thursday, May 19, at 8 p.m., was founded in 1970 and has toured here and abroad. It has appeared on the PBS series "Great Performances." The "Bucket" has performed at the Joyce Theater, Jacob's Pillow, Spoleto Festival and Ballet/Aspen Festival, no mean accomplishment for any company of any age.

Fellow critic Anne Marie Welsh offered this comment about the troupe coming to our Grand next Thursday: "These dancers simply take your breath away with their beauty, power and control, with their speed and razor sharp changes of direction and dynamics, with their civility and modesty."

The company is so widely recognized by educators for its merit that several local schools have arranged for special performances while the Garth Fagan Bucket Dance Theater is in the area. If you have been looking for an interesting way to get your whole family to Delaware's Center for the Performing Arts, this is your ticket.

Speaking of tickets, they are only $12 for adults and children's tickets are half price! The performance is only one week from today, so I do suggest you call the Grand box office at 652-5577 to make your reservations. It may start you off on a lot of trips for a lot of fun at 818 Market Street Mall.

On Tuesday, two days before Garth Fagan, Andre Previn will conduct his Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra in a program which includes Brahms, Mendelssohn and Walton. This is one of many great American and European orchestras which is gracing the boards at the Grand this season. Previn has brought this orchestra up to be one of the major orchestras in our country from a less than auspicious beginning. Hear and see for yourself.

The final offering of the season, Friday, May 20, has been a perennial at the Grand Opera House and across the country. It is Hal Holbrook as Mark Twain, an unforgettable theater experience. Holbrook will recreate the one man shows of Mark Twain which packed houses for many years. You really have to see a performance to be able to understand how completely Holbrook has "captured" Twain.

Tickets for the Los Angeles Philharmonic range from $22 to $35. Tickets for Hal Holbrook as Mark Twain range from $19 to $25. As with all programs at the Grand Opera House, children are half price.

Yes, the season ends this month, but the Grand Opera House sure isn't acting like it. It will be full steam ahead until the lights fade for the last time until a great new season in the fall.

If you or your family has yet to attend a performance at the Grand, you have three more chances. Why not start with the Garth Fagan Bucket Dance Theater? It would be a great introduction to the Grand and a great night of fun for the whole family. Enjoy!

Wilburfest to be held Saturday

Wilburfest '88, an annual music festival and fund raiser, will be held noon to 7 p.m. Saturday, May 14 on Wilbur Street.

Featured will be four popular local bands — The Freudian Slips, Montana Wildaxe, Vic Sadot and the Crazy Planet Band, and One.

Also, a variety of acoustic artists will perform.

Donation is $3 in advance, $4 at the gate. Admission buttons may be purchased at the Newark Co-op, Wonderland, Rainbow Records, The Malt Shoppe, Main Street Tobacco Pipes and Angie's Sub Shop.

Proceeds will benefit the Emmaus House, a Newark facility which provides food, counseling and temporary shelter to the homeless.

According to organizers, one of the key purposes of Wilburfest is to raise money for worthy local charities and to increase community awareness of the invaluable services these charities perform.

It also provides a forum for residents of the Wilbur Street area, located off Cleveland Avenue, to show their commitment to positive work and change, organizers say.

No alcohol will be served to the public. Persons planning to attend should bring their own refreshments, but bottles are prohibited.

"We're looking forward to having a crowd that can have fun while being responsible about it," according to a statement from organizers.

Gates will open at 11:30 a.m. Rain date is May 15.

Brown's 'Requiem' featured in Dance '88

The University of Delaware Department of Theatre will present its annual dance concert Dance '88 tonight through Saturday in Mitchell Hall.

Performances will be at 8:15 p.m. tonight, Friday and Saturday, with a special matinee at 2 p.m. Saturday.

This year's dance concert will feature the Delaware Dance Ensemble under the artistic direction of Norman Brown, assistant professor at the University. Brown and five student choreographers will present a wide variety of modern dance pieces which are designed to entertain, amaze and amuse.

The second act of the concert, "Requiem (1965-1973)," was choreographed by Brown to the music of Benjamin Britten and features Josh A. Walbert, guest artist and University graduate.

"Requiem" is Brown's response to the Vietnam War. The impact it had on his life is realized through Britten's music and the movement of the Ensemble.

"It is dedicated to those who went and those who remained at home, to those who died and those who survived, to our fathers, brothers and sons," said Brown, "and to the hope, as war clouds gather and guns flash in the Middle East, Central America, Afghanistan and Africa, that those gray heads who sent the young to war will use their diplomacy to prevent more and more senseless slaughter."

On the lighter side, Dance '88 concludes with an outrageously funny piece entitled "Mrs. Mead's Leg."

Tickets cost $5 for the general public, $4 for University faculty and staff and $3 for students and senior citizens. For those on a budget, all tickets to the matinee performance cost just $1.

For ticket information or reservations, call the University Theatre Box Office at 451-2204.

New Ark Chorale to perform 'Sampler II'

The NewArk Chorale, seen posing for a formal portrait, will perform this weekend.

Concert set Sunday in Newark UMC

"American Sampler II," a light review of the rich tradition of choral music in this country, will be presented by the New Ark Chorale at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 15 in Newark United Methodist Church, 69 E. Main St.

The free concert will touch music as culturally and ethnically varied as Southern hymns, show music, rough colonial harmonies, the ever-meaningful spirituals and various folk songs.

Among the folk songs will be arrangements by Ron Nelson and Gail Kubik.

The 21-voice Chorale, directed by Michael Larkin, performed a similar sampler in 1983.

Sunday's concert is supported in part by a grant from the Delaware State Arts Council and a gift from The Brandywiners. For details, call 368-4946.

'Delaware Four'

"Delaware Four," a group exhibition curated by Sally Cooper March of Newark and featuring the work of area artists, has been announced by Helio Galleries of New York City.

Work by March, Donald Becker, Carol Gray and Tom Sain will be shown May 18 through June 5 in the gallery, located at 122 St. Marks Place. Opening reception will be held 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, May 18.

"Delaware Four" is a survey of the four artists working with different subject matter and technique. Included are painterly works of realism, neo-expressionism, abstraction and the representational school.

The exhibition is to introduce these emerging artists in the form of a survey of what is happening in Delaware, according to a gallery spokesman.

Helio Galleries is open 1-6 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday and by appointment.

CHURCHES

CHURCH
CALENDAR

• South Africa will be the topic of discussion during a program at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 15 at New Ark United Church of Christ, 215 E. Delaware Ave. Guest speaker will be Kathy Flewellan, associate director of the Washington bureau of the American Friends Service Committee. Flewellan has recently returned from a stay in Angola and visits to other front-line states in southern Africa. Through this experience, she gained perspective on the current situation in South Africa as perceived by neighboring countries. The talk is part of a church series on South Africa.

• Newark Area Bereavement Support Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 18 in Newark United Methodist Church, 69 E. Main St. The group is open to anyone who has experienced the recent death of a loved one or friend. For details, call 368-8774.

• Dana and Sue Talley, tenor and pianist from New York City, will present an inspirational concert at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 18 at First Alliance Church, Loveville and Graves roads, Hockessin. The Talleys perform in churches, at conferences and on television and radio across the United States and in Europe. Dana, the winner of eight national and international vocal competitions, has performed with 17 national opera companies, including the Metropolitan Opera. Sue is known for her work as a solo artist, composer, arranger and accompanist.

• The Everfaithful Bible Class of Port Penn will hold a yard and bake sale at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 21 on the lawn of Port Penn Presbyterian Church, Market and Stewart streets. Proceeds will benefit the church.

• The Evangelism Committee of White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church, Polly Drummond Hill Road, will sponsor "The Party" on Pentecost Sunday, May 22. The event will celebrate the birthday of the church. The church urges the public to attend its services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. A coffee and fellowship will follow both services.

Missions to be focus at Red Lion Methodist

A missions weekend will be held May 13-15 at Red Lion United Methodist Church, Bear.

The weekend will open at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 13 with a youth lock-in at the church.

Youths fourth grade through high school will be locked in until 2 p.m. Saturday with David Burke of Enthusiastic Youth Ministries. Burke has seven years experience in youth ministry, and has led retreats in 10 states.

His goal Friday is for youth to become excited about serving Christ in their local church. The lock-in will provide opportunities for group building, fun, fellowship, spiritual growth and renewal.

The mission weekend will continue Saturday with a covered dish dinner at 5:30 p.m. and a presentation at 7 p.m. by Charles Walton, a missionary to the Philippines with Wycliffe Bible Translators. Walton and his wife Janice has been on the mission field since 1963, translating the Bible into Philippine languages and sharing their faith.

Four special activities are planned Sunday, beginning at 9:30 a.m. with a Sunday school presentation by Beth Parker, former mission worker with Operation Mobilization.

At the 11 a.m. worship service, Rev. Garry Parker of Wesley United Methodist Church in Elkton, Md. will speak. Parker is the Peninsula Conference mission secretary.

Calvin Alt of Youth for Christ and Ann Mullen of Campus Crusade will speak at 6:30 p.m. There will also be special music.

A thanksgiving and fellowship time will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Temple Beth El plans to open a preschool

Temple Beth El, 301 Possum Park Rd., will be starting a preschool this fall for children ages 2-3.

Sponsored by the Jewish Community Center of Wilmington, the preschool will meet 9-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning in September.

The educational program will offer the opportunity for children to socialize and interact with their peers while developing their Jewish identity.

Activities will include language development, number readiness, arts and crafts, exposure to the holidays, outdoor play and a snack.

For details or to register, call Temple Beth El at 366-8330.
