Harmony Hills Primary Pupils Move From Medill To Gallaher

Elementary School Pupils Residing In Harmony Hills Area Transferred From Medill To Gallaher School Due To Unexpected High Enrollment; Bus Schedules Unchanged

Elementary school students living in Harmony Hills have been transferred from the Medill to the Gallaher school, a "last minute" move as a result of unexpected high enrollment in the district, particularly in the Medill school.

Approximately 130 students are involved in the transfer effective with the start of school today.

School officials emphasized that the move was made to accommodate overcrowding and for control of the transfer.

A memorandum to parents of the transfer, involving the transfer of the children and their parents, was sent to the parents of the children involved in the transfer.

The transfer was made by the school district, and the parents of the children involved in the transfer were notified of the transfer.

American Viscose To Build "Avicel" Plant At Newark

January, 1962 Operation
Expected With Production
Of New, Low Calorie Food

The American Viscose Corporation announced yesterday it will build the first unit of a multi-million pound "Avicel" plant in Newark.

President Gerald S. Tompkins made the announcement at the company's board of directors meeting in New York.

The unit will begin operation next January, the first of a complex to produce, package and ship the product which is used in the preparation of calorie-controlled and convenience foods, from the Newark area.

Avicel is billed as a food that doesn't fatten, and C. Stuart Brown, director of public relations and advertising for the corporation, said the food, drug and cosmetics industries are interested in the product.

The company last month purchased a 28-acre tract of land on Ogletown Road, Route 273, west of the General Foods plant. The land was part of a larger tract which James Stafford sold to the Pennsylvania Railroad about eight years ago and which he has been farming.

American Viscose reportedly paid the railroad $130,000 for the land.

The size and capacity of the new plant were not disclosed. Unofficial estimates of the number of persons to be employed in the plant range from 75 to several hundred.

A corporation official stated that the plant will be a "surprisingly simple production operation."

The Delaware plant will provide sufficient quantities of Avicel, a polycrystalline cellulose, to permit food manufacturers to use the revolutionary product in volume.

U. of D. To Offer Television Course "The New Biology"

Dr. G. Fred Somers Heads
Arrangements At U. of D.
For National CBS Telecast

The University of Delaware has advised officials of Learning Resources Institute that it will offer the television course "The New Biology" for credit beginning with the 1961 fall semester.

The course will be telecast by station WCAU in Philadelphia from 6 to 6:30 a.m. Mondays through Fridays starting late in September.

Dr. G. Fred Somers, chairman of the biology department, is in charge of arrangements at the university.

"The New Biology," first course to be presented on the CBS educational series College of the Air, will be carried by 182 stations affiliated with the CBS network, as well as by educational television stations across the nation.

Dr. Ray Koppelman, assistant professor of biochemistry at the University of Chicago, will be the national teacher.

Guest lecturers will include authorities in the biological sciences from other universities.

The course is planned to include the revolutionary research findings of the post-war years. Emphasis will be placed on cellular metabolism, the integrative mechanisms of biological organisms, and the potential importance of biochemistry and biophysics to biology.

The two-semester college course will consist of 160 half-hour lecture-demonstration sessions.

During Christmas and spring holidays, special guest lectures and recitations will be presented in place of regular class sessions. The holidays will be scheduled so as to coincide as nearly as possible with those of participating colleges.

Learning Resources Institute, sponsor of the course, is a non-profit organization which has administered the Continental Classroom courses.

Previous courses offered for college credit were in atomic age physics, modern chemistry, and contemporary mathematics.

The institute includes in its membership 12 leading national educational organizations and is supported by industrial and foundation grants.

Donors underwriting production of "The New Biology" include the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Koppelman will discuss "The Public Philosophy" and Dr. Jackson "Science and Common Sense." Registration for classes will be held Friday, Sept. 15, and classes will open officially on Monday, Sept. 18.

Among the highlights of the orientation period will be concerts by the university band and concert choir; meetings with school deans; special meetings for commuters and religious groups; and the president's reception.

A separate program for transfer and special students will be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Kastner—all from Maryland; from New Jersey—Craig G. Turnbull and Mrs. Charles Clausen; and Pennsylvania will be represented by Mrs. E. C. Mackler, George Hoffman, and Mrs. Lawrence Billau.

Mrs. Sidney B. Smith, Wilmington, and Mrs. Alex Ulin, Claymont, will be judges.

Two thousand programs have been printed for the show, giving all details, and a copy of the program may be obtained by writing or phoning Mrs. Rodney Eastburn, Capitol Trail, Newark.

Coastal Resort "Season" Hailed As Best, Longest

The 1961 "season" not only promises to be one of the best ever experienced by Delaware's coastal resorts, but also the longest advised by the Delaware State Development Department.

For many years, the "season," as far as Delaware resorts were concerned, ended on Labor Day, and early September brought a peace and quiet that went uninterrupted until the return of summer and vacationists.

According to the state information agency, this pattern has changed in recent years, enabling vacationists to enjoy the warm water, bright sunshine and cool, pleasant evenings that characterize September on the Delaware coast.

Delaware Artists Invited To Submit Christmas Seals

Delaware artists were invited today to employ their brushes in the battle against tuberculosis.

Frank F. Pierson, Jr., executive secretary of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, today urged artists of this area to submit designs for the Christmas Seal which is sold annually to raise funds to combat TB.

The artist whose design is selected by the National Tuberculosis Association will receive a $500 award.

Technical details about the seal design may be obtained by writing to the society, 1308 Delaware Avenue, Wilmington.

The original Christmas Seal was designed, printed and first placed on sale in Delaware in 1907. Several succeeding issues also were designed by Delawareans, but the honor has gone to artists of other states in recent years.

Three years ago a design submitted by Walt Stan of Wilmington received honorable mention as one of the top 10 ideas proposed.

The winning design selected this fall will be used for the 1962 Christmas Seal. This period of time is required because of production involved in printing enough seals for the millions of Americans who use them each Christmas.

Red Rose Rent Celebration Slated For Star Gardens

The 230th anniversary of the earliest Red Rose rent deed discovered in this country will be observed on Red Rose Rent Day, Saturday, Sept. 9, from 11 a.m. 'til dark, at Star Rose Gardens on U. S. Route 1, two miles south of West Grove, Pa.

This annual event open to the public, and for which there is no admission or other charge, is a tradition in this part of the country.

The celebration is based on a deed executed in 1731 within the family of William Penn, which called for the payment of "one red rose yearly if the same be demanded" for land on some of which Star Roses are now being grown.

The old custom of paying one red rose as rental was a symbol of deliverance from the ancient tyranny of perpetual servitude demanded by land-owners in exchange for use of property.

Dean Hastings Assigned To Yorktown In Pacific

Serving in the Pacific aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Yorktown out of Long Beach, Calif., is Dean Hastings, Navy aerographer's mate, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley S. Hastings of 5 Meadow Lane, Newark.

The Yorktown is participating in a "fleet sail" with 20 other First Fleet ships departing for Hawaii to relieve sister vessels now operating in the Far East with the Seventh Fleet.

CHILD SAFETY WEEK
In endorsing observance of the period Sept. 6-13 as National Child Safety Week, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel this week urged all Delawareans to take "every possible precaution towards making our streets and highways safe for everyone, from the very young to the very old, not only for just this special week but throughout the year."

Speaking of Money...

"More new Fund-Raising Ideas for Clubs"

by: JOHN BUCHANAN

Speaking for the Wilmington Savings Fund Society

More new ways for clubs to raise money seems to be a popular subject; so we've done some more research. I think we have some even better ones this time than last.

The ingenuity of Americans in finding new ways for their club to make money is... well, here's one from Chicago, Illinois. A men's club traded on snob appeal. They hired a battery of six young artists. Set them up in the clubroom for three days. Told members they could send in their favorite family snapshot and the artists would reproduce it, enlarged, in pen and ink and framed, for $27.50. The club members enlarged the photos for the artists and did the framing. Made a killing. Repeated it six months later.

One club opened up a private swimming pool to the public on four hot weekends. Hired lifeguards, charged very reasonable admission. Furnished station-wagon transportation for children whose parents couldn't make it.

A church group in Toledo ran a very successful fund-raising promotion for two months. In the church parking lot they created a miniature golf course. Some holes were made out of tin cans with both ends cut out. Some required the ball to funnel between two concentric barrel hoops. One hole required a vertical loop-the-loop shot. Teen-agers of the church were attendants. The apparatus was nicely painted. Night crowds were largest.

A church in Rochester happened to have 12 certified public accountants as members. About tax-time, these men agreed to set up as a panel in the church basement for two days. Any member of the church could come in and get assistance with his tax forms... for a fee. The fees went to the church.

Before any of you accountants write me a huffy letter, the result was that people who had never before considered professional assistance, now consider it a must.

A men's club in Minneapolis came up with this one. One member of the club designed a small, easy-to-make child's scow with a double-ended paddle. It was a very safe boat, and very inexpensive. The working plans were mimeographed. Any member of the club, and the general public, could come out to the club cabin and make one of these boats for his boy. At the cabin the members had set up two power table-saws, power screwdrivers, sanders, and spray painter... and a stock of lumber. You paid for what machines and materials you used... more. The boats all had to be made in a three-day weekend. The club made a dollar profit in three days... and all kids were afloat by Tuesday.

A woman's club in Westlake, Ohio, put a calendar which contained all the dates of town events... club meetings, school and council meetings, special events, Spelman's Club annual fair, even Dance dates. Sold it for $1.50 per. Made $345.

There is nothing wrong with the old ways: the Christmas tree sales, bake sales, and so forth. But with the larger number of clubs seeking to raise funds... you may be surprised... and need to shift to a unique device.

THE SCHOOLS REOPEN

Some 7,000 youngsters are back in Newark public schools under the direction of 400 professional educators, and the mothers of some 750 first graders may have experienced some sentimental lumps in their throats as the little ones went off to school for the first time alone, many mothers of pupils may well have experienced feelings of relief at the partial shift of responsibility from home to school. In any event, the fact that 7,000 pupils are back in their classrooms is a tribute to the efforts of our school administration planning for opening day. And this tremendous task is a lot of good programming, with plenty of headaches and work along the way—effort that goes generally to the entire picture unfolds and the gears of the complicated mechanism mesh smoothly as the result of effort.

an address at the two-day pre-school conference, independent Wilmer E. Shue urged: "Let's throw out the fear, complexes, frustrations, tensions and the let us face reality. Children must be taught; children have their learning directed; children must work."

Teachers must work. Our job is very clear. Let us wring out the play, softness, easy going, take-it-or-leave-it in our schools. Let's get serious and teach that way, and if every teacher, every principal does this—60 minutes of work—teaching in each hour—we need fear no Russia." Nor little else.

McDowell Requests Pentagon To Use Local Tank Plant

U. S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell (D-Del.) has urged the Pentagon to find an alternate use for the Lenoape Tank Plant at Newark if the Army keeps its tank modification work in its own arsenal. McDowell wrote to Denver D. Hargis, of the defense department office for production management, urging the Pentagon and the General Service Administration to "examine the capacities of the Lenoape plant for other industrial or defense uses."

The congressman explained he has not given up hope the Army will rescind its July order placing the plant on the list of facilities up for disposal by GSA. The plant at Newark has been on caretaker status since early 1960. Before that it was being operated by the Chrysler Corporation in modifying M-48A1 tanks. McDowell said the Army still has not indicated any modification of its policy to move the tank renovation program into its own arsenal. He suggested that industries located on the West Coast and performing defense contract work might be interested in adding production facilities on the Eastern Seaboard.

Fair Hill Steeplechase Slated Saturday With Nimrod Vase As New, Added Trophy

All is in readiness for the Fair Hill races to begin this Saturday at the estate of William du Pont, Jr., just over the Delaware line from Newark, in Maryland, and a famous old silver bowl will be placed in competition for the first time as trophy in the featured event, the Fair Hill Steeplechase, which also will carry $3,500 in added money.

From his collection of silver acquired on both sides of the Atlantic, Mr. duPont has selected the piece known as the "Nimrod Vase," and it will become the perpetual trophy in the Fair Hill Steeplechase to be run fifth on the six-race program.

Post time for the first race will be 3 p.m., with daily double betting on the first and second events to be run on the flat. This Saturday afternoon's sport will be first of two—with the second, Saturday, Sept. 16.

In discussing the Nimrod Vase, Mr. duPont gave something of its history and said that it really was bowl-shaped even though engraved in London with the designation "Nimrod Vase." Originally it was presented to the late W. Plunkett Stewart almost half a century ago, as the prize in the Cheshire Cup.

Mr. Stewart was master of the Cheshire hounds in nearby Unionville, Pa. The English engraving also uses the words: "For those devoted to the chase, the turf and the road."

In the opinion of observers this dates the trophy back to the days when coaching was a popular pastime.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, ardent supporters of the races at Fair Hill and of William du Pont's foxhunting activities, presented the prize piece to Mr. duPont. Expected to see the running of the Fair Hill this Saturday are two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart—Mrs. John B. Hannum, III, and Mrs. Joseph Walker.

The Fair Hill will be run at a distance of about two miles, and is a steeplechase for horses of three years and upward. Winner of the Nimrod Vase may keep possession for one year.

While the Fair Hill was run in its early years with only a money prize and no trophy, the du Pont gold cup was put up in 1939. That year C. Mahlon Kline's Whaddon Chase was winner. Mr. Kline retired the gold cup by winning it twice more—with Astronomer in 1952 and Gridiron in 1953. However the Nimrod Vase is a perpetual trophy and cannot be retired by three victories.

In addition to the flat races this Saturday, and the Fair Hill Steeplechase, there will be two hurdles events and a run over timber. The timber race—named the Trouble Maker—has become increasingly popular in recent years and is expected to attract one of the largest entries of the program.

HOT WORK!
Newark High School and University of Delaware football players and their coaches have been toiling under the sultry sun and hot humidity in some heroic action indeed, while most of us have been complaining about the heat in air conditioned offices and homes.

The coaches are doing a tough, professional job, but their charges are out there through sheer courage alone. And it takes courage to run and run some more when every fibre in those sore muscles protests, and each boy is hot and thirsty, and could be resting out the last of summer vacation. Real men in the making!

Newark's Lackman Shifted By Nelson To Delaware End

Luke Lackman, former Newark High athlete, was shifted to end as Delaware's football team began practice at Frazer Field last Friday, for the season opener here on Saturday, Sept. 23, against Lehigh.

Coach Dave Nelson made the change after learning that Dave Ennis, who started as a sophomore last year, will be lost for the entire season.

The 6-1 Ennis, 194-pound wingman from Ridley Park, Pa., underwent an appendectomy three weeks ago and an infection developed. He won't return to school this fall.

The Blue Hens had a somewhat similar experience last year when Dick Broadbent suffered a knee injury that kept him out for the entire season. As a result, the 214-pound senior is eligible for his third year of varsity competition this fall.

Discussing the transfer of Lackman, Nelson said: "He has speed, quickness and good hands. I might have shifted one of the other quarterbacks if they had his quickness."

Lackman is the second quarterback converted to end since the 1960 season ended. Barry Fetterman, a good pass receiver, was shifted last spring.

Nelson said he doesn't plan to return Tom Skidmore to end. Skidmore was moved to guard on the first day of spring drills and showed up well at his new position.

"He has a very good chance to be our No. 1 guard," Nelson said. Nelson's top ends appear to be Broadbent, Ollie Baker, Tom Harrison and Arnie Rozental.

POSTED

The mosquitoes will have the best of it in this warm weather, but the aware hunters of squirrel and for mourning dove opens Friday, Sept. 15, with a daily bag limit of four squirrels and 12 doves. The squirrel season will extend through Oct. 31, and the dove season is split, with the first half ending Nov. 11, and after a six day truce, opening Nov. 17 until Nov. 28.

Boys and girls under 15 may hunt without a license when accompanied by a license-holder.

Take along plenty of insect repellent in addition to that gun and those shells.

The mosquitoes had the best of it last Friday night as the Young Un It was anchored off Poplar Island on the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake.

After a late-in-the-afternoon departure from the Pen-Mar Marina at North East, we lost a race with the sun in bucking a headwind on the bay, and instead of rendezvousing with Bus Humphreys at the Poplar Island anchorage, met darkness and a hungry horde of mosquitoes.

"No wonder we ran aground," Gibby frowned in some delayed examination of the chart after some faulty calculation by the captain. "There's only a half-foot of water there."

And we groped our way around in the blackness to the south of Poplar Island on the windward side, where the cruiser rolled and pitched at anchor in the harbor.

"Let's get out of here!" he said urgently, and we hauled anchor again to ride out the night offshore in the breeze.

Early the next morning after breakfast of bacon and eggs and no coffee—a vital half of the coffee pot had been left at home—we joined a fleet from Tilghman's Island trolling just offshore amid swarms of small bluefish cutting the alewives and surface water beneath scattered flocks of well fed and consequently

With Francis Neide, we fell asleep before the mosquitoes found the range—and Gibby. Much later, Mr. Young's two shipmates were awakened by their companion pacing about the cockpit like a caged panther, waging a solo, losing battle against the winged, needle-nosed legions.

Schools To Face 14-Year Program Or Extended Term

NEA Speaker Addresses
Leadership Conference
For Teachers At U.D.

Lengthening of the school year, or a 14-year curriculum were posed as alternatives facing public school administrators with changes in society and advances in technology, by Taimi Lahit, National Education Association official, in addressing a two-day teacher leadership conference at the University of Delaware recently.

She said California's "junior college idea" is spreading into the Mid-West as an example of the second choice.

The conference, sponsored by the Delaware State Education Association in cooperation with the NEA, opened Monday with a talk by Joseph H. Brewer, president of the DSEA.

Brewer urged school leaders to make teaching the most honored and respected of all the professions. The image of teachers as jacks-of-all-trade and masters of none must be demolished, he said.

Just as other professions have interns, clerks, and novices so should teaching have a designation of differences in knowledge and ability, he concluded.

Dr. Carl J. Rees, provost and dean of the university; Richard W. Doney, of Lewes High School; and Lillian T. Cottone, of Dover High School, addressed the conference.

The two-day leadership meeting, ninth in a series, ended Tuesday of last week.

The five-hour program, designed to awaken community interest in the civil defense aspects of CBR and to review and explain CBR technological advances, has been approved by Col. Earl B. Nichols, Delaware's Eastern Pennsylvania sector commander, and the chief of the Army's Chemical Corps.

The public is invited to view the demonstration and displays which start at 1 p.m.

and Salem Methodist churches.

At the close of last Sunday's worship service, resigning organist Dan Rineer was presented with a gift and best wishes from the congregation. Dan's collegiate life, as a freshman at Maryville College, Tenn., will begin this Sunday.

Weekly Bible study classes led by the Rev. R. F. Coon have been resumed in the Hall Memorial Building at 7 p.m. Tuesdays. Annual Rally Day exercises to be held next month in the Presbyterian church, will mark the end of a term for several Sunday School teachers. Volunteers willing to contribute a term of service to church school work are invited to contact Rhoads M. Speck, superintendent, or Sidney McClain, of the Christian education committee.

Pattern Selection And Fitting Clinic Slated Sept. 14-15

Homemakers who sew indicate that one of their major difficulties in sewing is getting a good fit. The first step and perhaps the most difficult one is finding the right pattern size and figure type.

Measurements are not always the best indication of the correct pattern to buy, but this is one of the guides commonly used. It is important to get a good fit through shoulder and neckline, and if necessary make alterations through the body of the pattern.
