RELIEF AND PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM REPORTED READY FOR SUBMISSION TO VOTE

Special Committees of the Legislature Has Drafted Bill,
Which Will Be Taken to Washington Tomorrow
For Criticism by Federal Director of Relief

Robert W. Kelso, Federal Director, Speaks

Work upon a relief-public works program for Delaware has gone forward steadily under the special committee of the House and Senate at Dover during the past week. Many conferences have been held and studies made by the committee with the assistance of local groups and of federal information and advice. The outstanding recent event has been the address of Robert W. Kelso, regional administrator of federal relief, before a joint session of the General Assembly on Tuesday. Mr. Kelso drew upon a knowledge of conditions and relief measures over the whole country and from this experience provided standards of measurement for what Delaware has done and needs to do for the unemployed and the destitute.

Important facts are these: Delaware has given too little to families in need. Our average of less than $7 per month per person for all the necessities of life is below the minimum in many other states. We have not yet reached the depths of our local depression. Delaware is the only state without taxation for a relief program. The proportion of public works to direct relief to correspond with local conditions is 75 per cent of an adequate fund for public works and 25 per cent to direct relief. That inadequate relief is the most costly and dangerous program for any community—better a high standard of nutrition and comfort whatever the cost than the human wreckage from a niggardly policy.

The legislative committee will have its two bills, public works and relief, in type tomorrow, and will meet federal relief director, Harry L. Hopkins, in Washington, tomorrow, for his criticism and advice upon the bills before they are presented for discussion and vote. The committee will ask Mr. Hopkins if these measures come up to the federal requirement that will put Delaware in line for further federal aid. Mr. Kelso made it clear that the State could expect nothing until the State government had done its utmost to meet the local need. Financially Delaware rates far above most states in available resources.

The legislative committee consists of Representatives Bennett, Jackson, Abrahams and Burris and Senators Neugebar, McCabe, Van Sant and Davis. House Attorney Charles L. Terry, and Senate Attorney Julian C. Walker, will accompany the committee to Washington.

J. W. Parrish Buried In Alexandria, Va., On Saturday

J. W. Parrish, aged 79 years, died in his home in Alexandria, Va., where he and Mrs. Parrish had recently gone to live. Mr. Parrish conducted a jewelry store in Newark for more than fifty years, retiring on account of ill health.

He was about as usual and his death was unexpected. Mrs. Parrish finding him dead in bed about 6 o'clock Thursday morning.

He is survived by his wife and one son by a former marriage.

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, with interment at Alexandria.

Several Newark people attended the funeral.

Rose Garden For Women's College

The Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs will take part in the centennial celebration of the University of Delaware to be held May 11 and 12 by presenting a garden of roses to the Women's College. Each club is invited to share in this project which has been suggested and authorized by the president, Mrs. W. H. Beacom. It is proposed the garden will occupy a plot 60 feet square and will be so arranged as to add beauty to the campus and also pleasure to the college community.

NEWARK SCOUT TROOP WINS FIRST AID MEET MAKES PERFECT SCORE

Large Silver Plaque Awarded Local Troop by Delaware
Safety Council; Vernon Steele, Scoutmaster, and Donald Wilson, Captain, Receive Honors for Team

Woodrow Singles and Kent Preston Conducted Training

The First Aid team of Newark Scouts, Troop 65, made first score, perfect in every point, among 8 competing teams of the Wilmington area at a final meet in the Warner Junior High School, Wilmington, last night. The winning Scouts were Donald Wilson, captain, Harold Tiffany, Arthur Huston, Reid Stearns and Raymond Burnett. The judges were members of the Bell Telephone First Aid Team. Walter Dent Smith, of the Delaware Safety Council, presented the honor prize, a large silver plaque, which was received by Captain Donald Wilson.

The competition was conducted before an audience of 300 or more persons in the auditorium of the school. Eight picked teams, winners of previous district contests contended for a

ELECTRIC SHOW IN WILMINGTON THIS WEEK

Fifth Annual Electric Display
Elaborate and Extensive.
Admission Free

The latest trends in the field of electricity applied to hundreds of pieces of electrical equipment are on display this week in the gold ballroom of the Hotel duPont.

There are displays of electric refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, air conditioners, radios, oil burners in addition to hundreds of unique showings of small electrical equipment pieces which are designed to lighten the work of the modern housewife and introduce the note of perfection into the daily task of the American wife.

The show is sponsored by the Electrical Trades Association, arranged for and conducted by a special committee headed by John S. Reburn, in co-operation with Royal C. Hull, president of the association.

Guilford Choir Delights Many

Rain and fog put no damper upon the enthusiasm of music lovers who attended the concert by the Guilford Choir in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Monday evening. The choir gave an excellent program with its usual fine performance. The audience numbered about 350. The Newark Lions Club sponsored the concert.

VACATION FOR U. OF D. NEXT WEEK

Baseball Team Takes Southern Trip; Five Games Will Be Played

Students of the University of Delaware will have a full week of vacation at Easter. Classes close at noon Saturday of this week and will not be resumed until Monday morning, April 9. This will give more than 700 students and also many members of the faculty a week at home.

University of Delaware baseball team will spend the Easter vacation on the annual southern trip next week when five games will be played with southern colleges. Coach Doherty in charge of the baseball party will leave Newark next Monday. On Tuesday they will play Bridgewater College; Wednesday, Randolph-Macon; Thursday, Wake Forest; Friday, Elon College and Saturday, Hampden-Sydney.

Baseball practice was greatly delayed because of weather conditions and Coach Doherty had little chance to get his team in shape before the southern trip starts. However, if good weather is encountered on the trip it will help materially in developing the team for the schedule after Easter.

The first home game will be April 11 but the team to be played has not been definitely decided on. Haverford plays at Delaware on April 14.

Coach Andrew Bowdle started track practice last week. Charlie Rogers was to return to coach track but was relieved when he secured a commercial position that would interfere with his coaching. The track season will open April 14 with a dual meet with Johns Hopkins on Frazer Field.

ADULT EDUCATION GROUPS OF NEW CASTLE COUNTY IN ANNUAL ASSEMBLY

Choral Singing, Folk Dances, Opera Selections, Religious Drama, and Art Exhibit Represent Weeks of Work

Panel Discusses Public Question

Mitchell Hall was filled on Monday evening with members and invited guests of 25 adult education centers of New Castle County who enjoyed, as audience and participants, an assembly program at the close of eight weeks of work by the 1375 men and women members of the centers. The county chorus filled the main part of the gallery and included the choral singing groups from Eden, Edgemoor, Forwood, Glasgow, Hockessin, Marshallton, McClellandville, Milford Cross Roads, New Castle, Rose Hill, Stanton, Taylor's Bridge, and Welsh Tract centers. In the foyer was an art and handicraft exhibit of work done by groups throughout the county. Pottery, textiles, work in brass and copper, wall decorations, rugs, and decorative embroideries showed variety and attractiveness of design and effective and beautiful use of color and harmony.

Prepared by the distinguished quality of the exhibit in the foyer, the visitor could expect similar achievement in the parts of the program to be given, but only those who have attended previous county assemblies of Delaware's adult education centers is prepared for the cumulative effect of the spirit and excellence of each part of the program and of feeling himself in the presence of one of the most vital movements in the present day world. The "students" of the centers range from those who began their first adult classes with no schooling whatever to those who began where their university education and subsequent study left off. All have sought one thing, the enrichment of their personal lives and to become better fitted to play their part under modern conditions in community and State. That they are finding both needs served by adult education was supremely evident in Monday night's assembly, as can even be read between the lines of the multiphased program distributed at Mitchell Hall.

The chairman for the evening was Miss Sarah Pennington, secretary of the New Castle County Advisory Council on Adult Education. Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University of Delaware, welcomed the assembly to Mitchell Hall; Robert Lee Richards, president of the New Castle County Advisory Council, gave the official opening greeting for the (Continued on Page 4.)

FATHER EARNER'S SUCCESSOR TO BE NAMED SOON

The Most Reverend Edmund J. Fitzmaurice stated today upon inquiry by The Post, that the successor of the late Father James F. Earner, pastor of St. John's R. C. Church, would be appointed some time next week.

Local Police Chief Chases British Embassy

Whether fog or urgent appointment made the chauffeur of a British Embassy car speed past a red light in Newark the other evening is not known, but Chief of Police William Cunningham gave chase for three miles and spattered with mud from chin to toe halted the handsome car, only to find it was a case of "the King can do no wrong" as far as his police duties were concerned. The flashing seals and noble crest upon the credentials of the Embassy driver but heightened the Chief's consciousness of his useless mud bath. The Chief and the Embassy parted friends, but shouldn't King George pay for the cleaner if only that his check might be a souvenir of duty.

Easter Service For Red Men

Members of Mineola Council No. 17, D. of P., are invited by Minnehaha Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, to attend Sunday School and Church services at the Newark Methodist Church, Sunday morning, April 1st.

NEWARK GARDEN CLUB TO THE FORE IN SPRING PLANNING FOR BEAUTY

Organization Provides Opportunity for Town Beautiful Work and Practical Gardening

The Newark Garden Club is about to begin a program of spring activities and is greatly interested in making the town and its immediate environment especially attractive for the arrival of the many guests who will attend the University Centenary in May. If absence has made the hearts of former graduates grow fonder, those who have not been back to Newark recently have probably in their memories a picture of lovely gardens all about, and of blossoming trees and no unsightly places. The Garden Club would have Newark even lovelier than this dream. To do so it needs active local co-operation and new members.

The Newark Garden Club with a membership of about fifty persons was organized June 1, 1931. Membership is open to all citizens in Newark who are interested in maintaining gardens, or in beautifying grounds about their homes, or about public buildings, or in beautifying the streets of Newark. Meetings are held in the homes of members. Programs of educational value provide members with information on plant life, care and growing of plants, control of disease and of insects attacking plants, etc. During summer months tours of gardens provide interest. The society has had several successful flower shows.

The present officers are Miss Freda Ritz, president; Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, vice-president; Miss Nellie Wilson, secretary; Mr. A. B. Eastman, treasurer.

Program Committee—Mrs. T. F. Manns, Miss Edwina Long, Mrs. R. O. Bausman, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. A. B. Eastman, Mrs. Edward Ginter.

Tree Committee—Prof. L. R. Detjen, Dr. R. E. Price, Mrs. M. M. Daugherty, Mrs. E. L. Richards, Mrs. G. W. Rhodes, Mr. A. B. Eastman, Mr. T. A. Baker.

To Graduates and Friends of The University of Delaware: The Centenary Celebration of The University will be held at Newark, May 11, 12, 13, Friday, Saturday, Sunday. Make your plans now to keep this week-end free for "Old Delaware."

Checks and Other Gifts Coming In

Gifts in commemoration of the arrival of the University of Delaware at its 100th Anniversary have begun to pour into the Centenary Office in Old College. Thus far they have been chiefly in the form of checks from members of the Alumni and Alumnae, and from the Faculty.

Folders detailing the larger and smaller needs of the University have been sent out to every graduate, and the Class Representative for each year has set the proportionate amount that each individual graduate or student should contribute for the Class Gift. Classes from 1875 to 1934 inclusive will make offerings.

The oldest Class represented in gifts sent in already is that of 1885, a contribution having arrived from Miss Ida Simmons, Denton, Md.

An interesting episode that occurred last week was the visit of the Rev. Francis Burgette Short, D. D., LL. D., of Milford, Del., to the Centenary Office. In behalf of the two members of the Class of 1891 living in Delaware, Thomas Clayton Frame, Dover attorney, and himself, Dr. Short presented a superb copy of Webster's New International Dictionary, Reference History Edition in India Paper. No more useful gift to a college or school could be offered.

The last gift to be received during the week was a check of $200 from the Alumni of Delaware Alpha Chapter of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, to be applied according to the judgment of the Centenary Gifts Committee.

With preparations for the Centenary of the University of Delaware rapidly assuming form as the date of the celebration, May 11, 12, and 13, draws near, the story of the Semi-Centennial of Delaware College, held on June 18, 1884, in connection with the Commencement exercises, as told in the Newark Ledger of June 21, 1884, is of special interest at this time. A copy of this newspaper has been sent to the Centenary Office by Mrs. H. I. Garrett, of Newark, Del., with other important relics.

The Semi-Centennial exercises were held on the Campus beneath two large canvas tents. The attendance proved unusually large, and many, unable to get under the canvas, sat in the shade of the venerable lindens.

A Greek motto hung above the stage—"A Crown Without Dust"—with the dates, 1834-1884. The Faculty and students formed in the Oratory and proceeded in orderly array to the platform on the campus.

Louis L. Curtis was the valedictorian and W. R. Huston offered the Latin Salutatory. This was on Wednesday, Commencement Day. Other speakers were Agnes Armitage Evans, Alfred B. McVey, F. M. Purnell, Harvey W. Ewing, A. M. Polk, G. A. Cameron, Imogen Polk, and H. Greeley Knowles, all graduates of the Class of 1884.

President William H. Purnell spoke at length on the history of the college since its organization. Prizes were awarded as follows: Alumni prizes for declamation and reading, $15 each to Annie T. Reynolds and Victor B. Wooley; $30 prize in Chemistry in memory of Dr. Charles E. Ferris, one-time Professor of Chemistry at the College, to George A. Cameron, California; the Grenier prize of $10 to Miss Annie T. Reynolds, presented by Prof. A. A. Benton; the Soule Prize to Louis L. Curtis, presented by Dr. Murphey.

Secretary of State William F. Causey, one of the distinguished men who attended Delaware College, was the orator of the occasion. Throngs of old students filled the campus, and the occasion was voted a huge success. The Alumni Dinner was held at the Washington House.

On the preceding Sunday, the Rev. William Simonton, of Emmitsburg, a member of the Class of 1846, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon. On Monday evening, under the large tents on the campus, the Delta Phi Reunion was held, with Elias S. Reed, Class of 1855, and Rev. Robert H. Williams, an early student as orators. The Athenaeum Reunion was held under the tents on Tuesday evening, with James T. McCullough, an early student, Rev. Joseph G. Williamson, Class of 1846, and Thomas Davis, Class of 1875, as speakers.

Other items of interest sent in by Mrs. Garrett include: Programs of Declamation prize contests held in 1881, 1882, 1883, and 1884; Class Day Exercises, 1886; Copy of the Sun Flower, a tiny magazine issued April 28, 1882; Concert of Athenaeum Society, April 14, 1882; program of Commencement Exercises on June 21, 1882.

These items will be filed in the Memorial Library, and will be among the Centenary Exhibits displayed.

SAVE YOUR CAR FROM FIRE DANGER

Delaware Safety Council Gives Pointers

In spite of the great number of accidents which have resulted from gasoline explosions, drivers and garage workers, according to the Delaware Safety Council, continue to do things which endanger not only their own lives, but also the lives and property of others. It seems needless to caution against the use of matches, cigars, cigarettes, and other open flames near gasoline, or near oil-soaked rags and clothing.

In drawing or pouring gasoline from one container to another, static electric sparks may be developed. It is advisable always to keep the two containers in contact with each other, or to attach a chain to the pouring container which will maintain the contact. This will lead off the electric charge and prevent sparking. Sparks often result from striking together two pieces of metal. It is best to use kerosene instead of gasoline when cleaning oil and grease from metal parts.

Every motor vehicle should carry a tetrachloride fire extinguisher. For garage use probably the best fire extinguisher is one of the foam type. Never use water on a gasoline or oil fire; it will spread the fire. A mixture of sawdust and soda (about 10 pounds of bicarbonate of soda to a bushel of sawdust) is good to put out oil fires. Sand is also used effectively. The drip pan, side pans and car in general should be kept clean and free from excessive oil. If present, excessive oil may do much to spread the flames in case of fire.

If extension cords are used for portable electric lights, it is necessary to guard against electric shock and fires resulting from electric causes. It is therefore advisable to use vapor-proof fittings, a keyless socket, lamp enclosed in a vapor-proof globe and further protected with a rigid cage to prevent breakage. It is also advisable to have armored cable instead of ordinary electric cord; this should be kept in good condition.

Betty's Wedding Is Approaching

Whole Community Excited Over Event

Bob and Betty are sweethearts And Newark is their home, And all about their wedding We'll tell you in this poem.

It won't be long now, Until the wedding of the pair, If Bobby knew his onions, He'd choose the 'lectric chair.

Visit Pilnick's Shoe Store And see their Easter Shoes, They've really snappy numbers In tans and greys and blues.

There's another cold spell coming, Better look into your bin, And if there isn't coal there Have the Newark Lumber put some in.

Betty prefers the Cook Grocery, 'Cause she can help herself, And there's always something tempt- ing On each and every shelf.

Shaeffer's now displaying Wall-paper for the spring See this year's novel patterns There's many a pretty thing.

If Betty wants to entertain, At luncheon, bridge or tea, She'll buy prizes and favors down at Dale's, As attractive as can be.

You'll find Bob and Betty at the De Luxe Shop, In wet, unpleasant weather, In Newark its at this shop, Good fellows get together.

Chester Ewing has a special feed For stock of every kind, And for fair and square dealing, Its the best firm that you'll find.

A Philco radio at the Jackson Hardware Bobby's going to get Be sure to see this radio Before you buy a set.

Betty likes the Community Meat Market, It's kept so clean and nice, For health's sake eat Community meats, Is mighty sound advice.

When the little Bobs and Betties Chance to come along, They'll feed them Richards Grade A milk, To make them big and strong.

Bob said he wouldn't buy a six When he can get a Ford V-Eight, Particularly when the sixes Cost is just as great.

Pretty hosiery at the Band Box And lingerie Betty'll buy, She'll select attractive lingerie, To catch her Bobby's eye.

Wooleyhan hauls things in Newark Or hauls them far away, And he's waiting there to serve you Either night or day. They'll have modern kitchen fixtures And a bathroom of pale blue, W. R. Robinson uses fixtures And methods that are new.

Bob says the meals at the Students' Restaurant Are the best there are in town, They tickle when you taste them, And delight the whole way down.

Vogel's Drug store will fill their prescriptions, And they'll know they're done with care, Only licensed pharmacists Do prescription work down there.

At the Elba Beauty Parlor Betty'll get a facial, A permanent and shampoo, She patronizes the Elba, 'Cause the nicer people do.

In the Newark General Insurance Field, J. P. Wilson has the name, He made it through the speedy way, He settles any claim.

Betty saw some baby carriages, At the Lovett Furniture Store She blushed and then she whispered You can save me three or four.

At the Newark Lumber (they'll buy) roofing, Their sashes and their doors, And everything for building, Including hardwood floors.

Hill's Garage will overhaul their car And their brakes they will reline, Besides doing better repair work, They treat the public fine.

For electrical satisfaction, Get in touch with Sam Slack, When it comes to things electrical He surely has the knack.

Stanton Music Class Gives Program

In addition to the County Assembly, most of the New Castle County Adult Education Classes gave a separate program in their communities at the end of their course. On Tuesday the Stanton Music Class gave its final program at the Stanton School. This class has thirty members and is under the direction of Miss Helen Russell. The final meeting was attended by many members of the community.

The program consisted of four groups of songs by the Stanton Adult Education Chorus; vocal selections by Mr. Vansant, a member of the chorus; piano selections by Miss James, a student at the Women's College; and a group of selections by the Women's College Violin and Piano Trio, composed of Marion Price, Rosemary Kelso, violinists, and Nance Dixon, pianist.

After the program, the Stanton group voted to continue their chorus class next year, and again under the leadership of Miss Russell. This year was the third year the Stanton Chorus has held meetings.

Osceola Lodge Has Social Evening

Osceola Lodge No. 5, Knights of Pythias, last Monday evening dedicated their program to the Pythian Sisters in a Ladies' Night. Although there were several other social functions going on in Newark at the same time, over 100 persons turned out to enjoy the program and supper furnished by the social committee under the capable direction of its chairman, John S. Hopkins.

Among the events of the evening were a number of piano and vocal solos, an exhibition tango, and several duets. The New Castle Ramblers offered a well rounded program of musical novelties. A number of the members from Adelphi Lodge at New Castle came out to take part in the program as the guests of Osceola Lodge.

C. E. to Hold Sunrise Service Easter Morning

The Christian Endeavors will hold their Easter meeting just twelve hours earlier than the usual time. At 6:45 a. m., the piano prelude will announce the opening of the annual Sunrise Service.

Notwithstanding the early hour, the attendance in past years has been excellent, although consisting largely of adults who take an interest in Christian Endeavor work. This year it is hoped that the young people will present a better showing before the older folks by setting their alarms in time to come to the meeting.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been invited to join the Presbyterians in their early morning worship. This young people's society should do much to develop the interest in the service.

Everyone is invited to attend, young and old. It is not necessary to be a member of the Christian Endeavor or of the Church. There is room for all.

Last Day For Corn-Hog Contracts Saturday, April 14

New Castle County Sign-up Will Probably Be April 5, 6 and 7

April 14, has been set as the final date on which Delaware farmers may sign their applications for Corn-Hog production reduction contracts under the program formulated by the Agriculture Adjustment Administration.

Notices of this final sign-up date have been sent to the County Agents by A. D. Cobb, Assistant Director of Extension, who is in charge of the Corn-Hog Campaign in Delaware, and sign-up stations are being scheduled in each county. At the sign-up stations, the county agent, or his appointed representative will be present during a designated period of time to assist farmers in filling out their applications and other forms necessary to the securing of a contract. In many cases, the teachers of agriculture in high schools, and local temporary committeemen will assist in the sign-up.

Goodwill Industries In Need of Materials

Discarded Clothing, Furniture, Metals, Paper, Used to Give Work to Needy

The current bulletin of the Goodwill Industries in Wilmington, 216 Walnut Street, reports that the Goodwill plant is operating only half time because of lack of materials. Discarded clothing, shoes, furniture and all house and garden equipment are needed. Repairing these and making them fit for use by families and individuals without work or money gives employment. The repaired articles, and also good articles contributed by friends of this work are sold at the very low rates that the needy can afford or are given when the need is great and those who receive them are not physically able to earn them by work.

10 NEW CODES PROVIDE MORE JOBS, HIGHER PAY

Washington.—A survey of the Research and Planning Division of NRA shows that employment will be increased approximately 24 per cent through approval of the code for the scrap iron, nonferrous scrap metals and waste materials trade. It is the 331 approved code and comprises 12,000 concerns, whose combined sales were $900,000,000 in 1929, but fell to $158,000,000 in 1933. Minimum wages are increased 50 per cent in the North and up to 100 per cent in the South. It becomes effective March 26. The die-casting industry, whose code was approved, increased employment 52 per cent between June 1933 and March 1934, with further increases estimated. The earthenware manufacturing industry increases pay rolls, under their code, 18.9 per cent. Operation of the wage and hour provisions of the code for the textile-print roller-engraving industry increases employment 200 per cent. The code of tapico dry products increases employment 10 per cent over that for 1929, and that for fibre wallboard increases pay rolls 18 per cent through reduction of hours from 51 to 40 per week. Under the code of the upholstery and accessories industry, the average weekly wage will be $13.80 throughout the country for unskilled workers, as compared with $8.05 in 1932.

TO PAY DELAWARE DAIRYMEN FOR REDUCING PRODUCTION

Surplus Milk and Cows To Go To Needy For Family Use

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration stands willing to pay Delaware dairymen cash if they will co-operate in a suggested, nationwide program for the reduction of milk and butterfat production, Ed Willim, Jr., New Castle County Agent of Newark announced here today.

The AAA program, which was submitted to leaders of the dairy industry in Washington this week, has as a major objective the increasing of the dairy farmer's income.

The program also has been planned to hold dairy production at or near the seasonally low levels of recent months until purchasing power in the cities recovers sufficiently so that consumers can buy larger quantities of milk products at better prices, and to provide benefit payments to farmers who agree to co-operate.

Additional features of the plan to supplement its production control provisions, according to County Agent Willim, include relief distribution of surplus milk to underfed children in cities, transfer of healthy cows from surplus dairy areas to needy farm families which have no cows, and provision for eradication of bovine tuberculosis and possibly also Bang's disease.

The proposed dairy program is a $66-million dollar plan but it is devised for extension to as much as a $200-million dollar undertaking in event of congressional adoption of pending legislation to aid the dairy and beef cattle industries.

It is planned to have the program in effect one year, with continuance of an additional year, at the discretion of Secretary of Agriculture

Henry A. Wallace.

The production adjustment feature of the program, according to statements made by Mr. Willim, "is aimed at holding production to approximate levels of recent months." Individual co-operating producers would be expected to reduce sales below their 1932-1933 sales "by from 10 to 20 per cent." The method of reducing production would be left to the individual producer.

Benefit payments for reductions by dairymen would be paid at the rate of 40 cents for each pound of butterfat or about $1.50 for each surplus 100 pounds of fluid milk they reduce.

The plan would be financed by a processing tax starting at 1 cent a pound on butterfat and advancing to 5 cents a pound as the supply comes under control.

Advices from Washington are to the effect that the program will be taken to dairy farmers for discussion at a series of regional meetings. Delaware will be invited to attend public hearings on the plan scheduled for Philadelphia on April 2 and 3. The proposed program is subject to acceptance by the dairy farmers, and to modification at regional conferences.

The plan is open to all dairymen. Eligibility is to be established by base period delivery or other adequate sales records. The plan will be supervised locally by county production control associations and local committees.

The Extension Service will carry on an informational campaign to acquaint the dairy farmers with provisions of the plan in all of its details.

EINSTEIN NOW RESIDENT OF NEW JERSEY

World's Greatest Scientist and His Wife Are Welcomed by Gov. Moore and Citizens

During an official reception last week to Dr. and Mrs. Albert Einstein as residents of New Jersey, where Dr. Einstein will be associated with a graduate university at Princeton, Governor A. Harry Moore said:

"New Jersey welcomes the distinguished gentleman here. Many of you have no conception of what the Einstein theory really is. Neither have I. But we do know the kindly, sympathetic nature, the trust and faith and desire to be helpful to humanity of Dr. Einstein.

Dr. Einstein, making his reply before an audience of more than 6500 people, at Newark, where the reception was held, said in part:

"The wonderful festive reception tendered me by the people and government of New Jersey awakens a variety of sentiments in me. I am grateful for this warm personal and unusual esteem. I am abashed by the consciousness that such honor rests upon an overestimation of my person and my achievements.

"It is devotion to impersonal aims alone which gives life real content. From such a state of mind alone can sprout those powers which the world needs for the solution of the difficult economic problems of our times. The belief, prevalent until recently, that the egotistic economic striving of individuals, with its consequent struggle of all against all, leads to the flourishing of the community, has in our days indeed suffered permanent shipwreck.

"The confidence of the American people in the resolute attempt of its President Roosevelt to solve the economic problems of the present through the road of controlled, planned regulation shows this far-reaching change of conception."

FEDERAL GRANT FOR STATE ROADS RENEWED

Last Year's Appropriation Will Be 84 Per Cent Under Contract April 1

Announcement has been received this week that the House Committee on Roads at Washington has by unanimous vote favorably reported a bill authorizing $400,000,000 for highway construction in the United States.

It has been found that of a similar amount appropriated last year the State Highway Departments have placed under contract $309,832,000 of the four hundred million. This is 78.6 per cent of the total amount which will probably bring the peak of employment in August, and by the first of September virtually all of this amount will have been used into labor and materials.

Realizing that if a road building program was not continued, hundreds of thousands of men would be thrown out of employment by September 1st, the Committee has recommended an equal amount for the coming year, which when expended under the Recovery Act, will furnish employment in not less than 90 per cent of the counties of the nation.

With the passage of this act, Delaware will receive $1,819,000, the same amount appropriated last year, and will be ready by July 1st to make the surveys and prepare the necessary plans so that there will be a continuity of employment, a needed and economical method of expending this public fund.

Delaware will have under contract by April 1st 84 per cent of last year's Federal appropriation.

Ham and Eggs for Easter Breakfast

Rivaling even the Easter dress parade in importance is the Easter breakfast following the traditional Easter egg hunt. If the hunt has been a real one, a hearty breakfast will be appreciated and, according to Inez S. Willson, home economist, there are no foods which fill the bill better than ham and eggs.

Broiled Ham
Trim the rind and the lean edge from a slice of ham and cut the edges in several places to prevent curling. Lay the ham on a broiler rack and place under an electric grill or gas flame. Turn frequently and cook at a moderate heat. Allow about ten minutes for cooking a very thin slice of ham, twenty minutes for ham cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick, and thirty minutes for a slice 1 inch thick.

Ham and Egg Omelet
1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
4 eggs
2 teaspoons butter
1 1/2 teaspoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt

Beat the whites and yolks of the eggs separately. To the yolks, add the butter, a pinch of salt, and the ham, finely chopped. Make a smooth paste of the flour and 1/4 cup of milk. Gradually add the rest of the milk and the well-beaten egg whites. Combine the two mixtures, pour into a hot, well-greased skillet, and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the eggs are set, about fifteen minutes. Fold and serve at once, with jelly.

Beauregard Ham and Eggs
Chop or grind two cups of left-over ham and fry in butter for a few minutes. Hard cook four eggs, remove the shells and separate the whites from the yolks. Make a white sauce by cooking one tablespoon of butter, then add one and a half cups of milk and cook for several minutes. Chop the whites of the eggs and add to the white sauce. Place the fried ham in the center of a platter, pour over the white sauce and sprinkle with the yolks of the eggs, which have been put through the ricer. Finish the dish with a dash of paprika.

Try a Potpie for Delicious Flavor
Meat and vegetables are combined in many tempting ways, but none more tempting, in the opinion of Inez S. Willson, home economist, than the potpie where the excellent flavor of the meat adds to that of the vegetables and makes the whole dish appetizing.

Veal Potpie with Dumplings
2 pounds neck or shoulder of veal
1/2 pound salt pork
2 or 3 medium sized onions
1/2 cup diced celery
3 or 4 carrots, diced
2 cups potato balls
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup small peas
Salt and pepper
Dumpling mixture

Cut the veal and salt pork into cubes. Cover with water and let simmer for an hour. Then add the onions, diced celery, and carrots and season with salt and pepper. Cook slowly for fifteen or twenty minutes, then add the peas and thicken with flour smoothed in cold water. If necessary add more liquid. Drop the dumplings from the end of a spoon and let them rest on top of the vegetables and meat. Cover closely and cook for twelve minutes. Serve at once.

This dish makes almost a meal in itself. The only accompaniments it needs in order to completely balance the meal are a crisp salad, hot rolls, dessert and beverage.

Lectures at Art Academy
On Furniture

Beginning Tuesday morning of this week, a series of lectures opened in the Wilmington Academy of Art on antique furniture of different periods. Miss Evelyn MacFarlane, teacher of design at the Academy is the lecturer.

The first lecture was on the subject of "Early American Furniture of the Seventeenth Century." The next lecture will be held at the Academy next Tuesday morning and will be on "Seventeenth Century English Furniture."

The series will continue throughout April and Eighteenth Century English and Eighteenth Century American talks.

Georgetown Cryptic Masons To Celebrate

Will Honor Past Illustrious Masters May 15

Dr. Charles R. Cannon, of Georgetown, Illustrious Master of Joppa Council No. 3, R. & S. M., at an assembly of the Council held Tuesday evening, March 20th, appointed committees to arrange for a celebration to be held May 15, 1934. This will mark the completion of the term of office of the tenth Illustrious Master, and Past Master's jewels will be presented to each of the ten.

The Entertainment and Reception Committee is as follows: Calvin E. Afterbach, Chairman, Charles S. Calhoun, Harry L. Holson, John F. Kaiser and George O. Fearon. The Committee that arranged for the purchase of the jewels is made up of Harold W. T. Purnell, Chairman, W. Frank Sharp and George O. Fearon. The Publicity Committee is George S. Buhl, Chairman, John T. Carey and Walter L. Conway.

Plans for the accommodation and entertainment of visitors from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and other points outside this State, as well as the members of the different Councils in Delaware are progressing and the members of Joppa Council are looking forward to one of the biggest celebrations in the history of Cryptic Masonry in Delaware.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mary J. Crow, who passed away March 28, 1932.

It was Sunday evening,
We will never forget the day,
An angel came and whispered
I must take your mother away.
She bid no one a last farewell,
She said good-bye to none,
Her loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew she was gone.
Sadly missed by Husband, Sons and Daughter.

Brack Rash Heads Local Red Men

Minnehaha Tribe No. 23, I. O. R. M., at a regular meeting on Tuesday evening held a spirited election of officers, the hall was crowded and more interest was shown in the election than there has been for some years, the following being elected: Prophet, William E. Gillespie; Sachem, Brack Rash; Senior Sagamore, Lester Spencer; Junior Sagamore, Winfield Simpers; Chief of Records, Orville Sidwell; Collector of Wampum, Frank H. Balling; Keeper of Wampum, Ward V. Lindell; Trustee 18 Moons, W. V. Heavellow; Captain of Degree Team, Frank Owens.

On Sunday morning, April 1, (Easter Day), the Tribe will meet in a body at 9:30 o'clock and attend the Bible Class at the Methodist Church; on Tuesday evening Deputy Great Sachem Eugene Scarborough, and staff will visit Minnehaha Tribe and raise the newly elected officers, the meeting will start promptly at 7:30, so Brother Captain Frank Owens can put the Degree work on. All members are requested to be on time.

On next Wednesday evening, April 4, Great Sachem Frank H. Balling will visit Dover and raise the chiefs there. He would like to have as many of the members as possible to go along leaving the hall at 7 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, J. P. Rose, who passed away April 1, 1932.
When evening shades are falling,
And I'm all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing,
If he only could come home.
How sad today troubled heart,
How dim my eyes with tears,
For death has robbed me of the one
That I thought was mine for years.
Dearest Preston, how I miss you,
Miss you as the time goes by,
But I hope some day to meet,
Where we'll never say goodbye.
Sadly missed and never to be forgotten.
By your lonely wife,
Mrs. J. P. Rose.

Jobs and Relief

In consideration of the extent of privation resulting in the next few weeks from inadequate funds at the disposal of the Emergency Relief Commission; and in consideration also of the privation because of our at best low rate of relief per family and individual and lack of adequate work relief throughout the depression, this State can not officially, or in its responsible citizenship, spend a very happy Easter. There are present activities, however, and present information not before generally possessed, that can relieve the stress of fair and square responsibility fixed upon us. The general and deep conviction based upon obvious conditions, that this State was not doing its duty by the unemployed and the destitute, has been given definite and irrefutable proof by the hearings, reports, studies and addresses made public in connection with the work of the adjourned session of the Legislature and of its special committee appointed to draft a program. Leadership had been lacking to prepare in advance the foundations for such a program and to draft tentative legislation embodying urgent needs, excepting only the work of Mr. Finkelstein and the practical information put forward by the Emergency Relief Commission. But let the past be the past to be learned from without bitterness, its mistakes to be corrected, with belligerent vigor if need be, and the new information used to spur and support an adequate program of public works. We must grin and bear the cost, as we should, without any selfish outcries, when the special committee reports next week. If the committee has not had the courage to put this State in a better light than it now enjoys in the measure of its justice and mercy to its own sufferers from the depression, let the citizens speak.

Who Is Educated?

This issue of The Post carries an entirely inadequate account of the annual assembly of New Castle County adult education centers, their students and instructors, at Mitchell Hall in Newark, on Monday evening. It was written by the editor, who was hampered by lack of space and by immediate news essentials from giving a review of the educational effort which has made possible these annual assemblies in all three counties of the State; and from attempting to estimate the greatness of the achievement and the far-reaching and deep effects upon life in the State and in the country as a whole, that Delaware's pioneering in this field is effecting.

"The enrichment of life in this modern world," says the director, is the goal, "and to become informed and fitted for one's part toward the general welfare of community and nation." This is her achievement and theirs—the students of the educational centers know what that means. How many of us do? That it is not provided by college degrees as such, should go without saying; that it does not come by nature or from wealth as such, should also go without saying, for nothing has been more pitifully proved during this depression than that only that person is educated and in any real sense worthy of approval and trust, who has continued to educate himself by acquiring steadily a broader and deeper grasp of the facts of life and of social development which make toward the best use of his capacities and those of others; who has recognized that joy in nature, appreciation of art, creative recreation, and good talk are fundamentals for adequate living and interesting human beings, and that all of us are inclined toward these with opportunity and encouragement. The dried-up mind, the "finished" product of schools and colleges are out of the picture.

The ability in thinking, acting, creating, and in musical appreciation and performance displayed in these centers started from an educational equipment of no days of schooling, or from years of it with strings of degrees. Associated in a common and simple approach to modern living these extremes meet in a happy atmosphere that dignifies both, and which gave the assembly at Mitchell Hall a quality of cultivation ennobling the function of such a building on a university campus.

Henry C. Conrad School

Education, the law, public office, and history absorbed the days and years of the life of the late Judge Conrad. Brought to Delaware by his father at the age of four years, educated here until prepared for college, and teaching, reading, practicing law, and finally writing, with all his interest and ability devoted to local life and events, his name is a fitting choice for the new school on the Boxwood Road between Newport and Richardson Park. His residence in this district gives added appropriateness.

Henry C. Conrad may have had no claim to greatness in any of his undertakings, but he had the interest, responsibility, and appreciation of the best in local life and attainment that made him one of Delaware's valued and valuable citizens. His "History of Delaware" represents a labor of compilation without means, time, or assistance necessary to make it what he would have been glad to—the work of competent historians whom he could adequately reward. It would be to him a true evidence that he had not lived in vain if the new school should produce and foster a research into State History that would not only insure an adequate recording of the past, but stimulate leadership in the present and for the future.

WHAT WE READ

The Plight of The Libraries. Under this title, Carl H. Milam, Secretary of The American Library Association, in the March 17 issue of "The Saturday Review of Literature," recognizes the debt of the reading public and the librarians to R. L. Duffus for his recent book, Our Starving Libraries (reviewed in The Post some weeks ago). Mr. Milam, who, as an officer of The American Library Association, has at his command a detailed knowledge of conditions in all public libraries in cities, towns, and villages the country over, gives to Mr. Duffus' study of the public library as an essential in any recovery program, the official backing of specialists in the library field. In urging the reading public to speak out for their own interest in books, and to let those in charge of budgets know the importance of financing a service, the demand for which has increased from 50 to 150 per cent during the depression, the writer says:

"What can the reader do about it? If most readers have done nothing, there are some notable exceptions. In one community, the county board, meeting quietly to make up its budget, all at once found the room filled with library patrons. Before they left, the officials had found a way of returning several thousand dollars to the appropriation for the county library. In another county a citizens' committee persuaded the authorities, in the face of many difficulties, to give the library a substantial increase for 1934 over the budget of 1933. A few other stories of this sort have been heard, but not many. Wherever the effort has been made some results appear to have been achieved."

"A good many letters have of course been written to newspapers and magazines. A former advertising expert now keeping records for a County Emergency Work Board describes in the December issue of the Survey Graphic 'How One Family Met the Depression.' 'We have become regular visitors at the public library,' he writes: 'Each week the four of us return home with armfuls of books; latest novels and old classics; books on gardening and books on religion; books on how to raise goldfish and how to repair automobiles. All are grist for our mill.'"

N. B.

Splinters, by Keith Preston. This book of humorous verses was published in 1921, and still affords those who know it a spicy flavor for many occasions. The author's death several years ago is mourned the more in a depression when we need his saving grace of wit. Thinking of the serious problems of library support and how Keith Preston would have rallied his readers, we remembered the following in "Splinters":

A FABLE FOR LIBRARIANS

The keeper of the zoo, one day,
Decided to buy only hay.
"Since we must standardize," said he,
"Hay suits the big majority."

The bear was quite resentful but
The keeper of the zoo said "Tut!
Your taste, dear Bruin, does you proud,
But I must cater to the crowd."

The lion gave his bale one look;
His baleful roar the cages shook.
"Ooooh!" said the keeper of the zoo,
"Guess I must get a bone or two."

And so the lion got his grist;
The bear went on the waiting list;
The big majority still chew
About what Nature meant them to.

WHERE WE ARE

We are still in a capitalist society and likely to be for some time despite the scares stirred up by reactionaries, that this or that proposed measure is socialism, or that this or that so-called radical will lead us all to perdition by "influencing" people or President. We are under the administration of a President who is attempting to so regulate the operation of capitalism that defects of the system will be lessened and both capitalists and the people have security for fair rewards and fairly paid work. Whether this is one way out of an intolerable depression remains to be proved. Continuance upon the present upgrade depends upon the absorption by industry at fair wages of millions of unemployed.

Responsible and able students tell us that if the industrial and business community will neither regulate itself strictly enough nor carry out the full interest of the government's imposed regulation, the last four years may be lived over again as the swan song of the present order.

Meanwhile we are gaining from many sources, new light upon the kind of civilization we live in and upon where we are in the stream of changing conditions that has flowed fast for recent generations.

One of the best new sources of information is "The Economy of Abundance," by Stuart Chase, published by the Macmillan Company, and now on sale. No clearer and more vivid pictures have been given of the contrast between the simplicity of the early life in this country and the complexity and greatness of the achievements and failures of our present life. One may disregard entirely the question, which Mr. Chase does not answer: "What plan shall we follow to insure the enjoyment of abundance?"—and yet receive from his book enough information and good for thought to provide a new and more confident grasp of what the present and future may hold for all of us. One does well to disregard, too, until one has read the book with the careful attention it deserves, the opinions of reviewers who try to classify it as belonging to some one or another of past and present political or social faiths. The author gives us what we most need, information and a background for judging and weighing that can make us better participants in working out and supporting an intelligent solution of present ills. And by the time we have caught up with him Mr. Chase may be ready with the concrete and logical steps toward applying our knowledge. The book charms the critics. They would not have missed it for any number of concrete proposals and it is truly a vivid experience for the reader.

As history, his presenting of the Shelton family founded by one Daniel Shelton, who died in 1728, leaving nine children is unforgettable. Against that family's life in the Economy of Scarcity, the presenting of life in the present Economy of Abundance is equally unforgettable and stirring. One of Stuart Chase's most penetrating critics, Henry Hazlett, editor of the American Mercury, says:

"Mr. Chase dramatizes, as none of our other writers has been able to do, the sometimes fearful wastes of competition and the problems of overcapacity and of technological unemployment; and he describes new marvels in the increasing mechanization of industry. His description of the new uses of the photo-electric cell, in inspecting tin cans and gasoline, opening doors, counting automobiles, trapping burglars, matching cigars, umpiring sports and taking over from men increasingly the control of machines, is alone worth the price of the book." IT IS.

Themes of the Thoughtful

"We are made so that we love,
First when we see them painted, things we have passed
Perhaps a thousand times, nor cared to see."
—Robert Browning.

"Very old are the woods;
And the buds that break
Out of the briar's bough
When March winds wake,
So old with their beauty are
Oh no man knows
Through what wild centuries
Roves back the rose."
—Walter de la Mare.

"Each age is a dream that is dying,
Or one that is coming to birth."
—Arthur O'Shaughnessy.

"I am a Dane, Swede, or Frenchman at different times; or rather fancy myself like the old Philosopher, who upon being asked what Countryman he was, replied, That he was a Citizen of the World."
—Joseph Addison.

"Country comes only after humanity. Distinctions between nations are, in fact, but shadows, and I always believe in treating all questions with simplicity and broadness of view."
—Marie Bashkirtseff.

"The more one knows the more one simplifies."

assembly; Dr. H. V. Holloway, State superintendent of education, and Miss Etta J. Wilson, executive secretary of the State Parent-Teacher Association gave greetings; and after Haydn's "Clock Symphony" had been well played by the Alexis I. du Pont School Orchestra, a "panel" discussion, which is a round-table informal consideration, such as hundreds have been engaging in for weeks was given by members of the public affairs groups and guests invited to take part. Discussion was led by a guest member, superintendent of Wilmington schools, S. M. Stouffer, on the subject: What Are Our Public Schools Doing to Provide Education for Effective Living in a Modern World?

The choral singing was the best the reporter for The Post has heard outside the long-trained professional assemblies of singers. Under the direction of Glenn Gildersleeve, Director of Music in the Public Schools, the many groups separately trained, sang with beauty of performance "Landing of the Pilgrims"—Browne; "Sleep, Noble Heart"—Mendelssohn; "To Thee, O Country"—Eichberg; and in a later part of the program the whole of the music for a dramatization of the religious festival, "A Mystery for Christmas," in the spirit of the fifteenth century. Drama by Howard D. McKinney—music, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones"—German; "O Turn Ye," from "Gallia"—Gund.

The dramatization was beautifully set, the costumes and effect evidence of artistic appreciation in the several fields. The selections from "Pinafore," the opening dance, and the Folk dances in native costume, showed a joy and high spirit in performance that pleased as much as the technical excellence. Ukrainian members of the adult center in the Wilmington district gave the folk dances, and after young men and women, under the leadership of Michael Lawryk, had delighted the audience, two very small children, a boy and a girl, in the same type costumes as their elders, repeated one of the dances in miniature in perfect time, gesture, and spirit. This was one of the many specially appreciated parts of an all-star program.

The State director of adult education, Miss Marguerite Burnett, was present behind the scenes, was frequently mentioned, but too busy to appear. She always is too busy in the actual work to let about it, but the news of her achievement has traveled, and national leaders and other State directors come to observe what is happening under her initiative in Delaware.

Newark Music Society Closes Season's Work

The Organization Seeks New Members to Insure Support For Programs Next Fall

The Newark Music Society in closing its season, has completed its tenth year as an organization to promote good music in the town of Newark. Outstanding in the activities of the society are the Curtis Institute concerts which have been sponsored by the society for the past six years. For two years the Institute provided the concerts, but for four years they have been paid by funds from the society's treasury, supplied entirely by annual membership fees of one dollar. Each season there have been three Curtis concerts to which the public has been invited and for which no admission fee has been charged. Through this means artists of outstanding ability have been brought to Newark, among them Conrad Tibbault.

Because of removal from town and by death the membership has been seriously depleted. Its membership must be increased if the society is to continue to sponsor concerts for the coming year. Concerts of unusual merit have been given during the present season. Two musicals have also been held in homes of members—one in conjunction with the annual meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hurlihen and one in the home of Mrs. Frederick Ritz.

The present officers of the society are Dr. R. E. Price, president; Mr. W. Frank Wilson, vice-president;

Mrs. R. L. Spencer, treasurer; Miss Freda Ritz, secretary.

Forty-Ninth National Holstein Convention

Plans are about completed for the forty-ninth Annual Convention of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America to be held in Baltimore, Maryland, the week of June 4th. On Monday, a National Sale of sixty high-class purebred Holsteins will be held consigned by breeders from coast to coast and Canada. Tuesday will be devoted to an education program and discussions of topics of vital importance to the dairy industry. A trip to some nearby Holstein breeding establishment will be made that afternoon. On Wednesday, June 6th, the Convention proper will be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel where the business of the organization will be transacted by delegates from nearly every state in the Union. This will be followed by the annual banquet and dance. The Maryland Holstein breeders, who are acting as hosts to the Convention, promise something unique in the way of banquets as no speeches will be permitted—nothing but high class entertainment. Thursday will wind up the affairs of the week with a purebred sire sale of thirty head of Holstein bulls and a tour of Washington, D. C.

RAMBLERS TO MEET

An entertainment will be given by The Ramblers, in Wolf Hall, on Thursday evening, April 5, at 8:15, for the benefit of Pencader Grange, of Glasgow.

20 ON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL LAST PERIOD

Fifty-five percent of the total number of persons on the honor roll in the senior high school for the last marking period were sophomores, thirty-five per cent were juniors, and the remainder were seniors. The following list gives the names and grades of these honor students:

Charles Gifford, 12; Richard Brown, 12; Louise Willis, 11; James Robinson, 11; Margaret Hogan, 11; Mildred Campbell, 11; Arthur Huston, 11; Leo Laskaris, 11; Dorothy Handloff, 11; Adelta Dawson, 10; Betty Hearn, 10; Henry Hushebeck, 10; Helen Cronhardt, 10; Christos Pappas, 10; Sylvia Phelps, 10; Reed Sterns, 10; Virginia Swenolt, 10; Betty Tarr, 10; Georgia McMullen, 10; Dorothy Mitchell, 10.

NEWARK TO BE REPRESENTED IN INTERSTATE SPELLING

In the second annual interstate spelling contest, to be held at Goldey College, on April 21, 1934, Newark High School will be represented by a spelling team composed of Betty Hearn, Arthur Huston and Orville Richardson. This team will compete with others from Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and New Jersey.

Eliminations were held in the English classes of the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades of our school. These contests produced a small group of spellers who again participated in a written competitive test to determine the representatives of Newark High School. The three students mentioned above received the three highest grades in this final contest.

A very interesting program has been arranged for all the contestants in the Goldey contest. Outstanding events on this schedule are: the spelling contest, a visit to the beautiful Longwood Gardens, a mock trial, and a reception and dance.

Our team has expressed its determination to do its best in the effort to bring back honors to Newark High School.

DECLAMATION CONTEST IN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The assembly program on March 27 was given by Miss Smithers. The program was a declamation contest among the Senior High School members. The participants were Gladys Beck, "Ma At The Races," Jean Danby, "Courtship and Venders," Eleanor Delcolls, "The Christmas Splicer," Norma Jarmon, "Amelia Splicer At The Beach," and Bertha Eastburn, "Jane Entertains The Minister." On March 28 there will be another assembly program containing the remainder of the declamations. From the nine participants three will be chosen to represent Newark High School in the county contest to be held April 5 in Middletown.

C. W. A. WORKERS LEND HAND IN THE NEWARK SCHOOL

Under Mr. Merle Sigmund's directorship, C. W. A. workers have been busily engaged in repairing the 1-4 mile track at the high school.

Though the track has never been used by students, it has been greatly misused by the elements. The turn at the far end of the track seems to have received the brunt of the weather. Large stones stud the track and make it inconvenient for the track-men.

Since the C. W. A. has taken a hand, however, the track is coming along in fine shape, and will be ready for use in the near future.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics girls of the ninth grades are making slips for the State Colony of Delaware, under the direction of Miss Thelma L. Humphries of the University of Delaware, who is doing practice teaching in high school and Miss Felicia Jenkins, home economics teacher. The girls say they enjoy doing this work because it gives them an opportunity to help other people.

Home Economics girls throughout the state are making other articles of clothing for these girls. This gives the members of the class an opportunity to demonstrate their ability in sewing.

Last year nearly 600 garments were made for 80 girls and women and this year the girls must make nearly 700 garments for 94 girls and women.

On April 21 all these garments made for the colony will be exhibited in the auditorium building at the colony.

The slips made by the Newark High School Home Economics girls will be on exhibition in Handloff's department store window on Main street from April 28 to April 30.

SENIORS SELECT ANNUAL PLAY

What is sure to prove of the most interest in the annual senior play is the portrayal of "Kempy," a three act play by J. C. and Elliott Nugent, which is to be produced by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

Because of "Kempy's" widespread popularity in schools, towns, and cities throughout the country, it has been selected by the class of '34 to be produced in our own school auditorium.

This play is especially fitting for amateur production. With the splendid facilities the Senior Class has at its disposal within the school, this play will be the biggest and best laugh riot of years. The characters, scenes, and situations are thoroughly modern in this delightful American comedy. Humor is wholesome throughout and produces many thought provoking situations which lead up to a thrilling and exciting climax.

Fitting settings for the play were arranged by members of the Industrial Arts classes under the direction of Mr. Jack Mohr.

JUNIOR BUSINESS TRAINING

The Commercial Course was started in the Newark High School the second semester of this year. The classes are being taught by Mr. Suttlers. Every one taking this course is very much interested in it and has accomplished a lot. We have been studying about the following subjects: (a) Meaning of business; (b) Means of Communication; (c) Business Letter; (d) Telephone; (e) Telegrams, Radiograms, Cablegrams; (f) Getting Along With People; (g) Sources of Business Information.

In this course we are headed for a certain position in life. We are all trying to make a success of this course.

Evelyn Taylor and Olive Stiltz.

ACTIVITIES OF THE NEWARK SCHOOL NURSE, MARCH 1-21

A recent report, issued monthly by Mrs. Ella M. Plummer, school nurse, read as follows:

No. of first aid cases, 194; No. of conferences with parents at school, 6; No. of home visits, 29; No. of pupils attending dental clinic, 14; No. of children examined for measles symptoms in home-rooms where there were measles cases diagnosed, 469. Any parent, wishing to confer with the school nurse, may call any school day between 1:30-3:00 p. m.

(News from last week unavoidably held over)

WHAT MEN LIVE BY

The assembly program took a serious trend when the II-C homeroom members under the direction of Miss Ann Stauter, presented an adaptation of Leo Tolstoi's play entitled "What Men Live By." The production was divided into two scenes both of which took place in a cobbler's small shop about four feet below the level of the street. The first scene was a picture of poverty and gloominess. Simon, the cobbler, and Matrina, his wife, live alone on what little trade Simon gets. In the second scene, after the coming of the angel, Michael, the cobbler's shop wears an air of prosperity. All of the well-to-do people have come to Simon because they have heard of the fame of his apprentice. The play came to a dramatic climax when Michael revealed his true identity to the poor peasants who had befriended him when he was cold and hungry.

The characters and their portrayals were: Simon, the cobbler, Robert Hancock; Matrina, his wife, Ethel Hauber; Michael, his apprentice, William Wilson; Baron Aveditch, a wealthy landowner, Alex Cobb, Jr.; Thedka, his footman, Ross Hutchinson; Sonia Avlaruch, a lady of means, Louise Willis; Brenice and Nikita, her children, Joyce and Janice Sweeney; Anna Malasta, a widow friend of Matrina, Virginia Hurlock; Trofinoff, a debtor, Ott Widdows; The Guardian Angel, Eleanor Jester; A Little Devil, Neal Smyth. The play was announced by Roberta Spencer.

Fitting settings for the play were arranged by members of the Industrial Arts classes under the direction of Mr. Jack Mohr.

BATTERY CANDIDATES START INDOOR PRACTICE

Monday saw the official opening of the baseball season in the Newark School. Under Coach Gillespie's watchful eye, aspirants for the "twirler's" position loosened their arms, while candidates for backstop were kept busy limbering their gloves and breaking their necks on wild pitches.

Four promising young pitchers reported, of which John Currinder is the only "southpaw." "Buck" Beers will probably start the season and he will be relieved by Herdman, who plays second base. Ewing is being given an other year in which to develop his "wing."

Bayard Berry will start the season behind the bat, with Renard George acting as a relief catcher. It is yet too early to predict just what will happen in the case of Willard Crater, who is also eager to get behind the bat, but since we have never seen him in a workout we know nothing of his ability.

WORK ON BASEBALL DIAMOND STARTED BY SCHOOL

The none too easy task of leveling and packing the baseball diamond has been started and will be finished in time for the infielders to have a workout on it this Monday.

The diamond was completed last June and was never used. Due to adverse weather conditions the splendid piece of workmanship has stood in need of repairs. The diamond is being regraded with heavy sand and upon completion it will weather the roughest fray—of which there will be plenty.

COME ONE, COME ALL!

The famous old cry again rings out! This time it is being shouted by the lusty throats of the members of the baseball and track teams and their assistants.

Following their familiar cry comes the cordial invitation extended to the students of the Newark School. The students are invited to attend a movie benefit, held in the school auditorium, on Friday, March 23rd, at one-thirty for grammar and elementary grade students, and at two-forty-five for Junior and Senior High School Students. The admission for the former is five cents; for the latter, ten cents. The movie features Will Rogers as Ichabod Crane in "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

Let's all try to be there to support the teams.

Mary L. Roberts, '35.

SIXTH GRADE ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

On Monday, March 19th, Miss Werner's sixth grade had charge of the assembly program. Charles Hollister was chairman of the program. Elizabeth Pie read "A Psalm of Life" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. The class sang "The Coming of the Spring, The Tempest, and A Maiden's Wish. The assembly sang Welcome Sweet Springtime. Then the class gave a play called The Weatherman. The characters were: Weatherman, Joseph Gaylor; Zeus, Frederick Ingham; Iris, Pearl Tweed. The Complainers were as follows: Walter Miller, James Kelley; Wind Miller, Fred Debell; Aviator, William Edmonson; Boy, Alfred Wilson; Lady, Mary Jane Wilson; Snow Shovel, Robert Price; Washerwoman, Miriam Lewis; Fisherman, Stanley Spoor; Gentleman, William Northrop; Hunter, Frank Balling; Baseball Player, Thomas Griffin; Circus Lady, Mildred Baylis. Adrienne Suddard played a piano solo. The assembly was then adjourned. The music was played by the rhythmic band of the elementary department.

SENATE MEETING AFTER ASSEMBLY

Tuesday, after assembly, a joint meeting of the House and Senate was called in the auditorium. The meeting was called to order by President Brimjoin. Since there was no new business, the new home room presidents introduced themselves. They are as follows:

12 A, Harry Wilson; 12 B, Mary Hayes; 11 A, James Hall; 11 B, Harold Tiffany; 11 C, Ernest George; 10 A, Henry Hushebeck; 10 B, Clifford Owen; 10 C, Virginia Swenolt; 9 A, Jack Doordan; 9 B, George Anderson; 9 C, Ruth Sinclair; 8 A, Fay Griffin; 8 B, Walter Goodman; 8 C, Burt Collins; 7 A, Charles Daly; 7 B, Brenda Peterson; 7 C, Robert Wiermer; 7 D, Donald Gallagher.

Jack Daly was elected vice-president of General Association. The movie benefit which is to be held Friday in the auditorium was announced. This movie is to help finance the baseball team. The admission will be 5c for elementary school and 10c for Junior-Senior High School.

The "All Newark Letter" was discussed. All suggestions for designing the letter will be accepted. Because the suggested "Spring Hop" did not go through the home rooms, the matter has been dropped. As the period was up the meeting was adjourned.

8-C SCIENCE

Robert Hoffecker and Russell Lyman under the direction of John L. Phillips, the instructor, staged a very interesting demonstration in General Science.

We have been studying electricity and its uses, Robert, a future electrician, constructed a model telegraph set from pieces of wire and tin. The two boys set up the instruments in class and explained how they were constructed. After the explanation they sent messages with the instruments to show that they would work.

Eleanor McVey.

AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT

Last week we held two very interesting field trips. As we were studying about incubation and types of incubators, we visited the two hatcheries located in our territory. We were able to see the two types of incubators in operation, an electric cabinet type and a manual hot water type.

The electric cabinet incubator studied was at Mr. Oliver Suddard's and the manual hot water type was at Murray's Poultry Farm.

We boys were very much interested in the operation of the incubators. The methods of supplying and controlling the heat, turning the eggs and cleaning and disinfecting the incubators were studied at both places.

State Department Visitor

Mr. W. Lyle Mowlds, State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, was a visitor at the school on Tuesday.

F. F. A. New Activities
The Newark Chapter is planning Parents' night.

The members are planning to entertain their parents at the next regular meeting of the club. A very interesting program is being planned. We expect to have several good speakers and entertainers for everyone, young and old, so be sure to be there.

Charles Gifford.

THIS MATTER OF TRAFFIC

At a recent meeting of the traffic committee the outstanding problem of the day was discussed.

The problem requiring most attention is the problem of congestion of the stairs leading to the third floor. The problem of minor importance is the fact that persons, instead of marching in single file, march in double file down the hall. If the students of Newark High will give the undivided attention and wholehearted support to the matters at hand, traffic regulations would be more suitable for all concerned.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL OFFICERS FOR THE SECOND SEMESTER

It is customary to elect new room officers in the second semester. The following officers were elected to the senior high school:

Red Cross First Aid in the Home

Hot oven doors constitute an every-day hazard. When little hands get burned, the mother trained in Red Cross First Aid cools them quickly under the tap, and applies a dressing of ordinary baking soda solution.

ONE-THIRD of all fatal accidents occur in homes, according to the American Red Cross. In excess of 30,000 deaths, many of which could be prevented, resulted from falls, burns, poisoning, electrocution and other accidents taking place in homes. First Aid Service of the Red Cross conducts courses in first aid through Red Cross chapters throughout the United States. It teaches how to prevent accidents and what to do in emergencies.

The Red Cross points out that the wrong kind of "first aid" is worse than none at all, for unintelligent handling may convert simple fractures into compound fractures, shock may be aggravated, or other complications ensue. Under Red Cross first aid technique victims are turned over to doctors in the best possible condition for treatment.

FIRST AID TRAINING INSTITUTE, RED CROSS AND SAFETY COUNCIL CONTINUE TRAINING COURSE

There are three more sessions of the First Aid Training Institute being conducted in the Town Council Office under the joint management of the Delaware Branch American Red Cross, and the Delaware Safety Council—Tuesday evening, April 3, 10, and 17, from 7 to 10 o'clock. The course is free and all materials are contributed without expense to any adult who enrolls. The Newark Committee has the following members: Mrs. Walter Hulihen, chairman; Dr. Charles M. Wharton, Mayor Frank Collins, Prof. Ira S. Brinser, Dean Robert L. Spencer, Mr. Elmer Ellison (Fire Chief), Mr. D. A. McClintock, Mr. Vernon Steele, Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, Pres. Century Club; Miss Fern Yates, Dir. Phy. Educ. Women's College.

Those already enrolled in the course are: Mrs. Wm. H. Evans, Henrietta Fleck, Esther Still, A. W. Evans, L. H. Minner, John P. Tames, U. of D.; Paul T. Griffith, U. of D.; Rut Stearns, Boy Scouts, Charles Gibb, Boy Scouts, Robert W. Hancock, Boy Scouts, Mrs. Morris Ewing, Edwin W. ELECTRICITY—A GOOD SERVANT

There is an element of mystery about electricity. It is a good servant, but like fire and water, it must be properly used.

For sometimes it kills people. Also it burns them badly and starts costly fires.

While enjoying its heat and light we should not be unmindful of its dangers. Under proper control it works with us—and for us. But there are times—usually when the equipment has become defective—that it certainly works against us. Even the common household 110 volt current sometimes causes death.

In the home most of the shocks and burns are caused by defective wires and connections. The seriousness of the tragedy depends partly on the condition of the person and also on the circumstances. For example, when one's hands or feet are wet—or when he is standing in a wet place, the shock will probably be much more serious.

How often we go into the bathroom with one hand on the faucet or in the bowl, reach up and turn on the light. This is an extremely dangerous practice. A piece of string or ribbon tied to the light chain will protect from shock in such cases.

Electric heaters often cause bathroom tragedies, too, when they fall into a tub in which a person is bathing. Always disconnect electrical equipment before making repairs. Just remember that the "amateur" electricians are the ones who get into the most trouble. If you do not "Know your wires" better not touch them.

It's a good plan to be a little bit suspicious of all electric wires. Electricity, of course, is the essence of life; but too much of it is the essence of death.

IMPROVED SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for April 1
THE CHRIST RISEN
(Easier Lesson)

LESSON TEXT—John 20:1-29.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye then be risen with Christ, put on those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God—Col. 3:1.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Resurrection.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Resurrection.

The resurrection of Christ is one of the foundation truths of Christianity. It is the great proof that Christ was what he claimed to be, the Messiah, the Son of God (Matt. 12:20-40; John 2:21).

The Empty Tomb (vv. 1-10). John shows and enters into a description of the resurrection of Christ, or give any proof other than the empty tomb and that Jesus had repeatedly manifested himself afterward. To see the body of Christ disfigured with a spear thrust and nail prints, and the empty tomb—no all that faith needed.

The Testimony of Mary Magdalene (vv. 11-18). This woman, out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons (Mark 16:9; Luke 8:2), announced the fact of the empty tomb to Peter and John. Troubled by great love to him for his kindness to her, she went early to the tomb even "when it was yet dark." She had realized great good of his hand, therefore she could not get on without doing her utmost for him. The measure of one's service for Christ is the degree in which he realizes the benefits conferred.

Personal Investigation by Peter and John (vv. 19-20). The news of the empty tomb which Mary brought so moved John and Peter that they both ran to investigate. Their investigation assured them of the reality of the resurrection. The removal of the stone from the sepulcher, and the arrangement of the grave clothes, convinced them that this would not have been done by an enemy.

The Manifestations of the Risen Lord (vv. 21-29).
1. To Mary Magdalene (vv. 11-18).
2. Mary swooning at the empty tomb (v. 11). Peter and John went home of Mary would not. She stood there weeping. She really should have been rejoicing that the grave was empty.

3. Mary questioned by the angels (vv. 12-18). Through her tears she saw angels in the tomb who inquired as to the cause of her sorrow.
4. Jesus revealed himself to Mary (v. 16-18). She first saw the angels and then her eyes lighted upon the Lord. She did not recognize him in his resurrection body but his voice was familiar to her. As soon as he called her by name she recognized him and fell at his feet weeping.

5. Jesus forbade her to touch him (v. 17). This showed that she was now coming into a new relationship to him. Besides this the disciples were still in doubt and sorrow. "Go tell my brethren," was the message she must carry.
6. Mary's testimony (v. 18). She told the disciples that she had seen the Lord.

7. To the Disciples (vv. 19-29). This is the first appearance to the disciples as a body. For fear of the Jews they hid in a private room and barred the door. While they were discussing the strange happenings of the day, the Lord mysteriously appeared among them.

8. When Thomas was absent (vv. 24-29).
(1) His message of peace (v. 19). He did not come with censure for their failure and desertion. Their conduct needed no rebuke, but his consideration was too tender for that.
(2) He showed his hands and his side (v. 20). Having calmed their fears he gave them unmistakable evidence of his resurrection.

(3) He commissioned them (v. 21). At my Father's seat, even so and I you. This commission was so simple in the eleven but to all the believers (John 24:33).
(4) He bestowed the Holy Spirit upon them (v. 22). He breathed on them and said unto them, "Receive ye the Holy Ghost." Only as empowered by the Holy Ghost can a disciple go forward as a successful witness for his Lord.

(5) The disciples' authority (v. 23). His authority was not by virtue of mere but by virtue of having the Holy Ghost.
6. When Thomas was present (vv. 24-29). His absence deprived him of a vision of the Lord.
(1) The victory of sight and touch (v. 24-29). Jesus graciously supplied the evidence which Thomas needed.
(2) Greater blessing for those who see only by faith (v. 29).

Facts for Farm Folks
Written by
AGRICULTURAL AUTHORITIES

REDUCE THE COST PER PIG

By W. B. Krueck, Formerly Professor
Animal Husbandry Purdue University

The cost of maintaining brood sows is an important item in the cost of producing pork. It has been shown that the cost per pig on litters of eight is only about half as much as in litters of four.

Many sows produce plenty of pigs but are not able to save them, because the pigs are born weak. The management and feeding of the brood sows in the next sixty days will determine largely the vigor and vitality of the pigs when they are born.

First of all a good ration is essential. It is necessary that the sows have access to some good quality proteins and some well blended minerals. At the Indiana Experiment Station it was shown that sows having some good proteins along with farm grains saved 78 per cent of the pigs farrowed. Those that were forced to depend on farm grains alone saved only 38 per cent of their pigs.

A second requirement is exercise. During the cold raw days that are normally encountered in the next sixty days, brood sows should be encouraged to take some exercise. This can often be accomplished by scattering some oats in the hog pastures. In addition to encouraging exercise the oats has much value nutritionally for breeding animals.

The successful hog feeder always aims to have his hogs do well. He does not neglect his hogs because immediate prices are not tempting. But by always following good feeding and management practices he is usually ready to take advantage of the best markets and produces his pork at the lowest cost.

WINTERTHUR HOLSTEIN BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Courtesy of Extension Service, The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The world's record for butterfat production in the senior three-year-old division on twice-a-day milking (Class C) has recently been broken by a registered Holstein cow owned by Winterthur Farms, Delaware. This cow, Winterthur Dad B M K Kiri, produced 782.8 pounds of fat and 18,857.8 pounds of milk testing 4.2 per cent reports the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Her yield of 782.8 pounds fat displaces that of 730.6 pounds made by Walker Pontiac Royal Miss eleven years ago. In her first two lactation periods "Kiri" has totalled 38,079.2 pounds of milk. She was sired by Jamaica Riverside Boast Ormsby Dad who has three daughters with official records above 800 pounds of fat. Her mother, Bess Mercedes Korndyke, has a record of 801 pounds of fat and 23,061 pounds of milk. "Kiri" is a large heifer weighing 1610 pounds at the close of her test. She was fed a daily average of 16 lbs. grain, 30 lbs. silage, 4 lbs. beet pulp and 14 lbs. alfalfa hay.

CENTENARY HONOR FOR WILLIAM MORRIS IN TWO COUNTRIES

London and New York Honor Mastercraftsman With Exhibits

William Morris was born in England, March 24, 1834. He was educated at Oxford, where he developed so great an interest in architecture that he spent all his free time in visiting and studying the finest of the old churches and manor houses. He hated ugliness in building, in furnishing, in the making of the simplest articles for use or wearing. Metals, textiles, the use of wood and stone, printing and book making all were studied by him in the interest of better design. He made the furniture for his own house when he was to be married because he could find in the shops none that was beautiful and simple enough. The machine ornament applied to furniture and buildings and the bad designs generally in the last half of the Nineteenth Century reinforced his conviction that beauty and simplicity and decoration that was adapted to the materials, could only be produced by craftsmen and not by machines. Among his short romances, "The Unknown Church," is a beautiful and faithful portrayal of the ideal of craftsmanship in medieval times, which Morris hoped to revive. In this story it is the art of carving in stone, but William Morris' range covered all the arts. He was architect, painter, maker of furniture, illuminator of books, wood carver, metal worker, and writer. His work was badly imitated, and badly copied by the machine manufacturers of his day, but the art of the machine now follows principles which Morris sought in handicraft.

The Morris exhibits are in the Nineteenth Century gallery of the Metropolitan Museum and at the Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Walter Rendall Storey, writing in the New York Times Magazine, March 18, gives a fuller account of Morris' life and work, and attributes to William Morris a contribution to the work our foremost American Architects in the development of modern design, the late Louis Sullivan and the present day leader, Frank Lloyd Wright.

FARM RECORD BOOKS READY IN APRIL

Simple and Easy to Keep. Will Aid Farmers in Securing Federal Farm Benefits

Farmers who keep the new record books to be distributed in Delaware next month will be fortified with valuable information which will be useful not only in establishing evidence of compliance with production control contracts but also in applying for loans through the Delaware Production Credit Corporation of Dover, according to Ed Willim, Jr., New Castle County Agent of Newark, Delaware.

Several hundred of these books will be received from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be distributed to farmers who are cooperating with the government in its wheat and corn-hog programs, and who are expecting to cooperate in the milk control program which will be initiated later on.

"Farmers are going to have to answer a great many questions when they apply for contracts, or when the time comes for settling the benefit payments," cautioned Mr. Willim, "and many of them are going to do a lot of guessing. A systematic record of yields and production is more satisfactory both to the farmer and the government than guesswork. Therefore, farmers are urged to keep accurate records for their own protection."

The County Agent said that many farmers in the State are keeping records along lines suggested by the Extension Service early this year. Farmers who have not done so have had trouble in getting together the necessary evidence of production in applying for adjustment contracts.

The new books will be received by the Extension Service about April 9, and will be distributed by the County Agricultural Agent. They are simple and easy to keep. Farmers who sign adjustment contracts will receive them free of charge from Mr. Willim.

Farm Income To Increase

Discussing the advance in farm income already reported, Henry A. Wallace, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, predicts that by July the increase will be a billion and a half dollars more than last July. Speaking before the Men's Current Affairs Institute at the University of Cincinnati last week, Secretary Wallace said the farmers had cooperated marvelously in the production control program. To the program and the cooperation of the farmers he gives all the credit for the growing farm income.

Farm income should reach $11,000,000,000, said Mr. Wallace, to be in good shape. This, however, will not be achieved, in his opinion, until the purchasing power of the factory worker has been raised and the world market restored.

"It is no more sinful for the farmer to control his production," he said, "than it is for the industrialist to shut down one of his factories when the demand for his product falls off. All methods of control are a reflection on our social machinery but it may be necessary for us to continue the use of intelligence in the control of all production."

INTEREST RATE FOR FARM LOANS REDUCED

Arrangements for Budgeting Loans; Money Advanced As Needed

Loans to farmers made by the Production Credit Associations on a budget basis actually cost less than the 5 1/2 per cent annual interest charges, it has just been pointed out by S. M. Garwood, Production Credit Commissioner of the Farm Credit Administration.

"The present low interest rate, 5 1/2 per cent, is in itself, a considerable saving for farmers," Mr. Garwood said, "but many farmers are lowering their interest costs even further by getting their loans on a budget basis. The association advances the money only as needed so the borrowers don't have to begin paying interest charges until they start using the money."

"Take this example," said Mr. Garwood, continuing: "The interest charges on a loan of a $1,000 from a Production Credit Association at present would be $55 if the borrower paid the interest for the entire year. But ordinarily most farmers can grow and market their crops in 6 to 9 months, depending on the production season and marketing period of their particular crops, and they don't need to keep the money any longer than that. Suppose a farmer needs $1,000 and has the security. He applies to a production credit association and gets the loan approved for that amount. But instead of paying interest on the entire $1,000 for the whole year he gets the association to advance him the money only as he needs it for production purposes—so much for Spring planting, for instance, so much later on to hire labor, and so on until the last advance on which he pays interest for only a month or two. Figure it out and you'll find that instead of paying $55 or $60 interest on the loan of a $1,000 the borrower will only be paying about $25 or $30 in interest charges. That's $25 or $30 saved."

B. and O. Railroad Company Statement of Earnings and Expenses

The February statement of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company issued from the senior vice-president's office at Baltimore shows an increase of net railway operating income for February 1934, over February 1933. Operating revenues for the month total $10,671,249 as against $8,381,089 last year. Operating expenses total $8,236,551 against $6,100,209 last year, giving a net revenue of $2,434,698 for February this year against $2,230,880. Deductions for tax, losses, rent, etc., leave the total operating income for February this year, $1,423,582, as against $1,244,338 last year—a gain of $179,244.

Vessel Stranded on Fenwick Island

Captain Lawrence A. Clay, of Stonington, Conn., has engaged George E. Shockley, of Rehoboth, to salvage the two-masted schooner, Charlotte, which ran aground off Fenwick Island Coast Guard Station, last Friday. Captain Clay conferred on Sunday with D. W. Burbage, insurance representative, to have the vessel floated before it is destroyed by the high seas.

Captain Clay was aboard the Charlotte at the time of the disaster, in company with three brothers, Captain Herbert L. Clay, master of the schooner, William and Anthony Clay, and a cousin, Emanuel Clay, who comprised the crew. The Charlotte will be towed to Cape May, N. J., where it will be repaired.

Rehoboth Air-Port Started

Work on the Rehoboth airport, to be located near Midway on the Tunnell property, was started Tuesday. The construction will go forward as rapidly as possible, now that the appropriation of $40,000 has been approved by the CWA.

Town of Blades Will Hold Liquor Election

Residents of Blades will soon vote on whether or not a licensed place to sell beer and other intoxicating drinks is to be allowed within the corporate limits of the town, and there is much speculation as to the outcome of the election. This will be the first election of this nature held in lower Delaware.

Arden House Damaged by Fire

Fire, laid to a defective flue, caused damage of about $1,000 on Tuesday, to the home of James Conly, Vile Road, Arden. None of the Conly family was present, but workmen were painting and paperhanging and had built a fire in the fireplace. The blaze destroyed the roof.

County Contest In Declamation Next Week

A public declamation contest will be held in the auditorium of the Commodore MacDonough School, Tuesday evening, April 3, beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be ten contestants from the high school classes and a principal and an alternate will be selected to represent the Delaware City School at the New Castle County contest which will be held on Thursday evening, April 5, at Middletown. The schools will close Thursday afternoon for the Easter holidays and will remain closed until Tuesday morning, April 3.

Fog Causes Boat Tie-ups

The Port du Pont supply boat transporting CWA workers, was stranded on Pea Patch Island in the fog early Tuesday morning and was not discovered until afternoon.

Fog in the Bay also held up the S. S. Seavoy on its way to the Marine Terminal loaded with a cargo of wood pulp from Vibourg, Finland.

Wilmington Horse Show dates are May 31, June 1 and 2, announced by Miss Deborah Rood.

Flower Shows Have Wintry Weather But Throngs of Visitors

Delaware Exhibitors Take Prizes in Philadelphia and New York

The annual series of flower shows in Philadelphia, Boston, and New York closed Saturday when the New York show ended with a record breaking attendance of 130,000 visitors. This was the twenty-first annual international flower show representing botanical gardens and horticultural societies in this country and Europe. The Garden Club of America and many member clubs, is among those to receive a special vote of thanks from the committee in charge of the show.

The Wilmington Garden Club had exhibits at both the Philadelphia show and the New York show. Of these, two exhibitors took prizes at each. Mrs. Charles A. Higgins and Mrs. Hollyday S. Meeds, Jr., took first prize in a flower arrangement contest at the Philadelphia show and last week took second prize in the much larger international show in New York. This latter prize exhibit was an arrangement to show "restraint" and consisted of a spray of alder catkins and a snowdrop.

Flower shows and flower festivals are still to come in the South. At White Sulphur Springs the annual wild flower show will be held April 1 to 7 in the Greenbrier Hotel, where 1000 square feet will be devoted to a wild garden with a brook, and waterfalls. Native trees, shrubs, and wild flowers will be used to make a wild garden such as any householder could easily reproduce from native plants. In addition to annual blossom festivals like those in Delaware, West Virginia has a "forest festival" in the spring.

New Castle County Corn-Hog Sign-up April 4, 5 and 6

Farmers in New Castle county who plan to sign the corn-hog adjustment contracts offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of Washington, will have the opportunity to do so on April 4, 5 and 6 at "sign-up" stations arranged by County Agent Ed Willim, Jr., of Newark.

Mr. Willim today announced the itinerary of meetings for this purpose. The schedule follows: On Wednesday, April 4th, farmers of the lower part of the county can sign contracts at George M. D. Hart's supply store in Townsend, between 8:30 a. m. and 12:00 noon. The same afternoon the county agent will be at the New Castle County National Bank of Odessa from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m.

On Thursday, April 5th, Mr. Willim will be at the Fire Hall in Middletown from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m. at St. Georges Trust Co., St. Georges. On Friday farmers of the upper part of the county can sign at Fred Gebhart's store in Hockessin from 9 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and at the agent's office at 209 Wolf Hall, Newark, during the afternoon of that day.

The County Agent advises all farmers who are expecting to sign corn-hog reduction contracts to be present at one of these places and sign them. The last day for signing a contract will be April 14th, state Mr. Willim.

F. F. A. boys recently entertained their parents with a varied program including demonstrations.

IM MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our daughter, Mattie E. Porter, who passed on three years ago April 8, 1931. There is a grief that cannot find comfort. A wound that cannot be healed. No one knows how I miss you. No one knows the care I gave you. And I am lonesome and sad without you. The weary ways of life are not the same to me. Since you were called away, I miss the welcome footsteps. And the dear voice is still. I humbly bow and Amen because it was God's Will. The flowers I place upon your grave May wither and decay. But my love for you who sleeps beneath, Shall never pass away. Sadly missed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter.
