Elkton Road project getting under way

The Delaware Department of Transportation and a New Castle contractor have started work on the long-awaited Elkton Road project.

The project will extend from Delaware Avenue in Newark to the vicinity of the intersection with Gravenor Lane. Gravenor Lane is just south of Casho Mill Road. The reconstruction of Elkton Road aims to make the highway safer, more attractive and more pedestrian friendly. Redevelopment continues on the northern end of Elkton Road with more mixed-use projects that combine student housing with retail space going through the city's approval process.

A more in-depth report on the project will be published in a future edition of the Newark Post.

The project is divided into four construction phases and will include roadway reconstruction and intersection improvements, among other features.

Phase One work began on Monday and will run through November 2011. It will include the area of Elkton Road between Casho Mill Road and Delaware Avenue. This portion of Elkton Road will be reconstructed in an effort to correct deteriorated pavement, improve safety, and improve traffic operations. The segment of Elkton Road between Amstel and Delaware Avenue had previously been identified as a Highway Safety Improvement Program (HSIP) site. Overall, in addition to pavement reconstruction, the project includes additional turn lanes at the intersections of Elkton Road and Casho Mill and Apple Roads, reducing Elkton Road between Apple Road and Delaware Avenue from four to two lanes with a two-way center turn lane, new sidewalks and curb ramps, bike lanes, and utility improvements.

During Phase One, intermittent lane closures will be required in order for the removal and paving of concrete islands. The removal of the islands is temporary and will allow for a switch in traffic patterns during the first month of work. The change will affect the portion of Elkton Road between Casho Mill Road and Apple Road.

Crews will be working between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and may work on Saturdays if inclement weather is experienced during the week. Motorists should be aware of delays when driving along Elkton Road during the construction period.

The $10.5-million dollar project was awarded to Greggo & Ferrara, Inc. of New Castle.

POLICE BLOTTER

Two arrested following purse theft, assault

(Editor's note: The Police Blotter is assembled from reports from various law enforcement agencies. For the latest police news, log on to newarkpostonline.com.

Two people have been charged in the robbery of a purse that occurred on October 6, 2010. An anonymous tip led to the identification of Kevin Roberts, 35, as the male suspect. Bernisha Carter, 27, was recognized as a regular customer of the Sunoco store where the incident originated. Both suspects reside on the 100 block of Madison Drive in Newark.

Both surrendered themselves at the Newark Police Department on October 16. They were charged with one count each of Robbery 1st Degree, Conspiracy 2nd Degree, and Criminal Mischief.

Roberts was committed to the Young Correctional Facility in default of $5,000 secured bond. Carter was released after posting bond in the same amount.

Police previously reported that on Oct. 6, shortly before 11 p.m., a patron of the Sunoco at 287 Elkton Road, Newark, left her purse behind after leaving the store. Upon realizing she forgot the purse, she returned to the store about ten minutes later. The purse had disappeared and the employee told the victim that a person carrying a purse had just walked out of the business.

Police reported the victim saw a man and woman walking across the street and caught up to them in the nearby St. John's AUMP cemetery. The victim asked the couple if they had found her purse, and they replied that they had not. While speaking with the couple, the victim saw a strap of a purse hanging out from beneath the male suspect's shirt. The victim grabbed for her purse, and the female suspect began to pull the victim's hair and punch her. The male grabbed the victim's hand and attempted to get the victim's hand off of the purse. He also bit the victim on the hand. The assault caused the victim to lose her grip, and the suspects ran off into the College Park neighborhood.

The victim, a 30 year-old female, suffered scratches and bruising, but did not require medical attention.

An officer recovered the purse a short distance away. The cash from within the purse had been stolen.

Work truck stolen off Main St.

An employee with Swift Pools told police that an unknown suspect had stolen his work truck as he was waiting for a food order. The truck was taken last Wednesday morning as the employee and an assistant were standing in line at the food cart parked in front of National 5 & 10.

The driver told officers that the vehicle had been left unattended for less than five minutes and had passed by as he was waiting for his order to be cooked.

Witnesses from several nearby local businesses reported seeing no usual activity or suspects. The owner of the lunch cart said he saw a white male, described as 5'08 to 5'10", 150-170 lbs., wearing a white hoodie and khaki pants standing near in front of the work truck, but did not see the male approach or steal the truck.

The truck's GPS locator was active and showed that the truck was in Landenberg, PA, near 787 Rte. 896. When officers arrived, no such address was found, but officers searched several nearby side streets leading into White Clay Creek Park with negative results. A second search of the GPS signal showed that no signal could be found, leading authorities to believe that the suspect had deactivated the unit.

Video surveillance from two street cameras showed the top of the head of a white male wearing a light-colored sweatshirt. No further details were seen.

The vehicle is white in color and displays Swift Pools on the side in blue writing. It is valued at approximately $25,000.

Durango on fire in city yard

An investigation has been started for a 2004 Dodge Durango that caught fire in the City of Newark's Public

Fire took its toll on this Dodge Durango, which was assembled in Newark.

Works garage early evening last Wednesday. The engine of the vehicle was seen smoking heavily, with flames coming out from under the hood. An employee with the Water Department notified police about the incident.

Personnel from Aetna arrived on the scene and extinguished the fire. An adjacent car sustained fire and smoke damage to its driver's side panel and tire area. A search by police revealed that the area had been secured and that all gates were locked.

The Durango had been parked in the lot as part of an arson investigation occurring near Welsh Tract Road, in front of the gate at Folk Park, earlier that day. It had been reported stolen by an Elkton, Md. couple and had been found on fire by a passing motorist. The incident was reported to both the Newark Police Dept. and the Cecil County Sheriff's Department.

in Newark. Officers were in the area where the first victim reported that the trunk of his 1991 Nissan Sentra had been forced opened and that his amplifier and subwoofer had been removed.

Approximately ninety minutes later, other nearby residents called police to report that their cars had also been burglarized. The three additional vehicles had had their stereo components removed and showed broken windows as the point of entry.

The number of suspects is unknown as evidence was non-existent at the scene, due to a heavy rain from the night before that washed away any physical evidence. Police are hoping to track the stolen merchandise from serial numbers given to them by the victims.

2 face graffiti charges

Two 21 year-olds from Newark, have been arrested for damaging property with graffiti over a two-year period.

On October 7, Jerome Aniska, of the 300 block of College Avenue, was charged with 10 counts of Graffiti and 10 counts of Possession of Graffiti Implements. In incidents ranging from July 2009 until September 2010, Aniska defaced property in areas including North Chapel St., South College Avenue, North Street and Cleveland Avenue. Aniska used spray paint, markers, and an etching device to damage items such as glass doors and windows, fences, bridges, dumpsters, and buildings.

A search warrant was executed at Aniska's home, which resulted in the seizure of items containing graffiti and graffiti implements. After an initial appearance at JP Court #2, Aniska was released on an unsecured bond of $18,500.

Aniska was developed as a suspect after it was recently learned that he had been arrested in Philadelphia for painting graffiti similar to that found in Newark. It is estimated that Aniska caused $1,100 damage by his acts of vandalism.

On October 12, Rocco Bradley, of the 400 block of New London Road, was charged with 34 counts of Graffiti and 9 counts of Possession of Graffiti Implements. In incidents reported from December 2008 until April 2010, Bradley defaced property in areas including Main Street, south College Ave, north Chapel Street, Creek Road, and Cleveland Avenue. Bradley used spray paint and markers to damage items such as buildings, playground equipment, bridges, walls, parking meters, utility poles, newspaper vending boxes, and dumpsters. After an initial appearance at JP Court #11, Bradley was released on an unsecured bond of $4,300.

Bradley was developed as a suspect as part of the same investigation that involved Aniska. It is estimated that Bradley caused $5,100 damage by his acts of vandalism.

Model home burglarized

Owners of Fountainview LLC, an age-restricted community, told police that a refrigerator, microwave oven and electric range had been removed from a display house. Police arrived to find gouge marks on the front door jamb and scratches on the floor where the items had been removed.

Representatives of the company told police that it has been several months since contractors had visited the site. An unsecured garage window with dirty fingerprints on the sill is believed to be the point of entry.

One neighbor reported seeing a Hispanic man, described as being in his late 20s to early 30s and wearing a yellow shirt with stripes down both sleeves, on the back deck, peering into the rear window. The witness said that they thought the person was suspicious, since he was not old enough to buy a home in the restricted community.

Surveillance cameras at the site show a dark colored, possible blue, Chevy Avalanche entering and leaving the site, several times over a four-hour period. A still picture of the vehicle shows a ladder, that employees stated had been in the garage, in the bed of the truck.

The kitchen area showed extensive damage to interior walls and the floor, leading authorities to believe that the larger appliances had been dragged out the front door. Wall mounts, as well as one wall, were damaged when the microwave was forcibly removed.

A garage door was found unlocked and an interior door connecting the garage to the house was unscrewed off of its hinges, but police are unsure if any items were removed out of the garage.

The total value of all stolen property is over $3,000.

Shoplifting suspect returns

A juvenile was arrested in the shoplifting and buyback of books at a Newark business after he apparently returned.

Police identified the juvenile as a 16 year-old from Delaware Circle at George Read Village in Newark. The investigation continues regarding two other suspects that were believed to be involved in the incident.

On Friday October 15, an employee of Lieberman's, on Main Street, saw the suspect in the store once again and notified Newark Police. The suspect left the store before an officer arrived, but a responding officer saw the suspect nearby. Upon seeing the officer, the suspect ran, but was caught about one block away after a brief foot chase.

He was charged with two counts of Shoplifting and one count of Conspiracy 3rd Degree for his incidents at the bookstore. After an initial court appearance, he was released to a parent on an unsecured bond of $1,500 and the condition of a curfew.

The arrests came after two incidents of Shoplifting were reported at Lieberman's on Oct. 11th. The first took place at 10:10 a.m. when a suspect removed four books from a shelf, concealed them in a bag, and left the store.

The second occurred around 2:30 p.m. when the same suspect stole four more books in the same manner. Both thefts went undetected. About one hour later, two other people came into the store and sold three of the books back to the business.

After the buy-back was completed and an inventory was conducted, it was learned that the books had been previously stolen from the store.

A review of the store's surveillance system showed the shoplifting suspect stealing the books from the store.

The surveillance system did not capture the image of the two suspects who sold the books back to the store. One is described as a Hispanic male, 18 - 22 years of age, about 5' 9" tall. The second is a white female, 18 - 22 years of age, 5' 4" - 5' 6" tall.

Information regarding the suspects should be reported to Master Corporal Tracy Simpson at 302-366-7110 ext. 418 or Tracy.Simpson@cj.state.de.us. Information can be anonymously reported to Crime Stoppers at 1-800-TIP-3333, where a reward may be available.

Random observations on a busy sports week

By JON BUZBY

JONBUZBY@HOTMAIL.COM

The Fightin' Blue Hens remained undefeated with a hard-fought 24-17 victory over a pesky Rhode Island team that just wouldn't go away last Saturday as the University of Delaware celebrated Parents and Family Weekend.

My Player of the Game: Marcus Burley's first interception stopped Rhode Island on its first drive of the second half and his second pick with 3:13 remaining sealed the win for the Blue Hens. The sophomore cornerback also had three tackles and broke up two passes.

Accolades: Andrew Pierce (26 carries, 131 yards, 2 TDs) was named CAA Rookie of the Week for the fifth time.

Injury and suspension updates: Tailback David Hayes (high ankle sprain) will not play. Junior defensive lineman Chris Morales, previously serving a team-imposed suspension, will be available to play Saturday, coach K.C. Keeler said at his weekly press luncheon.

Next up: The No. 2 Hens (7-0 4-0 CAA) play at fourth-ranked William and Mary (5-1, 3-1 CAA) Saturday at 12 noon in a game televised on the Comcast Network.

Keeler's quips

On his team's miscues, which included allowing a kickoff return for a touchdown, muffing a punt reception and two personal foul penalties: "We felt ourselves self-destructing, which is something we had not felt before. From the kickoff return to end the first half to midway through the fourth quarter we were doing things to self destruct. We haven't played tight all season, and I felt like we were a little bit tighter than we had been all season."

Two lessons learned: "First lesson learned: One snap can change a whole ballgame. Second lesson learned: They (CAA teams) all can beat you."

On giving up the late first-half kickoff return for a touchdown to make the score 24-14 at halftime: "If you're up 17 at the half, you feel pretty comfortable. Ten points and you feel like you're fighting for your lives."

On the holding call that negated a long pass completion to Tommy Crosby early in the fourth quarter that would have given the Hens first-and-goal inside the URI 5-yard line: "Still looking for the holding call to this day. There was no holding."

On senior quarterback Pat Devlin: "Pat, the last two games, has played lights out. We are going to be really tough to beat if we are getting that kind of production from Pat. Pat is playing tremendous football."

On the crowd (the 22,567 fans were the most since 2004 against Towson): "That was awesome. That's the type of crowds these kids deserve and this team deserves. Just the energy and the noise on third downs. That's the tradition and history of what Delaware football is all about: Phenomenal crowds that are really into it."

Sunday sermon: "At Sunday's meeting I told the players, 'We're 7-0,' and they looked at me like, wow, he said it. It had been a long time since we laughed, so I called the seniors up and we put on the song 'Jump Around,' and me and the seniors all jumped around and everyone had a laugh."

On the lighter side: "I play a little golf, make a little iced tea and listen to Mickey's (James Madison coach Mickey Matthews) press conferences. That's my social life."

On William and Mary: "They are a field goal away from being undefeated. They beat an excellent Villanova team. This is a very good team. They found an answer at quarterback (UNC transfer Michael Paulus), they are playing really good defense and they can run the ball. It's going to be interesting."

"Our defense will get truly tested. Paulus is outstanding. He has a very good arm, reads defenses well, and can pull the ball down and run. He's an athletic kid. Schematically they keep you off balance."

JPMorgan Chase sponsors Special Olympics Fall Festival

Over 450 athletes from around the state will gather this Saturday at the University of Delaware to compete at the 2010 Special Olympics - Delaware Fall Festival sponsored by JPMorgan Chase. Athletes will compete in bocce, flag football, soccer and volleyball tournaments at the Delaware Field House and adjacent fields. Over 150 of the bank's employees will serve in volunteer roles at the festival, which the company is sponsoring for the ninth consecutive year.

"JPMorgan Chase's continued support of our Fall Festival, both providing the financial support for the event and also the volunteer base to ensure a wonderful experience for all our athletes and families, is a tribute to the bank's commitment to our movement and the community," said SODE executive director Ann Grunert.

5k Race in memory of Teri Schaal

This past summer Newark resident Teri Schaal, a volunteer EMT with the Aetna Fire Company and an athletic trainer at Middletown High School, lost her life in a tragic accident. Middletown High School is holding a 5k in her memory. Half the funds raised will be put into a scholarship fund for a student wishing to pursue a career as an athletic trainer and/or EMT, and the other half will go into an educational fund for her two young boys.

The date of the event is Sunday, Nov. 21 at 10 a.m. at Middletown High School. Registration fee is $25 for registration and tee shirt or $15 for registration only. To receive a registration form contact Bill Dubois at 302-530-1613 or william.dubois@appo.k12.de.us. If you can't participate but would like to contribute to the fund, make checks payable and mail to: Middletown High School, c/o Bill Dubois, 120 Silver Lake Road, Middletown, DE 19709.

ATHLETE SPOTLIGHT

Amy Micklos

Senior field hockey player,
Newark High School

Hometown: Newark

Other varsity sports: basketball and lacrosse

School activities other than sports: Best Buddies, FCCLA, and senior class council

Next year's plans: Hopes to attend the University of Delaware to study cognitive science and then pursue a master's degree in speech pathology.

First fell in love with field hockey: "The moment I knew I loved the sport was my freshman year, playing a junior varsity game. It was a rainy, muddy game, but it was the game I scored my first goal in."

Thoughts on the season so far and expectations the rest of the way: "This season we have worked hard as a team and expanded the program a lot. We have had many successes as a team, even though our record may not reflect it. We have a few challenging game coming up, but nothing we can't handle."

Coach Erin Marighugh's thoughts: "Amy is an amazing student-athlete who does a lot of volunteer work and is very involved within her school community."

Five-win day for jockey Napravnik

The leading jockey at Delaware Park, Anna "Rosie" Napravnik notched five winners, falling one short of the record, from seven mounts at Delaware Park on Saturday.

The 22-year-old native of Morristown, N.J., notched her first winner of the day in the second race with Mipando, trained by Peter Walder. She followed by winning the third race astride Poseidon, conditioned by Steve Klesaris. In the fourth, she scored aboard Governor Jack, trained by Thomas Iannotti. Her fourth win on the day came in the sixth race, the $75,000 Tax Free Shopping Stakes, with Southern Truth conditioned by Jason Servis. Her fifth win came in the tenth and final race on the card astride Iris' Proverb trained by Sam Cronk.

Through October 16, Napravnik is the leading jockey at Delaware Park with a record of 111 winners from 477 mounts.

OPINION

Landlords, the U.S. Constitution and inspections

By DOUG RAINEY

DRAINEY@CHES PUB.COM

Arguing about the U.S. Constitution is not just confined to the debates between U.S. Senate candidates Chris Coons and Christine O'Donnell.

On Monday night, Newark landlords are expected to claim that city staff is violating the constitutional rights of tenants and landlords. The council will be considering revisions to the International Building and Property Maintenance Code. One landlord paid us a visit this week and passed along a letter to Councilman Douglas Tuttle from Bruce Harvey. Harvey took note of the fact that two landlords have refused to let city inspectors into the properties, citing the wishes of tenants and constitutional issues.

Harvey also noted that the city is prone to add additional provisions to ordinances. Landlords have also filed suit against the city claiming fees charged by the city are too high and citing a court decision in Pennsylvania that upheld such claims.

Code Enforcement leaders seem determined to get inside houses using methods that are contrary to Newark law, the Delaware Constitution and the U.S. Constitution. You might not know that the proposed International Code update contains language attempting to circumvent the law, he wrote. Harvey went on to cite various amendments to the code that he urged Tuttle not to approve, citing constitutional grounds.

The relationship between the city and landlords is typically strained in college towns based on the number of years I have covered city councils, boards public works boards, etc.

City officials worry about the health and safety and policing of older properties. The problem is that the regulatory burden falls more heavily on these properties. Residents are also less likely to support landlords, believing they cut corners on maintenance and other areas in search of a profit. And yes, there are always a few landlords that don't care and make life rough for remainder. Newark is no exception and their neglect was on display over the winter when sidewalks were never cleared. Typically, the worn exteriors of those converted homes spoke volumes on the attitude of the owners.

There's more to this story than a few bad apples. It is true that municipalities often punish many for the sins of a few, knowing that dealing with a bad landlord can be a frustrating and laborious process.

In one respect, landlords have a point. Government can be an intrusive beast and catching an inspector on a bad day is not a good thing. My solution is to require quarterly inspections of all student and multi-family rentals, with perhaps two a year for those that have a record of good maintenance, perhaps by certified professionals, such as home inspectors, accompanied by a fire company representative. The emphasis should be on fire safety. Community policing is another answer, with police keeping close tabs on properties that may be the temporary homes for those suspected of criminal activity.

Landlords tell us they serve a variety of constituencies, other than students and that should be recognized. It's both a good and bad thing.

With that said, economic factors are also in the mix as bigger property managers account for a larger chunk of the student rental market. Springing up are mixed-use projects on Main Street and Elkton Road. It is truly amazing how many apartments you can put in a narrow, long building. The projects combine retail space with student housing. So far, growth at the University of Delaware has kept the vacancy rate down, although based on recent approvals, more apartments are in the pipeline. That will only put more pressure on the little guys, who deserve a break of some sort if they are doing a good job of maintaining their properties.

As for the constitution, it's a tough call. Perhaps the proposed ordinance does intrude on individual rights. Then again, an inspection with adequate notice is needed in the interest of public safety in older buildings that can go up in flames like that.

Have a better idea? The council meeting will get under way at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building on Elkton Road.

'Dame Edna' returns to Chapel Street

'One Dame Funny Halloween II: A Nightmare on Chapel Street'

October 22 at 8 pm, October 23 at 2 and 8 pm, The Chapel Street Players, 27 N. Chapel Street, Newark DE 19711. $10 per ticket and can be purchased at the door or by visiting www.chapelstreetplayers.org.

Our own Delaware version of Dame Edna, Scott Mason, is back at Chapel Street Players with a whole new show! As it is almost Halloween, the Dame encourages all her attendees to wear their best Halloween costume to the show! It won't get you a discount, but as the Dame knows, dressing up is a lot of fun! In addition to the usual laughs from social commentary comedy, the Dame will share her adventures on the high seas off Alaska, what's wrong with the "Jersey Shore," and her usual off-the-wall observations. There will also be a surprise guest that you must not miss! One of the Dame's bestest friends making her first appearance ever at CSP... and the State of Delaware!

There are only 3 shows to catch the Dame in action, but we are taking reservations and all seats are assigned (as opposed to previous shows that were general admission) so now you can sit with your bestest friends and enjoy the frivolity. Don't delay in making reservations or buying tickets through ticketleap.com as we are expecting near or actual sell-outs! All tickets are only $10.

OUT OF THE ATTIC

This week's Out of the Attic item is an April 2007 view of the St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church at the NE corner of East Main and North Chapel Streets that was designated a Delaware Historic Site in 2002. The Public Archives marker reads, "In 1868, the original Village Presbyterian Church which stood on this location was purchased by Charles A. Murphey. The property was donated to the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington, and the church was named St. Patrick's. It became a mission of Church of Immaculate Conception in Elkton, Md. On the morning of December 25, 1880, the floor collapsed, and a decision was made to raze the church.

"While a new church was being built, Sunday Mass was held at the Newark Grange Hall. Because of the monies contributed by Father John A. Lyons and his family, the church was renamed in honor of his patron, St. John the Baptist. The cornerstone of the present building was laid on June 24, 1883, and construction was completed in December. In 1946 a major interior renovation was executed by the Philadelphia architects, Gleason and Mulrooney. Building modifications included the installation of twelve memorial stained glass windows and a rose window at the south front façade. The belfry was altered after being stuck by lightning in 1953. In July of 1991, a fire caused extensive damage to the front of the sanctuary. Due to the quick response of the Aetna Hose, Hook, and Ladder Company, the structure was saved. The building is an excellent example of Romanesque Revival Ecclesiastical architecture as interpreted by Newark Builders."

Visit the NEWARK HISTORY MUSEUM located at the historic passenger train station on South College Avenue. The museum is open to the public Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. now through November 28, 2010. The museum is also open all year by appointment for groups, individuals, and special events. Call 368-9845 for arrangements. The Society invites donations or loans of objects, stories, pictures and other artifacts of places, activities, people, and life styles in the Greater Newark Area for its permanent collections.

*Equal Housing Lender. Member FDIC. Member of the Fulton Financial Family. The product is a variable rate line of credit secured by the primary residence and not exceeding an 80% loan to value ratio. This account includes a fixed rate option. Current fixed rate APRs range from 5.74% to 9.99% depending on credit qualifications, payment option, and loan term selected. This rate may vary, but once established as a new Fixed Rate Advance, will not vary thereafter. A $100 rate lock fee applies each time you establish a Fixed Rate Advance. The fee is waived if rate is locked at closing. Closing costs for lines of credit up to $500,000 typically range from approximately $200 to $675 depending on line amount, appraisal requirements and property location. Any closing costs initially paid by the bank on the borrower's behalf, must be paid by the borrower if the account is closed within 3 years. Borrower must pay mortgage satisfaction fees at loan termination. Property insurance is required. Rate and terms subject to change and may be withdrawn without notice. Rates are available to qualified borrowers and loans are subject to credit approval.

¹The advertised 2.99% APR (Annual Percentage Rate) applies to new lines of credit of at least $10,000 and an automatic deduction of payment from a Delaware National Bank deposit account. Applications must be received by October 30, 2010. Borrowers with a credit score of 710 or better will receive 2.99% APR for 6 months from the opening date. For borrowers having a credit score of less than 710 (not receiving an introductory rate), APRs are variable and may range from 4.25% (Wall Street Journal Prime plus 1.00%) to 6.75% (WSJ plus 3.50%), depending on credit qualifications and payment option selected.

²After the expiration of the 6-month introductory rate period, the APR will be based on the WSJ as published daily plus a margin or minimum APR of 3.99%, whichever is greater. The advertised 3.99% APR is our current standard rate with automatic deduction of payment from a Delaware National Bank deposit account. For borrowers having a credit score of 710 or better, depending on credit qualifications and payment option selected, APRs may range from 3.99% (Minimum) to 4.25% (WSJ plus 1.00%). APR may increase if automatic payment is discontinued. The maximum APR is 18.00%.

³Offers and terms subject to change and may be withdrawn without notice. May not be combined with any other offer. Offer applies to new OptionLine home equity lines of credit of at least $10,000 with an advance of $10,000 or more at settlement to receive a gift item of your choice. Series addresses Muslim American struggles

The free 2010-11 Cecil College Speakers Series, "A Warrior's Story: Perspectives on Nation, Safety and Prosperity," resumes at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 3, when Kimberly King presents "Navigating Identities, Building Bridges: Strategies of a Muslim American Woman" in the Milburn Stone Theatre on Cecil's North East campus.

A native of Fairport Harbor, Ohio, King entered the U.S. Army at age 18, serving in the communications field for Military Intelligence Battalions in Texas, South Korea and Washington. At the end of her tour of duty, she studied comparative religion, "with a goal to be a better witness of God's love, mercy and forgiveness," and converted to Islam in 1989.

King is currently the programs director of the Civilizations Exchange and Cooperation Foundation, a non-profit organization in Baltimore founded by her husband, Imam Mohamad Bashár Arafat, in 2000. Together they work internationally to "eradicate stereotypes and bring about better understanding between people of different cultures, regions and religions."

In her talk, she will address the struggles she has faced both internally and externally as a Muslim American woman, particularly after 9/11, as well as offer strategies for building diverse and mutually supportive communities among cultures and identities in apparent conflict.

Federal transport grant goes to UD Chrysler plant site

The U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) has announced the award of $2.25 million in planning grant funds to address transportation needs surrounding the redevelopment of the former Chrysler assembly plant in Newark.

A consortium of state, academic and private agencies joined together to apply for funding under the Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) II grant program.

The TIGER II funds will be used to develop a preliminary plan for transit-oriented services in and around the Newark Rail Station. The plan will focus on transportation solutions to support economic development, accessible housing and multi-modal transportation choices for the area surrounding the former Chrysler site, now owned by the University of Delaware.

"This is terrific news for transportation. Rail infrastructure is critical and this is a major project that supports Delaware," said Gov. Jack Markell. "The grant gets us closer to creating the kind of transportation hub that our university and the Newark region needs and wants. We will need more mobility options for people as the University transforms the former Chrysler site and Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) redevelopment occurs in nearby Aberdeen."

The TIGER grant is the first step in making the commuter station in Newark more convenient and safe.

passenger rail service and is adjacent to freight rail using the NEC. Using a transit-oriented design, plans will explore development of a more accessible rail station compliant with Americans with Disability Act (ADA) requirements, elimination of safety hazards for riders, and improved connections to fixed route transit services. It will also look to eliminate conflicts between freight and passenger rail systems, thereby improving rail service time.

The consortium of agencies that partnered to apply for the grant included the Delaware Department of Transportation, University of Delaware, Delaware Transit Corporation, New Castle County, City of Newark, Delaware Economic Development Office and Norfolk Southern Railroad Corporation. The grant was prepared by the Wilmington Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (WILMAPCO). The grant received support from Senator Thomas R. Carper, Senator Edward E. Kaufman and Representative Michael N. Castle.

"This was a very competitive process, but the U.S. Department of Transportation clearly saw what we did — a project with great potential that would benefit from this funding and in turn help the entire community, said Carper. "This grant will lead to safer, and additional intercity and commuter rail service, and provide infrastructure for transit-oriented development. This is one of the many ways that our state can help reduce harmful air pollutants, reduce vehicle congestion on our roads, and encourage healthier lifestyles. This is a project I have supported for years; today's announcement is a testament of how working together, we can get things done the Delaware way."

"This announcement is great news," said Rep. Castle. "Many residents and businesses in this region will benefit from the work that DelDOT and the University of Delaware have done to advance this project, improve the rail station and revitalize the plant."

Transportation Secretary Carolann Wicks added, "The TIGER grant funding allows us to explore the potential to leverage private investment sources interested in development at the former Chrysler site, as it is converted into world class academic and research facilities."

"This grant assists the University of Delaware in moving one step closer in redeveloping this site into a science and technology campus that will support future economic growth for the state and region through business, government and university partnerships," said David Brond, UD vice president for communications and marketing.

County Executive Chris Coons cited the importance of the Newark Train Station as a transportation hub for the growing number of commuters along the northeast corridor. "This TIGER II grant funding could not have come at a better time as New Castle County prepares for an influx of BRAC related technology companies and workers relocating to our region", said County Executive Chris Coons.

The TIGER II program is a national, competitive grant program, totaling $600 million and dedicated to both planning and construction of major highway, rail, transit, and port improvements across the country. It is similar to the TIGER I grant program, funded through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA), although funded through the federal 2010 appropriations bill.

The Newark Train Station is located 47 miles south of Philadelphia and 105 miles north of Washington, DC on Amtrak's Northeast Corridor (NEC) rail line. The station sits just west of South College Avenue/Route 896, in close proximity to residential neighborhoods, University of Delaware facilities, and the downtown/historic district of the City of Newark. In addition to Amtrak service, Newark is served by SEPTA commuter rail to Philadelphia and there are plans for expansion of Maryland Transit Administration (MTA) commuter trains to Newark by 2015.

Want to see this in your neighborhood?

Are you for honest, transparent government? Do you want to know what's going on?

Politicians talk about transparency, but they are proposing an idea that would make it harder for citizens to find out what government is doing. If you want to keep legal notices in newspapers where they belong and have always been, contact the Maryland-Delaware-D.C. Press Association at citizen@mddcpress.com.

FREE approx 8 yr old spayed Rottweiler. My name is Roxie. I am a gentle older girl. I get along with cats, but prefer to be the only dog in the home. I am house broken, behaved, walk on lead, and love children. However due to my size there should not be any young children in the house, as I may hurt them unknowingly, just trying to give all the love I have. I need a fenced yard to play in. My Mistress can no longer keep me due to agility problems. Serious inquires only 410-287-5990
