LOCAL POST- MASTER RENAMED

C. E. Rittenhouse

High Average

Cyrus E. Rittenhouse, postmaster at the local post office has been reappointed for another term it was stated last week.

Mr. Rittenhouse was first appointed to the local office on July 1, 1933 by the Honorable Wilbur L. Adams, congressman from Delaware and he succeeded William H. Evans who had held the office for many years.

Under Mr. Rittenhouse's management the local post office has grown from a second class office to a first class post office and has increased in trade twice since that time. The gross business of the office in 1934 amounted to $27,000; the gross for the past year will exceed $40,000.

The staff of the office has increased from 14 employees in 1934 to 19 at the present time and under his supervision the city delivery has been extended to cover the development at Nottingham Manor, the Lumbrook section and other street extensions.

The rural routes have not increased much in mileage but it is estimated that the population of these routes have increased fifty per cent.

The local post office has held an efficiency rating of 97 per cent or better as indicated by postal inspection reports. In 1941 the rating was 100 per cent.

Born at State Road Station near New Castle, Mr. Rittenhouse received his early education at what was known as Franklin School Number 49 near State Road and he moved to Newark in 1923 and started in the automobile business, trading under the name of Rittenhouse Motors.

Mr. Rittenhouse took a civil service examination in August and received an average of 98 per cent.

STUDENTS VOLUNTEER TO SAVE CORN CROP

Newark Boys Husk Corn At Davis Farm Near Cherry Hill

Last week, Robert J. Davis, a resident of Newark who is also the owner of a farm near Cherry Hill was telling F. Thaddeus Warrington, director of vocational agriculture at the Newark High School of his inability to secure help in harvesting his corn crop, as a result of which much of the crop was being damaged in the field.

Mr. Warrington made an appeal to the student body of the high school for volunteers to husk this much needed crop. Forty-seven students, including nine girls volunteered for the job.

Students who volunteered for this patriotic job were: Nancy Baylis, Anne Perry, Pearl Ross, Mary Jane Taylor, Teresa Ford, Jane Trivis, Betty Foster, Catherine Duffy, Mike Gillespie, Albert Miller, Frank McBERTY, Robert Taylor, Edward Saucerman, Herbert E. Stone, Jr., Joseph Saccone, Alton Haney, Jack Miller, Tony Cosetti, John Speich, Oscar Pickett, Clark Sullivan, Jack Fossitt, Thomas Runk, S. W. Lockerman, William Lehman, Joe Moore, Donald Butterworth, Robert Hawkins, Charles Swan, Edward Dean, Billy Sullivan, J. Henderson, Royden Lovett, and Billy Correll.

From this group of volunteers a working crew was selected consisting of Clark Sullivan, Samuel Lockerman, William Lehman, Frank McBERTY, John Wells, Charles Wollaston, Thomas Runk, Tony Cosetti, Oscar Pickett, Earl Walker, John Sprecker, Herbert Stone, and John Miller.

The boys selected were all town boys and only one had ever husked corn before so Mr. Warrington and Robert Davis, Jr. gave a demonstration and then assisted the volunteer huskers. Mr. Warrington tied the ladder, the corn was husked a team and truck was used to haul the corn to the crib and just as the sun was setting the last load was hauled out of the field.

After the work was done, Mrs. Davis invited the boys into the house and they sat around the fire while she served them with home-made doughnuts and hot chocolate.

This is the first time that students of the Newark Schools have gone out as a group to help in farm work. All the boys enjoyed their experience and expressed their desire to assist again whenever their services were needed.

POULTRY CEILING REVISED

Food Shortage Causes Increased Poultry Demand

Revision of price ceilings on live and dressed poultry by the Office of Price Administration call for slightly higher ceilings to correct unfavorable conditions that have forced the closing of some poultry dressing plants in lower Delaware.

Due to food shortages over the country, many consumers have turned to poultry to supplement their menus. This increased consumer demand has carried farm prices out of line with the established prices and it is expected that the new ceilings will remove the threat to the immediate future of the Delmarva Poultry dressing industry.

Revised ceilings now in effect for live and dressed poultry as of New York City are as follows, reports Leon Todd, managing director of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council: Broilers under 2½ pounds, 32 cents; fryers, 2½ to 3½ pounds, 33½ cents; light roasters, 3½ to 5 pounds, 36½ cents; heavy roasters, 5 pounds and over, 38½ cents. The ceiling for live birds has been set at four cents under the dressed ceiling prices.

For further information, interested persons are advised to contact their county agricultural Extension agents.

New Servicemen's Center in New York

As a further contribution to the comfort of those in the armed forces, the Christian Science Churches of Greater New York have opened the new Christian Science Servicemen's Center at 537 Fifth Avenue, New York City, where servicemen, whether they are of the Army, Navy, Marine, Merchant Marine, or any other branch of the service, are assured of a hearty welcome. While the room is maintained by the Christian Science Churches of Greater New York, it is strictly non-sectarian.

PHARMACIST, INSPECTORS EXAMINATION ANNOUNCED

Civil Service Seeks Recruits For Federal Institutions

A new examination to recruit pharmacists for Federal dispensaries and hospitals is announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. In addition, men and women not now employed on livestock, dairy, or poultry farms who are acquainted with livestock raising and processing are sought as inspectors for meat packing establishments.

The examination announced for Junior Pharmacist, $2,000 a year, is given for the first time since 1940. It is open to applicants who have successfully completed a full 4-year course with major study in pharmacy in a recognized college, university, college or pharmacy, or medical school, and to senior students in such schools who expect to graduate before July, 1943. It is also open to registered pharmacists lacking college training—provision being made for substituting pharmaceutical experience, or study in resident pharmacy schools, for the prescribed college training. Combinations of experience and education are acceptable.

Applications for Junior Pharmacist must be filed with the Commission's Washington office by December 15, 1942. Positions at $1,440, $1,620, and $1,800 as well as at $2,000 are available to applicants passing the written examination.

Assistant Lay Inspector positions in meat packing establishments, do not require written tests. Applicants who show that they have lived for 4 years since their twelfth birthday on farms on ranches producing livestock, or applicants who have had at least 2 years of experience since their sixteenth birthday handling livestock or preparing and processing meat products may be eligible for the positions, which pay $1,620 a year. Jobs are located throughout the United States. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

There is no maximum age limit for any of these positions; applications must be filed with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Full information as to requirements and application forms may be obtained from Ralph B. Kee, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at first- and second-class post offices.

Applications are not desired from war workers unless higher skill would be utilized in a change of position. War Manpower restrictions on Federal appointment of persons engaged in certain critical occupations in specified areas are given in Form 3989, posted in first and second-class post offices.

Farmers May Appeal To County Boards

In issuing Certificates of War Necessity to farm truck operators every effort has been made to take into account all situations so that every farmer may have sufficient gasoline for his essential needs, advises C. E. Keyes, district manager for the Office of Defense Transportation at Dover.

In the event undue hardship is placed upon individual farmers because they do not have sufficient gasoline for their absolutely essential hauling needs, appeals for adjustments in gasoline allotments may be made.

Farmers who wish to file a request for adjustment should appeal in person to their county farm transportation committee.

The farm transportation committee is headed up by the county chairman of the county USDA war boards, so these appeals should be made at the county USDA war board offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.

Field Fire Extinguished

The Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company extinguished a field fire along Kells Avenue Thursday evening which for a while threatened homes in that section and the town water works. There was no damage. Sparks from a passing train is believed to have started the blaze.

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

The United States has just passed its first anniversary in a global war, and the publication of the full story of the tragedy of Pearl Harbor overcast for a period the favorable news that came from our men battling in Africa and 'round the world through the Pacific.

Of course it is encouraging to read in newspapers that today, a great new munitions industry is out-producing the Axis, particularly as these claims are verified by the cold figures put out by the Office of War Information in reporting the upward swing of production of planes, tanks, bombers, guns, ships, and materials.

While the President has been telling the country that there must be "no relaxation on the part of the manufacturers of the country" as long as any hostile force confronts us his Chief of War Production lays down a measuring-stick that proves that the United States is now entering the "third stage" of the war, with "all-out mobilization and centralized direction." This is a good description of the policy of our Government, and it has justified Mr. Nelson's conclusion that free enterprise has won its right to proceed in the war effort with less Governmental control—commonly known by the various names of "bureaucracy," "red tap," "socialism" and "confusion."

In reviewing the first year of the war Mr. Nelson declared that the success of production was so magnificent that the American public is hardly able to realize the greatness of our own accomplishments.

But Mr. Harley Lutz, professor Public Finance at Princeton University, really rings the bell when he says that there is no cause to worry about the final results of the military war, but "there is reason for the gravest concern over the outcome of our civil war—the war of the screwy social reformers against the existing political methods that have place "strangle-holds upon business, and which can effectively prevent the private enterprise system from reasserting its traditional vigor."

But despite our rubber disasters, oil shortages, and countless other restrictions, the fact remains that American ingenuity, science, invention and countless discoveries in the world of today are harbingers of hope that American ingenuity will outstrip all the marvelous records that have been chalked up in this twentieth century.

SMARTER THAN HITLER

Germany taught the world that efficient, hard hitting mobility is a requisite of military victory. Modern war is war of movement, not alone at the fighting front, but also on the home front. In the first days after Pearl Harbor the test of American mobility fell almost wholly upon the shoulders of the railroads. The Military Transportation Office, a division of the Association of American Railroads, was one of the first key agencies to be notified that war had come. The performance of the railroads in the next few weeks is history. They did a transportation job of unequalled proportions. And the manner in which they did it proved that our railroad managements understood Hitler's kind of war.

The big question now is, can the railroads continue to carry the punishing traffic? Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, observes that "... it is certain that the railroads are driving their cars and locomotives as they have never been driven before. ... The productive effort of the country has not reached its peak, and I have no reason to believe that the traffic volume has reached its peak. ... We know that the movements of troops, with all that they involve, will continue to increase. We know that restrictions upon private automobiles and buses are bound to throw a new and heavy load upon railroad passenger service ... there is, therefore, a clear and definite need for new locomotives and new freight cars.

"The transportation industry has thus far held up its end in the war effort, notwithstanding the difficulties, in a wholly admirable way. We cannot afford to take undue chances with it for the future."

The railroads have proved that insofar as efficiency of operating methods are concerned, they are equal to the task. They have asked permission to purchase new equipment and they must have it. We might just as well sink the Navy as hamstringing our railroads by preventing them from buying needed equipment.

WHY NEWS IS CENSORED

An official explanation of the basic policy of Government censorship is of interest to editors and their readers.

Elmer Davis says that the safety of our men is helped by withholding some of the news that is of aid to the enemy, such as reports of battles at sea, movements of troops, the landing of the American expeditionary force in North Africa, and reports of military operations and activities in our own country and other parts of the world.

Recently Mr. Raymond Gram Swing broadcast the statement that the public became more critical of the military news policy at a time when that policy was better than it ever has been, and a great deal better than the public believed. And Swing is accepted as top authority on the radio, in Washington.

Mr. Davis says that the policy the Government is following regarding military news is a policy based on the two principles of telling the American people as much as possible, and not telling the enemy what he does not know already. The public will be told the truth, he says, but maybe not "immediately."

STUDENT DEFERMENT CLARIFIED

High Percentage Eligible To Complete Term

Information just received from the American Council on Education greatly clarifies the position of college students for the forthcoming term with respect to their eligibility to continue their studies, it was announced today by Dr. Walter Hüllihen, University of Delaware president.

The plan approved by the War and Navy Departments and the War Manpower Commission is such that a very high percentage of the men students at the University of Delaware appear to be eligible to complete the term beginning January 4 and ending April 24. Furthermore, even those apparently subject to immediate call by the armed forces are urged by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission to continue in college until actually ordered to report for induction.

Those directly eligible to remain in college for the next term include all students in the Senior Reserve Officers Training Corps and all students, whether seniors, juniors, sophomores, or freshmen, who are enrolled in the Enlisted Reserve Corps—except Aviation Reserves. The latter may be called for training whenever facilities for them are available in an aviation training school.

Three groups of students are eligible for deferment during the next term upon application to local selective service boards. Included in this classification are all engineering students not in the R.R.C. who have completed on year of study in an approved engineering curriculum. Dr. Hüllihen explained that all Delaware engineering curricula are approved.

Also eligible for deferment in this category are all students not in the E. R.C. specializing in Chemistry, Physics, or Bacteriology who are within two years of completion of such specialized curricula. The university president said that this seems to include all sophomores who have completed one and one half sessions as well as all juniors and seniors in these curricula. The third group eligible for deferment during the next term consists of pre-medical, pre-dental, and pre-veterinary students who have completed one year of study in such courses.

All students not included in the classifications mentioned above are subject to immediate call by selective service boards. In view of the fact that Mr. McNutt has urged these students to remain in college as long as possible and since there may be further modifications of this plan during the forthcoming term, Dr. Hüllihen expressed the opinion that it would be advisable for these students to return to college for the next term.

$2500 FIRE AT PORTER

Fire destroyed an implement shed and all farm implements on the farm of John Gavotas near Porter on Tuesday afternoon as well as completely destroying the corn crib and 200 bushels of corn.

The Christiansa, New Castle and Delaware City firemen responded to a call and with no water available emptied their booster tanks twice to save the farm house which was endangered from flying sparks.

It was stated that no one was home at the time except a farm hand who had to run a mile to the nearest telephone to call in the alarm.

The fire was believed to have been started from a gasoline engine in the implement shed. Damage was estimated at about $2,500.

Miss Anne Timko enlisted in the WAAC's on August 20, and since August 25, has been receiving her basic training at Fort Des Moines, Iowa.

Jackson Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis of 188 W. Main Street, a student at Mount Herman School, Mass., is home for the holidays.

Be Quick To Treat

Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Croomlin.

Which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the laden phlegm and aid nature in soothing and healing raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Croomlin blends beechnut, eucalyptus, and menthol with other time tested medicines for powerful relief.

It contains no narcotics, no habit-forming drugs.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist you want a bottle of Croomlin.

The understanding you must have the way it quickly allays the cough, permits rest and sleep, or you are sure to have your money back. (Adv.)

SURE SHOT

Well, Old Chris will come to see all good boys and girls tonight. With the rationing of fuel oil there will not be much soot in the old chimney and Santa will be able to come down the chimney without getting his suit dirty.

Well, we should pause at this time and offer a prayer for the safety of our boys in the service. At this time when we should all feel good, we must remember that our loved ones are scattered about the face of the globe giving their all that this world may be a safe place for the ones back home.

Last week our paper ran a great many "Letters To Santa". The following were left out, due to a lack of space:

Our "editor" wants a tie clasp to keep his tie out of the ink.

Our good looking Linotype operator wants someone to watch over him while his wife is away.

Mr. Sparklin, our compositor, said all he wants is warm weather.

Bill Durham, our pressman, has only one wish—Dear Santa, please send me one (1) new press.

Elizabeth Taylor wants another box of the same kind of powder she received last year.

Mary Hudson, our bookkeeper only wants to hear from her hubby who is in the service. Africa is a long way off. A letter just received from President Roosevelt requesting Santa to bring him Hitler so he can kick the pants off him.

George Ramsey, town supervisor wants more streets to be built.

Raymond Buckingham asks Santa for more field trials to win. Buck really has some fine beagles.

Our local postmaster is right on the job when it comes to efficiency. With the big rush on at the post office he is confronted with the problem of getting the mail out so in an effort to make the employees work faster he installed a radio and has all the latest tunes turned on and you should see them sorting the mail to music (beat me Daddy).

Ralph Kee has been working overtime and Skipper his dog has been mighty lonesome with no Ralphie to play with.

Another clerk gave for his reason for being late was that his car did not perform well on the ice.

Ott Widdoes, a former clerk at the post office who is now in the service likes his new job very well only he misses his bird shooting. Well, he may have a shot at the Japs soon. Anyway, the game will be bigger and easier to hit.

Everyone had a good time at the football banquet, at the high school, at least all were well fed, and I mean WELL fed.

That big Talucci boy can sure drink milk. After eating two servings of turkey and all the fixings he started drinking milk. Mr. Justin who was across the table from him, had a mop ready in case he busted. At the last count, there were nine empty bottles in front of him.

That Dick Robinson feller was not bad at all. He ate until he had to loosen his belt and then he kept on eating and when I looked again he had removed his necktie and unfastened his collar. Boy, Oh! Boy, he was "full" clear up to the neck.

Red Henderson had every one worried by not being there when the dinner started. But Red is not like the rest of the boys. No, he has to be different. All the other boys were uniforms when they had their picture taken, but Red, no indeed, he had his picture taken with his regular clothes on. Possibly he wanted to make sure Coach Murray noticed him.

Some one said that Monday night was the first time they ever saw Jack Wells' hair combed. Well, he did look nice.

Marvin Butler had on a necktie for the banquet. Strange. He ate until we all thought he would bust and then he tightened the necktie.

It was real kind of Dr. Downes to offer to give members of the team free pills. Possibly he will give you some new kind of a pill the next time you play Conrad.

That little Talucci boy will grow up some day and be a big milk drinker like his brother.

Andy Walp could not eat much for thinking of a sweet, certain someone? I am glad that the banquet was on Monday instead of Friday because Cliff Lee and Ollie Suddard might not have been able to look for airplanes.

There was a lot of talk about raising chickens fast. They called it scientifically. That Gillespie man can do a lot of things fast. He can have all his good players graduate and the next year he scratches around and gathers together a good squad.

Jack Levis Awarded Football Letter

Fifty-five varsity letter awards in fall sports were presented by the Mount Hermon Athletic Association, directed by Axel B. Forslund, head of the physical education department, at the annual fall athletic banquet held in West Hall on the eve of the boy's departure for the Christmas holidays. Among those receiving an award for proficiency in football was C. Jackson Levis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Levis of West Main Street.

Newark Public Schools dismissed for the Holiday Season Wednesday afternoon, Supt. C. E. Douglass announced, and will reconvene in regular session on Monday morning, after New Years, January 4.

U. OF D. COURTMEN DEFEAT FERRY COMMAND 43 TO 27 IN PRACTICE CONTEST

Blue Hen Quintet Takes Second Practice Game; Coach Adkins Dismisses Squad From Practice Until December 29th

The University of Delaware basketball team and the Ferry Command played a well balanced game for three periods when the Hens put on an extra spurt in the final to sink the Airmen 43 to 27, Saturday night in the new field house.

For the first five minutes both teams bounced numerous shots off the rim from all angles, neither outfit being able to hit the cords. Finally, Wlekienski, the Airmen's high scorer for the night, drew two foul tries on a field goal attempt, and converted both to give the Pilots the initial lead. A set shot by Wlekienski and a pair of Delaware twin-pointers by Barlow and Reed completed the first period scoring, knotting the count at four all.

In the second quarter the Hens improved somewhat, outscoring their opponents 15 to 10 to hold a 19-14 lead at half-time. From there on in, Coach Emery Adkins used his varsity only sparingly, giving his 15 reserves plenty of opportunity to prove their worth. The starters saw brief action in each of the third and fourth periods, and in this time racked up a comfortable lead against the firing Airmen.

High scorer for the evening was the Pilots' ace, Wlekienski, who tallied three field goals and six foul attempts for 12 points. Top man for the Hens was a reserve forward, Verdell Short, with 11 points, on five field goals and one conversion. Short and Dick Reed, diminutive senior forward, were both on with their set shots, racking up nine long ones between them.

Delaware's play, on the whole, showed no great improvement over their initial contest with the American Car and Foundry quintet. Both the Hens and the Airmen exhibited poor play at times, but the collegians lost the ball too many times in the front court without getting a shot at the basket. Their fine defensive work, especially in fielding the rebounds, kept the Ferry quintet from getting too many shots at the hoop, and consequently held the score down. Steve Romanick and George Barlow dominated the play under the hoop, proving too much for Buck and Merkle, the opponents' rangy retrievers.

Coach Adkins dismissed his squad from further practice until Tuesday, Dec. 29, when the courtmen will return for a week's warmup before the dedication opener with Rutgers on Jan. 6.

Airplane Observer Does Double Duty

Mrs. Charles W. Grier of Milford Cross Roads proved a real airplane observer and showed how the American women can take care of any emergency when she stuck to her post for six hours straight through on the coldest night of the year.

Mrs. Grier, observer at the Possum Park Post went on duty at ten o'clock on Sunday night and was supposed to be relieved at one o'clock in the morning but through an error on the part of a child who failed to deliver a message, Mrs. Grier stayed on duty for six hours.

The party who was supposed to have relieved Mrs. Grier at one o'clock was taken sick and called the chief observer's home to report off duty. The message was taken by a small child who failed to notify the chief and when no relief showed up Mrs. Grier, instead of calling for help, stuck to her post for another three hour shift.

$25 War Bond Presented To Coach Gillespie By Players

"Always play the game to win," said Coach Bill Murray of the University of Delaware athletic department Monday night at the annual turkey banquet given in honor of the Newark High School football team.

Joseph McVey, member of the school board of education in looking over the season's scores said that it looked like a well balanced schedule, two wins, two losses and one tie score. It is not always best to win all the time, said Mr. McVey. Being able to lose well was a big thing, he said.

William D. Murray, head coach of Delaware's very successful football team did not agree with Mr. McVey. Murray said, no matter what you go out for, always go out with the determination to win. Always try to be better than the other team, that is the only way to enter into any game.

Coach Bill Gillespie acted as toastmaster and said that for a while they did not know if they would be able to have the dinner or not as the rationing situation was a big problem to get around. Coach Gillespie particularly praised his team for their victories over Wilmington High and P. S. du Pont and said that to the best of his knowledge it was the only time that Newark had defeated both these teams in one season.

Report to the Nation...

A year ago, when Japan struck at Pearl Harbor, some people had misgivings about the railroads. They knew the railroads had been through twelve tough years . . . that they had about 25 per cent fewer freight cars and locomotives than in 1929. Yet they were being called on to shoulder the weight of the greatest armament program in American history, if not in the world. Now, what does the record show? Briefly summarized, it shows this . . .

Today railroads are delivering 110,000,000 tons of freight a month, the greatest tonnage in their history.

"Pinch hitting" for oil tankers, railroads are rushing to the East about 800,000 barrels of oil daily.

Three times as many troops moved in the first 10 months as in the same period of the last war—8,000,000.

To keep industry going and homes warm, the railroads have hauled 1,600,000 tons of coal a day.

Shipyards break all records! And railroads helped by delivering materials on time.

Yet despite their war load, the railroads are doing their best to meet essential home needs.

One question still remains unanswered. How could the railroads do so much with so little? In the "lean" years they replaced the old with new. So, when war came, the railroads were ready to do their share . . . and, "keep 'em rolling!"

MORE FOOD IS FARMERS WAR TASK

Schuster Urges Farm Production To Higher Goal

"The biggest job Extension workers are facing today is to give farmers the necessary technical information that will enable them to produce larger quantities of food," said G. L. Schuster, dean of the Delaware School of Agriculture, at the Production Goals meeting for the Northeastern states.

This meeting was called by the Secretary of Agriculture at New York City last week. In discussing the farm problems of this region before the group which represented States USDA War Boards, State Boards of Agriculture, farm organizations, and representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dean Schuster emphasized the importance of farmers producing the last 10 percent which it is possible to produce with the resources at their disposal.

He pledged the help of Delaware Extension workers in providing them with advice and guidance in production and harvest problems to enable them to reach their production goals. "Farmers," said Dean Schuster, "are playing a vital part in the war program and every possible effort will be made to help them produce the food required by our military forces, by our allies, and by the citizens of this country."

Christmas Program At Presbyterian Church

The Christmas Candlelight Service held at the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday was one of the most beautiful and impressive services held in Newark in recent years.

Contrary to expectations the church was filled to capacity and standing room was at a premium.

Decorated with evergreens as a background, more than 250 lighted candles glowed in memory of loved ones deceased or in the service of our country.

The committee regrets that the following names were omitted through an error: Mrs. Emma Dunlevy, given by her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Cooch and that of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Raub, given by Mrs. Charles Evans.

As part of the unique service an augmented choir under the direction of Mrs. T. D. Mylrea gave Part I of Handel's Messiah.

Following the service, the committee in charge, served a platter supper in the church dining hall to those taking part in the musical program. Cut flowers were presented to Mrs. Mylrea, director and to Miss Nell B. Wilson, organist.

"Hey! Fella!

WAR BONDS

Christmas Presents, too!"

IT'S RIGHT this year to give gifts—right, too, that they should be practical gifts! But when you are putting the finishing touches to your Christmas shopping, remember that a War Bond is a Christmas present that gives double satisfaction. The person who receives it deeply appreciates the fact that it is an investment in his future security—you, the giver, feel that you are doing your part by giving a gift that is helping to win the war! There's no better investment in the world than WAR BONDS. Above all, in giving them you can be sure they will bring happiness to those who receive them this Christmas—but, they'll be much more appreciated when they mature at a future Christmas. We repeat WAR BONDS are Christmas presents, too.
