OUR QUINTET

Following in the footsteps of our successful football warriors, the University of Delaware basketball team has just completed a season of which Delawareans may justly be proud. "Doc" Doherty's courtmen had no easy schedule, which included some of the strongest quintet in the East. This, however, had not been "Doc's" greatest difficulty. He had lost several of his best men due to conditions in studies, and despite this misfortune, he put out a winning basketball team the like of which has not been seen on this campus for many years. "Doc" deserves great credit for his fine work and we take our hats off to him!

The players on the basketball team also deserve as much commendation as can be showered on them. They put up a real, red-blooded fight against all kinds of odds and came through on top. They fought fiercely and put all they had into each game. Not once was there an instance of a one-man team. The men showed a splendid spirit of cooperation.

The student body and other loyal Delawareans were not blind to the fine team that represented them on the indoor court and turned out

"Spirit and Cooperation Factors of Success," Says Roman; Lauds Spirit on Campus

President Hullihen

Yes, "Doc" Doherty is to be congratulated and complimented upon his skill as a coach of the good game of basketball and upon the "system" he employs. That he has a "system" is obvious even to the uninitiated who watch his men at play and note the difference in their style and method from that of their opponents. That his system is a good one is evidenced by the fine record of the team this season.

At the same time, while according "Doc" all the praise he so well deserves, one must admit that his task was made easier by the material he had to weld into the smoothly functioning machine we saw many times sweeping through and past their opponents down the floor to a point from which a basket could be shot. With a first line of defense and attack composed of men with the swiftness and skill of Haggerty, Kaufman, Kemske, O'Connell, Orth, and Roman (alphabetically arranged—no preference—all good!), and with plenty of excellent reserves, it must have been as much of a pleasure and satisfaction to the coach to coach this team as it was to us rooters to sit on the benches and root for it.

Coach Doherty

"This year's basketball team has given an exhibition of fight and aggressiveness unequalled by any other basketball team in my experience at Delaware College. Handicapped throughout the season by lack of height and also by losses in the personnel of the squad, the team has nevertheless continued to show the same undaunted spirit. The splendid record of winning twelve of the sixteen (Continued on Page 5.)

Record-Breaking Quintet Undefeated on Home Court; Go Through Last Half of Season Handicapped by Lack of Substitutes

Success of Team Due to Cooperation, Ability of Coach and Good Material

Another season has ended and another Delaware record has been broken.

Under the expert guiding hand of Coach Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty, the men of the wooden ways have turned in performances that will place them in Delaware College history as the best quintet ever to represent the school.

Of the 16 games played, 12 are down on the books as clean-cut Delaware victories—undisputed, for in each the score was hardly close. Truly a remarkable demonstration of prowess, especially when the caliber of the opponents is taken into consideration. Even the wonderful aggregation of 1922 was not equal to the present organization of Kaufman, O'Connell, Kemske, Haggerty, Orth and Captain Roman.

All of this would not have been possible had it not been for the ability of the squad. But on the other hand, the men would have been wasted had there not been a Coach Doherty to pull them through. While it is customary to eulogize the coach of a successful team, any credit that may be handed "Doc" falls far short of the laurels that should be his. Suffice it to say that no other man could have done what he did with a six-man squad to use for half a season; with the loss of seven of the first thirteen varsity men at midyears, the remaining regulars mentioned above came through and defeated such teams as St. Joe's, Wake Forrest, and the rest. This is an achievement that is little short of miraculous.

The season started off with a bang. Textile was severely trounced in the opener, 38-27. Then came La Salle game, which ended with almost as overwhelming a score. By the time that Hampden-Sidney had been sent back to North Carolina on the short end of a 33-25 count, it was obvious to even the most pessimistic man on the campus that Delaware was in for a basketball season quite in keeping with the Athletic Renaissance. ED BARDO MADE A GOOD JOB

Our swimming team topped off a most difficult schedule with a victory over the strong Lehigh group last Saturday. Ed Bardo certainly does deserve plenty of credit. He had almost all new material to work with and he was facing some of the most powerful teams on any schedule. The fact that he could pull through on a fifty-fifty average in the face of all these big odds is one of the finest tributes to the coaching ability of Ed Bardo.

Collegiana

The American College is undoubtedly the country's most colorful institution. It has imbibed all the youth, vigor, and love for the unusual that the American people have. Though it has been accused of everything else, it has never been accused of restraint. And our English cousins try to ape us.

But what a strange picture we get of the Cambridgean, harnessed in cap and gown the whole day, cheering, with his hands folded, the players of Rugby. No wonder our own correspondent from England, a fiery young lady at Cambridge, reads our Collegiana and sighs for our campuses where men wear sweaters and women play basketball.

Not that we wish to taunt our English friend: but here's another proof of our zeal. Nothing can stop us. And the entire staff of the Hunter College paper has resigned recently over a row about cigarette advertising. No ads, no staff, no paper.

"America cannot be preserved in Alcohol!" is the slogan of the Student American, a college paper devoted exclusively to the support of the Eighteenth Amendment. Why drink when you can get groggy by reading some of the editorials, viz: "A wet is a person who tells you he can make the country drier by making it wetter."

The University of Arizona has a "Cavaliers Club." The members of this club have to don tuxedos for all evening dates.

More than one-third of the students of North Carolina are on probation.

In criticizing the meager vocabulary of the college student, the president of the University of South California stated that the word "swell" is used to describe 4,972 situations.

Owing to scholastic failures five students committed suicide in one week. But this could only happen at a University of Budapest, where they're Hungry for knowledge!

Professor Shaw of N. Y. U., who gained fame with his statement that whistling was the earmark of a moron, now claims that a Phi Beta Kappa Key is useless and that pants are a sign of patriotism.

The Comptroller of Barnard College issued the following statement: "If there is any sign on the campus which a student desires very much, please do not steal it."

FANFARE

ANOTHER LAUREL FOR DELAWARE

By WARD DONOHUE

DELAWARE'S 1932 representatives on the wooden ways have just closed the most successful season in recent court history. A record of 12 victories in 16 starts for a percentage of 750 necessitates going back many years to the days of "Sank" McCaughan and his gang to find a basketball aggregation comparable to this year's wearers of the Blue and Gold.

The record of the Blue Hens is rendered still more remarkable when the handicaps that the team had to overcome are considered. Injuries and scholastic conditions took a terrific toll from the squad's membership. Of the thirteen men originally numbered in the varsity squad, seven were lost immediately after mid-year exams. Carrying on under such conditions demonstrates that the team morale was necessarily on a high plane, and in itself speaks for the coaching ability of "Doc" Doherty.

THE local basketball team came through with victories in every one of the ten home games, and on the road dropped all four of the games marked up in the loss column. They did manage to defeat Stevens and Mt. St. Mary's on foreign courts. For five consecutive games near the end of the season the Blue and Gold started and finished with the same five men with the exception of the game in which Johnny Roman was injured.

The high spot of the season came in the game with St. Joe's, where the locals, showing their best form of the season, came through with a victory over a foe who had been installed pre-game favorites by long odds. In the last game of the season the Blue Hens went up against another highly favored in Upsala College of Montclair, N. J., who had dropped but one game out of fourteen. The one-point defeat was a heartbreaker as the locals had several chances to win on fouls in the waning minutes of play. It was the home team's fourteenth win in fifteen starts, which shows the kind of competition the Blue and Gold was up against in the small college field.

THE team deserves all the credit in the world for the way they pulled together in the face of almost overwhelming obstacles, but Doc Doherty cannot be praised too highly for the part he played in turning out this combination. Doc was forced to weld several different combinations during the season because of injuries and the scholastic difficulties some of the squad ran into, but he always managed to put five men on the floor who could give a good account of themselves. Football, basketball—both successful seasons; now how about baseball and track?

Basketballad

"Devote," said the editor, "your column to basketball this week." And so we are devoting it. We wish to add our bouquet to the many others now being offered to the Delaware warriors of the Wooden Way. The record of our basketball-bearing team is equal to that of the muchly-touted grid team, although the general publicity given to football is many times greater than that of basketball. (By the way, what has happened to the Waxman-Curtin Publicity Bureau? The Curtin hasn't dropped on it yet, has it?) In fact, it is our belief, in spite of the tremendous foot-bally-hoo, that basketball is a much more exerting game than football. Hence, the basketballers deserve even more credit than the gridmen. Let us also not forget that the Delaware five was actually only a Five during most of the season, that they weren't especially expected to perform great feats, and that there is nothing connected with them which can even arouse the suspicion that any "subsidization" (with apologies to Dr. Wharton) takes place.

Tribute enough will be paid to the league of nations known as the Blue and Gold five in other departments of this issue which is dedicated to them. We wish to draw our reader's attention to another personage who has done much to attract the public's eye to the merits of our fast-stepping wood-treaders. We are referring to none other than the Sports Editor of this sheet. No sport fan is as fair as the author of "Fanfare." We believe that, while the basketballers bask in their glory, our Sports Editor should not be forgotten. We believe that the weekly outpouring of our contemporary has contributed as much towards a fuller appreciation of the athletic situation at Delaware as have the conquests of the various teams.

For the edification of his vast reading audience, we here inclose a specially posed photograph of the Sports Editor. He is here shown in the process of composing his hebdomadal effusions. The locale of this snapshot is, of course, the De Luxe sandwich shop. A man who gave his name as Mulderic accompanied the s. e. at the time and insisted that he be included in the photo, but we refused his demands even after he boasted to us that he was the famous student who had written an "A" essay for Dr. Sypherd last term.

By the way, the sports editor is a voluntary member of our rapidly increasing and increasingly necessary bodyguard!

Here's the weekly issue of the trans-University mail, from Frankie to Louise:

Dear Louise,
Hello, but stuff.
Well, little spitfire, here's one for you. "What gives a man more pleasure than seeing a red headed woman burn up?" Ha, ha, I can see you running rampant through the corridors of Sussex pulling your flaming tresses and wishing you had your hands on me. Essemess probably thought that "Lou" was an abbreviation of your name, but I know better. Have you forgotten about your former boy? You know, your name rhymes just as much with "tease" as it does with "please." Haha.

How about the compliment Essemess paid us last week . . . belletrists . . . all we need for a literary finish are book-ends.

By rights I should dedicate this epistle to the record breaking basketball team, but before I get technical, there's some other dirt I'd like to get rid of. Ezze Salkind dared me to ride him poetically. Since the poor boy is in such a bad way for attention, I'll go him one better. I've written a song, sung to the tune of "A Gay Caballero" which we humbly hope will please the downcast Doherty. I would have it printed, but Essemess says Salkind isn't worth the space.

I see that you have learned to go to your elders for advice. In answer to your query, "What is the difference between a college freshman and a high school senior?" It's all in the date. Now here's one for you. "What is the appropriate present for a flg cop?" You might ask Bill Cunningham. Just in passing, do they use double exposure film in taking pictures of two-faced people?

And now for a couple of baskets. Sid Kaufman told me that he reads de Maupassant, "for its literary value." . . . he didn't say anything about a tow-head from

NORMAN THOMAS MAY SPEAK IN MITCHELL HALL APR. 14 AT 4.30

"The College Student And World Peace" Will Be Probable Topic Of Nationally Known Speaker

HAS INTERESTED MANY COLLEGES WITH TOPIC

Announcement has been made that efforts are now under way to have Norman Thomas, prominent lecturer and writer, speak in Mitchell Hall, Thursday afternoon, at 4.30 p. m., April 14. The lecture is to be held under the combined auspices of the Debate Council and the Delaware College Economics Club.

Mr. Thomas will be on a tour of the South during the latter part of April, and he is scheduled to speak in Wilmington on the night of April 14. It is hoped that it will be possible to have Mr. Thomas speak at the University in the afternoon. This would be the first time a college program would be held at 4.30 p. m.

"The College Student and World Peace" will be the probable topic on which Mr. Thomas will speak, if the College Hour Committee approves the two above organizations' request for the use of the Mitchell Hall auditorium for a Thursday afternoon. Mr. Thomas has spoken to many colleges on that subject.

Nationally known as a forceful speaker, Mr. Thomas has had a diversified career. He is a graduate of Princeton University and of the Union Theological Seminary. After graduating from the latter institution, he became associate pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York City and later served as Director of the American Parish. During the World War, he became interested in political literature and became Editor of the World Tomorrow and Associate Editor of the Nation. At the present time, Thomas is Executive Director of the League for Industrial Democracy. In politics, he is a Socialist and was the candidate of his party for the presidency of the United States in 1928. In his academic lectures, however, Mr. Thomas does not intrude his political beliefs.

Varsity Debaters Preparing for Meet With M. I. T. Trio

Engagement with New England Team to Take Place in Mitchell Hall on Wednesday, March 23.

The Varsity debate trio is now actively preparing for their next debate which will be held March 23, in Mitchell Hall. The Blue and Gold will oppose Massachusetts Institute on the negative side of the proposition: "Resolved, that Congress should enact legislation leading to the centralized control of industry."

Those who will represent Delaware in the first home forensic contest are Earl Shelton, Samuel M. Silver, and James W. Nichols. This is the same team that has represented Delaware in the previous debates this year.

Manager Ableman is now completing arrangements for the other debates of this season. Contracts have just been signed for the Swarthmore debate, which will take place April 15 on the same question as that which will be discussed in the Massachusetts contest. Mr. deBonis, debater and advisor, and Professor Kase are assisting the debaters.

ED BARDOS NATATORS WIN FROM LEHIGH IN FINAL MEET OF SEASON

Victory Makes Total Of Five As Against Equal Number Of Defeats; Relay Team Captures Tenth Win

Ed Bardo's Blue and Gold fish hung up a 31-28 decision over the natators of Lehigh University in the final tank meet of the current season. It was the local's fifth victory as against as many defeats.

The Blue Hens piled up a tremendous lead in the first three events, and after the 50-yard dash the score stood 21-2 and the meet seemed to be in the bag. But the local's proverbial weakness in the breaststroke, backstroke and 440 almost cost them their meet and at the start of the last event the visitors had cut the Blue and Gold margin to 2 points.

Hugh Lattomus came to the rescue in the 100, and flashing through the water in the fast time of 58.4 gave the Blue Hens the points that spelled victory.

Lattomus also turned in another in the 50 with Bill Lawrence coming through with a close second. This team has accounted for first and second in nearly every 50 swim this year.

The relay team made it nine out of ten for the season by virtue of its victory Saturday night. The time of 1.41 was the second best time that the relayers have turned in this year.

In the dive Delaware piled up eight points when Harold Sortman and Harry Wilson came through with first and second places respectively. Delaware's only other points were garnered by Adams with a second in the backstroke; and Kadel and Barker who got thirds in the breaststroke and 440.

The time for the backstroke and the 440 was very good. Walker of the visiting team set a new pool record for the breaststroke when he swam the 200 yards in 2.43. The summary:

200-yard relay—Won by Delaware (Lindstrand, Lattomus, Lawrence, Adams; second, Lehigh (Crannholtz, Kennedy, Haller, Holt). Time, 1.41 and 2-5 minutes.

Diving—Won by Sortman, Delaware; second, Wilson, Delaware; third, Hoffman, Lehigh. Points, 48.9.

50-yard dash—Won by Lattomus, Delaware; second, Lawrence, Delaware; third, Haller, Lehigh. Time, 25 and 1-10 seconds.

200-yard breaststroke—Won by Walker, Lehigh; Conova, second, Lehigh; third, Kadel, Delaware.

Outstanding Features Of Dining-room Will Be Economy And Efficiency; Expert Restaurateur To Direct New Commons

STUDENT SUPPORT SOUGHT

Student Council, Athletic Council, Business Administrator And Dr. Wharton Favor Idea; Board Of Trustees' Approval Necessary

Will the Commons be revived at Delaware College?

During the past few weeks, various occurrences and correspondence has taken place which seem to indicate that the answer to the above question is "Yes, eventually." According to the latest developments, the Commons will be restored to Delaware College, under management altogether different from that of the recently closed cafeteria, by next September.

According to plans now being shaped, the enterprise is to be financed by the University of Delaware Alumni Association and supervised jointly by the Student Council and the Athletic Council. The Alumni Association are the actual initiators of the project. It is the sentiment of the Alumni Association that a school restaurant is a source of school spirit. Disimayed by the failure of the cafeteria, the Association has determined to try to restore the Commons on an entirely different basis than was previously the case.

The outstanding feature of the projected Commons is to be economical and efficient management. The Alumni will attempt to secure a competent restaurateur, with adequate knowledge of dietetics, to have complete control of the actual operation of the Commons. In prices, quantity, and quality of food, it will be the aim of the Commons to attract the entire resident student body.

Various initial suggestions concerning the restoration of Commons have now been definitely abandoned. The question whether student patronage of the Commons would be compulsory or optional created considerable discussion. When this question was broached to the Student Council in a letter by the Alumni Association, the former body decided that it was opposed to forced attendance. President Townsend, of the Student Council, declared that if the Commons should be managed so as to excel any other local dining-room, the student body would naturally be attracted to it. The proposition that the new Commons be inaugurated after the Easter holidays was abandoned in order to give the groups in charge of the project time to make adequate plans.

Mr. A. G. Wilkinson, Business Administrator, when interviewed, (Continued on Page 5.)

Time 2 minutes and 43 seconds. (New pool record.)

150-yard backstroke—Won by Robb, Lehigh; second, Adams, Delaware; third, Danser, Lehigh. Time, 1 minute, 57 and 3-10 seconds.

440-yard freestyle—Won by Wisner, Lehigh; second, Crannholtz, Lehigh; third, S. Barker, Delaware. Time, 5 minutes, 53 and 1-10 seconds.

100-yard dash—Won by Lattomus, Delaware; second, Kennedy, Lehigh; third, Fritz, Lehigh. Time, 58 and 8-10 seconds.

E. R. ARMSTRONG TO ADDRESS A. S. M. E.

At a meeting at 7.30 o'clock tonight in Wolf Hall of the University of Delaware Student Branch of the Mechanical Engineers of America, the speaker will be E. R. Armstrong, well known engineer and inventor of the seadrome which has attracted wide attention in recent years. G. L. Ricard, president of the branch, will preside. The program has been prepared by R. P. Robinson, Jr., chairman of the entertainment committee. This will be the spring open meeting and all mechanical engineers of Wilmington have been invited to attend.

THIRTY-EIGHTH ORGAN RECITAL BY FIRMIN SWINNEN MONDAY

Next Recital March 29 Instead Of March 28; Will Be Held Here In Conjunction With Guilford Choir

Program for thirty-eighth Organ Recital by Firmin Swinnen, March 14 at 7.30 p. m.:

1. Overture to "Il Guarany," A. Gomez. This composition is the overture to his most famous opera.
2. In Moonlight, R. Kinder. Ralph Kinder is a well known Philadelphia composer and organist of Holy Trinity Church.
3. Scherzo in C Minor, C. M. Widor.
4. Andante, F. Borowski. This is the second movement of his first Sonata.
5. Serenade, E. Tosselli. Enrico
6. Adagio Cantabile, R. Strauss.
7. Hungarian Dance No. 5, J. Brahms. In these dances Brahms has penetrated deeply the Hungarian spirit—color—swing—melancholy and reckless joy.
8. Walther's Prize Song, R. Wagner. This Prize Song is from "Die Meistersinger."
9. March from Tannhauser, R. Wagner. This march is played in this opera when the Nobles and their followers arrive and pass before their host, bowing their salutations.

Next recital March 29 (instead of March 28) at 8 p. m. This in conjunction with the Guilford Choir.

U. of D. Fencers Face Two Big Teams on Coming Week-End

Delaware Team Has Defeated One of Two Teams Earlier In Season; Expect Hard Opposition from Princeton.

The fencing team has been idle since their trip two weeks ago, when they met Lehigh and Penn. Practice will be unusually severe this week, however, as the team takes a two-day trip to Rutgers and Princeton on Friday and Saturday. Delaware has defeated Rutgers once this year, 10 to 7, but they should be much tougher on their home floor. Princeton is always a hard team to beat. Last year the Blue Hens won by a score of 9 to 8, and they hope to repeat Saturday.

DEAN DUTTON ISSUES SCHOLASTIC RATING FOR FINAL SEMESTER

Average Standing Of Entire Student Body 1.03; Out-of-State Students Make Better Showing Than Local Students

THETA CHI LEADS FRATERNITIES WITH 1.62

Dean G. E. Dutton has announced the scholastic standing of students of Delaware College for the first term of the college year of 1931-1932. The numbers used in his report have the following significance: the number 3 denotes an average of A (the highest possible average); the number 2 denotes an average of B; the number 1 denotes an average of C.

The average scholastic standing of the entire student body of Delaware College for the first term was 1.03. The average for students from Delaware was 1.02; the average for out-of-state students was 1.08. Sixty-five students earned an average grade of B or better, and were consequently placed on the Honor Roll for the term. These students came from the following high schools and preparatory schools: Wilmington 34; Newark 4; Wesley Collegiate Institute 4; Salesianum 2; Delmar 1; Friends 1; Georgetown 1; Middletown 1; Seaford 1; Out-of-State 16. Of these students thirty-one were in the School of Arts and Science; thirty were in the School of Engineering; and four were in the School of Agriculture. Twenty-five were Seniors; twenty-one were Juniors; twelve were Sophomores; seven were Freshmen. Fifteen per cent of the entire student body were on the Honor Roll. Of the students who entered college from Delaware high schools and preparatory schools, fourteen per cent were on the Honor Roll; and of the students who entered from out of State high schools and preparatory schools, sixteen per cent were on this list.

Scholastic Standing of Fraternities

The average scholastic standing of each of the six fraternities was as follows: Theta Chi 1.62; Sigma Tau Phi 1.33; Kappa Alpha 1.27; Sigma Nu 1.23; Sigma Phi Epsilon 1.12; Phi Kappa Tau .88.

The average of students who were members of fraternities was 1.23; the average of students, not including Freshmen, who were not members of fraternities was 1.17.

Preparations Almost Completed for First Issue of "Humanist"

Dr. Sypherd and Mr. DeBonis Cooperate with Staff to Make Magazine Project a Successful One.

Preparations for the first issue of the "Humanist," which will be off the press by March 23, are being carried forward as rapidly as possible.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. DeBonis for his efforts to make the magazine a success. He has given much valuable time to the undertaking, having been closeted several times the past week, discussing the relative merits of the contributions with Editor Parker, and correcting errors in manuscripts accepted. Dr. Sypherd, too, deserves credit, not only because of his starting the project, but because of his ready assistance with any problem confronting the editors.

Basketball Squad One of Best in History

the pivotal position, had not found an opponent big enough to reach higher than he. Hank Haney and Bud Haggerty were guarding so closely that a man on the other team had small chance of cutting the cords from inside the foul line.

Then came midyears, taking with them half the squad. Haney dropped out and Gilbert was ineligible. It was necessary for the team to begin all over again. But Kemske and Orth had the goods, and things went on smoothly, until the last four or five home games. Osteopathy, Susquehanna, St. Joe's and Wake Forrest were met in succession, and defeated.

Yet it is notable that in these four contests, only one substitution was made by Delaware, when Johnny Roman injured his ankle against St. Joe's.

This has been a wonderful year for Delaware. Fortune has favored us, but we have had to work to earn her smile. Perhaps the best thing of all is that the prospects are almost as bright for next year.

In every game there is an unsung hero; a man on whom success or defeat can hinge. Frequently he is not in a position to do the spectacular and attract the attention of the stands. Yet without him the others would be a little less dazzling.

This is the unique position occupied by Allen Kemske. He succeeded an excellent player, Reds Gilbert. Yet, with a hard mark to equal he had the goods. Many a play by the forwards was due to a pass or an interception by Kemske. In looking back on this season, it will be remembered by the coming students that this was a year, not of individuals, but of teamwork.

Following is a game by game summary of the season:

Textile

Irish O'Connell scored the first point of the season on a snappy pass from "Reds" Gilbert. "Doc" Doherty started a new team, consisting of O'Connell and Kaufman as forwards (a combination that became famous as the season progressed) Donoghue and Orth as guards, and the flaming haired Gilbert in the pivoted position. In thirteen minutes, this combination had run up a score of 21-6, enough of a margin to allow "Doc" to try his new men. Fifteen men ran up a count of 48 against Textile's 27.

La Salle

The Conley coached La Salle came here with a reputedly strong squad, but left with more doubt about their ability. The final score in this fray was 33-25, despite the early lead the Philly boys ran up before a new combination could start functioning. However, when Coach Doherty sent his first string boys in they ran wild. O'Connell, Gilbert and Haggerty, in order, led the local's sharpshooters, while the Mehan boys—Joe and Clem—headed the opposition.

Hampden-Sydney

Hampden-Sydney, had they had more luck, would have given Delaware more competition than they did, for they came here with one of the best passing clubs in the East. However, their shooting was inaccurate and the final score stood 34 to 25. This club has extended such schools as Duke and University of North Carolina to the limit in order to beat them.

West Chester Teachers College

By showing plenty of the stuff champions are made of—the ability to come through in a pinch—the Blue Hens were able to eke out a narrow victory from the West Chester State Teachers College by the close score of 26-24. Kemske, subbing at center for the injured Gilbert, was the star for the locals. Again Delaware forged ahead in the second half. This time they held their opponents to five points, while they themselves cut the cords for fourteen.

Pratt and Stevens

The inability to shoot straight cost Doherty's minions their first loss of the season, on their first away game, against Pratt Institute, of Brooklyn.

However, on the following night they made up for the fiasco of the preceding evening by running roughshod over Stephens, 35-20. Sid Kaufman set a high scoring mark for the season, with 17 points.

University of Baltimore

An extra five-minute period was needed to decide the contest with Baltimore U. The final standing was 35-33. O'Connell's twin with a few seconds left made the victory possible.

Swarthmore

With one foot on the court and the other on the dance floor, Delaware dropped their second game of the year to Swarthmore on Junior Prom night by the score of 51-37.

The scoring of the Blue and Gold was up to par, but the close guarding that saved so many of this year's games didn't exist.

P. M. C.

P. M. C., boasting of the fastest big team in the country, proved their claim so far as Delaware was concerned. The cadets, with a varsity averaging 6 feet 2 inches and 215 pounds per man, came out on the long end of a 46-27 count.

Osteopathy

Osteopathy suffered when Doc Doherty's minions staged a form reversal. Although the Philadelphians had lost to Drexel by only one point, they were taken over, 42-21.

Susquehanna

By trouncing the Susquehanna passers from Selingsgrove, Pa., the quintet equalled a mark standing almost a decade, 8 victories in a single season. The starting lineup for Delaware played the whole game without a substitution, which was rather unusual. Johnny Roman showed that he was called "eagle-eye" for a very good reason, running wild in the first half, scoring 12 points from all kinds of impossible angles. Sid Kaufman took up the burden where his captain left off, making a similar total in the second half. The standing at the gun was 40-28.

St. Joe's

Delaware's cagemen pulled the biggest upset of the season by deceiving the dopesters in the St. Joe's game. The visitors, conquerors of Penn and many other of the stronger colleges in the East, fell before the Hens, 35-28. This was undoubtedly the most spirited game of the year. Irish O'Connell played a fast game despite an injury to his head, turning in fourteen much needed points.

Phil Zuber was the best man for the visitors.

Wake Forrest

Doc Doherty's fast moving squad made it nine in a row at home by defeating Wake Forrest, of North Carolina, 30-25. The Southerners proved a hard proposition, and the count was close throughout.

Mt. St. Mary's

O'Connell had another field day in the Mt. St. Mary's game, cutting the cords ten times for sixteen points. The Emmitsburg Saints threatened from time to time, but in the end their 14 points were 14 behind the Delaware mark.

Haverford

The home season was concluded with a decisive victory over the old rivals, Haverford, 36-19. A barrage of field goals turned the annual game into a rout, and the Main Liners fell as our twelfth and last prey of the season.

Upsala

So far as action was concerned, the Upsala game was typically Merriwell; not in the final scoring, for Delaware lost by one point, 30-29.

With less than a minute left to play, Sid Kaufman had a free shot on a technical foul, and missed it. With five ticks remaining, O'Connell also missed his opportunity to tie the count. Again, Sid missed a sleeper which would have brought victory, while the timekeeper was thinking of pressing the trigger.

Upsala has won 14 of their 15 games this year.

All in all, this was a boon year in basketball.

The unprecedented success of the team is a tribute to the fighting spirit of the coach, Doc Doherty!

scheduled games is the just reward of their sportsmanship."

Captain Roman

I can readily say that our successful season can be attributed to two factors, namely: spirit and co-operation. By spirit I mean not only that friendly feeling which existed among the players, but also the fine spirit which has, and still is, so prevalent on the campus today. It seems that the students and faculty realize that athletics are on a new plane at the university and as a result the representatives of the varsity teams are giving their best to win. I am sure the members of the team want me to take this opportunity to thank our many loyal supporters for their constant encouragement.

Cooperation is an essential necessary for the success of any athletic combine. Throughout the season each man has given his best without thought of individual glory. Since our team was handicapped in weight and height it was necessary for Coach "Doc" Doherty to overcome this weakness by daily concentration on teamwork. As the season progressed our passing game improved and resulted in our many victories. The idea of co-operation was noticeable to a high degree between the players and the coach.

"Doc" Doherty deserves the many congratulations which he has been receiving for the way he has handled the team. Fate has been unkind to the basketball team, but the indomitable fighting spirit of our coach was instilled into the team and this was the deciding factor in the majority of our victories. Since all the players will be back except Orth and myself there is no reason why we should not look forward to a winning team for the next two years.

Commons Will Be Restored Next Sept.

declared himself in favor of any plan which would be in the interest of the student body. Mr. Wilkin-son pointed out that the Alumni would have to obtain permission from the Board of Trustees to realize their objective. "Delaware College should have a Commons," said the Business Administrator, "but it must receive the support of the student body."

Another angle of the Commons question is its relation to the football and other athletic teams. Captain Ephraim Jolls, president of the Athletic Council, stated that a large measure of the success of Delaware's record-smashing football team was due to the excellent training they received under the care of Dr. Charles M. Wharton, director of health. It is significant, Capt. Jolls asserted, that the football team did not have occasion to call a single time-out in any game last season. Although it would be possible to feed the football team separately, it would be very expensive. Therefore, a school dining-room would mean a considerable saving to the Athletic Council. Dr. Wharton also declared himself decidedly in favor of the plans. "The entire student body should be fed with the same care as a football team," he said.

Correspondence concerning the Commons plan has taken place between Mr. J. Rankin Davis, president of the Alumni Association and the Student Council. In his last letter, dated February 27, Mr. Rankin states that the plan has been submitted to a committee of the Association. As the Review went to press, Mr. Rankin could not be reached at his Wilmington office for information concerning the action of the committee.

PHI KAPPA TAU WINS INTER-FRATERNITY CUP WITH ORIGINAL PLAY

Sigma Tau Phi Follows Close Second Place According To Opinions Of Judges And Spectators

THREE OF PLAYS WERE WRITTEN BY STUDENTS

Phi Kappa Tau, presenting the original play, "Swan Song," written by Marshall McCully, III, won the coveted Inter-Fraternity Play Cup in competition with the other fraternities on the campus last Thursday and Friday in Mitchell Hall.

Sigma Tau Phi, with the play, "Holson," written by Percival Ableman, came out second.

The margin of victory was slim. One of the judges was heard to have said that the theme song of the winning production was the overbalancing factor.

Roland Erskine composed the song and wrote the accompanying words.

Three of the plays were written by students. In addition to the two mentioned, Dave Marvil wrote the Sigma Phi Epsilon vehicle, "His Wife."

"Moonshine," a dialogue, was presented on the first night by Sigma Nu. The K. A.'s were second on the program with "Truax and Son," a rollicking farce which used half of the fraternity in the cast.

The previously mentioned S. P. E. play concluded the first night of entertainment.

Beginning the second evening, the well worked out play by Ableman was presented by S. T. P.

Theta Chi then presented "The High Pressure Salesman," a comical satire. The winning play concluded the contest.

It took the judges some time to decide on the winner.

During the interim, Alpha Psi Omega entertained with vocal selections, back stage.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

NOW MORE THAN EVER . . . with the college year ending . . . Mother and Dad are eager to hear from you. What of your exams . . . when do they start? There are countless details they're anxious to know.

Busy? Of course you are. There's little time for letter-writing! Then reach them by telephone . . . pay them a "voice visit." It's the quickest way home with the satisfaction of a face-to-face chat.

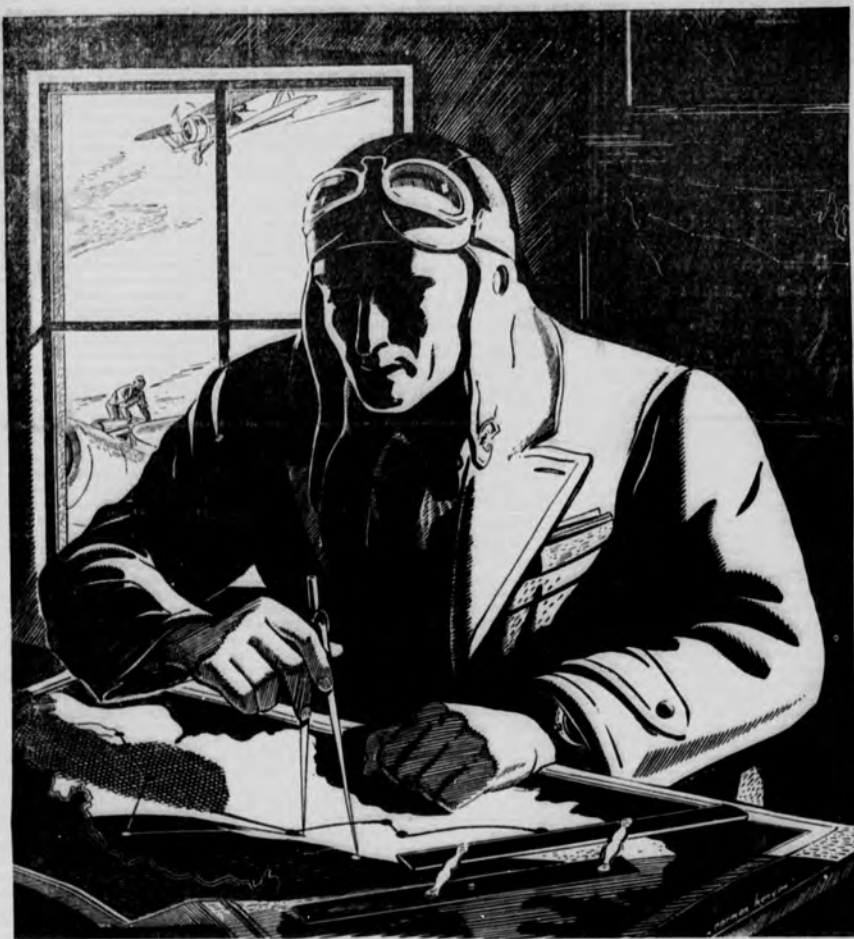

And here's a tip . . . file it for ready reference. There's nothing to equal a regular Telephone Date with Home each week. Start the habit this evening! The thrill will last all week!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 3:30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

—and that's what the statistician does for industry

Definite knowledge of "where we are" and "what lies ahead" is as vital in business as in flying. For this expert navigating, the Bell System has long relied upon statisticians.

These men study present and prospective industrial, economic and social conditions in all parts of the country. They gather facts—analyze them, correlate them, discover their significance to the telephone business, draw guidance from them. They study and forecast the changing requirements of the public for telephone service. They estimate the probable future demand for new services, such as radio telephony to foreign lands and ships at sea. They keep the executives advised as to current progress towards the objectives thus carefully determined.

Only by plotting a course scientifically can the Bell System continue to develop along sound lines.
