E-52 To Stage 'Arms And The Man,' Minkiewich, Kozar, Sabo To Star

"Arms and the Man" will start the campus theatre activity rolling when the show opens next Thursday for a three day run. George Bernard Shaw's famous comedy will also be presented Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. as a special matinee for any performance by presenting their I D cards at the Box Office.

The plot, which is the source of the Strauss musical, "The Chocolate Soldier," takes place in Bulgaria in the year 1885. The opening scene is the bedroom of Raina Petkoff, daughter of an influential Bulgarian major. When an enemy soldier forces his way into her room, Raina offers to protect him from the searching officers. The intruder turns out to be a professional soldier who carries chocolate instead of ammunition, and Raina helps the chocolate soldier to escape.

After the war Petkoff returns to his family and Raina's officer fiancé, Sergius, returns to her. To complicate the situation the chocolate soldier also returns to the Petkoff house to taunt his former protector with views of love, and Sergius makes love to the household.

Mary Minkiewich, playing Raina, welcomes back her father, played by Thomas Waters, from a Bulgarian war in George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" which opens next Thursday in the Mitchell Hall Auditorium.

Commuters Sponsor Co-Recreation Night

The Women Commuters will sponsor a "Co-Recreation Night" this evening in the Women's Gym from 7:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. All students are invited to attend free of charge.

Activities between 7:30 p. m. and 9:30 p. m. include swimming, volleyball, badminton, ping pong and shuffleboard. A record dance will be held from 9:30 p. m. until 11:30 p. m.

Casual clothes such as Bermuda shorts and dungarees will be in order for the evening.

Fudge, cookies, brownies, cakes and sodas will be served by the commuters' refreshment committee headed by Betty Conly.

Professor Roger E. Irwin, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Nystrom and Miss Ruth Durstain will be the chaperones for the evening.

Dr. Robert Pigford Becomes Recipient Of AICE Award

Dr. Robert L. Pigford, chairman of the department of chemical engineering at the University of Delaware, was awarded the Professional Progress Award of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in Detroit, Michigan.

The ceremony was a part of the Forty-Eighth Annual Meeting of the A. I. Ch. E. which was held in the motor city from November 27-30.

Dr. Pigford is the third Delawarean to receive the award and the second university faculty member to be so honored. The first recipient was the late Dr. Allan P. Colburn, provost of the university, who was presented with the original progress award offered by the organization in 1948. Dr. George E. Holbrook, assistant general manager of the Organic Chemicals Department, duPont Company, was chosen in 1953.

A native of Meridan, Miss., Dr. Pigford was graduated from Mississippi State College with

Virgil Thomson Entertains UD, Conducting Own Compositions

By Rincy Levy

"There is a definite vogue for music, now-a-days," stated Virgil Thomson, noted critic-composer, who conducted his own works in Mitchell Hall on November 30 for the seventh annual Contemporary Music Festival. "College students are more conscious of this phase of art than of painting or reading; nearly everyone goes to concerts, has a gramophone and listens to the radio."

Gesturing rapidly to illustrate his points, Mr. Thomson remarked that jazz is on the decline as it hasn't changed much during the last twenty years. American popular music, however, enjoys international popularity which it shared equally with South American melodies. "Unusual works, those which deviate from routine, are the most popular."

Speaking of his own compositions, the musician added that he got so tired of using standard poets' texts and the Bible for his vocal compositions. "That is one reason I chose Gertrude Stein's poems for the opera, 'Four Saints in Three Acts' (a selection from which he conducted in Wednesday night's performance). I thoroughly enjoy her works—their meaning opens slowly upon acquaintance. There are not many ways to feel and set her poems to music, although there are multiple interpretations for the works."

Seemingly fated for a musical career, Mr. Thomson began to play the piano when two years old and to take lessons when five. After graduating from Harvard University, he studied for several years under Nades Boulanger in Paris, where he lived for nearly twenty-five years until

'Review' Office Gets Overall Face Lifting

Members of the Review staff were pleasantly surprised upon returning from their Thanksgiving vacation to be greeted by a newly painted pale green and white office.

The work was completed during the vacation by the Maintenance Department. Acclaimed by the staff members, the new color scheme has been described as "cheerful", "more conducive to work," and "Man, what a difference from that obnoxious yellow and blue!"

To the maintenance men the Review says—"Thanks!"

IFC Requests Right To Open Frat Houses Weekend Afternoons

The Inter-Fraternity Council has sent to Dean of Students John E. Hocutt a formal request for permission to permit women guests in the fraternity houses on Saturday and Sunday afternoons without formal chaperoning.

Before final action on the matter is taken, the problem will go before the committee on student personnel problems.

The proposal would permit women in the houses from noon until 5 p. m. on Saturday afternoons and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Alpha Tau Omega And Warner Dorm Cop Spirit Trophy

Final results of the cheerleaders' trophy contest have been announced. These results reveal that Alpha Tau Omega and Warner Hall were the winners. This is the third consecutive year that the Warner girls have won the Women's honors. Sigma Phi Epsilon was on top in the men's division last season.

The top three groups among the male contenders were ATO with 293 points, KA with 190 and Sig Ep with 175.

In the women's division Warner collected a total of 282 points, with Topsy, Turvey and Boletus accumulating 211. Cannon Hall was third with 195.

The Inter-Fraternity Council and the Women's Executive Council have been contacted and are working on changing the rules on the method of carrying out next year's Spirit Trophy Contest. During the past years many instances have arisen which show a need for revision of the rules. The cheerleaders feel that there is a definite need for suggestions from the individual groups themselves concerning the following—weekly house decoration, methods of judging, selection of judges and overall rules of the contest.

The cheerleaders wish to express their thanks to the following persons who have helped us during this past football season: Mr. King and the band, Mr. F. C. Dalber, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. A. Hungerford, Sgt. John Sofka, Mr. and Mrs. M. X. Hesser, Dr. Skinner, Miss Harriet Bailey, Mrs. Josephine Hewes, Mrs. Russell Reed.

According to the written request sent to Dean Hocutt, the IFC believes that they can offer all of the student, with the exception of first-term freshmen men, a place to dance, play cards and socialize will at the same time keeping the houses open for parents and friends of the fraternity men. By providing this means of entertainment for the students the IFC hopes to end Delaware's "suitcase college" tradition.

In regards to the problem of adequate chaperoning, the proposal states that chaperoning is a social custom for planned affairs and is needed when there is no particular group responsible. In this situation, each chapter would be responsible for the actions of the persons present and would not allow incidents to occur that might reflect upon

Award Motion Film To Be Held In Wolf

The academy Award winning film, "Gentleman's Agreement," will be given two showings in Wolf Hall this Sunday, at 3:15 and 8:15 p. m.

Starring Gregory Peck, Dorothy McGuire and John Garfield, the story concerns a man who is confronted by anti-Jewish prejudices. Although not a Jew himself, he poses as one and is faced with intolerance and injustice.

The film is an adaptation by Moss Hart of the novel of the same name showing prejudice on both sides. In addition to the academy award, "Gentleman's Agreement" was just one of the ten best films of the year and received the Parents' Magazine award. It is distributed by 20th-Century Fox.

Omicron Delta Kappa Gets Eight Pledges At Tapping Yesterday On Front Of Library

Eight UD men, including three juniors and five seniors, were tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, yesterday at noon in front of the Memorial Library.

The new pledges are: Karl Martin Buretz, Henry Clark Carbaugh, Richard Emil Garrett, William Henry Lotter, Jr., Robert Ritchie Moneymaker, Jerome Spivack, Thomas Andrew Thomas and James Norman Zaiser.

Tapping is the official ceremony for making known to the campus the selection of men for ODK membership and is the first step in their initiation process. The initiation will be completed with a banquet shortly before the Christmas holidays.

The men were selected on a point system covering five categories including scholarship; athletics; social and religious affairs; publications; and speech, music and dramatic arts. Following this the men were studied by the present members as to individual character.

All of the eight men are active in campus activities. Buretz, a senior, is president of Beta Beta and the biology club, vice-president of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity and has been on the deans list for six semesters. Moneymaker, a junior, is vice president of Sigma Nu fraternity, a pledge to Tau Beta Pi, a member of the varsity football team and has been on the deans list for four semesters.

Lotter, a senior, is president of Sigma Nu, vice president of the Interdorm Council and a deans list student for one semester. Garrett, a senior, is president of Scabbard and Blade, lieutenant colonel of the university's ROTC units, distinguished military student, captain of the varsity lacrosse team and a deans list student for one semester.

Carbaugh, a senior, is president of the Engineering Council, vice president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, secretary of Sigma Nu and a deans list student for two semesters. Zaiser, a senior, is captain of the varsity baseball team, has won three football letters, is a captain in advanced ROTC and is a deans list student for five semesters.

Thomas, a junior, is past president of his class, treasurer of Theta Chi fraternity, corresponding secretary of the SGA, captain-elect of the varsity football squad, a two-time football letterwinner and a deans list student for two semesters. Spivack, a junior, is treasurer of the SGA, secretary of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity, and a deans list student for four semesters.

There will be another ODK tapping in the spring.

Tickets On Sale Now For Christmas Dance

Tickets are now on sale for the Christmas Dance, featuring music by The Commanders to be held in the field house on December 10 from 8 p.m. to midnight.

A concentrated ticket sale campaign has been under way in the basement of the library since last Wednesday and will be continued all next week. In addition, all SGA members have had tickets for sale for the past two weeks.

Tickets bought in advance of the dance are $3.50 a couple while those purchased at the door will cost four dollars.

Committee chairmen for the dance are Jack Mundy, tickets and publicity and Dorote Mueller, decorations. The dance is being held under the sponsorship of the freshman and sophomore classes in cooperation with the SGA. The entire dance is under the supervision of the class officers.

Jack Mundy, social chairman for the SGA, stated that he anticipates a fine turnout and particularly urges commuters to support this campus function.

The Commanders, under the direction of drummer Eddie Grady with arrangements by Camarata, is the rising young band of 13 pieces recording for Decca Records. Traveling with the band is vocalist Patti Ryan and The Four Bones.

Mundy also stated that with good attendance at this dance, it may be possible to have another name band for the Junior Prom in the Spring.

Arrangements have been definitely made to have full access to the entire field house floor for dancing rather than employing the dancing-in-the-round system used for the IFC Ball earlier this month.

Dress for the dance for men is optional with dark suit instead of tux acceptable if necessary, women formal.

Dean Hocutt Asks Faculty To Take Chaperoning Tasks

Dean of Students John E. Hocutt reports that fraternities and other campus groups are finding it increasingly difficult to secure chaperones for social events.

In an article published in the November 25 issue of the Faculty News Letter, Dean Hocutt requests that those faculty members who have not accepted invitations in the past assist in carrying on this "necessary campus function."

The article added that those members of the faculty who are willing to serve in this capacity are receiving so many invitations that the job is becoming a burdensome responsibility rather than a pleasant evening of social contact with the students.

Christmas Concert To Include Traditional And Modern Music

A Merry Christmas concert by the university choral groups and members of the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra and Delaware Symphonette will be held in Mitchell Hall on December 14 at 8:15 p.m.

The Concert Choir will sing "A Christmas Oratorio" by Camille Saint Saens. Accompanists for the piece will be Ann Williams, organist; Carolyn Brown, pianist; and ten string players from the String Ensemble of the Delaware Symphonette. Four featured soloists are Janice Olson, soprano; Joan Jackson, mezzo-soprano; Shirley Hanby, alto; Warren James, baritone.

An assortment of folk-like carol card arrangements form the remainder of the program. The Women's Chorus will do Benjamin Britten's "Wolcum Yole," a

A throng of Delaware students standing in front of Memorial Library chant "We Want a Bowl Bid," in a futile attempt to spur the Hens onto a post season grid battle. The rally, which was staged on November 17, highlighted the crowning of Coach "Admiral" Dave Nelson.

Chem Engineers To Hear McClellan

"Recent Developments in Plastics" will be the subject of a talk by Donald McClellan to be given to the Delaware Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at a meeting next Monday evening.

A UD graduate, Mr. McClellan has been associated with the Bakelite Division of Union Carbide Company for the past seven years.

Freshmen and other non-members of the society are invited to the lecture.

In the society's other activities this semester, members recently went on a field trip to the American Viscose Company's Marcus Hook research plant.

Campus Gets Seal In Drive Against TB

Christmas seals were distributed to all students through campus mail last Tuesday by members of the SGA and the Dean of Students' office.

A letter from Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society, was enclosed requesting that students buy the seals to aid in promoting a program of prevention and control against tuberculosis.

The letter outlined the accomplishments of the past in combating tuberculosis and the future program of the society. Seals may be bought by sending one dollar in the enclosed envelope to the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

modern carol; Harry Robert Wilson's arrangement of the traditional "Gentle Jesus, Meek and Mild;" the spiritual "Go Tell It on the Mountain;" and "When Jesus Lived in Galilee," arranged by John Jacob Niles with a soprano solo by Frances Hamilton.

Three traditional carols dating from the Middle Ages plus Palestrina's "Adoramus Te, Christe" will form the Men's Chorus' part of the program.

The Concert Choir will conclude the program with Martin Shaw's "Fanfare for Christmas Day," "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" by Praetorius, Healy Willan's "The Three Kings," "Carol of the Bells," and John Jacob Niles' arrangement of "I Wonder As I Wander" with a tenor solo by Robert Murphy.

UD Students Lack Interest In SGA Work Claims Nagle

Ron is probably one of the busiest persons here at Delaware since he spends most of his free moments engaging in extra-curricular activities. This year his present position in SGA demands a great deal of his time and effort.

Constitution. By Laws Become Main Goals For Phi Beta Kappa

"Completion of a constitution draft and a set of by laws for a Delaware Phi Beta Kappa chapter is the immediate goal of the Delaware organizational committee," stated Dr. Herbert E. Newman, professor of economics and business administration, who is chairman of the Phi Beta Kappa committee at Delaware.

"Approval of these by laws must be expressed by Phi Beta Kappa members on campus before installation of a Delaware chapter would be possible; it is hoped that the ground work will be finished by late April so that the class of '56 will be eligible," said Dr. Newman.

Research and computation work is being done by members of the organizational committee which includes Dr. Augustus H. Able, professor of English; Dr. Evelyn H. Clift, associate professor of history; Dr. A. Janney DeArmond, associate professor of English; Dr. Russell Ramage Jr., associate professor of mathematics; Ethelene L. Smith, House Director of Cannon Hall and Dean John E. Hocutt, Dean of Students, in addition to Dr. Newman. This committee is delving into records of Delaware graduating classes of the past 10 years in order to set proper Phi Beta Kappa standards.

Bill Baldt To Attend National IF Meeting

Bill Baldt will represent the Inter-Fraternity Council at the National Inter-Fraternity Conference to be held at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri, on December 2-3.

Chapters throughout the United States and Canada will be represented at this annual convention.

Subjects for conferences and round table discussions will include Public Relations, Rushing, Scholarship and Pledge Training and The Role of IFC.

UD Dance Feature Unique Arrangement

Coach David M. Nelson, director of athletics at the university, has given the reason for the unorthodox placement of the orchestra at the IFC Ball held in the field house on November 5.

"We have just sanded the field house floor and want to protect it from further wear. In placing a cover in the center of the basketball court and putting the band on top of the cover, we can have the people dance around the sides, thereby protecting the court," Coach Nelson said.

The floor of the field house cost $18,000 when it was new. It cannot be sanded more than once because each sanding takes a quarter-inch off the surface. The new cover, which cost $500, will be used during all activities in the field house including registration in January of next year.

When asked about the number of dances to be held in the field house, Coach Nelson said that they could all be held there as long as a need was presented. He said, however, that it would be senseless to have fifty people in the field house when they could be accommodated more satisfactorily in the Ag Hall or a similar place.

Students have said the new arrangement for the bandstand in the field house gives the place a new and different atmosphere which makes some variety in the surroundings.

Students Receive PKP's Invitation To Attend Meeting

Students are invited to the annual research meeting of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi in the Woman's Faculty Club Rooms in the basement of Warner Hall at 8 p. m. on December 6.

The program for the meeting includes two speeches by university faculty members. Professor Gorham Lane of the psychology department will talk on "Levels of Aspiration," and Professor William V. Smith, chairman of the physics department, will speak on "The Transistor-Key to the Dick Tracy Wrist-Watch Radio."

Prior to this program, there will be an important closed business meeting of the Phi Kappa Phi Chapter at 7:30 p. m. in the Women's Faculty Club Room.

John Spruance Adds His Delaware Essay To History Pamphlets

The Institute of Delaware History and Culture has announced the publication of "Delaware Stays in the Union," by John S. Spruance. This is the third pamphlet in a series being prepared under the editorial direction of a committee consisting of University of Delaware Professors George H. Henry, H. Clay Reed and A. R. Dunlap, chairman.

In "Delaware Stays in the Union," Mr. Spruance, a member of the Wilmington "Journal-Every Evening" staff, tells of the conflict in Delaware in Civil War times between those who believed in preserving the Union and those whose views ranged from upholding "states' rights" to actual fighting on the side of the Confederacy. Special attention is given to the movement for the abolition of slavery, to the development of the underground railroad and to forces in opposition to those trends.

When asked to comment on his viewpoints concerning the university's governing body, Ron said that he feels there is a definite lack of interest in the organization by the Delaware students. Ron, whose duties consist of taking minutes at meetings, filing members and ordering and distributing SGA keys, asserts, however, that the "situation will soon be remedied when additional groups are given representation." Citing an example of members of the student body who have no representation in SGA, Ron, an agricultural business major, pointed out the case of the many commuters attending the university. "The commuters constitute a large percentage of the enrollment and yet they do not have a representative. I feel the situation will soon be remedied since SGA has undertaken a revision of the constitution."

The popular senior, who hails from Doylestown, Pennsylvania, has been quite active since coming to Delaware.

He has been a member of the Ag Club for three years, served as treasurer of IF council in his junior year, is co-chairman of the Campus Chest this year.

Ron is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He served as house manager during his sophomore year, social chairman during his junior matriculation and has attained the presidency of the organization this year.

A Dixieland band lover "from way back," he limits his athletic participation to intra-mural football for Theta Chi.

After graduating from the university, Ron hopes to apply the knowledge he has obtained and achieve success in the "ag-business" field.

Xmas Vacation Looms Ahead As Finals Tap On Back Door

How many more shopping days before Christmas? Well, it's hard to answer that question exactly, but one interesting date to remember is December 17. For on that day, which is only 11 school days away, everyone will pile all their joy and belongings into suitcases and "exeunt" Newark for 16 jam-packed days of holiday celebration.

Of course those fortunate persons who have no Saturday classes and also a select few privileged persons who have no Friday classes can get a head start on the remainder of the crowd. When this long awaited day arrives, nearly everyone has it circled on their calendars in red ink — the Christmas formal will be only an evening to remember, but the Yule spirit will be in the air and thoughts will turn to "Happy Holidays" as everyone heads for home.

Although Christmas bells are ringing in everyone's ears and the season is truly one for hap-

Psychology Majors To Hold Club Meeting Dec. 7 In Warner Hall

An organizational meeting of the Psychology Club will be held on December 7 at 8 p.m. in the Warner Hall Hilarium.

Officers will be elected at this meeting and a program will be outlined for the remainder of the year. A social hour and refreshments will follow.

The Psychology Club is restricted to majors in psychology. The purpose of the club is to share mutual interests, to evolve psychological projects and to become acquainted with one another.

piness and pleasure, there is one DULL topic which must not be overlooked. "Old Man Calendar," that reliable source, shows that there are only 22 more study days remaining before everyone settles down for those necessary evils — FINAL EXAMINATIONS.

On January 14, regular classes cease and on January 16, at 9 a. m. the first examination will be given. This period will last from January 16, up to and including January 24. There is one happy note to keep in mind, however, no one has to return to school until January 28.

Rehearsal To Begin On Junior Musical To Be Given Feb. 4

Shirley Riley, director for this year's Junior Musical, has expressed her wish that any male junior interested in taking part in the production contact her as soon as possible.

The title of the musical is "Over There" and will be presented on February 4. Main characters for the cast selected at tryouts last week are: Katie, Nancy Long; Mademoiselle, Shelia Cunningham; nurse, Cynthia Travis; fiancée, Imogene Walsh; bartender, Frank Calhoun; Sergeant, Ray Kitchen; Joe Goofball, Richard Howell; mother, Carol Barnes and fiancée, Dave Tompkins.

Audrey Hardenbergh, committee member for the production, has said that World War I uniforms are needed and anyone who is willing to lend such a uniform should see her or Shirley Riley.

Dr. Paul Lehmann Gives Final Lecture In Church Series

Dr. Paul L. Lehmann will present the last of the Westminster Foundation lectures on "Christian Faith and American Freedom" on December 6 in the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Lehmann's topic will be, "The Faith That Freedom Takes."

Writing in a publication on the theme which will be the subject of his lecture on Tuesday evening, Dr. Lehmann said: "The principles and institutions which constitute the heritage of freedom seem to have been nourished in a social and spiritual climate in which secular humanism and the various forms of Calvinistic democracy were intertwined." Commenting on the present perils to freedom, Dr. Lehmann observes that "when human institutions enter ever and again upon what Arnold Toynbee has called their 'time of troubles,' the fundamental faith upon which such institutions rest is exposed and tested. The insights of the Christian faith suggest that the claims of secular humanism are not profound enough and thus may not be able to stand in the time of trouble."

Dr. Lehmann cites Reinhold Niebuhr's statement that "The same radical freedom which makes man creative also makes him potentially destructive and dangerous."

According to the Rev. Robert W. Andrews, chaplain of the Westminster Foundation at the University of Delaware: "Dr. Lehmann is one of the outstanding theologians in American Protestantism. I hope that every member of the university community will consider himself invited to attend the lecture series on Tuesday evening." Dean William C. Penrose, of the School of Education, will serve as moderator of the program.

European University In Exile Free To Iron Curtain Refugees

Refugees from behind the Iron Curtain now have the opportunity to further their education through the efforts of a group of private American citizens, who, in 1951, set up the Free Europe University in Exile, which has headquarters in Paris, France.

The university is supported by thousands of American citizens who feel that the struggle against Soviet Communism must ultimately be won by the force of ideas even more than by force of arms, and the whole program of the Free Europe University which is dedicated to that end.

The Free Europe University provides grants-in-aid at leading universities in Europe to approximately 200 refugee students from the Communist-controlled countries of Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Estonia. These countries contain a population of 90 million freedom-loving people who had liberties taken from them by the Soviet Communists at the end of World War II in violation of solemn treaty agreements.

At selected universities in European educational centers such as London, Paris, Munich, Louvain, Rome, Barcelona, Uppsala, Innsbruck, Geneva and Istanbul, the students continue their previously interrupted schooling, and at the same time build for themselves a new life in the free world.

The regular university work is supplemented each summer by a ten-week seminar at Strasbourg, France. This seminar deals with Central and East European social, economic and political conditions, and all students must attend. It also includes discussions of national cultures of their native "Iron Curtain" countries, which the Soviets are trying ruthlessly to suppress. The seminars are conducted on the university's own campus at Robertsau, adjoining the University of Strasbourg.

In addition to grants-in-aid at recognized universities, the Free Europe University is also planning to provide assistance for trade or technical school training to a number of refugees who for one reason or another are unable to pursue university courses, but whose talents nevertheless are of potentially high value to the free world.

Education Society To Hold Pledge Tea For New Members

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society is now selecting new members.

Membership eligibility is based upon collegiate standing. Juniors must have an average of 2.78 or above and must have completed at least 6 semester hours in Education, while seniors must maintain a 2.91 average and have completed at least 12 semester hours of Education courses. Anyone who feels he meets the above requirements and has not been notified by the club should contact Mr. Daniel Wood, faculty advisor of the society, or Elise Wise, president, before the date of the tea.

A pledge Tea will be held in the near future.

During the tea the future teachers will be officially pledged into Kappa Delta Pi, will receive pledge pins designating their status, to wear during initiation period and will be enlightened as to the duties of the organization.

We Vote

For A Change

A watchful eye is being cast upon the elections committee of the SGA for news of the "revised" elections rules for next spring.

The committee was set up early this year to submit suggestions for revising the rules so that they would do away with "farce" elections. Under the plan, the committee was to present its suggestions before Thanksgiving vacation. However, the last time this committee met only two members were present. This in itself is a perfect example of why the election rules should be revised.

If some of the members of SGA feel they are doing the students a "favor" by serving on SGA, they are sadly mistaken. In many cases, the students had no actual choice in the elections. Perhaps another reason for failure of action is that some groups put up as many candidates as they can get away with in order to get prestige for their organization.

The deficiencies of the SGA set-up seem to be in two main categories, representation and elections.

The present membership of SGA does not represent a cross-section of the student body. Officially there are no representatives for the Commuters, who make up 40 per cent of the student body.

The election difficulties might be cured by holding two separate elections, one for SGA officers and a later one for class officers. In this way, unsuccessful SGA candidates might still win positions in their respective classes.

These points all add up to one thing: it is far past the time for students to urge the SGA for action. The students all know it is time for a change. Let's make it.

A Big Step

Forward

The Inter-Fraternity Council's request to the Committee on Student Personnel Problems for permission to receive women guests in Fraternity Houses during afternoons of weekends represents the first step toward eliminating a suitcase campus tradition at Delaware.

The new request, if accepted, would permit social activities in the afternoons without the formality of chaperons. The acceptance would cast a new sense of responsibility on the fraternities and give all students a better chance to utilize the facilities of the social fraternities.

The plan, as presented, appears to be a big step forward on the part of the IFC. Instead of passive reaction, the request shows an active interest in improving the campus life and activities.

We congratulate the IFC on their action. We cannot help but feel that if other groups and organizations would do more serious thinking along this line, Delaware would become more of a college and less of an institution.

TODAY

by Frank Garosi

Whoever first suggested, humorously or in earnest, that "a scientist learns more and more about less and less till he knows everything about nothing and a philosopher learns less and less about more and more till he knows nothing about everything" certainly had a knack for putting one little word after another even if his analysis of the situation tends to exaggeration.

This rather ludicrous simplification of overspecialization and over-diversification is a very good illustration of the evils of both extremes. Of course, in a modern assembly-line industrial plant, it is more desirable to have specialized workers since this facilitates higher quality workmanship and since, obviously, one man would be in a hopeless jumble trying to learn to do all jobs. Managerial and administrative positions, on the other hand, are calling more and more for executives with a diversified background.

Now, after a sufficiently verbose introductory ramble, to get to the core of our digression. In the process of higher education — to which we are supposedly being exposed here at Delaware — there is a tendency for the field of study to become narrow and specialized. The hardest-hit victims of this trend toward learning "more and more about less and less" seems to be the engineers and others in related technical fields. Don't get the idea that only engineers and such are beset by the evils of specialization. Every college student is susceptible to slipping into a cozy one-track, one-subject rut.

Luckily, the University of Delaware offers varied and numerous inducements to investigation of and participation in activities outside anyone's sphere of intensified study. In other words there's enough opportunity for getting cultured around here that, with any kind of effort, you can absorb some of this culture by just exposing yourself to it. If the word "culture" makes you shudder, and the phrase "the finer things of life" conjures up unpleasant visions of some torturous E 101 course, let's tackle this situation from another angle.

A better appreciation of other people's problems, aspirations and achievements will result in a more enlightened and broader outlook for you. This better appreciation of the other fellow's field of interest will come, or should come, with a closer look at his field. Instead of scoffing at the much-maligned engineer's "slide-rule" courses, for example, try taking a course in calculus or physics — we practically guarantee a change in your outlook.

The Arches

By Ella Coffee and Nancy Jones

There certainly has been a lot of celebrating lately—between the end of football season and Turkey Day. There really was cause to celebrate with that terrific record! Speaking of football reminds us of players, speaking of players reminds us — — — Who were the defensive end and the girl phys. ed. major that matched each other in a pushup contest on the main drag of Newark? The celebrating took other forms, too. The senior girls were out in full force. Nobody knew what they were celebrating, but it seems to be a senior privilege—just to celebrate! The spirit must have influenced the faculty too, but in a different way. Even J. E. H. appeared on the scene, but that didn't affect the Delaware revelers.

The last victory of the "Big Blue" turned into a snowball free-for-all when the Blue Hens washed their coaches faces, after that terrific win from Bucknell. Wisniewski's line training really backfired when he got tackled himself. Rumor has it that an article in the El Paso paper stated that Delaware turned down an offer from the Sun Bowl. How come no publicity or acknowledgement at this end?

That snowstorm didn't hinder the engagement of Louise Fardon to Royce Flippin, captain of the Princeton football team. Best Wishes!

But the freshmen enjoyed being the returning alumni at their home-town Thanksgiving games. They probably celebrated too, whether they won or lost.

Looks like the celebrating is going to continue with house parties coming up this weekend and the Christmas Dance next. Just maintain that Holiday Spirit 'cause there's only twenty-eight more days till finals!!

Down Beat

Star Time

Unknown a year ago, blonde singer Jaye P. Morgan has made a phenomenal ascent to popularity, and, as is usual these days, a hit record wielded the major influence. The success formula in Jaye's case was entitled, "That's All I Want From You," which was rapidly followed by two more hits on RCA-Victor—"The Longest Walk" and "Pep-per-Hot Baby."

"That's All I Want From You" was one of the first ballads Jaye ever tried professionally. Previously, she confined her repertoire to rhythm tunes which she finds easier to do. Her own personal listening tastes lean toward modern jazz.

"I liked Charlie Parker—thought he was the greatest. Other favorites of mine included Stan Getz, Ray Brown and many other modern jazz musicians. There's so much thought and taste in jazz. I don't see how people can ignore it."

She's also been an Ella Fitzgerald and Sarah Vaughan fan for many years, and although she doesn't try to sing like them, she feels they have exerted some influence on her musical strivings.

The 23-year-old Jaye faced her first audience 19 years ago, as a singer with the Morgan family, a traveling vaudeville troupe consisting of her, her mother, father, a sister and five brothers. The act broke up when she was 13, and the family settled down in California. During Jaye's junior and senior years in high school, she began singing professionally again, appearing on radio and stage.

Jaye's long-range ambitions include Broadway and the movies. "I'd like to do everything and I'd like to go on being as lucky as I've been in the past," she mused.

Dinner? Hell No — I'm Still Waiting for Breakfast!

Off Stage

by George Spelvin

Next week the theatre activity will again flourish along with the many other events. The E-52 Players' third major production hits the stage with George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" opening next Thursday. So for now . . . let's SPOTLIGHT THE STARS . . .

MARY MINKIEWICH

This junior drama major has been quite frequently on the Mitchell stage but this new role is her first lead. Her nimble versatility can be seen in her list of E-52 roles: the Fortune Teller in "Skin of Our Teeth," Eyva Lewis in "Mrs. McThing," and the Old Wolf in last year's children theatre, "Little Red Riding Hood." Mary is also secretary of the E-52 Players. Incidentally, Mary hails from the Broadway state . . . New York . . . Hempstead, to be exact.

JIM SABO

This is also Jim's first major lead, but this show is not, by far, his first time on the Mitchell stage. Jim has averaged one major show a year with a host of Lab Theatres attached. Tony, a stage struck kid in "Out of the Frying Pan" was Jim's most recent role. Last year he played Demetrius in the second major production, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

This week end finds Nancy Kelly in Maxwell Anderson's stage hit, "The Bad Seed," at the Playhouse. The story is of a mother who discovers her eight-year old daughter is a murderer. The surprise ending may come as a shock, but it's a great show. Student tickets are available for the Saturday matinee.

Show stars you might be seeing in Philly include Tyrone Power, David Wayne, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dagmar, Rex Harrison and Sammy Davis, Jr. Believe it or not . . . Gypsy Rose Lee's new play by Lindsay-Crouse has the title . . . "Strip for Action." . . . HMM . . . 'til next week remember what Shakespeare said, "The play's the thing" . . . Box Office is now open for "Arms and the Man".

Why do more college men and women smoke than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Using your elective subject prerogative, if you can, to take a course in music appreciation, art appreciation, biology, physics, philosophy, English, chemistry, etc., or any subject unrelated to your major will surely help you to grow multilaterally and broaden your mind.

If you are unable to, or don't wish to include unrelated subjects in your semester's work, you can take advantage of the many cultural opportunities offered by the university. Musical programs, plays, visiting scholars, guest artists, art exhibits, special programs such as REW, all serve an educational purpose in there it comes again) broadening your mind and outlook.

Nothing is more deadening to a personality than an all-consuming absorption in one field of interest, and nothing is more boring than some one who lives, breathes and talks only organic chemistry, or astro-physics, or mechanical engineering, or medieval history, ad nauseum.

It all boils down to this: get out of your rut (if you're in one), take advantage of the afore-mentioned opportunities, and give yourself a chance to grow mentally and to develop an appreciation for other things in life.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

In your issue of November 18, there was an article by Mr. Frank Garosi about the Middle East. While I greatly appreciate his interest in the part of the world that is my home, I beg to differ with some of his opinions.

Much as I hate to admit it, the Arab states have been "squabbling" amongst themselves. But that is not without reason. Although it may not be as apparent as it was ten years ago, Britain still has a substantial amount of influence in the Middle East. It is there for one main reason: to protect British interests there. Unity among the Arabs might endanger these interests, and hence British influence is exerted in directions conducive to dissent amongst the natives.

As for the United Nations, I agree with Mr. Garosi's opinion that it bears a considerable amount of the blame for the bloodshed involved. However, I disagree with his proposed solution for the problem. Knowing my people as one of them should, I think that they would not accept any definite statement from the United Nations or from Britain and the United States.

Another thing I hate to admit is the fact that the majority of my people are illiterate. The governments of the Arab states are at present trying to remedy the situation as fast as they can. Nevertheless, the fact still remains, and will remain for a few more years; most of my people are uneducated. Hence their emotions play a major part in their thought, and the conduct of their daily lives. After the long period of oppression which they underwent during the past few centuries, and from which they are still awakening, they are in no condition to be threatened. It is my opinion that any statements or threats from the United States or Britain will serve only to increase the strong sentiment against the West which at present prevails in that part of the world. Furthermore, it is my opinion that any decisions by a world court, if controlled by the same interests that controlled the United Nations' decision to partition Palestine in 1947, would only lead to further bloodshed.

Again I would like to thank Mr. Garosi for his interest.

To the Editor,

Since I am the grandmother of one of the students, I was among those entertained at the university on Parents' Day.

It was my first contact with the school and I was delighted with the spirit of friendliness and helpfulness which was expressed by both students and members of the faculty.

At the end of the day, I had a graphic picture of the duties of the students and of the responsibility of the parents and also a realization of the helpful attitude of the instructors and of their interest in the success or failure of the students.

This is the only method of letting the university know how I appreciate the opportunity to be present on Parents' Day and of expressing the hope that others may find it as beneficial in the future, as I did in '55.

Yours sincerely,

Naval Representative To Talk To UD Men About OCS Dec. 8

Lieutenant R. F. Cuccias, U. S. Navy, representing the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in Philadelphia, will be on campus in the library basement from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. on December 8, to discuss the Navy's general service and aviation Officer's Candidate schools with members of the graduating class. He will have literature on these programs and will interview and answer any questions from interested seniors. Any college graduate, or any senior whose graduation is less than six months away, may now apply for these officer programs regardless of his college major. The Navy's general service and aviation Officer Candidate Schools are located at Newport, Rhode Island, and Pensacola, Florida, respectively, and selected candidates will be ordered there for a four-month course. Upon successful completion of the course, candidates will be appointed to the rank of Ensign or Lieutenant (junior grade), depending on age. In the U. S. Naval Reserve, Aviation officers will then begin flight training, receive their wings about thirteen months later and serve as a naval aviator for two years. General service officers will serve for three years of active duty in various assignments. Line officers will be ordered to appropriate billets. Staff corps officers will be given additional indoctrination under the supervision of their corps.

Fraternities Import Real Greek

Spyros Evonchides, a student from Athens, Greece, is attending the university with the aid of an Inter-Fraternity Council scholarship. Enrolled in the School of Engineering, he intends to follow in the footsteps of his father who is a chemical engineer in Greece.

Spyros, who would rather be called Steve, is currently residing at the Kappa Alpha house where he will be for the remainder of the term. Coming to America a few years ago, Steve attended high school in Santa Barbara, California, where he mastered the English language in preparation for his entrance in the University of Delaware. Now in his sophomore year, he plans to return to Greece after graduation.

Steve said that when he came to the United States he had a feeling of being out of place. He soon made friends, however, and with them has endeavored to absorb as much of America as possible. Adding to his experiences, he worked at a camp in the Northwest last summer.

Commenting on the housing situation, Steve has said that he has never faced the problem of

Christmas Excuses For Holiday Jobs

Students who plan to take pre-Christmas jobs that will cause them to miss their classes must fill out a request form from the offices of the Dean of Students or the Dean of Women.

In order to have this application accepted, the student must certify that he is in financial need of the money that he will earn at his work to help for his college expenses. A letter from the student's employer attesting to the fact that he will have a job must be attached to the form.

The instructors will be asked to indicate whether the student making the request for extension of the Christmas recess is

HI! JOIN ME FOR A LUCKY DROODLE?

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution, see paragraph below.

HERE'S A DROODLE THAT PACKS A PUNCH. It's titled: Lucky smoke rings blown by prizefighter with tooth missing. It packs a moral, too: Why knock yourself out looking for a better-tasting cigarette when all you have to do is light up a Lucky? Luckies taste better, first, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is TOASTED to taste better. So light up a Lucky. It's the winner — and still champion — for better taste!

Weed Smokers Have Chance To Win New Ford Thunderbird

Ten new 1956 fully-equipped Ford Thunderbirds will be the top prizes in a contest, offered exclusively to college men and women, now underway on this campus under the sponsorship of Viceroy cigarettes.

The contest to "Name The Viceroy Filter" is awarding 60 prizes, totaling $50,000, to college students who write in the best names for Viceroy's filter.

This opportunity means that 10 college men or women will have as their own the 225-horsepower Thunderbird, in their choice of colors, with automatic transmission, two tops, power steering, radio and white sidewall tires. What's more, each of the 10 Thunderbird winners will be able to present a college organization of his choice (fraternity, sorority, etc.) with an RCA Victor Color Television Set.

As second prizes, Viceroy is awarding 40 students the Columbia "60" K high fidelity phonograph in a mahogany cabinet.

The $50,000 "Name The Viceroy Filter" Contest has been especially planned for busy college students. All they have to do is make up a name for the Viceroy Filter and submit it on a special entry blank or a plain piece of paper. There is no limit to the number of times a student may enter but all entries must contain a picture of the Viceroy Filter Tip from the backs of two Viceroy packs.

The rules of the contest are given in detail in a large-space Viceroy advertisement which will run in next week's Review as well as on entry blanks which have been distributed around the campus.

Dr. Louis C. Jones Speaks At Wolf Hall In Winterthur Series

Louis C. Jones, director of the New York State Historical Association and the Farmers' Museum, Cooperstown, New York, was the third speaker in the Winterthur lecture series entitled "Art and Industry in Early America."

The visiting scholar was heard in Wolf Hall Auditorium last evening, speaking on the topic, "Folk Art in America." In his speech, Dr. Jones included his belief that an understanding of democracy involves an understanding of the cultural heritage of those who were untutored except in the oral traditions of our people.

For twenty-five years Dr. Jones has been actively interested in a wide range of aspects of American folk culture. He has published more than forty articles on tall tales, witchcraft, ghost lore, folk songs and, in recent years, articles on American folk art.

Science Conference For Eastern Colleges To Be Held At Temple

The tenth annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference will be held at Temple University in Philadelphia on April 6 and 7.

Limited to undergraduates, the conference will include reports on research conducted by students, tours of industrial and scientific places of interest in the Philadelphia area, eminent speakers, exhibits and social activities.

Delaware is one of over five hundred colleges and universities east of the Mississippi and in Eastern Canada invited to send delegates and student speakers to the conference. Papers will be delivered on all types of research in the fields of biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics and psychology.

Any undergraduate who wishes to participate is asked to communicate either with the head of his science department or directly to the Eastern Colleges Science Conference, P. O. Box 222, Temple University, Philadelphia 22, Pa.

Done Your Xmas Shopping? Alumni Office Has Good Buys

Students who are looking for the Christmas gift with the University of Delaware "touch" to it should stop in at the Alumni office and look over the selection that they are offering.

Commemorative plates with the following scenes are available: Purnell Hall and Kent Hall in blue and brown and the Memorial Library and Old College in blue and mulberry. These plates can be bought for $2.50.

For the card player on the Christmas gift lists, a double deck of playing cards can be had for $1.75 per set. In this set, which bears a scene of Old College and the university seal, one deck is gold and the other is blue.

Baskets and trays sell for $4.50 each or $8 for the complete set. These trays, decorated with a colored picture of Old College, are made of metal in either black or green.

Anyone interested in additional information or in purchasing any of these articles may stop in at the Alumni Office, located in Purnell Hall, on any Monday or Tuesday afternoon until Christmas.

Sociology Teacher To Speak To Group

Robert K. Burns, instructor in sociology and anthropology, will present an illustrated lecture on "Life in a French Alpine Village" at the Sociology Club meeting next Thursday at 7:15 p.m. in room 211 Alison Hall.

Mr. Burns, an anthropologist, spent last year in the village of Saintveran near the Italian border doing field work and collecting data for his study of village customs and cultural change.

Jean Parker, president of the Sociology Club, will preside at a short business meeting preceding the lecture. The meeting is open to all university students and faculty.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

HE'S BUILDING A FOUNDATION FOR HIS FUTURE

Paul Guild, E.E., Purdue, '49, started as a student engineer with Long Lines—the Bell System unit that interconnects Bell Telephone Companies. In the student training program he became familiar with all operations of the business.

After that he spent two years on technical and engineering projects that took him to Indianapolis, Cleveland and Atlanta.

March of 1953 found Paul in Cincinnati working on the construction of radio relay routes. He worked with the newest microwave equipment that transmits television pictures and telephone conversations simultaneously.

In 1955, as part of his further development, Paul was transferred to a completely different assignment. He now supervises the important planning job of balancing a working force of 900 Long Distance operators with the ever-changing work load.

"I use my engineering background on this job, too," says Paul. "It's extremely interesting and has lots of responsibility. Besides, you need experience in more than one department to give you background."

Paul Guild is typical of young engineers in the Bell System. Similar career opportunities exist in the Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information on these companies.

Football Review

Football at Delaware enjoyed another banner year in 1955. Head coach Dave "Admiral" Nelson, assisted by backfield coach Tubby Raymond, line coach Mike Lude and end coach Irv Wisniewski, steered the team to its winningest season under his tutelage as the Blue Hens posted an 8-1 won-lost record.

Delaware ushered in the 1955 pigskin parade with a 46-6 romp over the gobs from the Bainbridge Naval Training Center. The completely outclassed Bainbridge team was no match for the superior training and conditioning of the Hens.

Lehigh's Engineers gave the fledgling Hen football season a rude shock by administering a jolting 19-13 defeat on October 1. The Hens, who were still in the process of learning to play as a unit, opened up a 13-6 halftime lead on a touchdown smash by halfback Jim Zaiser and a Bob Hooper-Vince Grande scoring aerial. Lehigh tied up the ball game midway through the third quarter on a 74-yard march sparked by quarterback Nolan's passing. Then came the play that ultimately cost the Blue and Gold an undefeated season. With five minutes remaining in the game, Hooper gambled on a fourth-down pass; the pass was deflected into the hands of Engineer tackle Lou Williams and he hustled 86 yards for the TD.

The Blue and Gold got back into the winner's circle with a precarious 14-6 victory over Lafayette at Easton, Pa. Dominating first-half play, Delaware rambled 51 yards for an early 7-0 lead with Bob Moneymaker carrying for the TD. In the second quarter, Zaiser did the honors on a 79-yard scoring march with 20 seconds left in the half. Trailing 14-0 the Leopards stormed back in the second half and completely outplayed the Hens but could manage only one six-pointer against a stubborn defense.

In a slam-bang, heart-stopping game before 6,500 Homecoming fans the Blue Hens squeaked by New Hampshire with a tight 20-18 victory. Capitalizing on a first period Blue Wildcat fumble, Delaware took a 6-0 lead which they held till halftime. After the Wildcat's Wright and the Hen's Zaiser had exchanged punt-return scoring jaunts of 54 and 60 yards respectively in the third quarter, New Hampshire came up with two more TD's (but, to their dismay, no successful conversions) and the Hens capitalized on another Wildcat fumble to score their final touchdown.

Connecticut: The Turning Point

The turning point of the 1955 season and the indication that the Hen's had finally matured into a close-knit, well-trained grid machine came with their 26-14 win over Connecticut. Delaware left the field at halftime on the wrong end of a 14-0 score and things looked grim. In their last three games the Hens had been outplayed and outscored by every opponent during the second half, but, led by Zaiser, who carried for 132 yards, scored 2 TD's, passed for a third and set up the other score with a 42 yard kick-off return, Delaware rolled up 26 points in the second half while hardly letting the UConn get their hands on the ball.

Traveling to New Brunswick, N. J. for the renewal of an old rivalry, the Blue and Gold handed Rutgers a 33-7 lacing. The Scarlet Knights scored first but their elation was shortlived as the Hens, paced by Johnny Oberg's 117

Cross-County Season Ends For Undefeated Harriers As Dante Marini Stars

The U. of D. harriers finished up their second consecutive undefeated season and the second and the second undefeated cross-country season in the history of the sport at Delaware with an 18-43 victory over Albright on November 18.

Captain Dante Marini again led the Hens to victory with his last and probably his best performance as a Delaware cross-country runner. The Blue and Gold captain smashed the record for Albright's 4.4 mile course as he posted a time of 21:57 minutes. Clyde Louth, who was elected captain of next year's squad, placed second.

A record fell in every dual meet this year. The first meet with Virginia saw Marini take top honors while the second man to finish set a record for Virginia team members on the course. In the next meet, at Swarthmore, Marini was beaten for the only time in the season's dual meet competition as a Swarthmore ace set a new record.

After this meet came three consecutive home victories over Johns Hopkins, Haverford and PMC. Dante established a record in the first, he and Clyde Louth tied for a new record in the second and Dante set the present course record in the third meet.

In addition to their dual meet victories this season, the Hens retained their DelMarVa Championship and placed fourth in the Middle Atlantic Championships.

The W. A. A. Picture

Strange as it may seem to some of us, the months have slipped by and we are now entering a new season of WAA sports. I will give a brief summary of the happenings during these last three months for the poor, lost souls who have not found their way down to the gym and who have not yet had the pleasure of participating in a WAA tournament.

A tennis tournament has just ended and a round of applause is due to Barbara Winne, the winner, and to Elaine Wray, the runner-up.

The hockey tournament is coming to a close. The games

Hens Whip Bucknell In Snowstorm, 27-12

By Hal Bodley

Led by Senior Halfback Andy Wagner, Delaware's Fighting Blue Hens triumphed to a 27-12 victory at Bucknell two Saturdays ago in a swirling snowfall to close out their best season under Coach "Admiral" Dave Nelson. This seventh straight victory and the fourth in a row over Bucknell gave the Hens an 8-1 record. The only loss was to Lehigh by a 19-13 score. The 1954 team had an 8-2 mark.

Andy Wagner was the big man for the Hens' offense. He made his last grid battle a memorable one as he scored two touchdowns, caught a pass for an extra point and gained 114 yards on the ground.

Hens Take Lead

Wagner's first touchdown came when there were only five minutes gone in the first period. It took both teams a while to get accustomed to playing football on a field covered with six inches of snow. Wagner's run, which covered a total of 31 yards, was beautifully executed. He dashed through left tackle, hurdled two placers, faked the safetyman out of position and streaked across the pay-off stripe standing up. Bob Hooper attempted to kick the extra point from placement, but slippery conditions made it almost impossible, and the try was blocked. Delaware 6, Bucknell 0.

Until Wagner scored, which was the climax to a nine-play, 67-yard sustained drive, the Bisons were proving to match forces with the Hens quite well.

Zaiser Scores 2nd TD

After the Bucknell team relinquished the pigskin on a fourth down situation, the Hens swept 16 yards in three plays for their second touchdown. The score was set up by Quarterback Bob Hooper's 46-yard aerial to Captain Vince Grande, who carried to the 9-yard line. On the next play speedy Halfback Jim Zaiser scooted around right end and the Hens were paying no attention to the freezing weather—they were really hot! Bob Hooper, whose placement on the first touchdown was blocked, faked another kick, but instead spotted Captain Grande on a pass in the end zone for the point. The score was then Delaware 13, Bucknell 0.

Two quick scores by the Hens in the first half should have really demoralized the Bison herd, but instead Harry Lawrence's charges stamped the Delaware eleven as they came back with a spectacular touchdown drive that covered two minutes of playing time and 73 yards of snow.

Bisons Use Draw

The significant part of the Bison drive was actually on one play. Bucknell had possession of the ball on their own 28 after the kick-off. On the first play from scrimmage reserve fullback Don Koppes tried a draw play which was initiated perfectly, and Koppes was finally downed on the Delaware 38. Quarterback Jim Stewart, who had found a clicking pattern, tried this play over and over again. With the ball on the 6-yard line, the Hens strengthened their defensive wall, but Quarterback Stewart found an unprotected right side of the Delaware line and ran over the goal line for the Bisons' first score. Stewart, suffering from the same slippery conditions that Hooper experienced in the first period, was unable to kick the ball through the uprights, and the half ended with the score Delaware 13, Bucknell 6.

During halftime the teams made the short trek to the heated locker rooms to warm their frozen fingers and toes while the bands made a desperate attempt to serenade the some 2,175 observers. The Delaware band,

Grapplers Meet Lafayette In 1955-56 Season Debut

Captain Dale Boyd will lead the Blue Hen Wrestling team into a nine match season which begins on December 10 against Lafayette. The only change from last year's schedule is the addition of P. M. C. in place of Virginia. PMC is resuming intercollegiate wrestling after a brief intermission.

There are only three returning lettermen—Dale Boyd, Bill Baur and Tom Oves—around whom Coach Burnham can build his team. Four of last year's key men, including 147-lb. star Harold Ladd, have been lost due to graduation and other reasons.

Coach Burnham hesitates to name anyone to a definite starting assignment, but lists the following mat-men as having shown good form in practice so far: Steve Voorhees at 147 lbs., Jim Zawicki and Monty Simpson both battling for the 157-lb. assignment, Bill Walker and Ray Salamone at 167 and 177 pounds respectively, and Tom Oves in the heavyweight division.

Fresh Open Winter Slate With Lehigh Court Dual

Delaware's freshman basketball team will open their season on December 7 when they travel to Lehigh University.

Coach Jimmy Sullivan has chosen his leading players after watching the freshman varsity scrimmage on November 15. Freshmen who made the top mark are Al Brown, Frank Wakes, Bob Schillo, John Warner, Gil Mahla, Craig Peat, Dick Coe, Joe McCormick and Art McDonald. The varsity, incidentally, squeaked out a victory over the frosh in the scrimmage, 73-72.

Wrestling

Fourteen freshmen wrestlers, who are working out daily from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. in the basement of Taylor Gym, are currently preparing for the first match against Haverford on December 16 in Carpenter field house.

There is still time for any interested freshman to make the team, for there are no requirements to get on this team. No previous experience is needed and there is room for anyone interested.

Swimming

Opening their season on December 14, Delaware's frosh swimmers will face the freshmen from University of Pennsylvania at Taylor Pool.

In a practice before Thanksgiving, the frosh lost to the varsity in the 400 yard relay. Coach Harry Rawson has said, however, that the frosh are a capable unit showing good promise.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By FRANK GAROSI

"On behalf of the football squad and the staff, I would like to express our appreciation to the students and to the other members of the University of Delaware family who have done such a wonderful job of supporting the team this fall." Head Coach Dave Nelson expressed this sentiment in a recent post-football-season interview we had with him.

The coach went on to say that at every away game this year, even at Bucknell, considering the factors of distance and weather, there was a good turnout of Delaware rooters. "I think a great deal of our success over the last three years," continued Coach Nelson in elaborating on this point, "is due to the encouragement we have received from the university family."

What impressed him most, he declared, about this year's squad was the development of the team as a unit through the season from what was just a fair ball club in September to the efficient football machine which pulverized Gettysburg and Temple and crushed Bucknell.

Another gratifying thing to "Admiral" Nelson was the manner in which replacements were always ready to fill a gap or to assume responsibility. He cited the case of Jim Shelton and Jerry Weis, the starting guards at the beginning of the season, who, when they had recovered from injuries, found they could not win back their starting assignments because of the excellent playing of their replacements, Tommy Thomas and Reds Regan. He concluded by saying that this year's 8-1 record was more the result of group action, instead of one or two brilliant stars, than any record in the past.

There is little we can add to a successful coach's erudite comments except hearty agreement. This team posted a fine slate against some rugged opposition and we felt, at the end of the season, that it was more than a match for any small college in the East — especially Lehigh. That the Hens did not receive a bowl bid does not in the least detract from their achievements.

Andy Wagner, who showed some of his 1954 form as he spearheaded the attack against Bucknell and received high praise from the Bisons by being elected to their all-opponent team.

Blue Hen Of The Week

By Marie Thielman

Rugged halfback Andy Wagner from Baltimore, Maryland, an outstanding utility back and savage tackler ranked second this season with a total of seven touchdowns and one placement for 43 points as a result of the Bucknell game. In the rushing department Andy carried the ball 102 times for a total 496 yards. This is an average of 4.86 yards per carry.

This is Andy's last year at Delaware. He has won two varsity letters. This year the Eastern Inter-Collegiate Football Association named him "Unsung Hero" due to his spectacular plays against Lehigh.

Last year Andy ranked second in rushing with 491 yards on 93 carries. Additionally, he scored four touchdowns and two placements.

In his sophomore year he scored successfully against West Chester and Connecticut before he was sidelined by a knee injury.

Andy gained most of his football experience at Loyola High in Towson where he captained not only the football team but the basketball team, as well as playing several years of baseball.

Soccer Team Ends Season With 3-2 Win Over LaSalle

University of Delaware's booters closed out their season on November 17 with a 3-2 triumph over LaSalle College in Philadelphia.

Trailing 1-0 at halftime, the Delaware soccer team put together three tallies for the victory. Serge Sacharuk kicked two goals while Laddie Bohdan scored the game's winning point.

The victory was the season's second for Delaware. They lost six contests.

Although the season was not an impressive one, the Hens could improve next year with the addition of Wolfgang Schlich, freshman star booter. Schlich broke the scoring record for the university in kicking eight tallies.

Rival News . . .

Bruce Evans

Now that the Hen's opponents have completed their seasons, here's what the records show.

Lehigh rolled up the greatest number of points during the season, 217. The Engineers were never shut out and only twice were they held to a single TD, once by Cornell and once by Lafayette. These were the only two defeats suffered by the men from Bethlehem as they ended a successful season with a record of 7 wins against 2 losses.

The next best record belongs to Lafayette, 6 wins-2 defeats. Although they could pick up only 174 points, 43 less than the Engineers, they too managed to score more than one TD in all but two games, a 7-0 win over Muhlenberg and a 14-6 loss to the Hens.

The only other Hen foe who managed to win more games than were lost was Gettysburg. The Bullets ended with a 5-2 log. They too had a powerful offense and even though the Hens beat them 36-0, it was the only game in which they were held to less than 15 points, and in their other 6 games, they amassed a total of 212.

In comparison, New Hampshire ended with 3 wins, 3 losses and 2 ties; Connecticut and Rutgers each had a 3-5 record; Bucknell won only twice while dropping 6 and tying one and Temple lost all 8 games. The Owls from Philly scored 49 points while allowing 223 to their rivals.

Our own Hens, with an 8-1 mark and with 261 points, were generally much too strong for their opponents, winning six games by at least two TD's, four yards rushing and Hooper's passing, slammed back for a 20-7 halftime lead and a 33-7 final score.

Gettysburg's powerful Bullets, boasting a high-powered offense and one of the East's total offense leaders in Frank Gagliardi, invaded Newark for Delaware's final home tilt. However, Admiral Nelson's crew was just shifting into high gear and they smothered the Bullets under a five-touchdown barrage. The Hens' star was Andy Wagner, who piled up 114 yards rushing and tallied three touchdowns. Gettysburg was held to a puny 2 yards gained on the ground.

Temple was the next hapless opponent to fall victim to the Hen's talons. Bob Hooper had an aerial field day as he completed 6 out of 8 passes for 162 yards and 4 TD's, "Zeke" Zaiser romped for 108 yards, and a TD and the reserves saw a lot of action as Delaware hung a 46-0 victory on Temple.

The final game of the successful 1955 season was played at Bucknell in the usual Bucknell-game weather — i.e., rain and/or snow and bitter cold. Andy Wagner, Vince Grande, Lenny Williams and Bob Hooper were among the seniors who played an outstanding game against the Bisons.

By the way, does anyone know the philosophy assignment for Monday? There are three people who would like to know.

Phi Kappa Tau

By the time this paper is out we expect to see a brand new trophy adorning the fireplace of the Phi Tau house. The hand ball trophy which we just missed winning last year, has finally come our way. Brothers Eipper, Anderson, Clark and Hooper gathered enough wins to make the trophy ours. In doing so, Brother Hooper also became the Intramural champ. Way to go, guys!

If anyone were to look down into our old cellar they would find that it is almost complete. The pledges have now put in the benches on the second wall; it certainly is an improvement.

The new facilities of our cellar were used to good advantage just before vacation started when several of the brothers from F and M College chapter came down to visit us.

Does anyone have a wrecking bar? If so, see the pledges. They nailed a paddle to the wall of the cellar; they did a real good job because they can't get it off.

The consensus of opinion is that it was a real great vacation. Only 14 days till Christmas!

Bruce Stewart

Sigma Nu

Now that Thanksgiving is just a memory, the men of Sigma Nu are once again back at the books. It's not hard to tell that Christmas is far off, though. Heard from the remote corners of the big deck are many wishes for Santa Claus to bring electric blankets and long johns. There is one exception to this general wish though. It seems Brother Len Brown still thinks he's down at the spring training camp for the Phillies. Len made three grandstand catches this week not to mention the blonde that drove him off in the new Thunderbird.

Many fabulous tales of a high spirited vacation were whispered through the halls of the "Snake Pit". The "stump jumpers" had their usual party at the Wheel with a special little cheer for the boys from Seaford.

Brothers Pettyjohn and Peffer had their debut into high society, mingling with the Mainliners of Philadelphia.

All in all a very enjoyable week end was had by all and hopes of a bigger and better one at Christmas is yearned for by everyone, especially with that good 'ole home cooking.

"Pete" Green

Alpha Tau Omega

With Thanksgiving vacation over, all of the brothers are waiting expectantly for Christmas vacation to begin. However, during the Thanksgiving vacation many of the brothers and pledges were seen at 153 W. Main Street working on our new parking lot. The pledges were also busy "whipping" the test files into shape, as well as doing other tasks assigned to them.

Congratulations to the publicity committee, headed by Brothers Al Knight and Stan Crewe, for the excellent job they did this semester on our football displays. Congratulations also to Brother Bill McNeill who was pledged into Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity.

Anyone for an E. M. H.?

Fraternally Speaking:—

Lots of news this week at 48 West Park Place. Tommy Thomas came through for the brothers Monday night with a fine feast of turkey served temptingly on the pool table.

Linn Hoopes got his pin back from Marcia Carell in exchange for a diamond type ring. Congratulations to you both. By the way, Pete Braungart did not get pinned but look out for Red Lion. Congratulations are also in order for Tommy Thomas who was elected captain of the football team next year.

Speaking of football, I guess it's all over but the shouting and the statistics. Brother Wagner scored twice in the game with Bucknell last week and was second for the season in scores. Warren Allen was first for pass receiving and Bob Hooper showed us a great season and led the team in passing.

Sorry about the column this week, but brother Reds Regan is in the hospital and is unable to compose his usual literary masterpiece. Let's hope he will be back next week with his gems of thought.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Two weeks ago, just to catch up on the missing issue, the Apes went continental at Katie's in Wilmington, partaking of a good Italian dinner. This was followed by the glorious and publicized ride of "Lady Godiva" at the Queen and an informal gathering at Zues' shack. Brother Kugler was in rare form, as was Brother Sirkin.

Many a sad face appeared through the door of the cage Sunday night at the realization that the proverbial honeymoon was over. Brother Wolson spent his time constructively painting and setting up light fixtures, shunning the lighter side of life much to the dismay of a fair Wilmington damsel. Brother Goodman spent Sunday in Wildwood as guest of honor with Paula Baker at an engagement party on their behalf. Brother Finch traveled up to New York to give a social boost to Brother Kugler—big, wasn't she Sid? The present pledge class of the Cage is turning out to be a group (?) of big movers with Yumchick taking dancing lessons and Duke buying cigarettes by the carton.

This weekend will see the Apes turn into some real cool cats when the Cage is turned into a den of iniquity for the "Hood Party." Little Wolson is renting out his entire wardrobe at reasonable prices—including such things as twelve inch pegs, washed out levis, suede shoes and belts and his prized eight-inch push button knife. Rods and choppers will be checked at the door.

Question of the week: Is it true about Alvin?

Joe Friedman

Sigma Phi Epsilon

With the return of the brothers on Sunday evening from Thanksgiving vacation, the Sigma Phi Epsilon house, which had become vacated so abruptly only four days before, showed new signs of life.

It looked as if some of the brothers had spent their vacations collecting old rags and other odds and ends which had been stored in the darkest corners of their attics. However, a quick look at the calendar will explain the rebirth of all these medieval garbs. This Saturday night is our annual costume party. Everyone is supposed to dress as if he were a member of that ancient period in history, the "Roaring Twenties." If this party is anything like last year's "French houseparty," a roaring time can be expected by all.

Congratulations are in order for Brother Bob Amoroso who pinned Anita DeFerdinando, a Temple student, over Thanksgiving. Also, best of luck to all the intramural wrestlers who begin their season this week.

Dick McKelvey

are! From all reports everyone had a highly successful vacation, with the exception of Brothers Bingham and Corson. It seems that Millville stopped being lucky Thanksgiving Day after 3 years of playing unconscious football. They were two sad boys. Ed Ruos came back with stories that parallel him with that famous hunter Buffalo Bill. There isn't a living animal south of Dover if you can believe it. Lastly, there are rumors that Jay Rowland threw a real wild party Saturday night. Brother Hukill was still dragging around on Monday.

The brothers extend their sympathies to Brother Ed Mortlock whose mother passed away over the Thanksgiving vacation.

Steve Voorhees

Delta Tau Delta

Everything from the bottom to the top floor is covered with a film of green dust. Brother Chuck Heckert's paint sprayer succeeded in filling the air with a mist of green paint which not only painted the cellar ceiling, but also the brothers using the sprayer and even the sprayer.

Brother John Long attended the Scabbard and Blade Convention held at the University of Wisconsin. Representatives from Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC units in 131 Colleges were present.

Intramural wrestling has Brothers Brown, Dempsey, Houston and Lore grunting and groaning in their practice sessions.

Brother Chilcutt, former holder of the "Crash Club" Award has dedicated his prize to Brother Pollack who recently proved himself worthy of this honor.

To Lasell Junior College in Boston went Brother Reiss and to Bucknell went Brothers Jebens and Geissel. Brother Geissel assisted in the initiation of the new members of the Honorary Fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, which has a chapter at Bucknell.

Jack Mundy

Pi Kappa Alpha

Well, the immovable object has given way to the irresistible force. Frank Serpico and Mary Madison are engaged. The big day has been set for December 23.

the fraternities and the university.

The IFC asks that the plan be approved on a trial basis for one semester beginning next term. If the request is granted, the IFC would like to meet with the Deans midway through the semester to discuss ways of improving the program and again at the end of the term to decide if it should be continued.

The plan was discussed at length in IFC meetings and in individual fraternity meetings during the last month. It was found that such a plan had been incorporated in the IFC by-laws drawn up a few years ago but had failed to be approved.

A committee headed by Bill Baldt drew up the final draft of the plan which was submitted to the dean.

"Love and money are the two main factors which stimulate my works," remarked the composer, his eyes twinkling, when asked about "outside" influence. "But that doesn't always mean that the most renowned works are my favorites. I can't even say which of my pieces is, but step children, the ones which don't receive much recognition, are usually the ones which I prefer."

Mr. Thomson recently retired from his job as music critic on the "New York Herald Tribune" to do more intense "lecturing, composing, and conducting." "I like lecturing at different colleges and universities, and comparing them," he remarked. "each institutions' approach to music is so different."

Having written pieces for nearly every instrument as a solo plus orchestration, Mr. Thomson's compositions include choral works, chamber music, opera and documentary film music. He was nominated for an Academy Award for the melodies for the film, "The Louisiana Story" (a part of which was included in Wednesday's concert).

In praising his style the magazine "The Nation" stated that his pieces are "fluid, conversational, non-repetitive, non-metrical, and ultra-sensitive," while his vocal parts and orchestral accompaniments are "freshly and imaginatively intensive."

Mr. Thomson also spoke informally to several music classes and provided commentaries at the concert's rehearsals.

Counselor Positions Available, Apply Now

College students who want camp counselor jobs next summer were urged to act during the Christmas holidays. The timely advice came from Muriel Abel who heads the New York State Employment Service's Camp Unit at 119 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

"Camp directors have been making job openings with us since early fall," she pointed out, "and in response to the demand we will start placement work for next season on December 19, a much earlier date than usual."

Men and women over 18 have a wide variety of openings to choose from in both private and organizational camps. At least one year of college and some group work, even on a voluntary basis, is required. Specialists are needed in athletics, drama, arts, crafts, nature study and photography. "Waterfront counselors must have a Red Cross senior or instructor certificate. General counselors with teaching or social work training should have no trouble in being placed," she said.

Jobs are located in the New England and Middle Atlantic states and pay $100 to 160 for beginners, $200 to $400 for experienced counselors and specialists. Room, board and transportation are also provided.

Dean W. O. Penrose Discusses Freedom Of Speech And Press

Dr. William O. Penrose, Dean of the School of Education, was a member of a panel discussion, the topic of which was "Freedom of Speech and the Press" on November 28 at the Newark New Century Club.

Speaking on the meaning of freedom of the press and speech today, Dean Penrose stated that freedom of speech now means liberty to discuss publicly and truthfully all matters of public concern without previous restraint or fear of later arbitrary punishment.

Other panel members included Mr. Charles M. Cooper and the Reverend Mr. Robert Andrews of the Westminster Foundation.

Hens Whip Bucknell

all wrapped in overcoats and scarfs took the field. They didn't play "Winter Wonderland," but as the snow kept falling on the chilly November afternoon, it would have been a fitting selection.

When the Bucknell musicians trotted onto the field without the warmth of overcoats and scarves, a group of five majorettes dressed in the usual short-skirted uniforms gave the spectators an even colder picture. As the snow steadily fell, the football field looked to be a mountainous ski resort rather than the scene of a grid battle. It hadn't been for the fact that the wind wasn't blowing, there might even have been drifts to hamper the Hens' style.

In the third quarter Bucknell kicked to Delaware and the only factor that separated the Hens from the third touchdown of the game was ninety snow covered yards of turf. But they drove the ninety yards in 15 plays and crossed the goal line. Two of Bob Hooper's passes, the first a 34-yarder for Grande on which interference was called against Stewart, and the second a diving catch by Warren Allen on a fourth and three situation that gave the Hens a first down on the 15, were key plays. Hooper sneaked across the one yard line for the score. Jim Zaiser threw to Wagner for the twentieth point for the Blue Hens.

The Hens put the game on ice, not that it had not been since the opening kick-off, when Andy Wagner plunged across from the 2. Bobby Moneymaker behind stellar blocking, had done most of the preliminary ground work on a 72-yard march. Wagner avoided tacklers and ran 38 yards to put the Hens in a desirable position on the 12 yard line, and after driving to the 12, Wagner dove over for the score. Bob Hooper raced across for the 27th and final Hen point.

After this last score Coach Nelson removed his seniors from the line-up, and sent his second level eleven on the field. The home team which was nearing its sixth defeat in nine games, was able to push over a touch-down in the last dying minutes of the contest. Two passes from the quarterback Hendricks, and runs by Fullback Koppes, put the ball on the Delaware 1-yard line. Hendricks plunged over from the 1. The attempt for the point was not good, and the game ended with the score Delaware 27, Bucknell 12.

As the gun sounded ending the game and the 1955 season, jubilant members of the Hen squad romped onto the field to congratulate the team. They showed their appreciation to their mentor, Coach Nelson, by elevating him to their shoulders, and before he could reach the locker room, he was rolled in the cool snow.
