Coal Shortage Continues at Delaware; "Vacation" in Sight if Strike Continues

Social Poll Conducted On Darling Coed Daughters

Regulations pertaining to the social life of women students at the University of Delaware were the object of a recent survey made by the Public Opinion class. Designed to get the views of the mothers, the poll was conducted by mail; and the interest of the mothers in the survey was evident when the response to the questionnaires was placed at 60 per cent, in contrast to the normal level of 10-20 per cent. For reasons of economy and limited time, a sample, composed of the mothers of senior and freshman girls, was chosen to receive the questionnaires.

Following are some of the questions asked, and the replies of the mothers, expressed in percentages. In cases where the quoted figures do not total 100 per cent, the remainder was registered as "no opinion."

Surprising Answers

Asked if they thought their daughters' social life at college was sufficient 83 per cent of the mothers answered "yes," while only 15 said "no." This percentage difference is reflected by the remaining questions, which were essentially a break-down of the one above.

"Do you approve of night football games in Wilmington?" 62 per cent approved; 33 per cent replied "no."

"What is your opinion of sororities?" a majority of 87 per cent signified disapproval, while only 7 per cent were in favor of sororities. Of the mothers who had attended college, 86 per cent were against sororities, or 1 per cent difference from the total. Reasons for opposition to sororities include "cause class distinctions," "are undemocratic," "cause heartaches," and "are too expensive."

Thoughts On "Lates"

When asked at what time they thought their daughters should be in the dormitories, the mothers replied as follows: weeknights, excluding Friday; 83 per cent said 10 p.m., Friday night, 49 per cent said 11 p.m. while 9 per cent predominately senior mothers indicated 1 a.m. for formal dances; Saturday night, 83 per cent wanted their daughters in between 12 and 1 a.m., indicating 12 o'clock as the preferred hour; Sunday night, 64 per cent answered 10 p.m. with no significant difference between senior and freshman mothers. Sixty-one per cent thought social affairs should end by 12 midnight, with the remaining percentages distributed from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Men and The Coed

Dances on weeknights were approved by a two to one margin of senior mothers, but 55 per cent of the freshman mothers were not in favor. The mothers were almost unanimous in approving the practice of admitting men to the lounges of the girls' dormitories, while those mothers who attended college were 100 per cent in favor of it. Only 26.4 per cent, however, approved supervised visits of girls to fraternity houses during the day, and 73.6 per cent disapproved.

27 Applicants For Men of Distinction

On February 14, the Committee on Student Honors revealed that there are twenty-seven candidates for Degrees with Distinction in the graduating class of 1949-1950.

The requirements for application for these degrees are an over all average throughout four college years of 3.0, and an average of 3.5 in the major subject. Of those students now applying, fifteen are from the School of Arts and Science, seven from the School of Engineering, and five from the School of Agriculture.

Plans Revealed For Blue Hen Stadium

Plans for the University of Delaware stadium, which will consist of forty rows of sixteen-inch-wide seats to be constructed in two opposite structures, were made public last Monday by Director of Athletics William D. Murray. The sketch of the stadium, prepared by E. William Martin, architect, shows a maximum seating capacity of 14,700 in east and west stands which are to be built at the University farm.

Said Director Murray, "The modern design of the stadium affords the maximum number of seats without any sacrifice of view. The fact that all seats will be inside the goal lines, presenting an unobstructed view of any portion of the field, would make them the choice seats in any large bowl or stadium."

At the north end of the field will

With the coal crisis still continuing, the University of Delaware is employing every possible measure to forestall a suspension of classes forced by lack of fuel to heat the University buildings.

According to a statement by Charles E. Grubb, Business Administrator, the supply of coal on hand at present is sufficient to last through the twenty-sixth of the month with weather conditions remaining as they are. He said that the University uses, under present weather conditions, over thirty tons a day to heat the 8,000,000 cubic feet of buildings occupied by the University. "We are living from day to day on our coal needs," Mr. Grubb stated.

No Coal No Classes

It was expressed by University authorities that no move toward leaving classrooms unheated and only heating dormitories was under the slightest consideration. If the coal situation remains in its present state and no more supply is forthcoming, a "vacation" will be forced. It was the opinion, however, of Dean Francis H. Squire, Dean of the University, that if such a vacation is necessary, the time will either be made up by the students at the end of the term or will be considered free time, not to be compensated for.

Less Heat on Campus

Steam pressure has been lowered at the boiler plant, but a certain amount of pressure must be maintained, Mr. Grubb said, and 18 tons of coal a day are needed to keep the fires burning in the boiler plant. Daily consumption is 30 tons in fairly mild winter weather in order to heat some 30 buildings across the mile-long campus, to supply steam for showers, kitchens, shops, laboratories, etc. If the weather turned severely cold, with high winds, the consumption would probably jump to about 50 tons.

By loading up last summer, the Business Administrator was able to acquire a record 2,319 tons at the end of October. This supply not only filled the regular storage space, but overflowed into other areas. Then the pinch of the three-day week, and the strike began to be felt. In November, 776 tons were ordered but no coal came in. Again in December no shipments were received, while 953 tons were used. In January, a sub-par 446 tons came in, but nearly twice as much—869 tons—were consumed. There has been no delivery in February. Meanwhile, all efforts to obtain coal shipments were unavailing. At present, in order to keep campus buildings heated, three carloads of coal a week, every week, for the remainder of the winter are required.

Creative Contest End Announced

Deadline for the Annual Creative Writing Contest has been announced by Mrs. Sarah B. Rogers, faculty director, for Monday, March 27.

Students interested in poetry, fiction, drama, or essay writing are invited to submit original copy in triplicate, double spaced on standard 8½" by 11" typewriter paper, with all manuscripts unsigned. An additional page with the author's name is to accompany the three copies, which should be given to Mrs. Rogers in her office at 316 University Hall. Any number of original works may be entered.

All work will be judged impartially by a committee of three members of the English department: Mrs. Rogers, Dr. Edwin Heinle, and Mr. Robert Gale. Prizes, rare editions of valuable books, will be awarded at the Honors Day Ceremonies in May.

The Annual Creative Writing Contest is the English Department's contribution to the Delaware Festival of Arts. This year marks the fifth year of the contest.

Among prize-winners in past years are: Bruce G. Laird, whose musical comedy, Party Line, is being produced by the Dramatics Department this term; Miss Lottie Mueller, who is at present writing for the advertising department of one of the nation's larger publishing firms; and Robert Lancaster, an employee in the writing department of WDEL. Many other past winners are doing graduate work toward attaining the degree of Ph.D. in English.

Prepare to relax and get soothed, you savage beasts — the occasion will be the Junior Prom, on Friday, February 24, from 9 till 1, and the head beast-soother will be warbling Patti Page (with her eyes wide open. Miss Page's lyrical ballads will be backed up by the orchestras of Matt Gillespie and Chuck Gordon, both well known purveyors of mellow ditties.

PATTI INFO

As mentioned in last week's issue (you read it, didn't you?), friend Patti has made quite a splash in the entertainment industry in the past two years. Her rise to fame has been due not so much to the aid of Lux or Wheaties as to judicious use of her husky, spine-tingling voice. Said voice has brought Miss Page from her first spot on a Tulsa, Oklahoma, radio station to her present place as "the most promising singer in the business." En route to her position as number-one gal, Miss Page appeared as featured singer on the American Broadcasting Company's Breakfast Club, and was subsequently signed by Mercury Records, along with Frankie Lane and Vic Damone. Her recordings brought her to the attention of the disc-happy public, and within a few months she was firmly established among the top tonsil-waggers of the nation. One of her earliest records, "Confess," ranked third in total retail record sales for the year, and a few months later her "So In Love" was named first in request popularity in a poll of the nation's disc jockeys.

TRAVELIN' TUNESTER

Miss Page's charms are not limited to making her vocal chords (and her audiences) vibrate. That our gal Pat is no plain canary is evident from the hit she has made with night club and television audiences. Her appearances on television for the Swift and Gulf Oil Companies have brought favorable comment throughout the land, and she has decorated the bandstands of such well-known showplaces as Chicago's Sherman Hotel, the Click in Philadelphia, the Copa in Pittsburgh, and Cafe Society in New York. Further evidence of la Page's pulchritude is her appearance as cover girl for Down Beat Magazine, the music world's Bible, in June, 1947 and December 1948.

This paragon of talent and beauty will devastate the paying guests twice during the evening, beginning at 9:15 and 12, both of which will be good times to be around, n'est-ce pas?

THE LEADER OF THE BAND

No stranger to U. of D. students is Matt Gillespie, who seconded Art Mooney so capably at last year's Prom. Gillespie has been tickling a wicked 88 since early in his beardless youth, when his father, a piano player in silent movie days, started him on his musical career. His orchestral experience began with Paul Specht, continued thru Irving Aaronson's Commanders and Benny Goodman's orchestra, and finally ended with Charlie Barnett, at which point Gillespie organized his own outstandingly successful band. His group, featuring the voices of Lou Reed and Margie Lee, specializes in "music designed for the young and those who feel young"—that should take care of just about everything, even the tired engineers.

Chuck Gordon, the young man with the horn, is building his organization into one of the country's top dance bands. Gordon whips up a satisfying blend of sweet and hot rhythm, featuring a smooth blending of his well organized brass section with piano, bass and drums. Betty Carlson, a familiar radio voice, handles the lyrics in high style.

CRASS DETAILS

That just about does it—if you miss out on all this formal, non-corsage, pure, unadulterated gaiety, you can't say that you haven't been warned. Tickets are $3.00—same as last week—and the kids are dealing them out like mad in the S. G. A. room in the Library basement.

Coal Crisis

On Thursday, February 9, the following notice was sent to all members of the faculty and staff of the University.

"Coal for ten days is all we have on hand. The big stock supply with which we started the winter is gone. None is in transit for us.

"In spite of intensive efforts to obtain shipments, the situation has become serious. We ask that you cut down on heat, shut off radiators when possible; postpone laboratory and shop projects requiring steam; shut off heat in unused spaces where freezing will not cause damage; use minimum amount of hot water for showers; and take such other means as may be possible to conserve our rapidly diminishing supply of coal."

John L. Lewis and his boys have done a good job. They are showing the whole country, right now, just exactly how powerful a union can be over the people of the United States if it does not get exactly what it wants. We're not going to argue the union question here; we'll leave that in more capable hands. But the implications of the current coal strike to the Delaware campus is our concern.

Since the above notice was sent out, additional coal supplies have been procured. A sufficient amount of fuel is on hand at present to keep the University in operation until the twenty-sixth of the month at the latest. At this writing, no more is forthcoming. What happens after the twenty-fourth?

If the coal strike is not broken by then, the University will have to close either until the strike is over or until a sufficient supply of coal is collected. Dr. Squire has indicated that the Administration does not care to subtract any forced vacation from the period of the usual Spring Recess. However, this does not mean that such a move may not be necessary. If the period which the University stays closed, if it does, is too long, it will be impossible for the time between the usual close of the term in June and the beginning of the Summer Session to be sufficient for making up the time, and it will certainly be impossible then for the time to be counted off as "free-time."

If you haven't been made boiling mad already by the coal strike, as we have, and if you don't feel annoyed at the fact that there's nothing that you as an individual can do to end the farce, perhaps this realization will make up your mind. What we can do is very little, and will probably not even be noticed, but we can show that we are doing everything we can to keep the great John L. from shutting down the University of Delaware too.

The faculty and students of the University can conserve heat to the utmost. It's no harder to turn off a radiator than to open a window. Despite Mr. Grubb's plea, windows have been open this week in every building on campus—and notably Evans Hall—"to cool off the rooms." We can conserve hot water—that helps too. We don't work for Mr. Lewis. Let's show him that we won't take orders from him either.

Letters to the Editor

There were some errors and misconceptions in Manfred I. Goldwein's letter to the editor in the last issue of The Review which ought to be corrected.

The article to which he referred was not intended as a "plant" and was honestly supplied for publicity reasons and to answer the questions of many people who were wondering if anything was being done on the Honor System and by whom.

The vote was not conclusive insofar as the adoption of a "new" system is concerned but was a decisive majority in favor of a "revised" constitution, and no attempt will be made by anyone to "force" their will on the student body. We all realize that an honor system, to work efficiently, must have at least a working majority of the student body behind it. The new constitution will be approved by the faculty and voted on by the student body.

The Honor Committee is not a self-appointed group. It has the whole-hearted support of the S. G. A. behind it. The President of the S. G. A., Wray Hushebeck, appointed three members of the S. G. A.—Barbara Thompson, Tom Runk, and Wayne Pollari—who in turn picked the other members of the committee to represent as closely as possible the divisions in the student body.

We will admit that the number of colleges having an honor system at the present time is in the minority. We will insist, however, that they are leading colleges and that their honor systems are supported and praised by anyone who has attended. Other schools are working on honor systems. In fact, the Honor Committee of the University of Utah is conducting a nation-wide poll of Universities which will, we hope, soon be available to us. Meanwhile, if anyone is interested, they can go to the college catalogue section of our own library and check such universities as Harvard, Michigan, West Point, Virginia, William and Mary, Johns Hopkins, Duke, Princeton, and Bryn Mawr. Better yet, talk to people who are going to

Somewhere In the Woods

By DON MILLER

Prologue:

Each year the Blue Hen campus buzzes with the bustle of rush week. We are at present in the midst of the annual rush week. Each fraternity tries to get the best men for their own house. The usual procedure is for the various houses to send out bids to prospective pledges and then these prospective go to the house functions and make themselves at home. Our story for the week has to do with a freshman who received bids from four different fraternities. This freshman should have been well pleased, but unwise as are most freshmen, this much sought-after prospective sent a tart note in return to the houses. The note was as follows:

"Dear Boys,

"Thank you so much for the bid, but I feel as though I could never be a brother to you all.

Signed (Miss) Frannie Evans"

Act I

Setting—various house parties on the Campus; scenes are almost all of the same vein; sets are changed very little.

Characters: Plenty—mostly upperclassmen turning on the welcome smile for visiting freshmen.

Scene I

Of the milling throngs peeping through were:

Bill Lewis and Shirley Forman; Matt Mitten and Carolyn Williams; Dave "Sure I can play bridge" Allen with Nancy "Lady in Red" Gast. Marty Forsythe with Jerry Buckson close behind, and then we see cute Nancy Lawson sitting with Sonny Hardesty in the same party were Ed Russ and Jane Sherman.

Bill Alt brought his lovely wife Elaine and she promptly became an integral part of the chorus line at the party. The all girl show was very, very.

Change of Scene

Interlude—Traffic was terrible at Topsy last Fri. eve. after the house parties broke up. Everyone in the place must have been dated. Noticed Mary Lou Bice with Jack Messick as the watchman gave out with "It's Time, girls." Doty Horly passed into Sussex about this time also leaving a very sad Bill Nicoll. By the way, what are you doing Friday night, Boots?

Scene II

Following nite—Many girls from the previous night's cast but somehow they seem to be splitting the weekend. All this after our strong admonitions.

Arriving early we saw Fran Birch with Charlie Benzel along with Dick Melver and Bootie Shiltz.

Judd Stewart, with Lucy Finn at his side, welcomed us and pointed out various celebrities at ringside; Joanne Garber and Rex Kaiser, Bob Miller and Alice Martin, Glenn Wright and Mary Lou "cardshark" Bowen, Spoff Beadle and "I'll never split a weekend" Mary Lou Conover. "Porky" Baldwin roamed around greeting all the late arrivals with Jane Marshall. Dick DiSab gave us the scoop about Squirrel pinning Dolores Germano. Didn't see Joan Bayliss but Dick said she was there; we feel cheated. On the way out to less crowded places, noticed Art Butler and Marion Fawcett, Renee Salisbury with Art Mayer, very sedate over at a corner table.

Interlude:

Joan McCain informed us that she is dated for three weeks, and so we pass the information along. Why did five girls from the third floor of Sussex spend a quiet evening last Friday?

Scene III

Moving on and on and on—Jabby wondering why it took so long to put the coats away.

Arnie Greenhouse and Sally Siskin met us and introduced us to:

Marve Goberman and Sue Milliken, George Stutman and Patsy Budner, Garry Greenstein there with Doris Weiss, Henry Galperin pinned to current sweetheart Ruth Keller.

Mark Goldman finally made the grade and dated Louise Briefman; caught a glimpse of Favel Chavin dancing with Norma Levine, Dave Goldner with Herbie Keller, Dave Goodman with Frannie "Four bids" Evans. Caught the late arrivals entering with Phyllis Sklut and Joe Glick leading, Cyd Cohen and Sam Nord, June Gross and Sanford Ackerman.

Intermission

And we have no doubt you need it.

A story appropriate to St. Valentine's Day. Who among our more athletic male students is blessed with two good friends? One who supplies the money and the other who supplies the brains when our hero makes a trip uptown to buy his best gal a Valentine? Shall we let everyone in on it, Mac?

Scene IV

And inspired by the Green Sweater Girl, the moving finger moves again. Willie Kuhn and Sue Emmett, Carla Glaeser with Harry Cannon blocked our view of the KA Kats. How four people got into such a small space we will never figure out.

Among the more interested listeners were Don Martin and Libby Dawson, Jim Evans and Marion Harper, Bill Hughes with Lois Hirsleman, Betty Jean (Eskimo)—it is more sanitary! Kinder with Jim Clower, Dick Winter and Pat Fulmer very, very cozy in one chair, Marv Eggert, swimmer in drydock, dating Janice Thompson, Dana Burch with the very nice Teel Dunn, Bill Vanneman with Sue "It makes me sneeze" Conway, Frank Tempone with Alice Jefferson, Jim "The Boy" Kearns with someone

S.G.A. Notes

The Student Government Association held its first meeting of the new term on February 9, 1950.

Wray Hushebeck, president of the S. G. A., announced that Ginny Doronham and Bob Silverman had been appointed to the Economic Services Committee. A third member is to be appointed also, subject to approval by the S. G. A.

In the near future, there may be a permanent public-address system set up in the library. It will operate from the Office of the Student Affairs Coordinator, Milt Roberts, if the plan goes into effect.

Freshman elections are coming up. Students are urged to turn out for the election. The offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer are to be filled.

Senator Caleb Boggs sent a letter to the University asking if we would want a woman student from the University of Delaware to represent the state at the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington. The S. G. A. voted that a "Miss Delaware" should be chosen by a vote. The voting will probably take place on February 27 and 28. A Delaware girl will be chosen to represent Delaware for five days beginning March 3 in Washington.

After much consultation with the local authorities and administrators, exchange of green banknotes, and fast talking, Dick managed to get back in school on prohibition. He learned many new facts of lore in Florida. For instance, coral reefs are not orange-colored marajuana, but rather precarious places made up of dead crustacean bodies. Something similar to our classrooms at the University.

This week's column is being sent to all our former associates who are now residing in penal institutions, so we're going to keep them up-to-date on the latest news. Note: All yearly dates are approximated.

1900—The century opens on a sad note with the death of the last of America's great financiers, the Dalton Brothers. Local coroner says they died of natural causes (alcoholism) and at the funeral it takes twenty men to carry the bier.

1903—Wilbur Wrong invents the first flying machine by jumping off the Washington Monument with a chicken hawk strapped to his back.

1905—Cousin Lee is born at home under strange circumstances. His mother goes to the hospital after he is born. He has a weird childhood because for ten years no one can tell whether he is a girl or a boy.

1907—Brinks of Boston sometimes known as the "Thieves After Hours Club," is robbed of several million dollars in a daring daylight escapade. Mr. Brink announces that the cardboard walls will be torn down immediately and new ones will replace them.

1910—Scientists at Las Vegas announce the solution of why the Mississippi River contains carbonated water. Professor Eight-Ball O'Cue explains it this way: "Simple, old chap, it's Desota water isn't it?"

1911—Rapid runner O'Shea navigates Niagara Falls in a beer barrel. "The ride itself wasn't too rough," says O'Shea, "but that damn beer almost made me drunk."

1913—Cousin Lee spies his first girl friend setting atop the Brooklyn Bridge dangling her feet in the water. She owns a duplex apartment, bedroom over a grocery store, and her parents leave little wedding hints around. The father sells old shoes from a push cart while mother works a rice paddy in the back yard.

1914—Ernest Hemanhaw publishes his best seller on underwater baseball. "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

1916—War is declared between the U.S. and Germany. Al Cartwright is voted "soldier of the year." Three million doughboys are sent overseas, and they leave him home to defend the country all by himself.

1918—The Armistice is signed, and the whole world rejoices with celebration. Three million doughboys return to their wives and families in the States. Cartwright is sent overseas.

1920—Chicago mobsters run wild. Flappers are the latest vogue. Brinks is robbed three times within twenty-four hours. Cousin Lee smuggles 500,000 gallons of ginger ale out of the British Dominions and makes "Canada Dry."

1924—The Juvenile Liquor Law is revoked. Moe Smith obtains a license to sell liquor to fourteen year olds. Everyone hangs out at Moe's Bohemian Rendezvous on Eighth Avenue.

The remainder of the half century will follow next week.

be the scoreboard and the clock which will in no way interfere with the possibility of setting up temporary stands at either the north or the south end. The stands will be constructed in Georgian architecture to conform with the other buildings on the campus.

The east stand, which will seat 7,200, will be 290 feet long, 85 feet deep at the base, and 38 feet high at the back. The dimensions of the west stand will be the same, except for the length which will be 101 feet. This longer stand will seat 7,520 spectators.

Provisions have been made for the additional space in the west stands and all the space in the east stands to be used later for dormitories, dining halls, and handball and squash courts. The stadium itself will not only be available for sporting events, but also it will provide space for cattle, poultry, and horticulture shows as well as concerts and other events which can be staged outdoors, thereby seating many more than would be otherwise possible.

The Alumni Association is now sponsoring a campaign to raise $150,000 toward the cost of building the stadium. Depending upon the success of the drive, construction may be started in time that the 1951 schedule of football games may be played on the new field.

The Greek Column

Phi Kappa Tau

Saturday evening, February 11, was a memorable date in current Phi Tau history for the success of her first house party of the new term. The membership banded together to present shows in the entertainment department. The first skit was by Courtney Cummings, Carl Jahn, Bob Kane, Carl Sautter, and Jack Scott. It was entitled "Shadow Surgery" in which the patient underwent several "delicate" and successful operations. Then GREAT D PUBLICATIONS, starring "The great D" (Nicholas Vitale), acted by Boyd Cook, presented a "Japonease Ambassador" in the iron curtain of Russia. Next came the heavy drama "Rummio and Juliet" starring Pierre Schiltz, as Juliet; Gil Workman, as Rummio; Hank Hammond as interpreter and M.C.; Bert Unangst, as "Moon;" and, since "music" was required, Sam Workman became a necessary evil at the keyboard in the role of "orchestra." Social chairman, Bill Webb, whipped up super delicious sandwiches in the refreshment line. Many cheers to Dr. and Mrs. Zozzora and Mr. and Mrs. Skoglund for being with us throughout the evening.

Theta Chi

Welcome back to two brothers—Bill Colonna and Shack Benoit. Flapsie Ellis found a job complete with a brand new car.

Theta Chi has a heavy social schedule ahead. A House Party this Saturday night and one the night after the Junior Prom. March 24th will find the brothers at the DuPont Country Club for their Sweetheart Formal. The Bowery Ball will wait for warmer weather until April 29th. Parties and picnics will fill in the gaps.

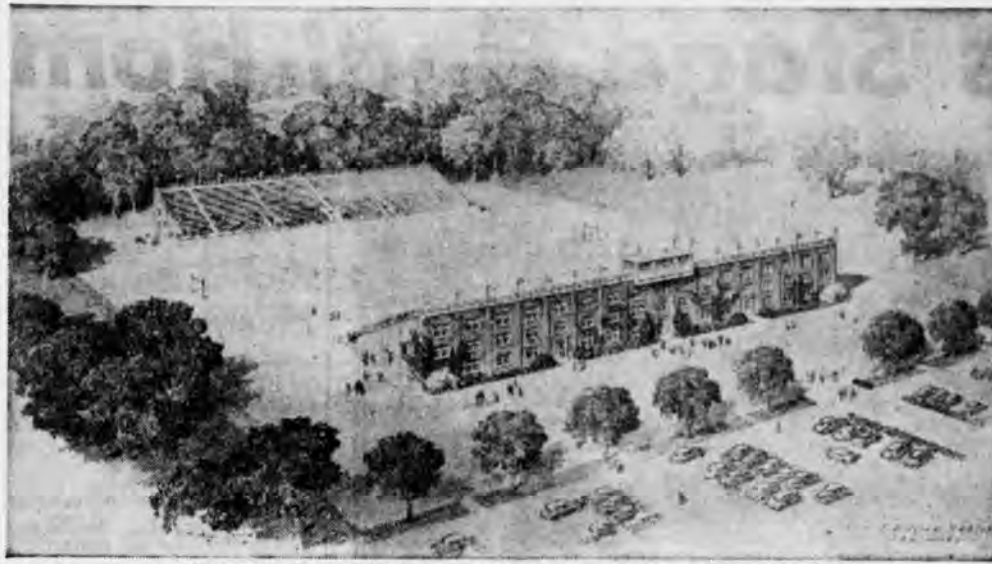

It has been great to meet so many men of the Freshman class and to be able to talk to them freely. It is encouraging to see men with the spirit and drive that Delaware needs. We hope all of them will find the fraternity that suits them best and will do the most for them in the next three years.

Full credit to swimmers Hugh Miller and Murray Campbell who again won against tough competition—Penn State.

Many Theta Chi's are working on the musical, Party Line. After reading the script and seeing and hearing the chorus, we believe this is the best that Delaware has ever seen—something worth inviting your parents to. Get your tickets early.

Last Saturday night's house party, which was attended by a number of freshman guests, went over with a bang. Considerable bangs and a lot of other noise were produced when Dave Bunin gave out on the piano and Sam Spiller sawed his violin. Sam very kindly lent his other violin to blonde and beautiful Doris Weiss who accompanied him in a violin duet of "Indian Love Song."

A recorded Dixieland Jazz Concert is being planned for early in March; the place will be the AEPI House and for the date, watch this column.

Orchids to Dave Goodman who pinned the captain of the P.M.C. wrestling team in last week's match.

Alpha Tau Omega

The rushing season is practically over now. We sincerely hope the freshmen have enjoyed the past two weeks as much as we have and are making up their minds wisely. After the house parties this coming Saturday, the Scotch tape will go on the mouths of all the fraternity men in preparation for the silent period.

Our party last Friday went over very well. This was our first party in the new house which was attended by both ladies and gentlemen. Many thanks to Dean and Mrs. Daugherty and Coach and Mrs. Murray. They were the perfect chaperones.

Celebrities such as Gene Autry, Enzo Pinza, Jerry Colona, and Archie of Duffy's Tavern have given our social chairman an O.K. to their invitation to our house party this Saturday night. How about stopping around and hearing them? Who knows? They might even bring along some friends.

Anyone with a few spare moments is cordially welcome to c'mon in and see the house.

Delta Tau Delta

To start off with the Delt's would like to extend belated congratulations to ATO on their acquirement of their new shelter and the same goes for PIKA way up there on "Quality Hill."

With Rush Week coming to a screeching halt on Saturday night, February 18th, the Delt's would like to take this opportunity to thank all the rushees for dropping by these last two weeks, and we hoped that you enjoyed being down at the House as much as we enjoyed having you.

As an extra-added attraction this Saturday night, we will have back with us, "by popular demand," Pete Fagan (class of '40) who will, no doubt, furnish us with some impromptu entertainment.

Kappa Alpha

So far K.A. has had three smokers and a house party and the Brothers have met some great lads. This rush week has been capably guided by Brothers Masten, Cowan and Scheckinger.

Last week the K.A. "Goobers" defeated the faculty team 40-37. Kinkler and Bazela wowed the fans with high score.

In the Varsity Court, Pledges Kruzinski and Utt are pacing the Blue Hens in the scoring. Dodo Kruzinski has been doing great rebound work for the Hens. This fine work really paid off as they sparked the Hens to an upset victory over Lehigh.

News has just been received that Joe Leahy is a proud father of a bouncing baby girl. Joe's expense account is going into champagne and the Di-Dee Diaper Wash. K.A. offers its heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Leahy.

Pi Kappa Alpha

The new Pi Kappa Alpha House up on "Pike's Peak" has really been boiling this past week, but before we go any further, a vote of thanks and a well done to Bob Grubbs and his remodeling crew. The Zebra Room, the Green Room, and the Gray Room are all really tops.

The brothers want to thank Dr. and Mrs. Young, Don Clements and Miss Kelly for being perfect chaperones on our opening night. Entertainment was provided by the Pi K.A. Dream Girls, emceed by Peggy Dukes. Seen in the cast were Ann MacMillan, Marilyn Kahall, Sally Bodely, Joanne Garber, Bunny Bartlett, Pat Overdeer, Teddy Hoffecker, Daurice Logue, and Elaine Alt. Feather-lax sponsored the affair.

Recently pinned "Mouse" MacMillan and Bill Thomson... Congratulations!! Thanks to Joanne and Hal Bauer for a new pledge, class of 1970. (7½ pounds)

So stop in, men, have a coke, look the place over and don't fail to meet "Pike," our new three-week-old "Heinz" mascot.

Sigma Nu

Last week was indeed a hectic and successful one for the men of Delta Kappa. Monday saw a large turnout for the first of our two rushing smokers. That same night, Phi Kappa Tau fell before a strong Sigma Nu board team.

At our second smoker, Coach "Shack" Martin spoke of the necessity of fraternity connections in collegiate life. Coach Martin emphasized the opportunities offered by such connections in later life.

A Friday night houseparty was highlighted by the stellar entertainment of Gary Carpenter and Jim "The Monster" Thomas who did an expert job of stealing the show by acting natural.

Recently the ranks of ODK were strengthened with two more Sigma Nu's by the initiation of Senator Allen Frear and Bob Van Ness.

It was announced by Dwain Watkins, house scholarship chairman, that twenty percent of our present active members made Dean's List or better last term.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Rushing has high-lighted interest around the house during the past week. The activities along this line included two smokers and a house party. Masterminds Bill Grootzinger and Roger Browning teamed up with Ralph Gesell as MC to develop a smoothly run social calendar. This trio is directing the membership in an all-out effort for the remaining events which constitute another smoker and a house party Saturday, February 18. Rushee attendance during the day greatly helped in acquainting the brothers with prospective members.

In line with the other houses, Sig Ep sponsored a trip to the Rifle Team Started By Military Dept.

Lt. Col. L. A. Zimmer, PMS&T, Military Department, was gratified with the splendid turnout of candidates for the Rifle Team. Shooting began on Tuesday, 7 February, at the Newark National Guard Armory; 26 candidates reported for team practice. All candidates "fire" every day that they report for practice. Because of the favorable turnout Col. Zimmer has decided to have the range available for practice from 1 to 5 P. M. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Thus far only ROTC students have reported for practice. Col. Zimmer wishes to stress the fact that a student need NOT be a member of the ROTC to try out for the team. The team members are headed by veteran rifleman, Bob Cherry, a junior, and Ed Cunningham, a freshman and former High School star shooter from Long Island. The candidates who have reported for practice are: Juniors: Bob Cherry; Sophomores: James Hart, William Covey, Joseph Lank, Milton Adams, Larry Lipstein, Ross Campbell, Harvey Wadman, David Kirkby, Charles Lloyd; Freshmen: Joseph Cann, Ralph Siegrist, William Howlett, Raymond Haley, Charles Rodriguez, Ernest Bosetti, William Simpson, Kenneth Rieth, John Elpper, Raymond Lewis, Paul Cochran, Edward Fielding, Edward Cunningham, Robert Starks, William Garretson, David Sheehan.

All the first year advanced students ROTC will receive their inoculations at the University student dispensary one o'clock 16 Feb. The inoculations include tetanus, typhoid and smallpox. The series of inoculations are completed prior to attending the ROTC Summer Camp.

Hustlers, ASME Sew Up Loops; Amer. League Tied

Newark, Feb. 13 (CR)—In the International League, the high-flying Hustlers turned in a 62-46 win over the Mugwumps to run their unbeaten string to six games and dump the Mugwumps into 3rd place. Although trailing 20-18 at the half, the Hustlers put on a 44 point splurge in the last two quarters to pave the way for their pennant ambitions. Diminutive Bobby Monaghan racked up 18 points to take down scoring honors for the evening, while Duval got 16 for the losers. The Hustlers have only the Faculty between them and the title. Seagram's defeated the South Side All-Stars by forfeit to move out of the cellar.

As for the National League, the K. A. Confederates dropped from contention as they were upset 52-47 by the Barons. Sharp and Swinger banged the hoop for 17 and 14 points, respectively, for the Barons while Bill Hall got 16 for the K. A.'s. Barracks "A" and Newman Club scored victories to maintain their second place tie. Barracks "A" won by forfeit from Brown Hall and the Newman club, led by Dempsey and Boyle, turned in 59-37 victory over the Steamrollers. In a battle of the cellar-dweller, the Civil Engineers defeated the Philistines, 40-33.

Burnhamen Down P.M.C. Lads by 28-8

Chester, Pa., Feb. 11.—Scoring their second straight win of the season, Coach "Whitey" Burnham's wrestlers topped the P. M. C. Cadets 28-8, in a match at Chester, Pa.

The Hens scored in six of the eight matches, winning five of them by falls. Pins in the 121 pound class by Leonard Clapp, and in the 155 pound class by Dave Goodman, gave the Birds their initial victories in these classes this season. Clapp pinned Joe Cesani, in 2 minutes 5 seconds of the 1st period, and Goodman stopped Eugene Ennis, the Cadet captain, in 1 minute, 43 seconds in the second period.

Captain Ted Youngling, although outweighed by 35 pounds, pinned Phil Radel in 1 minute 30 seconds of the first period, in the heavy-weight class.

Despite their loss, Ed Abood, P.M.C.'s 165 pound representative, pinned George Snyder in 1 minute of the second period. This was Snyder's first loss in intercollegiate competition.

In a preliminary contest a mixture of the Hen varsity and freshman teams out-wrestled the Cadet Jayvees, 20-16. Each team took matches; Delaware's were all falls. These four falls were good for the narrow margin of victory.

W.A.A.

By ARLENE MCGEE

This week finds more girls than ever signed up for the W.A.A. basketball tourneys. To date there are 155 players who have attended at least one practice. A new team from the Knoll has been entered in the Open Tourney, and Hanover, a freshman dorm, has entered three teams in the schedule.

Games will start on February 20, and each team will have possibly a 5 game schedule. Three practices will be required for eligibility. For those who have missed a practice, the gym will be open from 5:00-6:00 during the first week of the tournament for makeups.

This year the emphasis has shifted from the class teams to the other organized teams. Whereas, previously, most of the girls have gone out for their class teams, now they are supporting their dorms and clubs. Only 23 signed up for class teams compared to 132 signed up for other organized groups. This small number of players participating in class sports will necessitate two or three combined teams or else a merger with the Open Tourney.

Laura Lange, W.A.A. president, announced at an executive meeting last Tuesday, February 7, that a new point system has been set up for all girls receiving W.A.A. credit. The system works in this way: All girls participating in any W.A.A. sport receive a certain amount of points for each activity. If a girl belongs to a winning team or acts as a manager, captain, scorer, official or works in any way for Jack and his young giant killers, who are becoming more and more proficient in their unanticipated role, stashed away giant No. 6 last Saturday night (and the fifth in a row) as they took a highly-touted and flabbergasted Lehigh aggregate into the henhouse by a 57-52 tally. During the closing minutes a do-or-die spurt on the part of the Engineers was nipped in the bud by some of Johnny DeGasperis' timely tossing. Sharing the lime-light with John were Billy Utt, Frank Albera and Ray "Buddy" Kee. Billy "the butterfly" toed the charity stripe no less than nine times and came away with a skillful eight points in that department. In the meantime, "Moneybags" (who claims he never heard of Brinks) and Kee were putting on a little demonstration of their own . . . something called "backboard control." So, the Hen cagers continue to leave the pre-season skeptic agape and flatly defy the "skyscraper" clause written into the basketball requirements after Ralph Beard graduated from Kentucky.

W. Chester Trims BlueHenGymnasts

Newark, Del., Feb. 11.—The undermanned University of Delaware gymnastic team dropped its third straight meet to the West Chester State Teachers squad, 53-43, in Carpenter Field House last Saturday.

Having previously been defeated 71-25 by Navy and 77-19 by Army, the Hens had hoped to notch their first win of the season against the Teachers. The strong West Chester squad, however, refused to be easy pickings for Coach Rylander's victory-hungry musclemen. Despite their unimpressive record the Hens have shown positive signs of improvement with Carroll Mumford, George Schaeen, Jack Byam, Harold McMichael and Joe Miller, outstanding in the scoring column.

The next meet will be against the Temple Owls, who in past years have held the national collegiate championship.

Many of the leading Temple performers have matriculated, but despite this, the Owls have a host of experienced gymnasts and are once again making a serious bid for the national crown.

Hen Cagers Prove Pleasant Surprise

Coach Fred Emerson's Blue Hen basketball team is currently doing something that no other post war Delaware basketball team has been able to do. It is actually winning basketball games.

Last year under the tutelage of Mr. Joe Brunansky the Hens won only 5 of their 20 contests. This year they have already won 6 out of 10, and it appears as if they might take at least the majority of the remaining 6 games. Captain Jim McFadden has led his group of rookies through five straight victories and is intent on keeping them in first place position in the Middle Atlantic States Conference, Southern Division.

The fine showing made by the local hoopsters has surprised many observers, including Coach Emerson himself. Although he fully intended to better last year's showing, "Seed" expected the 1949-50 season to be a "getting started" affair. If his initial progress is indicative of more progress to come, Delaware can look forward to a top notch cage squad in the future.

The only important change in personnel on the team is the moving up of lanky Frank Albera to the starting quintet, replacing John DeGasperis at left forward. DeGasperis is still seeing plenty of action, but has vacated his first string spot in favor of "Moneybags" Albera, a chemical engineering junior, has teamed up very effectively with 6'5" "Dodo" Kruzinski to bottle up the defensive backboards. He has been scoring consistently and has been called "the hottest one-handed push shot in the league."

Billy Utt, a good ball handler and a terrific driving lay-up artist, has been the mainstay of the offense with an average of nearly 12 points per game. He is a great team player and is usually the instigator of one of Coach Emerson's many fine plays.

Last Wednesday night, the Delaware varsity met Ursinus College on the Carpenter Field House hardwood. In the previous meeting of

Lafayette Outwits Hen Swordsmen

Newark, Del., Feb. 11.—The University of Delaware fencing team dropped its third meet yesterday as they were edged out 14½ to 12½ by Lafayette swordsmen. Despite the fact the Hens are operating without benefit of a coach, the team is showing steady improvement in each match.

The Blue Hens won the foil event by a 5-4 score, tied in epee at 4½, and lost the foil matches, 6-3.

The team wishes to extend publicly their thanks to Dr. Starkey of the English Department who is their new faculty advisor.

Birds Drop Tough One To Penn State

Harry Rawstrom's Blue and Gold swimming team makes its final home appearance of the season this Saturday afternoon in Taylor Pool. Bowing out for good will be seven seniors who teamed with Rawstrom for the first time four years ago to begin the long, hard job of rebuilding Hen tank fortunes. Captain Bauduy Grier, Jim Baird, Murray Campbell, Hugh Dougherty, John Bishop, Keith Tracy, and Dick Murray are all scheduled for swan songs when the Hens met Drexel at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Six of the seven, Grier, Bishop, Dougherty, Baird, Campbell, and Tracy are in their fourth year of tank competition, and all of them have been instrumental in the increased success that Rawstrom has enjoyed in moving swimming out among the lads in the varsity sports race. The popular Hen mentor admitted recently that June graduation would knock the props out of his tank personnel.

Grier will go down as one of the all-time athletic greats at Delaware. The crack diver whose graceful performances of the local boards have earned him every diving laurel the state can offer, in addition

Hens Tab 6th Win Down Lehigh, 57-52

Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 12 (B.S.)—"The Fighting" Blue Hen cagers chalked up their fifth straight victory last Saturday night as they outthrust and outgained the Engineers of Lehigh by a 57-52 score on the opposition's home court. The contest marked the renewing of court relations between the Hens and the Engineers.

Although the Delaware five was outscored 18 to 17 from the penalty stripe, they flipped in 20 field goals, while the boys from Bethlehem had only 17.

The first half was a nip and tuck struggle that found the Hens on top 24 to 23. Buddy Kee, who replaced Kruzinski early in the game, teamed up with "Moneybags" Albera to dominate both backboards.

After intermission time, sharp-shooting by the Engineers' Lou Lange and Tom Van Vertloh kept Lehigh abreast of the Blue and Gold. The Hens got hot near the end of the third quarter and pulled away to a comfortable 11 point lead, thanks to the hustle of Johnny "D." Still, the home team was not to be denied, for they fired in a trio of field goals and drew within 3 points of Delaware with only two minutes left. At this point the Hens settled down and froze the ball in the final seconds.

Lange and Van Vertloh were the high scorers of the contest with 18 and 15 points respectively for the losers.

The scoring for the Blue Hens was well distributed, showing a well-balanced squad. "Hotie" Utt again paced the winners for the third straight game with 3 field goals and 8 free throws for a total of 14 points. "Buddy" Kee, in addition to his fine defensive work, was runner-up with 9 tallies.

floor of the "hanger" addition to Carpenter Field House. As a feature of the spring practice session, Coach Milt Roberts will guide the Hen stickmen against a powerful West Chester State Teacher squad. The possibility of more practice contests is being considered. If you missed the first and history making show last Friday night, you will not want to miss this chance to catch an unforgettable eye-full of "the fastest game on two feet." Employing the speed and rough house of ice hockey, the skill and stamina of basketball, and the fast breaking, body-blocking tactics of regular full field Lacrosse, it remains high on the lists of "spectator sports." Destined for universal recognition, the little brother of field Lacrosse has justly been dubbed: "the sport of the future." You can see it now. Tonight. Be sure to bundle up good and warm... no heat in the "hanger."

Harry Rawstorm's aquamariners wrap up the home swimming sessions this Saturday against a potent group of Drexel Tech mermen. This is your last chance to see one of the finest swimming teams in the history of the University in action. There will be plenty of seats on the fifty and soothing music to ease you as the teams warm up. Let's have a big turn out to wish the gang well before they make their bids in the ECSA Championships on March 11 and the EISA Championships on March 18. Five of the Hen swimmers hang up their fins with the close of this season and with them go a total of 19 varsity swimming letters. The quintet: Murray Campbell, Bauduy Grier, Johnny Bishop, Jim Baird, and Hugo Dougherty. For these men swimming had no season, tirelessly they devoted themselves to the intense training and practice that builds champions. All year long they heeded the advice of Harry Rawstorm. Now, as they make their final bow in Newark may we be unselfish enough to bid them a fond farewell. Their record? It speaks for itself. Since 1946, all but three of the event records have been smashed and splashed from the books. The retiring quintet has been essential in these achievements. For the future? Coach Rawstorm has a whole host of finmen and leading them is probably the mightiest mite in collegiate swimming circles, Hugh Miller. The 126 pound Miller stands 5'3", but has broken the school record for the breast stroke twice this season. Orchids are in order for Miller, the quintet, Coach Rawstorm and every member of 1950's unforgettable swimming team.

the two teams, up at Collegeville, Pa., the Hens won decisively and were heavily favored to repeat with another victory. Ursinus has yet to win a Middle Atlantic game.

On Saturday night, Coach Emerson will take his birds up to the mammoth Swarthmore Field House to play for the second time this season the big "Little Quakers" of Swarthmore. Much is at stake in this game, since Rieley & Co. is the only Conference team that has beaten the Hens this year.

Next Wednesday evening, Delaware meets P. M. C. on the latter's home court. This game will probably have even more significance in the league outcome than the Swarthmore game, since the Cadets are very near Delaware in the Conference race. P. M. C. is known to be deadly on their home court, and an action-packed fray is in store.

As the KA Rebels, paced by George Frederick, "Chuck" Masten and Jim McNeal handed a 57-21 setback to Sig Ep and PIKA forfeited to the Theta Chi five the crackerjack race for the American League crown was thrown into a two team deadlock. Earlier in the week Sigma Nu notched victory number five as they dropped Phi Kappa Tau 35-22. Kurt Turner led the attack for the victors with six field goals. Theta Chi and KA will settle the first place dispute on Monday evening Feb. 20 when they clash in the "big" game of the season.

SMOKE TALK

Under the sponsorship of the English Department, the third Smoke Talk of the academic year will be held in the Brown Hall Recreation Room, at 7:30, on Wednesday evening, February 22, 1950. The topic "Should We Go Ahead with the H-Bomb?" will be of interest to the student body and to the public alike.

The moderator is to be Dr. Felix B. Oppenheim, Chairman of the Political Science Department; and the two opposing student keynoters, Mr. Gordon Pirnie and Mr. Berwyn Fragner.

W.A.A. she is eligible to get additional points. After she receives 90 points she will be presented with a pin on which blue enameled W.A.A. is set on a gold background. With an additional 50 points, she will acquire a guard which consists of a blue enameled D and a gold chain.

These points are now being kept on cards which have recently been brought up to date and which will constitute a permanent record. A requisition has been signed by Miss Hartshorn and pins have been ordered.

W.A.A. has plans underway for a Play Day to be given sometime this spring. Dot Breeding, chairman of the Play Day Committee met with her members Tuesday to discuss the project. It was decided that a group of senior girls from Delaware high schools be invited to the University for one day in order that they might see what P.E. activities are being offered here, that they might meet one another, and share in the fun of a competitive sports program. At that time such indoor sports as Volley Ball, Ring Tennis, Table Tennis, Shuffleboard, Darts, Blowing, Swimming, and others will be offered.

Judy Koller, one of our senior P.E. majors meets junior, Anne Smith, in the Finals of the Table Tennis Tournament this week. Both of the gals are pretty hot, and the match promises to be an exciting one.

Camels for Mildness!

Yes, Camels are SO MILD that in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days, noted throat specialists, making weekly examinations, reported to two Middle-Atlantic championships, will be out to better his old records this weekend. He holds both the pool and school record in the one-meter dive and has broken them too many times for calculation.

Campbell is currently rated as the best swimmer in the state. He holds both the Rehoboth Mile and Lewes Breakwater distance championships and numerous state and A.A.U. titles. He is at present undefeated in the 150 yard back stroke, his specialty, and there is no one on the horizon in the Middle-Atlantic who even poses a threat to his ability. He holds the school record in his event, and this Saturday will be after the Taylor Pool mark. He'll notch his fourth varsity letter this year.

Baird, too, has been one of the mainstays in Rawstrom's success since coming to Delaware. Jim began as a freestyler, but switched to breast stroke in his sophomore year. Last year he was one of the top performers in the Middle-Atlantic Conference and also helped break the medley record on three occasions.

Dougherty will be after his fourth varsity letter this year. After an initial fling at back stroke, "Hugo" was switched to the distance events in his freshman year by Rawstrom and has been there ever since. Although his performances this winter have been somewhat of a disappointment, last year he compiled 55 points for third place on the squad. He shares the school record in the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Bishop, the crack sprinter from the pre-war Wilmington High team, has been carrying a heavy share of the freestyle duties this year. Rawstrom has been using him in three events in most of the meets, and he is currently one of the top scorers on the team. A co-holder of the school record in the 50 yard freestyle, the 400 yard relay, and the 300 yard medley relay, John's departure will leave a big gap in Rowstrom's lineup. He'll be after his third letter this year.

Both Tracy and Murray have been of great help to Rawstrom although neither has yet copped their "D." The former has been swimming distance for the past three years and has been instrumental in several Delaware victories. Murray, ineligible until last year, was handicapped by soccer training until late in the fall, but his backstroke abilities have been a blessing to the Hen team.

On Saturday, the Birds will be after their sixth victory of the season in their clash with the Dragons. In the past week, they've split even in two meets, topping Swarthmore and losing a close one to Penn State. The win over the Garnet by a 50-25 score was sweet revenge, because it marked the first Delaware swimming victory over the Quakers in four years.

The loss to Penn State was a typical Hen defeat. The birds had a terrific upset almost in their pocket, but a loss in the 440 and the final relay cost them what could have been their most important triumph. Penn State finally came out on top, 39-36, and that one, along with the Temple and Virginia losses, represent the red ink for the season. It was in the Penn State clash that Murray Campbell lowered his own record in the 150 yard backstroke to a blazing 1:42.1.
