TRYING IT ON FOR SIZE

Newark firefighters brought their ladder truck and important fire safety messages Tuesday to the McVey summer playground. Here, seven-year-old Kelly Crisconi tries on a firefighter's helmet with the help of Rand Townley, a firefighter with the Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder Company of Newark. Her playground friends look on. Townley gave the children a tour of the ladder truck and offered a variety of fire safety tips. The highlight of the visit was when Aetna firefighter Josh Givens climbed to the top of an extended 100-foot ladder and waved to the young Newarkers.

Expansion to Glasgow creates 50 new jobs

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

More than 50 jobs were created recently when a manufacturing company opened a new branch in the Glasgow area.

Raychem Corp. of Menlo Park, Calif. celebrated their grand opening Wednesday at a ceremony with Delaware Gov. Tom Carper. He welcomed the company to their new site in the Pencader Corporate Center on Del. 896 in Glasgow.

"The decision by Raychem, a leading materials science company, to relocate its Electrical Products Division from California to Newark, reflects the state's strength in attracting high-technology industries," said Gov. Carper.

"We transferred in some people from California," said Lynn Howley, marketing communications for Raychem, "but the majority of the work force has been hired locally."

Raychem came to the East Coast because they have a large concentration of customers in the Northeast. "We need to provide technical support to our customers and it made sense to be closer to them," said Howley.

Raychem officials said that the Delaware

Development Office helped them get established here. "We're delighted with Delaware," said Spencer Sias, manager of public relations at Raychem. "They encouraged us to come here and have a qualified work force."

Delaware Development spokesperson Donna Murray said they helped Raychem with training assistance.

"We coordinated a whole package of services together that made it easy for them to start up in Delaware," said Murray, "and even provided space for them to hold job interviews."

Murray said she believes every town in Delaware needs good jobs, even though the state is below the national average in unemployment. "A lot of people are looking for high quality jobs, and I believe that is what these (at Raychem) are."

Newarks of the world, unite!

By TONJA CASTANEDA

THE CITY OF NEWARK, OHIO IS inviting residents of the 30 Newarks in the world to visit their city on September 17-19.

During that time, they will be hosting the 1993 Newarks of the World Reunion—the goal being to bring together people from different Newarks to talk about their city or town.

Ray Wilson, chairman of the reunion, said 100-125 people are expected to attend. Wilson, who has visited Newark, Del., said that most people will be staying in hotels in downtown Newark, but some will stay in private homes.

Newark City Council Member Jane Tripp will be representing Newark, Del. at the reunion.

In 1991, Tripp attended a Newarks reunion in Vermont. "It was a very small town of 350 people," said Tripp. "We stayed in people's homes, because there

'Shocking' equipment could save lives

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Chances for survival from a heart attack have recently improved in Newark.

Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder Co. of Newark has purchased and placed in service three semi-automatic defibrillation units. All Aetna ambulances now are equipped with the high-tech device.

Citizens probably are familiar with the scene: a person is lying on a stretcher while paramedics work diligently to save his or her life. One paramedic gets out the ping pong-like paddles and the other attaches electrodes to the patient. Then the paramedic yells "clear" and the other puts the paddles on the patient, thus delivering a surge of electricity in hopes of jump starting the patient's heart.

What most Newarkers probably are not familiar with is that only a paramedic or a physician, who has had extensive medical training, can operate this machine.

The semi-automatic defibrillation units the company has purchased aren't termed "automatic" for no reason.

"This machine permits an ambulance crew member to apply electrodes to a patient and the device itself will analyze the patient's heartbeat and adjust itself to a pre-programmed matrix while automatically setting energy levels needed," Deputy Chief Lawrence E. Tan said.

Now, when an ambulance is called, a member of the basic life support crew can apply the electrical shock instead of waiting for a paramedic.

"National studies have shown that the earlier one can apply electrical shock to a cardiac arrest victim, the better the chance is for successful resuscitation," Tan said.

A lot of times the ambulance arrives first, Tan said, but the personnel qualified to run a defibrillation unit are not there yet.

"The AED requires a minimum amount of training and allows basic life support ability to those who can conceivably get there quicker," Tan said.

Tan said the AED program offers an opportunity to strengthen the "chain of survival" for cardiac arrest victims.

The defibrillation machine which costs about $3,000, is also capable of recording energy levels, time intervals, patient heart-beat pattern, etc., involved in a resuscitation attempt. Upon arrival to the hospital, the AED computer chip can provide a printed record for physicians.

To date, more than 25 Aetna Emergency Medical Technicians are certified in the use

Venezky denies charges

Councilwoman worries that accusations could affect future public input

By ERIC FINE

County Councilwoman Karen Venezky denied a civic leader's charges that she improperly held committee meetings behind closed doors.

Venezky, D-Newark, said accusations made by Marion Stewart could have serious consequences on the public's opportunity to participate in government.

Stewart, a long-time member of the non-partisan Civic League for New Castle County, said a committee headed by Venezky to make site recommendations for a new library in Brandywine Hundred made decisions before presenting its findings to area residents during two public hearings.

Stewart, a registered Republican, filed a Freedom of Information Act petition with Attorney General Charles Oberly last week.

Venezky said state codes permit preliminary site selection committees to hold meetings in private. "This is the first time that a

Police beat

Compiled from files of the Newark Police Department

Man attempts suicide: A 19 year-old, white male was found barely conscious in the front seat of his car in the unit block of Gravenors Lane late at night on July 18.

According to Newark Police Lt. Alex Von Koch, the man, who had left a suicide note with his ex-girlfriend, was attempting to poison himself with carbon monoxide. He was found with one end of a hose attached to his car exhaust and the other end of the hose in his car window, with tape around the window to keep out oxygen.

Police said that when the man was found, by one of his friends, the car was running, loud music was playing on the radio and a gas mask was on the floor of the car.

The friend dragged the man out of his car and was driving him to Newark Emergency Center when, in the process, he saw and successfully flagged down an ambulance on Chapel Street.

The ambulance took the man to Christiana Hospital where he was determined to be stable after being given oxygen.

Bikes stolen: A blue, 18-inch diamond back bike, valued at $650, was removed from the living room of a house in the 100 block of Wilbur Street in the early morning hours of July 16. Police said there were no signs of forced entry.

A black, Rally men's 10-speed bike worth $200 was taken from behind Downes Elementary School in the 700 block of Casho Mill Road on July 19. The bike was unlocked.

A red, 14-speed racing bike was taken from the back porch of a house in the unit block of West Delaware Avenue on July 17. The bike is valued at $500.

A black, 20-inch Paramount Series 3, 21-speed mountain bike valued at $730 was taken from a garage in the unit block of New Street on July 16 or 17. The bike was locked to itself.

Jewelry taken: Thirteen rings valued at $5,800 were taken from the bedroom of a house in the 300 block of Old Oak Drive sometime between May 21 and July 2. Lt. Von Koch said the rings were mostly gold and were wedding bands, anniversary rings and rings with diamonds and sapphires.

A one-carat diamond and silver engagement ring, a gold and diamond ornate brooch and a coral and pearl brooch, with a total value of $4,000, were taken from a house in the 200 block of Hullihen Drive sometime between February 1 and July 17.

Police do not know if the two jewelry thefts are connected.

Car stolen from dealership: A 1988 Lincoln Continental was stolen from Winner Ford in the 300 block of East Cleveland Avenue sometime between June 8 and July 17. The car is valued at $3,500.

Park Place Apartments crime spree: Someone broke a window in a 1991 Ford Escort parked in the 600 block of Lehigh Road and took a speaker box, amplifier and radar detector on July 15. Damage to the car is estimated to be $150 and the value of the items taken is $580.

A radar detector worth $85 was taken from a car parked in the 600 block of Lehigh Road on July 18 or 19.

The driver's side window of a 1988 Honda CRX was smashed by someone on July 15 or 16. The car was parked in the 600 block of Lehigh Road.

HERE'S ANOTHER REHABILITATION SUCCESS STORY

FROM THE ARBORS AT NEW CASTLE
Walter Brown of Townsend was admitted to the Arbors at New Castle last September. He was suffering from Parkinson's disease and a stroke that had left him partially paralyzed.

From the moment Walter entered the Arbors at New Castle, our medical and therapy teams went to work and mapped out a customized care plan to get Walter home as quickly as possible.

Only nine weeks later, Walter had made significant progress and could again live independently with minimal assistance. Today, Walter is back home with his wife.

Walter Brown is just one of the many success stories that are happening every day at the Arbors at New Castle. We're proud of our record, our full line of services, our excellent staff, and our ability to provide the community with the best in rehabilitative and subacute services.

City expands northern parkland

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Newark City Council unanimously approved the purchase of an eight-acre parcel on the south side of Paper Mill Road for use as parkland.

The council's July 12 decision will cost the city $272,000. City officials will apply for a little over $100,000 in state grant money set aside for parkland.

Located east of Paper Mill Farms and adjacent to the White Clay Creek, the parcel will be called Karpinski Park and is the third in a series of open space purchases authorized by residents in a 1990 bond referendum.

A total of $5.5 million was set aside for parkland, the new water treatment plant along the White Clay Creek and the new police station behind City Hall, which will be completed this summer.

The five-acre Coleman property on Valley Road and the Hynansky property, consisting of another five acres near the intersection of Chapel and Cleveland avenues, were the city's other two purchases.

"It was clear that the northern section of the city didn't have a lot of parkland," said Roy Lopata, director of planning.

Preservation of the Christina and White Clay creeks is one of the goals of the city's open space program, and about 3.5 acres of the Karpinski parcel are located in the flood plain of the White Clay, Lopata said.

City officials also will look at purchasing about two acres of open space near the intersection of Paper

Mill Road and Race Street, across from the old National Vulcanized Fiber building.

First small business panel meeting today

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A small business commission formed by the county government holds its first meeting today in the City/County Building in Wilmington. The meeting is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. July 23 on the building's eighth floor.

Karen Venezky, who represents much of the greater Newark area on the county council, will be the chairwoman. She lobbied County Executive Dennis Greenhouse to create the commission.

Members of the commission, who will meet monthly, also will include business people, and representatives of the county chamber of commerce, the Minority Business Association and the county government.

"This actually will give some of our small business people the opportunity to sit down with representatives of the county council and county administration," said Suzanne Moore, a spokeswoman for the county chamber of commerce.

County officials also can expect to benefit from the monthly meetings, Moore said. They will be able to use the commission's small business people as a sounding board for a law's impact on business.

And if small business people have problems with some of the county's building codes or any of its preliminary review processes involving development, county officials are right there to hash things out, Moore said.

"It's a benefit to both sides," she said. "We should try whenever possible to work together. We believe the general community benefits the most that way."

Commission member Janice Traynor said the needs of a small

50's drive-in plans being redone to gain city okay

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Checkers Restaurant, offering fast food such as hamburgers, fish, chicken, soda and milk shakes, could be opening in the Newark Shopping Center in as soon as 60 days after they get the okay to build from the Newark City Council. Headquartered in Clearwater, Fla., Checkers Restaurant has a 50s style concept with double drive-thru windows serving two customers at the same time. The restaurant does not have indoor seating. Checkers has twice been denied permission to build in the same row as stores located by the second Main Street entrance because they are only 17 feet from the property line and a city code requires fast food restaurants to build a minimum distance of 50 feet from the property line. According to Eric Dull, development engineer of Checkers, the plans are currently being redrawn for Checkers to be built within the code guidelines of the required 50 feet from the property line. Dull said the new plans will most likely be submitted before the Newark City Council in August. If all goes well and city council gives the restaurant the go ahead, Dull said Checkers is ready to be built. He said the Checkers Restaurant will be shipped in one piece from Florida. Then picked up by a crane and put on its foundation in the shopping center.

$10.50 not necessary for information

IF YOU RECEIVED an off-white post card from General Postage Center in Washington, D.C. asking you to send $10.50 for an unclaimed income tax refund and wondered if the card is legitimate, you're not alone.

Tony Dilorio, acting officer in charge of the Newark post office, said he is not sure how many people in the area received the postcard but said several have called or stopped by the post office to inquire if the post card is legitimate.

He said Newark postal officials were alerted to the post card when a number of people requested money orders for the same amount of $10.50. The post card is technically legitimate and not a scam, according to Harriet Williams, public affairs officer for the Internal Revenue Service.

But the catch is anyone can call the IRS directly at 1-800-829-1040 and find out if an income tax return is due them. If they have a refund coming, the IRS will get them the check for free.

Williams said anyone can get an undeliverable refund list from the IRS under the Freedom of Information Act, which makes the list a matter of public record. The list includes names and zip codes of people who have income tax refunds due them that the IRS cannot locate.

Williams said the problem is that a person who gets the card may not be the person due the refund. She said that is why the post card asks for a social security number and signature.

Anyone with questions about mail they receive which looks suspect can call postal inspection at 323-2219.

Attempts to contact the General Postage Center for comment were unsuccessful. — Tonja Castaneda

Commission

► SMALL BUSINESS, from 3A

business differ from larger companies.

Traynor of Bellevue Realty Co., developers of Suburban Plaza on Elkton Road, said for those in commercial real estate, the county needs to maintain a reputation of being easy to work with.

"Red tape bothers small business people," she said. "Often times they don't have the capability to work through it."

What does Traynor like most about the commission's membership? "The people who can really affect change are going to be sitting right there at the table," she said. She used County Planning Director Bryan Shuler and Councilman Richard Cecil as examples.

Streamlining the process will help keep small business expansion here in the county, Traynor said.

Search narrows for new NBA director

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Newark Business Association has set July 31 as their goal for naming a new economic development coordinator.

The position pays a yearly salary of $20,000, part of which is funded by the city; it carries no health-care benefit.

Marguerite Ashley, 41, whose contract the association decided not to renew last month, was the downtown merchant group's lone staff member from February 1987 until this past June.

John Wisniewski, the association's president, received 52 applications within two weeks of advertising for Ashley's replacement.

Wisniewski said a search committee, which he appointed, has since pared that number down to four.

The majority of the applicants were from a 50-mile range that includes Newark, Wilmington, Kennett Square, Pa., and New Jersey, he said.

He said two candidates would be selected by next week; interviews with the association's 13-member board will follow.

The board also will make the final selection, he said. If the candidates are deemed unsuitable by the board after the interviews, the search committee will go through the applications again.

Wisniewski said he was impressed with caliber of the people applying for the position.

So was Gene Danneman, chairman of the search committee. Danneman, who owns Gnomon Copy on Main Street and is one of the association's board members, said the qualifications her committee were seeking included marketing experience, an interest in Newark and the ability to work with a volunteer board.

The committee also wants the new staff member to have the knack for getting a variety of people to work together, she said.

The other members of the search committee are Domenick Secilia, director of the University of Delaware's Bob Carpenter Center who also is the association's vice president, Maureen Roser, an associate planner with the city of Newark, and Patricia Dunham, manager of the Newark Department Store.

The association was formed in 1986 with grant money the city receives each year from the federal government. Membership, which is made of merchants on Main Street and in the Newark Shopping Center, currently stands at 72.

The group arranges special events and promotions, and represents the merchants in matters involving the city government.

Councilwoman says panel made no decisions

► CLOSED DOORS, from 1A

committee has been empowered to involve the community," said Venezky, referring to the committee's predominantly grassroots membership.

And it could be the last. "What other council member will want to involve the local community if he or she knows there's going to be this kind of reaction? We were under no law to have public input," Venezky said.

The councilwoman also denied that her committee had taken any action, saying they were limited to making recommendations to County Executive Dennis Greenhouse and Grace Husted, director of libraries.

Stewart said Venezky's committee had decided on criteria for selecting a site and had even narrowed it down to three choices: Talley-Day Park, which is the committee's top choice, The School Data Center on Concord Pike and another site near Weldin and Foulk roads.

Venezky confirmed this but dismissed much of what Stewart said about the park's deed restricting it to "park and recreation use only." Stewart "is trying to discredit the process" because she is opposed to putting the library in the park, she said.

And in doing so Stewart is undermining everything she has stood for in the past, namely the public's right to know and to participate in government, Venezky said. In denying Stewart's charges, Venezky points to her record of having introduced ordinances regulating lobbyists and campaign financing.

The two women also disagreed on the park's deed restriction. Stewart said Ralph Cryder, who sold portions of the 45-acre park to the county in 1972 and 1975, was opposed to having a library there.

Venezky said the park's deed was transferred to the county by a Mz. Talley, who supports putting a library in the park. She said county codes permit development on parkland provided officials designate other county land for open space.

"The total acreage will not be diminished," she said. "Some other area will end up with a park." She said the library will require six to eight acres, which is minimal relative to the size of Talley-Day.

Stewart said the county received federal money for Talley-Day, making development off limits there. Moreover, she said Venezky's committee report to Greenhouse does not reflect the opposition expressed by residents during one of the hearings.

"You have to do more than have a hearing," Stewart said. "You have to listen to what the public says and respond to it."

Venezky said the hearings were taped, and also were witnessed by one of Greenhouse's aides. "We went public with everything that we did at those public hearings," she said.

Tan said Aetna was able to pay for these devices through contributions.

Port Penn Fire Co. is the only

Hockessin and Five Points fire companies are also purchasing this device.

"Aetna runs three ambulances and they're a very busy company so I believe the potential impact in survival rate is great," Tan said.

Newarkers to visit Newark

were no hotels."

She said she still keeps in touch with the people she stayed with.

"It was very interesting," said Tripp. "I made a lot of contacts and learned a lot about the town."

She said she hopes to learn how a town like Newark, Ohio, with a population of 40,000—closer to the size of Newark, runs things.

Olan Thomas, of the Newark City Council, attended the Newark reunion held in New Jersey in 1989. His plans are not set as to whether he will attend the conference this year. Thomas said the reunion in New Jersey was nice because most of the Newarkers, except New Jersey, are around the same size as Newark, Del.

"We chatted about our community and got to see another Newark," said Thomas. "There's a great deal to be learned from other communities, in particular from ones named the same as yours."

He said Newark City Council has tossed around the idea of hosting the Newark reunion here, but has not discussed it seriously.

Wilson said this is the fifth reunion and Newarkers will be represented from Texas, Vermont, Maryland, California, Missouri, Illinois, New Jersey, Newark Township, Mich. and Newark-On-Trent, Nottinghamshire, England.

Weekend activities begin Friday, Sept. 17 with registration at city hall in Newark, Ohio where displays from the different Newarkers will be set up. In the afternoon, a welcome reception will be held at the Buckingham House in Newark, Ohio.

The main event on Sunday, Sept. 19 will be to ride in and enjoy the United Way Parade in downtown Newark with a barbecue after the parade.

People interested in attending the reunion can contact Ray Wilson at (614)345-6383.

Meyer, Dickie married here on Independence Day

Enid Francoise Meyer of Newark and William Robertson Dickie of Glasgow, Scotland were married July 4, 1993.

The Rev. Samuel Greening officiated at the double-ring ceremony in Newark United Methodist Church, which was decorated with white satin bows, yellow and white flowers and yellow and white balloons outside.

The bride was given away by her father, Dale Vinton Meyer. She wore a hand-made white, off the shoulder, floor-length gown with a fitted lace bodice and a full tulle skirt, decorated with white pearls and carried a full bouquet of white roses tied with white, satin ribbons.

The maid of honor was Angela Marie DiNunzio, a friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Stephanie Dawn Schmidt and Bridget Ashley Schmidt, both cousins of the bride.

The bridesmaids wore pastel, floral patterned sundresses and wreaths of baby yellow carnations as halos in their hair. The flower girl was Renee Lynn Foltz, a friend of the bride's family.

The best man was Luis Angel Adorno, a friend of the groom.

Enid Francoise Meyer of Newark and William Robertson Dickie of Glasgow, Scotland were married July 4, 1993.

Ushers were Edward Patrick Hogan and John Tracy Byrd, both friends of the groom. The ringbearer was Zachary James Dale Meyer, brother of the bride.

The bagpipes were played before and after the ceremony outside the church.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Waterworks on the Brandywine, Wilmington. The couple left their reception in a white horse-drawn carriage.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Vinton Meyer of Newark, graduated from Newark High School and the University of Delaware with a degree in English. She currently attends The Acting Studio in New York. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Young Dickie of Glasgow, Scotland, graduated from Dundee University, Scotland. He is employed as an architect and owner of Scottish Properties, Corp. The couple will reside in Manhattan, N.Y.

CHENG TEACHES AT GEORGE WILSON

Cooking classes a big hit at Newark center

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

IF YOU LOVE ORIENTAL food, but can't afford to eat out a lot or would like to learn to make it at home, then it's time to dust off your ginsu knife and enroll in an Oriental Cooking class.

Have you ever watched a cooking show on television and wished you could eat what the chef prepares? Well, now's your chance.

Quinlan Cheng of Newark teaches an Oriental cooking class at the George Wilson Center that meets one day a week for each four-week session.

Cheng, who is originally from northern China, didn't get her start as a cooking instructor in a formal setting, but instead was drafted by Vernae Waverly, the G.W. Community Center coordinator when Cheng left her shoes behind after a Jazzercise class at the Center. Waverly seized this opportunity and asked Cheng to teach an Oriental cooking class.

Cheng is now teaching her third session to four students. Two of the students, a mother and daughter cooking duo from Newark — Marie and Cindy Breternitz, are taking Cheng's class for the second time.

Cheng demonstrates how to create two Oriental dishes each class. As the students mill about the kitchen, Cheng lines up her pre-chopped and sliced ingredients. This class, she brought some examples of exotic Oriental food and not one nose wrinkled when she put a bag of "Wood Ears or Black Fungus" (which looked like dried black mushrooms) on the table. She also brought in some dried lily flowers.

As she set up the red electric wok that is provided by the center, the students watched over her shoulder. Although Cheng does most of the cooking herself, (too many cooks spoil the broth, so they say) the students participate with the main decisions. However, when the class makes items such as egg rolls or dumplings, everyone lends a hand.

After she added the first ingredients, oil and potatoes, for this week's first course — Beef Curry — she stopped to explain what she would do next.

The class previewed the recipe to the sound of simmering potatoes in the background. When they reached the sixth ingredient — red hot chili sauce — they decided unanimously to skip it and serve it on the side for daring souls.

After the class and teacher were satisfied with the list of ingredients, Cheng then added the onions and curry powder. The combination of odors spiraled through the kitchen, out the window and into the next room where a Jazzercise class was in progress.

Two women from the class knocked meekly at the door a few minutes later to ask what smelled so good.

Cheng added the meat and other ingredients, transferred it to another plate and started on the next course, egg-fu-young.

By this time an hour had elapsed and the class was eager to try the delectables. Cheng scrambled six eggs with her chopsticks and poured them into the wok.

She then added bean sprouts, ham and shrimp to finish off the omelet-like entree.

One last duty awaited before dinner could be served — the final taste test. She balanced a piece of beef, onion and potato between two chopsticks and sampled the Beef Curry. Her smile let everyone know it was time to eat!

"This is the best part of class, getting to eat what she makes," Marie Breternitz said.

Jeffrey Williams of Newark said he likes to cook, but this was his favorite time as well.

Both dishes were a hit. The students savored their entrees with lots of "yums" and "this is delicious" interjections, but in a few minutes they were chit-chatting as a family might at dinner. The main topic was what to make next week. Everyone had suggestions, from sweet and sour pork to Chinese desserts, but the consensus was to leave the decision up to Cheng. This class has the ultimate trust in their teacher.

"Just surprise us," said Cindy Breternitz.

Cheng takes these challenges seriously. She said she was given about $76 for the second session she taught and the money went towards food. She does all the shopping herself.

"I really enjoy doing this. I don't do it for the money," Cheng said.

When dinner was over, the students cleared their plates and even lent a hand with the dishes.

The class costs $26 for Newark residents and $30 for non-residents.

This fall, the center will provide a "Crazy about Cooking" series of classes. These classes will offer a variety of cuisines for people to choose.

The Community Center Director said there will be 9 or 10 classes in the series and students will sign up for each individually.

BUNKER HILL NURSERY

Perhaps you're thinking the coming of hot weather means you've missed your chance to improve your landscape. Think again. John & Gail Cochran of Bunker Hill Nursery will design and install your custom landscape anytime. "Hot or cold weather doesn't stop us," says Gail. "We landscape year-round." Consult them and they'll provide a design for your site, then invite you to come and view the plants they've chosen for your location. Once installed, the material is guaranteed. Should something die within one year, they'll replace it. Included at no additional charge is a convenient soaker hose irrigation system, under the mulch and leading to your outdoor spigot. This makes watering of your prized landscaping virtually effortless.

Since re-locating their business from Middletown, Delaware to Chesapeake City, the Cochrans have enjoyed continued success, and appreciate the welcome they've received in Cecil County. They invite you to stop in and see their Garden Center on North Saint Augustine Road (Rte. 342) south of Chesapeake City, or call them to arrange a consultation. They serve all of Maryland, Delaware, and Pennsylvania anytime of the year.

Getting tough at NHS

WE APPLAUD THE RECENT action of the Christina Board of Education to crack down on truants at Newark High School. While worldly experience may be important to one's overall education, classroom instruction in high school is essential. Students should be in school. Period.

Strict penalties will await Newark High students who tally unexcused absences this fall. The policy that was approved by the board last week limits unexcused absences to three per marking period. Missed days due to sickness will not count against the students.

NHS principal Frank Hagen makes a good point when he notes that the new three-day policy will draw quick attention to students who miss school early in a marking period. This early warning should spark corrective intervention by Newark High administrators and teachers. Formerly, students were able to miss up to 27 days, spanning the complete school year. Of course, some students interpreted this policy to qualify them for 27 extra vacation days.

The new policy also will hold Newark High teachers accountable. A high number of unexcused absences in a particular class should cause school officials to examine the causes.

The new policy places the same emphasis on attendance as performance. School day loiterers, seen frequently this past year on Main Street and at fast food franchises, will be at their desks this fall. This is good for the students, the school and the community.

UPON MY WORD

A 'jump start' on learning to be a 'pharmaceutical consumer'

By SHIRLEY M. TARRANT
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING COLUMNIST

HE IS BATTLING prostate cancer, a leading killer of young men. until recently, blood tests for prostate cancer were aimed at men starting at 50 years of age. My 43 year-old friend, along with any other similarly diagnosed patients who are under 50, lends credence to the need to look for this life-threatening monster much earlier.

Drug therapy for metastasized prostate cancer is a very expensive proposition, my friend can tell you. His monthly injection costs $680. On top of that, he takes the required six pills daily which cost $1.25 each.

Whether you have prostate cancer or any other serious health problem, you better have a lot of money! A patient is very fortunate when complete recovery occurs. One also is fortunate if the pain or agony is significantly reduced and daily routine resumes, albeit slower and more difficult. One is quite fortunate if he/she can afford to pay for the required medicine, without having to sacrifice food off the table or clothes off the back!

The cost of prescriptions is shocking. I am confident that anyone who regularly takes a prescribed medicine will bear witness to that statement. A few months ago, I had a knee problem. As I was leaving my doctor's office with a prescription form in hand, the nurse asked what drug the doctor had prescribed for me. I had never heard of it but it was Voltaren. The nurse very kindly provided me with a three-week supply of "samples" because, in her words, "that is a very expensive drug. Each pill costs a little over a dollar." The sample packets totaled not quite the 30 tablets which had been prescribed. After depleting my samples-supplement and receiving relief along with the bargain, had the prescription filled.

The nurse was right on the money. The Voltaren cost was $35.10. I had it refilled twice (to doctor's specifications.) Yes, $1 per pill is expensive; but it worked for me. My knee wasn't keeping me awake and I wasn't limping and it felt pretty good. Not everyone has this success upon taking a drug for the first time. There are many instances where the drug is either ineffective or the side-effects outweigh the benefits. When this occurs, it makes it very difficult to accept the failure, continued pain, additional suffering, and no return on a significant cash investment!

People who take prescribed drugs on an ongoing basis really need to "get some smarts." Hopefully, through this column, I can jump-start your education as a pharmaceutical consumer.

Let's talk about generic drugs vs. brand-name drugs. My information comes from a "crash course" in recent conversations with 3 different pharmacists in 3 different local drug stores. I also read an interest-

The night the lights went out at the Electric Fair

By NANCY TURNER
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

I KNOW THE EXCITEMENT that the Delaware State Fair brings to the folks around Harrington. After months of preparation, it's the downstaters' time to shine in the proud glory of farm bounty and 3,500 kilowatts of mid-way electricity.

It was the rural South Carolinians of the Marlboro County Electric Co-op Fair that educated me in the spirit of the fair at a very early age.

The Marlboro Electric Cooperative was formed by country farmers in 1939 to electrify outlying, and predominantly poor, areas that were deemed unprofitable by Carolina Power and Light.

At the annual Electric Fair, the conversion of kerosene lamps into electric lights was celebrated under a brown "big top" with an election of the board of directors, a talent contest, and ticket drawings for at least three kitchen appliances and 2,000 light bulbs that were dispensed in the kind of white paper bags with handles that commonly appeared at roadside produce stands holding two pounds of peaches.

Folks came from miles around to watch the show, to sit in wooden folding chairs and to eat dinner from molded Dixie paper plates. Thanks to the fluttering of a hundred complementary funeral home fans, the aroma of the minced barbecue dinners transcended the vapors of hot creosote tent poles and the fresh clay where they were injected into the grassy field.

1966 was the year the lights went out at the Electric Fair. I know. I was talent contestant number eight, a second grade flapper in red sequined shimmy tassels and an ostrich boa.

It was also the year that the huge canvas tent fell on the organizer. It happened the day before the fair opened, while Flo was warming up her fanfare for "Everything is Coming up Roses" on the Hammond and dad was wiring the spotlight.

Flo was a tall, fiery redhead who was admired from afar by more than one man in tow, married or otherwise. For some reason I could never imagine dad grinning and flicking his false teeth at Flo the way he did around the house.

Turner

When the tent began to topple, Flo jumped to the ground screaming from the ten-foot stage. No one was hurt, but it was hard to say who was more badly shaken, Flo, or dad, who was caught under the bellowing canvas at the same time and knew the ribbing that awaited him from the men at Nick's Drive-In Restaurant.

The bad luck continued into fair night when local ballerina Wendy Varner was caught in a pirouette on stage when her 45 RPM record began to skip. Then, the generator went down on the popcorn concession wagon. Everyone felt sorry for Wendy, but they felt worse about

■ Saturday Night Fairs in Newark

To insure a comfortable stay for the draft contingents to be in training at Delaware College, for eight week periods, from now until June 1919, and to provide equipment for athletic sports and mental development, the plan of holding a series of fairs on Saturday nights in August, was adopted at a meeting of citizens of Newark held last evening.

■ Newark children average well

War activities in Newark shifted to the High School building on Tuesday when that part of Uncle Sam's citizenship on which he banks most strongly for the future, came up for examination. From one to five the room in the old Academy building was thronged with mothers and children awaiting their turn to go on record, in order that the nation may learn the health standard of its children. A complete canvass of the town had been made by the ladies on the local committee, revealing the fact that there are 167 children under five in Newark. Of these children, 36 had whooping cough.

■ Soldiers make use of Hostess House

A cordial welcome awaits all soldiers who visit the Hostess House, into which the New Century Club room has been converted, for the duration of the war. The rooms are open every evening from 7 to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

This column is compiled each week by staff writers Tonja Castaneda and Jennifer Rodgers from historic files.

An informal dance last evening was attended by about one hundred soldiers and townspeople.

■ Informal discussion meeting with council has no audience

Without an audience other than a pair of reporters and a municipal planner, one of the most abbreviated meetings in Newark City Council history was adjourned last Monday night at 8:10 p.m. after ten minutes.

Scheduled as a regular informal discussion period with Newark residents, the meeting was adjourned by Mayor Norma Handloff when no one appeared to occupy the seats beyond the railing in the council office of the Academy building.

Monday's meeting was the third in an informal discussion series scheduled for the third Monday of the month—and the first in which there was no audience participation.

■ Jones Reelected School Board Head with Fourth Term

Elected to his fourth term as president of the Newark Board of Education at the annual reorganizational meeting on July 9, Albert H. Jones has served on the Newark Board since July, 1964, and was reelected as a board member for a five-year term last May without opposition.

Prior to his election to the Newark School Board, Jones was a member of the Christina School District Board of Education and served as president.

■ Brookside School Site for County's Canteen Program

The New Castle County Department of Parks and Recreation, is presently offering a teen canteen program at two sites within the county.

With the cry of nothing to do or nowhere to go for teenagers and young adults during the summer evening hours, this program was initiated in a drop-in basis as a place to meet and constructively use their leisure hours.

Activities include ping-pong, dancing to records, cards, checker, chess, softball, basketball, and volleyball games, horse shoes, croquet, and arts and crafts.

■ Police see similarities in area murder and abduction attempt

The attempted abduction of a 22-year-old Newark woman along U.S. 40 last month may be linked to the murders of two Glasgow-area women within the last year.

Delaware state police spokesman, Corporal William Eubanks, said they would like to question the man involved in the attempted abduction of the Newark woman. However, the man is not a suspect in the two murders.

A 31-year-old Glasgow woman was found dead June 29 at a construction site along U.S. 40. Last Fall, the body of 23-year-old Glasgow woman was found dead in the Old Baltimore Pike industrial park near U.S. 40.

The Newark woman involved in the June 22 attempted abduction was walking along U.S. 40 when the incident occurred. Both women who were found dead walked along the highway routinely.

State fair stirs fond memories

► GRACE, from 8A

the popcorn. The professional entertainment for the evening came in the form of a magician. I befriended the aging performer backstage after showing the audience my rendition of what "five foot two, eyes of blue" could do.

His shoes showed the wear of many miles, but his black suit was neatly pressed and his manner was kind. I told him how my mother had stitched my costume weeks before the show and how we had only borrowed the expensive boa from the fabric store downtown.

His was the last act of the evening so there was time to talk over a cup of Coke with crushed ice. For a while, we were show biz comrades. He was a paid professional and I was just plain scared; but we both understood the spirit of the fair, and the spot light, and the magical place that consciousness goes when you are on stage and minutes turn into seconds and then it is all over.

He waited with me at the foot of the iron stage steps while the judge announced the results of the talent contest. Top honors went to a family gospel group and a five-year-old girl who belted Loretta Lynn's

"You Ain't Woman Enough to Take My Man."

"That's okay," he said, sensing my disappointment at not hearing my name among the winners. "You had a great act. It's sure the best Charleston I've seen."

Then he reached into his pocket and motioned for me to accept the contents from his hand.

That's when it happened. The spot lights went out and the Electric Fair tent darkened to pitch black. There was nothing to do but freeze in place by the banister and wait while the audience mumbled and groaned. I clutched the crumpled wad that the magician had placed in my hand.

A few minutes later, when the lights returned, my magic friend was gone. But to my surprise, I was holding seven dollars, a five and two one-dollar bills.

"A magician's prize! Yes, I, too, was a winner!"

The year that the lights went out at the Electric Fair will always be a bright memory for me, and an ever present reminder of the gentle people of the fair.

I can only hope that somewhere on the eastern seaboard entertainment circuit, there is still an old magician with well-worn shoes who, along with a string of silk handkerchiefs and a rabbit, has the hearts of dozens of country children in his pocket, children that for one night, in the spirit of the fair, he turned into stars.

Mid-summer thunderstorm

A quick-moving thunderstorm hit Newark early Sunday evening, uprooting trees and downing powerlines.

No major damage or injuries were reported from the storm that carried 58 mile-per-hour winds. Most Newark residents were without power for at least a short time as crews worked to restore damaged electrical lines. Some residents were without power for several hours.

Mandatory water restrictions issued

Newark water officials are moving closer to a city wide ban on non-essential water use after ordering mandatory restrictions on some of their customers this week.

'Can you afford brand names?'

► WORD, from 8A

ing pamphlet, "Generic Pharmaceuticals: A Matter of Dollars and Sense", published by the National Association of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers. It appears to me that there is a great confusion and misunderstanding about generic drugs. A lot of people think that generic drugs are "unsafe" or "not as effective."

Actually, a generic drug has the "same amount of active ingredients delivered to the body at the same time and used by the body in the same way as the name brand", according to the pamphlet.

Generic drugs are as safe and effective as brand-name drugs. They are fully regulated by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), as well as by government agencies in every state. Also, they are priced a lot lower (hold onto your seat) anywhere from 40 to 60 percent less than the brand-name drug equivalents!

I acquired some price comparisons from my pharmacist-friends for your consideration. Remember now, hold onto your seat! Consider this:

Name brand (100 Tablets)	Generic
Elavil	$74.25
Tenormin	$81.99
Inderal	$40.99
Valium	$98.99
Floralin	$50.85
Soma	$164.25
Keflex	$137.45
Bactrim	$127.80
Restoril	$64.69
Diazide	$29.99
Lopid	$96.69

According to the "Annual Prescription Survey", there are 31 generic drugs on the list of the 200 most frequently prescribed drugs, including the top two prescribed drugs: Amoxicillin and Penicillin VK.

Today, "approximately 1/3 of all prescriptions are filled with generic drugs." Why isn't this figure higher? Do doctors know if/when a generic is available? If they do know, why aren't they prescribing the generic drugs for us?

I have a prescription form (voided!) here on my desk. There are two separate "M.D. signature lines" located at the bottom of this form.

The first line indicates, "Dispense as written" and the other line indicates, "Substitution permitted". The doctor's signature on the top line would stipulate that the brand-name drug be provided; the doctor's signature on the second line would stipulate that the generic drug may be provided or substituted.

Now hear this: if the doctor signs the "substitution permitted" line, the generic drug will be provided by the pharmacist upon the patient's request.

Obviously, you must be an educated consumer in order to know that you can make such a request!

Let me ask you something; can you afford to pay brand-name prices for medication, especially those that must be taken every day for the rest of your life? If your answer is no, be sure to consult your doctor about a prescription for the generic brand, when available.

And put the savings in your piggy-bank!

An Adam-ant Snake,
A tree-twinning old rake,
Went out lusting on mid-summer Eves.
Then, the Lord cast a spell,
And confined him to hell.
Henceforth, an old rake without leaves.

A free-spending Mole
Once abandoned his hole,
And went prodigally broke in a cave.
Then, that profligate rodent,
Now aware what his dough meant,
Went back home to burrow and save.

When needed for seaming crewel the tailor was fit to be tied.

Why are there independent fish in the prison pond?
—Because they refuse to be con-trolled.

Although martini-drinking can put one in the pits, the olive grower is but a mild accessory before the fact.

On a moonlit night it would be unwise for star-crossed lavas to mate at the foot of Mount Etna.

Author's Note: Lunacies like these have been inflicted upon my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws—the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Helping those with special needs

Christina Visions preschool a stepping stone to success

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WHEN WENDY KUHL'S 4-year-old son entered Christina Visions a year ago he could only grunt. Now he talks up a storm and sings his ABC's.

Rustey Meyer's 4-year-old son entered Christina Visions after going through four day care centers that could not deal with his special needs. Meyer said her son started the program talking in monosyllables but now uses full sentences and knows how to add figures.

Because of their success in Christina Visions, a preschool program for children ages 3-4 with special needs, both are entering kindergarten in the fall.

The Christina Visions program, like a prekindergarten and more structured than day care, is a team effort made up of the school, parents and Child Find, a project required by the federal government to screen infants to young adults to see if they need special education services.

In Christina Visions, the three work together to help each child gain abilities needed to enter kindergarten.

Christina Visions is held at Maclary Elementary in Newark. The program is also available at Douglass Kindergarten in Wilmington.

Child Find representative Sally Farr said that Christina Visions will also be at another school in the Newark area starting this fall. The location is not yet known.

Kathy Calvarese, a teacher in the program, said Christina Visions teaches both children with no special needs and children with speech therapy needs, learning disabilities, problems in personal and social areas and children who have hearing, visual or physical impediments.

"The class provides socialization and builds independence and self-esteem for all kids," said Calvarese.

She said they teach children shapes, colors, hand and finger skills such as using crayons and cutting with scissors and language development with story time and group games.

Calvarese said the children's day consists of group time with songs and stories. "The story leads into the theme of the week," she said. "The children then choose different centers, such as the art table, block area, puzzles, play area with a grocery store or hat shop or the quiet library corner."

The children end their day playing outside on the playground.

Maclary teacher Pam Lewis said the program started five years ago as a day care for the children of teachers in the district.

The program has grown to what it is now and moved to Maclary two years ago.

"This (integration) is the best way," Lewis said when discussing how the Christina district helps children with special needs. She said some districts do not integrate children with special needs with those developing at the regular pace. "Kids really learn being with regular peer models," said Lewis, "and regular kids learn how to accept differences."

Calvarese added the special needs kids not only learn from peers; they teach the other kids, too. She dislikes it that some people think that the children in the class just play all day. "When they are building with blocks, they are learning social skills like sharing as well as math skills, symmetry and balance and problem solving."

The program seems to be very successful, with parents giving high praise to the system and to the teachers who help the children reach their potential.

"The teachers didn't pressure my son to do anything, but worked with him at his own pace," said Kuhl. "The teachers are excellent and they are always smiling."

She said the teachers have made her son proud of his accomplishments. "Before he couldn't tell you if something was wrong," said Kuhl, "but now he can even tell you

Target safety when teaching children about firearms

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

THIS IS NOT AN ANTI-GUN article nor is it pro-gun. Whatever your opinion about guns, please read on for the sake of your children. Like it or not, more than over 60 million gun owners in this nation own more than 200 million firearms. That's about one gun in every other U.S. household.

People own firearms for many reasons, most of them legitimate. But we live in a violent society, and guns are part of the violence that plagues this country. Gun statistics are grim. According to the National Safety Council, 230 children under the age of 15 were killed in firearm-related accidents in 1991, the most recent year for which accurate statistics are available. About 10,000 Americans between the ages of 10 and 24 are murdered or killed each year by guns.

Recently, 4-H and the Delaware State Sportsman's Association, in an effort to do something about this problem, developed a program on gun safety for school-aged children. The program was piloted in a Newark-area school. We learned some interesting facts about Newark-area residents. About one-half of all Newark residents have a gun in the home. By the time youngsters are 12 or 13, virtually all of them know where the gun and the ammunition are stored. Ten percent of kids in this age group had handled a gun without their parents permission; nearly half have found ammunition at one time. Most youngsters know where the keys to locked gun cabinets are kept.

Whether you have guns in the home or not, it's important that you talk to your children about them. Chances are that a neighbor, friend or relative has a gun to which your child will eventually be exposed. Summer is a particularly dangerous time because children are often not as closely supervised as other times of year.

As a parent you are responsible for your children's safety. You must teach them about good judgement and your values. Kids see guns on television and in the movies but have no concept of their destructive power. Don't assume that your children know the difference between what they see on the screen and in real life.

There is no perfect age to talk to kids about guns. When they start asking questions about firearms or start playing with toy guns is a good time to bring up the subject. Be honest with your children. Remove the mystique about guns. This will help them to treat guns with respect and not to view them as objects of curiosity.

I mentioned that 4-H and the Delaware State Sportsman's

Association had developed an in-school safety program. The message we delivered was simple and reinforced: STOP, DON'T TOUCH, LEAVE THE AREA, TELL AN ADULT. The first two steps are the most important. Naturally, kids are attracted to a gun when they see it. To counter this impulse, impress this step of the safety message upon your child. Since constant supervision is not possible, the directive to leave the area is important. Even if another child remains to handle the gun, at least an innocent bystander will not be injured. The directive to tell an adult emphasizes that kids should seek out a trustworthy adult if a parent is not available. This will remove the temptation to return to look at the gun or touch it.

We're all concerned with personal safety and want to protect our families. Sometimes people do foolish things. I know of several instances in which the father travels a great deal, so the mother keeps a loaded gun with the safety on under the bed. In another household, a loaded gun is kept on a shelf in the front closet. Don't kid yourself into thinking that children don't know where these guns are. If you must have a gun in the home, make sure that it is unloaded and stored securely. Keep the ammunition locked up in a separate location.

You have a responsibility as a parent to ensure that your children never encounter a loaded firearm. The precautions you take must be nothing short of totally effective. If you have any kind of a firearm in your home, take time today to review your safety precautions.

If you would like more information on firearms safety, 4-H offers Guide to Gun Safety." To receive a copy write to: 4-H Gun Safety, University of Delaware, 035 Townsend Hall, Newark DE 19717-1303.

Obituaries

A. Ward France

Newark resident, A. Ward France, died Wednesday, July 7, 1993, in Millcroft Health Care Center, where he was a patient for two years.

Mr. France, 96 was dean emeritus of Philadelphia College of Textiles & Science faculty.

A native of Conshohocken, Pa., Mr. France grew up in Philadelphia and lived in Wyncote, Pa., before moving to Newark. He graduated with honors from Pennsylvania State University and Philadelphia Textile School, now Philadelphia College of Textiles & Science.

After graduating, he worked at several woolen mills in the United States and Canada. He became a professor and head of the wool and worsted department at Philadelphia Textile School in 1935, and from 1953 to 1962 was also dean of the faculty.

After retiring, he continued to lecture for several years and assist-he wants a peanut butter sandwich."

Meyer said when she found the program, she had been needing to reach out for help with her son.

"The teachers brought my son from pointing to objects to being able to communicate," said Meyer.

Meyer said her family, who was going to move below the Chesapeake & Delaware canal, will not move out of the district because the program is so good.

"Parents are considered a big part of the team," she said.

Meyer said parents with children who have special needs often end up taking their child one place for sports, another for speech therapy and so on. "Here at Maclary Elementary, where the program is, it's all together," said Meyer. "What they have done with my son, it's been wonderful."

The fee for the program, which in some cases has funding available, costs $90 a month for three or $150 for five half-days a week.

Frank McWhorter, 89, operated Main St. eatery

Frank S. McWhorter, co-founder of Newark's Post House restaurant, died Saturday, July 17, 1993, of cancer at home.

Mr. McWhorter, 89, opened the first Post House restaurant in Oxford, Pa. with Jack Brady, with whom he worked at Borden Ice Cream Co. in 1947. They opened another restaurant on Main Street here and then two more in Wilmington at 43rd and Market streets and at 105 N. Union St. and 1722 Pennsylvania Ave.

Mr. McWhorter sold the Main Street restaurant in 1990 and moved to Sarasota, Fla. in 1991.

He served on the board of directors of Southern Chester County Medical Center, Jenersville, Pa., for 33 years and the Zoning Board of Penn Township in Pennsylvania.

His wife, Nellie P., died in 1990. He is survived by a daughter, Susan Schulz of Newark; a sister, Alice Kappel of Sarasota; and two grandchildren.

A memorial service was held at Chandler Funeral Home Wednesday, July 21, 1993.

Burial was private. The family suggests contributions to Southern Chester County Medical Center, Jenersville.

ing with curricula and class scheduling.

The college awarded him an honorary doctor of textiles, and in 1978 recognized him for his 43 years of service.

He is survived by his wife of 70 years, Ruth Saurman France of Millcroft Retirement Community; two daughters, Alice F. Bowditch and Ruthanna Lightcap, both of Elkton, Md.; five grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was held July 24 at Barry Rowland Funeral Home, Abington Pa.

The family suggests contributions to E.W. and A. Ward France scholarship fund, Philadelphia College of Textiles & Science, Philadelphia, Pa.

Samuel Buchanan

Newark resident, Samuel P. Buchanan died Monday, July 12, 1993, of a heart attack in Christiana Hospital after becoming ill at home.

Mr. Buchanan, 59, taught physical education and driver training in Cecil County (Md.) schools for 28 years. He retired in 1987. He also coached soccer, wrestling, baseball and football.

He was a member of Memorial Post 8175, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Elkton, Md; Susquehanna Post 135, American Legion, Perryville, Md.; and Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 1578, New Castle.

He was an Army veteran of the Korean War.

He graduated from Coeburn (Va.) High School and in 1959, from East Tennessee State University.

He is survived by a son, Samuel

P. II of Aston, Pa.; two daughters, Anita M. Neader and Lois E. Morton, both of Statesville, N.C.; seven brothers, Harold, Joe and Jack, all of Coeburn, Jimmy of Batavia, Ohio, Earl of Norwood, Ohio, Roy of Cleveland and Dean of Labbanon, Va.; four sisters, Martha Bond of Coeburn, Kay Allen of New Richmond, Ohio, Midred Forester of Portsmouth, Va., and Ann Greer of Titusville, Fla.; and five grandchildren.

A service was held Friday, July 16, at Hicks Home for funerals, Elkton.

Burial, with military honors, was at American Legion Post, Rising Sun, Md.

Naomi I. O'Brien

Newark resident, Naomi I. O'Brien died Tuesday, July 13, 1993, of lung failure in Arbors at New Castle nursing home.

Mrs. O'Brien, 61, a homemaker, was born in Galesburg, Ill., and lived in Cheyenne, Wyo. before moving to Delaware in 1988.

She is survived by two sons, Bradley of Everett, Wash., and Daniel of Newark; two daughters, April Stendal of Fort Collins, Colo., and Charlene Whistel-Piechocki of Newark, with whom she had lived for four years; her father, Roy White of Cheyenne; a brother, Curtis Wright of Cheyenne; a sister, Deanna DeWitt of Cheyenne; and six grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Friday, July 16, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Burial was private. The family suggest contributions to Delaware Lung Association.

Timothy McCauley

Newark resident, Timothy Francis McCauley died Thursday, July 15, 1993, in Christiana Hospital, after becoming ill at a friend's home. The cause of death is being determined by the state Medical Examiner's Office.

Mr. McCauley, 30, was a carpenter at Griffin Construction Co., Newark. He enjoyed music, fishing, and motorcycles.

He is survived by his parents, Francis P. and Marlene F. McCauley of Newark; five brothers, James J., Daniel J., Patrick A., John R. and Joseph D., all of Newark; and four sisters, Kelly P. Ferrell and Karen A. Stare, both of Newark, Kathleen Lynn of Wilmington and Kasey E. Sowa of New Castle.

The Rev. Richard Reissmann officiated at a Mass of Christian Burial at St. John's Holy Angels Catholic Church. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery, Kirkwood Highway.

The family suggest contributions to Holy Angles Parochial School, Newark.

Irma L. Hopkins

Newark resident, Irma L. Hopkins died Friday, July 16, 1993 of cancer at Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Hopkins was a homemaker. She was born in Mohawk, W. Va.

She had worked for several years at Chrysler Corp.'s assembly plant, Newark. While in high school, she worked as a clerk at Neighbor's drug store, Newark. She was a former member of the ladies auxiliary of Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder Co. She is survived by her husband, Richard C.; a son, Mark K. at home; a daughter, Deborah A. Couden of Newark; her mother, Grace I. Mutter of Newark; a sister, Audra Mullins of Clarksville, Va.; and a grandson. A graveside service was held Monday in Gracelawn Memorial Park, Minquadele. The family suggest contributions to American Cancer Society.

James E. Powell

Former Newark resident, James E. Powell, died Friday, July 16, 1993, of heart failure in Christiana Hospital, where he was a patient.

Mr. Powell, 82, was a railroad engineer, retiring in 1973 after about 32 years. He worked for Canton Railroad, and earlier, Pennsylvania Railroad, both in Baltimore, and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He enjoyed checkers.

He moved from Baltimore to Newark in 1987. His wife, Rachel, died in 1987. He is survived by a son, James M. of Morgantown; a daughter, Janice E. Bendeck of Newark, a sister, Mae Morris of Morgantown; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Jeff Dandoy of First Presbyterian Church, Newark, officiated at a graveside service Monday, July 19, in Head of Christiana Cemetery.

Square dance

The 2x4 Square Dance Club will hold a dance on Friday, July 23 from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at St. Mark's Methodist Church, 1700 Limestone Road. Admission is $3.50. For more information, call 731-4147.

Southern gospel

"The Mullins" from Stockbridge, Ga. will perform a Southern gospel concert on Friday, July 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Praise Assembly, 1421 Old Baltimore Pike, Newark. Admission is free.

CREMATION: GET THE FACTS

Many people are unaware of their options for cremation services through a funeral home. It is often assumed that the customary funeral home/mortuary is more expensive.

NOT SO!

Our free booklet, "Understanding Cremation", presents the facts about cremation and your choices... and we will gladly provide information on our services and prices.

Salads are as important to meal as the main course

IN EUROPE SALADS ARE not seen as part of the main meal, but as a separate course.

What a lovely thing it is to offer a salad plate between an appetizer course and the entrée. It lengthens the dinnertime, raises the event of the table and refreshes the palate.

So serve salads separately and enjoy!

GREEK SALAD

This salad, common at good Greek restaurants, is a great favorite of my family.

If you make a gigantic version it will provide a grand summer evening meal. Serve with crunchy bread.

Cherry tomatoes, cut up
White or yellow onions, cut into thin slices
Green peppers, sliced
Greek olives
Feta cheese, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Oregano to taste
Basic Fennel Dressing (recipe below)

Mix the cherry tomatoes, white or yellow onions and green peppers. Add some Greek olives and feta cheese.

Toss with salt and pepper, a little oregano and the fennel dressing. Serve over a bed of torn lettuce.

BASIC FENNEL DRESSING (makes 2 cups)

Bottled dressing are strong in flavor and high in price. Prepare a basic dressing and leave it in your refrigerator. It keeps well.

1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup peanut oil
1/2 cup red-wine vinegar
1/2 cup white vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar or more to taste
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon fennel, ground
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/8 cup dried parsley
Salt and pepper to taste

Blend the oils and the vinegars. Add a little sugar, mustard and fennel. Add some lemon juice, parsley, salt and pepper.

SPINACH SALAD (serves 6)

A good spinach salad is a marvelous thing. Try this one with the Fennel Dressing or any of your favorite dressings.

3 bunches spinach, cleaned and torn

6 green onions, chopped
6 slices bacon, diced and fried crisp
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 cup mung bean sprouts
Basic fennel dressing (recipe above)
Fresh-grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Sunflower seeds (optional)

Toss the spinach with the green onions, bacon, mushrooms and mung bean sprouts.

Toss with the fennel dressing and top with the Parmesan or Romano cheese, salt and pepper.

Add some fresh sunflower seeds and you'll create a great hit!

JAPANESE CUCUMBER AND CRAB SALAD (serves 6)

This is a very delicate and unusual salad. Don't be put off by the salt; it is used to draw water from the cucumbers, then drained off.

4 cucumbers, sliced thin, unpeeled
1 tablespoon salt
1 6-ounce can of crab

DRESSING

1/4 cup light soy sauce
1/8 cup rice-wine vinegar
1/2 tablespoon sesame oil
Pinch of sugar

Mix the cucumbers with salt. Place in a colander and the salt and water will drain off. Drain for about 45 minutes.

Mix the cucumbers with the crab.

Make a dressing of the light soy sauce, rice wine vinegar, sesame oil and sugar. Toss with the crab and serve.

BROCCOLI AND CHICKEN SALAD (serves 4 as dinner, more as a side salad)

This one is great for dinner parties in the summer. It's a whole meal.

2 heads broccoli
2 tablespoons peanut oil
2 to 3 chicken breasts
Cottage cheese and dill dressing, refrigerated (recipe below)
1 cup parsley, chopped
4 green onions, chopped

Clean the broccoli and trim off the toughest parts of the stems. Cut the upper parts of the stems and the tops into small pieces or flowerets.

THE FRUGAL GOURMET

By JEFF SMITH

Blanch in boiling water with the peanut oil.

Simmer for about 5 minutes, then drain and plunge the broccoli into cold water. Drain and chill.

Cook the chicken breasts by either roasting or poaching. Debone, cut up and chill.

Assemble the salad, add the parsley and onions, toss with the dressing and serve.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND DILL DRESSING (makes 1 1/2 cups)

Simple, quick and much lighter than the usual bleu cheese dressing.

1/2 cup low-fat cottage cheese
1/2 cup low-fat mayonnaise
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar or lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon sugar
Salt and fresh-cracked pepper to taste
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon dried dill weed

Blend together all ingredients. Let sit for 1 day in the refrigerator before serving.

NORWEGIAN SPAGHETTI SALAD WITH SHRIMP (serves 8)

Don't ask me to prove this is really Norwegian. I developed this salad, then decided it tasted like something a Norwegian would love. I love it—and I am Norwegian. So it has to be genuine!

1/2 pound thin spaghetti
1 20-ounce bag frozen peas and carrots
Dill and Caper Dressing (recipe below)
1/2 pound cooked salad or cocktail shrimp
Parsley

Cook the pasta, rinse in cold water, drain and chill.

Rinse the frozen peas and carrots in hot tap water until defrosted. Drain and chill.

Mix the dressing with the pasta and peas and carrots. Garnish with the shrimp and parsley.

DILL AND CAPER DRESSING (makes 2 1/2 cups)

3/4 cup regular or low-fat mayonnaise
3/4 cup sour cream or yogurt
2 dill pickles, chopped
1 to 2 tablespoons capers
4 green onions, chopped
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
Salt and pepper to taste

Blend all ingredients together and refrigerate for a few hours before serving.

PEA SALAD WITH BACON (serves 8 as a side salad, fewer as a whole-meal salad)

Satisfying, tasty and not at all heavy.

1 20-ounce bag frozen peas
8 slices bacon
1/4 cup green onions, chipped
Lettuce

DRESSING

1/4 cup sour cream
1/4 cup regular or low-fat mayonnaise
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Dried dill weed to taste (optional)

Prepare the dressing by combining all its ingredients.

Rinse the peas in hot tap water until defrosted; drain and chill.

Cook the bacon and chop it up. Mix all together with the onions and serve on a lettuce bed.

STEAK SALAD (serves 4)

This may seem a bit strange to you, but I assure you it is delicious. The steak is served warm with the dressing.

1 1/2 pounds round steak, cut into 1 1/4-inch cubes

DRESSING

1/4 cup regular or low-fat mayon-

naise
1/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/8 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
Lettuce
2 eggs, hard-boiled
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
Salt and pepper to taste

For Over A Decade, BAQUACIL Users Have Proven That There's More To Their Pools Than Work.

It's been over 10 years since we introduced pool owners to chlorine-free BAQUACIL. And it's been effectively sanitizing and making their pools sparkling clear ever since. Proving the world over that there's more to a pool than work.

BAQUACIL's easy to use - just pour it in. More stable than chlorine - test just once a week. Longer lasting - so you add it just once every 10 to 14 days.

And because of its proven biguanide chemistry, there's no odor, no eye or skin irritation, no faded hair or swimsuits. No hassles, period. Maybe that's why 88% of all BAQUACIL families say they're happy they switched.

BAQUACIL is the original chlorine-free system of pool water treatment. No other system offers more. And no dealer knows more about it than your Authorized BAQUACIL pool professional.

Accept no substitutes. Stop by the dealer near you and learn more about the chlorine-free chemistry that's been proven in all types of pools for over a decade. Trust the original. Trust BAQUACIL.

Zia's Pastaria!

A New Restaurant Opens on Kirkwood Highway

Kirkwood Highway is home to another new restaurant. Zia's Pastaria, a casual Italian Restaurant at Kirkwood Highway and Farrand Drive, across from Sheehy Ford, opened its doors and welcomed new customers in April, after several months of renovation at the site.

The new restaurant boasts the colors of the Italian flag. A red, white and green exterior translates to red, white, and green umbrellas floating over dining tables inside, creating an impression that one is dining in an outdoor cafe in Italy. The photos on the walls are real — they depict scenes from Venice and Rome. Tables are covered with traditional old-world Italian style red-and-white checked cloths.

Zia's is owned by brothers Pete and Alex Bubas. The Bubas brothers come from a family which has been in the restaurant business for over 70 years. Zia's on Kirkwood Highway is the second Zia's location. The Bubas brothers opened the original Zia's Pastaria in Salisbury, Maryland, in 1991.

"We are small business owners," says Alex Bubas, "we believe our restaurants are successful because we live and work according to this philosophy: 'take care of the customers.'" "We understand what is important to our customers," Pete Bubas adds, "good food, a welcoming atmosphere, affordable prices,

and friendly service."

"As business owners, we believe in giving something to the community where we do business," Alex states. "This summer, Zia's is donating 1,000 meals to Delaware's statewide Summer Food Service Program to help feed children from low-income homes," Pete explains. "The program is administered through the Department of Public Instruction and is funded by the Food and Nutrition Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. These children will have a good, healthy, balanced meal by eating at our restaurant, and that makes us feel good."

The menu includes a selection of Italian appetizers to begin either lunch or dinner. Zia's "Italian Wedding Soup" is a compliment to any meal, and free refills on the soup make it a good value. The "unlimited family-style salad bowl" is served with homemade house dressing.

Lunch customers can choose from various chilled salad plates, pasta dishes, sandwiches, pizza, and favorites like chicken, veal, or eggplant parmigiana. For dinner, the menu expands to include oven baked favorites, special veal and steak dishes, and chicken and seafood. They offer six sauces that come from recipes which are found throughout various regions of Italy. Free refills on soup, salad, and breadsticks, as well as soda, iced tea, and coffee are an added value.

"We believe that Zia's lively Italian spirit makes it a comfortable and inviting place to eat," Pete says. "At Zia's a person would feel comfortable in a shirt and tie, or in a T-shirt and shorts."

"Zia's is perfect for a business luncheon with an associate or a group, or for dinner with the entire family," Alex adds. "We even have two large dining rooms for very large parties or groups."

Salads are as important to meal as the main course

IN EUROPE SALADS ARE not seen as part of the main meal, but as a separate course.

What a lovely thing it is to offer a salad plate between an appetizer course and the entree. It lengthens the dinnertime, raises the event of the table and refreshes the palate.

So serve salads separately and enjoy!

GREEK SALAD

This salad, common at good Greek restaurants, is a great favorite of my family.

If you make a gigantic version it will provide a grand summer evening meal. Serve with crunchy bread.

Cherry tomatoes, cut up
White or yellow onions, cut into thin slices
Green peppers, sliced
Greek olives
Feta cheese, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Oregano to taste
Basic Fennel Dressing (recipe below)

Mix the cherry tomatoes, white or yellow onions and green peppers. Add some Greek olives and feta cheese.

Toss with salt and pepper, a little oregano and the fennel dressing. Serve over a bed of torn lettuce.

BASIC FENNEL DRESSING (makes 2 cups)

Bottled dressing are strong in flavor and high in price. Prepare a basic dressing and leave it in your refrigerator. It keeps well.

1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup peanut oil
1/2 cup red-wine vinegar
1/2 cup white vinegar
1/2 cup sugar or more to taste
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon fennel, ground
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/8 cup dried parsley
Salt and pepper to taste

Blend the oils and the vinegars. Add a little sugar, mustard and fennel. Add some lemon juice, parsley, salt and pepper.

SPINACH SALAD (serves 6)

A good spinach salad is a marvelous thing. Try this one with the Fennel Dressing or any of your favorite dressings.

3 bunches spinach, cleaned and torn

6 green onions, chopped
6 slices bacon, diced and fried crisp
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 cup mung bean sprouts
Basic fennel dressing (recipe above)
Fresh-grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Sunflower seeds (optional)

Toss the spinach with the green onions, bacon, mushrooms and mung bean sprouts.

Toss with the fennel dressing and top with the Parmesan or Romano cheese, salt and pepper.

Add some fresh sunflower seeds and you'll create a great hit!

JAPANESE CUCUMBER AND CRAB SALAD (serves 6)

This is a very delicate and unusual salad. Don't be put off by the salt; it is used to draw water from the cucumbers, then drained off.

4 cucumbers, sliced thin, unpeeled
1 tablespoon salt
1 6-ounce can of crab

DRESSING

1/4 cup light soy sauce
1/8 cup rice-wine vinegar
1/2 tablespoon sesame oil
Pinch of sugar

Mix the cucumbers with salt. Place in a colander and the salt and water will drain off. Drain for about 45 minutes.

Mix the cucumbers with the crab.

Make a dressing of the light soy sauce, rice wine vinegar, sesame oil and sugar. Toss with the crab and serve.

BROCCOLI AND CHICKEN SALAD (serves 4 as dinner, more as a side salad)

This one is great for dinner parties in the summer. It's a whole meal.

2 heads broccoli
2 tablespoons peanut oil
2 to 3 chicken breasts
Cottage cheese and dill dressing, refrigerated (recipe below)
1 cup parsley, chopped
4 green onions, chopped

Clean the broccoli and trim off the toughest parts of the stems. Cut the upper parts of the stems and the tops into small pieces or flowerets.

THE FRUGAL GOURMET

By JEFF SMITH

Blanch in boiling water with the peanut oil.

Simmer for about 5 minutes, then drain and plunge the broccoli into cold water. Drain and chill.

Cook the chicken breasts by either roasting or poaching. Debone, cut up and chill.

Assemble the salad, add the parsley and onions, toss with the dressing and serve.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND DILL DRESSING (makes 1 1/2 cups)

Simple, quick and much lighter than the usual bleu cheese dressing.

1/2 cup low-fat cottage cheese
1/2 cup low-fat mayonnaise
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar or lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon sugar
Salt and fresh-cracked pepper to taste
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon dried dill weed

NORWEGIAN SPAGHETTI SALAD WITH SHRIMP (serves 8)

Don't ask me to prove this is really Norwegian. I developed this salad, then decided it tasted like something a Norwegian would love. I love it—and I am Norwegian. So it has to be genuine!

1/2 pound thin spaghetti
1 20-ounce bag frozen peas and carrots
Dill and Caper Dressing (recipe below)
1/2 pound cooked salad or cocktail shrimp
Parsley

Cook the pasta, rinse in cold water, drain and chill.

Rinse the frozen peas and carrots in hot tap water until defrosted. Drain and chill.

Mix the dressing with the pasta and peas and carrots. Garnish with the shrimp and parsley.

DILL AND CAPER DRESSING (makes 2 1/2 cups)

3/4 cup regular or low-fat mayonnaise
3/4 cup sour cream or yogurt
2 dill pickles, chopped
1 to 2 tablespoons capers
4 green onions, chopped
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
Salt and pepper to taste

Blend all ingredients together and refrigerate for a few hours before serving.

PEA SALAD WITH BACON (serves 8 as a side salad, fewer as a whole-meal salad)

Satisfying, tasty and not at all heavy.
1 20-ounce bag frozen peas
8 slices bacon
1/4 cup green onions, chipped
Lettuce

DRESSING

1/4 cup sour cream
1/4 cup regular or low-fat mayonnaise
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Dried dill weed to taste (optional)

Prepare the dressing by combining all its ingredients. Rinse the peas in hot tap water until defrosted; drain and chill.

Cook the bacon and chop it up. Mix all together with the onions and serve on a lettuce bed.

STEAK SALAD (serves 4)

This may seem a bit strange to you, but I assure you it is delicious. The steak is served warm with the dressing.

1 1/2 pounds round steak, cut into 1 1/4-inch cubes

DRESSING

1/4 cup regular or low-fat mayon-

naise
1/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/8 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
Lettuce
2 eggs, hard-boiled
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
Salt and pepper to taste

For Over A Decade, BAQUACIL Users Have Proven That There's More To Their Pools Than Work.

It's been over 10 years since we introduced pool owners to chlorine-free BAQUACIL. And it's been effectively sanitizing and making their pools sparkling clear ever since. Proving the world over that there's more to a pool than work.

BAQUACIL's easy to use - just pour it in. More stable than chlorine - test just once a week. Longer lasting - so you add it just once every 10 to 14 days.

And because of its proven biguanide chemistry, there's no odor, no eye or skin irritation, no faded hair or swimsuits. No hassles, period. Maybe that's why 93% of all BAQUACIL families say they're happy they switched.

BAQUACIL is the original chlorine-free system of pool water treatment. No other system offers more. And no dealer knows more about it than your Authorized BAQUACIL pool professional.

Accept no substitutes. Stop by the dealer near you and learn more about the chlorine-free chemistry that's been proven in all types of pools for over a decade. Trust the original. Trust BAQUACIL.

Zia's Pastaria!

A New Restaurant Opens on Kirkwood Highway

Kirkwood Highway is home to another new restaurant. Zia's Pastaria, a casual Italian Restaurant at Kirkwood Highway and Farrand Drive, across from Sheehy Ford, opened its doors and welcomed new customers in April, after several months of renovation at the site.

The new restaurant boasts the colors of the Italian flag. A red, white and green exterior translates to red, white, and green umbrellas floating over dining tables inside, creating an impression that one is dining in an outdoor cafe in Italy. The photos on the walls are real - they depict scenes from Venice and Rome. Tables are covered with traditional old-world Italian style red-and-white checked cloths.

Zia's is owned by brothers Pete and Alex Bubas. The Bubas brothers come from a family which has been in the restaurant business for over 70 years. Zia's on Kirkwood Highway is the second Zia's location. The Bubas brothers opened the original Zia's Pastaria in Salisbury, Maryland, in 1991.

"We are small business owners," says Alex Bubas, "we believe our restaurants are successful because we live and work according to this philosophy: 'take care of the customers.'" "We understand what is important to our customers," Pete Bubas adds, "good food, a welcoming atmosphere, affordable prices,

and friendly service."

"As business owners, we believe in giving something to the community where we do business," Alex states. "This summer, Zia's is donating 1,000 meals to Delaware's statewide Summer Food Service Program to help feed children from low-income homes," Pete explains. "The program is administered through the Department of Public Instruction and is funded by the Food and Nutrition Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. These children will have a good, healthy, balanced meal by eating at our restaurant, and that makes us feel good."

The menu includes a selection of Italian appetizers to begin either lunch or dinner. Zia's "Italian Wedding Soup" is a compliment to any meal, and free refills on the soup make it a good value. The "unlimited family-style salad bowl" is served with homemade house dressing.

Lunch customers can choose from various chilled salad plates, pasta dishes, sandwiches, pizza, and favorites like chicken, veal, or eggplant parmigiana. For dinner, the menu expands to include oven baked favorites, special veal and steak dishes, and chicken and seafood. They offer six sauces that come from recipes which are found throughout various regions of Italy. Free refills on soup, salad, and breadsticks, as well as soda, iced tea, and coffee are an added value.

"We believe that Zia's lively Italian spirit makes it a comfortable and inviting place to eat," Pete says. "At Zia's a person would feel comfortable in a shirt and tie, or in a T-shirt and shorts."

"Zia's is perfect for a business luncheon with an associate or a group, or for dinner with the entire family," Alex adds. "We even have two large dining rooms for very large parties or groups."

'Mysteries' of opera opened at all in '93-94

WHEN ROBERT DRIVER took over as general director of the Opera Company of Philadelphia, he promised more operas and more performances of them. He is a man of his work as this season we sell begin this fall will prove.

The announcement of a new season of opera is always an exciting time and this one from the OCP is no exception. The 1993-94 season will include a double bill of Pietro Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana and Ruggerio Leoncavallo's I Pagliacci, continue with Giacomo Puccini's Tosca and Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Die Zauberflöte, and end with Charles Gounod's Romeo et Juliette. Each of the operas will be performed four times in the beautiful, historic and acoustically superb Academy of music in Philadelphia.

Even though all of the operas will be performed in their original language, the language barrier will pose no problem because all performances use supertitles projected at proscenium level. This wonderful visual device has opened the "mysteries" of opera to countless audiences.

Some of the best news today is that Steven Mercurio will conduct four of the five operas. That, alone, is enough to pack the Grand old Lady of Locust Street, but there is a lot more. Steven has been distinguishing himself all over the world, not only as a great conductor of opera, but also of chamber and symphonic music. His performances this summer at the Spoleto Festival added no end to the growing reputation of this 36-year-old American conductor.

The opera world's most double bill will open the season on November 15, and be repeated the 18th, 21st and 26th. It boasts an international cast of stars led by Bulgarian dramatic soprano Stefka Evstatieva as Santuzza in Cavalleria Rusticana. Since coming to world attention in her 1982 Italian debut as Maddalena di Coigny in Andrea Chenier, she has sung at the Metropolitan opera, Covent Garden, La Scala, San Francisco and Paris. Michael Sylvester, another renown artist, will play the lead of Canio in I Pagliacci. Steven Mercurio will conduct both operas.

When the tragic story of Tosca plays the Academy on February 14, 18, 20 and 25, it will mark the return of Diana Soviero in the title role. Ms. Soviero thrilled us all with her performance of Cio-Cio San during the OCP's 1990-91 season. She combines a wonderful voice and excellent acting ability and it has become recognized around the world. Since her Madama Butterfly here, she has performed La Traviata, Manon Lescaut and South Angelica on both sides of the Atlantic.

Tenor Craig Sirianni will make his Opera Company of Philadelphia debut as Cavaradossi fresh from triumphs in Cavalleria and a PBS production of "Live from Lincoln Center." Bernard Uzan will be the stage director and Steven Mercurio will be the pit.

Mozart's final opera will be on the boards March 14, 18, 120 and 25 when Stella Zimbali makes her OCP debut as Pamina in the mystical musical. She has sung in the Metropolitan, Berlin, La Scala, and Houston. This season she will make her opera Pacific debut as Mimi in La Boheme and is at work on a new production of Ariadne auf Naxos for the Metropolitan. Conductor James Caraher from the Indianapolis Opera will make his OCP debut with this opera.

The often neglected gem of Charles Gounod will bow on April 29 and be offered again on May 2, 6, and 8. Tenor Richard Leech will portray Romeo and soprano

Canal girls close in on district titles

*Van Deusen's
no-hitter leads Majors to win*

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

PRICES CORNER — The Canal Major League All-Star continued their winning ways in the District II tournament with a 13-1 victory over New Castle in the winner's bracket final Saturday afternoon at Capitol Little League.

Julie Van Deusen pitched her second no-hitter of the tournament and scored three times to help lead Canal to the win. The winners will play for the district title Thursday evening.

Canal, which has won 10 straight district championships, has now outscored its three opponents by an incredible 94-7 margin.

It didn't take long for Canal to take control of the game.

The top half of the first inning saw Canal score six times. Van Deusen started the rally by drawing a walk. Lisa Laskowski followed with a bunt single to score Van Deusen. Cori Abshagen and Kirsty Lloyd both reached to load the bases for Jamie Gallagher, who also drew a walk to force in a run to make the score 2-0.

Abshagen scored on a wild pitch and Katie Esposito walked to load the bases again. Erica Richardson then hit a run-scoring single to right to stretch the lead to 4-0. Pam Rossetti reached on another walk and to load the bases and Jessi Marley's walk forced in another run. Two batters later Laskowski walked to force in the sixth run of the inning.

Single runs in each of the second and third innings stretched the lead to 8-0.

Lloyd's double in the third scored

*Seniors win
three to advance to District final*

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

PRICES CORNER — The Canal Senior League All-Star softball team closed in on its 11th straight District II championship with a 38-2 romp over Suburban Saturday night at Capitol Little League.

Canal, who captured the state, Mid-Atlantic and Eastern Regional championships on its way to the Senior League World Series last summer, earned its way to the winner's bracket final against Suburban with a 45-0 victory over West Wilmington Thursday evening and a 12-2 win over Stanton-Newport Friday. The defending champs played for the district title Wednesday night.

In Saturday's winner's bracket final, Jodi Mandichak pitched a five-hitter and every player contributed to an awesome offensive effort.

"The girls really played well tonight," said Canal Manager Mike Salony, whose team banged out 21 hits. "We really hit the ball well all through the lineup. Everyone contributed."

Just three girls are holdovers from last year's World Series team but seven others played on at least one of Canal's last two World Series entrants (1991-92) in the Major (11-12 year-olds) Division.

Canal got off to a good start scoring 17 runs in the first two innings Saturday night. Another run in the third inning and four more in the fifth stretched the lead to 22-1. Canal scored 16 runs in the seventh inning to provide the final margin.

Kati Salony, who pitched a no-hitter in the 12-2 victory over Stanton-Newport, led the offensive barrage

Newark American wins title

Team downs Canal for District II championship

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW — One step down for the Newark American Senior League All-Star team.

American downed a gutty Canal squad 19-3 Tuesday night at Canal to capture the District II Senior League championship.

Newark will open the best-of-three state championship series Friday night at 5:30 against Georgetown at the Marydel-Hartly Little League complex in Maryland. The second game will be played Saturday at 2 p.m. A third game, if necessary, will be played Saturday 30 minutes following the first.

After building a 3-0 lead in the first three innings, Newark American put the game away with an eight-run fourth.

Sean McCullough pitched six strong innings giving up just three hits and not allowing a run. McCullough was a hitting star too banging out four hits and knocking in three runs.

"We knew we had a good team when we started practicing," McCullough said. "We just had to come together as a team. I think we've done that now."

Jon Ohliger started the rally in the decisive fourth inning with a single up the middle. Mark Thomas and Matt Telep each followed with hits to plate Ohliger. Jeff Myers walked to load the bases and Tom Macomber knocked home two runs with a single up the middle.

Bill Cooper reached on an error to continue the rally and McCullough's second double of the game scored two more runs. Tom Emig kept things going with another hit and Telep finally closed out the scoring with a two-run single to left.

"We really hit the ball well today," said Newark American Manager Vern Myers. "We got a great game from Sean and Tom Macomber came up with a big hit that got us going in the fourth."

"Again it was a team effort. We went with 14 players and all have contributed."

McCullough sailed through his six inning stint striking out five and walking just one.

"I just wanted to mix it up tonight," said the right-hander. "I wanted to mix in curveballs and change-ups."

Canal, which came off an incredible comeback win over Brandywine on Saturday, was the fourth toughest team American had to face in the tourney. Each of its four opponents finished in the top four in the district.

"These games against tough teams will, hopefully, get us ready for the state competition," McCullough said. "Hopefully we can win a couple more."

Concession stand reviews are in

By MARTY VALANIA

Chicken fingers and Old Bay fries. That's right! It's time for those annual Little League concession stand awards.

The first two weeks of July are spent by many parents, fans, coaches, players and, yes, sportswriters at Little League fields. Most games start around 5:30 or 6 p.m. That means many dinners are eaten at these complexes.

This light-hearted look at the concessions generally draws the praise of some and the ire of some.

The serious part of this is that many, many people at the local leagues (Newark American, Canal and Newark National) spend a great deal of time and effort to try and raise money. They all should be commended for their effort, especially after spending the 100 degree days in even hotter little concession stands.

It's always a tough decision to decide which stand is best and, more often than not, we just have to take the easy way out and say that all the stands are good — which, in fact, they really are.

Special kudos go to Newark American's effort to bring makeshift stand to Hill Field for the Senior League games. National and Canal also did outstanding jobs.

The best meal I had happened to be the chicken fingers and Old Bay fries at Capitol Little League. That doesn't mean that everything else wasn't very good. But the diversity that the chicken and Old Bay brought to my diet that day was something no hot dog or pizza slice could provide.

The incredible heat really cut down on the appetite this summer but everyone's effort is greatly appreciated. The money raised helps the kids and the leagues.

Canal major boys fall to Midway in winner's final

Three-run homer sinks Canal

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

NEWARK — Adam Brown's three-run homer broke apart a close contest as Midway defeated the Canal Major League All-Stars 5-1 Tuesday in a District II winner's bracket game at Newark American.

Canal, 3-1 in tournament play, drops to the losers bracket and plays the winner of the Stanton-Newport-Naamans game Thursday at 6 p.m. on Midway's field.

Brown, who went 2-for-2 and got caught off third for the final out in the fourth inning, blasted starter Matt VanSant's 1-1 pitch over the right-center field fence with two out in the fifth inning to give Midway an insurmountable 5-1 lead.

"He hit a good pitch," said Canal Manager Jim Murphy. "I think he was ready for it and he really hit it good. This is the first time we're in this (losers bracket) situation. We have to come back."

Midway starting pitcher Steve Hardin held Canal scoreless until the fifth when back-to-back doubles by Jeremy Doucette and Brock Donovan tied the score 1-1. Hardin finished the game, scattered five hits, walked one and struck out two batters.

"He's the fastest pitcher we've seen all year," said Murphy. "He threw well."

Blue Division wins 15th annual Newark All-Star series in two-game sweep

By CHARLIE REMSBURG
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

As the Newark League's softball reaches into its last week of the regular 36-game season, first place and playoff positions are undecided in both divisions.

Thus, exactly who plays who in playoffs starting Monday is undecided. Decided emphatically, however, was the All-Star competition where the Blue Division defeated their Gold counterparts by football-style scores of 14-10, 14-6.

The games were played in nearly perfect weather on the Barksdale field last Sunday night. Some 40 players participated in the frays which has seen the Blue Division win all but twice in an event that dates back to 1978.

In game one, the Blues broke out to a 7-1 lead early only to see the Golds rally to tie 7-7 in the top of the fifth inning.

Dave Michaloski opened the game with a single to center and Steve Grundy walked on four pitches. Matt Bonk singled to right for the game's first run. Craig Callahan doubled home a run and Glen Thompson doubled to center to plate two more runs. Two flyouts, the last by Bill Stump, scored Thompson as the Blues jumped to a 5-0 lead.

Dan Schnell's RBI-single got the golds on the board in the second, but Grundy countered with a two-run hit of his own boasting the Blues to a 7-1 margin.

Roland Wilkins double and Billy Laurelli's homer closed the Golds to within 7-3 in the fourth.

The fifth inning proved decisive as the Gold scored four times to tie.

An error opened the inning and was followed by consecutive hits by Matt Krawczyk, Bill Gatter, Joe Krawczyk and Kevin DuPeron. Another error and sacrifice fly later, it was 7-7.

But with runners on second and third and just one out, Blue's winning pitcher Dale McClelland shut the door on a grounder to the mound and a fly to left aborting the Gold rally.

The Blues answered with a four-run rally of their own. After the first two hitters went down in the bottom of the fifth, Bonk singled to left, Callahan to center and when Thompson doubled, two runs scored. An error and a Stump single to made it 11-7 Blue.

Three more Gold errors and hits by Grundy and Len Donahue made it 14-7 through six innings. The Gold countered with three in the seventh around hits by Gatter, Dennis Ottey, DuPeron, Jeff Asti and George Williams to provide the final margin.

Each team had 16 hits, but the Gold committed five errors leading to four unearned runs, the game's difference.

Bonk's three hits and Grundy's three RBIs led the winners, while Gatter had three hits and Jeff Asti three RBIs for the Gold.

In game two, the Blue struck again for five immediate runs and breezed 14-6. Joe Henry and Mike Lyons sandwiched a walk to D.J. Buck scoring a run. Ernie Hopkins' sacrifice fly made it 2-0.

A Frank Gillespie double and Bill Baker triple later, and it was 5-0 again.

A seven-run fifth put the game out of reach for the Golds. Ed Herr was the winning pitcher.

"We all played well," said winning manager Mike Brogan.

Twenty of the Blue's 21 players had at least one hit in the games.

Perhaps more importantly, losing manager John Slack, Sr. said, "Wish we'd hit better in the second game. We had a nice comeback in the first game. But we all had a good time. The teams responded back and forth well. It was good for the league, good for the city."

All regular season games will end with make-ups Saturday. On Monday, the top six teams in the Blue Division will vie with the Gold's top four for the league title.

The playoffs are double elimination. Games will be played July 26-29 on all fields, Aug. 2-5 mostly at Barksdale, and conclude Aug. 9 with the title game.

Capsule predictions for each team will be in a future edition.

A key forfeit win by Time Out over Scorer's Pub was negated to be replayed this week. But a John Hermes' poke over second that spun into foul territory for a short triple scored Slack Sr. from with the game-winning run in a 6-5 Time Out victory over Scorer's. At 28-4, Sports was close to taking their first ever title with Pub (25-

Newark National Majors ousted

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

CLAYMONT — There will definitely be a new district and state champion this year in the Major Division of the Little League tournament.

Newark National, last year's titlist, fell 6-1 to Stanton-Newport Saturday morning and was eliminated from the double-elimination tournament.

National saw Stanton-Newport score four runs in the first inning, on three home runs and a ground-rule double, to take command of the game. For Stanton-Newport pitcher Bo Fischer, that was all he needed as he limited National to just two hits.

"They just flat out beat us," said Newark National Manager Jerry Brannen, whose team defeated Wilmington Optimist 10-0 on Thursday to stay alive. "We scored 10 runs in the first three innings against Wilmington Optimist and then were shut down the rest of the game."

"We just continued that into today. We were scoreless for six straight innings over the two games. We came in averaging 11 runs per game. If we just score our average we win today."

Fischer, himself, started the first-inning Stanton-Newport rally with a ground-rule double over the right-center field fence. Joe Gregorcyk, Mike Kracyla and Mike Homberger followed with home runs.

Stanton-Newport tacked on two more runs in the third inning to stretch the lead to 6-0.

Newark National picked up its run in the fifth inning on a single by Chris Kiewel and a ground-rule double by Charlie Porter.

That, however, was all National would get.

Newark National 10, Wilmington Optimist 0 — National advanced in the loser's bracket with a big victory over Wilmington Optimist. Shawn Dagg pitched a two-hitter with 10 strikeouts to lead National to the victory.

Charlie Porter and Matt McNulty led the Newark National offense with two hits each.

Wizards clinch playoff spot

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

GLASGOW — In no uncertain terms, Andy Logar took one on the chin for the team Saturday evening.

Logar's game-winning goal rebounded off his body and helped the Delaware Wizards to a 1-0 victory over rough-and-tumble U.S. Interregional Soccer League foe Raleigh in front of a season-record throng of 3,785 at Glasgow High.

Derek Bujak's indirect kick from 35 yards out was headed on goal by Lance Johnson, tipped by the goalie back to Logar, who dribbled it past the netminder in the 53rd minute to secure

Delaware's third straight victory and fifth win in the last six games.

"Any kick into the box is going to be directed for me or Johnson," said Logar, a Glassboro State College graduate who scored his fourth goal of the year. "I saw Lance at the far post; that's where he runs, and I run up the middle. Lance got the ball and I just waited."

"He headed it, it glanced off the crossbar. It hit off my chin and chest, hit my feet and rolled in. Anything to get it in; that's what I wanted. I was just there. I love being in the offense."

"We've been playing pretty consistent lately and we play hard," Logar said. "In the second half we just seem to keep playing better and better as we go on. As long as we don't let (Raleigh) score, we have the momentum."

With one game at Connecticut remaining in the regular season, the victory lofted the Wizards (10-5) into undisputed possession of second place in the nine-team Atlantic Division and assured Delaware of hosting an opening round playoff game on home turf July 30 or July 31.

That's good news for the first-year team. The Wizards have won six of their eight home games and outscored opponents 17-4 before a combined attendance over 25,000.

"This is been great (first season)," Logar said. "The fans have really helped us out. We lost a couple we shouldn't have at home. We're looking forward to the playoffs, but we won't overlook Connecticut."

Delaware took 10 shots at Raleigh goalie Garth Lagerwey, who made seven saves.

Counterpart Dave Whitcraft, who was named USISL Atlantic Division MVP and Goalkeeper of the Week last week, faced 10 shots and recorded eight saves for his fifth shutout.

"We knew we had to be more fit than (Raleigh)," said Wizards Coach Joe Brown. "They had to beat us to get past us in the standings. Every time we get a chance on an indirect kick in, we want to set our strengths up there and take our time. That gives us good chances. Lances' speed set it up and Logar came through and finished it."

"It paid off. It wasn't one of our prettier games, but we showed it in our heart," Brown said. "We bent but we didn't break. It's our third in a row so we're really happy. For a team that was supposed to finish last in the division we host a first-round. We beat all the big boys."

"This is amazing. It seems like we opened in April yesterday and now we're winning our third game (straight) and clinching second place. It's just awesome."

Canal Major boys drop to loser's bracket game

► CANAL, from 1B

Midway scored first in the third after Bobby Lenore reached base on a fielder's choice, moved to second on a base hit, to third on a pickoff throw to first and came home on Matt Buckley's fielder's choice.

Canal rallied in the top of the fifth and tied it 1-1, but three consecutive singles, an outfielder's error and Adams' homerun in Midway's half of the inning sealed the win.

VanSant pitched five innings, gave up nine hits, walked one and struck out another.

For Canal, Russ Wiedernmann had a pair of base hits and Davey Stevens singled.

Canal, which had sailed through the first three games of the tourney, had a scoring opportunity in the sixth inning following a lead-off single by Brian Timpson and a mis-played infield pop put two runners on base with just one out.

But Stevens hit into a fielder's choice and Tyler Cochran flied out to right field to end the game.

American downs Canal 9-7

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

TALLEYVILLE — The Newark American Senior League All-Stars stopped the Canal Senior All-Stars 9-7 as the two local rivals battled each other in the winner's bracket final of the District II tournament Friday night at the Naamans Little League complex.

Newark American scored three runs in the seventh inning and held off a fierce Canal rally, that saw the loser's battle back with six runs over the last two innings.

Winning pitcher Scott Hunt helped lead American to the victory by giving up just one run over the first five innings and blasting a two-run home run in the seventh to help preserve the win. He also had a two-run single in the fifth inning.

"That team never gives up," said Newark American Manager Vern Myers of Canal. "They were down and just kept coming back."

"I'm proud of the way our team hung in there and got the big hits late in the game. It was another total team effort."

The win advanced American to the district title game Tuesday night, where it would have to be beaten twice. The district championship plays in the state championship starting Friday night in Maryland.

With Newark American in command 6-1 entering the sixth inning, Canal rallied for four runs to cut the lead to just one. Chris Moxley and Jeremy Kalmbacher hit consecutive two-run doubles to score the runs. Moxley scored along with Allan Gunter (walk), John Markle (walk) and Brad Rolfe (single).

Hunt's home run and Kevin Mench's RBI-single in the seventh inning pushed the Newark American lead to back to 9-5.

Canal, however, still wouldn't die.

With one out, Gunter started the last-inning rally with a walk. Markle and Rolfe followed with singles. An Newark American error allowed Gunter to score. Moxley followed with a sacrifice fly to center to score Markle cutting the lead to 9-7 with two outs.

Matt Green then walked and Tom Kennard reached on an error to load the bases.

Newark American pitcher Adam Baumgartner, however, got the next batter to strike out and end the game.

"We played well and the boys battled back well," said Canal Manager Fran Kulas. "The difference is the attitude. We still thought we could win and we were able to get six runs in two innings."

Reybold fights back to win wild first round playoff series with K-B Cubs

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW — Regular season champion Reybold Homes won its first round playoff series — but not without a scare.

Reybold, who went 17-0 during the regular season, downed the K-B Advertising Cubs 13-3 Monday night to capture the first round series after dropping the first game and eking out an 11-inning win in the second game.

Reybold will meet Artisans' Savings in the championship series next week.

"We knew we could win it the whole time," said Reybold's Jody Russell, who clubbed a home run and had four RBIs in the deciding game. "We were getting down on each other in the first game but we came back strong. We just had to get back to hitting the ball."

Five first-inning runs helped Reybold to get off to a quick start.

Chris Weleski started the rally with a single up the middle; Scott Walter walked and Russell's single to right scored a run.

Kip Scannell followed with a walk and Jeff Russell hit a run-scoring single. With two out and the bases still loaded winning pitcher Dan Clements blasted a three-run double to right-center.

"Getting out to the lead was a big help," said Reybold Manager Dave Fetterman. "This is a team we beat 20-6 just last week. But they battled real tough. It was an amazing series."

Clements gave up just six hits and single runs in each of the fourth, fifth and seventh innings. Todd Briesch hit a solo home run for the Cubs.

Jody Russell led Reybold's 13-hit attack with a single, double, homer and four runs-batted-in. Weleski had three singles and scored four runs while Walter had two singles and scored two runs. Kip Scannell, Dave Magee, John Netta and Tim Abshagen each chipped in with hits as well.

After scoring single runs in each of the second and fourth innings, Reybold put the game out of reach with six runs in the sixth inning. Russell's two-run homer, along with a two-run singles by Walter and Magee, scored the runs.

Regulars season ends and playoffs begin in Babe Ruth play

Newark Toyota 15, Feralloy 12 — Matt Frosh tripled in the winning run, as Newark Toyota outlasted Feralloy in a slugfest. Feralloy's Joe Saucerman had two doubles and Fran Kulas had one.

Artisans' Savings 22, Schagrin Gas 0 — O.J. Roman drove in five runs with two hits and Willie Shahan drove in four runs with four hits as Artisans rolled over Schagrin. Artisans' R.J. George tossed a two-hitter, striking out seven. Dave Renn tripled and Jamie Wolfe and Dan Hoffman doubled for Artisans.

Wilmington Trust 9, DelTrans 3 — Mike Szczepaniak hurled a three-hitter with six strikeouts to lead Wilmington Trust over DelTrans. With the victory, their fourth in a row, Wilmington Trust captures second place in the Gold Division and a berth in the playoffs.

Reybold Homes 7, K-B Cubs 6 — Jeff Russell singled in Greg Harrison with the winning run in the bottom of the 10th inning, as Reybold edged K-B in the continuation of a June 15 tie game. Dave Magee set K-B down in order to raise his record to 4-0.

Reybold Homes 20, K-B

Cubs 6 — Jody Russell drove in four runs, and Greg Harrison hit a three-run home run and scored four runs, as Reybold rolled over K-B. Reybold's Scott Walter and Kip Scannell each contributed three hits to the offense. Trailing 6-1 after the first inning, Reybold exploded to finish its regular season at 17-0.

DelTrans 11, K-B Cubs 7 — Ron Falkowski drove in two runs with a pair of hits to lead DelTrans to an upset victory over K-B. DelTrans' John Bush hurled a complete game and Tim Porter chipped in with two hits. K-B's Joe Briggs had three hits. With their third consecutive loss, K-B finishes second behind Artisans' Savings in the Blue Division.

PLAYOFFS

Artisans' Savings 14, Wilmington Trust 8 — Willie Shahan and Rick Houck led a six-run rally in the eighth inning to give Artisans a comeback win in the first game of the best-of-three series. Wilmington Trust took the lead in the fifth with a two-run homer by Mike Patterson and a solo shot by Geoff Rishel.

K-B Cubs 9, Reybold Homes 8 — Todd Briesch drew a bases-loaded walk to force in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give K-B an opening game victory over Reybold Homes. In the bottom of the sixth, K-B's Rich Jordan tied the game, driving in two runs with a single. Reybold's Matt Leahy pitched a six-hitter, striking out 12 in a losing cause. K-B dealt Reybold its first loss of the year.

Artisans' Savings 11, Wilmington Trust 6 — Rick Houck and Will Shahan both socked home runs to lead Artisans to an easy win and a sweep of the first round playoff series. Jamie Wolfe had three hits and scored three runs, and Shahan went the distance on the mound, scattering seven hits.

Reybold Homes 6, K-B Cubs 5 — John Netta's pinch hit double in the bottom of the 11th inning scored Brian George with the winning run to give Reybold the win and kept the undefeated regular season champs in the best-of-three series. Despite an injury to his pitching hand, Reybold's Dave Magee hurled all 11 innings, striking out 10. K-B's Briggs brothers, Anthony and Joe, powered its offense, combining for eight hits, including four doubles and a triple.

The Newark All-Stars will face the Elmsere All-Stars in teh 16-18 Babe Ruth state championship in a doubleheader Friday night at Legends Stadium.

The first game will start at 6 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for seniors and children under the age of 16 will be admitted free.

If necessary, the final game of the best-of-three-game series will be held at Glasgow High on Sunday at 1 p.m.

The winner will represent Delaware in the Babe Ruth Eastern Regional in Fishkill, N.Y. beginning on July 31.

Brookside to host state Bambino tourney

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

BROOKSIDE — For the fifth straight year, Delaware teams have converged on the Brookside Babe Ruth Bambino League's Marrows Road complex for the 11-12-year-old year state baseball championship.

As the six-team double-elimination tournament enters its second week defending champion New Castle seems the team to catch. Brookside's team is 2-1 and paced by Brian Comley and Tony Latzo, who each have a pair of two-run homers.

"Our philosophy is that when a kid signs, he or she plays," said Joe Conway, entering his sixth year as Commissioner. "There are no cuts. Babe Rut's philosophy was every child who wanted to play should play. That's our philosophy too."

"And I make sure all players play two innings and get one at-bat per game," Conway said. "If they don't get an at-bat, then they start the next game. As commissioner I'm very emphatic on that rule."

SCORES

New Castle 3, Brookside 0 — Randy Trusello struck out 17 and hit a two-run homer to lead New Castle to the win.

Piedmont Green 10, Elmsere 0

Piedmont Gold 14, North Brandywine 0

Brookside 12, Elmsere 2 — Mickey McCurdy was the winning pitcher and Tony Latzo and Brian Comley each hit two-run home runs. Mike Walters was 3-for-4.

Currently, the Brookside league draws from the Pike Creek area to the Rte. 40 corridor and is home to 14 T-ball, eight Minor and eight Major leagues comprising 440 players.

It hasn't always been that way. In 1987, the number of players was 72 and then dropped to 60 in 1988.

"We've installed lights, new fences, backstops and a candy stand from league donations and the help of parents and volunteers," said Conway, adding that former Brookside coach Ron Burnett who now lives in Clayton donated $5,000. "It's our love for baseball and our love for the kids; we just wanted them to have the best facilities possible."

"We feel that we have people proud of Brookside and we're proud of our baseball league. It's going back and forth now. We're starting to build some money in the treasury and give something back to the community."

"We've offered to donate two tennis nets and six picnic tables to the community center. The field is all volunteer maintained and it's there for use throughout the year."

The field on Marrows Road supported 161 baseball games last year and could possibly surpass that this season. That number says something about the quality level of maintenance, but it's that very number that has Conway the most concerned.

"We're looking at a player increase next year of 150," said Conway. "We feel we have one of the best-maintained fields around, but we also want to maintain a field that's safe. And we can't seem to get any fields leased from New Castle County or the Christina School District to take some pressure off our field."

"Whoever had the [field] allowance for last year is automatically allowed to reinstate it only 24 hours before it runs out," Conway said. "That's a grandfather policy of 10 years ago of once you're in, you're in. There are a lot more more leagues and players now, and fields should be allocated on percentage of players in league."

The Brookside league, that wants to start a softball league, has petitioned the school board and offered to build fields on school property. A decision is pending. The league has also contacted the Brookside Soccer League about possible use of a field in need of repair near the soccer fields off Old Newark Road.

Brookside 16, North Brandywine 2 — Mike Walter was 3-for-4 with two home runs and five RBIs; D.J. Moore was 2-for-4 with two RBIs and Brian Comley was 2-for-2 with an RBI. Mickey McCurdy was the winning pitcher and Paul Hall got the save.

Piedmont Green 2, New Castle 1 — Chris Wilson drove in the first run of the game in sixth inning to give Piedmont a 1-0 lead. Shawn Thomas tied the game in the bottom of the sixth inning before Jeff Morris' homered in the eighth to give Piedmont the win. Rob Mengari got the win.

Canal boys and girls roll in tournaments

► POST GAME, from 1B

Canal on a roll

Canal, generally known for the success of its softball programs, is also, along with the softball again, is having great baseball success this summer.

The Major baseball team advanced to the winner's bracket final as did the Senior All-Stars.

The Seniors, with one of the most amazing comebacks ever, scored six runs in the seventh inning Saturday to beat Brandywine 6-5 and advance to the District finals against Newark American. Canal, in fact, was held hitless for the first six innings of the game.

Major girls down New Castle 13-1

► MAJORS, from 1B

Van Deusen while Lloyd, herself, scored in the second on Richardson's single up the middle.

Meanwhile, Van Deusen — who competed in a swim meet earlier in the morning — was mowing through the New Castle lineup. She struck out 10 batters and walked just two on her way to recording her second no-hitter in a week.

"Julie pitched really well," said

Canal Manager and Julie's father Herb Van Deusen. "It's good to see that we can get a complete game. She was tiring a little at the end; she didn't pitch more than four innings very often during the regular season."

Five more runs in the sixth inning put the game away.

Annie Nefosky started the rally with a walk; Misty Dobson, Stacey Watson and Lisa Scanlon all reached base to continue the inning.

Van Deusen and Laskowski hit consecutive singles to score Watson and Scanlon. Abshagen then walked and Lloyd followed with her second hit of the day enabling Van Deusen and Laskowski to score.

"I was a good game for us," said the Manager. "I'm glad it wasn't a 30-run game. These girls will understand that the games are going to get tougher as we go along in the tournament."

Senior girls romp to District final

► SENIORS, from 1B

with five hits (two doubles, three singles), seven RBIs and four runs scored; Mandichak had a triple, a home run, a single and four RBIs.

Kristin Nau had two hits and two runs scored; Brenda Marley and two hits, an RBI and scored three runs and Amanda Armstrong had two singles and scored twice. Adrienne Maloney, who threw a five-inning no-hitter and struck out the first 13 batters she faced in the tourney opener against West Wilmington, had a triple, a single, an RBI and scored four times.

Ellie Miller, Katie Lott, Jen Rossetti, Lisa Delcollo and Jen Olsen all added hits to the offensive effort while Kelly Baker, Megan Biddle and Dawn Magaw all scored.

"We're a pretty good offensive team," said Mandichak, who has played on two straight World Series teams, one in each division. "Eventually we'll be able to time the pitcher and hit the ball hard."
