CAP PUPILS LIST PLANS

Group Using Link Trainer

Students in the Civil Air Patrol course at the Newark High School are currently being oriented in the use of the link trainer, a stationary airplane training cockpit in the basement of the school.

The group is now preparing for flying navigation problems. After instruction in navigation, the boys will be required to plot a course to some distant city, then use the link trainer to make an imaginary flight by instruments to the point selected.

This phase of the work has been preceded by studies in the theory of flight and airplane power plants. The year's study will conclude with instruction in meteorology as it affects the airplane.

NHS PUPILS TO GET AID IN CHOOSING LIFE'S WORK

P.-T. A. Career Conference To Give Valuable
Data On Jobs

Plans for a Career Conference here, which will give Newark High School students an opportunity to discuss the problem of choosing a career with adults engaged in various types of work, are being completed by a special committee of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association.

The program, a phase of the guidance course at the school, is expected to be of invaluable aid to students in the all-important problem of choosing a life work. Practical, first-hand information on a variety of professions and trades will be given students by those currently working in the field.

Important not only to the students but to the community as a whole, the program is expected to receive generous public support.

Advisor to the P.-T. A. committee in organizing and carrying out the Career Conference is Philip Axelrod, staff member of the Vocational Guidance center of the University of Delaware.

The special committee is headed by Col. L. A. Zimmer and includes Mrs. A. P. Colburn, Mrs. M. L. Draper, Mrs. Leighton Jackson, F. B. Kutz, W. J. Morrison and Mrs. J. A. Shields.

LEGION UNIT OFFERS $600 SCHOLARSHIP

Local Group May Enter Candidate
In National Test

Ten $600 scholarships are being offered by the national American Legion Auxiliary, with the local J. A. O'Daniel unit authorized to enter one candidate, Mrs. William Mote, president, announced this week.

Those eligible are girls in the senior class of the local high school or alumnae who have not pursued any higher studies since graduation. The candidate must also be the daughter of a deceased veteran.

Full information can be obtained from Mrs. Mote, who is also accepting applications.

A number of committee reports were heard at the February meeting of the local unit this week at the home of Mrs. Robert Davis, Center Street.

Americanism chairman, Mrs. Davis, announced that plans were in the making for the annual Girls' State at Dover. Mrs. Leon Case, community service, reported that the unit's wheelchair and crutches are in constant use. She also said that five dollars were contributed to the March of Dimes and $25 to the Newark Visiting Nurse Association.

It was further announced that 30 children were aided by the unit during the year and at Christmas. The needy youngsters received food, clothing, toys and other items.

The rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Harold Sheaffer, reported on the work done for veterans at the Perry Point Hospital, Ward 25, and at the New Castle Airbase.

Resolutions of sympathy on the death of Mrs. J. R. Downes, a member of the unit, were also adopted.

The third newcomer is Miss Jeanette Thoroughgood, who succeeds Mrs. Amelia Maby as tenth grade English instructor.

TO LAUNCH RECREATION FUND DRIVE ON FEB. 23

Contributions
Will Finance
Summer Play
Program Here

A campaign to provide funds for the summer recreation program here will get underway February 23 and continue throughout the week, Edwin McCully, Newark Recreation Association head, announced yesterday.

Although no figure has been fixed as a campaign goal, officials hope sufficient funds will be secured to carry out a fairly extensive program during the spring and summer.

"We're leaving it up to the people themselves," McCully said. "Whatever they contribute we'll use to give them the best recreation set-up we can provide."

Letters, outlining tentative plans for the summer and explaining what the money will be used to cover, will be mailed to every Newark home owner before solicitations begin.

Plans for the drive were drawn up at a meeting of association's board of directors this week in the office of Dr. John R. Downes.

Volunteer collectors will start soliciting on Monday, February 23. A contribution will automatically make one a member in the association, with the right to vote for new board of director members at the group's annual election in April.

At St. Thomas'
Church, Feb. 13

Newark's observance of the annual World Day of Prayer will be held in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church on Friday, February 13, at 2 p. m.

$16,500 IN BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

Only Two Are Issued
By Council
In January

Although only two building permits were granted by the town during January, they authorized a total of $16,500 in new construction, Town Engineer George C. Price disclosed in his monthly report.

The largest was issued to Dr. C. R. Donoho for a $15,000 brick veneer, two-story dwelling and office on South College Avenue. The other went to Mrs. Anne Williams for construction of an entrance way and alterations to the basement of her dwelling at 126 East Main Street. The cost will be about $1,500.

Engineer Price also announced that approximately 20 per cent of the work on the northside sewer has been completed.

In addition, two new electric loops were run and one new transformer was erected during the month, he said. The installation of street lights on Winslow and Sunset Roads was also completed.

One new water tap was made, a leak repaired and one service renewed in January. The report also listed the replacement of 22 meters during the month.

Water consumption for the 31 day period totaled 20,828,800 gallons for a daily average of 671,900 gallons. This marks a daily increase of 35,936 gallons over the previous month and a 3,544,800 total increase over January, 1947.

A. W. RAND TO ADDRESS P.-T. A. MEET

Local Red Cross Head
To Talk Here

A. W. Rand, director of Safety Service of the local chapter American Red Cross, will discuss "Safety in the Home" at the February meeting of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association scheduled for next Thursday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Rand, a veteran speaker who has addressed many industrial organizations, fire companies and public schools, will touch on such topics as water safety, first aid, accident prevention, dust explosions, spontaneous combustion and electrical hazards.

Much practical information is promised for housewives and home-owners. It is also expected that Mr. Rand will accompany his talk with a number of demonstrations.

P. T. Dianich, safety and health chairman for the Newark P.-T. A., who arranged for Mr. Rand to speak here, will give a brief report on the progress and aims of his committee. Mr. Dianich has several projects underway and, if time permits, will outline them.

Following the meeting the mothers of seventh grade children will be hostesses for refreshments in the school cafeteria.

3 FIRES REPORTED

Three fires reported in town the past week, the largest coming early Saturday evening when flames broke out in a supply room in the rear of Neighbors Drug Store.

The damage, although not extensive, have not been estimated as yet by the firemen. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Tuesday night, an oil burner caught fire and ignited a linoleum floor at the home of Carl Davis, 46 West Cleveland Avenue. The blaze was extinguished promptly and no serious damage resulted.

Monday night an oil heater in the Elks home on West Cleveland Avenue began spouting flames. The flames did not spread, however, and the damage was slight.

The Aetna men also joined fire companies throughout this area in fighting the estimated $50,000 blaze which destroyed the 25-room mansion of the late John A. J. Creswell, near Elkton, on Sunday.

DYNAFUEL

With A Smile ---

Why?

Our patrons come up to the pumps these cold mornings and call "Fill 'er up," with a smile. Why?

They don't sit in their cars and grind and grind on the starter, pulling their battery down, but the motor fires off on the first push of the starter.

There must be a reason for instant starting and that is the high octane in the gas that has been tested in the Chemistry Department of our local university and has tested as high or higher than other hi-test gases of today.

The public who are not Dynafuel users owe it to themselves to wake up and use the best.

Our gas supply is plentiful and Dynafuel is manufacturing more gas per day than ever before but, is not trying to supply the world.

We also have a fresh supply of Kelley Tires — all 100 level and first grade. We do not handle any but first grade. Stop in and inquire about our new set-up on Kelley Tires.

Is your battery in good shape? If not, give us a chance to sell you a Sunoco or Exide with written guarantee from 1½ to 2 years service.

If Willie, the groundhog, didn't see his shadow on Monday, when, according to tradition, he appeared to take a peek and forecast weather conditions, it was because he had on dark glasses.

Which adds up to the general saying that we're destined for six more weeks of winter and in view of the fact that the current season has been the most severe winter we have undergone in several years, Willie, the groundhog, is pretty apt to be correct in his alleged forecast.

In anticipation of the continued cold weather and no relief from the fuel oil shortage we notice from the daily paper that, in Democratic America, community emergency boards will be set up this week to assist people suffering hardship from lack of oil—the board to operate in private and its members names to be secret.

Annual St. Patrick's Day Frolic and Dance, sponsored by St. John's Holy Name Society, will again be staged at the New Century Club on March 17.

The National 5 & 10c Store which formally reopens tomorrow under Jolly Handloff's management, definitely has that new look in every sense of the word. It'll be well worth your time and effort just to drop in and view its modern expanse of merchandising innovations that's a decided credit to Newark and its owners.

Many people excusably feel that they're hounded to death by appeals for money. It's give to this, subscribe to that, contribute here and donate there—continually, it seems. And we may count ourselves lucky that we're able to do even a little in each instance . . . for it's truly a privilege to always be on the giving, rather than the receiving, side of such needed aid.

But, even if you feel that you've given until you can't give any more, we know that you'll find it in your heart and your pocketbook to squeeze a maximum subscription to the Newark Visiting Nurse Association which makes an annual campaign for funds once each year.

We could write reams about the worthiness of this association, the good it does, the need it fills, its asset to the community, etc., etc., but we don't think it necessary. We know that you know all these things and that you'll welcome this opportunity to give a little. Just mail your contribution to C. C. Hubert, Newark, Delaware. He'll get it all right and you may be sure it will be cheerfully and gratefully received . . . and used to good advantage.

Wonder why it is that people always like to read the social page of a newspaper to find out what the other half's doing but are extremely reluctant to submit items about themselves, for publication.

A massed exodus from Newark appears under way with the news that Eric Newton has left Curtis Paper Co. to accept a position in New York and will move his family there in June . . . Jack Ernest is hospitalized at Johns Hopkins for a couple weeks . . . The Fred Puncke's have left our midst (Sunday)—Fred going to Madisonville, Ky., where he will be district manager for organizing new Southern States stores, his wife spending some time with her mother in New York City while Fred finds living accommodations . . . Walter Powell's no angel but he flew to Miami for a brief vacation, last Saturday . . . The Jack Pie's soon to move to the Altoona-Johnstown area where Jack will play his trade as salesman for the DuPont Company . . . and the George Boli's will leave in the near future for a vacation in California before making their new home in St. Paul, Minn.

We believe that you who know these good people will share with us the sorrow we express at the thought of their leaving Newark. We'll miss 'em. The monthly field trials, conducted by the Eastern Beagle Club, Inc., were cancelled on account of the weather, in January, for the first time in our recollection.

Sam Handloff and his able committee did an excellent job of conducting the Newark participation in the recently concluded March of Dimes campaign.

Dave Douglas, to whom the papers refer as the thin man from Wilmington when actually he lives in Newark, finished creditably in the recent Tuscon Open after he blazed the way with an open round, course-record 63. Shooting a 63-70-71-67—271, our Davey finished in a five-way tie for seventh place while Eddie Oliver picked up in disgust on the second round.

Like Jack Benny, we're 38 years old . . . this newspaper, that is, which was founded January 26, 1910, by the late and estimable Everett C. Johnson who successfully guided its destiny until his death, February 19, 1926—a span of sixteen years.

OIL SHORTAGE

The lack of fuel, as we can guess, has caused discomfort and distress.

This present crisis is as bad as any we have ever had. Yet, if we set the thermostat at sixty-eight, we'll find out that this represents the right degree for health and for economy.

For solid comfort, real economy and that feeling of pride that comes from preparing a perfect meal, visit the Newark Electric Co. You'll find excellent ranges by Frigidaire, fashioned to cook better meals every time. Your best bet for an electric range is at the

The Sports Post

By Sean N. Hurd

The entire baseball realm was shocked into sudden sadness last week upon learning of the untimely death of "the Squire of Kennett Square"—Herbert J. Pennock, Delawareans in particular had several reasons for feeling severely the loss of one of baseball's greatest pitchers. Not only was Herb Pennock a life-long resident of neighboring Kennett Square, but for the past few years he has been general manager of enterprising Bob Carpenter's promising Philadelphia Phillies. In addition, his only son, Joe, is a sophomore here at the University of Delaware—where in his freshman year he held down ably the first base assignment on the Blue Hen nine.

Two days after Herb Pennock died the New York Baseball Writers, at their 25th annual dinner, presented the player of the year award to the Giants' Johnny Mize. Herb, who for years had been a teammate on the Yankees of some other immortals of the national pastime as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, and Tony Lazzeri, had expected to be at that dinner. But 14 years ago he was present at the same organization's dinner. He was there that time to receive the player of the year award for the 1933 season. He had been selected that year over Lefty Grove, a 24-game winner, Dizzy Dean, who had won 20 games in '33, and such sluggers as Chuck Klein and Jimmy Fox, who that year had posted batting averages of .368 and .356, respectively.

Herb Pennock's fame and achievements will always be an inspiration wherever and whenever baseball is played. And the memory of Herb Pennock, the man, will always be revered.

Being one of the millions who from time to time try to pelt a little white ball around acres of landscaped turf—and with very little success, we may add—we have an extremely high regard for that never-to-be-realized thing known as par. But have you noticed what little respect for par is held by the professional golfers? We've been paying a lot of attention to that matter ever since Newark's Dave Douglas won the Orlando Open a few weeks ago.

Our thoughts began to focus even more sharply on this matter almost three weeks ago when E. J. (Dutch) Harrison posted a seven-under-par 65 for his first 18 holes in the Richmond (Calif.) Open—which he annexed three days later with a 15-under-par total of 273 for 72 holes. That caused us to note (with much personal discouragement) that no less than 29 of the competing pros had completed all four rounds with sub-par totals. And Douglas was one of them with a four-under-par 284.

But what really caused us to devote this space to the subject was Dave himself—who last week blazed the way in the first round of the $10,000 Tucson Open with a seven-under-par 63. He led the way all right, but no less than 25 others finished the same 18 holes with scores below the par 70.

When the three subsequent rounds at Tucson were completed, Douglas had a total of 271 strokes which placed him in a 5-way tie for seventh place.

SPORT SPECKS: Anent last week's discussion here of free scoring basketball games did you note that Rio Grande College of Gallipolis, Ohio, last week defeated Wilberforce Church University 118 to 116 in a game which was all tied up at 104 points and went into three extra periods? And believe it or not 59 points, exactly one half of Rio Grande's 118 total, were tabbed by a single player, Newt Oliver.

And after scoring 115 points against High Point, as recorded here last week, North Carolina State lost its scoring touch and managed to beat Hampden-Sydney by a score of only 66-26. Duquesne reduced the ranks of undefeated collegiate quintets to only three (N. Y. U., Columbia, and Fordham) when the Dukes fell before Texas Wesleyan as the Pittsburgers tried for their 13th straight. Come this Saturday night, Feb. 7, the undefeated list is sure to be pared to at least two and many believe that only one perfect record will be left. The reason for this is that Columbia and Fordham face each other while N. Y. U. comes to Philadelphia to meet Temple's so-called giant killers. The Owls have gained that reputation by reason of the fact that they are the only team thus far to upset powerful Kentucky, LaSalle, and Muhlenberg. The Mules, with ten victories, have suffered their only two defeats at the hands of Temple. And while on the subject of basketball have you been following the torrid battle for first place in the Eastern Division of the Basketball Association of America? With only Providence wholly out, classed in that division, the Philadelphia Warriors, Boston Celtics, and New York Knickerbockers have each been in and out of first place during the past three weeks. Incidentally, the Warriors' star forward, Joe Fulks, who established a professional basketball scoring record last season with 1611 points, was named by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association as the outstanding athlete of 1947 and received his award at the Association's banquet Tuesday night of this week.

An Associated Press poll, however, resulted in the selection of Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's All-America quarterback, as the 1947 male athlete of the year. Only a few days later Lujack signed a four-year contract with the

5-Year-Old Latvian Boy In First Grade Here Poses Problem For Newark Schools

Happiest student at the Newark School right now is five-year-old Andris Jumikis, who recently arrived here with his parents from Rega, Latvia, capital of the tiny Baltic Sea province.

Unable to speak or understand a word of English, Andris, who enrolled on Monday, is having the time of his life because no one here can speak his lingo either.

This permits him to sit all day in Miss Sara Steele's first grade smiling pleasantly at the strange babble about him or ignoring things in general. While the others bend over their lessons, he flips gayly through picture books. This being the first U. S. school he has ever attended, Andris is convinced there is nothing like getting an education American style.

The youngster is posing a unique problem for school officials. Although foreign students, unable to speak English, have enrolled here before, there has always been someone on the faculty or among the students who could act as interpreter. As things stand now, Miss Steele and her delighted student are reduced to reverent finger wagging, frantic eye whirling and violent lip motions.

Nevertheless, Supt. Wilmer E. Shue predicts that in a few days the youngster will pick up enough of the language to make himself adequately understood. To help the situation, Mr. Shue has requested the parents to speak only English in the home.

Mr. Jumikis, who recently joined the faculty of the School of Engineering at the University of Delaware, speaks English well and Andris' mother is fairly fluent.

Interesting sidelight on the incident is the fact that when Andris brought his new school books home the first day, Mr. Jumikis returned with him the next morning to inquire what the textbooks cost and what the school tuition would be. He was surprised to learn that it was all for free—until he gets his first tax bill.

RURAL BANK UNIT ELECTS

Pettit Chosen Vice-President

Silas W. Pettit, assistant vice-president of the Newark Trust Company, was elected vice-president of the Rural New Castle Bankers Association at a recent meeting of the organization.

The bankers selected Norman S. Smith, treasurer of the Claymont Trust Company, as their new president. Richard H. Dimon, Claymont Trust treasurer, was named secretary-treasurer.

Another soil conservation program, again offering $1,200 in prizes to FFA and 4-H Club members of the county, will be conducted this year, the group decided.

Gilbert B. Moyer of the Wilmington Trust Company, representing the State Banking Association, addressed the meeting, outlining plans for a program of information on banking to be made available to various organizations and the establishment of a speaker's bureau.

Dr. E. F. Hall To Speak At Head Of Christians

Dr. E. F. Hall, of near Barksdale, will fill the pulpit at the Head of Christians Church at the 11 a. m. service Sunday morning.

The Sunday School hour will be in charge of Patrick Morgan, with the various classes discussing, "What Do You Think of Christ?"

Miss Martha Ford's class, which includes junior girls and boys, has won special recognition for having earned the attendance banner the greatest number of times during the past church year. The recognition means not only an excellent attendance record for the group but bespeaks keen interest on the part of both pupils and teacher in the Sunday School studies.

Westminster Fellowship will meet at 6:45 p. m. and will be followed by rehearsal for the Youth Choir under the direction of Miss Lillie Scott.

Chicago Bears and it is reported that his services during that period to George Halas' National League entry will bring Lujack $20,000 per year plus $5,000 bonus, or a total of $25,000. Also signed by the Bears at the same time was the Notre Dame captain and tackle, George Connor. Other collegiate football stars who have signed with the pros include Alabama's Harry Gilmer who goes to the Washington Redskins and Bill Swiacki who joins the New York Giants. It was Swiacki, you recall, who caught the pass which enabled Columbia to upset Army and end the Cadets' winning streak at 32 straight.

Banquet In Wilmington

About 500 duck hunters and conservationists, including a number from the Newark area, attended the annual sportsman's dinner of Ducks Unlimited at the Hotel DuPont last night.

The group heard several outstanding authorities on wildlife and migratory wildfowl provide up-to-date information on the outlook for duck hunting.

Among those who spoke were Dr. Clarence Cotton, assistant director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Ira Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Management Institute, and Glenn L. Martin, airplane manufacturer from Baltimore, Md., who is also vice-president of Ducks Unlimited for the eastern states.

In addition Frank T. Clarke of the staff of Ducks Unlimited spoke on the improvement of breeding and nesting conditions in the Canadian "duck factory" areas.

Ducks Unlimited in the United States was originally formed to sponsor and cultivate the improvement of the wildfowl breeding conditions in Canada through its associate organization, Ducks Unlimited of Canada, operators in the field.

JACKETS FACE A. I. DUPONT TOMORROW NITE; TANGLE WITH CONRAD NEXT FRIDAY

Lose Twice Past Week, Bowing To Salesianum, 35-32, On Friday; Overwhelmed By P. S. DuPont On Tuesday, 61-40, For Second Time

After dropping two games the past week to Wilmington rival, Newark High's courtmen face another tough assignment tomorrow night, when they meet A. I. DuPont on the latter's floor.

The city club will be gunning for revenge over the Jackets, who defeated them in the season's opener.

Newark gets a breather after the match, being inactive until the following Friday when they take on Conrad High away.

Despite a fourth period rally which nearly knotted the score, the Jackets were beaten out by Salesianum, 35-32, in the Newark gym last Friday night. On Tuesday they fell victims to powerful P. S. DuPont by a one-sided, 61-40, total.

ROTARIANS PLAN FETE

Foreign Students Here Are Invited

All foreign students at the University of Delaware have been invited to attend the weekly dinner meeting of the Newark Rotary Club next Tuesday evening, when Dr. William S. Carlson, university president, will speak.

Countries represented in the Delaware student body are: India, China, Turkey, Canada, England, Panama and France.

The regular monthly business session comprised this week's meeting, with reports being made by various committee heads.

A recording was made of the opening singing and a portion of the committee reports and was played back to the members before the conclusion of the meeting.

Guests were: P. G. Walker, Elkton Rotary; Harry Swann, Yarmouth, Nova Scotia Rotary; Charles Clark, staff member of the Newark Department Store, and Everett Felbert, of the production and marketing administration, Washington, D. C.

Newark got off to a promising start against the Sallies, leading at the quarter, 6-2, but by half-time the city boys had knotted the count at 13-13. From there on Salesianum took command, managing to stem a fourth period Jacket spurt and winning out by 15 points.

Cosetti took game scoring home with six action shots and four fouls for a 16 point total. Harrison was new for the Jackets with six points. Blashburn paced the victorious Sallies with 12 points, five above D'Amico who dropped in seven.

P. S. DuPont downed the Jackets by the second time this season in fast, easy style on Tuesday night, piloting a 25-16 half-time lead and rolling high through the last two quarters. Gregg led for the Jackets with 10 points.

Figures thus far this season show Tony Cosetti as the top Jacket scorer, with Bob Gregg running a close second. Cosetti has manufactured a total of 78 points, and Gregg boasts

At Reopening
Of Store Here

A bargain bonanza is promised for Newark shoppers when the National Five and Ten stages its re-opening sale here this week-end.

The big, two-day event will start tomorrow, when the management throws open its doors on a smart, modern, greatly enlarged store. In preparation for the sale, the Five and Ten, which has been open for business all during the remodeling, will be closed all day today.

A full list of the bargain specials to be offered during the two-day shoppers' frolic is carried elsewhere in this issue. The sale will mark the formal opening of one of the most modern variety stores in this area. Equipped with the latest store fixtures, including thin-line, overhead lighting, the Five and Ten will boast more than double its former floor space. Added spaciousness is provided by the fact that the supporting columns, which formerly studded the store area, have been removed.

Welcome attraction for Newark lunchers will be the soda and luncheon counter, which will offer a number of specials, topped by 10 cent hamburgers and 15 cent milkshakes, during the re-opening sale.

Another new feature will be the shoe department in the rear of the store. In addition, all the former departments have been expanded and their stock enlarged.

The new Five and Ten will come as a boon to Newark shoppers, who can expect to benefit from the aim of the management, which is to provide a line of merchandise as varied and economical as any carried by the nation's larger chain stores.
