

John Link, Vernon Steele Vie For 1st District Council Seat

Interim Appointee, Former Councilman File Candidacy For Jan. 11 Election As 1st District Representative; Special Registration Offered Saturday For April Vote

John F. Link, appointed by Newark City Council to serve as councilman for the 1st district until the special election on Jan. 11, and former councilman C. Vernon Steele are contestants for the 1st district seat vacated by William M. Coverdale with his resignation last Nov. 1. Steele filed as a candidate last Monday before the 5 p.m. deadline.

Link, 54, production supervisor for the Budd Company polychem division at Newark, was appointed Nov. 22 as Coverdale's successor. A resident of Newark for the past 20 years, he is a past-president of the Industrial Management Club, a member of the Newark Country Club, and resides at 10 Poplar Avenue.

Steele, 56, former councilman for the 1st district, and perennial chairman of the Newark Memorial Day parade program, is a member of the Newark Planning Commission. A retired Army officer, he resides at 127 Tyre Avenue, and is employed as credit manager for Garrett, Miller & Co. in Wilmington.

Coverdale resigned as a veteran councilman for the 1st district because of a change of residence.

Saturday Registration
The Newark Election Board will accept registrations for the January election this Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Academy Building council offices.

Registered residents who have not moved from one district to another since voting in a local election, are not to report for registration this Saturday.

Election Board Chairman Harold M. Grant advises that "to be eligible to vote in any municipal or special election in the City of Newark, a person shall be a citizen of the United States; shall have been domiciled in the State of Delaware for at least one year, and in the City of Newark for at least three months next preceding the day of said election, and shall be a resident of the district at time of registration."

Make-It Yourself With Wool Test Regionals Slated

Mrs. Richard Musselman Of Newark, State Winner, Bids For National Title

Mrs. Richard Musselman of Newark, with two Delaware high school girls will enter regional competition as winners in the Delaware Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contest held Dec. 4 at the University of Delaware.

State winners in the junior and senior divisions will compete in the regional contest this Friday and Saturday in Harrisburg, Pa., and national winners will enter the national contest in Portland, Ore., on Jan. 20.

Mrs. Musselman, 57, of Ritten Lane, was the winner in the adult division. She made a maroon nubby tweed coat with a hat to match. The coat, lined with green, had deep pleats in front and a belted back.

Dianna Phillips, 17, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Andrews Townsend, and Nancy Pierson, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierson, Hockessin, were selected to represent Delaware in the regional event.

Miss Phillips won in her division with a heather green suit, coordinated with a green checked vest and hat, and Miss Pierson made a heather blue suit with a cutaway jacket.

Nancy Ann Stigler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stigler, Limestone Acres, Wilmington, won in competition between girls 10 and 13 years old. She made a green jumper.

Prizes including sewing kits and lengths of wool fabric, were awarded to contestants.

Fifty-two Delaware girls and women competed in the Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Contest sponsored nationally by the American Wool Council and the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers, and in Delaware by the Delaware Sheep and Wool Association.

Mrs. Edward Foster, 801 Valley Road, Newark, was contest chairman for this year's event.

12,000 Bars Of Soap Given In CAR Vietnam Project

Cherie Liberton of North Star, state president of Delaware's Children of the American Revolution, reports the recent soap shower for the Southern Vietnamese conducted by the state society, "a huge success."

Approximately 12,000 bars of soap were put on the American Christmas Train in Wilmington last Saturday.

The Ratti-Kil Tri Y's; the Youth Fellowship of First Presbyterian Church; the Avon Plant at Newark; the Sororists, Acme Stores, school classrooms, and local merchants assisted with the CAR project.

Senior State President Helen Eastman reports.

Christiana Band, Chorus To Offer Sunday Concert
The Christiana High School Band and chorus will present a Christmas concert in the school auditorium at 2 p.m. this Sunday, for students, parents, and friends.

The band directed by Jerome Rehberg will play two chorales and "The Christmas Festival" by Leroy Anderson.

The chorus will be directed by Herbert Windle.

Charles Wollaston Re-elected To Head Aetna's Firemen

Andrew Walp Named Chief; Doyle, Allen Smith, Thomas Re-elected Aetna Officials

President Charles W. Wollaston, Vice-President William M. Doyle, Financial Secretary Allen E. Smith, and Secretary Olan R. Thomas were re-elected as officers of the Aetna fire, Hook & Ladder Co. last Friday night, and Raymond O. Knox was elected treasurer.

Wollaston, Doyle, Smith, and Thomas were unopposed, and Knox won over James A. Seydler, Earl V. Gregson, and William M. Doyle, Jr., were elected for two-year terms as directors.

Charles M. Eissner was re-elected as a director, and Vernon Steele, Jr., Gregson, and William M. Doyle, Jr., were elected for two-year terms as directors.

Andrew S. Walp was elected Aetna fire chief, defeating Frank Beers and Chief Clifton T. Knotts for the office.

Frank Beers was re-elected, and William C. Smith was elected as deputy fire chief; John L. Smith was re-elected and Fred Luderitz was elected 1st assistant chief; and Walter H. Seydler and Richard T. Shannon were re-elected 2nd assistant chiefs.

Herman E. Gray and Raymond B. Streets were re-elected as chief engineer and as fire recorder for the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co.

Holdover directors with another year to serve include Joe Moore, James Wood, George Cullen, and Robert Cook.

Sam Gray, treasurer for the past year, was not a candidate for re-election, nor were retiring directors Henry VanName, John List, and James Mullen.

All Aetna officials with the exception of directors, were elected for one-year terms.

Plant Pathologist Donald J. Morton Named To Faculty

Dr. Donald J. Morton, a University of Delaware graduate, has been named associate professor of plant pathology at the university, according to Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the college of agricultural sciences.

Morton will conduct research and teach courses in plant pathology. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., he received a bachelor of science degree with distinction in plant pathology from Delaware in 1952; a master of science from Louisiana State University in 1954; and a doctor of philosophy degree in plant pathology from the University of California.

Employed as a plant nematologist at New Mexico State University and as an assistant professor of plant pathology at North Dakota State University since 1961 he has been plant pathologist for the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Tifton, Ga., conducting research on diseases of tomato and pepper plants.

Morton replaces Dr. Donald Cross, now assistant dean of the college of agricultural sciences and assistant director of the agricultural experiment station at the University of Delaware.

Morton is married and has three children.

Unpaid Head Taxes Face Legal Action By School Board

The Newark Board of Education directed Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue last Tuesday night to collect delinquent capitation taxes in the Newark special school district.

In a legal opinion, the solicitor said that this is a collectible tax and that more than sufficient time has expired to allow residents to make payment.

Permission was granted the University Drama Group to use the Central Junior High School this Sunday to present a reading of Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

The board adopted a new policy on testing to protect children in Newark schools. No identification of individual students will be permitted in research tests.

Claude E. Phillips Honored With Portrait As Agronomy Leader, Professor Emeritus

An oil portrait of Claude E. Phillips, professor emeritus of agronomy at the University of Delaware, was unveiled Dec. 7 in a ceremony in Agricultural Hall on the local campus.

Phillips, who spent 44 years on the Newark campus as a student and a faculty member, retired last June 30.

The portrait prepared by Cedric B. Egell of Baltimore, was unveiled by President John A. Perkins at a gathering of college of agricultural sciences staff members.

Perkins pointed out that Phillips had served the university during the most significant years of its development, and citing his work in weed identification and control, said the agronomist had made a substantial contribution to state crop production.

Phillips graduated from the University of Delaware in 1921. He received his master's degree in agronomy there in 1923, and was named assistant agronomist in 1927. He became an associate professor in 1945, and professor and head of the agronomy department in 1946.

During his 38-year career in soils Phillips initiated the state corn and crops research and development, soybean yield programs, the "green-

High School Students, Parents Oriented With "A Day At The University Program"

The University of Delaware is obligated to admit all qualified residents, and students admitted are those ranked scholastically in the top third and second of the graduating classes, some 800 prospective students with their parents, were told in a Day at the University program last Saturday on the Delaware campus.

Concurrent general orientation meetings were conducted from 10:15 to 12:30 in Mitchell Hall, Sharp Laboratory, and Wolf Hall Auditorium.

After a cafeteria luncheon in the Student Center, Harrington and Russell dining halls, visitors attended special interest meetings in agriculture, business and economics, elementary and secondary education, engineering, home economics, science, humanities, social sciences, and nursing, followed by an optional tour of Gilbert A student residence hall.

The program was sponsored by the Delaware Congress of Parents and Teachers; high school guidance counselors; and the university.

"For most Delawareans, we do not close the door," Dean William McDaniel of the college of agricultural sciences said in addressing the Mitchell Hall group concerning admission to the university. "We may not open it very far—but there's always room to stick your foot in," he advised his audience.

It was explained that all applications for admission are read three times, with favorable emphasis for a strong academic curriculum; high school guidance counselors comments; and most important, the high school record. The taking of the College Board Examination is imperative for admittance to the university, it was stated.

Students were urged to live on campus, and financial aid under the federal Higher Education Act is available to the extent of need for the intellectually qualified.

Applications are due by March of the year preceding September enrollment. An average cost of $1,600 per year was cited for students living on campus.

"A student is taught less but learns more," a student speaker said of the university in comparing it with high school education.

Postmaster Urges Weekend Mailing In Yule Clearance

F. Allyn Cooch, Jr. Cites Yesterday As Volume Peak In Local Christmas Mail

It is urgent that any remaining Christmas mail be sent out this weekend, Newark Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., stressed today.

In the last three weeks, the nation has witnessed more people mailing gifts, cards and letters than ever before, Cooch declared.

Postmaster Cooch said that every piece of Christmas mail that can possibly be delivered will reach its destination on time. However, at this time of the year, the strain on transportation facilities, and the unpredictable weather can mean unexpected delays.

He noted that holiday schedules will be in effect on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 25-26. Although Christmas falls on a Saturday and many businesses will be letting their employees off Friday, a sufficient number of postal workers will remain on duty to see that all Christmas mail entering post offices in time for delivery, will reach its destination.

Only special delivery and perishable mail will be delivered on Christmas Day.

The Newark postmaster expressed thanks for public cooperation. "The use of ZIP code has increased significantly over last year, and most people mailed early."

"The local peak day was yesterday, however, there still is an extremely heavy volume of mail to be delivered," Postmaster Cooch concluded.

A high school teacher of chemistry for 12 years, Herbener has been awarded a National Science Foundation science faculty fellowship for 12-months advanced study with the department of chemistry at Ohio University.

Herbener, associate professor of chemistry, and department head at Hillsdale (Mich.) College, is a graduate of Newark High School and holds an MS degree in organic chemistry from the University of Delaware. His undergraduate work was completed at Western Michigan University, and he holds a second MS in chemistry teaching from the University of New Hampshire.

Prof. Herbener, who resides in Hillsdale, with his wife and four children, plans to take a year's leave of absence to work under provisions of the fellowship after a summer as a research assistant at Ohio. He has spent two summers there under the sponsorship of NSF research participation for college chemistry teachers.

While at the University of Delaware, his major professor was the late Dr. Glenn Skinner.

Harold C. Beachell Invited To Nobel Prize Ceremony

A University of Delaware professor was invited to attend last Friday's Nobel Prize ceremony and dinner in Stockholm, Sweden.

Dr. Harold C. Beachell, professor of chemistry on leave to teach at the University of Upsala, was invited to the annual event by the sponsoring Swedish Academy of Science.

Beachell is scheduled to return to the United States and Newark campus in February.

Five employees of Chrysler Corporation at Newark assembly plant, including one from Newark, have each won a television set as a result of new high standards of product quality established by all plant employees.

The awards consisted of two color and three portable TV sets.

One winner of a portable television is Herbert W. Garrett, 103 Bent Lane, Newark. Garrett, employed in the production control department, has worked for Chrysler since 1958.

Plant Manager C. E. Fowble, Jr., said that although quality of Plymouth, Dodge and Chrysler cars assembled in Newark has been consistently high, the awards program was established to stimulate employees to higher standards of quality in every car.

"We want every employee to strive for production of cars of superior quality," Fowble said. "From the high standards they have achieved," he said, "it is clear that workers have a common one to all workers and that we will always seek further improvements."

Award winners were determined by three separate drawings. One was for production line workers, including inspectors, on the night shift, and another similarly classified employees on the day shift. The third drawing was for all indirect hourly

C. of C. Banquet Scheduled Jan. 18 At Aetna Fire Hall

George Worrlow To Serve As Toastmaster; Blasedell To Be Principal Speaker

The annual ladies night dinner meeting of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Aetna Fire Hall on Ogletown Road, with Paul Blasedell, director of industrial relations for the Insurance Information Institute, the principal speaker.

Dr. George M. Worrlow, University of Delaware vice-president, will be toastmaster.

Business displays are invited for the occasion, and firms or individuals interested in having exhibits in the Aetna banquet hall at the chamber meeting, may call Frank Stanitski.

Racine Stafford is chairman of the annual dinner meeting, and Robert M. Rowlands is in charge of reservations.

"Please do not wait until the last minute to make your reservation," ahead, about how many are guests Rowlands requests. "It is much easier for us if we know a week or two will be present."

Silas W. Pettit is president of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce; F. Racine Stafford and Harlan C. Williams are vice-presidents; Harold J. Meade is treasurer; and Carroll W. Mumford is executive secretary.

Directors are Robert D. Angstadt, Samuel L. Diehl, Jr., Joseph J. Formisano, Meade, Pettit, Reginald B. Rockwell, Rowlands, Stafford, Wm. H. Waggaman, Jr., George B. Weber, Raymond G. Weimer, and Williams.

Herbener Awarded NSF Fellowship For Ohio U. Study

Former Newark resident Eugene Herbener has been awarded a National Science Foundation science faculty fellowship for 12-months advanced study with the department of chemistry at Ohio University.

Herbener, associate professor of chemistry, and department head at Hillsdale (Mich.) College, is a graduate of Newark High School and holds an MS degree in organic chemistry from the University of Delaware. ## Added Benefits, Participation Offered In New Pension Plan

Council Approves Improved Retirement Plan For City Employees; East Main Street Parking Restored To Aid Merchants; Three New Railroad Bridges Sought In Area

A retirement plan with increased participation and benefits for local municipal employees, including group life insurance amounting to twice the annual salary of the insured, was created by Newark City Council in unanimous vote last Monday night. The retirement plan and group insurance are to become effective next Jan. 1, with life insurance extended to local employees with a minimum of one-year service, in a contract to be signed with Bankers Life Co. of Des Moines, Ia.

A proposed ordinance to eliminate recently prohibited parking with the yellow curbing and removal of parking meters at the west end of East Main Street—for 110-ft., on each side of the university mail student crossing—was defeated at a second reading at the request of Mayor Joseph A. Shields. Requested relief for merchants in the area during the Christmas shopping period is to be provided with limited parking controlled administratively by Newark police.

Police Patrol Councilman Fred Wakefield objected to the expense of reinstalling meters in the area for conventional parking limitation, and restoring the traffic hazard at the student crossing. Unlimited parking in the area would result in university student monopolization of curb space, Nield cautioned, and recommended that temporary parking during the Christmas season be permitted with police regulation.

The appraisal of $12,500 for a 3.3-acre strip of the Hunting Hills property to be acquired by the city for parkland, was approved unanimously. An owner of the property said in addressing council, that he was unable to agree on this appraisal since "this strip of land would affect some of the best land I have." The strip represents 6 per cent of the property, and its acquisition by the city would affect the remaining 94 per cent, the owner said.

Contracts for demolition of substandard dwellings at 36 New London Road; 32 Ray Street; and 95 Rose Street were awarded to R. C. Peoples of Wilmington. Action for razing the house damaged by fire last Saturday at 50 Grays Avenue, was deferred to permit the owner to decide any change in plans.

A proposal by Councilman Henry R. Folsom, Jr. for the city to "take whatever steps are necessary" to serve all residential and commercial customers in the city with electricity, was approved.

Council also approved Folsom's proposal that College Park residents provide a fund for maintenance of the common driveway in the area, and that "multiple ownership" driveways for common use be prohibited in the future. At Nield's recommendation, this proposed prohibition is to be deferred to the group studying a revision of municipal subdivision regulations.

Mayor Shields appointed Francis E. B. McCann as a member of the city finance committee; planned a council meeting for 7 p.m. next Monday with representatives of Block Blight, Inc., and the Philadelphia office of the Public Housing Administration; and canceled the council meeting scheduled for Dec. 27.

Former Councilman C. Vernon Steele was endorsed unanimously as chairman of the Newark Memorial Day Parade committee, and Steele is to be requested to serve again in this capacity.

A request for a monetary grant from the city by the Newark National Little League for installation of a water line to the new baseball field off Possum Park Road beyond the city limits, is to be directed to the Greater Newark Recreation Association.

Council approved the Catalina Gardens Yorkshire section plat for 18 lots; deferred action on recommendations from a municipal golf course study until next Monday's meeting; and approved fencing city property adjoining the Pennsylvania Railroad at a cost of $4,400.

John H. Fassnacht, chairman of the municipal shade tree committee, urged that council obtain the services of a "professional arborist" to conduct a street tree survey in the city, and to serve as a consultant with the formulation of a street tree program.

Samuel G. Homsey was proposed by Francis E. B. McCann in the audience, to conduct this work for the city, and Fassnacht is to confer with Nield for tree program development.

Diamond State Co. Major Contributor To State Economy

Diamond State Telephone Co. and its major supplier, Western Electric, together with the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, purchased over $4,433,000 in materials, goods and services during 1964 from approximately 800 Delaware firms and individuals, according to Myrdyn H. Evans, Diamond State general manager.

Included were 516 suppliers in New Castle County, and 277 in Kent and Sussex counties.

Evans pointed out that the company had a payroll of $9,543,000; operating expenses of $18,754,000, and paid out a $6,303,000 tax bill.

ternates were Norman Dempsey, Steel Atwell, and Mrs. Paul Mitchell.

Eighty applications of Mrs. Elizabeth Wright and Billy Moore were accepted. Proceeds from the supper were announced as $542.86 with an additional $38.52 cleared by the Junior Grange on its variety Christmas table.

A gift of $25 was presented by the Junior grange to the adult unit for paint and fix-up projects.

Grangers who took the state-sponsored tour to the Midwest and California, entertained with talks and colored slides. Participating were Mrs. J. W. Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodward, Mrs. Joseph Mitchell, and Mrs. Elma Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Woodward sent the grange a wedding cake in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 30.

Eighty-five stuffed toys were reported sent to State Grange for distribution to children's hospitals.

Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church

The Women's Association elected and installed new officers and circle leaders who will serve for the next two years, at the December meeting last Tuesday at the church.

The pastor, the Rev. William J. Evans, conducted the installation services for Mrs. George K. Harris, president; Mrs. John C. Goynne, vice-president; Mrs. Paul E. Hitchens, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur B. Eastman, Jr., corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James A. Alexander, treasurer.

Circle leaders are Mrs. Vaughn Rutter, Miriam; Mrs. Christian Sent, Ruth; Mrs. William J. Evans, Lois; Mrs. Wesley Armstrong, Dorcas; Mrs. C. Warden Gass, Martha; Mrs. Joseph Pierson, Esther.

The nominating committee chosen included Elizabeth Hancock, Mrs. Irvin Klair, Mrs. Lars Henriksen, Mrs. Harvey McLaughlin, Mrs. Frank L. Cooper, and Mrs. Herbert Shirriff. A Christmas program of music and verse was given with Mrs. Joyce Mainz in charge. A tea followed, with Mrs. Goynne in charge, assisted by Lois Circle members.

Members of the church school are to bring their white gifts next Sunday for the needy.

The Senior High Fellowship went caroling last Sunday evening to nearby institutions. The group returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hill for refreshments.

A special Christmas program was held last Sunday by the Junior High Fellowship for their parents.

The following babies were baptized last Sunday: Katherine Elizabeth Bjornson, Donald C. Henderson, Richard C. Johnson, Richardson Sampson, Jr., and William R. Stevens III.

A Christmas party was held Tuesday night by members of the Women's Fellowship with Mrs. Arthur Eastman, Jr., hostess.

A Christmas concert of sacred music will be presented this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. by the three choirs and the bell chorus.

Christmas parties will be held next Tuesday by the White Oak and Hill 'n Dale 4-H clubs. Both groups will go caroling and then return to the homes of Marie Proud in Hockessin and Marvin Klair in Old Limestone Road.

Limestone Presbyterian Church

A Christmas pageant will be given this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. with "And So They Came to Bethlehem" in charge of Mrs. Paul Poole. The narrator will be Robert Thompson.

Junior, youth, and senior choirs will sing directed by Mrs. Ned Beard and Mrs. Vernon Fisher.

The congregation approved the change in by-laws to increase the three church boards from nine to 12 members.

The Sunday school Christmas party will be held this Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. in the social hall.

Herbert Young will lead the adult discussion class this Sunday.

A Christmas vesper program will be held at the Hockessin Friends Meeting this Sunday at 7 p.m.

Mrs. William Patterson of Eastburn Farms entertained her card party last Thursday.

State Fair At Harrington Scheduled For July 23-30

The 1966 Delaware State Fair will be held at the fairgrounds in Harrington from Saturday, July 23 through July 30.

Selection of dates for the 47th annual fair was announced by George C. Simpson, general manager, following a meeting of the fair's executive committee.

He said that consideration was being given by fair officials to scheduling two grandstand shows on both Friday and Saturday nights, the last two days of the eight-day fair.

Symphony" to be given this Sunday at 7 p.m. by Methodist Youth Fellowship groups.

After the pageant, and presentation of gifts brought by teachers and students for patients at Stockley, each member will receive a special Christmas gift, and refreshments will be served.

Mite Circle will hold its annual Christmas party tonight, at the home of Mrs. Mollie Jarrell on Limestone Rd.

Mrs. Warner Naudain, regent of the Capt. William McKennan chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, with the following officers and members—Mrs. Joseph Wolf, Mrs. Willard D. Ball, Mrs. W. Harold Narvel, Mrs. Henry C. Mitchell, Mrs. Louise H. Dempsey, and Mrs. Paul R. Leach—attended the anniversary tea given by the Caesar Rodney chapter last Tuesday at the Olden Alapocas. The wedding of Miss Gaumer and David Hutton of Red Mill Apartments, will take place Dec. 27 at 5:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian church of the Covenant, followed by a reception at the DuPont Country Club.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

A woman's world? Well, we suppose it is... mostly because she's helped make it all it should be. Especially in the home. Dad's usually the family provider... but it's the woman who usually cares for the money once it's earned. Most of our customers, in fact, are women who know the real value of systematic saving. And they know that safety, a big 4% interest rate and the availability of their funds go hand in hand when they save at Farmers Bank. There are no confusing plans to decide on, no waiting for withdrawals, just a big 4% interest on your savings.

Coral Morris Cautions Christmas Safety With Lights, Decorations For Tree Trim

Christmas lighting adds to holiday festivities, but safety should be the first consideration. Avoid Christmas accidents by taking precautions, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Use only electric lights, never candles. Make sure the lights and cords you use have the safety seal of the Underwriter Laboratories. Do not get sentimental over Christmas tree lights, Miss Morris warns. You may have some that have been in the family for years. If they are broken or if the insulation is cracked, get rid of them and buy new ones.

Use parallel circuit strings with 110-volt bulbs. The remainder of the string will stay lit when one bulb burns out.

Home outlets are usually rated to handle 1500 watts. This will safely take six to eight strings of 25 lamps each as long as no other equipment is drawing power from the same circuit. Use a 15-amp fuse. If it blows, the circuit is overloaded. Do not use a multiple plug in the outlet, Miss Morris warns. This could be dangerous.

The switch for turning on the lights should be away from the tree. Never use an outlet that is under the tree. If the tree is extremely large, split the electric load by plugging lights into two outlets. Never play under the tree or run electric trains around the tree.

Be extra cautious about the light bulbs you buy, Miss Morris advises. The metal part of the bulb socket on some bulbs may stick out far enough to come in contact with any tinsel hanging close by. Of course, she adds, tinsel should be kept away from electric lights, since it could "short" from this metal part of the bulb or from the receptacle. Rubber washers help keep tinsel out of sockets.

Metallic reflectors for bulbs can cause a short—plastic ones are safer. Insulated staples are best to secure lights strung around a molding or a door frame.

Never leave the house for any extended length of time, either day or night, without disconnecting all the Christmas lights. Always disconnect all lights at night before retiring, Miss Morris recommends. The lights should be disconnected at the wall outlet—not at the end of an extension cord in or around the tree.

Trim the Christmas tree from the top down, putting the lights on first. Keep them out of the way of the other ornaments, particularly tinsel or any other metallic ornaments.

For outside lighting, use only weatherproof cords and sockets for connecting outside lighting equipment, Miss Morris says. More information on Christmas tree safety is available in a University of Delaware extension leaflet, "Ideas for a Happy Christmas," written by Miss Morris. Copies may be obtained from the University of Delaware Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, Newark.

Troop 56 Scouts Entertain Parents, Receive VFW Flag

Parents night was observed recently by Boy Scout Troop 56, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Newark, and Scouts Robin Whitlock, Chuck Bolgiano, and Bob Warren led the audience in troop songs.

Barton Ice and Bill Dalton were inducted as Boy Scouts in a Tenderfoot candlelight ceremony led by Assistant Scoutmasters Charles Eastman and Larry Graham.

Robert Pearson, new assistant Scoutmaster, spoke of the patrol leaders training course given by Troop leaders Bruce Warren, Ronald McLain and Robert Pearson at Camp Rodney, and certificates for completing the course were presented to Chris Pearson, Bob Warren, David McKee, John Ferron, and David Copple.

Troop Committeeman George Murray presented Ray Uffelman with his Second Class badge, and Allan Bailey and John Ferron with their First Class badges.

Robin Whitlock received his merit badge for home repairs; Ed Newman for cycling; and Kip Nelson for bugling.

An American flag was presented to the troop by representatives of VFW Post 475 of Newark.

VFW Commander Cephus Dalton presented the flag to Scoutmaster R. Bruce Warren of Troop 56.

Scoutmaster Warren announced that the Cobra patrol was now in first place in the point contest, and in a "Scoutmaster's Minute," gave a talk on colors of the American flag.

Towne Cleaners Accepted For Membership In NID

Towne Cleaners Inc., Elkton & Beverly roads, Newark, has been accepted for membership in the National Institute of Drycleaning, according to Robert B. Cooling of Towne Cleaners.

The National Institute of Drycleaning is a trade association representing more than 9,000 drycleaning plants throughout the United States and in 48 foreign countries. As an NID member, Towne Cleaners will be kept abreast of latest advances in the drycleaning industry via frequent bulletins; will receive latest information about serviceability and wearability of new fabrics, plus tips on fabric care to pass on to its customers.

Supplemental Insurance Offered With Medicare

Working against a deadline only four months away, the Social Security administration is opening every possible channel to sign up men and women under 65 and older who want protection of the voluntary medical insurance part of the Medicare program.

Those who wait until after next March 31, may have the basic hospital insurance, but will have to wait two years for the other chance to sign up for supplementary medical insurance, and will pay higher premiums for late enrollment. Supplementary medical insurance covers doctor bills and a wide variety of other medical expenses.

The Medicare program provides paid-up hospital insurance for persons 65 and over. In addition, it includes the supplementary medical insurance for the older person at $3 per month—one-half the cost of the protection provided. The other half is paid out of government funds.

FREEH—RICCIO RECENT NUPTIALS

Miss Mary Ellen Freeh and Gary Riccio were married in Kingswood of Brookside Methodist Church, Newark, Nov. 12.

The Rev. Howard Link officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Riccio of 9 Manor Ave., Claymont.

Given in marriage by John Driza, the bride had Mrs. Joseph Parag of Newark as maid of honor. Best man was John Bradley of Indian Field, Claymont.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Beatrice Jones of Newark, with whom the bride has made her home. Mrs. Riccio is a graduate of Christiana High School and is employed by Food Fair, Inc. Her husband, a graduate of Clayton High School, is serving with the Delaware National Guard. He is employed by the Allied Chemical Co. in Marcus Hook.

They are living in Claymont.

Easter Seal Leader

Mrs. Thomas J. Walters

Mrs. Thomas J. Walters

The 1966 Easter Seal campaign chairman for Delaware is Mrs. Thomas J. Walters of Wilmington. Lewis H. Talley, president of the sponsoring agency, the Delaware Society for Crippled Children and Adults, reports that a goal of $70,000 has been set for the March 8-April 10 appeal to support activities and facilities serving handicapped of all ages.

Among the Easter Seal Society's most extensive programs is the operation of Fairlee Manor Camp near Chestertown, Md., for both adults and young people. Mrs. Walters, serving as campaign chairman for the first time, is no stranger to the Easter Seal organization. She became a volunteer in the program during high school days at Columbus, Ohio, where students annually sponsored a Lily Day parade benefit for the same cause. She joined Delaware Society teams three years ago, and last year was door-to-door division chairman.

The DAR Story

To commemorate the 75th anniversary of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Cooch's Bridge chapter DAR is presenting a brief history of the organization.

Defined by any encyclopedia as a "patriotic organization," the Daughters, as they call themselves, are a great deal more than that. Since their founding in October, 1890, and their incorporation by Congress in 1898, these industrious women have an impressive list of accomplishments. Their three-fold objectives on their foundation were and are historic appreciation, promotion of education, and patriotic service. The pursuit of these objectives has been maintained by the eagerness of the Daughters and the outstanding ability of these women who are national committee chairmen.

Necessarily, as an established organization, the Society reports annually on their proceedings to the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who in turn reports to the U. S. Congress. An important section of this report lists location of graves of Revolutionary War Soldiers and their wives.

In 1898, the DAR Hospital Corps was organized for service during the Spanish American War. This became the nucleus of the Army Nurse Corps, and was just the beginning of wartime service.

World War I contributions amounted to more than $3.5 million in cash, and gifts ranging from field kitchens to tobacco.

During World War II, the DAR piled up a new list of services—26 million hours for Red Cross work; over $400,000 for the blood plasma fund; and blood donations from more than 13,000 members. Today, they are signing up members for whatever civilian or military defense activities are underway in their communities.

At an office in the Administrative Building is perhaps the most far-reaching field of DAR activity. This is the office of the national defense committee. Often the center of controversy, but always taking a positive stand—even on a negative issue—this committee covers a great deal of ground. The committee's duties cover not only cooperation with the community in civic, educational and citizenship activities, but, as registered lobbyists in Washington.

In 1946, a federal regulation of Lobbying Act was passed by Congress. This directly involves the DAR committee since the defense committee gathers and spreads information on U. S. military and internal preparedness; on the Nation's domestic and foreign policy, and on state and national legislation concerning matters of DAR interest.

Committee officers frequently testify before congressional hearings concerning pending bills. These activities are the reason for the lobbyist registration—and like all terminology, has good and bad connotation. The DAR record should speak for itself.

Numerous other committees fill the needs of the many members who are so very creative and generous with time and talent. The American Heritage group, preserving the rich heritage of art, crafts, literature and music, provides a base at the local level for historic preservation.

DAR support of American Indians through this committee amounts to well over $200,000 a year in scholarships and clothing, plus the support of two schools in South Dakota and Oklahoma.

In 1895, the CAR or children's group was organized to instill perception in youth for American principles and institutions. There are nearly 20,000 members of the CAR.

The conservation group supervises and coordinates the planting of trees and preservation of bird sanctuaries and public parks. They award teachers and students scholarships for conservation study.

Other committees include honor roll, historical, flag of the United States, Junior American Citizens, motion pictures, and public relations. The key word to DAR activities is "heart." In one way or another it touches nearly every phase of current American life, whether civic, educational, health or national defense.

Mrs. Hilton Lists Youth Committee For Belles' Ball

Mrs. William R. Hilton, youth committee chairman of the Belles' Ball has announced members of her committee. Sharon Austin, Peggy Beddingfield, Nancy Cooke, Susan Hastings, Lynn Moran, and Janet Rush will serve as hostesses for the Christmas Belles' Ball at the Newark Country Club on Tuesday evening, Dec. 28 from 9 until 12.

Music for the evening will be furnished by the Highlighters, and Roger Holmes will be master of ceremonies. Regular memberships can be secured through Mrs. Edward S. Overman, chairman, 302 Old Oak Road, Newark, until Dec. 20, unless maximum membership is reached before that date.

Guest memberships will be available for out-of-town guests, Mrs. William P. Cooke reports.

Toys For Learning Advised As Gifts At Christmastime

Parents may be hunting for just the right toys for their children. But choosing the right toy is not as simple as it seems, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. Toys mean more to a child than merely an enjoyable way to spend time. They are learning tools, and should be chosen with this in mind. Toys should exercise mind and muscles; they should challenge a growing imagination and creativity. Naturally, the suitability of a toy depends greatly on a child's age and specific interests.

In general, an infant needs toys to use all his five senses. Toys should be brightly colored in simple designs; easy for an infant to grasp and manipulate; and washable, durable, too large to swallow, and without sharp corners or rough edges, Miss Morris says.

A child old enough to creep or toddle wants to explore the world. Sturdy pull-toys, large building blocks and toys that help learn needed muscle coordination are ideal for this age.

Playing with toys helps children grow physically, Miss Morris says. The large muscles in the arms, legs and back are strengthened by pushing blocks and pulling wagons. Smaller muscles and coordination are developed with manipulative toys such as puzzles and pegboards. Children also learn to reason, use judgment, and be creative with well-selected toys.

Children like imitative, imaginative and dramatic play, Miss Morris says. Dressup costumes, puppets, dolls, housekeeping equipment, trains, trucks and airplanes are among the toys that encourage imaginative expression and help children imitate and understand. Games in which several children take part help them learn how to get along with each other.

Children need opportunity to explore and experiment with safety by themselves without adult help, Miss Morris says. Children should have a healthy curiosity about the world, combined with a high self-confidence. Microscopes that work; sturdy kaleidoscopes, prisms and magnets, are just a few of the toys that help children experiment. Toys should not be so automated that the only activity left for the child is pushing a button or winding a key, according to Miss Morris.

APRONS ARE ONE OF THE FEW ARTICLES OF CLOTHING THAT are both decorative and practical at the same time. And with a potholder to match, this becomes a set well worth making and having. It allows you to cook, and, at the very same time, to look feminine and still keep your clothing clean, so that you can just whisk it off and be all ready to sit down to dinner with your guests.

CANDLES, RIBBONS, AND LEAVES

Embroidered on checked gingham, you have a wide variety of colors to choose from because gingham may be purchased in red, green, blue, yellow, and black checks. Using just the cross and stem stitches, you'll have a lovely design of candles, ribbons, and leaves—perfect for both the holiday season and throughout the rest of the year as well—especially when you're having an intimate candlelight dinner at home! Both the apron and the potholder are very easy to make, and the embroidery can be finished very quickly and easily.

DELIGHTFUL SETS

If you make a few of these delightful sets ahead of time, you can wrap them with some of the glittering holiday wrappings and place them under the tree as a gift for a favorite relative or friend. What present could be nicer than one that you've made yourself for someone else? Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PE 2478.

Child Christmas Party Planned Saturday By VFW

The annual Christmas party conducted for children by members of J. Allison O'Daniel Post 475 Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held this Saturday at 10 a. m. in the VFW post home on Barksdale Road, Chairman John Sadot has announced.

Children of veterans and of social members of the local VFW post, up to 12 years of age, are invited to attend.

LONGWOOD CHRISTMAS
Visitors to the Longwood Gardens conservatory between Dec. 18 and Jan. 2 will find a display of all traditional plants associated with the Christmas season.

In addition to regular daily hours from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. the conservatory will be open until 9 Sunday evenings, Dec. 19, 26, and Jan. 2, as well as on Wednesday evenings, Dec. 22 and 29.

Toys that leave nothing for the child to do are soon taken apart or discarded. The early years of every child's life are critically important years. Well-chosen toys can help children learn and perform to best of their ability—and have fun at the same time.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM HOME

On behalf of all Delawareans, Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr. has sent the following Christmas message to Delawareans in the Armed Forces, the Peace Corps, the Red Cross, and to others who are serving their country away from home.

"The approach of the holiday season reminds us that there are thousands of fine brave American men and women who are serving their country as guardians of the Free World, and carrying the message of freedom and brotherhood to all parts of the earth.

"While we constantly think of those risking their lives in the service of their country, our thoughts are with you even more at Christmastime than at other seasons, since your absence from home and community is more keenly felt.

"At the same time we are reminded of the service and sacrifice of other men and women who made possible the freedoms that we in America enjoy today.

"No matter where we may be, Christmas should be a joyous occasion, for it commemorates a miraculous event that has greatly influenced our lives and actions, and our hearts are filled with the hope of 'Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men.'

"In this spirit, and on behalf of all your fellow-Delawareans, I wish all from our state a most joyous Christmas and an early and safe return to Delaware."

Letters To Santa

The friendly folks at the Newark Post Office handle many, many letters for Santa Claus at the North Pole, and Postmaster F. Allen Couch and his friends at the Post Office send a few of these letters to this newspaper for publication—to assure Santa's young friends that their letters are not neglected.

Postmaster Couch and his associates at the U. S. Post Office in Newark, join Santa in wishing each of these young letter-writers a Christmas full of happiness—a very, very Merry Christmas!

Dear Santa: May I also please have a watch.

—Katy Baggett

Dear Santa: I am being a very good boy. Will you please bring me these toys? I will leave you something good to eat on Christmas Eve. I would like a GI Joe, Big Bruiser, Crazy Foam, gas station, punching bag, road construction set. Thank you very much. Sincerely,

—Jimmy Gribble

Mitchell, Ralph Directory Authors On Certified Seed

A 1965 directory of certified seed producers in Delaware has been released by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association. The organization compiles this publication each year as a service to Delaware agriculture.

The directory lists sources for certified soybean, wheat, oats, barley and rye seed.

The soybean is an important crop but a most unpredictable one for Delaware farmers, according to the authors—Dr. W. H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware; and Ed. Ralph, associate Sussex county agent.

During the past 11 years, more than 200 fields have produced 40 or more bu. per acre. During this same period, the average yield in Delaware did not exceed 24 bu., but farmers have grown to accept 40 bu. per acre as a reasonable goal.

The directory lists cultural practices that affect soybean production, but it will take the best efforts of research and education if soybeans are to continue to justify their presence on 40 per cent of Delaware's tillable land, Mitchell says.

The Delaware Crop Improvement Association sponsors a variety of crop improvement activities, including the state crop show and awards banquet; corn and soybean yield demonstrations; alfalfa improvement work; soybean weed control; fertility work and 4-H scholarships.

Copies of the 1965 Delaware Certified Seed Producers directory are available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Mrs. May Wilson Succumbs At 85

Mrs. May McDonald Wilson, 85, of 58 West Park Place, Newark, died Monday in Brandywine Springs Nursing and Convalescent Home after a long illness.

Born in Cartersville, Ga., she had lived in Delaware for 50 years.

Mrs. Wilson was an active member of the Cooch's Bridge chapter, daughters of the American Revolution, and historian of the Delaware State Society of American Colonists.

She is survived by her husband, William Franklin Wilson; three daughters, Mrs. Frances W. Sloan of Millsboro; Mrs. Virginia W. Gallagher of Wilmington; and Mrs. Patricia W. Kirs of Glendale; a son, Donald Franklin Wilson of Atlanta, Ga.; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services were conducted yesterday morning at the William J. Warwick Funeral Home, Newark.

Interment was in Head of Christiana Cemetery, Newark.

4-H Club Agent

Joe Mitchell, local leader of the White Oak 4-H Club near Hockessin, sponsored again the special first year award for outstanding 4-H club members.

Receiving the awards this year were Susan Passmore from Townsend; Esther Gonce from Blackbird; Doris Bartsch a Townsend 4-H'er; Barbara Gooden from New Castle; Dave Robinson from near Townsend; Wilmington 4-H'er Janet Crum; and Sally Cochran, another 4-H'er from Townsend.

Mary Anne Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Newark topped the 4-H lamb show at Timonium this past month. Mary Anne showed two sheep as fat market lambs and won first place over all 4-H and FFA entries as a pair, and in individual classes. Later she showed the reserve champion fat lamb in the open class in competition with adults as well as 4-H and FFA members.

This is a very outstanding achievement for Mary Anne against strong competition.

At the recent 4-H Achievement Banquet, the New Castle County 4-H Links selected Eugene Kelechava of 103 Syphard Drive, Oaklands, Newark as a friend of 4-H. Mr. Kelechava has helped 4-Hers throughout the state for many years. Any 4-H'er who has attended a 4-H camp, conference or Dress Reveal has benefited from his artistic abilities.

The 4-Hers were very pleased and proud to have "Kelly" as their 1965 Friend of 4-H.

Christmas Carol Program Conducted During Week

The Greater Newark Recreation Association is sponsoring a Christmas caroling program this week, Monday thru Friday, from 7 to 7:30 p.m. in front of the Academy Building in Newark.

Participants include the Jennie E. Smith school children on Monday; the Mariners on Tuesday; Gallagher School, Wednesday; McVey and Brookside pupils this evening; and the Holy Angels children will conclude the program Friday.

All children participating receive hot chocolate and donuts at the conclusion of each evening's singing.

Faculty Has Art Exhibit

At U. D. Recitation Hall

Twenty-one art works by University of Delaware faculty members are being exhibited in Recitation Hall on the Newark campus.

Paintings, sculpture, drawings, and graphics are by art and art history department members Julio Acuna, Margaret Allen, Jane Gardner, James Gervan, and Charles Rowe.

The exhibit will be on display through this Friday, and is open to the public daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Purpose of the show is to acquaint students and the public with varying interests of the faculty and the media in which they work.

Unitarians Invite Public To Attend Christmas Drama

The annual Christmas program of the Unitarian Fellowship on Willa Road will be given this Sunday at two services—10 and 11 a.m.

A continuous coffee for those not attending a service will be held from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Originally a Christmas candlelight service at the Lynchburg (Va.) Unitarian Church, the drama "What Child Is This?" was written by Mrs. Donald Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hermann will narrate the 10 a.m. service and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cescon, the later service.

The public is invited. There will be no Sunday School, but a nursery will be available for pre-school children.

Site For $2-Million Lab Offered By UD Rejected

An offer of a Newark site for a $2-million water pollution laboratory was rejected by the U. S. Public Health Service, which has announced plans for construction in Baltimore.

The University of Delaware offered a site in the local campus complex.

The laboratory is to serve Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

Korean, Vietnamese Youth Guests Of Rotary Club

Korean and Vietnamese students at the University of Delaware were special guests of the Newark Rotary Club at last Monday night's dinner meeting sponsored by the club's international service committee.

Seong Hwan Kim of Korea, studying for his master's degree in plant pathology; and Yang Danhuan of South Vietnam, a civil engineering student, discussed their countries for the Rotarians.

President Thomas J. R. Stephens conducted the meeting, and Truitt Ginn introduced the student guests with the program to promote international understanding.

Cropland Adjustment Plan Slated To Reduce Surplus

Details of the Cropland Adjustment Program authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, were announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. The program is aimed at removing from surplus production up to 40 million acres for periods of five to 10 years. Emphasis will be on shifting this land into public benefit uses which also conserve soil and water to meet future needs.

Paul B. Hastings, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee, said full details on how the program would apply to an individual farm will be available in ASCS county offices in late December or early January.

City Council

The Fridays before Christmas and New Year's Day, instead of the following Mondays, were approved as municipal holidays, and Solicitor Clyde M. England, Jr., ruled that the special election day of Jan. 11, would not be considered a holiday.

A contract for city purchase of electrical transformers and conductors was awarded to Arcraft Electric Supply Co. of Maryland for the low bid of $8,256.22.

Proposed ordinances requiring all traffic to stop when entering Apple Road from Winslow and Sunset roads and Grantham Place, and all traffic entering Beverly Road from Winslow Road and Grantham Place; and amendments to the municipal salary and wage plan with respect to present practice, were approved at the first of two required readings.

A proposed ordinance to create a Newark Parking Authority was approved at a first reading, and Councilman Folsom suggested "granting them $1,000, for organizational purposes."

MEMORIAL BRIDGE
Delaware Memorial Bridge traffic for November increased 83,914 over November 1964, according to Director William J. Miller, Jr., in his monthly report to the Delaware River and Bay Authority commissioners. Bridge traffic for last November was 1,113,386 vehicles.

Council unanimously adopted resolutions accepting a section of Lehigh Road in the Park Place Apartments project as a city street; and requesting the State Highway Department to provide bridges at the South Chapel Street and Red Mill Road grade crossings over the Pennsylvania Railroad, and to replace the Barksdale Road bridge over the B & O-C & O Railroad.

Fieldhouse Cites Problem Of State Water Shortages

Developing water shortages in Delaware are making farmers more conscious of the need for improving the efficiency with which they use water, says Dr. Donald Fieldhouse, associate professor of horticulture at the University of Delaware.

Rainfall in Delaware has been below average four years. Even with adequate precipitation, Delaware's growing population and the greater use of irrigation increase the possibility of severe water shortages.

Irrigation has increased rapidly in the east in the past 15 years, and the trend will undoubtedly continue, Fieldhouse believes. Additional water is often essential for a good yield of high quality, and occasionally, irrigation is essential for crop survival.

Coast Guardsman Hummell Assigned To Maine Base

Commissioner Second Class Ernest A. Hummell, USCG, son of Ernest T. Hummell of Chestnut Hill Estates, Newark, is serving at the Coast Guard Base in South Portland, Me.

Responsibilities include operation, maintenance and repair of small craft, and furnishing mooring facilities for Coast Guard vessels operating out of the Maine base.

Sandy soils of Delaware will not hold water easily, so irrigation is needed. Poor rainfall distribution also is a factor in water shortage.

Irrigation may also be needed because plants do not have widespread root system or are not rooted deeply enough, Fieldhouse says. Careful deep tillage directly below the plant before seeding may increase root depth, especially in sandy soils.

Unfortunately, irrigation often represents a very inefficient use of water, according to Fieldhouse. As much as 25 per cent of the water is lost through evaporation in sprinkler irrigation. Furrow irrigation is often even more inefficient since excessive amounts of water are frequently used.

Subsurface irrigation with perforated plastic pipes provides a more efficient irrigation method. This method may be difficult to use for large acreages, but may be economically used on higher value fruit and vegetable crops.

It may be possible to reduce the need for irrigation and still provide an improved water balance, Dr. Fieldhouse says. Crop plants have critical periods of growth when added moisture is necessary. Crops would normally survive the average drought period if they had a small additional supply of water or if their loss through the pores of the leaves were reduced.

The first critical period of plant growth is during germination and

Two Principals Sought By Shue For Area Schools

Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue has announced openings for an elementary and a secondary principal in the Newark special school district.

These vacancies have been created by the rapid expansion of the district to meet the needs of Delaware's fastest growing school system, Shue said.

A new junior high school will open on Capitol Trail in the fall of 1967, and two small elementary schools under one principal will be expanded to 24-classroom size, requiring an additional elementary school principal.

Applications should be sent to Thomas Calhoun, assistant to the superintendent for staff personnel services, 83 East Main Street, Newark.

early growth. This period may be passed without irrigation even during dry conditions, by using sprayed or plastic mulches.

Plants also require additional water immediately after transplant-

Wilmington Savings Fund Increases Interest Rate

The Wilmington Savings Fund Society has announced it will pay 4 1/4 per cent interest on savings accounts effective Jan. 1.

The Savings Fund, a mutual savings bank founded in 1832, became the only bank in Delaware to offer a 4 1/4 per cent interest rate when its board of managers approved the increase this Tuesday.

The new rate applies to all its deposits and is payable from day of deposit, according to President Fred T. O'Donnell.

Windbreaks are often used to protect plants during this growth stage. Small, closely spaced windbreaks are more effective than larger, more widely spaced ones, Fieldhouse says.

The shock of transplanting may also be overcome without using irrigation by reducing the amount of water the plant loses through its pores. Water losses through this transpiration and from evaporation from the soil average 30-in. per year. This is 70 per cent of the precipitation received in Delaware each year.

Transpiration can be reduced by the use of chemicals that partially close leaf pores, or by use of wax or latex sprays to cover pores. With the use of both methods, it may soon be possible to reduce water loss for short critical periods when a plant must have an additional supply of water.

Such treatments could greatly reduce the need for irrigation. Fieldhouse says. Eventually, he predicts, materials should be available that would reduce water loss through plant pores over a long period of time. This increased efficiency in water use by the plant could then increase the water supply for the entire watershed.

McAllister Advises Lime Investment For Farm Profit

Many crop farmers earned larger incomes in 1965 than in recent years when weather conditions reduced yield. For farmers who reduced their application of lime in the past, this is a good year to invest in lime, according to W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Some farmers skimp on lime when farm income fails to come up to expectation. They believe that for a year or two they can manage without lime, McAllister says. However, usually heavier-than-normal applications of lime are the necessary to bring the soil pH back to optimum level for high yields.

For farmers who have higher income this year, it will be good business management to buy their lime now and charge it against their 1965 income, reducing their income tax bill for this year, McAllister says. Farmers filing on a cash basis are permitted to adjust their buying and selling practices to even out their farm income.

The farmer must pay for the purchase prior to the end of the year. However, the lime can be delivered after the close of the tax year, whenever convenient.

Other purchases such as feed, seed, fertilizer and spray material, can be bought and paid for now to use in 1966. These purchases can be charged against 1965 income if it provides a tax advantage for the farmer, but payment must be made before the end of this year, McAllister says.

Only a few weeks remain in 1965. To take advantage of this method of leveling out the year to year taxable income and at the same time prepare for another good crop year in 1966, take action immediately, McAllister advises.

Senior All-Stars Defeat Stanton 14-0; Junior VFW Champs Win 20-0 In Finale

The Senior All-Stars defeated the Capitol Trail Junior Football League Stanton champions 14-0, and the Junior VFW champs won 20-0 in the post-season play last Saturday on the Newark High School field.

Ricky Arimoto and Gary Connell of the VFW and Central Senior All-Star squads, set up and scored the winning touchdowns on 30 and 40-yard runs, each driving two yards into the end zone to clinch the plays.

David Webster recovered a fumble in the Stanton end zone for one extra point, and Gilbert Jones ran for the other.

In the junior game, Jim Ford scored a pair of touchdowns for the Vets, intercepting a pass to run for a 65-yard score, and carrying the ball for a five-yard second TD.

Phil Williamson ran five yards for the third VFW touchdown, and Donald McElwee, ran for both extra points.

The junior VFW champions are Bill Hinderer, Ed Stowell, Harold Hackett, Robert Wegman, Don McElwee, Pat Jones, Ray Bedford, Cary

Calvert, Nathaniel Webster, Steve Kerstetter, Randall Wegman, Scott Cooldidge, Jon Hiddison, Jim Bray, Steve Dickinson, Gregg Hesselhine, Clyde Webster, Jim Ford, Robin Blansfield, Bill Cooldidge, Phil Williamson, and John Records.

The junior All-Stars are Eddie Farren, Harry Cooke, Mark Figs, Mario Benedetto, Barry Lovejoy, and Jack Jadaeh, Green Raiders; Mike Riley, Bobby Henry, Tom Fitzpatrick, Wayne Brown, and Dan McGirr, Crusaders; Randy Piekarski, Paul Jones, Jim Young, and Rusty Trout, Central; and George Hendrix, Greg Danbach, Bill Rumpf, Randy White, Darrell Dunn, Dan Wilson, and Joe Benardo, Stanton.

"Real luxury goose hunting," Don Crossan said of a recent trip as a guest in a pit near Smyrna.

The assistant dean of the college of agricultural science at the University of Delaware—a falconer, too—had a leisurely breakfast at his host's manor house on the Kent County farm—not too early, either, with none of this cold, bleak, wee hours in a black morning business—and then walked a short way over a nice dry field to a snug, dry goose pit complete with automatic lid, telephone, and a stand of decoys close by a shallow jewel of a pond.

In touch with the house by phone, the goose hunters were alerted that a flock of geese was approaching their pit—the telephone observer gave them the count-down—the lid of the pit was raised by some mysterious mechanical means—and there were the geese, planing in with wings a-curve, and webbed feet braking air. With four shots, Don Crossan and his host had their limit of two Canada geese apiece.

Crossan was due to something of this kind after a prior trip with his son to the public blinds and mud of the tidal ditches at Woodland Beach.

Driving their cartop boat up to the blind, Don stepped out into mud and water up to his chest while assisting the stand of decoys close by. "Are you cold, Dad?" Young Master Crossan asked as the parent turned from pink to blue.

A Delaware duck blind can be one of the colder places on earth when one is clad in plenty of dry clothes and a stand of decoys close by was his lone item of dry apparel.

But father and son stayed in the blind awhile, anyway—and never got a shot. One of the bad ones—just a memorabilia.

Another father and son combination—George L. and Bobby Townsend—tried the goose shooting from a field pit near Church Hill on the Eastern Shore of Maryland last week, beside the Chester River. And on this outing, the son got wet.

In the goose pit with his father while the few geese that were flying, were far out of range, Bobby became a bit restive and left Mr. Townsend, to forage along the river shoreline.

From the reeds beside a cove on the river, Bobby shot a goose, a mallard, and a ringneck duck—and it takes some ornithological doing to identify a ringneck with its iridescent neckband barely discernible only under just-right lighting conditions.

All three birds fell in the water offshore, and Bob Townsend had to wade in well over his boots in some cold, damp but successful retrieving. In some tough public hunting from a blind at Bombay Hook last Saturday morning, three 17-year-old Newark sportsmen collected one mallard drake the hard way.

Phil Gibbs, Billy Richards, and the young man from home, left Newark before 2 a.m. with cartop boat, motor, food, thermos, flashlights, guns and ammo under a full head of steam for a go at wild, wonderful waterfowl in the Delaware wetlands.

Phil had driven down to Bombay Hook the previous afternoon for the some kindly interested orientation by conservation officers on duty, and had a map with the location of the

Irv Wisniewski's Blue Hen Cagers To Play At Lehigh

Losing 88-57 to a powerful Penn squad at Carpenter Fieldhouse last Monday night, Coach Irv Wisniewski's 2-3 Delaware cagers face the Engineers at Lehigh tonight, and play at Toledo next Monday before competing in the Dec. 28-29 Wooster Classic in Ohio.

Delaware Capt. John Himes was shut out in the field goal department by a potent Penn protection, but sank four shots from the foul line.

Harry Griesbach, 6-7 junior transfer from Wesley College in Dover, led Delaware scorers with 17 points, while 5-10 Sophomore Guard Ricky Wright of Collierville, Mo., J., was runner-up with 14 points.

Penn's Stan Pawlak became the 7th player in Quaker history to score a career total of 1,000 points as he led Coach Jack McCloskey's cagers with a 22-point performance last Monday. Pawlak has a total 1,013.

The Pennsylvania visitors led Delaware 45-20 at halftime, and McCloskey called on his bench for second half action.

Coach Mickey Heineken's Delaware frosh dropped a 93-66 preliminary game to the Quaker yearlings despite Blue Chick Jackson's game-leading 30-point performance.

Christiana, Newark Wrestlers To Vie In YMCA Tourney

Members of the Christiana and Newark High school wrestling squads of Coaches Ken Klimek, Joe Bell, and Andy Marcantonio plan to compete with some 200 athletes in the 6th annual Delaware High School Wrestling Development Tournament at the Central YMCA in Wilmington, Dec. 30-31.

Sponsored by the Central "Y," the 12-class event is held to encourage wrestling among Delaware youth who have not won first or second place in any state tournament.

Mail entries must be postmarked prior to Dec. 28 and blanks are obtainable from the YMCA physical department or high school coaches.

Competition will be held in these weight classes: 97 pounds, 105, 114, 122, 129, 135, 140, 147, 156, 167, 182 and unlimited.

Each match will be for six minutes, divided into three periods.

Competition will begin at 10 a.m. Dec. 30, with second and third rounds scheduled for 2 and 7 p.m.

Semi-finals and finals on the following day are tentatively set for 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Coach Billy Cole To Address Viking Sports Banquet

The 1965 Christiana fall sports banquet will be held this Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the Christiana High School Cafeteria, with Billy Cole, athletic director and football coach at William Penn High School, the guest speaker.

All Christiana coaches of fall sports will speak—William Horney on football; Kenneth Klimek on cross-country; Isaac Mapp, soccer, and Nancy Pierce, on girls field hockey.

Classmates, friends, and relatives of the athletes are invited.

Dinner which will be prepared by mothers of the athletes and sponsored by the Viking Boosters Club.

blind. Three excited boys did little sleeping in what little time remained before blast-off.

Navigator Billy Richards missed a vital intersection in the maze of watery thoroughfares in the marshy wilderness, and for a time the duck hunters were lost in the blackness of very early morning, with one ditch looking just like another.

Happily, however, they found their way to the allotted blind with the glory of the dawn, and were ready and waiting for the morning flight.

"You must have taken a good cussing from those other hunters when you passed their blinds after daylight," a parent observed, and Billy replied, "No, they were putting out their decoys."

That was one chore the boys missed. They were without decoys.

Ducks were in the air with legal shooting time—blacks and mallards etching their thrilling patterns against the sky, and hurtling by on whistling wings.

But the young wildfowlers had nothing to draw the ducks within range, and their sole hope was for some close-enough pass shooting, or the happenstance of him that might prompt a duck to try a swim near their blind.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Capitol Race Tracks

It has been more than half a century since the District of Columbia has had a race track of its own, but Washington residents have Thoroughbred racing aplenty at Bowie, Laurel, Pimlico, Hagerstown, Marlboro and Timonium in Maryland, and Charles Town, West Virginia. Such was not always the case. The first track in the District of Columbia was in Georgetown, circa 1769, then a separate city. The first race track in Washington proper was on the Lafayette Square site in 1796.

Al Jezyk To Coach Alumni In Benefit Basketball Contest

Albert L. Jezyk will coach the Newark Alumni basketball team in the Dec. 28 benefit basketball contest in the Bermuda Goodwill Golf Tournament at Bermuda last week.

Douglas also led St. Louis Country Club team of three amateurs to a sudden death playoff win in the Goodwill tourney.

Newark Golf Pro Joe Aneda, with amateurs Sank Richards, Bob Simerone, and Carly Straughn of the local club, failed by one stroke to qualify for the final round of the Goodwill Tournament in Bermuda today.

Rawstrom's Hens Face St. Joseph's Tonight At Home

Coach Harry Rawstrom's Delaware 2-1 varsity swimmers face St. Joseph's this afternoon in Taylor Pool in the final test of the year.

The Blue Hen mermen return to action on Jan. 8 with the frosh and varsity squads swimming at Lehigh.

The Hens defeated Loyola 54-41 at Baltimore last Tuesday night, as junior Fenton Carey swept two events.

Carey took the 200-yard individual medley in 2:25.2 and the 200 backstroke in 2:24.5. He also was a member of the victorious Blue Hen team, along with Robin Wilson, Edgar Johnson and Aubrey Clemons in the 400 medley relay.

The right angle to use in doing a hard job is the try-angle.

Former NHS Star Mike McGlinchey Pins Foe For Hens

Mike McGlinchey, former Newark High School wrestler at 95-lbs., pinned his 160-lb. opponent Pete Johnson in 6:55 last Saturday as Coach Paul Billy's undefeated Blue Hens stopped the Monmouth College visitors in Carpenter Fieldhouse, 32-3.

Billy's matmen scored pins in the final four matches and dropped but one event—Pete Krape's 7-2 decision loss at 145-lbs. to Monmouth's Bob Jeranek.

Delaware entertains the Temple frosh and varsity tonight at 7 o'clock in a Carpenter Fieldhouse home stand, and the Owls are defending champions of the Middle Atlantic Conference with a 3-0 record for the season.

The Hens took second place in the Towson State Invitational Tournament, and have dual meet wins over Bucknell (27-5) and Monmouth.

After tonight's tests, Delaware will be out of action until Jan. 8, when the Hens grapplers resume season competition at Ursinus.

John Ludlow Aids Prep School Team In Cross Country

John Ludlow, cross country team captain and two-mile track star for the Newark High School Yellowjackets before graduating last June, helped organize and was a member of the first cross country team this fall at Kingsley Hall School near Great Barrington, Mass.

Son of the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore L. Ludlow of Newark, John ran with the Kingsley Hall harriers during a 7-1 season concluded with a third place finish in the regional intercollegiate meet.

John is a roommate of Saul Johnson, cross country high school team captain from Washington, and both boys were instrumental in organizing the winning team for Kingsley Hall because "we wanted to run," as John said.

He received a special trophy for his performance as a cross country star at the prep school.

James E. Smith Elected President For Beagle Club

James E. Smith of Harmony Hills was elected president of the Eastern Beagle Club at a meeting on the S. Hallock du Pont property near Milford Crossroads last Thursday.

Lowell Gray was elected vice-president; Charles W. Dunham, secretary; and Gene Lloyd, treasurer. All are Newark residents.

Arthur Able of Roseville Park was named grounds chairman; Edward Boyle, Brack Ex. field trial chief; and William Lamphugh, Wilmington, field trial secretary.

James Frazier and Leon Scott of New Castle were named delegates to the Eastern Federation and South Atlantic Association of beagle clubs.

Field trials are held on the club grounds of the Hallock du Pont estate on the first Sunday of each month.

Dave Cross, Glen Hall, Hal Boyer Lead Klimek Viking Matmen As Tri-Captains

Joe Bell has joined veteran Ken Klimek in coaching the Viking wrestling team at Christiana High where Tri-Captains Dave Cross, 103; Glen Hall, 133; and Hal Boyer, 165, head a solid nucleus of eight returning lettermen from last season's 4-4-1 squad.

Viking lettermen, in addition to the senior captains, are Seniors Gary Huggler, 112; Buzz Moore, 127; Steve Horn, 245; and Juniors Ken Reed, 120; and Bob Hall, 138.

Other varsity caliber candidates with junior varsity and varsity experience include Seniors Wes Wolf, 120; Bob Halstead, 145; and Charles Bundick, 180; Juniors Monty Baldwin, 112; Jeff Heath and Bill Rust, 138; Tom Simpers, 145; Dick Morris, 154; Dean Nelson, 165; and Heavyweight Pat Roby at 250.

Impressive newcomers are Seniors Bob Park and Bill Rylander at 103 and 154; Juniors Greg Kracher and Roger Gullett at 165 and 180; and Sophomores Jerry Hopper, 127; John Hall, 133; Dwight Hastings and Teddy Thomas, 95-lbs.; Bob Stefanisko and John Walters, 112; and Tom Meccariello, 154.

Coaches Bell and Klimek are conducting elimination bouts this week to determine finalists in each weight class, and a series of final elimination matches will be conducted next Wednesday evening in the Christiana gym for public admission.

Hawk Migration Viewing Offered With Trail Club

Dave Meyers will lead the Wilmington Trail Club hike on Blue Mountain, Pa., this Sunday, with interested persons invited to meet at the Central YMCA in Wilmington at 8 a.m.

"Bring lunch and sturdy hiking shoes," Meyers advises.

The circle hike to Pulpit Rock and the Pinnacle, returning over the Appalachian Trail, will offer opportunity to observe hawks moving in migration over this area.

The only time the world beats a path to your door is right after you decide to take a Sunday afternoon nap.
