College Editors To Hold Assembly On Delaware Campus

Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Will Be Guests Of University; Handloff Heads Reception Committee

EXPECT 125 REPRESENTATIVES

Preparations are rapidly going forward for the two-day convocation of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association which will be held here at the University of Delaware on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2.

About 125 delegates from thirty-four college newspapers in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia are expected to attend this annual convention.

Widely known editors, columnists, and advertising agents will be here to address joint and separate sessions of editors and business managers. Round-table discussions will be held to discuss the problems of the college newspaper.

The University of Delaware and THE REVIEW will together be hosts of the convention. Meals for the delegates will be provided by the Commons. The visitors will be housed among the various fraternity houses, the Women's College, and the hotels.

University Drama Group Plans Next Production

Tryouts For "Road To Dover" Tomorrow; Play Scheduled For May 19 In Mitchell Hall

The University Drama Group, whose membership consists of faculty members from both colleges, and also citizens of Newark, will present "The Road to Dover," by A. H. Milne, on May 19, in Mitchell Hall.

The group will meet tomorrow for tryouts in the Faculty Club at 7:30 in the evening. Mrs. Mylrea, president of the organization, will be in charge, assisted by Dr. Gould, chairman of the group's board of directors.

"The Road to Dover" is a three act comedy that is expected to achieve the success gained by "Mrs. Bumpsted Leigh," produced by the same organization last year.

Student Council Committee To Run Future Elections

During its regular meeting, Monday evening, the Student Council passed a bill providing a committee to supervise all class elections. The alleged fraudulent tactics used in the balloting of the past week stimulated the Council to adopt the measure with a unanimous vote.

The committee to control future elections will consist of Senior members of the Student Council named by the president of the Council. An additional provision to the bill provides for registration of all voters as they enter the election hall, and for an impartial counting of results.

The Elections Committee will supervise the remaining elections which have been delayed by questionable balloting.

Civil Engineering Society Attends P. M. C. Convention

Richard Haber Will Present Paper Before Ten College Groups In Annual Meeting

Thirty-two student civil engineers will represent the University of Delaware at the convention of 10 college chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers to be held at P. M. C. on Monday, April 20.

There will be one student selected from each group to present a paper to the society. Richard Haber will represent Delaware, speaking on Inexpensive Apparatus for Testing Large Reinforced Concrete Beams. Last year Harry F. Redmile won first place, and it is hoped that the honor will again come to this college.

Permission has been given to invite the convention to meet here next year.

Concrete Talk Well Attended

Sixty-five persons were present at the meeting on April 13 to hear R. B. Young, Testing Engineer, Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada. His very instructive and interesting talk was illustrated by films and lantern slides. Previous to the meeting a 6½' by 14' reinforced concrete slab was tested in the Civil Engineering Department's new machine.

E 52 Players Continue 'Peer Gynt' Rehearsals; Irv. Malcolm Has Lead

Play Will Be Given On April 30th And May 1st In Mitchell Hall; Tickets Now On Sale For Remaining Seats

The entire University is displaying an unusual amount of interest in "Peer Gynt," the spring production of the E 52 Players. "Peer Gynt" has not been produced on the American stage more than a half dozen times. It was given once in 1907. In 1923, "Peer Gynt" had its second and last professional performance. It was then produced by the Guild Theater with Joseph Schildkraut as Peer, Selena Royle as Solveig, Dudley Diggs as Troll King, and Edward G. Robinson as the Button Molder. All these names are very familiar to the followers of the theater and motion pictures. In the Players' production of "Peer Gynt" these parts will be taken by Irvin Malcolm, Catherine Rittenhouse, T. Willey Keithley, and Carroll Cox respectively.

It has always been the policy of the players to make available to its audience the very best drama of which it is capable. The difficulties involved in the production of certain plays have never stopped the E 52 Players from giving a strictly professional performance, for the Players have on their list of past successes such plays as "The Green Cockatoo," "Hell Bent For Heaven," "A Doll's House," and "The Late Christopher Bean."

Dr. C. R. Kase, Assistant Professor of English and Director of the Players, has succeeded in cutting (Continued on Page 6)

Senior President

Jack Hodgson

Hodgson was elected this week to preside over the incoming Senior class.

Class Presidents Chosen For Next College Year

Hodgson, Lattin, And Healey Elected; Minor Officers Also Are Named

Presidents of the incoming Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes are Jack Hodgson, Clark Lattin, and John Healey, respectively, who were elected in class meetings during the past week.

Hodgson, president-elect of the Seniors of next year will be accompanied into office by Collins Seitz, vice-president; Jimmy Stoll, secretary; and Robert Greenwood, treasurer. Hodgson is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. The others are non-fraternity.

Clark Lattin was elected president of the incoming Junior class last Thursday. He was elected on the first ballot. The race for vice-president, however, was a long-drawn-out affair, requiring three meetings of the class to complete. On Monday, there were ties between C. C. Brown and John W. Wells on three straight ballots, with more men voting each succeeding time. Finally, on Tuesday, Wells was elected by a very small majority. The vote for secretary was very close also, with Julius Reiver beating Jack Lafferty by a small margin. Harold Flink took the treasurer's post by a fairly large vote.

Clark Lattin was president of the Sophomore class, a member of the football team, inspection trip chairman for the A. S. M. E., and a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

George Records and Roger Thomas conducted the elections on Tuesday. According to a motion passed the preceding evening in the Student Council, Senior representatives were to take charge of elections. Even with this short notice, the elections went off very smoothly.

The attendance at all elections was very great and much spirit was shown.

Healey, a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, won the presidency of the incoming Sophomores after a political struggle with Bruzz Wilson, chairman of the Freshman class and previously designated as favorite. The other officers of the class of 1939 have not yet been elected, due to fraudulent activity at elections.

Contracts Awarded For $220,075 Three-Story Laboratory Unit; Will Be Brick And Concrete In Colonial Style

Work on the construction of the new chemistry building for the University of Delaware will be started as soon as the contracts, awarded this week, can be signed and weather permits.

Contracts totalling $229,075 for the construction of the building were opened in the offices of the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, 1064 Du Pont Building, by the committee on grounds and buildings of the University, of which H. Rodney Sharp is chairman.

The R. C. Ballinger Company, Philadelphia, was awarded the contract for the general construction on a bid of $144,168, base and alternate. The plumbing, heating, and ventilating contract was awarded to William D. Shellady, Inc., of Wilmington, at $67,666, for base bid and alternate. The Arrow Electric Company, Wilmington, was awarded the contract for electrical work for $17,240 for base bid and alternate.

The contract for the furniture and equipment will not be awarded until after further study.

Work on the building, which will consist of two stories and basement, will be started as soon as the contracts are signed. It will be of brick and concrete. The architecture will be in keeping with the present university buildings. The (Continued on Page 5)

Committee To Inspect School Of Engineering

Representatives Of Technical Societies To Tour Laboratories As Part Of Nation-Wide Investigation

A committee of six outstanding representatives of technical engineering societies will make an inspection of the laboratories, curricula, and teaching staff of the Engineering School of the University of Delaware on Saturday, April 18. In addition they will confer with certain Arts and Science departments whose subjects are connected with Engineering Education.

This work is under the supervision of the Engineers' Society for Professional Development, which is conducting a program of inspecting all the engineering schools in the country with a view to classifying them as either accredited or not accredited. This is very similar to the move in previous years which did the same thing for medical schools and is intended to raise the status of engineering schools, and to place engineering on a professional basis.

Those who will make the inspection are Dean Louis Michell, Syracuse University; Dr. H. C. Parmelee, McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.; Mr. O. W. Eshbach, American Telephone & Telegraph Co.; Prof. E. F. Church, Jr., Brooklyn Polytechnic Institutes; Prof. A. U. Newman, Cooper Union; and Dean E. A. Holbrook, University of Pittsburgh.

The group will come here after making a similar inspection of Johns Hopkins.

OPEN DANCES—MORE AND MERRIER

The Student Council has decided to voice a long-felt opinion that the Social Committee exercises an autocratic power over a large part of the extra curricular life at the University of Delaware. A movement has been started to obtain undergraduate representation on that body.

There have been all too few dances that are open to the student body. The last inexpensive affair was that of the Blue Key Society in November! The only one of any description since then was the Junior Prom.

This has not been due to lack of initiative. The Blue Keys went in the hole on their dance mentioned above. However, when they recently went before the Social Committee to petition for the privilege(?) of holding another dance it was a case of thumbs down. Other cases could be cited. Every Fraternity man knows that when a house-party is proposed the biggest problem to be faced is getting the affair and date approved by the Social Committee. Fraternities are allowed one house-party a month—it shouldn't make much difference when they are held.

So much for conditions. The question is what to do about them. The Student Council feels officially that one representative on the committee might alleviate the situation. Unofficially its members voice the opinion that his position would be somewhat like the king of Italy.

If you think something like this is to your advantage, write the Student Council and state your views. After all it directly concerns you and your life here. Why not help to control your own activities?

ELECTION SUPERVISION

The recent class elections were for the most part typical examples of crooked campus politics. The elections were conducted frequently by men who were at the same time running for office. Voting by proxy was detected in at least one class election.

To get a class officership is an honor, but to get one honestly is an impossibility. We do not necessarily intend to infer that all the men who obtained offices in the recent class elections won by dint of crooked politics, but we do want to state clearly that in no class election were crooked maneuvers and questionable modes of procedure entirely absent.

A glaring example of the sort of strategy we are speaking about took place yesterday during the balloting for Sophomore vice-president. The total number of votes was approximately twenty per cent greater than the total number of men present. The returns were thrown out. It was fortunate that the crooked maneuvering of the present Freshmen was too crude to escape detection by the honest members of the gathering.

The Student Council has stopped the racket by passing a bill providing for control of all elections by committees consisting of Senior members of the Council. In the future class elections will be subjected to rigid supervision that cannot fail to insure clean voting and accurate tabulation of results.

Admission requirements of American universities have reached a dangerously low level, according to Frank Bowles, Columbia authority.

George Washington University hospital researchers have developed a new anesthetic for use during child-birth.

Alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee, moderately used, do not cause any disease of the heart or blood vessels, says Harvard's Dr. William H. Robey.

Oxford, Ohio (ACP)—As a result of the veto by Gov. Martin L. Davey of appropriations amounting to $76,900 for 14 items in the University budget, Miami University finds itself without funds for library books, numerous kinds of supplies, equipment, repairs, and wages for student assistants and ground workers. According to W. P. Roubush, secretary of the board of trustees of the University, who said the school was without authority to incur expenses on credit, Miami will simply have to do without these services and supplies for the present.

New York (ACP)—Because an article in "The Quadrangle," weekly student publication at Manhattan College denounced Alfred E. Smith for turning against President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the issue was suppressed and destroyed by Brother Patrick, F. S. C., president of the college, who seized all but about 200 copies. The article strongly condemned Smith's Liberty League speech in Washington, and was unique in the history of the paper, which has heretofore let controversial politics alone.

Pittsburgh, Pa. (ACP)—Pennsylvania State College and State Teachers' colleges are included in a list of 54 state institutions now under investigation by State Police following disclosure of conditions branded by Gov. George H. Earle as showing "fire hazards of the worst sort" and "barbaric disciplinary methods."

Absentmindedness

For lack of a better title I shall call the following absentmindedness. Quite some time ago—3 or 4 weeks—Sid Burtman cashed a check in Fossetti's Barber Shop with the addresses of two girls and a lot of meaningless numbers on the reverse side. He at least should be more careful of his addresses—he might call sometime to find he was just too late.

The 'cross

Last Wednesday night Ducky Cannon escorted his girl home. After a reasonable elapse of time he came strolling up town—my guess to the D. P.—looking quite contented that he had freed himself for his own enjoyment of the remaining time left that night. Approximately 20 minutes after he had strolled past my window, his date came strolling up town too—perhaps to seek her own diversion. I also noticed that Lew Carey stepped out that night, huh C?

The Social Committee

I understand that the Student Council has approved the measure that some student members be admitted to the Social Committee. I also understand that this suggestion of proposed student membership does not rest kindly with the Social Committee. Now there is a nice situation for you: Undoubtedly the reason the Student Council suggested student membership to this committee was that it felt that the students would benefit appreciably if represented; conversely, IF the Social Committee looked with disfavor on the proposal, it must feel that the students are faring well enough. The offered argument is probably bad logic; however, I feel that if our Student Council proposes student membership to the Social Committee, the Social Committee should present adequate reasons why student membership should not be granted. What do you think?

A Rumor

With my fingers very much crossed, etc., I offer this: I heard that one of the Vice Presidents of the du Pont Company was the donor of the majority of the sum for the building of the new Chemistry Building. The reason is obvious—the du Pont Company has an increasing need for Chemical Engineers and by providing the University of Delaware with a Chemistry Building it can reasonably hope that institution to fall in line and present a curriculum for Chemical Engineers which will compare favorably with Mechanicals, Civils, and Electricals. A very noble gesture on the Vice President's part, I think.

Beau Brummels

Some of the members of the Junior Class of Military cannot find enough uses for the military checks, so they conceive the idea of getting boots this year. I know that it looks nice to wear boots and breeches around the campus—especially with a "D" sweater—but I can find enough uses for my money without trying to find a way to spend it. You will make a striking figure though, Tom—maybe you can borrow a horse from Jack Dayett.

These N. Y. A. Jobs

The following argument was advanced during a front room session: The government is rapidly approaching its credit limit. It is helping a lot of needy students pay for their education now; it is also helping a lot of students who are not so needy. Therefore, because we, the present students, will be the next taxpayers—why should not all of us get an N. Y. A. Job? I understand that there are some of these jobs available, too. Then, when we are paying this money back in the form of taxes we will not resent it so much.

Yoo-hoo! Spring is Here!

Well, spring is here. And ain't it a grand and glorious feelin'? Signs of spring are everywhere. All the young bloods are appearing in their vernal finery, and all the younger blood-suckers are letting their hair down.

The approach of the mating season is heralded by a fungus growth of students along The Wall. These students are of varying degrees and species. They have a lovely time sitting on the Wall and yelling, "Yoo-hoo!" to or at every passing fancy. They just sit and laze. And I envy them. I wish I had that mentality. "I really do. But no. When the editor asks for someone to do the book reviews, I am the only one dumb enough to answer. So that, fellows, is why I'm up here pounding this typewriter (and a lousy one it is, too) while you are down there yelling, "Yoo-hoo!"

One More Spring

It is to you congenial souls, especially, that I dedicate this column. Did you ever read Robert Nathan's One More Spring? If you did, then drop this right now and re-read it. You know everything I'm going to say. But to you who have never had this peculiar pleasure: for heaven's sake, go down to Mr. Lewis' Library and get it. Don't waste time hanging around here. You'll never again find such a mixture of charm, humor, tears, and biting satire in any book, unless it be his Bishop's Wife or Jonah. There are six characters in this book, an awful lot for such a little volume. But each one is so finely drawn, so clear-cut, no matter how momentary their appearance in the pages, that they could come only from a pen as sympathetic as Nathan's, from the young prostitute who makes her home with a bankrupt antique dealer and a violinist in a Central Park tool-shed, to Mr. Sweeny, the street cleaner whose one ambition is to play Macushla.

I don't know about you guys. I can only speak for myself. I read One More Spring regularly twice every year. Once in the dead of winter, and once, of course, in the spring. The other times are when I feel that way, which don't count.

Two Swigs

That's the true test of a good book, fellows. Can it stand re-reading? Last week's Kneel to the Rising Sun was a good book. Fairly good. But it won't stand re-reading. It's like a glass of muscatel. A good strong bitter wine, but if you drink it too often, it loses its edge.

One More Spring is different. You can drink from that a hundred times, and the taste will always be as fresh and as clear as the first sip. In fact, you can't really like it, or even begin to know it, until you've read at least three times.

So if you'll excuse me, I'll take my dog-eared copy and go out to the Wall and read.

Yoo-hoo!

Commencement Invitations

For the convenience of all graduating Seniors, Carl Bleiberg will be in the lounge of Old College each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 2.00 to 5.00 p. m., to take orders for the commencement invitations. All orders must be placed before May 16, 1936.

Blue Hen Trackmen To Open Saturday Against Johns Hopkins

Close Contest Expected As Hens Meet Rival Squad On Home Field

Drozdzov, Carey, And Davis May Excell In Field Events When Clark's Squad Starts; Weakness Expected In Running

It seems to be the consensus of opinion, around the college, that this year's track team is the weakest conglomeration that has represented the Blue and Gold for many years. This, however, is untrue, for the great strength in the field events will keep Coach Clark's team in the running.

With such men as Captain John Carey, Drozdzov, Pennock, and Davis taking care of the field events, along with the help of Mayer, Merscher, Good, Hill, and Applegate, the outlook on the 1936 track season becomes much brighter.

The combination of J. Carey and Drozdzov in the shot-put is enough to score any college track team. "Swede" is the present holder of the College record for this event, and he is showing much of his last year's skill. It will not be at all surprising to see "Droz" shatter his own record.

In the discus event, J. Carey, Drozdzov, and Davis are all doing fine. Davis, a Freshman, is showing unusual fine form and ability in this event, and he will no doubt go far in helping the Blue Hens to pile up points.

There are five men in the javelin event capable of doing 155 feet or better. J. Carey, who is undefeated in dual competition, and holds the College record in this event, leads the field which is composed of such men as Drozdzov, F. Carey, Davis, and Pennock.

In the running events, Joe Perkins, Anderson, Hodgson, King, Mayer, Tyler, Arnold, McDonald, and Jackson will carry the burden. Perkins has equaled the College record in the 440, Jack Hodgson is one of last year's lettermen, and his speed and skill in the hurdles are expected to help the Delaware team greatly.

Saturday, April 18, the first track meet will take place with Johns Hopkins on Frazer Field. It is hard to judge the outcome but the Blue and Gold should come out on top due to their strength in the field events.

Sociology Classes Tour Delaware Institutions

On Thursday, April 16, the Delaware College Sociology Class, under the supervision of Dr. Ezra B. Crooks, will visit the Delaware State Hospital and will make an inspection of it, accompanied by Dr. Tarumian, head of the institution, and his assistants.

On Wednesday, today, the Women's College Sociology Class, also accompanied by Dr. Crooks, visited the Delcastle Farm and the Colored Girls' Industrial School.

Next week the procedure shall be reversed, the men's class going to Greenbank and the Ferris Industrial School and the women to Farnhurst.

Glee Club Constitution Wins Council Approval

The University of Delaware Glee Club submitted its constitution to the Student Council for approval Monday night and it was ratified without criticism. The Club became a recognized organization, eligible to request funds from the Council treasury and to receive points for membership under the newly established Honor System.

James Kelly is the retiring president of the Glee Club, which is directed by Professor Mylrea.

Golf Season Begins Today At Newark

Six-Man Team Opens Against Haverford Combine; Jamison And Moore Only Lettermen

With Spring and warmer weather approaching Coach C. O. Houghton's golf team swung into its first intercollegiate encounter today, opposing Haverford at the Newark Country Club. A six-man team will represent the Blue Hens today, probably consisting of Jamison, Moore, Hayes and Teedie Wilson and two men out of the remaining three of Davis, Good, Stradley and Saville.

Tomorrow they will continue their season, playing Boston College on the home links. Only a four-man team will play. Swarthmore will be played Friday at home also.

With the help of last year's lettermen, Jamison and Moore, and the fine playing of the two Wilson's, Hayes and Teedie, the team should be able to do well this season.

The matches that will be held on opponents' links are with Army and Rutgers.

Delaware Courtmen Should Practice Soon

Captain Wheelless' Squad To Oppose Drexel On School Courts Saturday, April 25

Coach Jones' tennis team has, as yet, not practiced to any great extent. This has been due to two reasons: weather and condition of the courts, which will, we understand, be reconditioned with N. Y. A. funds by the time the season starts. The first match is Saturday, April 25, at home. The opponent will be Drexel.

Manager Scotton has issued a call for managers and Charles Wintrup will probably be one of the team's handlers this year.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 19, 20 and 21, Carl Gable, Myrna Loy and Jean Harlow will star in "Win Your Woman."

With The Blue And Gold

By Dave Sloan

The newly organized Mason-Dixon Track Conference is growing steadily as it now numbers nine institutions as members. Randolph-Macon College, Western Maryland College, and our own University of Delaware recently notified the charter members of their willingness to enter teams in the First Annual Championships to be held at Johns Hopkins University on May 2, 1936.

American University, Catholic University, Johns Hopkins University, Gallaudet College, University of Baltimore, and Washington College will be represented in this affair which promises to be of annual interest.

This organized group is really doing things in a big and detailed way, as we learn approximately 150 athletes will compete in the 15 event contest, which is expected to attract a huge crowd, who will be in close contact with the progress of the meet through the medium of a public address system. A student band will furnish music between events. The Olympic idea of presenting the winners with their rewards with fitting formality is to be copied by the use of a victory stand. And last, but by no means least, we understand a big banquet for the athletes will be held after the curtain is drawn on the premier of a show which is destined to have a great future.

Old Man Weather put a "dampener" on the ball game with the Rutgers' nine scheduled for last Saturday, but "Doc's" boys go again on the 18th at home when they meet Pratt Institute of New York City. We understand that institution has thrown its hat into the revenge ring, and when we learn that four or five years ago, in the last meeting of the two teams, the Blue Hens turned on their opponents and the best collegiate hurler in the East, throwing them for a 5-4 loss, we can easily understand this attitude.

The University of Delaware recently missed a great chance to get mixed up in big-time football when "Doc" Doherty sent a letter of refusal in answer to an offer proffered by Dick Harlow and Neil Stahley of Harvard. It seems these men wanted to see a meeting between Delaware and Harvard this coming season.

but after considerable thought it was decided that an acceptance of such a proposition, although seemingly one to grab, might prove disastrous as far as arranging a schedule with teams of our caliber the following year.

Due to some negligence we failed to announce the loss of Jack Daly to the baseball squad. An appendicitis operation performed just before the team was to leave on the Southern trip means the loss of Jack for the present season. Up until that time he was doing an A-1 job of holding down the 2nd base position on the Blue and Gold nine.

Jack Hodgson is trying a bit of that iron-man stuff by undertaking both baseball and track in one season. If the spark he showed during football season is prevalent this spring, we feel certain there will be no lack of chatter on the diamond or any slow hurdle events.

"Bull" Carey showed perfect form today in practice when he tossed the discus a mere 140 feet (approximately 6 feet better than the present school record). We expect the present official record to last about three more days and then.

All indications point toward a winning golf combination as the eight candidates are consistently shooting in the seventies and low eighties in practice. Professor Houghton's boys will begin their campaign this week when they meet Haverford, Boston College, and Swarthmore in three successive days on the home course beginning Wednesday. A match with Lafayette is under negotiation, while there is also a possibility of meeting Villanova should one match be rained out.

Don't forget the track meet with Johns Hopkins or the ball game with Pratt Institute Saturday. How's about some of you fellows, who seem to be enveloped by a lack-of-interest complex, coming out to Frazer Field and feasting your eyes on a 2 in 1 show that will keep you entertained with excitement for the entire afternoon?

For those who have been wondering when the Athletic Banquet will be held, we can only say that no date has yet been set, but a meeting of the Athletic Council next Tuesday will bring forth the answer.

Women's College Prepares May Day Celebration

Preparations for the annual May Day celebration at Women's College are being made. Betty Armstrong, of the Senior class, has been elected as the Maid of Honor for the May Court. Other members of the Court are Elinor Clay, queen, and Elizabeth Strauss, Dorothy Hanby, and Bee Blackwell, assistants. Other parts for the pageant are to be announced later.

Some of the characters to be represented are Pluto, Persephone, Ceres, Helios, Iris, Spring, Mercury, and Cupid. Mary Louise Wolfenden will direct the pageant, which will be concerned with the loss of Ceres' daughter to the King of the underworld and her return to the world for six months, because she had eaten only six pomegranate seeds.

Dean Spencer Named Member of Committee

Dean Robert L. Spencer, of the School of Engineering, is one of a committee of five of Delaware's outstanding engineers appointed to formulate a law requiring the licensing of engineers in this state. Other members of the committee are: S. W. Sawin, du Pont Co., chairman; R. P. Schoenijahn, consulting engineer, Wilmington; R. D. Rogers, du Pont Co.; and Garrett Cantwell, du Pont Co.

Thirty-four states now have license laws, and this committee plans to meet on April 25 and 26 to draw up a tentative law that will put Delaware engineers on an equal basis with those of other states.

Blue Hen Baseball Team Plays Pratt

Team Continues Season This Saturday On Local Diamond; Daly Out For Remainder Of Year Due To Appendicitis

Coach Doherty's nine failed to make its home debut Saturday due to the poor condition of the diamond. The next scheduled game with Pratt Institute this coming Saturday promises to be an interesting event for all concerned. The Chicks have gone through a period of intensive training since their return from the unfortunate Southern trip. Improved pitching, lack of errors, and plentiful batting practice insures a better team, Jack Daly, star second baseman, is still absent from the lineup. If Kirby Preston can get the old home run swing in his bat and the rest of the team keeps up the good work they have shown in practice, everything should run off in smooth style. Horace Payne, that star pitcher from Sussex County, is showing great promise these days, while his fellow hurler, Bill Deaver, is still tossing the pill across the pan in fine style. With warmer weather the team should loosen up and give the opposing teams a taste of real baseball.

Fraternity Mermen Begin Competition

Sigma Phi Epsilon Leads In First Two Days Of Four Day Meet Held This Week

In the reorganized interfraternity swimming meet held here Monday and Tuesday, to be continued Wednesday and Thursday, we find a slight revival in campus interest. The first two days of the contest have passed and left the S. P. E. house in the lead. Sigma Nu and Theta Chi are tied for second place with 7 points, just 6 markers behind the Sig Eps.

In the diving event we find the versatile Hodgson playing the role of conqueror for the Sigma Nu boys, while Holt of the S. P. E.'s and Stewart of the Theta Chi's placed second and third respectively.

The 440 yard free style race was won by Holt. Stewart placed, and Dinnen, Sigma Nu, showed.

On Tuesday the backstroke relay was run off, with Saville, Harkins, Ely, and Plink as candidates for the S. P. E. fraternity which took the event. Theta Chi and Sigma Nu followed in that order to complete the scoring for the day.

Notice—College Hour

Firmin Swinnen will give an organ recital at College Hour Tuesday morning, April 21, at 11:45 o'clock. This will be next to the last recital given by Mr. Swinnen at the University this year. The last will be on the University Hour program on the evening of May 14. Although Mr. Swinnen's program has not yet been announced, it is known that he will include one or two numbers from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," which he will also play later in the month at the performance of "Peer Gynt" by the E. 52 Players.

Spring clothes are like the trees—a little late in blossoming out, but at the first peek of the sun—out they come.

Surprising to note, considering the weather to date, some bushes around Science Hall are beginning to flower. W. C. D. makes a lovely picture when they are all white.

Great plans are on for our May Day. Practice on the dances has already started, and the court is being chosen. May Day will be Grecian in character this year. Miss Hartshorn and Miss Eastabrooks are in charge, and are assisted by a May Day committee.

Few people stayed on campus over Easter.

On Monday the Glee Club met at 4.10 p. m. in the Music Building.

By the way, the Glee Club went down to Smyrna last Thursday night and sang for the Adult Education Group that had an entertainment in Smyrna High School. Dr. Holloway commented highly on the selections.

Chapel was held at 12.35 p. m., in Science Hall, as usual.

Baseball practices for all classes were scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at 4.10 p. m.

On Wednesday at 4.10 the Science Club held a meeting in Room 10, Science Hall.

Thursday, April 16, will be an unusually busy day this week especially for members of the Math Club.

At 4.30 there will be a Math Club Tea at the home of Professor Jones at 402 South College avenue. Then at 7.30 there will be a Math Club meeting in Room 10, Science Hall. Mrs. Rees and Rachel Phelps will speak on the "Romance of the Heavens."

At 6 p. m. Supper Club will meet in Kent Hall. Dorothy Welton will be the speaker.

Art Club will meet in Turvy Common Room at 4.10 p. m.

Snooping to Conquer

By David Kozinski

It seems that quite a bit of excitement has been experienced by the various campaigning groups during the class elections. Too bad that "Bruz" Wilson didn't get the presidency of the Freshmen. Something was wrong somewhere because he was supposed to have had the office in the bag so to speak. Everything was arranged for his being elected. (He was even ready to bet 5 smackers that he would be the president.) One of the best campaigners is Hugg, who went around whooping it up for Tommy Leach. More power to the politicians! (But to be frank, open campaigning or none at all is better.)

Stoll is up to his tricks again. Not standing on his head and getting his arches sun-burned. No; worse than that, he is going around and making himself slightly de trop, shall we say, by showing the boys in the Lounge a match trick. It's pretty good tho, and it has the wise(?) engineers guessing and spending sleepless nights trying to figure it out.

By the bye, did you notice that a sort of a moaning wail and gnashing of teeth was heard the other day coming from the W. C. D. campus? The whole cause of it was that (as Petunia puts it) Lattin did a singular thing at his frat meeting the other day.

The following is a pun originated by the versatile pun-loving punster Seitz, the punier of the Seitzes.

Seitz: "Do you know what the gangster's lullaby is?"

Stooge: "No, what is it?"

Seitz: "I'm putting all my yeggs in one casket. Ha! ha! ha!"

We thought we might as well print it now to save you the misery of going through such an episode again. You know Seitz, nobody can take him seriously anymore.

Once upon a time an honest-to-goodness rag man stumbled on our sturdy campus. It so happened that he also stumbled on our not so sturdy comrade, T. Keithley.

Ragman: "Any rags today, any rags?"

Keithley: "Ah, my good man, I'm a college student, don't you know."

Ragman: "Any bottles then?"

Don't look now but Zabowski is engaged to none other than "Billie" Wells. Don't believe it, eh? Well, Zabowski is wearing Wells' ring anyway.

Connor, Christie, Tunnel, members of Prof. Holbrook's beginner's German class have decided to team together and go over to Germany this summer. They plan to rent bicycles over there and travel all around Europe. They will go to the Olympics and perhaps take a summer course at Heidelberg. Before they go Prof. Holbrook is going to give them a special course in German so that perhaps they will know something about how to attempt to speak the language.

TELEPHONE engineers had to find a way to stop gray squirrels gnawing holes in the lead sheath of telephone cables. Even a tiny hole may let in moisture—short circuit the wires—and put a number of telephones out of service temporarily.

Many ideas were tried, but the squirrels gnawed on. Finally the cables were painted with black asphaltum and sprinkled with sand. The gnawing stopped.

Not a major engineering problem, to be sure. But thousands of strange little problems, too, have been solved to assure you the world's most reliable telephone service.

Tommy Tucker's Band Main Feature Of Spring Frolic April 24; Needless Extras Out

Student Council Plans Carefree Affair In Newark Armory; "Mus" Walson, Chairman

The band comes to town.

Featuring Tommy Tucker, one of the best and biggest "name" bands ever to appear on the University of Delaware Campus, the annual Student Council Spring Frolic will get under way in the Newark Armory on Friday evening, April 24, at nine o'clock.

According to reports, the extremely nominal admission fee of two dollars per couple has attracted literally hundreds of dance fans.

The Spring Frolic is the one affair of the year where stoogents and stooges, professors and protestors let their hair down and really go to town, although it is not an "out-lawed" affair, and is graced by the presence of chaplains and patrons.

Yeah, Man.

Although jollity and good spirits are the order of the night, Chairman "Mus" Walson and his committee, Hugh Stewart, Jack Geist, and Bill Black promise that this year's Frolic will offer no exception to the gentlemanly conduct that has characterized previous affairs.

The committee has planned no extra, special, added attractions. They remember very well the appearance of one gentleman at one Spring Frolic, wearing one suit of impeccable top-hat, white-tie, and tails. Impeccable, that is, with but one singular exception. As the eye traveled up from glistening patent pumps to spotless white garters to here his trousers should have been, it was met with a lovely pair of University of Delaware track shorts.

The committee hopes for an informal evening.

building will be two stories high in front, but in the back, due to a slope of the ground, the basement under the entire building will make it three stories high. It will be approximately 125 by 125 feet in ground plan size and take about one year to complete.

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. Sharp, Judge Richard S. Rodney and Dr. Samuel Marshall of Milford, all of the university committee on grounds and buildings; A. J. Taylor, Dr. Walter Hüllihen, president of the University; H. Fletcher Brown, Mr. Trautwine and E. K. Taylor, representing Charles Z. Klauder, Philadelphia, architect of the building; Robert Schoenijahn, engineer on the building; Charles E. Grubb, recently appointed business manager of the University, and Dr. Eastman, head of the chemistry department of the University.

Question of Future War Topic for Debate Team

"Will the United States be drawn into the next World War?" This is the subject to be debated by the University of Delaware and the University of California of Berkeley, California, in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. in Wilmington on Monday evening, May 18th.

The importance and liveliness of this subject are such that it was deemed advisable by the team to have the match in Wilmington. As a consequence arrangements were made with the educational division of the Y. M. C. A. where by the debate will be jointly sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the University of Delaware.

Delaware will defend the affirmative in this debate. That is, they will maintain that the U. S. will be inevitably drawn into the next World War.

Winslow Dancers Scheduled To Perform Next Week

Famous Troupe Will Be Feature Of University Hour; Plan Oriental And Spanish Dances

The Miriam Winslow Dancers will present on Thursday evening, April 23, the largest and most elaborate dance program ever seen at the University. The program is one of the offerings of the University Hour Committee. Those attending the Parent-Student Dinner at the Women's College the same evening will be guests of the Committee at this performance.

Miss Winslow and her dancers offer a group of most unusual dances. Their interpretations are an intelligent synthesis of the best and most enduring aspects of both the ballet and the modern dance. There is none of the harshness of the radical pseudo-modern dance, and none of the rigidity and sentimentality of the typical ballet. The dances are a fusion of classical and modern principles.

Miss Winslow is able to achieve

The new Student Council will meet on Thursday at 7.00 p. m. for the purpose of electing officers for the coming school year.

President, Student Council.

this synthesis because she recognizes that the difference between the modern and ballet techniques is largely one of approach, illustrating two entirely opposed methods of working on dance movement. The routine superimposed method of ballet imparts precision and feeling for line and form. The freely-developed, built-up movements of the modern dance make experiment possible.

In combining these two seemingly divergent forms, Miss Winslow has achieved flexible art. She avoids on the one hand the sterility of the merely technical dancer and on the other the confused excesses of self-expression.

The Winslow Dancers have been acclaimed wherever they have appeared. Two of their outstanding engagements have been with the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington and Boston. Concerning their Washington appearance, the critic of The Evening Star wrote:

"In her later appearances, a prelude of Chopin, Von Dohanny's 'Valse Impromptu,' and the closing number, she showed versatility, a thorough knowledge of the music and the art of perfect relaxation and control of muscles, as well as the rhythm and poetry of the music. Her interpretations are vivid and have a spiritual quality not always found in present day dancers. Her work in the Chopin prelude was marked by originality, both in her interpretation and in the effective costuming, and in the Dohnanyi valse her every move was grace itself while the rhythm in body, arm and hand was like the rhythm of a calm sea, infectious and captivating.

ting down the prose translation of "Peer Gynt" so that it may be given in from two and a half to three hours. In his revision of the play, Mr. Kase has made every effort to preserve all the drama, and to cut out all of the philoso-phizing except that which is absolutely essential to the play.

Mr. Firmin Swinnen will be seated at the organ during the whole performance. The entire "Peer Gynt" suite will be played between scenes.

All requests for tickets should be sent to Miss Charlotte Stout, business manager of the Players. Reservations may be made in Mitchell Hall daily (except Saturday) from 4.15 to 5.30. Already 400 seats have been reserved, so it is advisable to secure tickets as soon as possible to insure getting a good seat. The performance will be given on April 30, and May 1.

VOLUME 22 NUMBER 23

NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1936

LEAP YEAR WEEK at Swarthmore College was observed by women making dates, paying the bills and being generally useful. Anne Cooper even had to carry books for her male friends. A check-up indicated that social activities doubled during the week.

THEY'RE HUNTING FOR OPPONENTS—This exclusive University of Arizona women's bowling team claims to be the only one of its kind in the U. S., and its members are searching for other teams to engage in intercollegiate competition. Their coach is "Had" Summerville.

WHEN NEW YORK ELEVATOR MEN STRUCK, these Hunter College students came to their aid by picketing the apartment house home of Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

A PLUM—A traveling salesman and an orator were drafted by the editor of the University magazine to select the Hawkeye campus before his yearbook rival could go to press for jury's selections. They chose Delta Drees as their queen. Said the salesman, "Drees is the best." Said Miss Drees, "Drees is the best."

IF YOU'RE tired of your boarding house menu, members of Tau Kappa Epsilon at James Millikin University advise you to try roasted crow. They find the meat dark, fine grained, and tender, with a "gamey" taste. Fraternity members are shown cleaning their first batch of crows—and several state conservation commissioners are "plugging" the new food so they can get rid of the ravagers.

Airs Academic Sanctity

FROM experience, Dr. Dexter Merritt, president of Reed College (Portland, Ore.), has learned that heavy academic robes are stifling. A. B., Cornell M. A., Brookings Institute, Dr. Keezer taught variously and brilliantly at Dartmouth, Cornell, and the Universities of California and North Carolina, but he was a fish that leapt occasionally from the tank into the stream to get a swim of things again. He worked on the Denver Times and edited the Baltimore Sun. Reed College found him a year ago working on the National Consumers' Advisory Board.

At Reed there are inter-collegiate athletics, no fraternities, and student self-government is important. The intellectual freedom Reed attempts readily persuades some august citizens of Portland that Reed is a bed of radicalism. President Keezer is known to have worn bright red duck pants on the campus, but to the calmer observer the president seems merely to be airing out academic sanctity. He prods bookworms into skiing trips, but makes no effort to attract or hold playboys at Reed.

Loudspeaker Solace

FOUR years ago the Voice of Experience began, in accents somewhat harsh, to dole out solace to believers in loudspeaker comfort. Today The Voice has an audience of millions, and it is generally known that their adviser is Marion Sayle Taylor. Mr. Taylor is an LL.D., made so a year ago by William Jewell College (Liberty, Mo.) on a June day proclaimed by Liberty's mayor as "Voice of Experience Day." For three years The Voice studied at William Jewell, but he took his A. B. at Pacific University in 1911.

Anent "experience," Dr. Taylor looks back along 47 years on a poverty-stricken youth, post-graduate work at Oregon Agricultural College and the University of Oregon, the accident which crushed his hands and ruined his hope of becoming a professional organist, a superintendency of schools in Oregon, and nation-wide wandering as a Chautauqua lecturer. Out of this he has found the formula for successfully throwing oil on troubled human waters. Remembering his youth, he gives to organized charity the sizeable contributions he receives from well-wishers.
