Dr. Carlson Appointed President

University to Sponsor Series Of Lectures on Marriage

First Lecture March 6

A series of five lectures on Marriage and related problems, it was announced today, will be given for students at the University of Delaware beginning on March 6. The lectures will be given by different persons from New York, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, each a recognized authority on the particular phase upon which he will lecture.

Although instruction on the subject of marriage and its problems is taking the form of a series of lectures, it is actually similar to an elective extra-curricular course and therefore is available only to students presently enrolled at the University.

Sponsored jointly by the University and its student government association, the purpose of the lecture series is to provide students with information on marriage as presented by competent authorities on the subject in order that they may be well prepared for successful careers in marriage in the same manner as they prepare for careers in business and professions.

Recognizing the family as the basic unit upon which our civilization is founded, it is important that disruption of family units be kept at a minimum. This is especially significant at this time when the public press consistently reflects a large number of failures in war and post-war marriages.

The need for education at the college level on the subject of marriage has long been recognized.

Dr. Rees Awarded Medal of Freedom Given for Meritorious Service in C. B. I.

On February 21 at a university College Hour Dr. Carl J. Rees, Head of the Department of Mathematics, was awarded the Medal of Freedom for meritorious service and performance of duty in support of offensive military operations of the Fourteenth Air Force in China. Presentation of the medal was made by Colonel Jay E. Gillfillan, Professor of Military Science and Tactics and Commandant of the ASTRP at the University.

Although a civilian, Dr. Rees had the assimilated rank of colonel and served as an operations analyst with the Fourteenth Air Force from August 9, 1944, to November 7, 1945. The medal may

Col. J. Gillfillan Transferred to Vt.

Capt. Morton Given Temporary Command

Colonel Jay E. Gillfillan has been relieved of his duties as P. M. S. T. at the University of Delaware, and after a short leave will attend a course at Ft. Belvoir, Va., in the administration of R. O. T. C. installations. Upon completion of this course, Col. Gillfillan will attend another course in the practical applications of infantry R. O. T. C. tactics at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia, and then will report to the University of Vermont in Burlington, Vt., where he will become P. M. S. T.

Colonel Gillfillan assumed command of the University of Delaware's A. S. T. R. P. and R. O. T. C. programs in early December, 1945, shortly after his return from India. Gillfillan is a native of Illinois and a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

A new P. M. S. T. is expected to arrive at the University shortly and in the interim Capt. D. R. Morton has been given command of the R. O. T. C. and A. S. T. R. P.

Olaf P. Bergelin Named Assistant In Chem. Engineering

Omohundro and DeFries Added to Staff

According to an announcement by Dr. A. P. Colburn, head of the Chemical Engineering Division, Captain Olaf P. Bergelin has been named assistant professor of chemical engineering and George A. Omohundro and Myron DeFries have received fellowships in chemical engineering research.

In addition to Captain Bergelin's instructional duties he will direct an extensive research project on heat exchangers. This project is being supported by several industrial organizations which manufacture and use equipment of this type. Bergelin is expected to assume his new duties about March 1.

A graduate of Purdue University, Omohundro was a fellow at the University of Delaware from 1941 until he received a commission in the Naval Reserve in July, 1942. While on active duty in the Navy, he served as an instructor at the Diesel Engine School at Cornell University and later as chief engineering officer with the rank of lieutenant aboard the USS Cockrell.

DeFries is a graduate of City College of New York, and is conducting research on mechanical properties of plastics.

Annex to Memorial Library Now Open

New System Set Up For Reserve Books

On Thursday, February 21, at eight o'clock the Annex to the University of Delaware's Memorial Library was officially opened for the use and enjoyment of its students and faculty. Due to the large and unprecedented enrollment in the university the opening of the West Wing of the Library was grossly necessitated.

The newly opened West Wing of the Library is to have a browsing room, and a main reading room and a section for the purpose of exhibiting unusual but interesting and worthwhile displays. The browsing room however, will be equipped with many new and interesting books. The main room will be the exact replica of the one in the east wing, but with a different selection of books. The library has undertaken a new policy in the opening of a display room of exhibits in the southwest wing of the library. These exhibits are to be carried out by the students of the university with the assistance of Mr. William Lewis. It is suggested that those students who would be interested in working and originating a display of top notch quality contact Mr. Lewis whose office is the Memorial Library. Recordings also will be displayed to the public and they

Summer School To Start on June 24

Tentative List of Courses Being Drawn Up

Dean W. Earle Armstrong, chairman of the University's committee on Summer School, announced that the first session of this year's Summer School will start on June 24 and will end on August 2. If the demand for another term is great enough, the second session will begin on August 5 and end September 13.

At a meeting on February 25 of all University department heads and deans it was decided to call two meetings of the student body to see how many of the students are interested in summer school and what courses they wish to take. The first of these meetings will be held on Thursday, March 7, at 11 a. m., in Mitchell Hall and is for civilian students only. The second meeting is on Tuesday, March 12, at 11 a. m. in Mitchell Hall and is for returned veterans. The Summer School committee is making a list of courses which may be offered and the meetings will be called to see how many students are interested in each course. A list of these tentative courses will be sent to each student, either through the mail boxes on the campus, or to their home address. Dean Armstrong urges everybody who is interested in attending the summer sessions to come to these scheduled meetings.

Students who are pursuing an irregular course of study are urged to attend Summer School as well as those students who entered the University this February as first term freshmen, sophomores, juniors, or seniors. The courses they should want to take are the second term courses of one year subjects as it is very doubtful that those subjects can be offered next fall due to the expected crowding of the University. Regular students should be sure to select full year courses or take one semester courses which will not be offered next September.

Each student will be allowed to take six credit hours for each session of Summer School. In case that one of the subjects has four credit hours, another three credit-hour course maybe taken. With the special permission of the Summer School committee a student may take subjects totalling 8 or 9 credit hours.

All school expenses and regular monthly subsistence for veterans will be paid by the Veterans Administration, according to a letter from the office of the Veterans Administration in Philadelphia. The minimum amount of credit hours for veterans will be four, but a course of six is preferred.

Correction

There was a misinterpretation of the article in the February 13, 1946, issue, concerning the Summer Session.

The Summer Session will begin on June 24th and will continue for six weeks. The addition, if any, will be determined by the needs of the students. Definite announcements will be made as soon as needs are determined.

TO ASSUME NEW DUTIES IN JULY

Youngest President In History of University

Dr. William S. Carlson of the University of Minnesota, has been appointed president of the University and will probably take office in July, it was announced on January 22, following a special meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Carlson, now dean of records and admissions at the University of Minnesota will fill a vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Walter Hüllihen in April, 1944. Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, acting president, will serve until Dr. Carlson takes over.

Dr. Sypherd Univ. Prof.

When Dr. Carlson assumes his duties, Dr. Sypherd will be named University professor, responsible only to the president, an honor merited through his long services in the institution. This position is an unusual one, created in only a few universities.

Dr. Carlson will be the youngest president in the history of the University and probably one of the youngest college presidents in the country. He is an author, a scientist, educator and former colonel in the Army Air Forces.

Man of Wide Ability

Although primarily an educator and a scientist, Dr. Carlson's accomplishments cover a wide field. As a writer he has made contributions to technical and educational journals and his one full-length book "Greenland Lies North," published by MacMillan Company in 1940, was given excellent reviews by the New York Times, The Saturday Review of Literature, and other publications.

Rank of Colonel in Army

Newman Club To Hold Open House

The Newman Club's first social function this term will be in the form of an "open house," to be held in the Recreation Room of Brown Hall on Saturday, March 2, following the last basketball game of the season.

Arrangements under the direction of Margaret McCarthy, newly elected chairman of the Program Committee, will feature dancing to recorded music and a short skit by some of the members of the club. Refreshments will be served at intermission.

The function is open to all Newman Club members and their guests, with or without dates.

Development Fund Being Raised To Be Used to Improve University

From the Office of Alumni and Public Relations comes the information that preparations for launching the University of Delaware's first Annual Development Fund Campaign near completion. It was disclosed that Miss Gertrude B. Draper, class of '37, will serve as alumnae chairman and William G. Ott, class of '32, as alumni chairman.

The goal of the campaign is to raise not less than $50,000 from alumni alumnae, and friends of the University to help meet more urgent needs of the institution for which federal and state appropriations are not available.

Warren C. Newton, of Bridgeville, Delaware, a graduate in the class of 1916, and now vice-president of the University Board of Trustees, is the general chairman of the Development Fund. Miss Draper and Mr. Ott, as alumnae and alumni chairmen, respectively, will be responsible for directing the activities of the alumnae and alumni class representatives. One woman and one man will be designated as class fund representatives for each class graduated from the University.

According to the bulletin which is being sent to every part of the United States, the $50,000 raised will have a number of uses. A few of these include: scholarships and fellowships, equipments needs, including a Neutron Generator Audio-Visual Aids, Chemical Laboratory Furniture, Special Chemical Apparatus, and a Microfilm Camera. Also needed are: sound projection equipment and screen for Mitchell Hall and a Public Address System with two turntables, equipment for a radio studio, a portable Public Address System, a recording machine for use in language, speech, and dramatic classes, pianos, a radio and victrola combination for the Music Building, and departmental needs for the School of Agriculture, including welding equipment, microscopes, and other intricate machinery.

Besides the above mentioned articles, there are many library and book needs, as well as funds for the Department of Art and for the publication of the "Delaware Chemist," a magazine edited, written, and issued by chemistry majors at the University.

All contributions to the Development Fund, it was pointed out, are direct donations to the University and, therefore, are tax exempt.

Library

may be borrowed from the newly opened west wing of the library. The newly opened wing is staffed by Mrs. Dorothy Stilwell and Mrs. Helen Boyce.

There will not be a desk in front of the reserve book section. However, a system whereby any student may go directly to the book shelf and pick out his desired copy, will be in use. These reserved books are now intermingled with non reserved books that relate on the subjects desired but which may prove a little more interesting to the reader.

If you visit your university library this week, browse around and let your hand casually fall on a book which you may desire to read. To be sure you have not read all of the 115,000 books in your University of Delaware, Memorial Library.

ed and has been given successfully at many other universities. Public attention was recently attracted to education in this field and to the success which has been attained therein by an article in Colliers which was reprinted in condensed form in the February issue of Reader's Digest. That article points out the success and benefits which were derived from such instruction given to ten thousand men and women students at the University of California.

The first lecture at the University of Delaware will be given on Wednesday, March 6, by Dr. Elaine Knowles of Teacher's College, Columbia University, New York City, on the subject of "Common Sense in Marriage."

Dr. Ray Abrams of the Sociology Department of the University of Pennsylvania will lecture on "Problems of Dating and Courtship" on March 12 and the third lecture on March 18 entitled "Personality Adjustment in Marriage" will be given by Dr. M. A. Tarumian, prominent Delaware neuropsychiatrist.

On March 27 Dr. Lovett Dewees of Ardmore, Pa., will present the fourth lecture, his subject being "Sex Relationship and Parenthood."

The final lecture on "What is Happening to Marriage" will be delivered by Dr. James H. Bosard, well known sociologist from the University of Pennsylvania.

DuPont Co. To Award Fellowships University of Delaware To Receive Fellowship In Chem. Engineering

The DuPont Company recently announced plans to award more than twice as many university fellowships this year as in 1945.

The chemical industry today is facing a serious shortage of chemists, physicists, and engineers with advanced training. To help meet this problem the DuPont plan provides for forty-one post-graduate fellowships in chemistry, five in physics, fifteen in chemical engineering and seven in mechanical engineering. Six post-doctoral fellowships in chemistry also are included in the enlarged fellowship program.

In 1945 thirty-five fellowships at twenty-nine universities were offered, as compared with this year's program of seventy-four awards to forty-five universities. The fellowships in mechanical engineering are being offered for the first time this year. It is believed that the expanded fellowship plan will encourage more students to undertake post-graduate work.

Under the provisions of the plan women as well as men are eligible. As in the past, the selection of the fellows is left entirely to the universities, as well as the problems on which they shall work. Moreover, no restriction on future employment is placed on the recipient when the fellowship expires.

The University of Delaware was one of several schools offered the DuPont fellowship in Chemical Engineering.

Skin of Our Teeth Cast Selected

Has 25 Supporting Parts

The cast for the forthcoming E-52 production of The Skin of Our Teeth has been selected by the casting committee and the director, Dr. Kase. Many of the roles will be taken by students who have had a great deal of previous acting experience while the 25 supporting parts will give other students interested in dramatics a chance to demonstrate their talents on the Mitchell Hall stage.

Sally Dodge, a newcomer, has been given the feminine lead, while Dr. Kase will make his first appearance in an E-52 performance in the role of Mr. Fitzpatrick. Such well known actors as Charlie Rogers, Sybil Levenson, Layton Maybrey, and Basil Macknik, who was one of the five winners in the John Golden Talent Contest, have also received parts in the production. With a cast comprised of such, this play will take its place in the long list of E-52 Players, successful productions.

Minnesota as assistant professor of education and director of the training school. He was promoted to associate professor in 1939 and became director of admissions and records in 1941. He was then called by the War Department as special consultant on Arctic problems. In February, 1942, he was commissioned a major in the Air Forces and in September of that year he was promoted to lieutenant-colonel. He attained the rank of full colonel in February, 1945.

Rated as "Man of Action"

Dr. Carlson's all-around ability has been demonstrated at the University of Minnesota where he is on 16 all-university committees, holding the chairmanship of one and offices in several others. He comes to our University highly recommended as a "man of action."

It is said that he is an excellent speaker before all types of audiences and a leader of administrative calibre with a pleasing and forceful personality.

be awarded only to non-military personnel who have served outside the continental limits of the United States. It is a decoration established as a medium for rewarding or recognizing individuals who have performed meritorious acts or services which have had a direct beneficial result on our military operations.

With the presentation of the Medal of Freedom, it was also disclosed that Dr. Rees was last month awarded the War Department's Certificate of Appreciation for patriotic service in a position of trust and responsibility.

A member of the faculty at the University of Delaware since 1920, Dr. Rees became Head of the Mathematics Department several years ago following the retirement of the late Dr. George A. Harter.

A veteran of World War I, he is also the author of several articles and books. He was the editor and co-author of "Nautical Mathematics and Marine Navigation" published by MacMillan and Company in November, 1944. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary scholastic fraternity, and Pi Mu Epsilon, an honorary mathematics society, as well as a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Through the Smoke Ann Furth

Perhaps we should entitle this "Advice to the Lovelorn," or "How to Be Popular in Ten Easy Lessons." Anyway, in case you're interested in knowing how to snare that certain date, listen, chillun, to what some people 'round here like their dates to be; then go ahead and try to fill the bill. We don't guarantee anything, but the results should prove interesting. Now, for example, if you are contemplating dating Jane Platt, you should know this: You have to be tall, well-mannered, a good dancer, and a good conversationalist. She'd like you to be good-looking, but good-looks without personality don't mean anything to her. She also says he must have a good sense of humor. Jane maintains that there are quite a few boys like that on campus. Get away from that telephone, boys, she can't mean all of you! The men don't seem to post as long a list of requisites for their dates, but, oh, the things they want! Now take Ken Shiels. He wants 'em full of "vim, vigor, and vat 69."

"One who knows the score" is Marie DiSabatina's choice and, judging from her initial statements on the topic, we wonder if she means that generally or specifically. Dolores McCall wants one "hard to get, am I kidding?" The third member of the trio, Louise Dougherty, looks for a date who "knows his way around, and is a good dancer." While a good dancer is a handy thing to have around, we always say it's not the way he dances that counts, but the way he sits them out.

With that bit of philosophy tossed in free for nothing we move on to the next booth, push a slide rule out of the way and sit down; watch Dave Forrester, Bill Maloney, and Bob Cofer digest the question and mediate for a few seconds; and finally get an answer from them. Dave likes a girl with "a charming personality," (there's that personality thing again) "a good dancer, and one who doesn't tell me about her other boy-friends." If you're a "hell-raiser, do what you want when you want to, and don't expect your date to provide all the entertainment" then you're just what Bill is looking for. Or anyway that's what he says he wants. Bob wants her to have "personality plus, be lively, good-looking, interested in sports, and affectionate." That's a nice way of putting it—affectionate.

Judy Thomas can put all her demands into one word, "consideration." And "Ish" rehashed something a great many people would like to forget about when he said, "I've been told I'm a grand-pop and grand-pops can't go out."

There it is, and if you still can't get a date, don't fume and take it out on your room-mate. Let Leo read your palm. The reason may be hidden there and he's quite an expert at interpreting those lines in your hand.

Browsing

Backstage

Have you met Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus yet? They are newcomers to our campus, and after my talk with them I decided that they were extremely interesting people, if not just a little peculiar. But when you come right down to it, they should be a bit odd. I mean after all, they have been subjected to fire, flood, pestilence, the seven-year locusts, the ice age, the black pox and the double feature, a dozen wars, and as many depressions, but the marvelous thing about this average American couple is that they have actually managed to survive by the skin of their teeth. You would be amazed at the optimism with which the Antrobuses face the future after having lived through all these calamities. They are the stuff of which heroes are made—heroes and buffoons—they are true offsprings of Adam and Eve, victims of all the ills that flesh is heir to, and they are as durable as radiators.

But let me introduce you to Mrs. Antrobus. She is a "majestic matron," who has the same troubles that every other woman does in keeping a maid, bringing up her children, and making her husband walk the straight and narrow path—this latter you would never guess that Mrs. Antrobus is so remarkably well preserved. I'm sure you will agree that she is as fine a woman as children; and if it would be of any benefit to her children she would see the rest of the world stretched out at her feet without trimming a hair—that's the truth. If you want to know any more about Mrs. Antrobus, just go and look at a tigress, and look hard.

As for her handsome husband, George Antrobus, well, he is just the average American at grips with destiny, sometimes sour, and sometimes sweet; then too, like most men, he is constantly being bewitched by the swinging hips of the Antrobuses' maid, he is quite the wolfess. But here, I mustn't tell so much of my friends' private lives, fascinating as they are, since this is just your first meeting. However these delightful people are holding an open house on the evening of March 21 and 22, and I hope you will all be sure to come and meet the rest of the family.

You say you didn't know that we had any Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus at the University of Delaware. Well, I really am surprised at your ignorance, but perhaps you would recognize them by their other names. Layton Maybrey and Sybil Levenson. Yes, these two well-known veterans of the Mitchell Hall Stage have stepped into the boots of the Antrobuses for the forthcoming E-52 production The Skin of Our Teeth to be presented on the 21st and 22nd of March. These parts were taken by Frederick March and Tallulah Bankhead at the Plymouth Theatre in New York, and now Layton and Sybil are bringing the strange wonderful life of this lovable couple here to us.

Classics on Discs

The irrepressible Leopold Stokowski has been making headlines again. This time an argument between the maestro with the leonine hair and Erich Kleiber, conductor of the Havana, Cuba, Philharmonic Orchestra, resulted in Stokowski's chartering an Eastern Airline to fly 21 string players, a tenor, their instruments, evening clothes and music to the Cuban capital from the New York City Center for two concerts. Stokowski was able to get the musicians on less than 48 hours' notice thanks to the assistance of Laszlo Halasz, head of the opera division of the New York City Center. Halasz and Stokowski were closely associated two seasons ago when the maestro organized the New York City Symphony there. That's the orchestra represented on RCA Victor's February list with a fine recording of Beethoven's "Pastoral" Symphony (No. 6 in F) under his distinguished direction. The permanent conductor of the orchestra this season is young Leonard Bernstein, whose "Jeremiah" Symphony, conducted by the composer with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and Nan Merriman as soloist, was released by RCA Victor in January.

The March issue of Tune-In, The Radio Listener's Magazine, carries an article by Dr. Serge Koussevitzky of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which broadcasts every Saturday night over a national network at 9:30 p. m. E. S. T. "I find it diverting," the famous maestro declares, "to listen to the principal orchestras and conductors on the air and compare the qualities of one orchestra with another and the interpretations of any standard symphony by the various conductors . . . at least as interesting as witnessing 'Hamlet' interpreted in turn by two great actors."

The veteran maestro made another observation which will surprise some of the many admirers of his RCA Victor recordings, of which the Berlioz "Roman Carnival Overture" is the most recent. "I often listen to jazz music on the air. I think I find enjoyment in it for two reasons: first, because jazz is the source of much contemporary symphonic music. Copland and Carpenter are examples of this. Second, because there is such brilliant virtuosity in the ranks of jazz. The high range of the trumpet, for instance, recalls notes that Bach often used, and sometimes I feel that I would like to get hold of some outstanding jazz trumpeter and teach him how to play Bach for me."

This seems to be a week when nobody in music discusses anything except conductors, but we can't refrain from giving you a little note about the fiftieth anniversary performance of "La Boheme" conducted by Arturo Toscanini, the NBC Symphony, and a distinguished cast of soloists including RCA Victor's own Licia Albanese and Jan Peerce in the leading roles. Time Magazine, not usually given to overstatement, observed: "It was easily the best performance of La Boheme" the U. S. has heard since Toscanini last conducted it at the Met in 1910"; other reviewers were equally enthusiastic.

The distinguished audience—and the distribution of the tickets for the two Sunday afternoon broadcasts from the world's largest studio on February 3rd and 10th, was an awful headache for both the National Broadcasting Company and General Motors, the sponsors—could not but be mindful of the half century which separated the performance they were witnessing and the world premiere of the Puccini favorite which 28-year-old Arturo Toscanini conducted at the Turin Royal Theatre before an audience which of course included the composer, and his comrades-at-arms Pietro Mascagni (Cavalleria Rusticana) and Ruggero Leoncavallo (Pagliacci). For this, if for no other reason, the NBC performance was unique—critics scratched their heads to try to remember when, if ever, anything exactly like it had ever happened in the whole history of music.

The soloists stood in front of the orchestra in approximately the position usually occupied by the Maestro himself; about twenty seats were removed from the auditorium to make room for his podium—and this meant that spectators in the first several rows of the house could watch Toscanini's expressive face and gestures as he conducted. Danton Walker, nationally syndicated columnist of the New York Daily News, seems to have been one of these; at least, in "Broadway" he reported that the maestro sang the opera word for word. With all due respect to one of the greatest musicians in history, it is a relief to be able to add that his extensive radio and recording experience has taught Toscanini to sing under his breath.

Incidentally, Madame Albanese's widely heralded performance of Mimi among the Bohemians is available in a handsome RCA Victor Recordrama, itself a condensation of the two albums (DM 518 and DM 519) which contain the Italian recording, made at La Scala in Milan, of the complete opera.

Alumnae Notes

Sieu Tsz Tsa Chang (Mrs. Peng Chun Chang) X '20, who is living in New York City at the present time, is awaiting the return of her husband from London. Dr. Chang has been one of the four Chinese delegates to the General Assembly of the United Nations Organization and chief delegate from China to the Social and Economic Council. Dr. and Mrs. Chang were formerly associated with Nankai University, Tientsin, China. After the bombing, they made their home in Kunming. More recently, Dr. Chang has been in the diplomatic service of China in Turkey and has been Chinese minister to Chile.

Alumnae who hold offices in the Delaware State Education Association for this academic year include Erminie Quillin Nye, '42, principal of the school at Blades, who is in charge of the Intermediate Department of the DSEA and the following sectional chairmen: Foreign Language, Annie I. Gow, '30, Felton High School; Home Economics, Thelma Atwell, '40, Marshallton School; and Library, Carmela Ciminello, '41, Henry C. Conrad High School, Woodcrest, Wilmington.

Departmental News

Pg Department

Dean G. L. Schuster of the School of Agriculture of the University of Delaware has announced the promotion of C. E. Phillips, Associate Research Professor in Agronomy to the position of Professor of Agronomy and Head of the Department of Agronomy and Agricultural Engineering, replacing Professor E. C. Dunkle, who has resigned and will return to his farm in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Phillips is a graduate of the University of Delaware, receiving his Bachelor's Degree in 1921 and his Master's Degree in 1923. Mr. Phillips has completed 21 years of service in the Agronomy Department of the University. From 1921 to 1923 he taught farm crops as a member of the Rehabilitation Division. Since 1927 he has been engaged in research in field crops and fertilizers for the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station. Mr. Phillips will assume his new duties on March 15th.

Home Economics News

Miss Amy Rextrew entertained the senior Home Economics class at a buffet dinner on Sunday evening February 24, at 6:30. Those present were: Dorothy Jaworowski, Joan Cauffiel, Lucy Rumpstich, Jane Milbourne, Louise Eurman, Mariana Hollingsworth, Regina Barlow, and Bernice Jones.

The girls in the Home Management House had as their guests on Tuesday evening, the house planning class of last term, who redecorated the living and dining rooms of the Home Management House. The guests were entertained at a fireside supper. The guests were: Mary Esther Moore, Louise Eurman, Iva Short, Regina Barlow, Jane Milbourne, and Mrs. Allison.

KAMPUS KARTOONS

FRATERNIZE: "TO BRING INTO FELLOWSHIP
OR BROTHERLY SYMPATHY"—WEBSTER

Another Human Prof.

Did we convince you with our last issue that there really is a human prof on campus? Well, hold on to your hats, for we have found another one!! You may begin to doubt that when we tell you that he studied at Rice Institute and at the University of Pennsylvania, traveled to Europe in 1929, went to the continent again, as well as Morocco and Algeria in 1931, took his degree in English at Cambridge and then went to the Harvard graduate school, was a devotee of the architecture and life in general of the Middle Ages, and an enthusiast for Wagnerian opera.

But do not let yourself be scared off by these impressive facts. Dr. Alexander Sackton received his discharge from the Army Air Forces just this past fall, and is really a brother-under-the-skin to all of you other vets. He was stationed down in San Antonio, Texas, where, among other things, he taught English to cadets from Brazil and Mexico and to officers from Turkey.

While in San Antonio, Dr. Sackton met and married Ivria Adlerblum, who had been a prize-winning student at Smith, had spent her junior year in France, and was now doing classification analysis at Kelly Field. But do not let that bother you, either. It means that she visited the many employees at the field, studied their work, and determined what wages they should earn. Aside from these more impressive accomplishments, Mrs. Sackton is a charming hostess and has one of those lovely speaking voices that make millions in radio.

We dropped in on the Sacktons the other day and happened to catch them in an off moment. When we arrived at 32 Old Oak Road, Mrs. Sackton had not yet returned from her first day as a part-time English teacher here at school. When she did come in, a little weary from the first bouts with her two freshman composition classes, she found us and also a house for which the maid had failed to show up. Insisting that the place was a wreck and begging us to excuse her, she rushed to the phone and tried desperately to get the employment agency before five o'clock. We are sorry we are unable to report on the exact condition of the house. We were too busy admiring the prints and etchings on the walls.

When things had calmed down, Mrs. Sackton settled on the sofa with her knitting (incidentally, she modestly admits that she can knit and read at the same time) and told us about how she converted "Alex" to antique collecting. At first he thought collecting antiques disloyal to the new generation of furniture makers. But now she has him making trips to Pennsylvania and down-state Delaware to collect items. And he is just as proud of their "new" antique table and chairs as she is.

Although he was a little disconcerted by the furious way in which we took down every word he let fall, his print collection turned out to be a real tongue-loosener for Dr. Sackton. It is more precious to him than a pound of butter. Ivria shyly admitted that she had not been attracted by the prints at first but that they had grown on her. It is too bad that so many of us are unimpressed by modern prints when a little familiarity is all that is necessary to make them yield such great enjoyment. Even we were converted before we left, and stayed so long looking through the collection that we failed to realize it was late enough to make our welcome threadbare. As he saw us to the door, the

Seitz Appointed Chancellor

COLLINS J. SEITZ

Collins J. Seitz, recently appointed the Chancellor of Delaware by Chancellor W. W. Harrington, is a graduate of the University of Delaware. He is only one of many Delaware Alumni who have reached a highly respectable position in their community.

Mr. Seitz, is a member of the class of 1937 and received his A. B. degree in that year. While attending the University, he was a member of the Debating Club, the Humanist Society, and the Derelicts. In his senior year he served as vice-president of his class and also as a member of the Student Council. After his graduation from Delaware, Mr. Seitz attended the University of Virginia's Law School, and received his degree in 1940. He was Decision Editor of the law school's publication, Law Review.

Shortly after being admitted to the Delaware Bar in 1940, Mr. Seitz practiced law in the office of former U. S. District Attorney Stewart Lynch in Wilmington. In 1943, Mr. Seitz joined the law firm of Southerland, Berl and Potter. The new vice-chancellor before being appointed to this post was New Castle County delinquent tax attorney and secretary of the New Castle Democratic Committee. These positions he will resign immediately. Mr. Seitz is a member of the Delaware Bar Association and the American Bar Association and Chairman of the legal aid committee.

The "Wilmington Morning News" said in a recent editorial that "he has been honored by the Delaware Bar Association of which he is a member, through appointment as chairman of its legal committee and as a member of its committee on improvement of the administration of justice. These designations indicate the esteem in which he is held by the fellow members of the profession." The only thing we say is another Delaware Alumni.

Doctor's parting remark was, "Please be candid when you write this. It will be better than if you try to please me." And so we were. But is it?

Play Festival To Be Reactivated

First Time Since 1942

Entries are already being received for the Fourth Delaware Play Festival which is scheduled to be held at the University of Delaware on April 26 and 27. The celebration of the State educational and community theatres this year is noteworthy because it will be the first since 1942, when 23 groups participated, and because it will be the first Delaware Play Festival not organized on the competitive principal. As in the past, constructive suggestions will be given by critic judges, but designations of first, second, and third places in the various divisions will not be made. This is in line with the general tendency throughout the country to shift from the Drama Tournament to the Drama Festival.

Because of the inability to accommodate all of the entrants on the program of the State Festival on April 26 and 27, trials will be held in the divisions of the Public and Private Schools to determine which plays shall represent these divisions at the University. These trials will be conducted in a novel manner.

Instead of holding regional festivals at which all the plays in a particular division may be seen, the individual entrants in these divisions will present their particular plays in their own theatres before their own audiences. A critic judge will view each of these performances and make recommendations as to which plays would be invited to the final program at the University. These trials must be completed before April 12.

Dear Editor:

There should be a difference between a college paper and one printed by a high school. Excessive gossip and "corn" cheapens a newspaper and detracts from the dignity that is expected of such a publication as the Review.

Lengthy columns monopolize space which could be used for more important news. Why not have something clever that everyone can understand and enjoy?

Bob Bell's column, which spreads over much of the back page and is composed chiefly of subterfuges about certain fraternity men and their girls, could be cut down. Mr. Bell and those who help him could gain by reading Paul Caravatt's "Vox in Deserto" in the Dartmouth Log.

Why lower the paper to suit the tastes of the students? Let's bring the students up to the standards of the paper. We are not subway readers.

The Weather Angle—Feb. 27-Mar. 6 A Weekly Forecast

February 27 and 28 will be a period of light snow. March 1 to the 3rd will be a cold period, however, increasing cloudiness will occur on March 3rd and it will moderate in the afternoon. March 4th and 5th will be a period of heavy snowfall of blizzard proportions and will be in excess of ten inches. March 6 will be overcast and windy as a cold wave will advance at that time pushing the storm eastward.

Additional note: March as a whole will be very cold (sub-normal in temperature) monthly average about 36 degrees. There will be heavy snowfall and precipitation will be above normal.

Baseball Practice To Begin March 4th

Sixteen Game Schedule Announced; Del. To Participate in MASC

Last Tuesday afternoon about 34 candidates turned out for the baseball meeting in the Field House. Practice sessions for the pitchers and catchers who aren't taking part in spring football practice began on Monday, February 25th. The rest of the squad will begin practice at 4:30 p. m. on Monday, March 4th, at the Field House.

This year Delaware will be in the Middle Atlantic States Conference and 14 of their 16 games will be in league competition. The championship of the MASC will be determined by the team with the highest won and lost percentage at the end of the season. To be eligible for the crown each team in the league must play eight games in league competition.

Of the 34 candidates four of the group are lettermen. They are Gerald Doherty and Charlie Griffith who played in the outfield, and Luke Selby and Phil Doherty who played first and third base respectively. Other boys who have had experience playing at Delaware but didn't earn a letter are: Paul Hart, catcher; Len Daugherty, pitcher; and Newell Duncan, infield.

Other boys who have expressed their desire to try for position on the Delaware nine are: Scotty Duncan, who played in the outfield for Washington College; Billy Cole, a former P. S. duPont star second sacker; Clinton Har-Charles Wetzel, Don Hicks, John Ris, James Cann, Fred Sposato, Rothrock, all outfielders. The pitchers include Phil Neff, Ed Vackleys, Tom Minner, Allen MacDonald, Stewart Hild, William Roy, John Dantine, Dick Wolf. In the catching department we have in addition to Hart, Gene Gallagher and Dave Farone. In the infield the candidates are Charlie Mitchell, Beckley Herdman, Dick Grossman, Claude Tease, Dick Edwards, Don Reynolds, Bob Glisson, Carmen Selvaggi, and Jim Buchanan.

The schedule that has been announced by Coach Martin is as follows:

Baseball Schedule 1946

*April 2—Univ. of Conn., home.
April 17—Drexel, away.
April 20—Lehigh, home.
April 24—Washington, away.
April 27—Johns Hopkins, away.
May 1—Haverford, home.
May 4—Swarthmore, away.
May 8—Haverford, away.
May 11—Drexel, home.
May 15—Washington, home.
May 18—Johns Hopkins, home.
May 22—Franklin and Marshall, home.
*May 25—Temple, away.
May 28—P. M. C., away.
June 1—Franklin and Marshall, away.
June 4—Ursinus, home.
*Not in league competition.

Other teams in the MASC which are eligible for the baseball championship and who Delaware does not play include Lafayette, Gettysburg, Bucknell, Muhlenberg, Dickinson and Rutgers.

VARSITY CAGERS

Martin Rejoins Phy. Education Staff At Univ. of Delaware

Will Resume Coaching Baseball This Spring

William S. (Shack) Martin has resumed his duties as a member of the physical education staff of the University of Delaware, following his discharge from the Navy last month.

Martin, who was coach of baseball and assistant coach of football under William D. (Bill) Murray, will assume his old post as backfield coach under Murray next fall.

Commissioned a lieutenant, (junior grade) Martin entered the service in March of 1944, and was raised to the rank of full lieutenant in September, 1945. He served more than a year in the Pacific theatre of war.

A graduate of Duke University of 1931, Martin came to the University of Delaware in 1941 as aide to Murray from Kentucky Military Institute where he served as football and baseball coach.

At Duke, Martin held the Southern Conference 125-pound boxing championship. He captained the Blue Devil boxing team in his senior year. Martin also coached wrestling at Delaware.

E. Emory Adkins, who also coached under Murray at Delaware, and who like Martin, held a commission in the Navy recently became a civilian too. Adkins visited Delaware a few weeks but did not disclose any plans for the future.

Spring Football Starts at Delaware

Squad of 50 Turn Out For Spring Practice; 9 Are Former Lettermen

Last Monday afternoon Varsity football came back to the University of Delaware in a big way as Coach W. D. Murray started his charges thru spring training. It was the largest turnout ever participating in spring practice.

Most of the practice sessions will be used for conditioning and the learning of plays. Practice sessions will be held indoors until the weather gets a little better. Uniforms will be issued on March 4th so that drills in blocking and tackling can begin.

Of the squad of 50 working out with Coaches Murray and Martin, nine are lettermen. This group includes Bob Campbell, tackle; Howard "Jobo" Jarvis, end; Paul Hart, fullback; Al Northwood, tackle; Tony Stalloni, tackle; Fred Sposato, halfback; Jim Buchanan, quarterback; Gerald Doherty, halfback; and Luke Selby, center.

Delaware Blue Hens Drop Two Close Ones

Delaware Overpowered After First Period Surge

Saturday evening the University of Delaware basketball five dropped another close decision, as a rejuvenated P. M. C. quintet squeezed out a 43-41 victory in a hard fought game.

Delaware pulled into an early lead, 16-8, in the opening period, but after having lost this in the second quarter, they could never again quite match the pace set by the Cadets.

Phil Neff of Delaware was the leading scorer with 13 points, while Gallagher and Hamann paced P. M. C. with 11 counters apiece.

The last game of the season will be in the Field House, March 2nd, against West Chester State Teachers College and it will be preceded by a preliminary game against West Nottingham Academy. The first game will start at 6:30 p. m.

Swimming and Wrestling Curtailed for This Year

It was announced by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics this week that the University of Delaware would not sponsor swimming and wrestling teams this school year.

The reason given for this action is that since the season for these sports is coming to a close only one or two meets could be arranged. This would mean that all those participating in these sports would lose a year of varsity eligibility by taking part in a short season.

Next year these sports will again be resumed if enough interest is again shown.

Haverford Down Hens In Final Seconds

After winning their last two games against powerful non-conference rivals, the University of Delaware Blue Hens were nosed out in two conference games last week, each time by a team which Delaware had previously beaten this season.

Wednesday evening Delaware met Haverford on the Haverford court and in the last three seconds the Blue Hens were dumped to a 51-50 defeat by Dave Johnson's game ending set shot.

Delaware had lead throughout the game, and at one time had an 11 point lead, but Haverford slowly worked on this and finally drew near enough to set the stage for Johnson's last minute toss.

The Blue Hens were leading the Pennsylvanian's 25-19 and it looked as though it was Delaware's game from there on out, however, the old saying that "the ball game isn't over till the final whistle" was proved again as Delaware went down by one point.

Dick Grossman was the leading scorer with 13 points, while Newell Duncan with 12 and Joe Mackey with 11 were close behind. Bob Clayton was high for the Haverford club with 11 counters.

FRATERNITY CORNER

Theta Chi News

After a week of "you ain't seen nothing yet," the lowly pledges found out what was causing the members to walk around with strange maniac-like grins upon their otherwise handsome faces. (They made me say that.) Saturday night was "hell night" for the lowly ones and they all agree that the night was well named.

After playing Blind Man's Bluff (with variations)—a game at which the members of this chapter excel—the pledges were sent out in all directions on missions of extreme importance—especially to the lower posteriors of the pledges. Equipped with a fish pole, at the end of which dangled a very dead fish, they scoured this hemisphere for everything from railroad ties to menus. Naturally it would have been too easy for them to move about with money in their pockets, so the members took "care" of that little item.

After winning their first basketball game Theta Chi meets Sigma Nu on March 5 in the Field House.

The pledges will be initiated next week-end and will attend the House Party which is to be held on Saturday night as full fledged members. Ahhh. It is expected that Jim Lewis, one of the first members of this chapter, will be on hand for the initiation.

Sigma Nu News

"Hell Week" at Sigma Nu was brought to a memorable close with the time-honored "pledge's house party." Pledge captain Wayne Grier and all his fellow ex-worms—Al Northwood, Tom Parvis, Jim Longacre, Jim Mays, John Kinter, Lou Ward, Dick Wolf, George Wolf, Bill Bodley, Jack Coyle, Joe McVey, Bob Elssner, Bill Maloney, and Dave Scott—worked like beavers getting the "Green Room" spotless and very uniquely decorated for the week-end get-together. The novices' paddles and quests provided the theme for the dance.

The next significant event at the chapter will be the formal initiation of the above mentioned neophytes on Saturday afternoon, March 9. When these men take the oath, Sigma Nu's membership will equal that of 1941-42, and a far cry from the eight members who opened the house in December.

The addition of Short and Rossiter to the SN court team boosts their hopes for copping the Intramural Basketball Trophy. The other members of the squad include: Dickerson, Northwood, Mitchell, Kinter, Elssner and Piper. They have been victorious in their first two contests, defeating STP and KA.

Kappa Alpha News

K. A. held its first house party of the current social season last Saturday night. The party welcomed home seven of the old members: Leonard Dougherty, Vance Mitchell, Horace Warrington, and Dave Numbers, and three old married men, Larry Webb, Arky Vaughn, and Bud Schell.

The K. A.'s made good use of their fire place in the preparation of the refreshments for the evening, roasting hot dogs over a not too blazing fire.

The chaperons for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Carl John Rees and Dr. and Mrs. Paul J. Musselman.

The highlight of the evening took place when Vance Mitchell, who just "couldn't get a date for the party," blew in from New Castle with three beautiful babes. "Mitch" then proceeded to dance with everybody else's date, giving them the choice of any of the three he had brought with him. The guy is really hard to please!

K. A. plans to hold its first formal initiation sometime in March, at which time it plans to initiate five new men. The ritual is unique in that it is the only one which can be held in a Christian church.

Sig Ep News

On Saturday night, Feb. 23, Sig Ep held its first house party in almost three years. Among the forty or more couples present were such old members as Jack Warren, Charlie Miller, Horace Ginn, Harold Tiffany and Harry Beik.

As of Sunday night, Feb. 24, Sig Ep Pledges will hardly be recognized on the campus. Unshaven and prohibited from smoking for one week, they will be decked out as everything from a Civil War admiral to a Christmas tree. However, the pledges will have an opportunity to nurse their "Hell Week" nerves at the traditional pledge party to be held on Saturday night, March 2, and on Sunday, March 3, they will be formally initiated into the fraternity.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Athletic Department is in desperate need of boys who would be interested in being manager of either the baseball, football, track and tennis teams. If you are interested please contact Coach Martin for baseball, Coach Murray for football, Coach Steers for track, and Coach Jones in Evans Hall for tennis.

We would like to remind you that the various buildings in the physical education department are open during your free time and it is hoped that you will take advantage of this opportunity. The swimming pool and gymnasium will be open from 4:00 p. m. until 5:30 p. m. in the afternoon, from 7:30 until 9:00 p. m. at night and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m. The Field House will be available from 7:00 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. in the evening and from 1:00 until 9:00 p. m. on week-ends.

This schedule will be in effect every day except Thursday at which time the same schedule will hold true for faculty use.

This week marked another week of hectic activity in the intramural basketball league. Last nights games proved to be the closest contests with Brown Hall eeking out a 20-19 win over a stubborn Annex five and the Commuters taking the measure of the Training House, 30-31.

The high individual score of the week was made by Jack Levis of the Sigma Phi Epsilon quintet when he countered 25 points on nine field goals and seven fouls when he sparked his team to a win over Kappa Alpha. Levis was followed by George Rossiter of the Sigma Nu's who garnered 15 markers in the game against Kappa Alpha.

It was decided at a meeting of the Intramural Committee last Friday that the game between Brown Hall and the Training House would be disallowed and the game will be replayed on Monday, April 1st. This committee will meet again on Friday at 5:05 p. m. in the Phy. Ed. office.

Old College Speaks

The Review hadn't been off the press half an hour last week before I was swamped with questions and suggestions. Many fellows wanted a column complaining about the food and general condition of the cafeteria in Old College. Others wanted all the complaints uttered concerning P. E. compiled and printed. "Why Delaware is one of the few colleges that require the vet to take P. E., or why, since we are required to take it, can't adequate locker space be provided in the gym." I understand this would eliminate the necessity of running between buildings clad in a pair of shorts while in a damp, sweaty state (The source of many a running nose on the campus this past week).

All of these and many more suggestions were thrown my way to be put in print so that the proper "complain receiver," or what, would see them. I promised last week that the voice of Old College would not be a complaining one again so I'll have to pass the buck. Why don't the veterans organize. Organize and beat these problems out. I feel certain this would meet with the approval of Dean Daugherty and we could get his full support. Lets work on that fellows

I chanced upon an old edition of a Philadelphia paper last week and found Penn State claiming laurels in having father and daughter both in college. Delaware can go them one better for we have uncle and niece both in Delaware. Hard to believe, I know, but ask Katty Ann next time you see her if her uncle Bill isn't in college now.

Our sincere thanks to two freshmen of New Castle (A&P) who have so generously offered the door knob from their closet. This need was met the day after this column first appeared. Their offer to try and secure an adding machine to facilitate the counting of freight cars will, however, be considered.

Prediction of the Week: As spring draws near, more 18 year old girls are going to appear 20 to a lot of fellows, or will it be that 25 year old men will feel like 18? ...

The D.S.C.A. Needs Your Support!

All Protestant students are urged to participate in the religious and social functions of the Delaware Student Christian Association. The association's main purpose as stated in its constitution is "to deepen and strengthen student christianity in the University by a program of worship, discussion, and action."

It is hoped that many more students will take advantage of the opportunities provided by the D. S. C. A. for the development of each individual's intellectual and spiritual capacities. The first thing to do is to join. Any person may join by attending the meetings of the group which will be held at frequent intervals. The next regular meeting will be held on March 19, at which time a movie is being planned to be shown.

After each meeting refreshments are served and there is

Students Present Musical Program

At the University assembly on February 21st, musically talented students presented one of the most enjoyable and well attended programs of the year, under the direction of Professor Anthony Loudis. For the first time since the war a mixed chorus of men's and women's voices was heard. Solos by Sam Lockerman, Bill Merion, Bob West, and Rosamond Foster served to introduce new talent to the audience, while Basil Macknik and Barbara Webster performed with their well-known excellence.

Highlight of the assembly was the presentation of the Medal of Freedom to Dr. Carl J. Rees, head of the department of mathematics. Colonel Gillfillan made the presentation and read the citation commending Dr. Rees for his extraordinary accomplishments while serving in the C. B. I. Theatre as an operations analyst with the 14th Air Force.

ample opportunity for the members to get to "know" each other better. Besides the regular meetings, provisions can be made for dances to be held as often as students' interest demand.

So this is your chance to help yourself to a better social and religious experience during your stay at the University of Delaware. Make it a point to look into this thing and find out if there isn't something worthwhile slipping through your fingers.

Rothrock Elected To Tau Beta Pi

John Rothrock was elected a pledge to Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, at a meeting held last Thursday evening, Feb. 21, in Evans Hall.

A Junior in the Chemical Engineering curriculum and a pledge of the Theta Chi Fraternity, Rothrock played varsity football last term and he also serves as Circulation Editor for the REVIEW.

Admission to Tau Beta Pi is based upon distinguished scholarship in addition to integrity, interest in the engineering profession and other fields, and unselfish activity.

First established in 1885 at Lehigh University, Tau Beta Pi was installed on the Delaware campus in 1933. Monthly meetings of the fraternity are held in the chapter room in Evans Hall.

The officers of the Delaware Chapter of Tau Beta Pi are Lt. Arthur Millman, president; Bill Dugan, vice-president; and Tom Griffin, secretary. At the present time, these officers are the only active members of the fraternity at the University.

Who Done It?

In 1384 the Black Death ravaged Europe! The scourge of the year 1894 was The Plague. Today with science at its height these two diasters are not prevalent. Attacking our ablest, strongest, and almost immune is another great affliction.

Is it the dread malady discoursed in mystical circles as the "Chinese Rot"—whereby those afflicted break out in checks and plaids simultaneously? No—the disaster that has sent to their beds Delaware's ablest is the age-old curse—MEASLES.

Measles comes in the following shades: red, white, and black (Red seems to be the rage of the season). Judging from the colors it appears that measles must have originated in Germany, since the German Merchant Flag bears these colors. Other than this there is no other historical data.

In the University of Delaware the measles epidemic came about in an unusual manner. The root of this evil seems to be in a romantic sphere. It happened like this.

Once upon a time, two weeks ago, there lived in Old College two strong, handsome, immune ASTRP's. Each sought the attention of a lovely maiden in upper campus. Each wooed her while she remained coy but alluring. One day disaster struck. The two swains and the damsel were bedridden with this disease.

The question therefore is not which came first, the chicken or the egg. Instead, who gave these stalwart inmates of the U. of D. the measles.

WAS IT YOU??

At a golf club in a small town in Ohio, one of the elderly members, too old for active play, elected himself patrolman of the course to enforce, where necessary, all the rules, and traditions common to golf.

One day this self-styled rules committee stood by as a prominent college professor prepared to tee off from a point a foot or so beyond the white markers. When he noticed this, the old golfer immediately shouted "Stop," and delivered an oration in which he stated repeatedly and with florid eloquence his opinion of a man who would chisel a measly 12 inches on a 480-yard hole.

The professor listened for several minutes in growing rage, and then raised his hand for silence.

"Why," he roared, "why you long-nosed, meddlesome, snooping, flap-jammed old buttinski!"

"I'll have you know I'm playing my second shot!"

Chinese Poem

I	II
Nice night	Settle down
In June	Happy man
Star shine	Another night
Big moon	In June
In park	Star shine
On bench	On bench
With girl	Ain't happy
In clinch	No more
Me say	Carry baby
Me love	Walk floor
She coo	Wife mad
Like dove	She fuss
Me smart	Me fuss
Me fast	Life one
Never let	Big spat
Chance pass	Nagging wife
Me say	Bawling brat
O. K.	Me realize
Wedding bells	At last
Ring ring	Me too
Honeymoon	Darn fast.
Everything.

COVERING THE CAMPUS

By Bob Bell

STUDENT UNION BLDG. . . After all the talk by a lot of students here at the university for a Student Union Bldg., it's still going to be a matter of years (maybe only a few, though) before this building could be constructed and set into operation.—The question is—what are we going to do for one while waiting for this planned Student Union to be built?—It has been suggested that the west wing of Memorial Library be set up as a temporary social hall until the completion of such a building. That would be a worthwhile subject for the Student Council to take up!—Why not!

E-52 PLAYERS and Co. . . A couple of the "big wheels" in E-52 have put forth a good suggestion that might benefit all students on campus who enjoy attending plays. As it now stands, the E-52 crew draws no cash from the Student Activity Fund and must rely on the box-office receipts. This means that everyone must shell out to get in. Now, if they were allowed fifty cents apiece for all students from the "fund," E-52 could admit the student body free of charge to all their plays and charge admittance only to non-students. Any profit that might be made could be turned back to the Student Activity Fund to be used by other sources. Incidentally, according to Astrid Delitzsch the E-52 has the largest student participation of any other activity so this seems to be worth thinking about.

NOTES OF A "SLY REMARKER" . . . Three Frat house parties on campus the same night (Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu) combined with "hell nite" as Theta Chi kept the jumpin' Saturday nite. Wonder how Frank Shied and "Jerry" Colona enjoyed their hike over to Washington College, Chestertown, Md., without shekels or transportation? Two Theta Chi pledges even had to make a jaunt down to Smyrna. It's a wonder they got back! . . . Sigma Nu hung a paddle over the ladies powder room marked "Ladies" but someone swiped it before the party broke up.—And the SN boys had a new autograph book in the form of a lady's—well, what do you care?! By the way, who escorted Jean Barlow home after the fracas? It probably wasn't George Rossiter . . . Speaking of Sigma Nu, the "big six" held a meeting at one of the Elkton niteries after Friday nite's hoop brawl . . . Bob Lower with his hometown sweetie in college town past week-end . . . Thanks to Angie's sub shop for opening up at 2:30 a. m. Sunday mawning to feed half a dozen tired, hungry and beat Theta Chi pledges . . . Ted Zink dating a Newark gal . . . Jack Coulter and Jean LeFevre out together

. . . Ray Smith and Frannie Pettyjohn ditto at the Cedar Inn with Jack Wilson and Sophie McVey . . . Frank Wilkins giving Elva Hyatt flying lessons down at Bridgeville where his brother runs an airport. He even took Harry Huxford for a hop but after ten minutes aloft all Harry could say was, "Down, Frank, down!" . . . Oh, yes, ask Hux how he liked the egg in his beer the other nite and he'll probably answer "Rotten!" . . . Louise Dougherty, after wearing sweaters all year—wow!—has decided to go in for blouses, instead! . . . Jim Buchanan has moved out of the Training House to be with his recent Missus.

Heard at a Wilmington niterie. Two recent discharges leaving the place in disgust and one saying to the other, "Come on. We can't do any good in this place, let's go home and get our uniforms!" . . . And at another nitespot: "She's the kinda gal that if you say one decent word to her she'll laugh in your face!"

The Men May Rant And Rave But It's Always
The Women Who Have
The Last Word

Things have been rather quiet around the campus this past according to a few of the residents. A number of lucky people did start the week off right and in that respect we found Phyllis Andrick ga-ga over a letter from a certain Marine in Hawaii, who is expecting his discharge soon. Speaking of service men, "Lindy" Wise seems to be kept busy by a certain Merchant Marine. Dotty Davis is all excited since her man has been discharged.

The days rolled along too peacefully until Friday came and then things really started popping. Onita Tawes gave a birthday dinner at her home in Wilmington on Friday night with eight Sussexites helping her celebrate.

Augusta Dann came home Friday night with a beautiful engagement ring. Best of luck Danny.

Eleanor Records faced an exciting week-end when Bob once again visited our campus. Alice Bradley also had an exciting time when she dated one of those "F." and "M." men along with Skippy Verne and Mervon Saturday.

What Theta Chi man had his haircut supervised by two Harterites. Embarrassed Don?

The biggest engagement on our list was the various frat parties held this past week-end. Janie Gorden dropped in at Sig Ep party and sported a Phi Chi pin the following day. Better get her to explain that one kids. The bright little red-head, Ann Wise, graced Sig Nu house party. Likewise Lois Weber and Mary Kumler, while Peg Munoz had a wonderful evening with the Sig Eps before they turned into Christmas trees, etc.

Warner was brutally awakened last Friday morning by Bill Colonna in his pajamas sounding reveille in the front hall.

A new twist to the week-end—could be a lovely habit—Peg McCarthy begins hers on Tuesday when a certain party is in town.

After Francis Pettyjohn's sensational appearance at the K. A. House Party in that one shoulder job, she could properly be dubbed "The Dress."

It seems that Spring Fever has already hit campus Prrof?; Astrid Delitzsch and Eleanor Gittings spent the week-end in Cape May and Lib Hopkins and Betty Kerr and dates merrily rode the ferry when the air grew dense at the Sig Ep House Party.

Adele Franzer was seen tripping off to Philly this week-end to help pick out Helen Isaacs' wedding finery.

The first parties Saturday night were top notch fun. We hereby register our vote for bigger and better social activities every week-end. How about it Student Senate, it's a primary student need, and we're counting on you in that line.
