ROTARY CLUB HEARS GOVT. SOIL EXPERT

Soil Depletion
Grave Problem,
Speaker Claims

Soil depletion is greater in the U. S. than in any other country in the world, said C. Ely Wickersham, of the Production-Marketing Administration, Washington, D. C., in a talk on soil conservation at the Newark Rotary Club on Monday evening in the Elks Restaurant.

With three and a quarter acres now under cultivation for every person in the country, one of the major aims of the federal government, he said, is to speed a program of replenishing the soil and curbing the inroads of erosion. Mr. Wickersham was introduced by program chairman Clarence Ocheltree, and the session was presided over by William S. Hamilton, president.

A nominating committee which will meet up a slate of officers for the club's annual election scheduled for the second Monday in April was also named. Headed by Dr. T. F. Manns the committee included Dr. S. W. Smith, Joseph Bryan and Holger Schumann. The nominations will be put before the membership at the March 1 meeting, when additional nominations will be taken from the floor.

Visitors at this Monday's session were Oran E. Crothers, Jr., Elkton, and Harry E. Young, flight engineer at TVA.

Completes 25 Years Service

Alexander T. Miller

A quarter of a century of service in the telephone industry is being marked today by Alexander T. Miller, of Roseville Park, Newark, telephone installer in Wilmington for the Diamond State Telephone Company.

Mr. Miller started in 1923 as a helper in Philadelphia for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. He moved to Delaware in 1936, working first in Wilmington for about a year and then in Holly Oak and Newark until 1947 when he transferred back to Wilmington.

He is a member of the Hundred Thousand Mile Club, organization of telephone men who have driven that distance without being responsible for a single accident, and of the Telephone Pioneers of America. He is married and has three children. Mrs. Miller was formerly a telephone employee in Newark.

125 CALLS ANSWERED BY AETNA CO. IN '47

Chas. E. Moore
Makes Annual Report At Fire
Company Meet

A total of 125 fires, causing damage estimated at $579,864.51, were reported in Newark and vicinity during 1947, according to Fire Recorder Charles E. Moore's annual report made recently to the Aetna Fire, Hook and Ladder Company.

The figures show the Aetna volunteers spent 1607 man hours combating fires, traveling a total of 811.7 miles and pumping 22,860 gallons of water.

A total of 2,426 men responded to fires, making approximately 18 men per fire. About 20 per cent of the man hours were spent in the firehouse, replacing and repairing equipment.

During the year, the company ran out 5910 feet of booster hose, 730 feet of one and one half hose and 4050 feet of two and one half hose. In addition, 272 feet of ladder were used. The five gallon spray cans were used 86 times and 14 chemical tanks were consumed.

The ambulance made 424 runs in 1947, covering 1,205 miles. Volunteer drivers put in 1161 hours and 20 minutes.

Recorder Moore's January report listed six calls in town and four in the district. No property loss was suffered from fire within the town limits, he said.

The ambulance made 24 runs, including 21 to Wilmington and one to Dover, Elkton and Smyrna, covering 766 miles.

HEALTH AND SAFETY PLAN OUTLINED BY P.-T. A. CHIEFS

Free Dental
Care, Student
Health Tests
Are Proposed

Periodic health checks, an expanded safety program at the local schools and free dental care for needy students are included in an ambitious program to be launched soon by the Newark Parent-Teacher Association.

Few details are available as yet since the program is still in the formative stage. F. A. Dianich, chairman of the P.-T. A. safety and health committee, said this week in making the announcement. Mr. Dianich and his group will direct the project.

Major innovation here will be the free dental clinic, open to those students who would not otherwise be in a position to secure proper attention. Local dentists have already been approached, it was said, with several indicating willingness to cooperate in the program.

The safety project will be aimed at encouraging students to become more safety conscious and will attempt to step-up accident precautions not only in the school but on streets and in school buses.

Work on establishing a career conference here for high school pupils is also well underway. Fred Stiegler, P.-T. A. vice-president, revealed this week.

The conference proposes to give local high school students an opportunity to get practical advice in selecting a career through talks with adults engaged in various type jobs.

APPLICANTS ARE SOUGHT FOR HARTER SCHOLARSHIP

Eligibility
Requirements
Are Outlined;
Deadline April 1

The Harter Scholarship Committee of the University of Delaware's Alumni Association now is receiving applications for the 1948 award of the four-year Dr. George A. Harter Scholarship, which is worth $2,000 to the recipient.

Thomas W. Mulrooney, director of the Department of Child Development and Guidance in the Wilmington public schools, who is chairman of the Harter Scholarship Committee, said that applications would be closed on April 1. Men students only are eligible, and the award is based on three standards: the boy's scholastic record in a school accredited by the University of Delaware; his participation in any or all athletic activities rather than on varsity athletics; and his moral conduct.

The winner's $2,000 will be divided equally among the four academic years which he would spend at the university, and so long as he continues to meet eligibility requirements, he will receive the income. If for any reason a Harter Scholar discontinues his studies at the university, he no longer is eligible for further grants. The recipient must live on the campus.

In addition to the candidate selected by the committee for the award, the committee also will name first and second alternates who will qualify in order if the original recipient is unable to attend the university.

Mr. Mulrooney said an applicant should seek a formal application blank from the University's Alumni Office in Newark. He also should send a letter stating his reasons for applying, and have the principal of his school send a transcript of his record to the committee.

O'Daniel Post May Buy Village Community House

The local J. A. O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion may have its long sought post home if its bid for the purchase of the community building at George Road Village is accepted. Announcement that the local post intended to submit a bid was made this week.

The PHA is asking $11,500 for the building.

THEO. JONES IS RENAMED AS HEAD OF C. OF C. HERE

Wiggins Elected
Vice-President;
3 New Directors
Chosen At Meet

Theodore S. Jones was reelected president and George Wiggins was named vice-president of the Newark Chapter of the Commercial Club of Commerce at the group's annual dinner meeting last Thursday evening in the Academy Restaurant.

Mr. Wiggins succeeds Jerome Weinberg, whose term expired in January. In addition, William S. Hamilton was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The officers were named by the Board of Directors following the election of new directors by the general membership.

Those elected to 3-year directorships were Herman Handloff, George Wiggins, later named vice-president of the organization, and Frank Smith. The latter, who succeeds Weldon C. Waples and C. Emerson Johnson, are seeing their first term as directors. Mr. Handloff, who just completed a term, was reelected.

About 40 members attended the dinner, which was followed by an open discussion of proposed civic projects.

Problems touched on were the financing of Christmas lighting next year, setting of uniform store hours, improvement of street lighting and the establishment of a local credit bureau. No final decisions were reached.

RECREATION FUND DRIVE POSTPONED

Move Made To Avoid Conflict
With Red Cross

The recreation fund drive, originally scheduled to start here next Monday, has been postponed until April 1, Ned McCully, recreation association head, announced yesterday.

The move was made to avoid conflict with the annual Red Cross drive set to open in the Newark area on March 1.

Letters, outlining the recreation association's aims and reviewing past achievements, which were to have been mailed just prior to the drive, have also been held up, it was said.

Plans for the summer program here are dependent on the outcome of the April campaign. No goal will be fixed, but it is hoped contributions will be sufficient to provide a fairly extensive program.

Full details of the campaign will be announced in the near future.

Many Bids Received On Milford School Building

A surprising number of bids have been received for purchase of the Milford Cross Roads school building, which is being offered for sale by the Newark Special School District.

A sizeable plot of ground is included with the structure, which is in good repair. The large number of prospective purchasers is due to the fact that the building can easily be turned into a private dwelling, authorities said.

All bids must be received by tomorrow, since they are scheduled to be opened at the February meeting of the Board of Education in the evening. Information may be secured at the school office.

The building came under control of the local Board of Education when the Milford district was consolidated with the Newark district last year.

The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Hall both at the Sunday School and the church hour.

William Miller will lead the Westminster Fellowship group in its weekly meeting at 6:45, which will be followed by youth choir rehearsal under the direction of Miss Lillie Scott. Roger P. NHS PUPILS TO PRESENT RADIO SHOW WEDNESDAY

Transcribed
Broadcast To Tell Of Local Activity Plan

A 15-minute radio show, written and acted by the students of the Newark High School, will be presented over WDEL on Wednesday, February 25, from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m.

The transcribed broadcast, which will describe the school's varied activity program, will be offered in the form of a tour, taking the listening audience on a round of everyday activities at the school. One in the series, "Delaware Schools in Action," the show is being sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction.

Over 30 special activities, including clubs and unusual classes, are a part of the regular curriculum at the Newark School, making one of the most comprehensive programs of its type to be found in any school of the state. Virtually every Newark student is offered the opportunity to join in a group activity devoted to his special interests.

The broadcast is being recorded at the school by a large student cast for later transcription over the air.

Following a brief introduction by Carroll Mumford, the program will get underway with Bill Anderson, a senior, acting as guide for the tour. The audience will listen in on such everyday school activities as a meeting of the Junior Student Council, a Senior High assembly program, a Student Council session, a meeting of the Clerical Assistance Club and a look-in at the Dramatics and Stage Craft Club.

Other groups to receive special attention will be the Buzz Staff, the Posture Class, and the Civil Air Patrol. Time limitations on the broadcast will permit only a brief mention of numerous other student activities such as the FFA and FHA groups, the Fire Patrol, the Bridge Club, Hi-Y, Library and Camera Clubs, Honor Society, Boy's and Girl's Leader Clubs and others.

In addition to Mumford and Anderson, the cast will include: Nancy Hopkins, Richard Beldyk, Patsy Ann Rose, Janice Olson, Dick Davis, Nancy Diehl, Rita Aulen, Dorothy Draper, Donald Phillips, Judy Colburn, and Betty Long.

SAFETY IS DISCUSSED BY P.-T. A.

Demonstrations
Feature Talk At
February Meet

Hazards of the home, the common place but nonetheless dangerous pitfalls that lurk in the path of housewives and home owners, were discussed by A. W. Rand, director of safety services, Delaware Red Cross Chapter, at the February meeting of the Newark parent-Teacher Association last Thursday night in the school auditorium.

Accompanying his talk with convincing demonstrations, Mr. Rand dealt chiefly with the fire hazards that arise from faulty electrical installations.

The dangers in shorted light sockets, defective appliance cords for toasters, irons, etc., and the incorrect use of fuses all came in for vivid demonstrations, with Mr. Rand using several devices to start miniature fires on the stage. The necessity of checking fire extinguishers at least once a year and the dangers of overloading circuits with electrical appliances were also shown.

That the audience was impressed was apparent in the number of questions put to the speaker following the talk. Also announced at the meeting was the fact that P.-T. A. president, Jack Lacher, has been assigned to a new job in Argentina by the DuPont Company, where he is employed in the cellophane division.

Mr. Lacher, who will leave here in May, offered to resign as P.-T. A. head, but the executive committee voted to continue him in office as a mark of appreciation. If Mr. Lacher's business demands interfere with his P.-T. A. duties, the remaining officers will take over the work, it was said.

The March P.-T. A. meeting will be highlighted by a workshop, featuring teacher-parent discussions on mutual problems. The meeting will be organized on the same lines as the workshop which proved so successful here last fall.

LIST NEW AWARDS AT UNIVERSITY

15 More $400 Scholarships To Be Offered

Addition of 15 scholarships, worth $400 each, to the 18 awarded last year by the University of Delaware's School of Education, was announced yesterday by Dr. W. Earl Armstrong, dean of the school.

Made possible by a grant from the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, the scholarships will be open to freshmen, sophomores or juniors in the School of Education, although it is anticipated that the majority of those selected will be completing high school courses in Delaware schools this spring. There now are 18 holders of School of Education scholarships granted last year as the first step of a program designed to improve Delaware's supply of teachers and maintain the quality of the state's teaching personnel in both elementary and secondary schools. The first 18 scholarships are expected to be renewed in the coming year, according to Dean Armstrong.

Outlining the conditions for the new awards, Dean Armstrong said applicants should take qualifying examinations to be held at 10 a. m. on Saturday, Feb. 21, in Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown high schools. Applicants should report to whichever school is closest. No application need be made until Feb. 21.

The next step, he said, will be holding of personal interviews on April 17 for those applicants who have been selected for interviews. The winners of the scholarships will be announced April 26.

JEWELRY ON EXHIBIT AT U. OF D.

Work Of Famed Craftsmen Is Displayed Here

An exhibition of modern hand-made jewelry was opened last Thursday at the University of Delaware's Art Gallery in the Memorial Library here, where it will remain until March 8 under arrangement with the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

In announcing the exhibition, Miss Janet Baily, professor of fine and applied arts, said that it showed that today's jewelry need be neither the luxury or precious stones and metals, nor the dubious glitter of "junk jewelry." In addition to silver and gold, the variety of materials used by the 22 craftsmen-designers whose work is shown, includes brass, chrome-nickel steel, plastic, native stones, marbles, red, yellow and green jacks, hardware and even safety pins.

On display is the work of such craftsmen as Turner, Lobel, Andersen, Hurst and Kingsbury, Gay and Kraus. Their work, according to Miss Baily, is distinguished by the precisely cut and finely tailed metals, perfectly matched and polished stones, accurately articulated joints, and the technical elegance of the "finished work." The professional knowledge and sober carefulness of approach stands out in contrast to the daring disregard of technical limitations characteristic of the non-professional painter and sculptor working in jewelry. The work of some of the latter also is shown, including that of the sculptor, Alexander Calder, who has carried over into his jewelry designs some of the quality of his "mobiles." Other sculptors represented include Jose de Rivera, who repeats the sweeping curves of his sheet metal sculptures in chrome-nickel steel brooches; and Jacques Lipchitz, who with the same vitality which characterizes his monumental bronzes, created a molded gold and turquoise pendant. Other artists are Julio de Diego, noted modern painter; the artist Pousette-Dart; Ward Bernet, and others.

Old materials as well as new are shown, such as jade, old silver, ancient Mexican idols, and a small selection of Navajo jewelry. Contrasting are the effects of other designers who use safety pins and hardware to produce graceful necklaces and bracelets, and clay and brass wire to form abstract-shaped brooches.

PRE-FAB SPAN BEING BUILT

Replaces Curtis Covered Bridge

A temporary prefabricated bridge of the Army Bailey type is being erected over White Clay Creek here on North Chapel Street to serve until a permanent span can be constructed.

The prefabricated structure will replace the old Curtis Mill covered bridge, a local landmark, which is being demolished. The temporary bridge will be completed within two weeks after the fill is made, C. C. Reynolds, New Castle County division engineer of the State Highway Department, has announced.

The permanent bridge, which will eventually replace the historic covered span, will be completed in the spring, it was said.

The Bailey bridge, obtained from the Army, can be thrown up quickly and will serve traffic needs adequately until the proposed permanent bridge is in place. Julian Jones, Wilmington, is carrying out the project.

Nation's Farms Are Seen Getting Larger But Fewer

American farmers are getting bigger and fewer.

Their growth was particularly noticeable between 1935-45, the Institute of Life Insurance said recently.

In this period the volume of land in farms increased to more than 1.1 billion acres, a record high.

But the significant thing is that as farmers grew bigger, they decreased in number by nearly a million.

For the first time since 1900, the Institute said, America has fewer than 6,000,000 farms.

Among factors that contributed to this situation is the tendency of farm workers to migrate to cities. The state with the largest farms is Arizona. They average 3,000 acres.

YOUTH WINS SCHOLARSHIP

H. Lee Lecates, of Laurel, a freshman in the agricultural course at the University of Delaware, has been awarded a $100 annual scholarship on the basis of his outstanding 4-H Club background, it was announced today by Miss Jean Lee, state 4-H specialist.

Sponsored by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, 15 scholarship are being offered to college students in 10 Eastern and Southern states. The scholarship recipient must have completed three years of 4-H Club work, and besides being selected on basis of need, merit and ability, agree to enroll in a college course related to agriculture. Lecates was presented with his award by H. C. Carroll, Jr., and J. G. Dimling, both area representatives of the Standard Oil Company.

Lecates, who lives on a 50-acre farm near Laurel, has been a 4-H Club member for five years. His major agricultural interest has been poultry. When he was 11 years old, he took care of a flock of 5,000 broilers. His 4-H projects have included ducks, watermelons, poultry and better methods in electricity. As a high scorer in poultry and crop judging contests at the Kent-Sussex Fair, he has won scholarships to the 4-H short course held each June at the University of Delaware. As state winner in the 4-H Better Methods project, he attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago last December.

WORLD MARK BY GUERNSEY

Owned By Glasgow Woman

Spencer's Landing Drucilla, a Guernsey cow, has made a World's Record of 10,435 pounds of milk and 652 pounds of 6.2% butterfat for Guernseys in the 305 day two times milking division for junior two-year olds, according to a report from the Advanced Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Drucilla is by Blakeford Constant and out of Spencer's Landing Bea. She was bred by Allan Browning Lane of Centerville, Md., and is owned by Louise Zeitler, of Glasgow, Delaware. The record was supervised by the University of Delaware. During the entire ten months during which Drucilla was on test the butterfat content of her milk did not go below six per cent.

Ware Abouts

Jack Ernest, home and recuperated from a recent operation at Johns Hopkins, advises that the third annual Antique Show, sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal Church, will again be held this year on April 23, 29 and 30.

Growing annually in popularity, the antique exhibits featured at the show draws interest of fanciers from far and near—with many inquiries and entry blanks already received for this year's affair; all of which should rightfully be addressed to Mr. Ernest.

Notice that the University of Delaware is preparing to erect several ornamental lights along the south side of Delaware Avenue skirting that part of the campus adjacent to Wolf Hall—which will be a real asset in illuminating a dark stretch along that area. But, we also notice that nothing has yet been done about parking on both sides of the street in this block—a practice that creates a definite traffic hazard.

The Charm House, which was reported here as about to be closed, then wasn't, several weeks ago, will definitely be closed, temporarily, until March 1—but only for remodeling and enlargement according to Mrs. Pearl Best who will, during that time, undergo an operation of serious nature.

Well known hereabouts for their catering ability, the Bests are represented currently at the National 5 & 10c Store where they have the fountain concession in this ultra modern establishment.

At least one current rumor is substantiated by the announcement that Newark will have the services of another photographer, effective March 1, when Leonard R. Black opens his Photo Studio, at 174 East Main Street.

A form letter, like many of you undoubtedly received, from Frank Gregg, manager of the duPont Hotel—advertising the dine, dance and drink facilities of his hostelry, erred on two counts—in our case—when it stated that: "You have heard this music at parties at the Vicmead Hunt and Wilmington Country Club." We've never been in either place in our life; but we appreciate the compliment.

Happy to learn that Mervin S. Dale is back home and getting along nicely after an operation and two-week sojourn in a Wilmington hospital.

Read in the Wilmington paper day before yesterday, under their "Twenty-five Years Ago" heading that the temperature on that February 13, 1923, was 14 above zero for the lowest reading of the winter . . . which is tame compared to the month-long cold snap we have been enduring in the early stages of this 1948.

Like they say in Florida, it's unusual for us to have such severe weather for so prolonged a period. However, Tuesday was quite a respite when the weather was mild and balmy, reminiscent of spring and giving promise of possibly early golfing days to come.

One fellow we know gave up drinking beer during Lent—for one day.

Look for Armed to be scratched and Assault to win the $50,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah, Saturday, with Delaware Park's Brian Field doing the broadcast.

Do you know that George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate on Sunday, was born 213 years ago, on February 22, 1732, and died at the age of 67, on December 14, 1799?

Town street department Johnny-on-the-spot these pretty days patching the many holes in town streets resulting from the severe stretch of winter.

Skating luminary Dick Button and alumni secretary Dan Button have one thing in common besides their similarity of last names—their stature.

Contributed—"Until about six months ago, Frank (famously called Pappy) and Mom Goodchild dropped into the Vets Club almost every Saturday night for a cool glass of beer. Then Pappy became ill and was hospitalized most of the time. Friday morning, Pappy died. Saturday night, there was more than a hundred persons at the club. The orchestra had just taken an intermission at 11 o'clock when the manager stepped to the microphone and explained the circumstances surrounding Pappy's illness and death.

"Since Pappy was not a veteran he could not receive a military funeral. However, while the ladies present bowed their heads in silent prayer and the men stood at attention, the ship's bell tolled Pappy's requiem . . . a final tribute to a social member from his veteran friends."

This newspaper has carried no parts of the sordid trial of three Wilmington men, found guilty by a jury of ten men and two women, on Tuesday . . . and doesn't intend to start publicizing it now. But, we can't help but wonder how the jurors will feel in later years when the responsibility for condemning three youths to death or life imprisonment begins to weigh upon them.

The public is fickle-proof of which is given by the reappearance of Lew Ayers in motion pictures after several years absence—during which he was held as a conscientious objector during the war.

Joan Crawford certainly should get some kind of an award for her portrayal in "Possessed." She undoubtedly gave a sterling performance but the gruesome theme of the picture will definitely not enhance its popularity.

122 West Main Street NEWARK, DELAWARE

Now sporting a winning streak of five straight games, University of Delaware's dribblers face two foes this week. In a non-league contest at home this Wednesday the Blue Hens tangle with Franklin and Marshall, 67-66 winners over Drexel last Saturday, only three days after the Hens had gained revenge on the Dragons for an earlier defeat by trouncing the Philadelphians 65-45.

On Saturday night Brunansky's brood will journey to Swarthmore for what now appears to be their most important game of the season. If the Hens' present hopes of coping the Southern Division diadem in the Middle Atlantic States Conference are to be kept alive, the Delawareans must top the Little Quakers. Swarthmore defeated Delaware last month in the local fieldhouse 38-36 on a Quaker field goal registered with only nine seconds to play. The Garnet now leads the Southern Division race with a record of four wins and two defeats.

Even speaking of the Hens' chances of annexing the conference crown seems strange, for until less than two weeks ago the Blue and Gold quintet was nestled in the circuit cellar. Nevertheless, last week's wins over Drexel and Ursinus were suffice to pull Delaware up into a three-way tie for second place with Ursinus and P. M. C.

When the Blue Hens upset Ursinus before a large and enthusiastic alumni crowd last Saturday it also enabled them to place a plus sign opposite their season record for the first time this season. The basketballers tutored by Joe Brunansky have now won seven and lost six—and five games remain on the card.

Attracting more and more attention, and increasing the value of Delaware's varsity basketball stock on the futures market, are the freshmen court charges of Bob Seiman. The Blue Chicks continue to win and thereby continue to give even greater promise of things to come. With two more victories in conference competition last week, Seiman's surging frosh five remain in first place in the Southern Division race with a record of seven wins and no losses.

When Branch Rickey took over the Brooklyn grid Dodgers recently he promised that the Flatbushers would not in 1948 be the All-America Conference doormats they were last season. Since Rickey is a man who means what he says, it looks as though Delaware gridgers are to play an important part in his plans for reversing the lowly estate of the Dodgers. Signed to Brooklyn contracts last week were Harold (Buck) Thompson and Walt (Moose) Marusa. For Buck it was no new experience, for he was a mainstay at end for the Dodgers last fall. The Moose, however, has signed for his first pro competition, for it was only last season that as a co-captain of the Blue Hens he gained a first-team guard position on the AP Little All-America. Come fall, we'll be following the Dodgers with twice as much interest as we had before.

SPORT SPECKS: That was quite a basketball record which fell out at South Bend (Ind.) last week. Notre Dame had built up a string of 38 straight court victories at home since 1943. Number 38 had been added during the preceding week when the Irish toppled Kentucky for the Wildcats' second loss in 22 games. Temple had administered the other defeat. Then last week St. Louis University's powerful quintet went to South Bend. When the game was over so was Notre Dame's home victory skiff—for the Missouri Billikens, featuring towering 6'8" "Easy Ed" Mcnealey, had won 68-51. . . . But a few nights later it wasn't at all easy for Ed and his teammates, for St. Louis lost 47-38 to Oklahoma A. & M., the same team which had administered their only other defeat of the season. . . . Two weeks ago we reported on the 118-116 triple overtime win of Rio Grande College. Now we note how the mighty have fallen, for last week Rio Grande could score only 30 points and lost 49-30 to Wilmington (of Ohio, we hasten to add). . . . The highest score we were able to find in the past few days was East Tennessee State's 112-58 win over Emory and Henry. . . . But it wasn't a high basketball score which attracted attention last week—it was a low one. It was the Oklahoma Aggies' 35-15 win over Creighton which caused the Associated Press to be deluged with requests for the final and not the half-time score. Actually, the half-time count was 13-6. . . . Having already mentioned the Oklahoma Aggies twice in this one column we may as well give them another plug. After their first 20 games of the season, of which they won 18, the Ags were the best defensive collegiate court team in the nation. They had allowed their opponents an average of only 32.4 points per game. . . . Leading offensive college basketball team was North Carolina State's wolf-pack, which had registered an average of 73.7 points per game in 22 encounters. Second offensive team was Rhode Island State (73.9) and in sixth position offensively was Delaware's conquerer, Lawrence Tech (69.7).

JACKET CAGERS IDLE UNTIL TUESDAY; MEET SALESIANUM IN AFTERNOON MATCH HERE

Score Surprise Win, 46-26, Over Wilmington Friends On Tuesday Here; Lose To Conrad High, 34-31, Friday

Buzzing contentedly after their startling 46-26 victory over Wilmington Friends School on the home court here Tuesday night, the Yellow Jacket cagers of Newark High are without an opponent this week as they take a breather before moving into the last lap of the current campaign.

Next Tuesday they face Salesianum in a matinee tussle here at 3:30 p. m. The following Friday night they meet Wilmington High in the last home game of the season.

Tuesday's triumph was a savory one for the Jackets, the more so since they became the first team in the state to down the Quakers this year. In addition it broke a four game losing streak for the Jackets. The game, postponed from January 27 and played on the Newark floor, was only the second defeat of the season for the Friends five.

The Jackets revealed their grim intentions at the opening whistle, leaping to a 12-4 lead by the quarter and widening it to 24-10 by the half. After the intermission, Newark continued to pour it on, dropping in 11 points in each of the last two quarters.

Top point-maker for the Jackets was Tony Cosetti, who ripped the cords with nine field goals and a foul, for a 19 point total. Bob Gregg added to the rout with 12.

The Newark Jayvees granted the visitors some satisfaction out of their trip here, when they bowed to the Quaker Juniors by a 28-21 count.

Earlier on Friday, the Newark quintet lost its fourth in a row, bowing to the Conrad Redskins, 34-31, on the latter's floor.

The Jackets had a 12-5 edge at the first period and relied at the intermission with a six point advantage, but faltered thereafter as Conrad came back to outscore them 11 to 4 and slip into a one point advantage going into the final quarter.

U. Of D. Rifle Team Practices At Armory

The rifle team of the University of Delaware's Military Department, now holding tri-weekly practices in the Newark Armory, is accepting matches for the future, and when sufficient practices have been held challenges will be sent to leading college teams.

The only major small bore class not now held by a First Army Area team is for College Level, and the Delaware team is hoping to change that by its entrance into the field. The team will accept new participants at the Armory at 2 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

LEAGUE OF SPORTSMEN IS PROPOSED

A proposal that a federation of Delaware sportsmen's club be formed to work for an eventual $100,000 grant of federal and state funds to aid wildlife conservation in the state was made by R. R. M. Carpenter recently at the annual banquet of Ducks Unlimited in the Hotel DuPont, Wilmington.

He suggested the federation, once formed, could work for a grant from the General Assembly, leading to a larger federal grant, available under the provisions of the Pittman-Robertson Act.

There is now more than $40,000 in federal funds available for conservation projects in the state if the state will provide approximately $13,000, and another allotment of an equal amount in federal funds will be available later, if the state's share is provided.

Mr. Carpenter, Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore airplane manufacturer, vice-president of Ducks Unlimited for the Middle Atlantic States and Dr. Ira Gabrielson, former director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, now president of the Wildlife Management Institute, all stressed the importance of the federation of sportsmen's clubs in Delaware.

At the close of their remarks, Leonard K. Yerger, past president of the State Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, announced that initial steps had been taken in the organization of a federal sportsmen's group.

The West End Rod and Gun Club, headed by Dr. Stanley Wisniewski, and the Rehoboth Sportsmen's Club, represented at the meeting by Walter Tomlinson, will sponsor a meeting at the Century Club in Dover, April 4, for the initial meeting for formation of a federation.

Each club is asked to send from three to five representatives to the meeting. There are some 27 clubs in the state which are in some way interested in wildlife, conservation or outdoor sporting activities.

Television Industry To Employ 100,000 By 1950

J. R. Popple, president of the Television Broadcasters Association, predicted recently television will give employment to 100,000 persons by the end of 1950.

In a broadcast, the New York radio and television executive said television now employs about 30,000 people. By December, he said, 5,000 more will be actively working in television.

"Television employment is going to increase by leaps and bounds from then on," he said.

Popple added television should provide excellent opportunities for veterans, especially those who worked with radar during the war.

HEN FIVE PLAYS AWAY NEXT WEEK; FACES SWARTHMORE ON SAT.; WASHINGTON WED.

Hens Take Stride Forward In Mid-State Conference League With 45-40 Win Over Ursinus Bears Here On Saturday Nite

Slim fare is in store for local court fans this week with Coach Ed Brunansky's Blue Hen cagers scheduled for two engagements on foreign floors.

Saturday night they meet Swarthmore in a return match, then move to Maryland on Wednesday night for a second meeting with Washington College. Only remaining home game on the schedule is the March 3 tilt with Haverford.

On Saturday night, the home fans saw the Hens boast their stock in the Middle Atlantic Conference with an upset, 45-40, win over Ursinus Bears.

The victory earned Delaware a 3-way tie for second place in the loop race, along with the Bears and P. M. C. Each now has four wins and three losses.

Ursinus spurred to a 5-2 lead in the opening minutes, but by the second quarter the Hens had gained control on goals by Vic Wood and Billy Cole. Wood was the top Hen sharpshooter, rustling the cords with five action shots and 10 fouls for a 20 point total. Cole was next with seven counters.

Defensive stand-out and major playmaker for the Hens was Jim McFadden, who always seemed a few steps ahead of the ball, intercepting Bear passes and setting up Delaware scoring maneuvers.

Competition continued in the VFW Dart League the past week, with the Marines finally defeating the Sea Bees. They were unable to keep up the pace, however, and faltered badly in the next two games.

After a week's rest it is expected that Ren George and Bunny Walters will be in top shape for their next games.

Scotty McAlpine is individual high scorer with George Foster and Tom Schultz tied for second. A few more games under Augie Muller's belt, and he will be giving the leaders something to worry about. Rumors have it that Bill Coverdale and Joe Crossan are practicing secretly at home.

Beckett and Beck claim that watching the games is instructional for their wives; that isn't the way we get the story. However, we do appreciate the interest the feminine rooters are showing. Everyone thought Tom Schultz was signing a ringer when he brought in Harry Fulton.

This week the Navy beat the hapless Army in all four, while the Marines took one out of four from the Sea Bees.

BULLETIN BY SHUE TO STAFF LISTS SCHOOL AIM

Statement On School Policy Of Interest To Local Parents

A concise statement of the educational philosophy and methods shaping policy at the Newark Public Schools was made recently in a bulletin issued to the faculty by Supt. Wilmer E. Shue.

Number 10 in a series of memoranda to his staff, listing advice and technical information, the bulletin, entitled "We Believe" is published here for the benefit of parents of Newark school children, who may be interested in gaining an insight into the guiding philosophy and educational techniques in operation here.

WE BELIEVE

That every child has a right to enjoy success.

That the teacher should take the child as he is—to as far as his abilities warrant. We feel that the teacher should motivate the work and have an interesting and challenging situation but when a child under these conditions does not produce to the level of his ability then pressure needs to be applied. We still believe there is much to be gained by requiring a child to stay after school in order to meet a part of his contract.

That teachers as well as pupils should keep their contracts. If homework is assigned it should be disposed of. If papers are collected they should be returned. That after either of these there is follow-up work. The child has a right to know to what extent he has kept his part of the contract.

That blackboards should be used more than they are. The use of blackboards is one example of visual aids and the teachers who are not using the blackboards effectively are missing out on some good opportunities for instruction.

That you should keep your classroom alive with purposeful well-planned work. Keep it alive but to the point.

That children know where you (teacher and children) are going. Children should be aware of the aims and purposes. They should be aware of the goal toward which they are working. If we would eliminate the "I" and substitute for it "we" both in practice and theory our work would count for more.

That time should not be wasted. We are of the conviction that we can do much more in a year's time in school than we are now doing. We believe much time is lost with teachers doing work in class time that they should do before class time.

That teachers who like children get more joy from the pupils they teach. You may say you like children but in your every day teaching is reflected whether or not you actually do.

Teach—Don't preach. Make your talk count, but don't do too much of it. Let the children think.

That "good morning" and "good night" carry a human touch. We believe that greeting the students (you'll have to be there to do it) when they come in the morning and bidding them good evening when they go home in the afternoon is of definite value and increases the respect for the teacher.

That every lesson should tie in a definite place. A short snappy review of the last lesson or unit followed by the development of the day's lesson and linked with tomorrow's makes for a meaningful whole.

That reading is the keystone in the arch of success. We are firmly convinced that especially in the elementary grades by teaching more reading all pupils will be better able to succeed. We are convinced further that high school pupils will succeed best who can read best.

Price Decline Merely Offsets Rises In 1947

The drop in agriculture commodity prices reported across the nation recently has done nothing more than offset the rise in the same prices that took place a year ago, according to Dr. Claude L. Benner, economist and vice-president of the Continental American Life Insurance Company.

The economist stated in a radio talk recently that the price decline in certain commodities is definitely no cause for alarm, pointing out that the trend is actually a correction between the price of agricultural commodities and finished methods.

10 Million More Voters Eligible Next Election

There will be at least 10,000,000 more people eligible to vote in this year's presidential election than in 1940, the Census Bureau estimated recently.

It calculated there will be 93,941,000 persons over 21 alive in the United States next November—47,760,000 women and 46,181,000 men.

There were 83,996,629 persons of voting age in 1940, the bureau said, but only 49,815,312 voted.

The bureau noted that in Georgia the voting age now is 18, which adds about 200,000 to the total number of potential voters.

DELEGATES ELECTED BY DAUGHTERS OF PATRIOTS

Four Newark women were among those elected as delegates and alternates to the National Congress, Daughters of Founders and Patriots, at a recent meeting of the Delaware Chapter recently in the Art Center, Wilmington.

Those who will represent the state at the national parley in April are: delegates, Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, Newark; Mrs. Elizabeth J. Newkirk, Wilmington; Mrs. Glenn S. Skinner, Newark; alternates, Mrs. Gunnar Winckler, Newark; Mrs. Layton A. Zimmer, Newark; Mrs. Carlton P. Bardeley, Wilmington; Mrs. Victor duPont, Montchanin; Miss Marian T. Everett, Montchanin; Mrs. P. B. Glauser, Media, Pa.

Further business conducted at the session included an announcement of plans for the presentation of a Delaware State Flag by the Delaware Chapter to the United States District Court on June 9. Judge Paul Leahy will accept the presentation. Members are invited to attend the ceremonies.

A letter was presented from Miss Jeannette Eckman, Consultant on Manuscripts, regarding an article she is editing for the Hidden History Committee. A letter was also read by Mrs. Cooch from one of the national officers regarding Lineage Books.

Following the reading of a communication from Col. Layton A. Zimmer, military department, University of Delaware, the members decided to award a prize to the student earning the highest score in rifle marksmanship during the first year basic course. The award will be offered annually for the next four years.

A further communication was read from the national chairman of Preservation and Restoration of Records concerning the "Calvert Papers" of Maryland. The national society is attempting to raise funds to purchase these famous papers.

AUTO PARTS PLANT NEARS COMPLETION

2-Story Office Building To Be Finished March

Although the sprawling $3,000,000 Chrysler parts plant now under construction here is only about fifty per cent complete, the first section, a two-story office building, is expected to be finished the first of next month, construction officials at the project announced this week.

Despite being hampered almost continuously by bad weather, especially this month's heavy snowfall, work on the vast building has been progressing steadily, with about 300,000 feet of the floor space completed. When finished, the plant will have 648,000 feet of floor space.

The entire building is now almost completely enclosed, with brickwork and sashes in place on the sides and a major portion of the roof installed. The finished plant will be 1,082 feet long and 600 feet wide.

Although no definite date for the completion of the structure has been set, a break in the weather will permit the construction teams to round out the project in quick time.

The two-story office building, which is scheduled for completion the first of March, is virtually ready for occupancy.

Counterfeiting Costs Public $85,000 In '47

Counterfeiting, increasing sharply, cost the American public $85,000 in 1947.

The Secret Service, reporting this recently, said it was nearly double the $47,000 lost by the public on bogus money in 1946.

The measure of loss is the amount captured after it gets into circulation.

James J. Maloney, chief of the service, said $2,769,000 in bogus bills were seized before they could get into the money stream. Of this total $87,000 was in bills which reached here from foreign countries and $2,100,000 seized in a raid on a counterfeiters' lair near Marseilles, France.

HO'Y A & P GIVES YOU LOWER FOOD PRICES!

During the past week you have noticed lower prices on many important food items in your A&P stores. These prices are a direct reflection of the reductions in the market cost of the food to us. Many of our customers are amazed to find these price reductions going into effect so quickly at the retail level. They wonder how we do it. There is no mystery about it. We are able to reflect these market reductions promptly because of three basic policies.

First—we endeavor to buy our food from primary sources of supply such as farmers, meat packers and grocery manufacturers and move it directly to our stores and warehouses. This keeps down the cost of distribution to us and the price to you at all times.

Second—when the cost of food to us goes down we do not wait until we have exhausted supplies on hand but endeavor to reflect reductions in our retail price promptly.

Third—we are food merchants, not food speculators. We do not build up great reserves of food at any time. We are in the market day to day buying food to meet our customers' day-to-day needs. The lower prices you are finding in A&P stores coming as they do at a time when all of us are concerned with the high cost of living have prompted many of our customers to ask us what the food price outlook is. Are there going to be future price reductions in these and other foods?

Frankly it is impossible for anyone to predict future retail food prices without knowing whether the current break in the commodity market is temporary or the beginning of a general trend. Grocers do not control the price. They must pay for food. They can lower retail prices only to the extent to which they buy wisely, keep their own costs and profits down, and pass along savings resulting from lower wholesale prices to their customers.

We base our retail price on the cost to us plus our low cost of doing business including our small profit of about one and one-half cents on each dollar of sales. Therefore we can say A&P prices will follow the market trend and that any further reduction in the cost of food to us or in our costs of doing business will promptly result in lower prices in our stores.

You can count on A&P to give you lower prices whenever and wherever it is possible. You can trust A&P to give you the most quality food for your money.
