Christmas Party Committee Announced

At the monthly business meeting last Monday, the Christmas Party Committee headed by Jack Handloff announced that plans are progressing satisfactorily. Renard George has been named to plan the menu for the party. The decorations will be supervised by Roland McCloskey, Joseph Shields and Wanda Mayer. George Wiggins, Russell Silk and W. S. Martin are planning the entertainment.

VETERANS CAN GET WARTIME RANK BACK

Former members of the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard who were honorably discharged from active service on or after May 12, 1945, may enlist in grades commensurate with their prior active service provided they held certain occupational specialties while in the armed forces.

This is an example of the modernized thinking of the new regular army and it also shows that the army is seeking to enlist men of the highest type of technical skill and training. Such ratings will give peacetime soldiers positions of responsibility comparable to those which they could demand in civilian life.

Any discharged veteran whose service was in one of these specified categories is eligible for enlistment in a grade commensurate with his skill up to and including the grade which he held at the time of his discharge.

To man the regular army and air forces which consists of about a million volunteers, thousands of trained men will be needed.

Veterans, in making your decision on a post war career, compare the regular army with any job you are contemplating as to its financial aspects, its retirement benefits . . . and its opportunities.

ENLARGED EDUCATION PROGRAM AT UNIVERSITY

Scholarship Awards To Be Given This Spring

An enlarged program of the University of Delaware's School of Education is a necessity if the state is to educate as many teachers as its schools require for replacements, Dean W. Earl Armstrong of the university's education faculty told the Sussex County Alumni Club of the university at Lewes.

The university never has prepared enough teachers for Delaware schools, Dean Armstrong pointed out before outlining several steps now underway to expand the program. He described this move as "part of an over-all university policy to be of service to all the people of the state."

One of the projects in the School of Education program, the dean said, will start next fall when teaching students will spend eight weeks in schools all over the state. Reports so far, he added, indicate that towns are interested in this student teaching program under which each community will have equal opportunity to be in contact with the future teachers.

Dean Armstrong also described the 20 teacher education scholarships, worth $400 a year each, awarded for the first time in 1947 and to be awarded on a competitive basis again this spring. Under these scholarships, he said, "we got some of the best high school graduates in the state" for training as teachers.

The School of Education is building its faculty, the dean stated, "to give the students the best education they can obtain."

The university has 265 persons enrolled who are preparing to teach, he said.

TO PRESENT THREE ONE ACT PLAYS

Miss Grace Berry Will Arrange And Play Music

The casts for three one-act plays to be presented in the 14th Playbill Program of the E-52 Players at the University of Delaware, next Tuesday evening in Mitchell Hall, Newark, were announced today.

Curtain time for the first play, "Open Secret," is 8:15 p. m. The other presentations will be the second act of "The Torchbearers," a comedy; and "Riders to the Sea," staged by the New Experimental Theatre, whose membership incorporates the E-52ers and the University Drama Group.

"Open Secret," whose setting is the underground control chamber of the Eastern Defense Command, at some future date, deals with the problem of our security through keeping the atomic bomb "secret," and imaginatively suggests what might result. Directed by Robert Levine, the cast will include Howard Hitchens and Robert P. Niemeyer as generals, Dwain Watkins as the secretary of the army; Albert Cruciano, Jr., G. Prew Savoy, Charles J. Cannon, and Gilbert Koffler.

In contrast to the mood of "Open Secret" will be "The Torchbearers," which shows what happens backstage during the performance of a play by a small community theater. With Marilyn Greenberg as the director, the cast includes Bruce Ayars, Daniel McVey, Ann Tarburton, Peggy Munoz, Jack Green, Leonor Baust, Jack Fossett, Amanda Abbott, Joanna Lindstrom, and William Taves.

J. M. Synge's "Riders to the Sea," considered one of the best one-act plays ever written, will be given an experimental production in which the lighting will play an important part in replacing the conventional scenery. The cast includes Sybil Levenson, Mary Medill, Rita Stonefield, and John Hitchens. Harry Bidlake, of the dramatic arts faculty, is technical director; Miss Grace Berry of the music department will arrange and play the music; and William Whedbee is directing.

NEWARK CAFE "PROPRIETARY" FOUND SHOT IN BASEMENT

Calls Head Waitress He Is Dying; Writes Two Notes

"I am dying! Come at once!" a voice gasped when Mrs. Mildred Sheldon of Glasgow answered her telephone.

She recognized the voice of her employer, Joseph Cinchiny, 56, proprietor of the Academy Restaurant, Newark.

Mrs. Sheldon sped to the restaurant with Newark police and there found Cinchiny dead on a cot in a basement banquet hall. By his side was a .38 calibre pistol and two notes.

Reconstructing the sequence of events in what they believe was a carefully planned suicide, police theorized that Cinchiny first wrote the notes, then telephoned Mrs. Sheldon, before shooting himself. A single shot went through his heart.

The restaurant had been closed for the day. When Mrs. Sheldon, who is head waitress there, reached the restaurant accompanied by Patrolman William F. Mote of the Newark police the front door was unlocked. Receiving no response to their calls, they searched the establishment, and located the body in the banquet hall. Police said Cinchiny had been dead about half an hour before the body was found.

Chief Deputy Coroner C. Everett Kelley said Cinchiny had been in ill health and was under the care of a physician.

One of the notes was directed to Raymond A. Moore, funeral director in Chester, leaving instructions for funeral arrangements. The other was for a friend, Harry Feldman of Philadelphia.

Cinchiny had operated the Academy Restaurant for the past six months. He lived at 73 Delaware Avenue, Newark.

He was a native of Austria, and before coming to Newark had been interested in the Yellow Bowl Tea Room in Chester for about three and a half years. He left there to take over the Newark restaurant.

Cinchiny was not married. He was a member of the Young Men's Republican Club of Chester.

TOMORROW'S CHICKEN CONTEST AT SUBSTATION

40 Breeders Winners Of Contests To Participate

The University of Delaware Agricultural Substation at Georgetown will be the site for the finals of the 1948 "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest. Meeting recently in Washington, the national contest committee composed of poultry scientists and poultry industry organizations selected Delaware because of the facilities available at the Substation for conducting such a contest.

About 40 breeders from all sections of the country who have won awards in regional and state contests during the past two years will compete. Nearly 20,000 chickens representing a number of different breeds and strains will be raised.

A. E. Tomhave, head of the University of Delaware poultry department and chairman of the Delaware "Chicken of Tomorrow" committee reveals that the contest will be held in March.

Following a 12-week growing period which will be supervised by Karl Seegar, assistant research professor, in poultry pathology, at the Substation, the birds will be dressed and judged. Climax of the contest will be a Broiler Field Day at Georgetown on June 23.

Overall objective of the contest is to produce a chicken with shorter, meatier legs, broader breast and larger proportion of flesh to bone. The bird must grow faster on less feed consumption.

EXTENSION SERVICE TO GIVE REPORTS ON WEATHER

Weather Forecasts Broadcast Over Delaware Farm And Home Hour

The Delaware Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the U. S. Weather Bureau, Baltimore, has inaugurated a special three-day agricultural forecast service for Delaware farmers.

George M. Worrlow, associate director of the Extension Service, reports that the Weather Bureau is telegraphing the farm weather forecasts daily to the Extension Information Office at the University of Delaware and to the county agricultural agents in Dover and Georgetown. In announcing this service, Worrlow said that "this service meets a long felt need and should be of real value to Delaware agriculture."

The agricultural weather forecasts are broadcast over the Delaware Farm and Home Hour radio program at 12:30 and are available to anyone in the state by calling the local county agents office after 10 a. m.

Worrlow states that the weather information received by the Kent County Extension Office is forwarded to the Bureau of Markets, State Board of Agriculture, Dover, where it is also available to farmers calling the Bureau regarding market conditions and quotations.

As soon as arrangements are completed, it is expected that more localized agricultural weather forecasts will be available through the Weather Bureau station at the New Castle County Airport.

First Drive Made In 1907

Delaware's forty-first annual Christmas Seal Sale for tuberculosis funds is under way on Monday of this week when direct mail appeals containing seals were delivered to residents throughout the state.

The appeal appeared over the signature of Miss Emily P. Bissell, President of the Society who started the first tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale on November 7, 1907. Officials of the Society hope to raise $65,000.00, the amount needed to carry on the work of the Society in the state next year.

Business houses, motion picture theaters, radio stations, and the press have all joined to help publicize the sale. About twenty motion picture theaters will show short Christmas Seal features which feature Douglas Fairbanks to be the narrator. Boy Scouts throughout the state have distributed window cards announcing the sale. Radio broadcast announcements will be broadcast during the sale.

LABORATORY SERVICE FOR DAIRYMEN

Specialist In Charge

In preventing or treating mastitis the object is to remove or overcome the cause. In practice it is not always easy to determine the cause, but Delaware dairymen have available to them a helpful way to find out what is causing mastitis in their herds. This aid is the Mastitis Diagnostic Laboratory established by the Delaware State Board of Agriculture and located in Wolf Hall at the University of Delaware.

Dr. C. C. Palmer, professor of bacteriology and director of Haskell Research points out that the methods used by the laboratory for detecting the causes of mastitis are based upon research conducted by the bacteriology department.

Many Delaware dairymen are taking advantage of the services rendered at the Mastitis Laboratory, but to more completely prevent and control mastitis in Delaware, Dr. Palmer urges all dairymen to have their herds tested.

He says that even if mastitis is not present, testing the entire herd once or twice a year is advisable. If mastitis is a problem, the herd should be tested at frequent intervals. All infected animals should be discovered and treated and the tests should be continued until the herd is free of infection.

Dairymen wishing to have their cows tested for mastitis may write, phone, or call in person at the Mastitis Control Laboratory, E. S. Biddle is the mastitis specialist in charge of the laboratory.

New Drug May Combat Typhus, Spotted Fever

A possible new drug weapon against certain serious diseases, including epidemic typhus and Rocky Mountain spotted fever, has been discovered.

The drug, called "chloromycetin," is derived from a soil-dwelling organism. Two Army researchers reported that the substance had demonstrated a "remarkable" effect, experimentally, against some of the germs against which streptomycin and penicillin had little or no combative power.

The researchers described experimental studies with chick embryos or mice in which the drug had proved effective in combating infections of epidemic typhus, scrub typhus, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, murine typhus, "ricketsial pox," and one virus infection—"parrot fever."

Canaries "Sensible" In Handling Whiskey

When it comes to drinking the "hard stuff," says Mrs. Catherine Grasso, who was a judge at Connecticut's first canary show, canaries have a lot more sense than some human beings.

"A drop of whiskey or a bit of gin is the best thing in the world for a canary when it is down in its warbles," said Mrs. Grasso, "but the cure never makes it drunk."

"Men," she added, "are in the habit of taking the cure before they're sick."

U. S. Says Sugar Prices Hike Would Be Gouging

Price controls now are off sugar, and government officials said any grocer would be "gouging" if he hikes his price to the housewife.

They emphasized there is "absolutely no excuse" for a price increase in the foreseeable future.

Ware Abouts

Sporting a delicate shaded sky-blue cover, the Newark Telephone Directory has been mailed to all listed Newark subscribers and if you have not received your copy by the time you read this, we ask that you call at our office and obtain same.

There are extra copies available for those subscribers who have more than one phone or need additional books . . . they're all free for the asking and come to you through the courtesy and with the compliments of the seventy odd advertisers who again make this convenient telephone index available to Newark users.

We commend these advertisers to you as interested in your convenience and trust that you may find them meritorious of your patronage—they're lots closer to you than Wilmington or Philadelphia stores and, in many instances, can fill your needs just as satisfactorily and economically . . . give 'em a try, won't you?

Ever so often we go off on a tangent about the desirability of living in Newark. Maybe we're slightly nuts on this subject but it has again been brought forcibly to our attention . . . Newark may not be the best residential town in these United States but it's the best we've come in contact with and we're delighted that it is our good fortune to have made this our permanent roosting place.

Isn't that the town itself is anything superlative, for from the standpoint of beauty and industry it probably is no better than hundreds of other similarly-sized college towns, but the people make the difference.

It has been said that one has to have been born a Delawarean to be accepted in the better circles—and while we may not yet have been accepted in what some may term the "better circles"—we are eternally thankful for the host of kind, loyal, sympathetic and understanding friends that we have made in our twelve years of residence in Newark . . . and it is our sincere hope that we may continue to justify and return that type of friendship here for the rest of our days.

Have you noticed the magnitude of the new Chrysler plant, located just over the Pennsy bridge at the south end of town, and the rapidity with which it is being erected? Certainly such an enterprise will mean a great deal in the growth and progress of Newark but we are forced to wonder if our town is big enough to cope with the increased residential and business problems this new addition will place upon our facilities.

Howard Breslin's "The Tamarack Tree," Literary Guild selection for December, looks like it might be interesting as well as educational reading.

We consider it a privilege to have received and been able to remit for our quota of 1947 Christmas Seals. Founded by Emily P. Bissell, the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society continues to lead the nation's fight against a dread disease that took a toll of 125 Delawareans in the past twelve months.

It is with a feeling of regret that we note Newark has taken no steps this year towards stringing Christmas lights along Main Street. For several pre-war years this project was promoted by the Chamber of Commerce and supported by Main Street merchants. The multi-colored lights always brought a festive, Christmasy feeling as shoppers made their way from store to store—and we miss 'em.

With the last war over and scarce materials becoming a little more plentiful, we do hope that this project will be renewed before another Christmas time rolls around.

Another tragedy touched our town on Thanksgiving Day when Jos Chichiny, 54-year-old proprietor of the Academy Restaurant shot himself, apparently from despondence and loneliness. In ill health for several months he had lived here. Joe had neither kith nor kin with whom to spend the Thanksgiving Day . . . no one to care how he felt, what he did or if he lived or died. He was a pleasant sort of a fellow who kept pretty much to himself but his passing saddens us as we know it will others who counted him a friend.

But such is life, into which some rain must fall. No one who lives his full three score and ten ever escapes the touch of sorrow . . . nor will ever understand our Maker's mysterious workings, his miracles to perform as he giveth, and also taketh away.

The grapevine has it that Golt's, formerly the Home Drug Store, will soon change hands . . . and that Herman (Barney) Renshaw will again take over management of The Academy Restaurant.

And, in case you haven't done your Christmas shopping yet, THE day is exactly three weeks from today . . . so, you'd better stir your stumps.

Sometimes thoughts are as perishable as a lighted match—they vanish if not expressed instantly.

A local high school was quipped: "A football player is a contortionist; he runs around his own end."

There's a bit of humor and a lot of truth in this statement: "Our Pilgrim forefathers landed on Plymouth Rock more than 300 years ago and we've been on the rocks ever since."

Did you ever stop to think what a terrific din there would be if we all made as much noise when things go right as we do when they go wrong?

Except for a few widely-scattered regularly scheduled games (including the important inter-sectional clash on Saturday between unbeaten and untied Notre Dame and once-tied but undefeated Southern California) and a mushrooming number of bowl battles, the 1947 collegiate gridiron season closed last week-end in a blaze of furiously fought encounters.

Unquestionably the national football spot-light was directed fully on Philadelphia during the Thanksgiving week-end. In only four days almost a quarter of a million fans poured into three different Quaker City sports arenas to witness three great attractions.

The first of these was the traditional Turkey Day tangle between powerful Pennsylvania and the Big Red of Cornell. Penn's 21-0 shut-out victory gave the Red and Blue their first undefeated season in 39 years. George Munger's punters rolled over all opposition except Army, "Red" Blais Kaydets held the Quakers to a 7-7 stalemate.

Second of the Philadelphia attractions was the annual featured engagement between Army and Navy. This extravaganza drew more than 100,000 addicts to Municipal Stadium—many of whom were sorely disappointed by Navy's mediocre, and occasionally poor, exhibition which enabled the Soldiers to conquer 21-0.

Closing out this chapter of "The Philadelphia Story" was the surprising and stinging defeat administered to "Doc" Southerlands Pitt Steelers by the Philadelphia Eagles at Shibe Park. Not to be out-done by Penn and Army the pros of "Greasy" Neal turned this neat trick by a count identical with that of the other two games—21-0.

So there's one for the record books—three important gridiron grapples in one city in four days and each contest terminating in a final 21-0 count.

Navy's disappointing showing against Army gave the West Pointers their fourth consecutive win over the Middies and completed the most dismal football season in Annapolis history. The Crabtowners conquered only Cornell while tying Duke and dropping seven other encounters.

While it's true that Tom Hamilton's charges played one of the toughest schedules in the nation, Navy's display against Army caused us to be considerably disillusioned. We had previously considered the Middies to be a hard-luck team. Now we're rather inclined to believe that a lack of aggressive alertness and failure to take advantage of breaks and real opportunities were the principle causes of their 1947 failure.

Sportswriters have consistently played up the misfortunes which beset the Annapolis eleven because of untimely fumbles. This is undoubtedly true, but only a partial explanation. Last Saturday their physical fumbles were factors scarcely as important as their mental ones. Phunging and passing on fourth downs in their own territory while victory might still have been achieved raised many questions among even Navy adherents in the stands—and certainly did Army no harm.

Failure either to understand or to execute blocking assignments throughout the contest severely hampered the ball carriers. Maybe we're too harsh on the Navy operators but at least these are some of our impressions. We also have the impression that "Big" Rowan and his Army cohorts are an aggregation which are more than fair or five elevens in the nation could topple.

Back here at home the Newark Yellow Jackets lost their Thanksgiving Day clash with Conrad 12-0. Nevertheless this spirited team, coached by Walt Matt, closed out what should be considered a really successful season. The Jackets' record of five wins and four losses is much more than creditable. They played a tough schedule including most of the Wilmington schools which have a vastly larger manpower pool.

Saddest part of this situation is that most of the lads who comprised this 1947 Black and Gold eleven will not be available for action next season, which means that a rebuilding job must be done again. Of all the high and preparatory schools in Delaware only three were able to record undefeated seasons this year. Leading this select group are the Golden Knights of Georgetown, who, by defeating Cambridge 39-0, maintained a clean slate of eleven wins in a like number of games. When Dover edged Milford 20-19, the high schoolers in the State capital put away their toga with a record of seven victories and one stalemate. The third crew in this category is the tied but undefeated Brown Vocational gridlers of Wilmington.

GRID GRITS. A few weeks ago we pointed out that on the very day Iowa's coach, Eddie Anderson tendered his resignation his team registered an upset victory. We still think this is doing it the hard way but last week two other teams were not to be outdone by Iowa. After Bill Kern resigned at West Virginia, his Mountaineers defeated Pittsburgh 17-2 for their first victory over the Panthers in 19 years. And up in New England John "Ox" DaGross voluntarily ended his three-year tenure at Holy Cross and then had the pleasure of watching the Crusaders upset favored Boston College 20-6 for Holy Cross' fifth straight win over B. C. . . . Pitt's defeat by West Virginia closed out the most dismal season in the gridiron his-

BLUE HENS WIN FOUR AND LOSE FOUR, FOR 1947 GRID SEASON

Basketball Season Opens Up At The Field House With Temple Furnishing The Opposition, December 9

Bill Murray's battered birds bowed out of the '47 grid picture last Saturday week ago after sustaining their fourth loss of the season, this one to the aerial-minded Generals of Washington and Lee University, 18-13. The Hens 4-4 record for the '47 season is the worst compiled by a Delaware grid squad since Murray took over the coaching reins at the outset of the '40 season.

In spite of their just balanced book, the Hens continue to prove that the old double-wing system can stand up to any of the current fanciful shifts, for Saturday's melee marked the 39th consecutive game in which the Hens have scored, 37 of which have been their punch over at least two touchdowns. This is believed to be currently the top scoring spree in the country.

Captain Art Lewis' Generals appeared certain in the first half of Saturday's game to be the first team since 1940 to blank the Hens as they walked off the field at the half on top, 12-0. Murray apparently knew what to say during the intermission for his flock promptly punched over two scores to assume a 13-12 lead over the visitors. The score stood there until Brian Bell tossed his fourth period pass to Jim Carpenter in the end zone for the clincher.

In throwing the scare of the season into the Virginia lads, the Hens were paced by a couple of backs that promise to make plenty of noise on eastern gridirons next year. Scat-back Billy Cole played his customary standout game, but it was his sub and ex-high school running mate that provided most of the Hen offensive fireworks. Big Bill Nash, who has been used chiefly on the defense this year, was virtually unstoppable on the famous Delaware strong side reverse, and bids fair to give Cole a run for that spot next season.

Delaware loses one of its greatest guards, Walt Marusa, and certainly one of the top defensive brains in collegiate football. The Moose's famous ability to smell out a play and throw his 220 pounds on the scent at the right time garnered Little All-American honors for the Wilmington husky last year and he has already taken an honorable mention spot on the Eastern All-Star squad for the current season.

First to hang up his moccasins after Saturday's finale was line coach Joe Kuzmewsky, who immediately steps into gym shoes as Hen basketball coach. The popular Joe has his five starters from last year back for another campaign and expects to start whipping his two teams squad into shape for their opener against Temple on December 9.

BANK ROBBER ORDERED TO ASYLUM

Will Face Trial If He Responds To Treatment

Transfer of Norman Lee Rechuba, 24, of Newark, charged with robbery of the National Bank and Trust Company of West Grove, Pa., to the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane at Norrisstown, Pa., was ordered by Judge W. Butler Winkle of West Chester.

Rechuba, who with Lawrence Griffin, of Bear, was arrested in connection with the robbery, was pronounced mentally unbalanced by a court-appointed sanity commission. He was examined by two physicians at the Chester County prison upon petition of the prison warden.

District Attorney Joseph G. McKee said Rechuba will face trial if he responds to treatment at the hospital. He was arrested at Yuma, Ariz., by FBI agents and Yuma authorities a week after the robbery. With him at the time was Natalie Pierce, 15, of Newark, who was held on a federal juvenile delinquency charge.

Victory of the once mighty Panthers. In five contests they scored only 24 points and recorded their sole victory at the expense of Ohio State. . . . Two real surprises were the one-sided (40-7) victory of North Carolina over Virginia and the fact that Lu Gambino and his Maryland mates were forced to settle for a scoreless stalemate with North Carolina State. . . . Muhlenberg, apparently hoping and angling for a bowl bid, poured it on Franklin and Marshall unmercifully to the tune of 37-

Last week's predictions found us with 14 right, 4 wrong, and 4 ties for a .777 average. A recapitulation of all our selections during the last seven weeks shows that we emerged without suffering too bad a lashing and with a season average of 73% accuracy.

HORSE SHOW ASSOCIATION FORMED

Colonel Ashbridge Elected President Of Organization

For the past 4 years Newark has held an annual horse show sponsored by a group of interested horse-enthusiasts. However, the group organized only for the current show, and there was no permanent organization. Feeling the need for such a club, a special meeting was called. By-laws and a constitution was drawn up, and officers for the new club, to be known as the Newark Horse Show Association, elected. They are: President, Colonel Donald Ashbridge; vice-president, Mr. Leroy Parker; treasurer, Mr. James Thompson; secretary, Miss Eve Boden; show secretary, Mrs. James Thompson. The four directors, to act in an advisory capacity, are: Mr. Abe Geist, Mr. J. K. Johnston, Mr. Ralph Vannoy, and Major Henry Osthus.

The association has already made plans to hold their annual show in the spring this year, and has applied to the National Horse Show Association for the date of May 22nd. It is hoped that the show will be superior to any held so far. The club is a non-profit organization, devoted solely to holding horse shows for charitable purposes; and to encourage the sport in and around Newark.

Lew Whalen And Jim Hoffman Score For Conrad In Hard Fought Encounter, Newark Loses Thirteen Players

Conrad High School's football team registered a 12 to 0 triumph over Newark High School in their 12th annual Thanksgiving Day clash before a crowd of approximately 5,000 on the Conrad field.

The Redskins drove 52 yards for their first touchdown in the second period and tallied again in the third quarter after a march of 33 yards. The tilt, final of the season for both teams, was played on a muddy field.

Bill Hoffman sparked the Conrad surge for its first touchdown, gaining consistently through the line to give the home team a first down on the nine-yard line. Lew Whalen then sliced off tackle for the touchdown. Hoffman's placement for the extra point was wide.

Newark launched a strong air attack late in the second period with Jim Wollaston connecting several times to End Bobby Gregg to reach Conrad's 25-yard line. The drive was halted by the end of the first half.

Conrad recovered a Newark fumble on the alien 33 to set its second touchdown drive in motion. Paced by Tommy Lewis, the Conrad ground attack rolled to the four-yard line and Hoffman plunged over.

Newark's passing attack clicked again in the final period to carry the invaders to their opponents 16. Wollaston completed four consecutive passes to Gregg, but the drive bogged down inside the Conrad 15.

Gregg was the defensive star of the game and his excellent punting pulled Newark out of danger several times.

LOCAL CADET ON LACROSSE TEAM

S. W. Lockerman Mainstay On Company Team

Cadet Samuel W. Lockerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Lockerman, of Linden Hall, R. F. D. No. 2, Newark, Delaware, played on the victorious Company A-1 lacrosse team, November 10, in the Brigade Intramural Championship Finals at the United States Military Academy, Company A-1, lacrosse champion of the First Regiment, defeated Company K-2, Second Regiment winner, in a thrilling, over-time period game. Cadet Lockerman was a mainstay, both offensively and defensively, of the company team which was undefeated in lacrosse intramural games this past year.

Lacrosse is one of the four fall intramural sports at the United States Military Academy and is a part of the West Point intramural program in which every cadet, not actively engaged in intercollegiate sports participates. This program consists of three seasons: fall, winter, and spring, with four sports in each season. These sports include among others: swimming, boxing, and soccer. Each cadet plays a different sport each season each year and, in this way, fulfills the Academy's aim of "Every cadet an athlete."

Cadet Lockerman, now a sophomore at the Military Academy, was appointed to West Point by the Honorable James Tunnel.

HOMEMAKING PROGRAM TO SPUR FOOD SAVING

Presented Daily Over Station WDEL, 12:30 P. M. Starting Dec. 5

Homemakers will have an opportunity to participate actively in the food conservation program, through a "Wheat and Meat Savers" contest to be conducted on the Delaware Farm and Home Hour radio farm show presented daily over Station WDEL, 12:30 p. m.

Beginning on December 5 and continuing for six weeks, the best wheat and meat savings suggestions of the week offered by a homemaker will be featured on the Friday homemakers program of the Delaware Farm and Home Hour. The winning suggestion of the week, as determined by the judges, will also receive a prize.

The contest, conducted by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, is open to any woman or girl who plans to cook meals for her family. Among suggestions that may be entered are recipes for using meat substitutes, less expensive cuts of meat, poultry or for extending left-overs; ways to use up left-over bread, cereal or cake; and ways to reduce waste through better storage.

A new contest will begin every Friday. Women may send as many entries as they wish, either at one time or over the six-week period. Contestants are asked to include with their entries, their name, address, whether adult or under 18 years of age, and number of persons in their family.

The winning food saving suggestion will be chosen on the basis of the proportion of vital food saved, the ease with which the suggested practice can be adapted by other families, ingenuity in making use of food already on hand, and the attractiveness and nutritive value of the food saving ideas.

Judges of the contest will be Miss Hazel Baker, foods instructor; Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, extension nutrition specialist, both from the University of Delaware; and Miss Doris Dean, home economics teacher, Newark High School.

DELAWARE'S FARM FRONT

According to the November 1 Delaware Crop Report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Delaware egg production during October was the same as October of last year—eight million eggs.

Although there was a decrease of four per cent less laying hens this year as compared to the same period last year, the higher laying rate per hen accounted for this equal total egg production.

National goals for 1948, calling on farmers for top production not greatly different from wartime totals, have been announced by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. The goals seek a total of 365 million acres, of which 236 millions are for cultivated crops and the balance for hay crops.

Delaware production goals established for wheat, rye and potatoes call for 70,000 acres of wheat, 20,000 acres of rye and 2500 acres of potatoes.

"With cold weather approaching, the chances for a fire loss from stoves or furnaces increase," states Jack F. Bell, extension agricultural engineer. "A fire can claim the profit of years of labor." Mr. Bell also points out that each winter brings a toll of carbon monoxide casualties.

The National Safety Council suggests a systematic check-up of your heating equipment before a fire or injury occurs. See that all stove or furnace pipes are in good condition and a safe distance from combustible walls, ceilings, curtains, or papers. Use a metal fire cover under wood or coal stoves. Use metal containers for ashes. Don't take a chance in gasoline or kerosene to start a fire.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS TO CONSIDER ECONOMICS

Of Saving Feed And Producing Livestock

"It's always good business to keep efficient producers, but with feed prices high, it's more than good business, it's a must"—this is the economic fact which the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service is calling farmers attention to in the present feed emergency.

Both Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman, and J. Frank Gordy, extension poultryman, are reminding producers that good business practices and the economic interest of the farmer require that every effort be made to save grain and other high-priced concentrates.

Below are some of the practical ways they suggest of saving feed and producing livestock and livestock products more economically:

Make fuller use of forage such as hay, silage and poultry ranges.

Cull poor-producers. Not only should laying flocks be culled weekly, but also the poorer broilers should be removed from flocks.

Feed for full production. In dairy and poultry production, feeding should be based on production to receive the highest returns per unit of grain fed.

Get rid of insects, parasites and disease in the herds and flocks. Pigs with roundworms, for instance, cannot make good use of feed; neither can poultry with lice or mites produce efficiently.

Use good feeding equipment that will prevent waste of grain and other feeds.

Provide ample shelter to keep the stock protected from the weather and comfortable at all times.

The hour and place of the meeting, which will be the second of the year for the club, will be announced subsequently by Ernest F. Smith, Jr., of Kenton, president of the club.

Also on the program will be a showing of films of one of the Delaware football games for the past season.

In addition to Mr. Smith, Kent County club officer are John N. Lyndall, of Wyoming, who is vice-president; and Joshua T. West, of Dover, secretary-treasurer.

Delaware To Be Represented At PMA Conference

Clarence E. Oehlert, chairman of the Delaware Production and Marketing Administration Committee and Vincent L. Mayer, Newark, New Castle County representative on the state committee, will attend the national conference of the Production and Marketing Administration to be held in Colorado Springs, Colorado, December 9-12.

According to the State Chairman, this is the first national PMA conference since PMA was established more than two years ago. Every state, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are to be represented at the conference.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson will be one of the featured speakers at the conference.
