Robert E. Shilling Named by Governor

Governor Townsend has today appointed Robert E. Shilling, a native of Camden, Superintendent of public schools in Kent County. Mr. Shilling was born in Camden in 1888. Mr. Shilling is now principal of the high school at Greensboro, Md. He has attended the Summer School for teachers at Columbia University during the sessions of 1914-16-17, and will take his Master's degree next year. Dean Robinson spent Saturday at Columbia University, where she attended a conference whose object was the discussion of war work to be done for French orphans.

Miss Gertrude Brady was the guest of the Women's College over the week end.

Cannery Distributes Surplus Sugar

The shortage of sugar in Sussex County has recently been relieved by the distribution, by the John G. Townsend Canning Company, of several barrels of sugar left after the preserving season, to those employed at the factory.

Local residents, while not able to obtain the commodity in large quantities, manage to get enough to supply their immediate wants. Several hundreds of pounds were disposed of by the company.

First Snow Storm On Tuesday

Snow fell last night after a day marked by decidedly winter-like weather. The thermometer at 7 o'clock yesterday morning registered 18 degrees, but the mercury gradually rose until it reached 36 degrees during the afternoon.

Early in the evening nearly everyone was willing to offer odds that there would be snow before the night was over, and snow it was, the flakes beginning to fall shortly after 8 o'clock and continuing throughout the night, although up to midnight the fall was not heavy. At that time the mercury registered 30 degrees.

Of these 53 sweaters were delivered to the Colonial Dames, for Delaware men, and 38 at Red Cross headquarters for general military relief purposes.

No Game On Thanksgiving

Much disappointment is expressed locally over the fact that there will be no Thanksgiving game on Frazer Field, as scheduled. Mt. St. Mary's having been compelled to cancel the game on account of a quarantine at the Emmitsburg College. Although Manager Bowen made repeated efforts to get another game, it was found that all the colleges had either games scheduled or had disbanded their teams.

Man Bitten By Hog

Norman J. Cashell, a young farmer living near Iron Hill, suffered a painful experience on Monday morning when butchering hogs. Mr. Cashell was about to stick the pig, holding it with his left hand near the mouth while he severed the vein with his right hand. When he grasped the hog, however, it turned on him and bit his left thumb, completely severing it at the first joint. Cashell is under treatment by a physician.

LAST LECTURE

NEXT SUNDAY

Calvin's Share In The Reformation Discussed

The third lecture in the series on the Protestant Reformation given last Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church was illustrated with colored slides telling the story of the life of John Calvin—his boyhood in Noyan, France, his residence in Paris, where he attended the University, his adoption of the principles of the Reformation, his sojourn in Basel, Berne, and Zurich, Switzerland, in Strassburg, Germany, his work in Geneva, Switzerland.

Next Sunday night Dr. Rowan will conclude the series with the story of the part Calvin performed in the great Reformation.

PROGRESS AT OLD DELAWARE REPORTED

Trustees, Faculty, And Students Dine In Old College Hall

Reports showing marked progress were features of the meeting of the trustees of Delaware College held in Recitation Hall on Tuesday. Of special interest was the report of President Mitchell showing that 334 students are now enrolled in the two colleges, 214 in Delaware, and 120 in the Women's College.

"Of the 334 students in both Colleges at present, 256 are from Delaware and 78 are from other States. It is to be noted that Wilmington has in the Colleges 101; New Castle County, 71; Kent County, 45; Sussex County, 39. The large Freshman class of 87 men is due in no small degree to the enthusiasm and untiring efforts of Dean E. Laurence Smith.

"For sometime," Dr. Mitchell said, "the College Farm has helped to furnish the table in our dining halls with such things as milk, eggs, fruit and meat, and the success of Dean Robinson in raising on the campus of the Women's College 260 bushels of Irish potatoes, at a cost of 60 cents per bushel (Continued on Page 4)

Send Packages To Local Headquarters

Persons who have prepared Christmas packages for soldiers or sailors should send them to their local Red Cross Chapter, and not to the headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington, as many have done through apparent misunderstanding. Christmas packages are assembled by local Chapters and Auxiliaries, packed in cases and forwarded directly to Division warehouses for distribution to cantonments or for shipment abroad. The National Headquarters in Washington is devoted exclusively to executive work.

Confirmation At St. Thomas'

The Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Kinsman, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Delaware, will make his annual visitation to St. Thomas' Church on Sunday, December 7th, at the eleven a. m. service. The Bishop will administer the Apostolic right of confirmation. The class of candidates is receiving weekly instruction. A cordial invitation is herewith extended to the public to share in this service.

D. A. R. Adopts French Town

The Daughters of the American Revolution have "adopted" a French town. The members of this organization, who have already given more than $2,500,000 for war work, are raising money to build houses and buy furniture, live stock, and farming implements for the village of Tilloloy, on the Aisne, which has suffered heavily during the war.

MORE SWEATERS NEEDED

Statement Direct from National Red Cross Headquarters

The following communication, direct from Red Cross headquarters, Washington, received at the office of the Newark Post on Monday, November 26th, gives official information in contradiction to reports current in town this last week.

The War Council of the American Red Cross has recently sent the following statement to all Division Managers:

"It is imperative that all of the sweaters, wristlets and socks that can possibly be made by the women of the country should be turned in to the Supply Department at the earliest possible date. With the cold weather coming on, the demand, for sweaters especially, has been beyond the capacity of all our resources to supply. We have forwarded promptly all knitted articles received from the Chapters pelled to buy in the market 550,000 sweaters, of which about 250,000 have been delivered. These sweaters are machine knit and the yarn used is a mixture of cotton and wool, so that it does not without any considerable amount of yarn from the women knitters of the Red Cross. We are buying all the yarn we are able to secure that is suitable for knitters and sending it out to the Chapters as fast as we can get delivery of it. We have received from the Chapters about 20,000 sweaters, approximately the same number of machine-made sweaters, all of which have been delivered to the men in the camps and training stations, with the exception of a few thousand which we have had to send to France. The requests of our organization in France for sweaters and knitted goods have had to remain unsatisfied on account of our inability to secure enough for men in our own Army and Navy. We call upon the women to give us their very best effort from now until at least January 1st, that we may be able to furnish our own men with these comforts and have some to spare for the dire needs in France."

NEW CENTURY CLUB ENTERTAINS

Hospitality Reigned Supreme On Monday Evening

Members of the New Century Club dispensed genuine hospitality last Monday evening, when they entertained their friends at a "get-together" meeting in the new clubhouse. Supper was served by the Hospitality Committee and a pleasing musical program furnished by the Music Committee. Mrs. T. F. Manns gave an interesting review of Corra Harris' new book, "Making Her His Wife."

On the main floor of the large club room the supper tables were spread, tastefully decorated with green shaded candles and flowers. Oysters on shredded wheat, cold meats, hot biscuit, jellies and sauces, coffee and cake was served. An informal social hour followed the supper after which the following musical program was given: "La Paloma," by Dr. Rawlins, pianist, Mr. Sumwalt, violinist, and Mr. Marks, cornetist; duet, "Night Shades are Falling," by Miss Marion Campbell and Earl Ewing; solo, "The Land of Nod," Mrs. J. P. Cann; piano solo, "Quartette, from Rigoletto," Dr. Rawlins; Two songs, "Carmina Waltz Song," and "A Little Bit of Love," by Miss Peach; Selection, "Among the Lilies," Messers Rawlins, Sumwalt, and Marks; Two songs, "Like the Rosebuds" and "Laddie in Khaki," Miss Eleanor Duffy; Piano Duet, Mrs. Wm. Holton, Miss Nellie Wilson, "Selection from Midsummer Night's Dream"; Trio, "When the Roses Bloom," Miss Duffy, Mrs. Cann, and Mrs. R. T. Jones.

Mrs. Manns in her book review gave interesting sidelights on the character of Corra Harris, the author, and referred to the human quality in all her writings, which make her beloved by everyone. The story reviewed sets forth the experiences of a certain bachelor, the product of a conservative little town, who marries on the impulse, a society girl of Atlanta, Georgia. Mrs. Harris' account of John's method of making her his wife, interspersed with wit and realism, is illustrative of the style which has endeared her to the public.

Following the formal program dancing became the order of the evening. Music was furnished by Miss Elsie Wright and Mrs. Anna Armstrong.

MANY ENJOY STORY TELLING

Seumas Mac Manus Delights Audience In Wolf Hall

Wolf Hall was crowded last Monday afternoon with folk, big and little, who love a good story, to hear Seumas Mac Manus, the Irish story teller. Principal, R. P. Koehler, of the Newark Public Schools, presided. Mr. Koehler, in a brief introduction of the speaker declared, "Everyone loves a good story; no people more than the Celtic. No country is richer in stories than Ireland, and no one can tell them better than Seumas Mac Manus, the King of Irish story tellers."

And Seumas Mac Manus did not disappoint his audience. In brief introductory words the lecturer referred to Ireland as the land of stories and story telling, the art long forgotten, or neglected, or laid aside, in many lands. "In Ireland," he said, "the story teller ranks third in the land—first the King, then the poet, and the story teller. In olden times he traveled like a royal prince, and was besieged throughout the land. Today there isn't a hillside or a glen that hasn't at least one or perhaps two or three story tellers, into whose cabin the neighbors crowd at evening around the great turf fire, with its beautiful, dancing, yellow flame.

"And there are thousands and thousands of beautiful folk tales told," Seumas Mac Manus said, "almost exactly as they were told 1,000 or 2,000 years ago—stories learned from parents, and from their parents before them. These stories are historic, hero, fairy, dramatic, poetic and Finn tales. The speaker delighted his audience with samples of the hero tale in Conal Caernach; the fairy tale, 'How the Fairies First Came to Ireland,' and a pure folk tale, 'The Story of Jack and the King Who Was a Gentleman.'"

Seumas Mac Manus has collected many of the Irish stories as they have been told around the hearthstone for generations, and published them under the titles of Donegal Fairy Tales, Neighborly Stories, and In the Chimney Corner.

Forty-eight dollars was taken in at the door, of which $25.00 was paid to the speaker; $1.75 for auto service. The proceeds, $21.25, was given to the Red Cross of Newark.

He was selected by Mr. H. R. Sharp, chairman of the grounds and building committee.

Mr. Langhorn is an experienced man in engineering and architectural work. As the representative of the architects, Day and Klauder, he has, for a year or more, supervised the erection of the college buildings. He is therefore well known to the whole college circle. His directive energy will be felt in The Commons where he will assist the director.

Mr. Langhorn is married and expects to move his family to Newark in the near future.

Selbyville's Record

Selbyville, Delaware a Sussex town of 400 to 500 population, had the honor of having every household subscribe to the Red Cross Fund. Now last week, the far-off and sneered at village gave $1,100 to the Y. M. C. A.

Comments had best be left unsaid—except when speaking of Sussex interest in the war—take off your hat.

THE IDEA OF THE HOOVER CAMPAIGN

Set Forth In An Editorial Forwarded By Soldier Boy

The following signed editorial by Mrs. Champ Clark, clipped from The Atlanta Georgian, has been forwarded to this office with a request for its publication by Frank Falls, a Newark boy in No. 2 Motor Truck Co., 104th Ammunition Train, Camp McClellan, Ala.

"It is said that the original Saxon form of our English word loaf meant loaf-giver, and it would, I think, be a fit time to give the word its ancient significance. In these days of strenuous food conservation, the loaf-giver is a person of dignity. However, I can say that the 'wast not, want not' slogan is no new thing to me.

"I well remember the impression made upon my childish mind by the lessons in McGuffey's Reader, and none better than the story of the 'Three Boys and the Three Cakes,' and it should be reprinted and circulated everywhere to teach the children of the present generation how to get the most enjoyment out of life's blessings and to learn that the prime secret of happiness is to contribute to the happiness of others.

"For the benefit of those benighted souls who knew not McGuffey, I will relate as well as I may from memory the story of 'The Three Boys and the Three Cakes,' which illustrates the meaning of the Hoover movement. There was a boy named Harry whose mother said to Betty, the maid: 'Betty, Harry has been a very good boy and learned his lessons well; I think we should send him a cake.'

"'With all my heart,' said Betty. So she made him the cake and stuffed it with raisins and citron and other good things and sent it to Harry. He was delighted and he ate it all, never giving his schoolmates a bite, and in consequence (Continued on Page 4)

GERMANS HELD IN U. S.

Number Nearly Two Thousand Eight Hundred

Two classes of German prisoners are now detained in this country. One is comprised of sailors taken into custody when the United States entered the war; the other consists of "alien enemies," civilians who have been arrested and are now being held under governmental regulations for various reasons.

The principal detention camp is at Fort McPherson, Ga., where approximately 850 war prisoners are held; at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., there are 165 alien enemies; at Fort Douglas, Utah, there are 517 prisoners of war and 80 interned Germans. Small detachments are now temporarily quartered at Army posts throughout the country, but their number is relatively small.

Altogether there are 2,364 actual prisoners of war in the custody of the War Department and about 400 interned aliens held at the request of the Department of Justice.

It is estimated that Germany is now holding 150 sailors taken from American ships by commerce raiders and other German vessels.

War-time Demand On Cotton

Recent investigations in the use of cotton in war show:

A 12-inch gun disposes of a half bale of cotton with every shot fired; a machine gun in operation will use up a bale in three minutes; in naval battle like the one off Jutland over 5,000 pounds a minute are consumed by each active warship; more than 20,000 bales a year are needed to provide absorbent cotton for the wounds of the injured; one change of apparel for all the troops now engaged in the war represents more than a million bales.

Y. W. C. A. Activities

At Women's College

The past week a series of watch meetings have been held by the student members of the Y. W. C. A. each morning at 7.10. These meetings were called for the purpose of offering prayer for the women of all nations. On Monday the country under consideration was Africa, and Miss Mary Denison led at Warner Hall. Miss Elizabeth Howell led at the Annex Tuesday the subject covered the United States, Canada, and South America; Miss Edwina Long led at Residence Hall and Miss Elizabeth Houston at the Annex. Wednesday Miss Hilda Stevens and Miss Beckett had charge of the meetings at the two buildings, and discussed the nations of Asia. Thursday Misses Lillian Thornley and Violet Marris led meetings about Australia. Friday the prayers were for the warring nations of Europe, and the meetings were led by Misses Catherine Fletcher and Pauline Marvil. Saturday the neutral nations of Europe were the countries under consideration. Miss Esther Dodson and Miss Olga Seifert were the leaders. Sunday evening the Thanksgiving Service of the Y. W. C. A. was led by Miss Mabel Dobson. Following a solo by Miss Victoria Zukowsky, Mrs. Frank Ball of Wilmington, gave an inspiring talk on Thanksgiving. Taking the hundred and third psalm as a basis for her talk, she told why we should give thanks. In conclusion she urged the girls to make Thanksgiving a habit rather than an occasional occurrence.

About HORSE BLANKETS

Some time ago an old man was heard to stop a passerby on a city street and indignantly exclaim: "Why don't the officer arrest that feller for lettin' his horse stand there that way? He's left it unblanketed fer hours every day this week." The weather was near the zero mark and the person addressed turned, prepared to share the speaker's indignation. But instead of a real horse, the poor old soul referred to a wooden horse hitched to a sleigh for advertising purposes.

The time for zero weather is again here. Be prepared with good warm blankets for all your horses.

BOYS AND GIRLS HOLD STATE FAIR

Workers For Food Preservation Meet At Milford

The first annual state fair of the Boys and Girls Club Work was held in Milford on November 16 and 17. This fair brought together boys and girls from all over the state who have been engaged in the work of food production and food preservation. Displays of corn raised and vegetables and fruits canned during the past year show that these youngsters are actually putting in practice the thought of "Every boy and girl be a soldier," for they are indeed "Soldiers of the Soil." From the reports of the crops grown, labor expended and profits made, which were on display it was shown that 16 of the 21 boys in the Corn Club had grown 1,080 bushels of corn. Calculating this at the value of ordinary corn, $1.25 per bushel, this would mean $1,350. It is interesting to notice that these boys who were between the ages of 10 and 17 raised their corn at an average cost of 52 cents per bushel and made a profit of $2.04 per member.

Liming Soils In Winter

Agriculturalists and Experiment Station workers everywhere have been prompted by difficulties arising out of war conditions to give thorough consideration to the question of soil fertility which is so important in maintaining and improving crop yields. Regarding the advisability of applying lime during the winter, Dr. Lipman says, "The wisdom of purchasing and spreading lime in the fall and winter is entirely proper. At this particular time, when farm labor is costly and scant as to supply, the conservation of the efforts of the farmer should be urged in every possible way. Indeed, it has been our practice for sometime past to advise farmers in New Jersey not to leave certain of the farm work that may be done in the winter until early spring."

The production of food is an essential factor in waging war and the yield of crops depends largely upon the condition of the soil. It must be sweet. The supply of labor on the farm as elsewhere, is short. The purchase of lime by the farmer for immediate shipment will lighten the burden of the railroads; its application during winter will distribute labor on the farm throughout the year; and it will insure him against delays in spring when the demand is heavy, and this often means the difference between profit and loss. John H. Voorhees, Agronomist, Agr. Lime Bureau, Washington.

Send a Note to Santa

SANTA CLAUS WRITES

North Pole, November 24, 1917.

Dear Children:

I have received many letters from you already and most of them ask me rather wistfully whether I am going around this year (on account of the war you know.) So I thought I would answer all your nice letters at once by writing to the paper in this way.

I have been very busy for a long time now making things for the soldiers and sailors sending them away across the ocean and to the training camps in this country. I have also been making and sending things to the little orphan children in Belgium and France and all those other places where the terrible war is being fought.

Not many of these things have been toys and such. Most of them have been useful things to wear, to eat or to really use in other ways. It is a long time since I made so many useful things instead of so many toys and I can tell you that it was pretty hard for me to remember how to do it.

I know it was right for me to do it, even if it has made me short of the things that I usually have for you. I think—and I hope I am right—that you are glad to have me do it and that if I had written to ask you about it you would have told me to go ahead. So many of the soldiers and sailors were children like ourselves only only a little while ago. Perhaps they don't look forward to Christmas with the same eagerness that you do but I like to think that the things I have made and sent them make them happy and comfortable while they are fighting for us.

And now to answer your questions about coming around this year. Of course you all know what Christmas day is—that it was Christ's birthday and that is why we make it a holiday. That is one reason why I have always looked upon Christmas as the children's special day. So, in spite of the war and of all the time I have spent sending things to the soldiers and sailors, I expect to come around this year as usual. No, not quite as usual, because I expect the things I can bring you will bear the marks of what I have been doing for the others. I shall not bring so many toys—or such expensive ones—but what I do bring for you will, I hope, be more useful and just as pleasing. Certainly it will carry just as much love and good wishes as ever.

I don't see why I should forget you or pass you by entirely because of the war work I have been doing and expect still to do. After all, it is your day, and I am still

"The proceeds of life insurance policies paid to individual beneficiaries upon the death of the insured; the amount received by the insured, as a return of premium or premiums paid by him under life insurance, endowment, or annuity contracts, either during the term of maturity of the term mentioned in the contract or upon the surrender of the contract; the value of property acquired by gift, bequest, devise or descent; interest upon the obligations of a State or any political subdivision thereof or upon the obligations of the United States or its possessions; the salary of the present governor during the term for which he has been elected and the compensation of other public officers of this State, now in office, during their present terms of office respectively; rentals of real estate and gains or profits derived from agricultural operations; and the sum of one thousand dollars out of the income of each taxable."

281 D. Sec. 248.—In computing net income, the following deductions shall be allowed:

First—The necessary expenses actually paid by the taxable in carrying on any business or trade, not including personal, living or family expenses, and not including expenses of agricultural operations.

Second—All interest paid by the taxable within the year of his indebtedness.

Third—Taxes paid by the taxable within the year imposed by the authority of the United States, or its territories, or possessions, or any foreign country, or under the authority of any State, county, or under the authority of any State, county, school district, municipality or other sub-division of any State.

Fourth—Losses actually sustained by the taxable during the year incurred in his business or trade, or other dealings, or arising from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualty, or from theft, when such losses are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, not including losses resulting from agricultural operations.

Fifth—Debts due the taxable actually ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year.

Sixth—A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property arising out of its use or employment in the business or trade of the taxable.

281 E. Sec. 249.—The tax shall be computed upon the net income of each taxable subject thereto, received in each preceding calendar year ending December 31.

Each taxable must, on or before the first day of March in each and every year, render under oath an accurate return of all gross income of one thousand dollars or over the preceding calendar year, to the State treasurer, in each form as he shall prescribe, setting forth specifically the gross amount of income from all separate sources and from the total thereof, deducting the aggregate exemptions and deductions herein authorized.

"Net income" means the aggregate of all gains, profits, salaries, wages, compensation for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, etc., and income derived and actually received into possession by a taxable from any source whatever.

COLEMAN duPONT DISCUSSES GOOD ROADS

Defines Standard of Road Building

General T. Coleman duPont, builder of the duPont Road in Sussex County, whose recent offer to build and give to the State a modern State highway from Milford to the Pennsylvania line, has just been accepted by the State Highway Commission, recently made an address to the Southern Commercial Congress in New York City, embodying his ideas on road building. General duPont's address is given herewith.

"The subject of good roads is one of the most important questions of economics before this country today and the amount of money that has been spent on making new roads and on attempting to improve roads in the past five years and that which will be spent in the next ten or fifteen years is appalling.

"I am only going to take six minutes of your time today and in these six minutes bring out two points in connection with road building I consider most important and in far too many instances, neglected.

"We are building roads more intelligently each year but as yet are far from having the satisfactory road.

"I want to impress on all here today, and in order that it will be impressed, will repeat more than once, the most important item of a new or about to be improved road, is its location. This is the only thing connected with a road that can possibly be permanent—it, above all, should be right. Too many road engineers, commissioners and those who are in a position to do what is best, ignore or only touch lightly on this very important point.

"The principle governing the location of any road should be based on the axiom that 'A straight line is the shortest distance between two points,' and only vary this where the geography of the country makes a wise and practical reason for changing.

"The history of railroads, canals and highways for vehicular travel shows that wherever it can be done, these arteries of commerce are straightened.

"The alignment is more essential than the grade today, but grade must also be kept in mind.

"In many of our States, in fact in all the States that I have visited and looked into roads, particularly in the East, the improved roads are far from the axiom and accidents have occurred on the sharp and oftentimes useless curves, curves that could have been easily avoided, making the road not only much safer but shorter, and therefore, more economical to maintain.

"I know of a dozen instances where the mileage between two towns by road is fifty miles and it could be reduced to forty or forty-five miles. This means not only a saving of five or ten miles in constructive cost (which cost is comparatively negligible), but it means 10 percent to 20 percent more maintenance cost for years to come, say 100 years, or 1,000 percent or 2,000 percent wasted, and this again becomes a small item if the road is much travelled, when the cost of horsepower (animal or machine) and wear and tear on vehicles are considered, ignoring waste to our people, caused by avoiding going through some man's farm or field because he might feel hurt, we can but come to the conclusion that as road engineer or commissioner or in any other position of authority, we must advocate and fight for a straight line or resign from office.

"So I repeat and urge on everyone having to do with the location or improvement of roads, that they insist and continue to insist that as the only known possible permanent thing about a road today is the location, to at least get that right, and in deciding that, keep the maxim or axiom before you that 'A straight line is the shortest distance between two points.'

"Another very important point is maintenance or up-keep. We are spending millions and in a few years it will be billions of dollars on roads and in many instances not making provision for up-keep when it could, in many, if not all, instances, be done on a sure and business-like plan.

"When it has been decided by the proper authorities to build or improve a highway, let the township, county, State or nation, whichever is going to do the work, acquire 100 or 200 feet more ground than is needed on one or both sides of the road, this extra land to be bought by and belong to the township, county, State or nation that builds and maintains the road. Lease this land to whoever wants it at a low rate of interest on its value (as is now often done by individuals), adjusting the value up or down every five or ten years, and so long as the occupants pay the low rate of interest, his title to the land is as good as a fee simple title, an advantage that the lessee does not have in case of renting from an individual. No better illustration of this plan could be cited than had our grandfathers, when building Broadway in this very city, taken this extra width of land suggested, there would be no need for a single dollar of taxation in New York city today. What was true of a century ago will be true a century from now in other localities.

"This result of this method in a few years would be that the income from the extra land would maintain the road and in many cases do more, so that in building this generation, WOULD NOT LEAVE AN EXPENSE AND A LIABILITY TO OUR SUCCESSORS, BUT A SOURCE OF INCOME AND A VALUABLE ASSET.

"I could go on indefinitely and talk of the advantages of good roads from many points but feel that if either of the two phases touched on are adopted by one or more engineers or commissioners, the results obtained from an economic standpoint will be better than to take your time on less important features of road engineering and building and position.

As the Clock Ticks

Three hundred and fifty telephone calls a second!

That is the average volume in the Bell System day and night, and at certain hours it is more than doubled.

The operating force must keep the "tracks" clear, ready for every cross-town or transcontinental call. In these unprecedented times the importance of each connection is magnified, as is the necessity for steady performance on the part of the operators.

They are counting no effort too great, and they are also counting on the public to appreciate this and to accord them deserved consideration at all times.

ELECTION IN WILD WEST DAYS

Realistic Scene In Serial Drama

An old-time election of wild west days, conducted by a vigilance committee and where rifles do most of the talking, is staged in the tenth episode of "The Fighting Trail," Greater Vitagraph's wonderfully realistic serial of adventure and the great outdoors, which will be the attraction in the Newark Opera House on Thursday, November 29th. This smashing picture, whose scenes are laid in the wilds of the Sierras in Southern California, centers in a death struggle for a mine.

Backed by vigilantes and all decent folks in the camp, the owners force a special election for sheriff and put up Square Deal Hogan, who is all his name implies. The polls are opened and there comes a scene tense with harrowing possibilities when the bandit gang, rifles in hand, dash down the crowded street and from their saddles demand the right to vote.

Blue Hen of 1919

Class To Appear Soon

The 1919 Blue Hen will probably appear earlier than is customary for the annual to be published. The present board has several new ideas which will make this year's book stand in the front rank among Blue Hens. Hand-some engravings with several pages devoted to college views will feature the book.

The present board will place a copy of the Blue Hen in every high school on the Delmarva Peninsula in order to interest the students in the College and inspire in them a desire for a higher education. This will be of immeasurable value to the educational interests of the State and will be an excellent advertisement for the College as no catalogue will be issued this year. The book will not be a great deal different from previous publications except that it will have a flexible binding, contain matter which will better depict the College, its advantages and purposes, and yet contain probably less pages than any other Blue Hen. "Condensation and Quality" is the motto of the board.

The Place of The Colleges

In a free land the schools and colleges are the clear eyes, the keen ears, the prophetic voices of the people. In them are trained the arms and brains of the people. In the hour of great need, Universities must not be silent. In trying days the men and women of the Universities should fearlessly speak and helpfully act.

The clearest fact connected with our entrance into the world war is that we used our utmost endeavors to keep out of war. We entered the conflict when it became certain that the existence of our country was endangered. As the great war went on, our nation perceived that a foe to the growth of human liberty had arisen—a foe which for many years had prepared for the overthrow of representative governments—a foe which utterly repudiates the doctrine that every person is entitled to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"—a foe which has deceived and ensnared a sound people, essentially liberty-loving, into fighting its battles—a foe which had laid its plans to attack our own institutions for the promotion of human happiness, built at the cost of the blood of our fathers.

We accept the responsibility that destiny has placed upon us. This land, in which the largest human liberty has been won and developed, must be preserved, that its citizens may become even freer, and that, by our example, all nations may gather the courage to free themselves from tyranny and oppression.

There is no hate in our fighting except the hate of injustice and slavery. There is no lust for conquest in our warfare, but only a living hope that we may help in bringing to all people equal rights, equal opportunities, and happier lives. We aim, moreover, to make impossible the repetition of this wanton, cruel, and barbarous warfare—the blackest plot in the history of civilization.—Dr. John A. Widtsoe, President University of Utah.

Seniors Hold Dance

On Friday evening, November 23, the Seniors of Delaware College held a very successful dance. This affair was the first of its kind to be given by the Senior Class and its high success prophesies more of them for the future. The dance was one of the most enjoyable given this year, and it showed the spirit of the Class of 1918, in that a class dance was an original idea for Delaware. The hall was not decorated, but a roaring fire in the fire-place added much cheer to the gathering. The music, which was procured by "Bob" Sumwalt, was of the highest order and deserves great credit for the high class of music furnished. In keeping with the call of the times refreshments were not served, but the whole group repaired to Coverdale's during intermission. The floor was in excellent condition and became better as the flying feet ground in the wax. There were more than twenty couples present, representing the Senior Class. Among the faculty members present were: Dean and Mrs. Alan R. Cullimore, Prof. and Mrs. C. A. Short, Prof. Z. E. Sragar, Miss Bigelow of the W. C. D. faculty, and Dr. Sypherd.

Open Night At W. C. D.

On Saturday evening the students of the Women's College and their friends enjoyed a treat in a program of music prepared by Mrs. George Elliott Dutton and Dr. Charles H. Rawlins. After the musical there was an informal dance.

EXPERTS DISCUSS SCHOOL LUNCHES

In Recent Bulletin Issued By Department of Agriculture

Don't let the school lunch be merely something which will fill the lunch box in the morning and be only sop to stay the kiddies' appetites from noon until night. Make it a real contribution to the food which the children require to meet the needs of their growing bodies and active brains—to satisfy their appetites and keep them in health.

These are the suggestions of home-economics specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, now that millions of the future citizens of the country are again eating their midday meals from box, basket, bag, or confectionery shop instead of from the family table under watchful parental eyes.

Expensive Foods Need Not Be Use

The preparation of luncheons which will fill the needs of the child's body does not mean the use of more expensive foods or the expenditure of greater effort, the specialists point out. In many cases both expense and work will be lessened. What is needed for the preparation of more satisfactory luncheons is merely that parents and "big sisters," or whoever fills the lunch box, shall inform themselves of certain facts in regard to the choice and combination of foods. The need in many cases is for neither more nor less food but for the representation of needed food groups. The neces-

RESERVES DEFEAT FARM SCHOOL

Aker Stars For Delaware

The Delaware College Reserves on Saturday afternoon defeated the National Farm School team of Doylestown, Pa., 22 to 0. The Reserves outplayed the visitors from start to finish and the score was held down largely because of the two safeties made in the first quarter. Coach Baumgartner used nothing but the second string men against the Farm School team. Aker played a fine game for the Delaware Reserves and scored all three of their touchdowns. Levitch played a star game for the visitors. The line up follows:

DELAWARE ENDS SEASON TOMORROW

Mt. St. Mary's Apponent In Final Game

Delaware College football team will play its final game of the 1917 season tomorrow and the strong Mt. St. Mary's eleven will be their opponents. This should be a hard contest and a large crowd is expected to turn out for the game.

Coach Baumgartner has been training the varsity squad this week in some new formations and trick plays which will be used against Mt. St. Mary's. The lineup will probably be the same that started the game against Swarthmore. The team looks better at this time than at any stage of the season and the players to a man are confident of taking the game from the strong Maryland aggregation.

Tomorrow's game will be the last for Captain Wilson, Lauritsen and Myers, as they graduate next June. "Bill" Stewart, who has made good in the backfield after playing centre two seasons is talked of for captain of the 1918 team.

Early next week Coach Baumgartner will start basketball practice and there are prospects for a fast team. Captain Horsey, Wilson and Clancy are left of last years five and there is said to be some good material among the Freshmen.

The annual Sophomore-Freshman football game will be played some time next week.

HERBERT WISE TALKS AT DELAWARE

Authority on Architecture Ad- dresses Students

Hr. Herbert Wise, author of the book, "Colonial Architecture for those about to Build," and an architect of the firm of Day and Klauder, gave a very interesting talk to the student body of Delaware College last Monday. Mr. Wise said that architecture develops with the soil. We in America have had little time as yet to develop traditions and traditions are necessary for the development of architecture. Delaware is the most favorable place for its development; because her early settlers brought with them many of the ideas of the building structure of Europe. To this day New Castle is visited by architects from all parts of the continent to study the old houses still standing. Most of the buildings are of brick and have been built to stand the test of time.

In regard to the buildings on our campus Mr. Wise said that much of their structure was an imitation of this old style, which our early settlers introduced. One of the characteristics of the buildings is the rectangles crossing one another as in Old College Hall. In this building we find a rectangular centre, two rectangular wings to the side, and connecting halls which cross these wings and from two other rectangles. The entrance to the building was devised to make it possible to have an assembly there. A speaker could stand in the centre and the audience could completely surround him by occupying the stairs and balcony above. The square stones of the floor are an imitation of the Colonial style. They appear rough now, but it will require but a few years to wear them smooth.

SOLDIER WELL KNOWN HERE WRITES HOME

Interesting Letter From Camp McClellan

Howard P. Robinson, well-known in Newark, now of Company K, 114th Infantry, stationed at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Ala., in a recent breezy letter to his mother, Mrs. Gertrude L. Robinson, now of Wilmington, says:

"The climate of Alabama is somewhat like that of Delaware, excepting the nights being much cooler. The leaves are just beginning to fall. We are sheltered from the windstorms by the mountains, and the rains do their part by keeping us in water supply."

"One out of every ten persons you meet is a Negro, but they are as friendly as a traveling salesman."

"The girls of Alabama cannot be beat for looks."

"The Y. M. C. A. is doing its part in this camp, by taking the Bible study in the old-fashioned way, keeping all the boys refreshed. Some of the boys that never had a chance to go to church are busily engaged in this work. The Y. M. C. A. workers are the best of Christians; they are friends to a lonely soldier boy, who needs a shepherd, for a sheep's middle name is 'going astray.' Mother, I'm right with God, as a soldier should be."

"We have the best of officers. Our captain is the best of captains. Our food isn't much of a variety, but it is substantial. We have good cooks, they certainly know how to serve beans. I have gained 25 pounds, all due to our cooks."

"Our mansion is made of canvas, wooden floor and one door, no windows but plenty of skylight. We have a fine bed, of three woolen blankets, mattress and rubber sheet. There is but one thing I do not like, and that is to hear the bugler calling in the morning. The bugler is my worst enemy. He is very small, but he sure can make some noise."

The Indian's Way Of It

A subscriber in Baltimore sends us the following clipping, yellowed with age, from an old paper, dated September 14, 1809. It bears the caption: A Cure for a Wen—An Old Indian Prescription: "First, take a pound of new butter, without salt, lay it in a cool oven; get a bullfrog without hurting it, says the Indian, the frog must be alive; lay the frog with the back down in the butter; bake the frog until it is well done; take it out; pour off the butter in a vessel, and anoint the wen as often as you please in the course of the day—This cure has been tried on a wen that had been growing for thirty years, and had become quite painful with an itching. It ceased the first day this was tried, and sunk very soon. In eight or nine months the body of the wen was squeezed out, without pain.—The patient thinks it would have come out much sooner, but she neglected it, as it did not hurt. The application produced a serious sensation, as if it was searching to the roots. Any person thus effected, need not hesitate to try the experiment, as it is very simple.
