Reorganization Plan For C. of C. Sketched At Annual Anquet

McBerty Is Elected
President; Ralph Brosius
Vice-President

Plans for reorganization and expansion of the Chamber of Commerce to meet growing needs were outlined at the annual dinner meeting of the group last Thursday in the country club.

About 100 members and their guests heard Don Savitch, retiring president, announce a general meeting for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Century Club, where Mayor Wallace Johnson and town officials will outline ways in which the business group can help the town meet the problems of sudden growth expected to follow the opening of the Chrysler tank plant here.

A stimulus to the Chamber's plans for the future was provided by the annual election in which four prominent citizens of the community were named to the board of directors. The four are: Ford H. McBerty, former mayor of Newark; Ralph Brosius, manager of the Chrysler parts department; Shakespeare, of the Farmers Trust Company; and William O. Pennington, school of education, University of Delaware.

The new blood immediately took over the direction of the Chamber. The new president, Mr. McBerty is new president; Mr. Brosius, vice-president; Mr. Shakespeare, treasurer.

Ask Contributions For Visiting Nurse

Annual Appeal For Funds
Issued

Annual appeal for contributions to the Newark Visiting Nurse Association was issued this week by Dr. W. Rhodes, president.

Checks have already been mailed to members. Dr. Rhodes said, pointing out that this is the only request during the year by the Association.

One of this community's most worthy causes, the Association provided care for 315 persons here the past year with Miss Alice Leak, visiting nurse, making 2777 individual visits. A contribution automatically provides a membership in the association. Persons wishing to join should send their donations to C. C. Hubert, treasurer. Current members are also urged to renew their membership with a contribution to Mr. Hubert.

Vice-president of the Association is Thomas Foster and the secretary is Mrs. Mary Richards. Officials this year cited Mrs. Richards for her work the past year. Her understanding and helpfulness, they said, have been constant.

Traffic Light For Main And Academy Delayed

The traffic light, originally scheduled for installation in December at the corner of Main and Academy Streets, will not go in until mid-February, Town Supervisor Francis Niede said this week.

The delay is caused by a hold-up in delivery of equipment. The light itself has been received, but the cable for its suspension has not yet arrived.

The manufacturer now promises delivery around Feb. 19.

CD Heads Announce Raid 'Alert' System; To Use Fire Siren

3-Minute Blast To Be Signal Of Red Alert In Warning Code

As during World War II, the siren at the firehouse will be used to sound air raid warning alerts in this community, according to Police Sgt. Leroy Hill, Newark's civil assistant defense coordinator.

Warning for adjacent rural areas will be given by sirens to be set up at Chestnut Hill, McClellandville, Millford Crossroads and Polly Drummond Hill.

A two-stage public warning code has been established for civilian defense organizations throughout the county, Mr. Hill said.

This code, which will be used here, follows:

Red Alert: Attack imminent—Hostile aircraft have been identified and are within the air defense sector or within adjacent sectors with a high probability of entering the subject air defense sector. The signal to the public will be of three minute duration. It will consist of fluctuating or warbling signals of varying pitch by sirens, or a series of short blasts by horns or whistles.

White Alert: All clear—This notification will be given when danger of Red Alert air raid warning is over. The signal to the public will be a series of three steady one-minute blasts by sirens, horns or whistles, interrupted by silent periods of two minutes each.

The 'Red Alert' is the on-the-spot final warning and requires the immediate evacuation of the area.

Murray Leaves Delaware To Accept Post As Head Football Coach At Duke

The University of Delaware's athletic director and head football coach, William D. Murray, has accepted a position as head football coach at Duke University, succeeding Wallace Wade, who has taken over the new post of commissioner for the Southern Conference.

Murray was a star halfback for Duke and in 1930 was one of Duke's first all-southern selections, when he compiled a record of 1,230 yards rushing.

According to Murray being appointed head coach at Duke fulfills a long ambition. "I leave a wonderful job and a wonderful place," he said "Duke is the only place I would have come from where I am leaving."

Choice of a successor for Murray at Delaware will probably be made by the trustees.

Councilman Coverdale Urges Cooperation on New Charter

Councilman William Coverdale issued a statement this week outlining his stand on the proposed new charter.

A partial text follows: "Numerous persons have asked me how I, as a member of The Council of Newark, feel towards a new charter. 'I too, most heartily agree with others that our Town Charter is as much to the people of Newark as the Constitution of the United States of America is to the people of the nation. I have constantly cited possible violations of the Town Charter while the Council passed legislation and have been overruled.'

"How true it is that we dare not mutilate the Constitution of the United States of America when a change or modification is needed. All amendments to this protective document are

Final Appeal Made For Dime Campaign; $1350 Netted So Far

Chairman Dann Urges Return
Of Coin Envelopes Not Yet Collected

Every person who still has a March of Dimes coin envelope in his possession is urged to slip at least ten cents into it and return it by mail to Rodney Dann, 189 West Main Street, general chairman for the Newark collection.

A sizeable number of the envelopes, distributed recently by volunteers, were missed when the collectors returned to collect them.

The envelopes are easily tossed aside and forgotten even by people who at first intended to contribute to the campaign, Mr. Dann pointed out in his plea this week for support.

About $1350 has been raised so far in the local drive, according to Mr. Dann, who added that the committee is aiming to equal or better last year's figure of around $2,000. This year's movie collection proved an outstanding success, with boy and girls scout collectors netting $390. Still to be tabulated are returns from coin boxes set up in stores throughout the town.

There are also a few areas to which collectors have not yet returned to pick up coin envelopes.

Among the volunteers supporting the campaign are: Minor C. Newlin, Roland G. Walker, Mrs. Ivan Parsons, J. S. Stineour, Dr. Glen S. Skinner, Mrs. Charles M. Eisner, Mrs. Alice G. Karr, Miss Anna Frazer, Mrs. Herbert Murphy, Howard Ferguson, Hugh C. Gulleddge, Dr. S. W. Smith, Arthur J. Johnson, Mr. Lindell, A. Marin, Earl F. Dawson, Mrs. Homer Seely, T. D. ## Compromises On New Charter Approved At Citizen's Meeting

Spokesmen For Local Factions Get Together For Agreement On Disputed Points; Chances Good For Sending Bill To Dover; Public Hearing Promised

Compromises on a number of long disputed points in the proposed new charter were worked out at a meeting of representative citizens here Tuesday night.

The session, which turned out to be something of a peace parley, brought together spokesmen for various local factions whose dispute over the charter proposal two years ago eventually led to its being tabled by the state legislature.

The meeting proved so harmonious that prospects now seem bright that a workable charter proposal will be whipped into shape for submission to the current session of the General Assembly, even though the deadline on entering bills is less than two weeks away.

On the basis of the new compromises, the Town Council will redraft the proposed charter and submit it as soon as possible to the legislature. Assurances were given by Mayor Wallace Johnson, who presided at Tuesday's meeting, that a general public hearing will be held on the new draft either before it is sent to Dover or at least before it comes to a vote here.

The Mayor and town officials stressed that the proposed charter will be given full publicity when it is completed and full public backing will be sought.

The plan to hold a number of small hearings on the charter was dropped due to lack of time.

The compromises worked out at Tuesday's meeting, which centered chiefly on the controversial issues of two years ago follow:

(1) Qualifications for mayor and councilmen: It was decided that the mayor and at least one councilman from each district must be property owners. Two years ago one faction held out for requiring all councilmen to be property owners.

(2) Meetings of Council: All meetings except the organization session would be public, and the mayor would have a vote. At present the mayor has no vote in the proceedings of Council.

(3) Power to raise revenue: It was decided Council should have power to levy up to $100,000 in taxes annually. The current limit is $50,000.

(4) Power to borrow money: A ceiling of $500,000 on the town's bonded indebtedness was proposed with all bond issues being subject to the approval of property owners through a referendum. It was agreed the ceiling could be exceeded in the case of municipal self-liquidating projects in which the credit of the town would not be obligated. The group was closely split, however, on whether or not to insert a provision forbidding the erection of an electrical generating plant by the city as a possible self-liquidating project. Some of those present were strongly against establishing a generating plant here as impractical and likely only to push the town into debt. Others felt the authority to erect such a plant should be given Council, subject to a referendum, in order to provide the town government with a bargaining tool in its rate negotiations with the light company. A vote of the group showed a slim majority in favor of writing in a provision forbidding Council to go into the electrical generating business.

(5) Short term borrowing: A $100,000 ceiling was agreed to for borrowing to meet current expenses.

(6) Qualifications for voting in a referendum: It was agreed to limit this to property owners with a majority of those voting required for approval.

(7) Voting qualifications for town elections: All properly registered citizens, residents of the state one year and of the town three months, would be eligible to vote. This would eliminate the capitation tax required under the present charter.

(8) A provision requiring that the charter, after its approval by the legislature, be submitted to a referendum here was stricken out as unnecessary. This means the charter would automatically become law on its passage by the Assembly.

Those who attended Tuesday's meeting were: Harry Cleaves, John K. Johnson, Samuel Handloff, John K. Johnson, George Wilson, Norman Battersby, John P. Sinclair, George Rhodes, Richard Cooch, Miss Edna Campbell, Mrs. R. O. Bausman, William Coverdale, Samuel Diehl, Harold Gwaltney, Paul Dolan, Mrs. Henry C. Reed, Rodney Dann, George Neighbors, Barton Mackey, R. Rockwell, William Russell, Mrs. Ivan Parsons, C. M. Olson and Joseph Roberts.

Correction

Last week's article describing the part played by Bobby Knighton, young Newark polo victim, in the March of Dimes campaign, contained an inaccuracy.

The article said that transportation for Bobby's weekly trips to Wilmington for treatment is being provided solely by the Lions Club. It was disclosed this week that the Lions started the task last September but that the Kiwanis Club shortly took over and has been handling Bobby's transportation ever since.

Methodist Choir Will Sing Debussy's Cantata, 'Prodigal Son,' Sunday

Guthrie Frye

Guthrie Frye, minister of music at the Peninsula Methodist Church, Wilmington, will be one of the guest soloists at the presentation of "The Prodigal Son" by Claude Debussy at the Newark Methodist Church on Sunday, Feb. 4, at 4:30 p.m. Clifford Woodbury, a well-known concert singer and oratorio soloist, will also appear. Miss Sarah Revelle, director of music at the church, will sing another role in the opera-cantata. The senior choir of the church will comprise the chorus.

The singers will be unseen, while the characters of the story will portray through pantomime the words being sung. This will be only the third presentation in this country of the cantata in its complete musico-dramatic form.

A cordial invitation is extended to all interested persons to be present for this important musical event.

Wilbert Smith Is
Speaker At Rotary

Wilbert Smith, executive secretary of the Wilmington Council of Churches discussed the values of Rotary Clubs, based on his experiences with the Cairo, Egypt club, with members of the Newark Club last Monday night. Smith, who has seen the good that can come from service clubs in the Near East, said that the international emphasis of this fellowship is particularly important these days.

"Eating together," he pointed out, "is very important. It is the basis of a community of interests and relations. It is the basis of Rotary."

"Men in the world today do not trust each other," he went on. "If they could sit around a common dinner table and agree to disagree, the world would be far ahead. Faith in people can be built through groups of men honestly learning what their differences are."

Smith said that this nation's greatest weakness is that there are too many divisions among the people. "These don't need to be. We need more community spirit."

Brazilian Soprano Will Appear As Fourth Artist
In Series at University

Bidu Sayao, Brazilian soprano frequently heard on national radio network programs as well as on leading concert and opera stages, has been announced as the fourth artist in the public subscription series at the University of Delaware.

Miss Sayao will sing at Mitchell Hall, Newark, at 8:15 p.m., on Tuesday, March 13. Reserved seat tickets are available through the University Bookstore, by mail or telephone.

Before coming to this country in 1936, Miss Sayao had won considerable fame both in South America and in Europe. Her introduction to this country took place when she was soloist in Debussy's "Blessed Damsel" under Toscanini's direction. Since that time she has been one of the outstanding stars of the Metropolitan Opera. Critic Olin Downes has described her voice as one of the best on the opera stage today.

Previous concerts in the third annual series at the U. of D. have been given this season by the Orfeo Hispanico, Tossy Spivakovsky, violinist; and Rudolf Firkusny, pianist.

Patent Is Granted To Newark Resident

William Crater Develops New Process

On December 26, 1950, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2-535,350 on "Recovery of Cyclotrimethylene - Trinitramine" to Willard Crater, Newark.

Notwithstanding its technical title, this invention pertains to an improved method for producing cyclonite, a white crystalline substance and one of the most powerful of modern high explosives. While its primary use is for military purposes, relatively small, but nevertheless substantial quantities are needed in the preparation of various smokeless powders and special industrial explosives. Since it has not been manufactured in quantity in recent years, the limited demand for it has been satisfied by its recovery from the surplus military explosives that contain it.

However, according to Mr. Crater, the methods of effecting this recovery has not been entirely satisfactory. For example, the customary procedure has been to dissolve the entire explosive mixture in a solvent, such as acetone, and then precipitate out the various components by agitating and adding water. One of the resulting products is cyclonite, but it is of such low purity that the extra manipulation necessary to refine it to a high degree is undesirable from the standpoint of both safety and economy. Moreover, it also is exceedingly difficult to restore the product to the desired particle size.

To overcome these limitations, Mr. Crater has discovered a novel and improved process wherein the explosive mixture is treated with a solvent in which all of the components except cyclonite are soluble. Chloroform, ethyl ether and the like are typical of the solvents that may be employed; and as a result of their use, the cyclonite retains its crystalline form and may be separated from the solvent by filtration or other suitable action and then washed.

It is claimed that the practice of this invention permits the recovery of cyclonite in excellent yields, in a highly pure state and in the desired particle size.

This patent has been assigned to Hercules Powder Company.

Conservative estimates based upon calculations of the Bureau of Census indicate that an additional 8,000,000 students will be learning their three Rs in the nation's schools by 1959-60. The National Education Association predicts the total enrollment in both elementary and secondary schools throughout the country will jump from 26,635,000 to 34,091,000 in the next ten years.

In 1900 at least 34 per cent of the 14-15-year-olds were employed in occupations. With child labor laws and compulsory education laws more effectively enforced, this proportion has dropped to 5 percent, the National Education Association reports.

They once broadcast a real possum hunt. The folks have a couple of new shows on the air now. "Renfro Valley Country Store," daytime, five-a-week, CBS, is gay chit-chat and folk music from the country store in the settlement. The other is a Sunday get-together that the singers here have been holding for their own reflections and enjoyment. They've put it on CBS and it is called, appropriately, "Renfro Valley Sunday Morning Gathering."

Holders of the scholarships must live on campus for the year of the award.

The deadline on completed applications is Feb. 23. Complete information is available from Miss A. Elizabeth Edge, chairman of the alumnae scholarship committee, at Purnell Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

One of the scholarships will go to an applicant from Delaware; one will go to the best-qualified applicant from out-of-state; and one will be given to the next highest qualified girl regardless of her place of residence.

Delaware residents who are interested in teacher-education scholarships should also apply for them, since there is no conflict in the two programs.

Corner Ketch
Miss Betty Poole, a member of the Corner Ketch 4-H Club, instructed the girls of Union 4-H Club in the art of knitting last week at the meeting. The boys are working on their projects of refinishing furniture.

Harmony Rural School
This school received a United Nations flag last week at the monthly Parent-Teacher Association meeting. The flag was presented by Mrs. Sara P. Evans from the Wimodausis Home Demonstration Club and was accepted by Mrs. Elsie W. Stradley, teacher. The association gave $5 to the March of Dimes. Next month a Founder's Day program will be given. For January, a health program was presented by motion pictures showing proper dental care, food and training and the place all three play in the development of healthy children.

The school observed March of Dimes week last Friday with an original play given by Francis Farmer and Daniel Barlow. It was entitled "Give and Don't Laugh."

Robert Hahn, Jr., celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary Sunday with a party and birthday dinner served at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hahn.

Civilian defense work is now starting a first aid class in the grange hall for the auxiliary police and anyone interested. Sessions will be held Tuesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. for a six-week period.

The class for the auxiliary police men is instructed by Trooper Leo Daney of the State Police and is well attended each Wednesday night. The fourth class was held last evening.

Harmony Juvenile Grangers learned last Friday night of the 1951 state and national contests. There will be a state scrapbook contest for the boys and girls. For national grange, the girls may enter a cotton apron contest. The boys will make birdhouses as a state project. Mary Lou Derickson, Sallie Evans, and Sandra Naudain are the new home economics committee. The grange gave $2 to the March of Dimes. For February, the matron, Mrs. Emily Klair, will be assisted by Mrs. George Jamieson and Miss Ruth Ball.

Work on the new grange hall continues. The building will soon be ready for roofing. Bayard Taylor, Mrs. Abner Woodward, Clarence Aiken, David Rambo, and Harold Wibel comprised a special committee named to contact the entire grange membership seeking donations toward this new building.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Skillman of Newark were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pennington.

The Farmers Trust Company is erecting a new banking house on East Main Street just west of Academy.

New Church Building
Bishop William F. McDowell and his entire cabinet have expressed their approval of plans for a new building proposed by the Newark Methodist Church.

Subscriptions totaling nearly $17,000 have so far been raised during the intensive building fund campaign through Newark and vicinity. While it is not known when actual work will start on the proposed Academy Street building, it has been rumored the ground will be broken sometime during the spring.
Approval by the Bishop and his cabinet means the fund campaign can be extended beyond the limits of the Newark congregation through the entire conference area.

Gas For Newark
The "gas for Newark" question entered a new phase Monday when an independent promoter, John S. Alfred, of Wilmington, asked the Town Council for a franchise. He proposed a plant here roughly estimated to cost $200,000. Newly named Chamber of Commerce directors are J. Earle Daugherty, John R. Fulton and R. W. Heim.

Irvin Chalmers, of Delaware Avenue and Elkton Road, made ready to lay his toe against a football preparatory to sending it into the next county last Saturday. Unfortunately, his foot struck the ground first, severely wrenching it together with the muscles of his leg. The injury confined him to bed until yesterday. He is improving rapidly at this writing.

Carefully measured dynamometer runs were just one phase of the grueling and exhaustive road and laboratory tests given Chrysler's new FirePower engine.

4 times "around the earth"... and still it ran like new!

FROM the first test we gave it, this new full-compression Chrysler FirePower Engine has amazed even the Chrysler Corporation engineers who developed it.

"By now it has had many months of the most grueling tests imaginable . . . and to every trial it has responded with performance and stamina far beyond anything we have ever seen.

"On the dynamometer, it was driven hard the equivalent of a trip four times around the earth . . . from cruising range to its unexcelled performance peak! At the finish it still delivered its full original performance and power.

"In test cars, it has been hammered through tens of thousands of miles of the most brutal actual road and weather conditions, in all parts of the country.

"It has deliberately been given beatings such as you could never give the engine in any car you drive.

"And the results?
"Nothing in our experience and nothing on record in the entire industry even comes close to its performance.

"Its efficiency is so great that it gets more work from a gallon of gasoline with less engine effort, less strain, less wear of parts than ever before possible. It will out-perform all other automobile engines, and out-live them as well.

"It uses fuel so completely that every drop of gasoline yields more of its energy than ever before. Far less carbon accumulates. And what is more, this engine is less affected by carbon than present engines, and so maintains its greater peak efficiency much longer.

"Because the basic achievement which makes all this possible is an engineering ideal never before made practical in the passenger car . . . its technical details are exciting engineers everywhere. But for most people this is another telling reminder that from the men of Chrysler come the great advances and benefits which progress of better and better motor cars.

"Every owner of our Chrysler-built cars can take pride in his own judgment. Whether he drives a Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler car, he finds that craftsmanship is great craftsmanship at whatever price works . . . that he has picked the best men in the world to build the car he drives.

"Now the latest Chrysler achievement is about to be announced . . . the new full-compression FirePower Engine with the first practical Combustion Chamber that can make every drop yield more of its energy than ever before possible.

The step taken by the Avongrove Lions Club in enrolling as a unit in a first aid course, which will cover the next six weeks, is a commendable one. The club has its social dinner at the Avongrove Manor and then adjourns to the West Grove Community Building for the course itself.

Mrs. Herman Bramble, Sr., is still confined to her home, but is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Vales are their usual cheery selves and are coming along nicely at the West Grove Hospital.

Reverend Gardner of the New London Presbyterian Church tells me that "Watch Night" service was well attended. Communion was given to all participants at twelve midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Mendenhall of the New London Presbyterian Church on Jan. 8. Communion was given to the congregation at this date, and after the services the pastor and elder took communion to the sick and shut-in.

Sunday noon, December 24, the merriment of the New London Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding of Velma F. Evans and Harold L. Casey, who has been in the army for some time and was home on his first leave. He has now returned to his duties and Mrs. Bailey is living in New London.

There will be special services at the Landenberg Methodist Church each Sunday except Sunday beginning February 18 until Mar. 25. Then these services will take place at Hamorton Church until March 2. Reverend David Evans, the evangelist, will preside.

Reverend Evans is the well known New Jersey high school football hero of '34. He went to "Bob Jones College," which has just located in Greenville, S. C., but was in Tennessee at the time he attended. He then graduate from the Eastern Baptist Seminary, and held a pastorate in Vermont before determining on his remarkably successful evangelistic career.

Mrs. Douglas Stirling is instituting Bible clubs at West Grove, in Wilmington, and in Landenberg. The Landenberg Club meets at the church at 10:30 every Saturday morning. The flannel-graph method is used to portray the Bible stories and make them more vivid for the children. Mrs. Stirling, who does substitute teaching at Kennett occasionally, tells me that this method is beginning to be used in the lower grades in the schools.

At a ceremony the other evening, the new 16mm. sound projector purchased by the Landenberg Methodist Church was dedicated to showing Christian religious movies. Beginning the last Friday of Jan., 7:45 p.m., movies of this type will be shown at the church. A silver offering will be taken. Mrs. Stirling tells us that these movies are really good, and the best ones are being obtained from the Moody Bible Institute and the Lutheran Co. which produces the religious films. This is being done at a minimum of expense by a system of sharing the films with the Union Methodist Church of Wilmington and splitting the cost. All are invited.

Jan. 16, Mr. Hubert E. Lysle and Reverend Gardner had the privilege of attending the inauguration of Governor Fine at Harrisburg. Our Secretary of Welfare, who was appointed by former Governor Duff and reappointed by Governor Fine, is William C. Brown, whose part-time home is located between Kemblesville and New London.

We learn that Mrs. Eaton continues to be "under the weather."

Mrs. Charles Baker is doing nicely after her tonsillectomy of a week or so ago.

Among the square dancers and card players who enjoyed a social evening at the Ness home on the 20th were the George Kalbs, the John Kalbs, the Fred Klauks, Bill Polwell. (Anne is up in State College for a few weeks taking care of the household for her mother, who is ill), the Roy Heaths, the Dick Taylors, the Dr. E. R. Lawrences of Avondale, and the William Landers of Wilmington.

Minstrel Show Soon
By U. of D. Sophomores

The University of Delaware sophomore class will present a minstrel show on the evenings of Feb. 19 and 24 in Mitchell Hall.

The show is being directed and produced by Leo A. Waters, well known in Wilmington for his work in amateur shows for the past 24 years. Mr. Waters has directed shows for the Kiwanis Club, Lions Club, the American Legion and for the last five years he has produced musical comedies for the Turners at the Playhouse.

Letter To Editor

333 S. College Avenue
Newark, Delaware
January 29, 1951

To the Editor of the Newark Post,
Dear Sir:

Mr. Arthur P. Kelley's letter of January 18 on reducing school costs deserves at least one answer.

Mr. Kelley's intentions are excellent. He wants to reduce wasteful spending and balance the budget—an aim of which every sensible person would approve.

Now where shall we cut down? Does it make sense to reduce school expenses to the point of wasting irreplaceable human material?

In eulogizing an inspired teacher, James A. Garfield in 1871 made an oft-quoted statement about "Mark Hopkins on one end of the bench and I on the other." I wonder if President Garfield would have approved of the manner in which his words have been misused to hamper every forward step in education.

In Garfield's day education was the outcome of a close personal relationship between a teacher and a few privileged souls. Today's concept of democracy rests on the broadest of foundations, a citizenry educated to its highest capabilities. Every citizen must be capable of assuming and creditably discharging his obligations as a contributing member of society if this democracy is to survive. Our schools cannot perform this tremendous twentieth-century task with nineteenth-century equipment or nineteenth-century thinking.

No longer do we feel that education is for the "gifted" few. We leave such concepts to the totalitarian states, and the result up to now has not proved us wrong. Whether a man is a good ditch-digger or a poor one, a good office-worker or a clock-watcher, a good citizen or one who lets George—or "Uncle Joe" do his thinking for him depends essentially on the personal philosophy and inner resources developed during his formative years.

Certainly great discoveries have been made in barn lofts and kitchens, and even under apple trees! But that truth is hardly valid as an argument against building schools where they are needed. I see no evidence that spending money for education has actually reached the point where it could be characterized as a "popular craze," an "insatiable dementia," or "senseless delirium."

The school program today struggles under many great burdens including international tension, inflation, obsolescence and just plain wearing out of facilities. Last, but not least, there is the increasing population. Perhaps Mr. Kelley's real quarrel is with the Biblical injunction to "go forth, be fruitful and multiply!"

An unemotional study of our school system would show that school budgets are set up according to a mathematical formula to avoid duplication and waste; that where it is possible, school units and school districts are being consolidated to avoid duplication again and to give equal opportunity to all; and that new school buildings being constructed today are strictly functional and come as close as anything can nowadays to giving you your money's worth. After all, it's tomorrow's America you're spending it on.

Yours very sincerely,
Norma B. Handloff,
(Mrs. Samuel Handloff)

C. of C. Election

Mrs. George Axinn, the Chamber's executive secretary, described reorganizational plans, including the formation of a merchant division to handle town-wide sales and other promotional events, a civic section to carry out projects of community interest, and an industrial section which will look after the interests of the manufacturing plants here.

Councilman Carl S. Rankin, who represented Mayor Johnson, called for wholehearted support of the movement to submit a new charter proposal to the General Assembly.

Warning the town has only about two weeks to prepare a bill before the legislative deadline, Mr. Rankin urged cooperation of all groups.

The guests included Charles Eissner, president of the Aetna Fire Company, and wife; Joseph Shields, head of the Rotary Club, and wife; Harry Dawson, leader of the Kiwanis Club, and Miss Edna Campbell, president of the Soroptimist Club. Dinner chairman was Murray Straus.

"Fragmentary changes in the Town Charter might be worse than no change at all. As the charter now stands, we at least know our limitations. It is possible to get horsepower by teaming two horses to the same wagon, but it would be rather difficult to try to do the same with a horse and an automobile.

"Newark can tackle the job ahead. There is no need for hysteria. We will have a difference of opinions just as long as there are two people left on earth. It's American to disagree. So is it American to speak up. It's American to pull together in the time of trouble. However, hasty actions are not always necessary. We cannot and must not sacrifice the rights of any individual under any pretext.

"Let us go back twenty-two years ago before the influx of newcomers to Newark. This same question was before the Council of that era. Here is the recorded testimony found on Page 70 of the proceedings of the meeting of The Council of Newark on March 18, 1929:

"A special meeting of Council was held at the call of Acting President Hubert in The Council Chamber on Monday evening, March 18, 1929. Mr. Hubert called the meeting to order. The following members were present: Councilmen Lovett, Lynam, and Widdoes, and Mr. Wollaston. Our Attorney Mr. Charles B. Evans was also present, also Representative Wayne Brewer. After a discussion of the new charter, on motion of Mr. Widdoes, seconded by Mr. Lovett, by unanimous vote, it was decided to hold the new charter up for two years."

"Instead of holding up the new charter for two years, it has been a grand total of twenty-two years. Without some ground giving and perseverance it might be another twenty-two years. Let us hold our fire on who is to blame and get together. We are all Newarkers trying to think and do the best for Newark. It is easy to pick a scapegoat to place the blame of a failure upon. I believe the people of Newark want action and a new charter now! If we are to be a progressive city we must follow modern trends. Fumbling excuses are not the answer for today's needs. Again, we need not act in haste until all concerned agree upon the new charter question. It has been said we must beat the deadline for getting legislative approval. The citizens of Newark, if need be, can ask for a special session of the Legislature in order to settle this long-lingering problem.

"Only a few minor changes needed in our Town Charter? Here is a parting thought. Under our present Town Charter you do not have to be a citizen of the United States of America in order to be able to vote in town elections."

Letter To Editor

333 S. College Avenue
Newark, Delaware
January 29, 1951

To the Editor of the Newark Post:

Dear Sir:

Mr. Arthur P. Kelley's letter of January 18 on reducing school costs deserves at least one answer.

Mr. Kelley's intentions are excellent. He wants to reduce wasteful spending and balance the budget—an aim of which every sensible person would approve.

Now where shall we cut down? Does it make sense to reduce school expenses to the point of wasting irreplaceable human material?

In enlightening an inspired teacher, James A. Garfield in 1871 made an oft-quoted statement about "Mark Hopkins on one end of the bench and I on the other." I wonder if President Garfield would have approved of the manner in which his words have been misused to hamper every forward step in education.

In Garfield's day education was the outcome of a close personal relationship between a teacher and a few privileged souls. Today's concept of democracy rests on the broadest of foundations: a citizenry educated to its highest capabilities. Every citizen must be capable of assuming and creditably discharging his obligations as a contributing member of society if this democracy is to survive. Our schools cannot perform this tremendous twentieth-century task with nineteenth-century equipment or nineteenth-century thinking.

No longer do we feel that education is for the "gifted" few. We have such concepts to the totalitarian states, and the result up to now has not proved us wrong. Whether a man is a good ditch-digger or a poor one, a good office-worker or a clock-watcher, a good citizen or one who lets George—or "Uncle Joe"—do his thinking for him depends essentially on the personal philosophy and inner resources developed during his formative years.

Certainly great discoveries have been made in barn lofts and kitchens, and even under apple trees! But that truth is hardly valid as an argument against building schools where they are needed. I see no evidence that spending money for education has actually reached the point where it could be characterized as a "popular craze," an "insatiable dementia" or "senseless delirium."

The school program today struggles under many great burdens including international tension, inflation, obsolescence and just plain wearing out of facilities. Last, but not least, there is the increasing population. Perhaps Mr. Kelley's real quarrel is with the Biblical injunction to "go forth, be fruitful and multiply!"

An unemotional study of our school system would show that school budgets are set up according to a mathematical formula to avoid duplication and waste; that where it is possible, school units and school districts are being consolidated to avoid duplication again and to give equal opportunity to all; and that new school buildings being constructed today are strictly functional and come as close as anything can nowadays to giving you your money's worth. After all, it's tomorrow's America you're spending it on.

Yours very sincerely,

Queries On Social Security Answered

Address All Queries To Social Security Administration, Customs House, 6th & King Sts., Wilmington, Delaware

Q. I am a single person and support my parents. If I were to die would my parents be entitled to monthly benefits?

A. If your parents were chiefly dependent upon you for support and you were to die fully insured, your parents may be entitled to monthly survivors' benefits.

Q. I am married. My wife is three years older than I. Is she entitled to social security benefits before I reach age 65?

A. Wife's benefits under old-age and survivors insurance are payable to the wife of an individual who is himself entitled to receive social security benefits. It would not be possible for a wife to collect until the husband had become eligible.

Q. I was 65 in August 1947. I was employed from February 1945 to February 1948 at $20 a week. Can I receive social security benefits?

A. An individual who became 65 in August 1947 needs 21 "quarters of coverage" to be fully insured. A quarter of coverage is any calendar quarter in which you are paid $50 in wages. It appears you have only 13 such "quarters of coverage." You need eight more before you can become entitled to benefits upon filing an application.

Q. My husband is age 65 and eligible for benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. I am his wife, also over 65, but have never worked and never paid social security taxes. Am I eligible for benefits as a wife?

A. Any wife of an insured individual who is entitled to benefits, who has reached the age of 65 and is living with her husband, is entitled to wife's benefits. The benefits which a wife receives are based upon her husband's wage record and it is not necessary that she herself have worked in covered employment or paid the tax we suggest that, if you meet these requirements, you immediately file an application with the nearest office of the Social Security Administration. No benefits are paid unless an application is filed.

Q. If I retire at 65 or later, does the Government automatically start paying social security benefits?

A. No. When you reach 65 and stop working, visit a Social Security field office immediately and file a claim to avoid loss of benefits. If you still continue to work after age 65, it is advisable to ask about your benefit rights as it may be to your advantage to file a claim immediately.

Q. Is there a charge for obtaining help in filing an application for Social Security benefits?

A. Your local Social Security field office will help you in making out claim papers so as to get everything the law allows. There is no charge for this service.

Q. My husband who died last August, was a farmer, but for 8 years before his death he worked for a few days every month in a mill earning wages of $40 a month. He and I were the same age—52—our children are grown. One person told me that I could draw benefits, but another one said I could not, because I own a farm. What is right?

A. The fact that you own property has nothing to do with your right to insurance payments. It appears that your husband was fully insured under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Program. Since you have no children under 18, you will not be eligible for monthly benefits until you reach age 65. You may be eligible for a lump-sum death payment at this time, and should file your claim. If it is approved you will receive one lump sum payment.

Q. My husband has worked steadily under Social Security for over 10 years. Can we collect social security benefits when we reach age 65?

A. If your husband has worked steadily under social security for over 10 years he is fully insured. When he reaches 65, he should contact the Social Security Administration. It will be possible for him and yourself at age 65 to receive social security monthly insurance payments.

Q. I am a widow receiving a veteran's pension. If I get a job covered by social security can I still get my widow's veteran's pension?

A. You should inquire at the office where you filed your claim for the widow's pension as to what effect your employment will have on your right to receive the pension.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Marian Gallaher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gallaher, Capitol Trail, to Bailey Wheeler, in Seattle, Wash. Following a very beautiful church ceremony and a reception at the home of the groom, the young couple left for a trip through Canada. Mr. Wheeler is on leave from his duties as radio man in the Navy. After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will be at home in Seattle.

Mrs. James H. Bishop, Capitol Trail, left on Monday for New Haven, Conn., where she will assist in the care of her mother, Mrs. Jane Mason, who is now in a convalescent home, recovering from a broken hip.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard L. Reed, Capitol Trail, are still looking for the shaggy, black and tan puppy, missing since Friday, Jan. 19. He is sadly missed by the Reed children who call him "Tippy". Tippy is about four months old and was not wearing a collar. If anyone has seen this very friendly pup, please notify Mrs. Reed by calling Newark 3316.

In place of Tippy, two stray hounds have taken up their residence on the Reed property. As both are wearing collars, surely the owner would like to know where they are. If anyone has any knowledge of where the dogs belong, please get in touch with Mrs. Reed.

Speaking of animals, a horse, owned by Talbert Chalmers, of Possum Park Road, is rapidly recovering from a bad case of double pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown are staying at the residence of Rev. James H. Bishop, Capitol Trail, during the absence of Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Bishop.

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. Last Sunday, Jan. 28, Leroy Pennock was installed as a trustee, in the morning service. He was re-elected at the annual meeting for a term of three years.

Rev. Bishop announces that a special class on preparation for church membership will be held during the regular Sunday school hour with the pastor as teacher. The class will begin on Sunday and continue through Palm Sunday, Mar. 18. New members will be received during the Easter service, Mar. 25. Any church member who would like to rethink the matter of the purpose and meaning of the church is cordially invited to attend these sessions.

The adult choir will rehearse on Monday, Feb. 5, at 7:30 p.m.

On Monday, Feb. 5, the first in a series of five leadership training classes will be held at First and Central Church, Wilmington, from 8 to 10 p.m. Courses for leaders of the different age groups will be conducted by outstanding specialists in each field. This is a rare opportunity for training and inspiration for all officers and teachers.

The February meeting of the board of trustees will be held at the church on Monday at 3 p.m. with Elmer Gallaher, president, presiding.

The regular meeting of the Young Adult Fellowship will be held at the church on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 8 p.m. with Romayne McCormick in charge of the program and John Murray leading the devotions. The refreshment committee consists of Herbert Brown, Florence Reed and Raymond Benson.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet on Thursday, Feb. 8, at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Paul Peach, for an all-day meeting. Annual reports will be made out and the review of the for-sign mission study book, "Near East Panorama" will be concluded. Members are requested to bring sandwiches.

On Friday, Feb. 9, the women of White Clay Church are invited to join in the World Day of Prayer Service to be held in the St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Newark, at 2 p.m. Christian women around the world will be uniting in prayer on that day, using the theme, "Perfect Love Casts Out Fear." Mrs. Howard Bradley, president of the White Clay Missionary Society, will offer a prayer for peace in the service.

The White Clay representatives on the Newark Council of Church Women are Miss Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. David Eastburn. Mrs. James H. Bishop represented the church on the constitution committee.

Organ Recital Coming
"To The Glory of God" is the theme of a musical service to be held in the sanctuary on Sunday, Feb. 11, at 8 p.m. Mr. Kenneth Faulkner, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, will be at the console of the organ. This will be a splendid way to usher in the pre-Easter season called Lent.

8. Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters.

9. Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 225 to 205 hours per month; no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours have been worked, the hours between 205 and 240 to be paid for at the pro rata rate.

11. If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision.

The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous rates, special allowances, and existing money differentials above existing standard daily rates will be included in the formal agreement.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk to you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

FILLIN' IN

For the past month or so we have noticed that daily papers are being delivered here neatly tied with string and, in bad weather, even bundled in brown paper. Naturally, we have been sitting up nights wondering who has been sitting up nights doing all this tying and bundling at the Newark Newsstand.

The mystery of it finally goaded us into making a special trip to the Newsstand last week, where we launched an intensive probe. Mr. Fisher, the proprietor, was gratefully cooperative. He motioned us at once into his back room and there proudly pointed to what looked like three crude sewing machines.

"These," he said, "represent a sweeping technological advance in the manifold operations of the Newark newsstand. Since their installation deliveries have been speeded, complaints have dipped, service has been spurred and the morale of our staff has soared."

We were thrown a trifle off balance by Mr. Fisher's headline style delivery, which we decided must be an affliction of his trade. He overbuses the distribution of some 2000 newspapers daily and can be said literally to be up to his neck in headlines. We asked him if he could explain himself with a little less dipping and soaring.

For answer, he seized up a newspaper, folded it quickly, popped it into one of the sewing machines, which emitted a gruff clackety-clack, and the paper came forth neatly and securely tied.

We both stood for a moment in silent awe. A suggestion of tears sprang to Mr. Fisher's eyes, as he patted the machine lovingly. "They are called Tying-Machines," he explained, "and they can't be tied. To me they represent the climax of the Machine Age. Beyond this we cannot go."

He was silent for another solemn moment, then went on. "I look back on the pre-Tying-Machine Age with profound horror. In those days, we at the Newark Newsstand were at the mercy of the public and the elements, a twin-edged whiplash."

"Or a two-pronged sword, eh?" we murmured, not to be outdone at a quick bit of metaphor mixing in journalisticese.

Mr. Fisher, sensibly, took no notice. "I hated windy days," he mused, "especially windy Sundays. On such a sabbath after the papers had been delivered I used to sit in the shop here by the telephone and wait for the public to rise in its wrath. I would be swamped by calls from people who seemed to think I had a big wind machine here and devoted my Sundays to pumping it madly just to blow their papers around. I would respond to emergency calls from widely scattered points in this community. I would arrive to find scenes of sweeping disorganization, entire neighborhoods blanketed with wind-strewn Sunday papers, sport sections hugging telephone poles and comics hanging from tree limbs. Have you ever tried to gather up and reorganize a wind-strewn Sunday paper? It is one of the most difficult tasks in the entire field of journalism."

"Now," he explained, "we have none of that. Rainy and snowy days are a top-level delight for us, too, because we now use water resistant brown paper." Mr. Fisher showed us a piece, pointing out that it had been treated on one side and emphasizing that a single sheet costs one-third of a cent. "But look what I save in aspirins. Since the Tying-Machines were installed, the public has been purring, and there is no freeze on happiness at the Newark Newsstand."

We came away from Mr. Fisher's with a new respect for the Machine Age. The Tying Machine has not only made life worth living for Mr. Fisher but it undoubtedly has caused a decline in community-wide temper tantrums, undigested breakfasts and disgruntled Sunday dinners.

The only segment of the population that possibly could frown on the introduction of the Tying-Machines is made up of those persons who sneak out early in the morning and read their neighbors' paper before the latter get up. These individuals are hard-hit. Their only hope, as far as we can see is to stockpile balls of string and retie the papers manually after they have read them.

As for the rest of us, we might all organize a town-wide "Hats Off" to Mr. Fisher.

Request Funds For New U. of D. Building

Funds for a building to house the University of Delaware's two fastest-growing divisions—the Schools of Education and Home Economics—will be asked from the General Assembly, Dr. John A. Perkins, the university president, said today. President Perkins said that an estimated $1,250,000 will be needed.

Plans drawn by E. William Martin, architect, of Wilmington, provide for laboratories, classrooms and offices on three floors in two wings linked by a two-story central administration section. The exterior design harmonizes with the Georgian colonial architecture of the other buildings on the campus, but introduces some modern touches dictated by the functional requirements of the building and the need for the most economical type of construction. In place of the sloping roof with gabled ends used on most of the university's buildings, Mr. Martin has substituted an almost flat roof without parapets, thus eliminating much waste space and the tendency toward leaks often accompanying the use of parapet walls.

Newark Cagers Upset Frankies Gain Second in Susky League

Club Displays Smooth Team Play In Eeking Out 55-56 Decision; Now Only Half Game Behind Leaders; Plays Again Tuesday

Newark took over second place in the Susquehanna Basketball League on Saturday by upsetting the Frankies, 56-55, in a tightly played game at the Elkton Armory.

Newark will be idle in league play this weekend but will resume action Tuesday night, meeting the Baldton Roccoos in the first game of a twin-bill at the Elkton Armory. The Frankies will take on Elkton in the nightcap.

Newark displayed smooth team play for the first time this season in eeking out its one-point decision over the favored Frankies. The victory put the local club only a half game behind the league leaders, VFW 2863 and Elkton, who are tied for first. Both have played fewer games than Newark.

A tight race is promised in the league, which is composed of six closely matched teams, each capable of upsetting the other.

The Yellowjackets hustled all the way to beat the Frankies last Saturday, taking a six point lead at half time chiefly because of the fine shooting and all round play of Joe Kubisen. Kubisen scored 18 of his 22 points in the first half, while holding the Frankies' Joe Hall, a St. Joseph College frosh star, to a lone foul shot.

By the end of the third quarter the Frankies had cut Newark's lead to one point as a result of some accurate shooting by Bill Dineen. Shortly after the start of the fourth quarter, the Frankies moved into a three point lead, but Newark rallied to inch ahead by a single point with only one minute to go.

Nellie Davis then sank a set shot giving the local club a three point margin. The Frankies, refusing to concede, scored in the last second of the game to draw within a single point of tying the count.

Newark outscored the Frankies 22 to 19 from the field but trailed at the foul line 17 to 12. Every player on the Newark squad contributed to the upset victory.

Pete Klopp, the local club's leading scorer, will no longer be available for play. Klopp leaves in two weeks for spring training as a bonus player with the Cleveland Indians.

There was a square dance after the game for the faculty of both schools. The proceeds of the game were contributed to the March of Dimes.

Girls' Intramural Plans Are Underway
On February 20 the seventh and eighth grade girls will begin intramurals in basketball. Every girl is eligible and it is arranged so that every girl can have a chance to play. The bus pupils will play Mondays and Fridays during the third period, and when the girls have gym. Girls that live in town will play Tuesday and Friday after school from 3:15 until 4:45. Each person that wishes to play should sign up in the girls' locker room.

The teams will be divided into groups of ten. Miss Fitts and the Girls Leaders Club are in charge. Each game will be played for the process of elimination. When one team loses, they are out of the tournament for good.

The idea of having intramurals is to teach the girls good sportsmanship and to give them more opportunity to learn to play basketball. Also, it teaches them the feeling of competition.

Hen Courtmen Snap Rams' 15-Game Run With 55-56 Upset Win

Last Minute Foul By Bill Utt Seals Triumph For Delaware

The University of Delaware basketball team jacked up the season's mark to seven wins in 12 starts last Saturday night when they turned in a spine-tingling, 56-55, upset victory over West Chester State Teachers College.

The Hens invaded the Rams' home lair to hand them their first setback in 15 games extended over two seasons. Delaware is taking it easy this week until Saturday night, when King's College will provide the opposition at the field house here. Next Wednesday, the Hens travel to Washington College.

A cord splitting foul toss by Bill Utt as the game ended gave the Hens their winning margin over West Chester, following a tight battle from the opening whistle.

Delaware had to overcome an early deficit but by the fourth period had built up a 50-34 lead and appeared set to coast in. Their offensive was stalled, though when three ace players were removed, Dick Goldberg fouled out, while Dick Evans and Jack Buechele were sidelined by injuries, the first by a twisted knee and the latter with an injured hand.

The Teachers were quick to take advantage of the crippled Hens. Two field goals by Earl Voss, former Claymont star, deadlocked the game in the dying minutes.

It was then Utt was suddenly fouled and the little guard stepped to the penalty stripe and ignored the taunting crowd to sink a perfect foul, sealing the victory.

Newark High's courtmen halted their downward skid this week by winning two victories to snap their four game losing streak and put the son's mark at five triumphs in ten starts.

The first victory was an overwhelming 56-36 decision over William Penn last Friday and the second a crisp 47-40 win over A. I. DuPont on Tuesday night.

The Jackets are scheduled for two home appearances this coming week meeting Claymont, a previous victim, tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. and Archmere, who trounced the Jackets 80-50 two weeks ago, on Tuesday night.

Bunny Blaney again spearheaded the Newark attack in last week's victories. Against William Penn he up 33 points. The Jackets jumped a 14-3 lead in the first quarter, retained command throughout, and backed up Blaney with a 10-point contribution, second highest score for the game.

Loop Highlights

by "Sideline" Sam

Newark lost four games in a row when they broke into the win column last week. Consecutive losses to Brown, York, Conrad, Archmere, and Salesianus dropped Newark's morale so low we began to wonder, but the win over Williams Penn changed our minds. Newark also came close to defeating the Salesianus. The final score was 45-39.

The first quarter score was 4-4, and the second time score was 18-15 in favor of Salesianus. Going into the final quarter the score was 28-22 again in the favor of the local eagles. Blaney, who was off most of the game, sank eleven points in the second quarter. The whole team started to come within six points of the Salesianus in the last two minutes. As the Salesianus got their hands on the ball they tried a freeze but NHS got the ball and dropped it in the basket. Salesianus took possession, sank two points and held on to the lead.

Newark met a top team when they met Archmere. Daley and Doherty spotted players and good play. The Archies got the jump on Newark from the very beginning. The final score was 80-60. Blaney did a yeoman's job, scoring thirty-two points.

Newark Hi-Y's season is now well up by an 11-point margin. They are currently leading the Hi-Y league. The Aggies have played two games and have won both. The intramurals are still going on, followed by the juniors, sophomores and freshmen in that order.

What have the graduates from last year's superb basketball season been doing since last June? Have they continued to play basketball? Only two have done so. They are Bill Reybold and Phil Harrison. Bill has been playing with the U. of D's freshmen team of last year. He has been playing a lot of basketball. Phil plays for St. John's in the C. Y. O. league, where he is a leading scorer for the Newark Sesquies, and is one of the Blue Hens of the net loop in the C. Y. O. league's all-star team not long ago; this indicates that he has continued to improve his talents since graduation.

Bill Knotts, a junior on the Yellow Jacket team, appears to be standing up to the expectations as a good forward. He was high scorer on the Jackets last year with 140 points. He got a slow start at the beginning of this season but has come through in fine fashion. He was an outstanding player in the Salesianum.

4 of 5 Youngsters Have Foot Trouble

Outgrown Badly Fitted Shoes Seen As Cause

Eighty percent of all school children have foot trouble, says Ruth E. Pearce, clothing specialist at the University of Delaware. And most of the trouble comes from wearing outgrown and badly fitted shoes. Fitting the baby's shoes correctly is very important.

The first shoes should be of soft material with a flexible sole. The toe should be full and puffy. Miss Pearce believes that a baby's shoes should have very thin heels, or no heels at all.

Length is necessary to avoid cramping and restricting growth. Miss Pearce suggests drawing an impression of the baby's foot on paper, and then selecting a shoe that is one-half an inch longer and one-fourth inch wider. The extra room will allow for several months' growth.

Baby's shoes should be wide enough to permit the toes to spread when his weight rests on his feet. The toe should be deep enough to eliminate pinching or rubbing of his foot. A loose instep is desirable for free blood circulation. A tight instep puts pressure on the arch bones and cramps the foot.

The only part of the shoe that should fit snugly is the heel, Miss Pearce says. It should grip the foot firmly and prevent the baby's heel from rotating when he is walking.

Parents should check the fit of their children's shoes regularly. When there is less than one-fourth of an inch space from the toes to the front of the shoe a change should be made. Since children's feet grow so rapidly, it is practical to buy shoes of medium quality, but never practical to buy shoes of poor quality, Miss Pearce emphasizes.

A new fruit spread of smooth, creamy texture which may be kept without refrigeration has been developed from cream cheese and honey. The spread was developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Chopped or sliced onion in a dressing helps draw out and distribute the onion flavor in stews and soups. Many good cooks let sliced onion stand in French dressing.

Aluminum foil is one of the best wrapping materials for freezer foods, say Delaware Home Economics Extension specialists.

Flowers

Flowers in the meadow
Flowers on the hill
Flowers for a halo
Across the window sill.

Some flowers are low
Some flowers are high
In the spring they grow
In the winter they die.

A flower is a token
Sent down from above
Now I have spoken
Of flowers, which I love.

Cheerleaders Sponsor Novel Dance At NHS

Cheerleaders of Newark High School sponsored the "Snowflake Ball" held in the school gym last Saturday, Jan. 27. The theme was carried out by the decorations and small favors to represent snowmen. A snow king and snow queen were chosen. The king was picked for the most unusual tie. This honor was won by Henry Correll. ### Schedule of Picture-Taking For "Kra-ven" Carried Out Last Thursday Pictures for the "Kra-ven," the yearbook, were taken last Thursday by David Poffenberger, photographer. The arrangement for the takes was made by Stanley Gibbs, sponsor for the yearbook.

Pictures were taken of thirty-seven different groups throughout the day. Class pictures were posed in front of the high school building and special clubs and activities were taken in various rooms throughout the school. Activities not included in Thursday's schedule and retakes will be arranged later.

Elementary Student Council Discusses Student Problems

Representatives of the Elementary Student Council held a meeting in the auditorium on Jan. 23. The purpose was to discuss problems set forth by the students of grades 3-6.

All committees were present, and reports were heard from the cafeteria, assembly and traffic committees. One of the problems discussed pertained to the matter of children taking food from the cafeteria. Members of the cafeteria committee reported infractions of the rule requiring all students to leave food in the cafeteria. It appears that some members of the committee have gone so far as to search students leaving the cafeteria.

Another problem discussed was the traffic situation in the halls. The feeling of the students at the meeting seemed to be that the traffic committee members are not performing their duties.

Great Dangers From Atomic Bombs Discussed at High School Assembly

That the greatest danger from atomic bombing may not be from radiation was an idea passed on to Newark students last Wednesday by Emmet Kauffmann, University of Delaware physicist and Chief of Radiological Services for the State of Delaware, when he spoke before the weekly assembly in the school auditorium. The program was arranged by Mr. Stanley Gibbs' grade 11 homeroom.

Burns and Traumatic injuries may prove the gravest danger in an atomic attack, Mr. Kauffmann said.

Norris Smith, Peggy Woerner, and Bernice Wilson talked on how to avoid atomic bombing dangers and injuries. They discussed such dangers as atomic explosions and how to prepare for them, atomic proof materials and other important points.

Tom Burke.
