Local Fireman Spurns Handcuffs For Short Trip

W. R. Powell Gives Visiting Constable
Some Concern Here; Later Attends
Court and Pays Fine

MAIN CHARGE DISMISSED

When diminutive Mr. Dolson, eminent constable attached to Magistrate Tinsman's palace of justice at Richardson Park, endeavored to handcuff Walter R. Powell in his restaurant here last Wednesday night, things began to happen with great abandon. Mr. Powell, a local fireman, was served with a warrant sworn out by the Holloway Terrace fire laddies in connection with a crusade against drivers who blocked the highways near the Perkins farm on Sunday night, May 31st last, during a fire.

When the aforesaid Mr. Dolson appeared in Newark, armed with the warrant and a pocketful of weapons, Mr. Powell was busily engaged in serving a number of supper customers. He also had several tubs of ice cream freezing in his plant nearby. Mr. Dolson insisted that they go back to court right away. Mr. Powell demurred. Mr. Dolson became angry. So did Mr. Powell.

Then, according to accounts, Mr. Dolson unleashed his handcuffs and a blackjack. The blackjack vanished into thin air in a few seconds, and Mr. Dolson went home empty handed.

Mr. Powell accompanied by several friends and witnesses peaceably attended Mr. Tinsman's esteemed court the next day and paid a fine and costs amounting to $4.50 for resisting arrest. Several and sundry hot remarks were passed back and forth among the rival firemen attending the hearing. This enlivened the proceedings immensely.

The charge of blocking the roadway, lodged against Mr. Powell, was dismissed.

It was further brought out that Holloway Terrace firemen, who swore out the warrants, did not receive a call to the fire at the Perkins place. They merely saw the flames, and good and true firemen as they are, drove over with a great clatter and rush just in time to meet the other coming home. Nevertheless, they made a lot of noise and had a perfectly lovely time.

NEWARKER LEAVES FOR CALIFORNIA TRIP

Irving Crow Given Farewell
Supper by Friends Here
Last Night.

Irving Crow of this town, who for a number of years has been employed at the Delaware Hard Fibre Company's offices in Marshallton, resigned his position recently and today left for an extended visit to the West Coast. He will spend about two months in California, visiting relatives before returning to Newark.

Last evening, a group of friends to the number of nearly forty tendered him a farewell supper in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church. The affair was originally scheduled as a picnic party to be held at Welsh Tract. The sudden shower early last evening made it necessary to make the change.

A bounteous cold supper was served and the evening spent in a general good time. Mr. Crow was presented on the eve of his departure with a handsome folding camera.

ACADEMY TRUSTEES MEET

The annual meeting of the Newark Academy trustees was held in Council Hall last evening. No important business was transacted, and the regular routine of reports was attended to in a short time.

Some discussion was rife concerning the proposed movement to restore the old building as a Community center. It was the opinion of the Trustees, it is reported, that since their funds were very low, they could do nothing at the present time.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a few weeks ago, the movement was endorsed but as yet no announcement of action has been forthcoming.

NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

George R. Pritchard

Elected Saturday to fill the vacancy at Delaware caused by resignation of W. J. McAvoy. He reports next September.

NEW COACH NAMED FOR UNIVERSITY

G. H. Pritchard of Hiram College, Ohio, Chosen by Trustees in Meeting Saturday; Brings Assistant With Him.

The long-awaited answer to many queries during the past two months was answered Saturday at noon when it was announced that George H. Pritchard, 37 years old, of Hiram College, Ohio, has been chosen director of Physical Education at Delaware, and will take up his duties in September. He succeeds Coach William J. McAvoy, resigned.

At the same time, the trustees elected Herbert Mathews assistant to Mr. Pritchard. The two have been working together in Ohio, and Mathews is thoroughly familiar with his chief's methods.

While both Pritchard and his college are little known to Newark people, he comes here with high recommendations. He was chosen from a list of some thirty applicants for the position.

Since his graduation, in 1908, Mr. Pritchard has had a successful record as a coach. He was for one year commandant at the Howe School, Indiana; principal of the Texarkana High School in Arkansas; coached one year at Lebanon Valley; coached and taught biology at Oklahoma City College; coached at Eureka College, Ill., and was coach at Drury College, Mo., for a number of years, leaving there last year to become head coach at Hiram College.

Three Cars Smashed By Reckless Driver

Elkton Men Join in Hunt for Man
Who Escaped After Collisions
Saturday.

A posse of Elkton men, under the leadership of State Highway Police- man Blizard, scoured the territory between Elkton and Elk Mills and over the Glasgow road late Saturday night hunting for an unidentified white man, whose car crashed into three autos earlier in the evening near Red Mill crossing on West Main Street.

According to reports, the careening car dashed across the tracks after the gates had been lifted and in the space of a few seconds tore into three cars coming the opposite direction. The first collision evidently broke the radius rod on the speeding car, for it appeared to lose all sense of direction. When it finally came to rest it was wrecked.

The driver escaped by taking to the fields.

A posse was quickly formed and led by Blizard, started through the outlying sections of the county. The driver had not been apprehended at noon Sunday. The car is being held in Elkton.

LAYING CONCRETE

A new concrete mixer was wheeled into place on Academy Street early this week and the laying of the new thoroughfare will be laid shortly under the direction of F. W. Lovett, builder.

High School Graduates Biggest Class Friday

32 Seniors to Receive Diplomas;
Boys Outnumber Girls in Group
This Year

Everything is in readiness for Newark High School's largest Commencement Friday night. On that date, in the new building on Academy street, thirty-two girls and boys will receive their diplomas from John S. Shaw, president of the Newark Board of Education.

It is interesting to note that this year's class includes more boys than girls. It is rarely seen in High Schools in this section.

Friday's Program

In Wolf Hall Friday night, Dean George E. Dutton of the University will address the graduates. The student orations will be delivered by Miss Agnes Frazer and Martin Doordan. Eugene Kennedy, president of the Alumni Association for the past year, will award the Alumni annual scholarship.

Class night will be observed in Wolf Hall this evening, and the graduates are planning a number of humorous skits for the entertainment of fellow students, parents and friends.

The schools will close their doors on Friday of this week.

STANTON FESTIVAL A GREAT SUCCESS

The strawberry festival held at Stanton by the Girls' Friendly of St. James Church, on Thursday evening was a decided success. The affair was held on the lawn of the home of C. P. Dickey, which was beautifully decorated with fancy booths. The sum of $60 was realized from the affair.

The Girls' Friendly will hold a business meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. P. Dickey.

Locals Win By Forfeit

The Continental team further clinched its hold on first place in the Fibre League Saturday when they were awarded the game with Delaware Fibre on forfeit. The locals journeyed to Marshallton and were on hand at game time.

Continental plays Diamond State at Newark Saturday afternoon on their field here. The contest starting at 3:00 p. m., daylight saving time.

BUSINESS LICENSES DUE

The mercantile and business licenses, required by every firm engaged in wholesale and retail trade, are due and payable now, according to an announcement made today by Magistrate Thompson. The license year runs from June 1st to June 1st. If not paid before July 1st, an increase of 5 per cent is added; 10 per cent if not paid in August and 15 per cent if not paid in September.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS JUNE 22ND

The annual six weeks' session of the University of Delaware Summer School for Teachers will begin here on Monday, June 22nd next.

The advance enrollment so far accredited points to another large attendance. Prof. W. A. Wilkinson is again director of the school. He has surrounded himself with a strong corps of instructors.

The series of entertainments, always a feature of Summer schools in the past is to be given again under the direction of the Service Citizens this year. The program for the summer has not as yet been announced.

Commencement Marks New Progress At Delaware; Seventy Men And Women Receive Degrees Monday

University's Credits Are Now Recognized In All Major Colleges

Admission Of Local Institution Into American Association of Universities
Greatest Step In Years, Says
Dr. Hulihan In Report

Dr. Walter Hulihan

Who completed his fifth year as President of the University on Monday. He was complimented on his work by H. B. Thompson, Trustee President.

During the course of his report to the Board of Trustees in their last meeting of the year on Saturday morning, Dr. Hulihan, President of the University, took occasion to stress particularly the great step forward which was completed during the year. He referred to the acceptance by the Association of American Colleges of Delaware and the placing of her on the accredited list. In the minds of educators, this places Delaware on a plane with every high class University in the matter of credits when taking advanced work.

Passed Unnoticed

In speaking of the acceptance, Dr. Hulihan said:

"Among many interesting occurrences, one of the outstanding events of the session, however, was the completion and dedication of the Memorial Library, an event in the history of the university of the utmost significance. The board of trustees cannot be too highly commended for its wisdom in carrying through to completion the difficult task of raising the necessary funds for the erection, endowment and equipment of this building. In so doing it has provided one of the indispensable foundations of an institution of learning.

"But more important than any of these was an event that passed almost unnoticed; to which, indeed, the authorities of the university purposely avoided giving much publicity, even though they realized its great importance. (Continued on Page 4.)

CRASHES INTO SHED

Freight Car Gets Too Much "Push"
On Richards' Siding

A small building immediately to the rear of E. L. Richards' office, at Newark Center Station, was crushed in and a side of the office itself splintered when an empty freight car backed through the abutment at the end of the siding and fell over on its end shortly after noon Monday.

The car was being shunted in the siding and too much push was evidently exerted by the locomotive. The shed which was destroyed was built to house wagons and teams.

A wrecking crew lifted the car on the track Monday night. The railroad company, it is understood, will rebuild the shed for Mr. Richards.

"AL" YAP IN BUSINESS

Former Delaware Baseball Star An Insurance Man In Honolulu

A recent copy of the Honolulu "Star-Bulletin," the one big newspaper published on the Hawaiian Islands carried the following news note:

Charles T. T. Yap, who has been teller at the Bank of Hawaii for three years, resigned that position, effective Friday and will enter into the insurance business with his brother Alfred, under the firm name of William Kwai Fong Yap & Sons, with offices at 1128 Smith Street. They will specialize in fire, life, automobile and marine insurance.

Alfred Yap has just returned from the mainland where he attended Delaware University and was in the insurance business.

General Allen Decries "War To End War" Theory In Speech To Graduates

Famous Military Figure Strikes New Note in Urging United States to Use Her Power to Advance Cause of Peace.

DRS. HARTER AND ODELL HONORED

Commencement season in all its glory of tradition broke over Newark during the past week-end, when old Delaware sent 70 young men and women out from her halls into their lifework. It was the largest combined class of men and women ever to be graduated here.

In addition to the younger men and women, two honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws and eight graduate degrees were conferred by the Board of Trustees.

Teachers' diplomas for the two-year course in education at the Women's College were awarded to 34 girls.

Perfect summer weather brought out a large and representative audience under the trees in front of Old College. From all parts of Delaware and from nearby states they came, drawn by pride in their young people now finishing their course and love for the scenes which recalled many happy days in past years. It was a Commencement of which Delaware might well be proud.

Gen. Allen Is Speaker

Major General Henry Truman Allen, one of the outstanding figures in the United States Army, and an authority on international affairs with particular import on the European muddle, delivered the commencement address to the graduates. He was introduced to his audience in glowing terms by President Hulihan.

The general, an erect, virile man, despite his grey hair, struck an entirely new note in Commencement addresses here when he offered as his theme "The Science and Politics of War."

He briefly recited incidents of the late struggle showing the appalling damage to life and property and the utter futility of gains made by the victor.

He said the three greatest necessities in waging war in the present state of civilization are: "1st, Money; 2nd, Money, and 3rd, more Money." From this point his address was directed into the vast commercial activities necessary to carry on the fight.

"The last war," he said, "has given us but a faint ideal of what the next great war will witness in terrible spiritual and physical devastation. The victor is almost equally vanquished with the conquered. As an eye witness of the appalling results of the most recent great war, and its aftermath I am convinced that the burdens that fall upon all the states involved were in excess of the advantages secured, measured by any standard that can be imagined. How vain now sounds the phrase, 'A war to end all war and a war to make the world safe for Democracy.'

"The progressive spirit of the nation it seems to me must eventually visualize the role that destiny has imposed upon us and we must be prepared to advance the demands of modern civilization by using our great prestige and capacity to prevent war."

Coming from a warrior of international reputation, the speech Monday was considered by many to be a frank expression of his views gained from first hand observation and from participation in several conferences as representative of the United States. It was a frank denial of the advantages of war. It struck another blow at the so-called "jing" element in this country and, in many ways, convinced his hearers that America has her greatest opportunity at hand.

Motorist Badly Cut When Auto Is Ditched

Thomas Roberts Injured And Family
Shaken Up When Car Stalls On Hill And Backs Down

Thomas Roberts, well known barber, employed in the shop of Benjamin Eubanks, on East Main street, was badly cut about the right arm and face Thursday evening last when a Ford sedan in which he was riding suddenly backed down a steep grade at the end of North College avenue.

Mrs. Roberts and two children and Mrs. Rufus Roberts, who were the other occupants of the car, were slightly cut by glass and shaken up in the accident. The car was slightly damaged when it reared up in the ditch.

According to accounts of the mishap, the motor stalled as the car approached the P. and N. crossing at North College avenue, and the machine suddenly started backwards down the grade towards White Clay Creek. Mrs. Roberts, who was at the wheel, was unable to stop its dash and before her husband could aid, the car plunged into the ditch and careened backward, throwing the occupants into the rear seat. Broken glass cut a long gash in Mr. Roberts' arm and also cut him on the forehead. One of the children had a toe painfully cut. The injured man was treated by a physician shortly afterward and several stitches were necessary to close the gash in his arm. He will be unable to practice his trade for several weeks at least.

Mrs. Roberts probably saved herself from further injury by clinging to the wheel and avoiding the fall into flying glass.

Employees To Become Part Owners In The World's Largest Cash Business

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. forms New Maryland Company to facilitate New Employees' Ownership Plan

With more than $352,000,000 a year passing over the counters of its 12,000 stores throughout the country, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company announces a plan whereby its employees may share in the profits through ownership of its common stock.

Employees who have been in the employ of the Company for five years will now be allowed to subscribe to Common Stock to 10% of their wages for the past year, and those in the employ over one year to Preferred Stock to 10% of their annual wages.

Common Stock to be Sold to Employees

The Company pursues the most progressive lines in large businesses today, namely, that the closer relationship between capital and labor is prevalent, and, with this end in view, stock that formerly was very closely held by the family of the founder of the business will be distributed amongst the employees on a partial-payment plan; to facilitate this, a Maryland corporation has been formed that will hold the stock of the operating companies.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company does the largest cash business in the world. It extends no credit and its volume of gross sales now surpasses that of any of the country's chain stores or mail-order houses.

Leads Sears, Roebuck & Company and Woolworth

The pioneer in the chain-store field, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, now leads according to the gross sales, having reached a volume of $352,000,000 in 1924.

Founded in 1859

The business was founded in 1859 and had its inception in a single store in that year, in New York City. In 1889 Collis P. Huntington and Leland Stanford joined the Union Pacific with the Central Pacific, making a direct railroad connection from the Atlantic to the Pacific. George Huntington Hartford, founder and first President of the Company, then foresaw a chain of stores which would eventually reach from coast to coast, and determined upon the name The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company for his enterprise. Today the Company operates over 12,000 stores, employing over 35,000 people.

Greater Expansion Planned

Coincident with the important change in the Company's financial policy a new plan of operation has been instituted to take care of further expansion which, when established, will run the total sales for the current year to well over $420,000,000.

On March 1st the business was divided into five divisions, designated as the New England, Eastern, Central, Southern and Middle Western Divisions. Each division will have its own officers and directors, and it is encouraging to the other employees to know that each president and officer of these five divisions started with the A&P as either an office boy or a clerk behind the counter.

This new change is consistent with the policy of the founder and his sons, as Mr. John A. Hartford, President of the Company, states that he and his brother, George L. Hartford, were more interested "in the making of men than in the making of money." The loyalty fostered by this policy has been properly estimated to be one of the chief factors in the success of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, as it gives each and every employee the opportunity, as the officers say, to climb the ladder.

Men at Head of Local Division

The A&P "Red Front" stores in the Southeastern Section come under the Southern Division, which includes Philadelphia, Scranton, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Atlanta, Jacksonville and New Orleans, with Executive Offices located at Philadelphia. The officers and directors of this Division are: Oliver C. Adams, President; John A. Hartford, 1st Vice-President; Aloysius F. Gallagher, Vice-President; James J. Byrnes, Vice-President; Benjamin F. Vinson, Vice-President; Joseph Strauss, Jr., Vice-President; John P. Clancy, Vice-President; Franklin E. Klasse, Treasurer; James H. Genung, Secretary.

THE CROW'S NEST AN INTERMITTENT COLUMN

"FRANKIE" CUMMINGS WINS AGAIN

Among the many interesting and happy incidents relative to Delaware's commencement season, is the case of Francis Cummings, honor student extraordinary.

"Frankie," as he is called by his host of friends here, is totally blind. Through the long years since early childhood, he has set himself to overcome the affliction which would break the spirit of stronger men. Through high school and college and now on to another degree! Never a break, never a let up in his determined fight for higher education.

To digress a bit, Frankie's splendid success might well be used on one side of that interminable argument, "What's Wrong With Education." Talk to young Cummings for five minutes, and you will decide for yourself. When you see a regular boy fighting against such odds, and winning, it is no time to berate American educational methods. It is one thing to have knowledge served to you, easily, gently and gracefully. It is another thing to go out and get it—battle for it.

Ask "Frankie"!

He went to France last year. He wrestled with a new language. He could have very well rested on his laurels already gained. He pinned the French language down to the mat and emerged from the Sorbonne with highest honors for the year. Now he has finished his course, only to tackle another battle as he goes after a graduate degree at Penn next Fall.

And best of all, "Frankie" is a good fellow. No more loyal student ever attended Delaware College.

To see him sitting in the stands at a football game, cheering chums he has never seen, following the game like a hound on the trail, forever boosting, always smiling, never glum; to those who have had this privilege, it is for them to smile tolerantly at the walls of complaining yokels of the classroom.

"Frankie," you see, is possessed with something more than mere restlessness. His is the mind of a burrowing student. It is safe to assume that he rarely thinks of his blindness. He is too busy to brood. He is too happy with his books and his friends to fret. He is too strong morally to quit.

He is, in veriest truth, an Honor Student.

A LITTLE OF THIS—

Coach Horace A. Nunn, esteemed tutor of our local High School ball tossers has been notified that the breach of promise charges brought against him by Mr. Caesar Rodney of the Caesar Rodney School, down back of Dover, have been dropped. Mr. Nunn, when asked to fill an engagement with his troupe at Milford, is said to have replied, "No." The game was forfeited in the presence of six witnesses and the bat boy. Mr. Rodney says, says he, "I'll sue you." Which he did, with the above results.

AND THIS —

Among the 100 or more heat wave victims in a neighboring city recently was the gentleman who insisted that it was the humidity and not the heat which made it so uncomfortable. It is said this person met a sudden and awful death at the hands of his listeners. Nearly everybody attended the funeral. It was a wonderful send-off.

IS THAT SO?

Workmen are reported to be looking for some sort of a sewer pipe on the new school grounds said to be badly in need of a plumber. Following the digging up of the first acre, progress has been reported. The missing pipe must be somewhere around the place, they aver.

IS THESE SO?

Four years ago, as Vice President, Mr. Coolidge was booed at the Minnesota State Fair Grounds. 400,000 people cheered President Coolidge there on Monday.

The correct solution to this puzzle will not appear next week.

Children's Day exercises were held in the Elkton Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. A fine program was well rendered by the children, and a large audience appreciated the efforts of the children.

After drill on Monday evening, Company E, M. N. G., was given a set-out consisting of ice cream and cake.

PENNSVILLE PIER
NEARING COMPLETION

The construction work on the Pennsville pier of the New Castle-Pennsville Ferries, Inc., is progressing very rapidly. The work has been carried on so effectively that the portion of the pier that is already completed is attracting much interest on the part of the thousands of visitors to Riverview Beach.

The ferry pier is just a short distance south of the Riverview Beach pier and is so arranged that machines going off the pier will immediately strike the fine highway which connects with the concrete highway leading to Salem and then to the various New Jersey resorts.

Three additional directors were added to the board recently. They are: Max Kell, A. Victor Hughes and George Kleitz, all wealthy and prominent business men of Wilmington.

With the work on the pier being carried on so rapidly, there has been an increased amount of interest in this line and tourists are anxiously waiting the beginning of ferry service which is going to be of such great value to Southern New Jersey.

Church, Red Lion, Delaware, when Miss Mary Amelia Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Richards, of Bear Station, Delaware, became the bride of Harold H. Dayton, son of Mrs. Sarah Dayton, of Salisbury, Maryland. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Geoghegan, pastor of the church.

People's Column

Newark Del., June 5, 1925.

News Editor,
The Newark Post.

Dear Sir:

I wish to call to your attention an error which appeared in the June 3rd issue of The Newark Post. In the article concerning the report of the alumni committee after they had investigated the letter from and the action of the members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity in connection with the recent Student Council Honorary Elections, either the proof-reader or the reporter was remarkably careless. A sentence in the original report read as follows: "We were impressed with the opinion, freely expressed, that the fraternity was paramount to the individual and that loyalty to one's fraternity was above loyalty to the best interests of the University." This sentence as it appeared in The Post read in this manner: "We were impressed with the prevalent opinion that a fraternity member merged his individuality in this fraternity, that the act of such members was assumed to represent the opinion of the fraternity, that the fraternity was paramount to the individual and that loyalty to one's fraternity was above loyalty to the University."

The original statement was a general one, directed at all of the fraternities represented at the investigation, but this statement as reprinted in The Post is directed manifestly at the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity alone. This is obviously unfair.

I am writing this letter as an individual and not as a representative of any particular fraternity or group or organization. But since there have been several obviously petty diplomatic moves made to place, to all appearances, the members of Sigma Phi Epsilon in an unfavorable position as possible for the action they took in connection with the Student Council Honorary Elections (which action I am not at all convinced was not justified), I think that it is only fair to call your attention to what is, I hope, merely a regrettable carelessness.

Very truly yours,
C. A. Tilghman.

BORAH ON LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT

"Nowhere and in no way is this vicious program of change for change's sake, this fatuous stumbling in governmental affairs, more pronounced than in the gradual but certain destruction of the states and the centering of all power, all governmental activities, at Washington. In this irresponsible vandalism, the disciples of Hamilton and the disciples of Jefferson join hands. No political party in Washington seems willing to stand against this subtle revolution, against this un-American, undemocratic program. As a result of well-organized and vengeful propaganda on the one hand and sheer political expediency on the other, we are building up a bureaucratic form of government—the most expensive, the most burdensome, the most inefficient, and the most arbitrary form of government which thus far has ever been permitted to torture the human family. Every conceivable thing relating to human activity is being given over to bureaus administered from Washington. This results in waste and inefficiency touching all local or state affairs which in itself is burdensome and bad enough.

But its capital offense is that of undermining the confidence and destroying the capacity of the citizen to assume and meet the duties and obligations of citizenship. The right, the authority, of the people to manage and control their own affairs of an immediate and local nature, affairs peculiar to the community or the state, is a right beyond all price. There is nothing for which the people can afford to exchange it. It is the only real democratic principle found in our entire structure of government. It means more to the happiness, to the dignity and power of those Lincoln lovingly styled the "common people," than any other right or privilege they are permitted to enjoy. Destroy it, and the average citizen becomes the victim of bureaucratic interference—tortured with its persistent leering upon the affairs of his daily life and burdened and exploited by its chronic inefficiency and habitual waste. If there ever was a real struggle for popular rule for the preservation of the popular voice in politics and governmental affairs, it is involved in this effort to reserve and preserve for the people back home the right to control and administer their local affairs in accordance with local wisdom and local conditions.

"The remorseless urge of centralization, the insatiable maw of bureaucracy, are depriving more and more the people of all voice, all rights touching home and hearthstone, of family and neighbor. There is not a practice, custom, or habit but must soon be censured from Washington. There is not in all the relationship of parent and child, of family and home, anything sufficiently private or sacred to exempt it from the furtive eye of the special agent. I venture to say that coming generations, when they awake to the deliberate robbery, to the unconscionable devastation of their heritage of local self-government, and begin to suffer the tortures and burdens of such a system as will follow, will denounce in the unmeasured terms of a defrauded people those who have cowardly frittered away their rights.

"It is often charged that there is a conspiracy somewhere in this country well organized and subtly active to bring this government more and more under the control of the few, under the domination of great wealth. Whether such a purpose consciously exists or not we do know that such is the natural trend of all popular governments. But if any such scheme does exist, with what Satanic glee the conspirators must witness the willingness of the people to concentrate all governmental power at the Capitol and place the whole machinery of government in the hands of a few. How easy becomes their task when once local self-government is destroyed and the states reduced to mere geographical expressions and the reins of power are by our own cowardly surrender placed in the hands of a few hundred men. Let it not be forgotten that local self-government is the citizen's citadel of political power. Dislodged from this he becomes a political tramp, the helpless victim of arbitrary rule.

"Local self-government is the great political university where the average person is trained for the civic obligations which all sooner or later must assume if we are to continue a republic. Initiative, a sense of responsibility, political character, a feeling that they are a part of the government, and patriotism are all born of that daily contact with government which local self-government alone can furnish. Here and here alone in this atmosphere men and women grow to the full stature of citizenship. You cannot have a great Federal Union without great commonwealths upon which that union may rest. You cannot have great commonwealths without strong, self-reliant, capable men and women. You cannot have strong, self-reliant, capable men and women, men and women equal to the arduous duties of citizenship without that touch with public affairs, that sense of obligation, that pride in government which springs almost wholly from the activities of the citizen in local and state affairs."

GOVERNOR PRESENTS ARMY COMMISSIONS

Thirty-one Men Sworn Into Service As Reserve Officers By Captain Sparks at Com- mencement.

Together with the appearance of General Henry T. Allen, noted military authority, Delaware's 1925 Commencement was further graced by witnessing one of the largest inductions of army reserve officers into the service ever held on the campus.

Thirty-one young men who successfully completed the four-year course in Military Science and Tactics received their certificates and were sworn into the service. The oath was administered them by Captain Roy Sparks of the Military Department here.

Governor Robinson then spoke a few words to the men and handed each his commission.

Jones, Albert V. Krewatch, William J. Lank, John G. Leach, Richard G. Long, Harrie C. Lowber, William D. McKelvie, Francis G. Miller, Frederic Mullineaux, Harry Pikus, Herman Reitzes, Paul R. Rinard, George M. Schuster, Ralph S. Seigrist, John P. Skewis, Cornelius A. Tilghman and Francis R. Warner.

Lee F. Connell, Kenneth J. Crothers, Herbert Ickler and George H. Seitz, Jr., were awarded certificates of eligibility and will receive their lieutenant commissions when they become of age in a few months.

Cadet Major John G. Leach and Cadet Captain Harry Pikus were designated by the War Department honor students in military in this class.

START BAND CONCERTS

What is believed to be the first of a series of summer concerts was given Monday evening by the Elton Band at the Court House.

A large crowd of people came out and listened to the selections. Sterling Dunbar led the musicians and their work was of a uniform high order. The band will soon start its summer round of carnivals, festivals and suppers throughout the county.

DR. HARTER SIGNALLY HONORED ON HIS 40TH YEAR AT DELAWARE

Seldom has such a spontaneous ovation been given to any man under the lidens on Old College campus as was tendered Dr. George A. Harter on Monday by faculty, students and friends of the University.

As the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him by President Hullahen, the large audience burst into a storm of applause and kept it up for several minutes. It was a remarkable expression of the esteem in which Dr. Harter is held by everyone familiar with Delaware College. Commencement this year marked his 40th anniversary of service to the institution.

On Saturday evening, he was further honored by his old friends and students, the Alumni. The Association at their annual dinner presented him with a handsome English walking stick, adorned by a gold band upon which the following inscription was engraved:

George A. Harter
Fortieth Anniversary of Life
And Service At Delaware
College
As
Scholar, Gentleman and Friend
To Man
1925

His former "boys" sprang to their feet and cheered him to the echo, concluding the ovation with a rousing Delaware yell. The venerable educator appeared deeply affected by the incident. He responded with a brief expression of appreciation.

ALUMNI TEAM TRIMS VARSITY SATURDAY, 2-4

Old Stars Shine Once More In Presence of Loyal Rooters In Last College Contest.

With several of the stars of recent years in the lineup, and perfect baseball weather served to them, the Alumni of the University defeated the Varsity in a tight and interesting game here Saturday, 4-2. Despite the intense heat, a goodly crowd turned out to see the game.

The Alumni's winning run came in the ninth when Jones weakened, walked two, allowed one hit and an infield out did the rest. The game was nip and tuck all the way.

Harry Jackson's triple scored Underwood with the first run of the game. It was a long drive down the left field foul line.

The Varsity then went ahead in the sixth when McKelvie doubled off Joe Rothrock, with two men on. The Alumni tied it up again in the eighth off Roth and won out in the next inning.

Alumni Twirlers Fit

Director Jack Williams of the visiting firemen used up his distinguished staff or hurlers, parading four of them out for the inspection of the crowd. Dory Collins, talented flinger of a couple of years back, threw the ball past the Varsity batsmen with great regularity in the three innings he worked; nary a hit was made off his delivery. His battery mate, "Dick" Hoch, distinguished himself by catching a foul off the screen back of the plate.

Joe Rothrock, the newlywed, next ascended the hurling deck and bore down hard for three more innings. Joe's deceptive delivery had the Mc-Avey men back and filling at the plate. He was a little careless in the sixth, however, and grooved one for McKelvie. Both these star left handers were in excellent shape, and brought back memories of many a brilliant twirling duel on Frazer Field.

"Yonk" Challenger and Earl Ramsay divided the balance of the game together and were equally stingy with hits.

The latent power in the bats of the Alumni "wrecking crew" was absent Saturday, due principally to the long layoff from active diamond duty. George Madden, Harry Jackson, Mike Underwood, Dick Hoch, Doc Doherty, Jack Williams, Winston Murray and Phil Marvel were all .300 hitters in college. All of them in the same lineup made a dangerous looking outfit. Were they in shape, the attack might have been going yet. As it happened, Earl Pryor's left handed shoots kept them away from the plate.

ance to the institution. This was the admission of the university to the Accredited list of the Association of American Universities, after two years of investigation, reports, and personal conferences between the president of the university and officers of the association's committee on classification of colleges, and after this committee had twice failed to recommend the university for inclusion in the list.

Takes First Rank

"The significance of being placed upon this list is that it is the final stamp of approval of the University as a standard institution of learning and guarantees that our credits and our diplomas will be accepted at face value and without question by any American or European college or university. Three years ago the University was placed on the accredited list of the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland which gave standing to our credits in most American institutions, but there are certain institutions and organizations in this country and Europe which accept credits only on the basis of recognition by the association of American Universities, which is looked upon as the final authority. The last two Rhodes scholars, for example, sent from the University of Delaware to Oxford, Bayard and Gray Carter, had to take examination for admission there though they had degrees from this University. No graduate of this University hereafter will suffer that humiliation. His diploma will be accorded the same respect and honor as the diploma of the Harvard, Princeton, or Chicago graduates.

"Nothing could happen, it seems to me, that should give those interested in this University greater gratification than this recognition of its progress. The dearest aim of an institution of learning is, first, to do its work worthily, and, second, to be recognized as having done so, and as deserving a place of equality among the best."

Reviews Year's Work

Dr. Hullahen's report carried the reader back several years in the affairs of the University, and by briefly outlining various events which have occurred, traced the steady, healthy growth of the University. It was considered a very encouraging message to the Trustees, and every confidence is expressed therein that the progress so far noticed will continue.

The action of the Legislature in appropriating the full budget asked by the University and the authorization for the building of two new buildings at the Women's College was referred to by Dr. Hullahen when he said:

"The full appropriations requested for general maintenance and for buildings from the Legislature were granted when the appropriation bill was finally passed in April. In fact $6,000 more was granted than the board had asked for in its November revision of its budget. Through the influence of the agricultural interests of the State, $6,000 per year of the $10,000 suggested in the September budget for entomology and poultry was added to the amount appropriated for general maintenance, and $235,000 for a dormitory and a kitchen and dining-room at the Women's College.

Dr. Harter Gets Degree

If for nothing else, the action of the Trustees in awarding to Dr. George A. Harter the degree of Doctor of Laws was a happy event. For forty years he has given his best in loyalty, devotion and service to the little college, now grown big. He is still in the harness. Probably no member of the University family is known to more alumni than Dr. Harter; moreover, no man is held in higher esteem. The degree, which is purely an honorary one, was a token of the deep appreciation of his work and loyalty.

In conferring the degree, President Hullahen said: "In recognition of distinguished attainments in the field of Mathematics and Science, for long, faithful, and loyal service as teacher, executive, and counselor, and in the affectionate regard for you personally, the University of Delaware desires to show you such honor as lies in its power. To that end the Faculty and the Board of Trustees have voted that the degree of LL. D. be conferred upon you on this occasion.

"I congratulate you, Sir, and feel that the University is honored in honoring you." Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware, an educator, writer and sociologist, and under whose direction the Service Citizens has become one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the country, was also honored by the Doctor of Laws degree. Working hand in hand with the people of the State, Dr. Odell has formulated and put into operation a number of policies and programs which have been a factor in raising her educational standards. Dr. Hullahen, in conferring this degree said:

"In recognition of literary attainments and rare scholarship and of eminent and successful work in the field of practical sociology the Faculty and the Board of Trustees of the University have voted that the degree of LL. D. be conferred upon you on this occasion."

Still another feature of the exercises was the graduation of Francis Cummings, blind student, with high honors. Fresh from a year in the Foreign Study group abroad, Cummings returned last fall and sailed through his Senior year with consistently high grades. He was one of the best loved students on the campus, and his graduation, despite his heavy handicap, brought round of applause from the crowd.

Tribute To Dr. Hullahen

In the course of his announcements, President Henry B. Thompson of the Board of Trustees, paid a generous tribute to the energy and progressive work of Dr. Walter Hullahen at the completion of this, his fifth year at Delaware. In closing his reference to the president said:

"Dr. Hullahen, I want to thank you and I am quite sure every one who wishes for the life of the University, will join with me in this in saying that during the five-year period that you have been here you have rendered the University real service. You have shown great industry, great intelligence, and a driving initiative that has put us where we are today."

Although the academic procession was late in getting under way, many people drifted into the campus and took seats after the graduates had been seated. The procession started at the rear of Recitation Hall, at Old College steps, Dr. E. M. K. Foster, marshalling his last procession at Delaware, divided the column into the customary flanking lines, and the guests marched past and to their seats on the platform. Mr. Thompson and General Allen led the processions, followed by Governor Robinson and Dr. Hullahen, members of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Harter, ministers, the faculty of both colleges, candidates for graduate and undergraduate degrees, and those receiving teachers' diplomas.

Music for the procession was furnished by George Madden and a picked orchestra.

Program Lengthy

Due to the large number of candidates for degrees, the exercises were considerably longer than usual. They were opened by invocation by Father P. A. Brennan of St. John's Catholic Church here. Mr. Thompson then read his announcements, followed by General Allen's address. The deans of the various departments presented candidates for diplomas, which were awarded by Dr. Hullahen. Thirty-one men graduates received their commissions as 2nd Lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps from the Governor, following their swearing of the oath, led by Captain Sparks.

Dean George E. Dutton read the list of prizes and scholarships, always an interesting part of the program. As the winners were made public, the audience applauded.

The benediction was pronounced at the close of the exercises by Rev. Harvey W. Ewing, retired, of Newark.

Commencement Luncheon

Immediately following the Commencement exercises, the graduates, their parents and guests were given a luncheon in the main dining hall of Old College. The tables were filled and an overflow had to be taken care of in the small dining hall. General Allen spoke briefly at the luncheon as did President Hullahen and others.

Throughout the day an unmistakable spirit of progress in every activity was felt. The recent action of the Legislature in fulfilling the budget requirements for the next two years; the approval for the erecting of two new buildings at the Women's College; the acceptance of Delaware by the Association of American Universities—all these things, won after long hard battles, made the Commencement of 1925 worthy of more than usual interest. It marked a broad sweep of progress and a promise for a bigger and better University in years to come.

Just for the added pleasure it gives to swimming, a wool suit that dries in a few minutes on the beach should be insisted upon. And there's greater safety in wearing it—a lot less chance of resulting colds. These of white and color striped Jersey, and flannel trunks are very much in vogue.

And whereas the said James McMechan, Reynold Howell, William McCrea, William Eynon, William Armstrong and David Wilkin, with divers others, the proprietors of houses and lots of ground in and near the said town, have humbly besought our trusty and well beloved William Denny, Esq., with our royal approbation Lieutenant Governor of the counties aforesaid, under the Hon. Thomas Penn and Richard Penn Esquires, true and absolute proprietors of the province of Pennsylvania and counties aforesaid for our letters patent under the great seal of the government of the said counties for granting to the present and future inhabitants of the said town or village called Newark, the powers and privileges of having fairs yearly, and one weekly market there for the encouragement of trade and better accommodating and supplying the inhabitants thereof with provisions and other necessities. Therefore, know ye that we, favoring the petition and good purposes of the said James McMechan, Reynold Howell, William McCrea, William Eynon, William Armstrong and David Wilkin, and being willing to encourage trade and industry amongst all our subjects, and to promote as much as in us lies their welfare and utility, have of our special grace certain knowledge and meer motion granted and do by these presents for us, our heirs and successors, grant and ordain that the present and future inhabitants of the town aforesaid, called Newark, shall and may from henceforth forever hereafter hold and keep two fairs yearly at the said town called Newark, that is to say, on the third Thursday and Friday in the months of April and October, in every year, for the buying and selling of neat cattle, ozen, cows, horses, sheep and hogs, and all other goods, wares and commodities, and also a weekly market, to wit: on every Thursday, together with the free liberties, customs, profits, privileges and emoluments to the aforesaid fairs and markets belonging or in any way appertaining forever. And we do further grant for us, our heirs and successors, to the present and future inhabitants of the said town, and all other our liege subjects, that it shall and may be lawful for them to assemble themselves together at the said town called Newark, for holding the aforesaid fairs and weekly market on the respective days and times hereinbefore limited and appointed at such places within the said town as the inhabitants thereof from time to time shall appoint. And we do hereby further grant and ordain that David Wilkin, of the said town of Newark, shall be the first clerk of the market who, and all succeeding clerks of the market of the said town, shall have assize of bread, wine, beer, wood and other things, and to execute and perform all other things belonging to the office of clerks of the market within the said town. In testimony whereof we have caused these our letters patent, and the great seal of our said government to be hereunto affixed. Witness William Denny, Esq., with our royal approbation Lieutenant Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the province of Pennsylvania and counties aforesaid, this thirteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and in the thirty-first year of our reign." This is signed by William Denny and the great seal of the province of Pennsylvania is carefully affixed by a blue ribbon. Outside it is endorsed:

"Charter"

WILLIAM DENNY, ESQ., GOV'R, } For a fair and market
TO } in Newark, in the
JAMES McMACHEN, et al. } county of New Castle.
Recording, &c., 5-10.
Recorded in the Rolls Office at New Castle, in Book S, p. 357.
et. Given under my hand and seal this eighth day of June, 1758.
R'D W. WILLIAM, Recorder of Deeds.

A small seal is affixed to this endorsement. A very few peculiarities of spelling are noticeable in this old document, but not as many as one would suppose considering it was written before any authoritative dictionary had been published. For instance, hogs, cows, and meer (for mere), are all we notice, and we have copied it carefully verbatim et litteratim.

In 1772 "An Act for establishing a market in the town of Newark and for regulating the same," took effect. Section 2d of this act reads as follows: "And be it enacted by the Honorable Richard Penn, Esq., with his Majesty's royal approbation, Lieutenant Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex, upon Delaware and Province of Pennsylvania, by and with the advice and consent of the Representatives of the Freemen of the said counties in General Assembly met, and by the authority of the same, That from and after the publication of this act, there may and shall be two markets held weekly in the said town of Newark, to wit: on every Tuesday and Friday, forever, and on no other days whatsoever."

Section 3d provides that no person or persons whatsoever shall buy or sell provisions but in the market house on market days, fish, milk and bread excepted; the penalty being the forfeiture "both by buyer or seller of all such provisions so sold or bought, or the value thereof." The money raised by such penalties was collected by the clerk of the market and paid to the trustees of Newark Academy.

Section 4th punished the sale of poor or unsound meat.

Section 5th prohibited the killing of cattle, sheep, calves, or hogs in Academy Square, or the market house.

Section 6th provided for the punishment of the use of false weights in the sale of provisions.

Section 7th prohibited the hauling or carrying about the town of Newark, or exposing for sale any flesh meat on Monday or Thursday in each week, except in the months of June, July and August.

Section 8th was for preventing "frauds that may be committed by bakers of bread for sale in Newark," and provided that some mark, letter, or the name of the baker should be impressed upon each loaf for bread offered for sale.

Sections 9th, 10th and 11th prescribe the oath of office and the powers and duties of the clerk of the market.

Section 12th, which is given in full, describes the boundaries of the town; it reads:

"And for preventing all uncertainty and disputes that may arise touching or concerning the limits of the said town of Newark: Be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the lines and bounds hereinafter mentioned are and always hereafter shall be reported, deemed, allowed and taken to be the boundaries and limits thereof. That is to say, Beginning at the junction of the public roads, near an inn now known by the name of Saint Patrick, and extending thence along the road leading to New London township, in Chester county, to a small stream or run to the mouth thereof, where it empties into White Clay creek; and from thence down the said creek to the most easterly line of the land now of Doctor Samuel Platt; and by the lines of the said Samuel Platt, and of land now of James Simpson, to include the said lands within the said town, to the land now of David McMechan, and from the corner of the said James Simpson and David McMechan their land to the end of James Anderson's lane, and thence by a right line to the place of beginning."

The inn herein spoken of "known by the name of the sign of Saint Patrick" stood where the Deer Park hotel now stands. The boundaries of the town were larger than they are now; commencing at the Deer Park hotel, the line ran down the New London road to what is called Buggy Run, thence following this run to the mouth of it at White Clay creek; thence along that creek to the eastern-most line of what is now Mr. Samuel C. Finley's land, from Finley's land to some point upon Mr. William Home-wood's land, or possibly Professor Porter's, thence in a south-westerly direction to where a short road from the Elkton road comes into the depot road at the McCullough place; and from that point diagonally to Deer Park hotel, the place of beginning. At present, under the charter granted this town by the Delaware Legislature, February 21st, 1851, the limits are thus defined: "Beginning at the corner of lands now of Rathmell Wilson and Daniel Fields, on the road leading to Port Deposit, thence by the lands of the said Daniel Fields to the center of the road leading to New London township, in the State of Pennsylvania, thence by a straight line to the southeastern corner of the lot attached to the Methodist church; thence to a point in the west line of Samuel C. Finley's lands, four hundred feet north from the center of the present road leading through Newark to Wilmington, thence in a straight line to the southeast corner of lands of Elizabeth Thompson and Albert C. Lewis, thence along said Lewis' line to the southwest corner of George G. Evan's land on the Elkton road, thence in a straight line to the corner of land of Eliza Holtzbecker and John Whann, being in a line of land of the estate of Thomas Blandy, and from thence to the place of beginning." The old market house spoken of in the act of 1772 stood near the northeast corner of the academy yard, near where the Washington hotel now stands; very many years ago it was torn down and a new one to take its place has never been erected.

The commissioners under the new charter of 1851, to lay out the boundaries of the town, were John W. Evans, Isaac Ferris, Robert Ochiltree, Benjamin Caulk and John D. Turner. The boundaries made by this commission form very nearly the shape of a coffin.

Justification

Two highland farmers met on their way to church and one said: "Mon, I was wonderin' what ye will be askin' for yon bit sheep over at your steadin'?"

"Mon," replied the other, "I was thinkin' wad be wantin' 50 shillings for that sheep."

"I will take it at that," said the first, "but, oh, mon, I am afu' surprised at you doin' business on the Sawbath."

"Business," exclaimed the other. "Mon, sellin' a sheep like that for 50 shillin's is not business at all; it just charity."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Early Printing In America

Printing was first introduced into North America at Mexico by the Viceroy Mendoza in 1536. The first known typographer was John Cromberger, who in 1540 produced a number of books in Mexico City, Mexico. The oldest American book now extant is said to be the Manual de Adultos, dated 1540, but only the last four leaves of one copy of this work have been found and are in the library of the Cathedral of Toledo.

In English America, or the territory which is now the United States, the art of printing was introduced by Stephen Daye, who in 1639 set up a press at Cambridge, Mass. For this little printing office the colony was mainly indebted to the Rev. Jesse Glover, a nonconformist minister of England, although some gentlemen of Amsterdam also "gave towards furnishing of printing press with letters, forty-nine pounds and something more." The first work produced by Stephen Daye was "The Freeman's Oath," probably a single sheet, and the first book was the "Booke of Psalms," more familiarly known as the "Bay Psalm Book," and was printed 1640. Stephen Daye was not a good printer, and in the year 1649 he was succeeded by Samuel Green.

The first printer of Pennsylvania was William Bradford, who, in 1687, at his printing shop in Philadelphia, produced an almanac, and who afterwards printed a number of fine books. In 1693 Bradford moved to New York where he established a new printing office "at the sign of the Bible," (the historical site at 81 Pearl street which is now marked by a tablet.) This was the first print shop in New York and the only one in that territory for a period of thirty years.

The first type foundry in 1735 by Christopher Saur, but this was intended principally for the casting of German type. Not only was Saur a skilled type founder, but he was also an excellent printer. He printed in the German language the first quarto Bible in America, as well as many other valuable German books. His Bible had three editions in the years 1743, 1763, and 1776, the latter two editions by his son. In the year 1739 Saur also published a newspaper, and in 1764 he published the first religious magazine in America, "Das Geistliche Magazin."

Pomona Grange Holds Its 50th Anniversary

Harmony Members Host To County Organization In Stanton Thursday Last; No Special Program Noted

The fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of Pomona Grange of New Castle County was quietly celebrated on Thursday at Stanton, where Harmony members were hosts to their neighboring Grangers.

The attendance was unusually good despite the fact that this month is one of the busiest for the farmers, members of the grange. The social side of the anniversary will take place August 20 when the grange will hold a picnic. The committee in charge will be: George Ball, chairman; Worthy State Master Governor Robert P. Robinson, John Webster, William Moore and Frank Megginson. John McSparren, past master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, will be the speaker of the day.

The Grange went on record of having New Castle county established as a certified area county by subjecting the milk producing cows to examination as to the presence of tuberculosis.

Several members of the Grange, who on their own initiative had their cows examined, are satisfied with the procedure and expressed themselves as unwilling to go back to the old system. Sussex county has recently taken similar action.

Dean Charles A. McCue of the agricultural department of the University of Delaware gave a talk on agriculture.

The newly formed grange choir under the leadership of Mrs. Robert P. Robinson, furnished the singing for the meeting.

Miss Pauline Jochen gave a recitation on a "Minister's Vacation." Mrs. Lillian Dennison gave a recitation on "Planting the Moon," and Miss Margaret Cunningham recited "Johnny's" Interpretation on "Reading the Newspaper."

State Lecturer A. E. Evans delivered an address on "Vision."

After the usual business phase of the meeting resolutions were adopted thanking Harmony Grange for its hospitality. The grange also accepted an invitation from the Rose Hill Grange to meet there in September.

Reports show that the grange is in good standing with a membership of 726. Elihu Talley, of West Brandywine Grange who was present at the meeting 50 years ago, attended the meeting Thursday and recalled incidents which took place at the first meeting which was held in Wilmington.

2% OF THE EQUIPMENT

YOUR telephone contains more than 200 separate parts.

But it represents merely 2 per cent. of the equipment required in completing a call.

At the central office the operator—and on certain types of calls two or more are required—finds twenty-five things to be done in setting up and supervising the connection.

The equipment she brings into action, exclusively for each call, numbers 600 additional parts, aside from the two telephone instruments through which the caller and the called are brought "face to face."

These 600 parts are largely interdependent in their operation. None can go wrong without affecting the quality of the service. And they, just as the component parts of the telephone instrument itself, are responsive to the clear enunciation, in a moderate and even tone, of words spoken directly into the mouthpiece of the transmitter.

The maintenance of this unseen switching mechanism, subject to call on a moment's notice from any Bell telephone to twenty-five thousand other destinations in Delaware, is one of the most important functions of our Plant Department force.

TWO COLLEGE COUPLES ANNOUNCE MARRIAGES

Double Ceremony of Well Known Young People Held In November, 1924, In New York.

Two well known University couples announced their marriage on November 8th last in New York City, Monday afternoon at a party in the Delaware Tea House, in the presence of several young friends.

Miss Mary Brady and Humes Grier and Miss Helen Lucas and Edward Murphy slipped off last Fall to New York and were quietly married at a double ceremony. The secret was carefully kept until the close of the current college year. Both Mrs. Grier and Mrs. Murphy were graduated from the Women's College at Commencement Monday. A few hours later their marriages were announced.

Both Messrs. Grier and Murphy are Delaware graduates, being classmates in the 1924 group. They are both members of the Sigma Nu fraternity here.

All four of the young people took an active interest in the affairs of their respective colleges. The two brides were very popular at the Women's College. Mrs. Grier was chosen May Queen at this spring's festival. Both the grooms live in Milford, and it is likely all four will reside in that town.

A Business Asset

Did you ever notice that people who get ahead—do things—possess a keen clear vision? As a matter of fact, that's one big reason why they do outstrip their fellowmen. Keen vision is a big business asset. Some people have defective vision and Don't Know It. An examination of your eyes will determine their real condition.

Annual Banquet and Dance of Association Held Friday Evening In New School Building.

About 80 members of Newark High School's Alumni Association renewed old friendships of school days Friday evening at the annual dinner and dance of the Association, held in the new School on Academy street.

The dance was preceded by a delicious dinner served under the direction of Mrs. Buttles of the Blue Hen Tea Room. The menu consisted of grapefruit, veal cutlet with peas and new potatoes; olives, finger rolls, Waldorf salad with saltines, strawberry shortcake and coffee.

The menu and program folder was very attractive and included within its cover a picture of the new building as it now looks. The program makes an ideal souvenir of the occasion.

Elect Officers for 1926

During the business meeting, the principal item was the election of officers from a field previously named by a Nominating Committee. Henry F. Mote, local contractor, was chosen president of the Association for next year. Additional officers elected were: Vice-president, Edith O. Lewis; recording secretary, Hannah Lindell; corresponding secretary, Delena Leak, and treasurer, Irving Crow.

Following the short business meeting, the floor of the school gymnasium was cleared for dancing. Nearly all took part in the dance, which lasted until midnight. Johnny Ash's orchestra furnished the music.

Decorations for the party were most attractive and reflected great credit on the committee who handled the affair. Gorgeous peonies, roses, sweet williams and other summer blossoms formed the principal parts to the scheme.

The dinner-dance was handled by a committee consisting of last year's officers of the Association: Eugene Kennedy, Helen Steel, Edna Chambers, Mrs. Edna Chalmers Dickey and Annabel Jarmon.

Unloading Sale

STARTING TODAY!

We're overloaded with new Spring and Summer merchandise—bought in anticipation of seasonable weather conditions which have been several weeks late in starting. While a "cold, wet May may mean a barn full of hay" it did not help us as we anticipated.

Our policy of turning stocks rapidly is the "why and wherefore" of this remarkable mid-season unloading sale.

A rare saving opportunity for you if ever there was one. Hundreds and hundreds of seasonable ready to wear articles, yards and yards of quality piece goods, thousands of useful household necessities, notions, toilet articles—slashed and cut, regardless of cost—with just one object in view—to get our stocks down to normal as quickly as possible. It's your big saving opportunity—it comes just when weather conditions make it mean the most to you—come.

Buzzard Plunges Through Windshield

While four young men were returning home from a swim last Thursday evening, a full-grown buzzard suddenly plunged through the windshield of their car, smashing the shield to bits and painfully cutting two of the occupants.

The car was driven by Harry Balling of near Elk Mills. He was accompanied by George, Leonard and Howard Ash, all of Iron Hill.

The bird is said to have been perched in the roadway. As the car came close, it rose lazily. The slow start proved its undoing. After hurtling through the glass, the buzzard was found dead in the back seat of the car. Young Balling suffered a badly cut finger while one of his companions was cut about the head by flying glass.

CONTRIBUTOR'S COLUMN

CHILD LABOR

My happiest times have been in dreams.
In fairy-lands bedecked with flowers,
Sequestered vales where wand'ring
streams
Are limpid as a crystal's gleams
And not besmirched with oily steams
As are these streams of ours.

Along my streams the fairies play
In colors gay and bright;
Along our streams at break of day
Pale little somber children may
Be seen to stumble on their way
As though too short their night.

As captives to an ogre's hall
Wenry and wan they go,
To vast machines that rise and fall
In busy rows along the wall—
And little children tend them all
Because their wage is low.

The cost sheet is their winding band,
But by those streams of mine
(Those streams within that fairer land)
The fairies' children, hand in hand,
Run racing o'er the golden sand
And wreaths of flowers twine.

This world is not the happy place
The idle wealthy deem;
Their tiny unmissed share to those
Well published lists of donors goes,
But what about the awful woes
Of little slaves to steam?

Oh, would that on our rolling earth,
This ancient whirling sphere,
That every child could join that band
And play within that fairer land
And romp upon that golden sand—
Each blessed little dear!

There is no thing in all this world
Where thirst for gain beguiles,
To match that glimpse of paradise,
That little peep through Heaven's skies—
To match the laughter in the eyes
Of any child that smiles.

—P. F. du Pont.

Class Day Held Amid Beautiful Setting Here

Many Parents And Friends Of Women Graduates Enjoy Exercises Saturday Afternoon

In the cool depths of Red Men's Grove, one of the prettiest ceremonies incident to Commencement time here was held Saturday afternoon, when the Women's College graduates held their annual Class Day exercises.

The affair was witnessed by hundreds of parents, friends and alumnae of the college. The attractive summer gowns of the girls flashing in the beautiful old grove formed a most colorful picture.

The exercises opened on the campus of the college with the presentation of the class gift to the college by Marion Neide. It was formally accepted by Dean Robinson on behalf of the authorities.

Next the daisy chain ceremony was held on the campus.

Then came the procession of girls by classes, led by a marshal, across the campus to the Grove, where seats were arranged and well filled with guests.

The following program was rendered in the grove:

Class Song—Written by Catharine I. Dougherty.

Color Ceremony—Mary Kathryn Bradley.

Acceptance—Tacy Hurst. Song—Class of 1927.

Presentation of Cap and Gown—Madalin Wintrup.

Acceptance—Anner Moss Tyler. Alma Mater.

The class song by Miss Dougherty is as follows:

Four years! (And scarce a day).
The end? Ah yes, the end.
No! No!
The loss of petals to the rose
Is but a cue for Memory
And lo,
A haunting sweetness lives, to last
Beyond all ro-tine, ever on—
And so
With us . . . We go . . . Today . . .
Dear Delaware . . . Our love . . .
Kind Memory.

REV. CLASH ADDRESSES COLLEGE GRADUATES

Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday Morning Well Attended Despite Heat Wave; Solos Feature Services.

Sixty odd members of the graduating classes of the University attended the annual Baccalaureate sermon held in Wolf Hall Sunday morning last and were addressed by the Rev. Charles W. Clash, rector of Immanuel P. E. Church, Wilmington, himself a graduate of the College in 1906.

Rev. Clash delivered an inspiring sermon, stressing particularly the point of right living and thinking. He urged a closer fellowship with God among the young people. While the general theme was similar to other such sermons, Rev. Clash's attractive personality and earnestness held the attention of every one in the hall.

The services were preceded by an academic procession of graduates to Wolf Hall. The heat was stifling and the sun beat down mercilessly upon the capped and gown'd men and women. Several graduates were absent from the service, as were faculty members and commencement visitors. The atmosphere inside the building was a trifle better.

Two solos, by Miss Anne Lois Ritz and Professor George H. Ryden, were features of the services. Both were in fine voice and their selections were very pleasing.

President Hullahen presided at the services. Seated with him on the platform were the deans of the University, and members of the faculty and trustees.

At the close of the service, the graduates filed out while the audience remained seated.

COMMENCEMENT DANCE CLOSES COLLEGE YEAR

Despite the excessive heat, over two hundred young people attended the annual Farewell Hop given by the Junior Class in honor of the 1925 graduates on Monday evening. The dance was held in the Armory on Delaware avenue and brought to a close the Commencement season.

Music for the dance was furnished by George Madden's Delawareans. The approach to separations for the summer months for the undergraduates and the realization by the Seniors that it was their last college dance injected not a little sentiment into the affair, making it as usual, one of the high spots in the University's social calendar.

The decorations were of a simple nature, no attempt being made to cover the walls and ceiling of the drill hall. Between dances the floor was practically deserted. White flannels and coats were dominant notes in the men's attire. Later in the evening, however, the boys doffed their coats in deference to the heat.

The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. George E. Dutton, Mrs. W. H. Hullahen, Mrs. N. N. Wright, Mrs. F. M. K. Foster, Mrs. C. S. Rankin, Mrs. G. P. Paine, Miss Rachel Taylor and Dean Winifred J. Robinson.

State Baseball Title Series Ends In Mess

Local Aspirants Refuse To Play Caesar Rodney In Milford; Officials Up In Air Over Champion Team

The climax to a series of unfortunate incidents and to some degree, bad management, in connection with the solution of the D. I. A. A. baseball championship, came last week, when the play-off game between Caesar Rodney and Newark High schools was forfeited to the former team by reason of Newark's refusal to play the game in Milford.

Meanwhile, Harrington, undisputed champions of the southern half of the State is unable to play the title game for the very good reason that school there is closed, and the members of the team are busy at their summer work.

Briefly, the situation has become too much of a mess to straighten out this summer, and it is generally conceded that the 1925 champion team may be any one of the three one cares to choose. Certainly it will not be officially found this summer.

Nunn Surprised At Action
Coach Horace A. Nunn was surprised at the article appearing in a Wilmington paper Saturday evening, announcing the fact that Newark had lost the Caesar Rodney game by forfeit the previous day. He stated that he flatly refused to play the game at Milford when there were several other towns in a more central location. He said he suggested Middletown. W. H. Jump, of the Caesar Rodney staff, was in conversation late last week with Coach Nunn, and urged that the game be played in Milford. The sentiment among the High School set here strongly supported Coach Nunn's views, and the folly of journeying all the way to Milford for the battle was agreed on.

The D. I. A. A. handbook, that splendid volume which gives in detail how everything is to be done, regardless of heat or high water, denoted Saturday last as the date upon which the championship game between Harrington and the winner of the upper half bracket should be played. It failed, however, to allow for the very engaging pastime of protesting games, weather conditions, temperamental officials and trips to Washington.

With Saturday as the date and no opposition for Harrington as yet appearing on the horizon, the handbook lost its magic spell, and the officials of the D. I. A. A. their dignity.

Moreover, the base ball fans lost a good game, and somebody lost a cup or blue ribbon or whatever they give. 1925 is another year, and it is the hope of the majority of High School rooters here and elsewhere that the Executive Committee, Sergeant-at-Arms or Commander-in-Chief of the D. I. A. A. take their several notebooks and calendar and do a little figuring. It might also be a happy thought to insert in next year's D. I. A. A. testament, a new line, to read something like this:

"The championship game will be played on the first Saturday in June (1926) PROVIDENCE PERMITTING."

That ought to help a little.

HARMONY GRANGE

A well attended meeting was held in the Grange Hall Monday evening. During the meeting, the binder twice committee reported an order prepared which amounted to well over $260.

No meeting will be held next Monday night as the annual Red Clay festival occurs on that date. The next meeting will be held on the 22nd, at which time plans for Harmony's participation in the annual county field day will be discussed.

The meeting on the 22nd will be the last until August.

The Lecturer's program was short but extremely entertaining and pleasing. Mrs. Pearl Harrington opened the program with a piano solo and was encored. She responded with another pleasing number.

Mrs. Rita Woodward then offered a short talk on "Notes on Becoming Weather Wise." Included in the talk were many observations of sun, moon and wind, together with some old proverbs, which, if memorized, aid in foretelling the weather conditions.

The last number on the program was a series of jokes told amid great merriment by Mr. Hicks.

New Home Going Up

Foundation work and grading for the new residence for Walter A. Layfield, along Nottingham Road opposite the Country Club is progressing rapidly and it is expected that the house will be finished early in the fall. It lies well back from the road in the center of a large tract of land bought by Mr. Layfield at and since the auction sale there last Fall. When completed, it will be one of the most attractive homes in town.

WEST NOTTINGHAM HOLDS COMMENCEMENT

171st Anniversary of Founding of Old Academy In Cecil County Held Monday.

Old West Nottingham Academy, which, along with Newark Academy and New London Academy, formed a chain of important educational institutions in the early days of this section, celebrated its 171st anniversary on Monday at Colons, Cecil County.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached to the graduates Sunday night in West Nottingham Presbyterian Church. The commencement luncheon was held at noon, followed by a meeting of the Board of Trustees, at 2 o'clock. The Alumni reunion was held at 1 o'clock; Ladies' Auxiliary meeting at 3 o'clock; commencement dinner at 5.30 o'clock; commencement exercises at 8 o'clock. Prof. John G. Conner, of Trenton, a former headmaster delivered the address to the graduates. The trustees report that this year has been a splendid one for the Academy. A fifty per cent increase in enrollment is expected next school year, and two additions to the faculty are planned. The Presbyterian Board of Education has more than doubled its allotment over last year's.
