Boy Scouts Of Troop 55
Visit Recreation Grounds
Eleven Boy Scouts of Troop 55, Chestnut Hill Estates, went to the Newark Recreation Ass'n grounds recently with Asst. Scoutmaster Bill Peoples.

Meeting at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, at 7 p.m. the Scouts piled in Mr. Peoples' car and proceeded to the campgrounds.

The boys were divided into five groups and were given half an hour to gather wood and set up their fire area to see which fire would burn a rope suspended two feet from the ground.

Judges of this contest were Peoples and Senior Patrol Leader John Sterrett.

Kerry Mayer and John Burkert won first place honors; Jerry Hendricks and Ricky Thomas, second; Mike Luerich and Jack Hart, third; Richard Macy and Tom Plotts, fourth.

Other participants were David Gaher and Brad Geesaman. Sterrett, mixed biscuits which were baked in an oven Mr. Peoples invented.

Robert Williams Offers
Tips For Use Of Concrete
"If you are planning to build anything from a chicken house to a home, chances are you'll be using some concrete in it," declares Robert B. Williams, agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

But he points out that while concrete is one of our most popular building materials, it is also one of the most misused.

Use only clean and well-graded sand and gravel, and use only clean water to mix your concrete. Measure the amount of water for your concrete mix very carefully—the strength of the concrete depends directly on the amount of water used. Use only enough to make the mix workable and plastic.

Concrete Reefs To Better Fishing
There are good news for vacationers who are "bottom fishermen" in the Delaware State Development Department.
Last month, the first of two artificial fishing reefs, the first of its kind ever placed in Delaware coastal waters, was placed in the Indian River, a short distance south of Rehoboth Beach.
While this is in the nature of an experiment, it is assumed that fishing in the vicinity of these "reefs" will be much improved.
The University of Delaware Marine Laboratories working in cooperation with the Delaware Game and Fish Commission and the Delaware Fishing Institute initiated the present experiment, the placing of concrete reefs, consisting of 110-ton concrete culverts, on relatively barren areas of the ocean bottom.
Concrete was selected because artificial objects are not permitted by the state to be placed in the ocean. These reefs are being placed at regular intervals by biologists who are studying boats offer sea fishing for about six dollars a head (thus accounting for the term, "head boats"). These boats generally stock everything an angler will need including, of course, bait and tackle.

In addition to offering rental service on rods and reels, many of the bottom boats have snack and beverage facilities and some are even equipped with tiny lunch counters offering sandwiches, coffee, soft drinks and even seasick pills.
In season, these boats depart daily from the Indian River Inlet and from nearby Lewes, generally in the early morning hours, and are guided by experienced skippers to a pre-determined location, where they are then anchored.
This anchorage is generally over or near underwater obstructions (such as these "reefs") which attract small fish upon which larger fish feed. In turn, these larger fish are eagerly sought by the "bottom fishermen."
While most of the bottom boats schedule early morning trips, it is possible for late sleeping anglers to get in on the fun as some of the boats schedule fishing trips in the afternoon.

Teens' Pin Ball Tea Punch

Perk up the party after the game with a tailored-to-teens spread of refreshments. To restore vitality and give them a relaxing lift, have ready a zippy tea punch. The rest is up to them, with coconut marshmallow cookies to toast over the fire, frozen waffles to pop in the toaster and stacks and stacks of doughnuts.

Beat the let down and plain weariness that follows bowling, basketball or whatever. Plan a refreshing punch and snack party for your teenagers. It's such an easy way to entertain the gang at home because the work is mostly handled by them.

The physical and psychological life that, plain or fancy, can give is no myth. Since tea was introduced to the Western world some centuries ago, the fact has appeared in story, poem and song hundreds of times over, and tersely summed up by one of last year's Olympic games winners in one brief sentence: "Tea psyches me up."

Let your teens try it—even though you may have to move out of the living room for a Rock 'n' Roll session.

When they come tramping in, have a big bowl of tea punch waiting, along with a supply of coconut marshmallow cookies for toasting over the fire, frozen kaffees for the toaster, and stacks of doughnuts.

Pin Ball Tea Punch (Makes 10-12 servings) 2 quarts freshly drawn cold water

1/4 cup tea leaves, 15 teabags or 5 tablespoons instant tea 1 cup sugar 1 cup water 1/2 cup pineapple juice 2-inch cinnamon sticks 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind 2 teaspoons grated orange rind 1/2 cup orange juice 1/4 cup lemon juice

For tea leaves or teabags, bring 2 quarts of water to a full rolling boil. Pour over tea, cover and let brew three-to-five minutes; strain. For instant tea, merely dissolve in cold water. Combine sugar, 1 cup water, cinnamon and fruit rinds. Simmer 15 minutes. Add syrup and fruit juices to tea and chill thoroughly. Serve in punch bowl over ice cubes, or make pretty ice ring like this: Arrange seasonal or well drained frozen or canned fruit in a shallow layer of water in the bottom of a ring mold or angel food cake pan. Put in freezer until fruit pattern is frozen in place. Add more ice ring and return to freezer until entire ring is solid. Unmold by running a little water over bottom of pan.

Katharine Jones Advises Vacation For House, Too

While family members take their vacation, the house will get a vacation too, and M. Katharine Jones, home demonstration agent for New Castle County, offers these suggestions as a guide to pre-vacation cleaning.

Discard all old magazines and newspapers; launder throw rugs or send them to the cleaners; remove all accessories and trinkets from the mantel, shelves, and tables; arrange for someone to water the plants; and cancel newspaper and food deliveries for the time you'll be gone.

Make the beds with fresh linen; hang clean towels in bathroom and kitchen; and have a "first night home" meal ready in the refrigerator.

Turn off all electric or gas appliances and all water faucets and unplug the television set.

SIGHT-SEEING MONTH

In endorsing the observance of September as "Sight-Saving Month," Governor Elbert N. Carvel this week urged Delawareans to give their support "to those who seek constantly to unlock the mysteries of the diseases which cause blindness."

Local members of the show committee include Mrs. Rodney Eastburn, secretary; Dr. Charles Dunham and William Koch, scheduling; Mrs. Steven Barczewski and Mrs. Lewis, arrangements; Claude Phillips, classification; Mrs. Paul Bradley, registration; Mr. and Mrs. G. Taggart Evans, publicity; Mrs. Carl W. Simpson, hospitality; Col. Donald L. Dutton, judges; Dr. Lewis Kelsey and Robert F. Stevens, rose information; Hans J. Haack, tabulating.

Additional information may be obtained by writing or telephoning Mrs. Rodney Eastburn, Capitol Trail, Newark.

Tea For Mothers Planned Tuesday At Our Redeemer

Our Redeemer Lutheran Kindergarten will hold a tea for mothers of students next Tuesday, at 2 p.m. in the church fellowship hall.

Enrollment for the kindergarten has been closed, and 50 pupils have been registered—25 each for the morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, directress of the kindergarten, will conduct the program for mothers, presenting the schedule for the coming year, and describing in brief, activities planned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins, assistant, will be present to answer questions. The kindergarten will open with split classes on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6-7, and regular classes will begin Monday, Sept. 11.

LABOR DAY

In calling for a statewide observance of Monday, Sept. 4, as Labor Day, Governor Elbert N. Carvel this week praised the "skill, ingenuity and courage of the American worker and his determination to raise the standard of living for himself and his fellow workers."

He said, "have been major factors in providing the comfort, security and happiness we enjoy today."

ALL STARS

Newark is privileged to be the site of the annual Delaware High School Football Game played for the Delaware Association for Retarded Children.

On Saturday, for the sixth year, this stellar sports event will be offered at Delaware Stadium as 60 of the young athletes in the state compete as members of Blue and Gold squads with their theme "we play that we learn."

Bob Carpenter, Jim Williams, Al Cartwright, the and all adults who assist in making this annual football game the success that it is, we extend our appreciation.

To the 60 athletes who have given of their vacation's rigors of training for the Blue and Gold game, we will be out there this Saturday, giving their all in a victory and the aid of less privileged youngsters, personal physical injury with pending football school in September—our particular thanks and very best wishes.

AU REVOIR — MERCI!

These fine French young people from Newark's twin city, La Garde-Freinet leave us today to fly to their homes in the Atlantic after visiting in the homes of some very families here under the United Towns Organization.

and La Garde-Freinet may well be proud of their ambassadors—Chaperone Josette Infernet; Lydia Rene Salvestrini, Jean Pierre Courchet, and Roland All-Stars, too, who unfortunately have to leave before the Blue and Gold All-Stars play football at Delaware this Saturday.

As for coming to Newark, and we hope that each enjoyed your stay here as much as we enjoyed your God bless you!

Dutch Treat Picnic Held For Record NRA Staff

The Newark Recreation Association held its annual "Dutch Treat" staff picnic recently with Elizabeth Zane and Penny Hall co-chairman of the late afternoon event.

The staff, the largest the association has ever had, and guests comprised a total of 70, as playground directors, office personnel, life guards, umpires, and custodians had a feast of charcoal broiled hot dogs, hamburgers and the trimmings.

The NRA staff presented "going away tokens" to Stanley Francis and Edward Birch, directors.

A swim and some water polo topped off the evening.

Mother Of 4 Sons Jane C. Mitchell Dies At Age Of 33

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane C. Mitchell, 33, were held this afternoon in the Warwick Funeral Home, 121 West Park Place, Newark.

Mrs. Mitchell, Delaplane Avenue, Delaplane Manor, Newark, died in Philadelphia last Monday after a long illness.

Interment was in White Clay Creek Cemetery.

Friends called at the funeral home last evening from 7 to 9.

Mrs. Mitchell was born in Preston, Md., and had lived in the Newark area since 1959.

In addition to her husband, Emory J. Mitchell, she is survived by four sons, William, Edward, Stephen, and John, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cannon of Preston, and a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Simmons, also of Preston.

Katharine Jones Cautions

On Overloading Freezers
 Overloading your home freezer with unfrozen foods can be a dangerous habit, warns M. Katharine Jones, New Castle home demonstration agent, and lists these reasons for her warning.

Overloading makes it difficult to maintain temperature. Temperatures for freezing should be 0 degrees F. or colder. Too much unfrozen food in the freezer will raise the temperature of foods already stored there.

Overloading keeps new items from freezing quickly enough for top quality.

A good rule of thumb is one to two pounds of unfrozen food per cubic foot of freezer space.

If you have more than the recommended amounts, have the extra packages frozen at a central locker plant, and then store them at home, Miss Jones suggests.

BEACH BOOM

Bethany Beach, Fenwick Island, two southeastern Sussex County seaside communities lying between the larger and more publicized resorts of Rehoboth Beach and Ocean City, are presently experiencing small booms of their own, the Delaware State Development Department advises.

Rodeo Flight

 Cars were parked beside a kaleidoscope of junior fishermen at the spillway of Horsey's Pond at Laurel, and flying over the extensive green woodlands of Sussex County at Seaford where the Nanticoke crawled through a patchwork of green with the nylon plant, a golf course, and a baseball diamond featuring the topography, the flyers looked down with novelty upon the back of a buzzard far below.

At Griffith's Pond near Milford, the rodeo was very much in evidence, and the biggest crowd yet was observed at Moore's Lake near Dover, after a stealthy approach with an eye to other aerial traffic over the air base.

At Smyrna, where the Delaware Bay funneled down suddenly into the Delaware River with Jersey just across the way, the throngs of young anglers were trying their luck at Lake Como, and flying over Noxontown Pond with St. Andrew's School a striking granite, gray landmark on the west shore, the plane flew over the rodeo at neighboring Silver Lake.

Flying over the canal, with Lum's Pond, the largest fresh water body in the state, just below, and the twin State Ponds just to the east, the largest crowd of the day was observed at Beck's Pond near Newark — along with adult anglers at work from boats offshore.

Flying over the Ferris pond, Godsey suddenly realized that he had missed Stanley's Pond at Newark, and Emory King obligingly banked and reversed his course to where a horde of youngsters was observed fishing away at Harold Stanley's private pond in Delaplane Manor.

Back on course again, Pilot King flew over Wilmington, and after an eastward pass over the Brandywine Park fishing site where the young anglers were obscured by the trees on the north shore, came back west again, low along the south bank, where his passengers saw the stream lined with rodeo contestants.

Northeast again toward Edgemoor and Shellpot Creek, where the youngsters were observed fishing just off the Delaware River, and then Emory King settled back for the easy ride home—down the river and bay shoreline to Lewes.

Delaware City, Port Penn, Bayview, Woodland Beach, Bombay Hook, Kitts Hummock, Bowers, Stone Beach, Mispillion, Broadkill—all passed beneath the blue wings of the Cessna, and offshore at Slaughter's beach, a hundred or more boats were observed bottom fishing on the broad surface of the bay.

They flew over a pair of old abandoned fortifications — Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island, which appeared like a new installation, geometrically precise from the air, and over Fort Salisbury, far downstate, where a great heap of junked cars marked the abandoned gun emplacements.

And at Lewes, the Navy's reactivation of the Army's Fort Miles was most apparent.

Circling low over Lake Gerar at Rehoboth, Pilot King buzzed the ocean beachfront near the Indian River Inlet, where surf fishing companions of the afternoon—12-year-old John Dollins and the 13-year-old son of an aerial observer, were fishing with Chesapeake Bay Buck, a big brown retriever, and then Emory King landed safely at the Rehoboth Airport where Mrs. Godsey was waiting patiently beside the landing strip.

"Three years, eight months, and 25 days," Emory King replied regarding his length of service as an

Sylvia P. Jones, Correspondent
Phone: EA 8-7413

New pupils may be registered any morning from 9 o'clock until noon at the Christiana-Salem School, Principal Sidney McClain has announced. All registrations should be completed before the first day of school, Sept. 7.

An officer of the Christiana-Salem PTA and Mr. McClain will represent the school at the luncheon for new teachers to be held on Aug. 31 in the Newark Methodist Church.

under the sponsorship of the Newark Council of PTA's. New teachers succeeding Mrs. Lucille Forbes and Mrs. Jacqueline Wileman, will be introduced.

The Christiana Volunteer Fire Company was host to the monthly meeting of the New Castle County Volunteer Firemen's Association in the firehouse last Wednesday evening. Clarence A. Schwatka, Jr., was nominated for the office of second vice-president of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The Rev. Donald Archibald of the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church will conduct worship service at the Christiana church this Sunday. The Rev. R. F. Coon will return to the pulpit on Sept. 3, when Sunday School classes will also be resumed.

Layman Carroll Mumford will speak Sunday morning at the Christiana Methodist Church. Donald McLaughlin, a member of the church choir, was heard in a solo last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard M. Davis, Pleasantville, are on a camping trip in New England.

DENZLER RESIGNS

Robert C. Denzler, assistant managing director of Group Hospital Service, Inc., has accepted the position of executive director of the Richmond (Va.) Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. Denzler's resignation from the Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan is effective Sept. 15.

Pleasantville, are on a camping trip in New England.

Debbie Kee, East Main Street, spent last week at Rehoboth Beach. Ellen Coon has been ill with an ear infection at her home in Hillside Heights.

Nichol, Mrs. Calvin Crossan, Mrs. Wilson Lysie, Mrs. John Haslam, Mrs. Lowell Huffman, and Mrs. Harry Tryens.

Teen-Agers Encouraged To Drink Milk At Parties

Serve milk drinks at your next party for teen-agers, suggests M. Katharine Jones, New Castle County home demonstration agent.

Sociability and the foods that go with it are important to teen-agers and young adults, she points out. Most teen-agers realize the need for drinking milk at mealtime, but somehow overlook it as a social beverage.

A wide variety of milkshakes lend themselves to a party. Milkshakes, made with or without ice cream, can be flavored and made to look festive.

"Our new equipment will safeguard Savings Fund depositors from forgery"

First in any bank in the world, RCA's SignaGuard also greatly reduces window waiting and improves our service.

"We are always on the alert," states Thomas Tatnall, President of Wilmington Savings Fund Society, "to provide the very best protection for savings entrusted to us by the people of Wilmington. SignaGuard enables the teller to verify a signature with certainty. This ingenious system not only does this, but substantially reduces waiting time. The teller can verify in a fraction of the time formerly needed, then finish the transaction quickly without leaving his window."

"We have our new equipment installed now... change-over to the new system will be quite simple. On his next regular visit, each depositor will be asked to present his passbook for coding. This will take only a few minutes. And, of course, every new depositor will be similarly protected as he opens his account. The RCA system will be used not only at our main office but at all three of our branches."

"We are the first in Wilmington—in the world for that matter—to use SignaGuard. And what of the future? We will continue to take such steps in modern banking which provide speed and efficiency, and which offer our growing family of customers better service and more convenience."

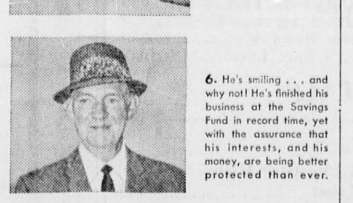

"Take a few moments to look at the pictures and captions below... they will tell you just how SignaGuard works. Still better, stop in at any of our four offices for a demonstration."

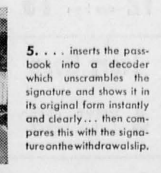

1. SignaGuard is a product of the Radio Corporation of America and was developed by their Electronic Data Processing Division. This unit is the master encoder.

2. The depositor is asked to present his passbook for coding. (This is done only once.) His signature, on a card, is inserted into the encoder which "scrambles" this signature.

4. When making a withdrawal, the customer presents his passbook, with the coded signature, to the teller. The teller is able to complete the transaction without leaving her window. She merely...

5. ... inserts the passbook into a decoder which unscrambles the signature and shows it in its original form instantly and clearly... then compares this with the signature on the withdrawal slip.

6. He's smiling... and why not! He's finished his business at the Savings Fund in record time, yet with the assurance that his interests, and his money, are being better protected than ever.

Auto Accident On Rt. 896 Causes Fractured Ankle

Constance Kay Williams, 20, of Nottingham, Pa., suffered a fractured ankle Sunday in an accident on Route 896, south of Newark.

Police at State Road report that a vehicle operated by Jon W. Lupton, 26, of New Castle, was stopped to make a left turn onto County Route 400 when his vehicle was hit in the rear by a car driven by Joseph E. Burns, 22, Elkton.

Miss Williams, a passenger in the Burns vehicle, was taken to Elkton Hospital in a New Castle County ambulance, treated and released.

Soybean Champs Compare Notes

Sudler J. Wilson, champion soybean producer of Delaware, and Newton Hampton, North Carolina state champ, discuss the importance of soybean production in the two states.

Wilson produced 51 bushels per acre of high quality beans to become the Delaware champion. Hampton grew 51.68 bushels per acre to earn his crown.

Hampton accompanied several North Carolina soybean producers touring Delaware recently to study production techniques. Both states have shown increases in soybean production during recent years. In 1954, Delaware farmers grew 80,000 acres. This year over 200,000 acres are devoted to soybeans.

This 250 per cent increase in seven years means soybeans are becoming a leading cash crop in Delaware.

Williams Scores Tie-Breaking Goal In Sunday's Polo

The final match of the United States Polo Association's Southeastern 12-goal tournament will be played at 3 p.m. this Sunday at Brandywine Polo Club near Kennett Square, Pa.

The tournament's opening elimination match this Friday at 6 p.m. on the outdoor field, pits Brandywine against the Oxford Royals. The winner will oppose Goose Creek (Va.) Polo Club in the final.

Last Sunday, Harley Williams registered a tie-breaking goal, and Jack Elmer, replacing George Weymouth in the Brandywine lineup, added an insurance marker in the final minute, to give Brandywine a 9-7 win over Los Rancheros.

Dr. J. A. Torello, who suffered a deep laceration of the lip when struck with a flying ball, was able to continue after a five-minute time-out and completed the important match.

The Gerald Bolding Memorial Eight-Goal Tournament will get underway next Monday and the Tar Baby Consolation begins next Wednesday with the finals slated for Sunday, Sept. 3.

Kenneth Wilson Selected Farm Business Panelist

Kenneth Wilson, Newark, has been selected to take part in the 1961 youth program of the 33rd annual national farm business conference of the American Institute of Cooperation at the University of Minnesota, Aug. 20-23.

He was named to serve as a panelist discussing "Opportunities for Future Leadership in Cooperatives."

Theme of the three-day meeting was "New Frontiers for Cooperatives."

The institute is chartered as a "university" in Washington, D.C. and is the educational and research organization for farmer cooperatives. It meets each summer on the campus of a land-grant college.

Bow Benders Plan For Championship Archery Tourney

A field archery tournament to determine Delaware state champions will be conducted by the Delaware Bow Benders Club on the NFAA-approved range off Newark and Broadrun roads, Hockessin, on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 2-3. Trophies will be awarded in each class, including women, intermediates, and juniors, and advance registrations offered at reduced fees may be made by Aug. 26. Further information may be obtained from Secretary Ed Hinton, 1 Mattei Lane, Brookside.

Championship requirements are limited to Delaware residents, but non-residents may compete for class trophies.

The four 28-target events include a field round beginning at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 2, with black and white circles; and a 1 p.m. hunter round with black targets and white bullseyes.

On Sunday at 10 a.m., the first event will feature the animal round with concentric circle animal targets, and at 1 p.m., there will be a broadhead round with killing area scores on animal targets.

lights on the far, Western Shore, with some announced logic that "there has to be a lee shore over there."

And we found it, just off the Rose-Haven Yacht Club, in a cove where the three-man crew aboard the Young Un III spent a pleasant night.

Our stop at the Rose-Haven Yacht Club for gas the next morning had nothing to do with the letter that showed up in the editor's mail the following week, announcing that the second annual Rose-Haven Fishing Carnival and Mardi Gras will be held Sept. 1-4, with a fishing contest, boat parade, water shows and races in the Rose-Haven Olympic pool; crab races, and a beauty pageant.

said, "down below here, just off the naval station." And the trio from Newark brightened visibly at this bit of information.

It began to rain as we left the Rose-Haven marina, and in the miserable mist as we groped our way south down the Western Shore toward the Patuxent, we had almost forgotten about rock when a school of striped bass slashed the gray water amid a school of alewives beneath a shrieking swarm of terns and a sheet of rain.

"Rock!" we shouted in chorus with Francis Neide and Mr. Young, and as Gibby scrambled up the ladder to the flying bridge, his two companions broke out fishing tackle with a pair of long Calcuttas trolling bucktails and feathers, and a pair of boat rods with small spoons.

Rain was forgotten as a pan-sized rock surged into a feather trailing from the portside Calcutta outrigger, and its double struck hard at a boat rod spoon.

We caught eight rockfish weighing from one to two and a half-pounds before the action tapered off, and not another fish showed after we left the naval station until late that afternoon when we saw carp jumping in the shallows of the Patuxent above Benedict where the great, broad, blue expanse of water at Solomon's Island had narrowed down to a green-brown, inland river.

At Watson's Landing, where the dirt road from Clyde Watson's tobacco land terminated at an abandoned steamboat wharf, we took aboard Clyde and his two sons Phil and Russell for a fish fry and a night on the water, anchored just off Benedict.

Next morning, early, with quail whistling from the shoreline to bring a gleam to the bird-hunting Watson sportsmen's eyes, we cruised back down the Patuxent, and off Solomon's Island Phil and Russ Watson, with an assist from Dad, showed their Delaware visitors how to catch bluefish, trolling with half-pound weights and pairs of bucktails on long, long leaders.

Phil turned his rod over to Neide, and Francis promptly latched onto a bluefish doubleheader.

Back at Watson's Landing that afternoon, we toured the tobacco farms while enjoying real southern hospitality, and Gibby took his namesake — young Uncle Gibbons Young — and a bevy of comely cousins for a boat ride on the Patuxent. After a splendid supper ashore, we left some mighty fine people to anchor after dark just off Point Patience near the mouth of the river where we had caught our first salt water fish—some beautiful hardheads—two many years ago. A quick pair of eels terminated this night's bottom fishing.

After catching one small blue, trolling off Drum Point the next morning, we battled a strong headwind all the way up to the Point at the mouth of the river.

Gulls and rock were over great schools of herring between Love Point and the calm of early morning, which hasten an appointed arrival back home at dawn.
