AAUW POLL
ASKS VALUE
OF COLLEGE
EDUCATIONNewark Members
Asked To Gauge
Worth Of College
In Later Career

Members of the Newark Branch of the American Association of University Women are participating this week in a nationwide poll to evaluate college education for women in the light of post-college experience.

"In what way do you feel that your college education is of value in your life today?" is the significant question asked of all AAUW members in a questionnaire which local members are now filling out in response to a request from the AAUW National Education Committee. The AAUW members are also asked, in the light of their subsequent careers as homemakers or business or professional women, to make suggestions for improvements or changes in present-day college training for women.

In view of the efforts now being made to fit education more fully into the needs of society, the AAUW survey seeks first-hand opinions and suggestions from the association's more than 100,000 college-trained women members. This is the largest organized group of women graduates of accredited colleges in this country, and the AAUW survey is expected to yield significant findings in the field of higher education. An analysis of the completed questionnaires will be, the committee believes, of particular value to those concerned with the guidance of women students and to college administrators who are planning curricula for them.

Members of the Newark Branch who have mailed their questionnaires to the national headquarters in Washington are requested to notify Mrs. Frederick B. Kutz at Newark 2356.

Frank Sommer will speak on "Life in an English University Today" at the general meeting of the Newark Branch of the A. A. U. W. to be held in Warner Hall on Monday, November 22. Mr. Sommer, who is a member of the sociology and art faculties of the University of Delaware, is curator of the Delaware Archeological Society and studied at Oxford during the past year.

The following study group meetings are slated for the coming week:

The social studies group will meet on Monday, November 15, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Wm. H. Fisher, 49 E. Delaware Avenue. Mrs. T. D. Mylrea will speak on the work of the Women's Joint Legislative Council, and Mrs. W. O. Skold will discuss public welfare agencies in Delaware.

The book group will meet on Wednesday, November 17 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Foster, 317 E. Main St. Mrs. John Crary will review "The Sound of Charities."

OUTLOOK ON PEACE WILL BE DISCUSSEDNoted Lecturer To Speak At School;
Public Is Invited

First hand information on the possibility for peace in Europe will be offered Newark High students and the general public in a talk by C. E. Ramsey, world traveler and school lecturer, at a special assembly next Wednesday at 8:45 a. m. in the auditorium. Mr. Ramsey recently completed a tour of Western Europe, and the Balkan area. He made a special effort to observe the influence of Communism in countries outside of Russia. In Italy he lived for a time in caves and slum regions to observe directly the activities of Communists.

Mr. Ramsey, a great personal friend of F. D. Roosevelt, former Superintendent of Schools here, has addressed local students many times. His talks have always proved highly interesting and informative. In his last lecture here some years ago, he accurately predicted the growing influence of Russia in European politics.

The general public is especially urged to attend the lecture, which promises to be an authoritative review of the current international situation.

NHS Senior Class Play Is Set For 2-Day Run Next Week

Virginia Wells, left, as Cornelia Otis Skinner and Joy Murray as Emily Kimbrough in a scene from "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," to be given next week by the Senior Class at the Newark High School.

A hilarious two hours is promised for local play-goers next Thursday and Friday, when the Class of 1948 at the Newark High School presents "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." The curtain will be at 8:15 each evening.

The comedy, a dramatization of the book by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, describes the up-roarious adventures of the two girls trying to appear "mature and cosmopolitan" on a trip to Europe. The production is under the direction of Miss Ann M. Stauter.

In addition to Miss Wells and Miss Murray, the cast includes: Robert Evans as Stewart; Lorraine Robinson, Mrs. Skinner; Lorraine Robinson, Mrs. Skinner; Dick Wollaston, purser; Anne Beyerlein, stewardess; Carl Wolf; Dick Winters; Tom Martin, admiral; Elliott Ritchie, Harriet St. John; Joan Pickett, Winifred Blough; Arthur Mayer, Leo McEvoy; Helen Morgan, inspector.

Fast Action By Police
Credited With Saving
Life Of Two-Year-Old

Choking on a piece of apple is usually just inconvenient, but when the victim is only two years old and the apple becomes lodged in the top of the throat where it can neither be swallowed nor coughed up, the results can be serious.

A near tragedy of this sort occurred here recently, and the happy ending was provided only through the prompt action of Police Sgt. Leroy C. Hill, Sr. and George Neighbors of the Aetna Company.

A rush call for the town ambulance brought the two to the home of Mrs. Hugh C. Gullede, 205 Haines Street, where they found her small son, Hugh, Jr., purple and stifling from a bite of apple which he had somehow taken when his mother wasn't looking. Mrs. Gullede was attempting to give him artificial respiration.

Mr. Neighbors picked up the child by its feet, while Sgt. Hill smacked it sharply between the shoulder blades. This, fortunately, was sufficient to dislodge the apple, part of which the child managed to swallow and rest cough up. An X-ray later showed the child was uninjured.

The incident would not have come to light except for a letter of gratitude by Mrs. Gullede which was read at a recent Council meeting. After thanking Sgt. Hill and Mr. Neighbors for virtually saving the child's life, she said, "I'm sure every mother in Newark would feel reassured if they knew such help was at hand."

Opening Of Bids On
New School Postponed

Opening of bids on the construction of Newark's elementary school has been postponed until December 8. Supt. Wilmer E. Shue announced this week.

The date was originally November 10 and was pushed back due to the fact that the building trades of the state are currently negotiating for a new wage contract.

Evelyn Klahr, Therese; Esther Fouracre, Madame Elise; Arne Thuresson, Monsieur de Lacroix; Meredith Thomas, window cleaner.

Stage assistants are: Nancy Conte, Joan Pickett, prompters; Eugene Kelleveva, art and technical director; Nancy Conte, make-up; Nicky Williams, Arthur Johnson, stage managers; Miss Gallaher, properties and costumes; George Nickle, business manager; Mrs. Mabel Overby, publicity; Raymond Justin, house manager; Ernest Wilder, orchestra; Reginald Rockwell, player piano.

Acknowledgement for contributions of time and money go to the following: Miss Dorothea Keller, Wilmington Drama League, for her work on costumes; David Poffenberger for photographs; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton, for the player piano; Emerson Johnson, who donated the tickets; and Oscar Trivits, who provided the programs.

Four Fire Calls In Town Past Month

Only four fire calls were sounded in town the past month and no property damage was reported, according to Charles E. Moore, fire recorder for the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company.

The volunteers answered two more calls in the district for fires causing about $500 in property damage. Twenty-three ambulance calls were answered, and the vehicle covered 869 miles.

Only alarm here the past week came from outside of the district when the aetna men were summoned to the Henderson farm at Barksdale, Md. The blaze caused $4,000 loss to the barn.

NHS Youth Wins State Award In
Fisher Crafts Model Car Contest

Vaughn P. Fox, 16-year-old junior at the Newark High School, who took first in Delaware in the model car contest sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsman Guild, was recently awarded $150 for his balsa wood, hand-fashioned model of the "Car of the Future."

Vaughn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Fox, of near Newark, was first in the juvenile division of the contest in Delaware last summer, and this week received the award.

His car entry was returned to him at the same time. The state contest was a phase of the competition held by the guild throughout the northern seaboard.

The model's design is Vaughn's own creation and represents his conception of how the car of the future will look. The sleek, long-curved model is the result of six months of spare time work by the youth both in the school shop and at home. Vaughn started with a block of balsa wood purchased by himself and spent hours of painstaking labor after he had drawn the first sketches.

Last Public Hearing On
Zone Law Set For Nov. 30Final Open Meet
On Long Proposed
Ordinance Is Planned

The second and final public hearing on the proposed town zoning law will be held Tuesday, November 30, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Newark High School.

The date was set at a special meeting of the Town Council last Thursday evening, when the lawmakers reviewed the new version of the zoning ordinance recently completed by F. A. Wheelless and his commission.

Copies of this draft, revised as a result of the first public hearing held about two years ago, have been printed in booklet form and are available to the public at the Council offices.

A plan to distribute them throughout the town either by mailing or door to door delivery by local boy scouts is being considered.

The open hearing on November 30 will offer local residents their final opportunity to suggest changes and revisions to the zoning draft. After the meeting, Council will put the final touches on the proposed ordinance, probably incorporating changes brought forth at the hearing, and then the lawmakers will be free to pass the long planned civic measure into law.

Mayor Ford H. McBERTY will preside at the hearing and lead the discussion. After touching briefly on the objectives of zoning and its limitations as well as the legal procedure for adoption, he plans to outline the draft as it now stands, pointing out the latest changes, then throwing the meeting open to questions from the floor.

The original draft of the local zoning ordinance, drawn up by experts on community government at the University of Pennsylvania, drew forth a storm of protests at the first public hearing over two years ago. Since then, a local commission under Mr. Wheelless has worked on revising the bill. It is now believed that most of the objections have been eliminated and a far more favorable reception is expected for the measure at the coming hearing.

Newark Soroptimists
Elect Vice-President

Miss Adeline Hoffman, extension clothing specialist from the University of Delaware, was elected vice-president of the Soroptimist Club of Newark at a luncheon meeting, Nov. 9. Miss Hoffman fills the vacancy created when Mrs. Edna McMullen recently took over duties of president.

Miss Helen Barben, Newark, was installed as a new member. The invitation to attend a Thanksgiving party of the Oxford Soroptimist Club at the Red Rose Inn, Nov. 15, was accepted by Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. Anne Longenbach, Miss Edna Campbell, Mrs. Selena Bing and Miss Virginia Kirkpatrick.

Several foreign students at the University of Delaware will present the program at the next meeting, Nov. 23, according to the program chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Patterson.

V. F. W. Plans Annual
"Little Joe" Banquet

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold their "Little Joe" Banquet next Thursday at 8:30 p. m. in the post home on the Barksdale Road.

All post and social members are invited and may bring one guest. The dinner is financed by small donations placed throughout the year in "Little Joe," a momento of World War I brought home by one of the members.

The Thomas Cooper Auxiliary operates in staging the affair.

Vaughn P. Fox

The youth, who will graduate here in 1950, plans to become a mechanical engineer.

To Address Clubicomen

Dr. Thomas J. S. Heim

An illustrated lecture on "The Homes of the American Presidents" will form the program of the Newark New Century Club for its next meeting at 2 p. m. on November 15.

Dr. Thomas J. S. Heim, professor of history and social studies at West Chester State Teachers' College, will be the speaker and will present part of his large collection of Kodachrome slides, Research on the American presidents and their birthplaces has been Dr. Heim's hobby for some years and he is a well-known speaker on the subject.

Dr. Heim's appearance has been arranged by the American citizenship committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. W. Heim. Other members of the committee are Mrs. J. H. Dickey, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Leon Gilmore, Mrs. Leon Case, Mrs. Nelson Clark, Mrs. Robert Mattison, Mrs. Robert Duener, and Mrs. Harvey Bounds.

Mrs. W. Floyd Jackson will present a program of musical numbers. Mrs. Harry Bonham will be hostess.

E-52 PLAY
WILL OPEN
NEXT WEEKMaxwell Anderson
Drama Will Start
3-Day Run Thurs.

"Mary of Scotland," first major production of the season for the University of Delaware's E-52 Players, will open at Mitchell Hall, at 8:15 p. m. on Thursday, and will continue its run on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Because of the unusually enthusiastic advance reception for "Mary of Scotland," the Players are presenting the drama by Maxwell Anderson on Saturday as well as the customary Thursday and Friday performances.

Title role is played by Margaret Guenver, and others in top parts are Howard Hitchens, as the Earl of Bothwell; Verda Vane, as Queen Elizabeth; and William Wheabee, as Lord Burgley.

The cast also includes two of Newark's University Drama Group veterans as "guest actors"—G. Taggart Evans, who will be in his fourth such E-52 part; and E. C. Mahanna.

The director is Thomas B. Pegg of the university's dramatic arts faculty, and he is assisted by Spofford Beadle.

Pleasant Valley Votes
For School Merger Plan

A proposal to consolidate the Pleasant Valley School with the Newark Special District was approved by the voters of Iron Hill in a referendum last Saturday.

The count was 71 for and 28 against consolidation with seven ballots discarded.

The vote will not change the situation at Pleasant Valley since before consolidation can become effective Newark voters will have to approve the merger through a referendum here. No date has been set for the latter vote.

WATCHTOWER SPEAKER HERE

W. Johnston, representative of the Watchtower Society, will discuss "Who Are God's Ministers?" in a talk on Sunday at 3 p. m. at Fraternal Hall, 154 East Main Street.

The program, which is being sponsored by the Newark Company of Jehovah's Witnesses, is open to the public.

EDUCATION
WEEK BEING MARKED BY
NHS PUPILSWork In Various
English Classes
Is Reviewed By Faculty Members

The response by parents and the general public to the "open house" held Tuesday through Thursday at the Newark Schools in observance of American Education Week, was gratifying, according to school officials.

Visitors inspected classes and attended special assemblies staged by various grades. Most went away with a new appreciation of what modern education is trying to accomplish and the methods used to achieve its ends.

In connection with the observance, a review of just what is now being done in various classes at the junior-senior high school has been compiled by a number of faculty members.

Following are some facts on what is currently being stressed in ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade English classes.

Ninth grade: "The units are now studying parts of speech, laying the foundation for future high school English as well as work in Latin. The fundamentals of sentence structure are now being mastered. The idea of modifiers, such as adjectives and adverbs, is the next step in building toward an understanding of the sentence."

Tenth Grade: "The classes are using the simple sentence as an instrument in the expression of thought. They are learning to identify the basic part of the sentence and its subordinate elements. The students are concerned with two immediate problems both of which are means to better expression and comprehension of thought in writing, speaking and reading. First they must learn by practice and second by joint class discussion to say clearly what they wish to say. The tenth grade classes are also concerned with the problem of spelling. They are working with a list of misspellings common among college freshmen prepared by the University of Delaware."

Eleventh Grade: "These groups are applying language principles acquired in past school experience. The emphasis is on clarifying hazy concepts as well as mastering those missing from their experience. The competitive spirit runs high in the classes, with students correcting each other wherever possible. Three things contribute to success in the course: correcting hazy notions about language principles, acquiring new language principles and vigorously participating in the class work."

Twelfth Grade: "These classes in academic English are learning to see what Shakespeare can say through the characters of Macbeth. They are becoming more aware of the way in which reading problems affect the enjoyment of the play. They are beginning to see (Please Turn to Page 9)

Newark Gridders Take First In State Championships Series; Captain Hopkins Stars

From Issue of November 14, 1923

Championship Game

The last of the series of crucial games by the high school football team of Delaware resulted in a victory Friday afternoon, when the Gridders defeated the Dover High, champions of all Delaware schools.

The Gridders, who have won the last three games, were the local attack in one of the most exciting games seen on the local scene. The score, 20-23, remains as the Gridders to a goal after touchdown by M. Hopkins.

Prominent Citizen Dies

After an illness of but three weeks, following a gradual decline in health for the past year, Harry N. Reed, one of Newark's prominent and useful citizens, passed away in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Tuesday morning. He was 78 years of age.

The deceased, always active in local affairs, had a host of friends in the community. Of quite disposition, yet full of fun and with a glad word for all, he was easily one of the town's best-loved citizens.

Surprise Wedding

A quiet wedding of two young people took place at the home of the Rev. John McElmoyle, of Elkton, Saturday when Miss Elizabeth Taylor, of Elkton, and Mr. Ralph Robinson, of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, Newark, were married in the presence of but two or three witnesses.

Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Christiana Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon when Miss Ethel Mae Teague, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Teague, of near Newark, became the bride of Mr. Carl W. Feucht. The couple reside on a farm near Elkton.

Personals

Frank Mackey, well-known young student of Newark, and an expert in the making of paper and fibre products, is spending a few days in town preparatory to leaving for Birmingham, England, where he will spend seven weeks as a consulting engineer in a large fibre mill.

Professor George L. Schuster, of the School of Agriculture of the University, is in Chicago, attending a meeting of the American Agronomy Society.

A small touring car loaded with 25 baskets of apples collided with a coupe driven by Mrs. Charles B. Evans at noon last Friday at the corner of Main and South College Avenue. Neither car was damaged by the collision.

Miss Catherine Townsend entertained about thirty young people at a delightful house dance at the Townsend home last Friday. The guests included many here for the Dover-Newark High game.

Miss Emma Pie, of Philadelphia, was a week-end visitor in Newark as a guest of her sister, Miss Rosalie Pie.

Mrs. Walt Steel was a visitor with relatives in Philadelphia for several days last week.

George Jarmon spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Jarmon, at Berlin, Md.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR CHILD'S TEACHER?

While your children are "school-age"—think of the many hours they spend with their teacher. More hours sometimes, than they spend with you.

Think of how close that teacher is to your children. How she has an opportunity to know them in a different way from you—to guide their development as they first try their wings away from home.

Think of how great her influence is—how needed her patient understanding during tender, formative years. Think of how important she is to your child's future and hence to you. Don't you want to know her better?

YOUR CHILD MAY SUFFER

Due to the wartime increase in our birth rate, 5,000,000 additional children will attend school during the next few years. Yet there are not enough qualified teachers to cover present needs, and 100,000 teachers hold only "Emergency" (sub-standard) teaching permits.

YOU CAN HELP!

Every parent can, and must, help.

FIRST: Check on educational conditions in your local schools. SECOND: Work with civic groups and school boards seeking to improve teachers' working and living conditions. THIRD: Get to know your children's teachers. Show them they have your understanding, friendliness and support.

ENGINEERING UNIT CITES DR. COLBURN

U. Of D. Man Given Award

To Allan P. Colburn, assistant to the president and adviser on research at the University of Delaware, has received the first "Professional Progress Award in Chemical Engineering," a newly-instituted honor for outstanding achievement in that field.

The award, which carries with it a $1,000 stipend, was made at a dinner meeting Monday night in New York City in conjunction with the annual sessions of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. The presentation was made by Thomas K. Sherwood, dean of engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and in his acceptance address Dr. Colburn stressed the potential service which engineering techniques could be in the fields of human and international relations.

The award which he won, the first major award in chemical engineering, was established by the Celanese Corporation of America, and is administered by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. To be conferred annually, the award will go to "a person who has not yet reached his 45th birthday," and will be granted for "a theoretical discovery or development of a new principle in the field of chemical engineering; a development of a new process or product; an invention or development of new equipment; or distinguished services rendered in the field or profession of chemical engineering." Dr. Colburn before assuming his present position in July, 1947, was professor of chemical engineering at Delaware for nine years.

Dr. Colburn, in his address of acceptance, discussed two contributions of chemical engineers to science and society: "simplification of the principles found in fundamental research in order to create an early practicability," and "the courage to base design upon fundamental principles."

After citing instances in which these attributes had been applied within chemical engineering itself, he suggested that they also had potential application to the fields of human and international relations.

The rapid growth of science and its extensive application by engineering, Dr. Colburn said, have brought the forces of nature so greatly under the control of man that we appear to be on the threshold of one world without being prepared for the human relationships involved.

In addition to the responsibility engineers have for helping create this unstable condition, he continued, they have a proven method of approach which might well contribute to the working out of some of the problems.

County Poultrymen To Hold "Quiz" Session

New Castle County poultrymen will fire questions at specialists of the University of Delaware next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. County Agent Edward H. Schabinger in announcing this meeting to which all poultrymen in the county are invited reports that this "quiz session" is only one of a number of features scheduled for the program.

Other timely topics which will be discussed by the poultry specialists prior to the question and answer session is the Agricultural Outlook for 1949; Better Merchandizing for More Turkey Profits; Managing a Hatching

Egg Flock; Labor Saving Devices and Practices for the Poultry Farm; and a demonstration on the Control of Lice by a team from the Middletown High School Future Farmers of America Chapter.

This meeting is sponsored by the New Castle County Agricultural Extension Service and the county locals of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association.

3 RADIOS AWARDED

Three Newark school students were awarded portable radios at an assembly last week for their work as salesmen in the recent magazine subscription drive.

The lucky winners were: Patricia Daughton and Carolyn Tweed of the sixth grade, and Joan Kirk, eighth grade. Their names were drawn from a pool of all students who sold five dollars or more worth of subscriptions.

In all, 325 students sold over the five dollar mark, and the entire group was treated to free movies at the State Theatre last week through the courtesy of Manager Herman Handloff.

Over $4,500 was secured in the campaign, of which about $1,500 will be retained by the school.

Homeroom Sets Record For P.-T. A. Membership

Twenty-six homerooms at the Newark schools secured at least 100 per cent parent membership in the recent Parent-Teacher Association's drive to expand its roster.

The students acted as solicitors, the aim being to secure one parent as a P.-T. A. member for each child in the room.

Miss Margaret Morrison's homeroom topped the list with a parent membership percentage of 216 per cent. This means that at least two adults for every child in the room are now members of the P.-T. A. It was pointed out that not only parents of the school children but all interested residents are eligible to join the organization.

Miss Morrison's room was awarded a picture for its walls for its efforts in the drive.

MUMFORD TO WEST POINT

Appointment Is For July Entrance

Word was received here yesterday of the appointment of Carroll W. Mumford, Jr., to the United States Military Academy, at West Point, in July, 1949.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mumford, Sr., of 29 Kells Avenue, young Mumford is a 1948 graduate from Newark High School and is presently attending the University of Delaware here.

Termed a "principal" appointment, Mumford's credentials insure his entrance into the academy upon his acceptance, which he already has filed.

Samuel Lockerman, Jr., of Glasgow Road, another Newark High School graduate, is the only other local appointee currently attending West Point. He is now in his second year of the academy.

Washington College Alumni Here To Stage Dance Fri.

The Wilmington Chapter of the Washington College Alumni Association has started a scholarship fund and hopes to provide at least one scholarship at the college next fall. Toward this end the chapter will hold a semi-final dance at the Newark Country Club tomorrow night.

Music and entertainment will be provided from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. by Paul Wilkinson and his orchestra with Rita Joyce. Tables will be provided for those who desire to play cards. Refreshments will be available. The suggested donation is $3.00 per couple.

Alumni and friends of the college are invited to attend.

Hallowe'en Party At Ott's Chapel

The little undenominational chapel, known as Ott's Chapel, held a Hallowe'en party Oct. 31. The decorations were arranged by Jackie Cahill, Phyllis Cahill, Arne Thuresson, Eileen Folk, Leon Billy, Jimmy Wegman and Ellis Howell.

The Rev. Mueller of the Wilmington Lutheran Church gave special attention to thoughts of Reformation Day and the Bible.

Refreshments were served later, and games were organized by Gunvar Thuresson and Miss Viola Polleri.

Ore Supplies At Great Lakes Still Substantial

President Wilfred Sykes of the Inland Steel Company said recently "the supply of iron ore in the Great Lakes region will probably last for hundreds of years."

He said the steel industry "is not in danger due to the shortage of its main raw materials."

"The Great Lakes region produces 85 per cent of the ore used and there are still very large quantities of ore or iron-bearing materials available," Sykes said.

Sewing Course Is Offered On Radio

"Sewing Can Be Easy," a series of five weekly broadcasts is being presented during November over Station WDOV, Dover, by Miss Adeline Hoffman, extension clothing specialist for the University of Delaware.

Stressing new, quick methods in home sewing, the broadcasts began on November 1, at 11 a. m. and will continue for the four succeeding Mondays at the same time. Each radio lesson will be supplemented by a printed leaflet. All women with individual sewing problems will also have the opportunity for personal help from Miss Hoffman during afternoon "clinics" throughout the five weeks.

Among topics to be covered are selection of pattern and material, how to plan and save time in putting together a garment, new methods for waistline seams and setting in sleeves, and how to make buttonholes and pockets.

Fund For War Memorial Here Growing Steadily

Contributions to the War Memorial Fund climbed steadily the past week, according to drive officials.

Among those received by mail were two from Robert Brandon and Richard A. Davis, local youths, now students at Duke University.

Other donations were received from the following: Mrs. M. Gehrold, Sara Rogers, Mary Tasker, Norrie Taylor, Mrs. S. Cole, DeLuxe Candy, Hiram Lodge, Mrs. H. Hevelow, A. D. Sweetman, Francis Stepler, Mrs. Fred Strickland, Emily Hogan, Kate Carson, Mrs. Gladys Moore, Miss Marion Johnson, Mrs. Isa Moore, Mrs. George B. Moore, Mrs. Rose Keeley, William J. Clancy, Mrs. Elizabeth McKelvey, A. W. Miller, Charles Moore, Pauline Regan, Helen Wideman, Henry Anderson, Ruth J. Murray, Mrs. George Cook, Joseph B. Lutton, Harry Coyle, John R.

Mrs. Zillah K. Null, Former Resident, Dies

Mrs. Zillah K. Null, formerly of Newark, died October 31 at the age of 88 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse G. Willard, 6 Spruce Street, Elsmere, Del. Mrs. Null, ill for the past year, was the wife of the late Jacob Null.

Funeral services were held at the Hearn Funeral Home, Wilmington, on November 3. Interment was in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

She is survived by a son, John Love, of Newark; three daughters, Mrs. Samuel McFarlin, Newark; Mrs. Alfred White, New Castle, and Mrs. Ada Burroughs, Aikio, Md. Fifteen grandchildren, 29 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild also survive.

FILLIN' IN

We don't want to add to the tension of the times nor pose as a calamity shouter, but we feel it our duty to expose a movement now afoot to revive pre-war, non-wrinkle, non-will shirt collars.

These, it will be remembered, were all too common before the war. Their disappearance since then has provided a glimpse of hope that we were indeed moving towards a Better World.

But that is all over now. Recently, we bought a shirt without examining it too carefully, and, when we got it home, we found a tag on it which gloatingly informed us: "This shirt has a Duro-Forever Collar. Guaranteed not to wrinkle or bend. Always keeps its shape!"

These words, it seemed to us, rang the knell on mankind's chances for peace and happiness in the foreseeable future. They left us sobered and disillusioned.

After we had gotten a grip on ourselves, we reached in the box to examine the collar. Our worst fears were confirmed. It felt like marble. Then, a reckless urge seized us, and we unbuttoned it. As might have been expected, we barely had time to snatch our finger away and avoid a nasty injury as the collar sprang open with a metallic twang.

We immediately clamped a lid on the box and trusted it up. Next day, we dispatched it to the laundry with firm instructions not to return it until the shirt was fit to be worn by a human being.

A week or so later, a white-faced, nervous delivery man handed the box back to us. He explained that when they had opened it at the laundry, the collar had sprung apart again, injuring two workers. After that, volunteers had been recruited with promises of doubletime pay to work on it. They had subjected the collar to every known test—acid baths, blow torches, shot-gun blasts—without results. The thing was still gleaming, witless, marble-like.

We listened to the man gloomily and, when he finished, we paid him without a word. We knew by then we had to face this thing alone. Late that night we took the box to an abandoned section and buried it. We included a note to future archeologists, warning them to handle it with care. We don't doubt that 20 centuries or so from now some curious scientists will dig it up and hail the collar as a remarkably preserved relic of these quaint times. We bet, though, they'll never guess that it was designed to be worn around the human neck.

Since that night, we've been keeping a sharp eye on men's clothing stores and haberdashery departments. We haven't seen anymore witless collars, but we are not so foolishly as to suppose ours was a "freak" or a left-over from pre-war stock. We think it was but the forerunner of a new and ghastly breed of stiff collars about to be foisted on the American male.

The way we have it figured out, a group of brilliant but depraved scientists has been working in underground laboratories since the war—feverishly testing, experimenting, searching for the perfect formula for calcifying shirt collars. These men intend to stop at nothing to achieve their aim. When the full story is known, the public will be shocked at the atrocities committed by them. We shall learn that they did not even hesitate to use human guinea pigs in their grim work.

We shall hear horror tales of victims forced to sit and turn their heads for hours in experimental "wrinkless" collars. Facts will be disclosed to prove that if the collar were out before their necks, the experiments were considered a flop, and both collar and victim were heaved into a vat of acid. Other stories will tell of helpless males compelled to wear test collars for hours under powerful sun lamps to gauge the cloth's resistance qualities. Documented evidence will be uncovered to show that if the collar wilted before the man, both were scrapped, and the experiments went on.

Sooner or later, these ruthless scientists will hit on the solution—a shirt collar that will be indestructible and unweavable. This will suddenly be dumped on the market in large quantities, and ours will become another lost generation.

The only hope, as we see it, is for the authorities to take proper steps for seeking out and liquidating the men behind the movement. The latter could be quietly eliminated merely by making them wear their own shirts.

Their secret formula for hardening cloth could be converted to nobler ends—such as making ersatz armor plating for battleships. Dreadnaughts could then be light and inexpensive, and we could boast the first non-wrinkle, non-will, non-bendable Navy in the world's history.

Surprise—Company Lowers Clothing Price

Crawford Clothes, Inc., clothing manufacturing chain, have reduced prices of all of its men's clothing 20 per cent effective last week. The price cuts will continue in effect until further notice.

Joseph Levy, president, said: "Our chain has been built on the principle of delivering sound values at prices the average man can afford. Now more than ever, as a factor in the industry, we feel we must take a bold step to curb rising costs."

He said there would be no change in either quality or workmanship.

JACKETS NIP DYNAHS, 8-7 FOR SURPRISE WIN; FACE A. I. DUPONT ON SATURDAY

First Quarter Safety Provides Victory Margin For Jackets In Meeting With Favored DuPonters Last Friday On U. Of D. Gridiron

A fighting threat to more powerful opponents all season, the Newark High gridders rose to gallant heights last Friday on Frazer Field, when they turned the tables on a favored P. S. duPont team to send them scampering back to Wilmington with an 8-7 spanking.

More surprising than the final score was the fact that the Jackets threatened constantly to run up a higher count. What eventually proved the margin of triumph was an automatic safety against the duPonters in the first period.

Clipper Gridders To Play Here On Sunday

Boys' Club Now Boasts Five Wins in Six Games

The Cleveland Avenue Clippers will try for their sixth grid victory in seven games when they meet the Cool Spring Middlets on the high school field Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Last week the Clippers handed a resounding 19-0 setback to "Jackson Street," a Wilmington club in the A. I. Kids Football League. It was the first defeat of the season for the city boys.

The Clippers showed unusual speed and deception in their attack, which varied four basic formations, including the single and double wings, the T, and a spread formation. The 130-pounders are coached by Don Butterworth.

Southside Indians Organize Cage Team

Varsity And Jayvee Fives Formed For Winter Season

Boasting new red and white uniforms, the Southside Boys' Club newly formed basketball team will meet the Newark High Jayvees as a preliminary game before the Newark High-Alumni game on December 23.

"Slim" Harrison, Southsiders' coach, recently selected his junior and senior varsities. The former includes boys 13 to 15 and the latter youths 9 to 13. The uniforms were donated by townspeople.

The varsity will be entered in a Wilmington league, according to Harrison. In addition Harrison and Don Butterworth of the Cleveland Avenue Clippers are trying to form a Newark league, which will play on Thursday nights in the high school gymnasium.

The possible starting line-up for the Indians will include: Ronald Bramble, "Goat" Knotts, Joe Gregg, Stuart Carswell and Jim Sydel.

Carolyn Chalmers, 81 West Delaware Avenue, is credited with rolling the largest bowling score ever recorded in the Girls' Major League at the Newark Bowling Center.

Miss Chalmers set a new mark for a single match last Thursday evening when she rolled game scores of 194, 194, and 214 for a breathtaking 602 total.

Miss Chalmers is a member of the "Newettes" team.

HENS HEAD FOR FLORIDA FOR TILT WITH ROLLINS AT ORLANDO ON SATURDAY

Night Game Set For Winter Park Field; U. Of D. Buoyed By Thrill-Packed Win Over Gettysburg, 33-27; Police Use Tar Gas On Hen Fans

The Blue Hens of Delaware who found their wings to beat Gettysburg Bullets by a thrilling 33 to 27 score last Saturday need their improved aerial attack in good stead when they meet the air-minded Rollins Tars of Winter Park, Fla., at nearby Orlando on Saturday night.

Coach Bill Murray's Hens left by train today and will arrive in Orlando tomorrow in time for a workout.

The Hens will be up against two brothers of the famed Charlie Justice of the North Carolina Tar Heels at Rollins—Joe, former Rollins star, is assistant coach, and a younger brother, Set, is the Tars' ceintillating ball runner, passer and punter, strictly a triple-threat man.

Delaware's stubborn line will be outweighed again, about 205 to 198 pounds per man. Rollins is taught a versatile attack, with Ed Simmons pairing with Justice as another triple-powered half-back. Both are dangerous passers.

The Tars have won 81, lost 31 and tied six under Jack McDowell's 19 years of coaching, but this year they've won but one to four losses. Their record: Rollins 9, Erskine 9, Miami 25, Rollins 9, Florida 41, Rollins 12; Presbyterian 19, Rollins 0; Ohio Wesleyan 14, Rollins 7. After Delaware they meet the University of Tampa, and Stetson University of Florida, both of whom they should defeat, then end the season against Richmond.

Delaware holds an edge over Rollins, with losses only to P. M. C. and Maryland, against wins over West Chester, Bucknell, Muhlenberg, and Gettysburg. After the Gettysburg excitement, it is thought that the Hens' defense can stop Rollins' air attack, and if the scores start rolling up, Delaware with its newly found wings, can unleash an aerial attack to meet any Tar threat. But the Tars are fighters and a hard-battled game is expected.

Against Gettysburg, Delaware's problem was that of a low-scoring, powerfully defensive team against a high-scoring aerial threat. They solved it
