SHAKSPEAREAN FESTIVAL A GREAT SUCCESS--TWELFTH NIGHT ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

On Friday afternoon the Shakspearean Festival was begun with the pageant. To say that it was a success is not half to do it justice. Patient and painstaking training, co-operation on the part of the students and the community with excellent weather, combined to make an event which will long live in the traditions of the college.

The procession formed promptly at 3.30 on the campus of the Women's College. All were in brilliant costume, and the display of moving color gave a delightful kaleidoscopic effect. Then slowly the procession, almost half a mile long, moved on to Frazer Field.

The weather in the morning was unpromising and probably kept many away who had planned to come from a distance. The afternoon was warm and sunshiny, however. And twenty-five hundred people gathered to see the pageant. This number was about one thousand more than had been expected.

The theme of the action was, to quote from the marginal note of the program, as follows:

"The hobgoblin fairies enter. They weave a magic ring whereby woe shall come to mortals. A company of children enter the glade to play, perceive the fairy ring, and wonder at its meaning. They accost a troop of milk maids, who explain the nature of the ring and warn the children to beware of it. They then play certain games until Will Shakspeare enters. He defies the enchantment of the fairy ring, and is bewitched. The children, terrified, run away. The hobgoblins return and gloat over their captive, but scatter upon the approach of Titania.

The Morris dancers enter. Maid Marian is crowned Queen of the May, with song and dance. Shakspeare returns, scribbling a mocking verse writ against Lord Lucy, which after reading, he sticks upon a tree. All then join hands in the May Pole dance, during which Lord Lucy returns and reads the verse. He demands that the youth be clapped into prison, but the boy's father, entering with Anne Hathaway, obtains his release. Anne Hathaway weeps at the promise of departure. The Morris dancers go off. Shakspeare leaves for London.

The earl of Southampton enters, to await the Queen, who arrives with all her court. Sir Walter Raleigh performs a gallant deed. Southampton greets the Queen, and summons Shakspeare. A court dance ensues. Shakspeare enters and presents "As You Like It." The company retires in procession.

The entire program went off without a flaw. To Miss Brady who had charge of the pageant belongs the credit of so delightful an affair. In her work she was much aided by Mrs. Tyson, Miss Robinson, Miss Butterworth, Miss Mossdrop, Miss Rich, Miss Ritz, and Miss Elsie Wright. To Mr. Johnson much appreciation is due for the artistic programs. He put his heart and soul into the work and a program which would be a credit to any school in the country was the result.

"Twelfth Night" given on Friday night, was no less of a success. The house was full and every one heard and saw with delight and the keenest interest, the performance of this play. On Saturday afternoon the performance was repeated with equally good results to quite as appreciative an audience. Credit is due to Prof. Sypherd, Mr. Pohl, Miss Brady, and Mrs. Tyson for the splendid training of the actors. Especial mention is due to Mr. Irving Reynolds, who took the part of Sir Toby, to Miss Marion Campbell, acting as Olivia, to Miss Pauline Smith, as Viola, and to Miss Thera Twitchell who played the part of Maria.

FINISHES SECOND AT PENN RELAYS

"Blue and Gold" Makes Best Showing In Years At This Classic Event

Delaware's relay team ran a beautiful race at the Penn Relays last Saturday and finished second to the fast Maryland Agricultural College team.

Crockett was the first man to toe the mark for Delaware and he ran a splendid race. During the first 300 yards he allowed the Maryland man to lead him by a yard. He then made a short sprint which carried him to the front. This lead was maintained until he was about 30 yards from the finish, the M. A. C. man just nosing him out at the end by a fast sprint. Steele, Delaware's second man started off with about 3 yards in the rear of his man. Before the 220 yard mark was reached, however, he had passed the Maryland man. He succeeded in holding this advantage and by a long and fast sprint he touched off Marshall with a lead of four yards. Marshall kept up the fast pace and led the field for the first 330 yards. The Maryland man, who had been following closely behind, then started his sprint which carried him to the finish about five yards in front of the "Blue and Gold" man. Craig, the anchor man for Delaware, then received the baton and started out at a fast pace to overtake the fast M. A. C. man. At the 220 yard mark the lead was cut down to one yard and from that point to the 390 yard mark the two men ran "neck and neck." The "Blue and Gold" man had weakened himself by setting such a fast pace to catch up with his opponent in the first part of the race that he was unable to put as much speed in his final sprint and was beaten to the tape by about three yards.

The "Blue and Gold" runners ran a very heady and fast race and made the excellent time of 3.37. This is the fastest time made by any Delaware team recently and speaks well for Coach Keyes who has been working faithfully with the men in order to get them in condition. There were eight contestants in the class with Delaware among which were Ursinus, Mansfield Normal, Lebanon Valley, Juniata College, West Chester Normal, Rhode Island University, and Maryland Agricultural College.

DELAWARE LOSES TWO GAMES

BEATEN BY ROCK HILL AND UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

On Friday morning the University of North Carolina defeated Delaware in a loosely played game of seven innings by the score of 7 to 0. Because of the Easter holidays and bad weather Delaware had not been able to practice for ten days and to these conditions her poor showing may be partly attributed.

The Carolina team is the best organization that has been seen on Frazer Field this Spring. Though strong on the defense it was on the offense that the Southerners shone brightest. It seemed that every time a hit was needed it was forth coming.

Only in one inning did Delaware threaten to score. In the fourth Stewart, first man up, was safe on an error. Taggart followed with Delaware's lone hit a single to centre and Stewart reached third and Taggart was safe at second when a play was made for the former at third. None were out and prospects for some runs were bright. But the next man struck out and Powell, Carolina's short stop, made a pretty stop of D. Horsey's liner and doubled Taggart at second. This was Delaware's last and only rally.

Delaware lost a close and interesting game to Rock Hill last Wednesday by the score of 6 to 1. After leading with an advantage of one run throughout the first eight innings, the Blue and Gold team "blew" in the first half of the ninth and before the session had ended the visitors had "dented" the rubber for six tallies. Collins, the first man to face Hoch in this inning reached first on an error. Perrott and Mallon followed with safe hits and Collins came over with the tying run. After this the "Blue and Gold" players practically gave the Marylanders the other five runs by careless and indifferent playing. Delaware failed to score in her half of the ninth.

The game was a pitchers duel between Hoch and Schmidinger up until the beginning of the fateful inning. Delaware scored her only run in the initial inning and it looked as if this would decide the game, as both teams had done little hitting up to this time.

Delaware once more played without the services of Captain Doherty. With him in the lineup the team would undoubtedly have played a much steadier game and should have won an easy victory.

Special Opportunity For Our Students

The Educators Association of Ann Arbor, Mich., through which twenty-six College Presidents like David Starr Jordan and G. Stanley Hall, and fifty text book writers like Alexander Smith, Charles A. McMurray and John F. Genung, are getting some much needed Educational Material before the public and are going to use a number of College Students, with clean records, during vacation. The Association will pay from $75.00 to $100.00 per month, plus additional commissions on business secured. Application should be made to Mr. John W. Branch, 25 South 61st St., Philadelphia, Pa., giving age, occupation last summer, home address, college address, college telephone and references.

Omega Alpha Holds Informal Dance

On Saturday evening, April 29, the members of the Omega Alpha Fraternity gave an informal dance at their house. The rooms were decorated in fraternity and college colors, and the entire lower floor was cleared of furniture; card-tables were provided for those who did not dance.

Among those present were the

Among those present were the active members of the fraternity; Miss Helen Baylis, Harriet Miller, and Marion Butterworth of Women's College; Mrs. C. O. Houghton, Mrs. F. H. Thompson, Misses Emily Worral, and Audrey Miller of Newark; Misses Eloise Peache, Blanche Swayne, Helen McFarlan, Helen Harrington, E. Danzenbaker, M. Dickerson, and Edith Danby of Wilmington; Miss Viguers of Media; Messrs. Manning, Pritchard, Clark, Glover, C. Dickinson, Allen, and Sutherland of Wilmington.

Student Council Takes Up Cook Affair

At a meeting of the Student Council on last Wednesday evening the facts in the Cook affair were discussed. It was decided to have it publicly announced that the Council very strongly disapproves of the action taken by the students against Cook on Wednesday afternoon. The members of the Council feel that the matter should properly have come under the jurisdiction of Student Government and would have been disposed of without a street brawl which naturally was degrading to the standards of the college. Do the students of Delaware forget they have created a self-governing body?

Dance At W. C. D.

On Saturday evening last the Women's College gave an informal dance. The large crowd present enjoyed a very pleasant evening. At ten o'clock refreshments were served and then the dancing continued until twelve o'clock.

Alderson Returns Home

News reaches us as we go to press that our fellow student, John Hartzell Alderson, who left home on April 20th, returned to his parents on Monday morning. Time does not permit us to learn further details than that Alderson had spent ten days in Baltimore.

He is welcomed with joy by his parents and many friends.

Valuable Stock To Be Sold

It has been decided that about thirty head of the very valuable cows at the college farm will be sold in the near future. Five high class Jersey heifers have already been sold—two to Mr. W. C. Mathews of Wilmington, and 3 to Mr. Chas. L. Paterson of Wilmington and Chadds Ford. The Guernsey cow "Fernwood Oliver" who made a years record of over 13,000 lbs. of milk and nearly 600 lbs. of butterfat, was sold recently for $550 to Mr. Webster Griffith of Ebensburg, Pa. Several young Guernsey heifers have passed hands at prices ranging from $225 to $325.

MAY 2, 1916

The Shakspeare Festival, significant of Delaware's rapid advance to the front, was an immense success. Friday and Saturday were holidays for the community around Newark. Townspeople put aside their duties and responded heartily to the call. Faculty members, with bright smiling countenances, dived recklessly into the pool of merriment. Students laid aside their studies cheerfully, too cheerfully we fear, to take part in the pageant.

Why not have a similar entertainment every year? They are both amusing and instructive.

Such an entertainment also solves the ancient problems—"How to Bring Alumni Back to Delaware?" On Friday there were as many Alumni in Newark as there usually are on the day set for the Alumni Reunion. We want our Alumni to take an interest in the college; and in order to interest them we must show what we are doing—this of course applies only to those alumni who have been out of college for many years and have become immersed in the business world. There is no better time than the present, while the college is booming, to show our Alumni what we are doing.

Let's whoop it up for Delaware.

Company C is still leading the Battalion in counting off and dismissing.

Professor Ayres Lectures

On Saturday morning at 10.30, as a part of the Shakspeare festival, Professor Harry Morgan Ayres of Columbia University, delivered a lecture on Shakspeare Both of an Age and for All Time.

In his introduction Professor Ayres spoke of the permanence of Shakspeare's works, which form one of few bonds existing between the warring nations. He also made mention of the accusation often made that Shakspeare did not write all of these plays, because it is difficult to associate one personality with so many and vividly different characters.

In speaking of Shakspeare for his own age, Professor Ayres told of means of staging plays by which one company obtained exclusive rights to them. These companies usually would not allow the plays to be printed, because of the fear that another company might use them. Perhaps by dishonest means some of Shakspeare's plays slipped out and were published, as it was said, to keep alive the memory of him.

The last point under Shakspeare for his age was his education. It is unnatural to think that he had no learning. There was a free school at Stratford. There was a good opportunity for any one to read extensively. His works show a knowledge of History, Ancient Languages, and the Bible.

The second part of the lecture was about the things which give Shakspeare his appeal to all times. Among them were mentioned his humor, pathos, and gift of language. Some people have tried to attribute his greatness to the size of his vocabulary. Not this fact, but his ability to arrange his words has made Shakspeare great.

In conclusion Professor Ayres congratulated the students of the two colleges on the pageant and the play, but reminded the audience that all this festival is a failure if it does not make them desire to study Shakspeare the more deeply.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Dean Hayward is preparing a State Supplement for one of the standard school geographies. The text will be illustrated by photographs from most of the various types of agriculture and manufacturing that are being carried on in the state.

The new kerosene burning tractor that has recently been purchased for the college farm is proving very satisfactory, and demonstrates the advantage of such a low-priced machine on the farms in Delaware.

Owing to the impossibility of securing potash in the usual form for farm fertilizers, the college farm has recently purchased a carload of unleached hard-wood ashes, from the northern peninsula of Michigan, and will use them in place of muriate of potash.

Twelfth Night has been acted, The Pageant is thru. And many think there is not much to do.

But look at your calendar and look a month ahead

Can you count the mornings you can lie in your bed?

Then I'll vouch you will not be able to say

Tis now the hour of Eleven And when I've prayed to heaven

I'll turn off the light Let old morn shine bright

And sleep till good old seven But to the wee hours you'll ponder o'er your looks, we hope In anticipations of getting the right dope Oh students I pray you be prepared, get ready

Because, you cant always get them with "Very Good Eddie."

When Al O'Daniel and Marshall did their tightrope stunt at Lumbrook last Wednesday, they illustrated to perfection the old saying, "There's one born every minute."

ENGINEERING NOTES

At the meeting of the Engineering Society last Tuesday evening, Professor Koerber, Short, Preston, Robinson, Smith and Srager were unanimously elected honorary members of the society. After the business part of the meeting was over, S. D. Loomis presented an interesting account of the origin and development of the electric railway. Following the open discussion of this paper, E. G. Smyth read an article describing Aerial Transportation across Niagara Falls.

It is earnestly hoped that all Engineers, including Freshmen, will be present at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, May second, at seven o'clock sharp. An interesting program has been arranged for this meeting.

To clear up any misunderstanding concerning attendance at the Engineers' meetings, it might be well to say that the third Tuesday of each month is set aside as "Open Night," and all members of the College, students as well as professors, are welcome at that time.

All meetings are held in Room 2, Recitation Hall.

Engineering Lecture And Smoker

An original stunt that is worthy of the greatest praise was pulled off in the North Room of Mechanical Hall on Wednesday evening, April 19th by Professor Koerber and Smith, the popular heads of the Electrical and Mechanical Departments. These two, with the aid of the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering Seniors, were hosts to the entire Senior Engineering Class. The spirit of good fellowship which prevailed during the evening speaks well for the success of the Engineering Department of the college.

Every one was provided with a good old corn-cob and a load of Dell's Best as he entered and the "Club Room" was soon made homelike by the dense cloud of smoke which arose. From quarter after eight till ten o'clock Professor Smith talked on the Metallurgy of Steel. The meeting then adjourned for a while and ate the ice cream and cake and the sandwiches and coffee provided by the hosts. Then, for an hour, till quarter to twelve, Professor Smith told the crowd more about Steel.

Professor Smith's lecture was illustrated by some ninety lantern slides which were all made by him especially for the occasion. They illustrated the processes thru which steel passes from the time it is mined; as it is carried over the Great Lakes on the 100,000-ton ore-boats; as the iron is extracted from the ore in the blast-furnaces; as the pig-iron is refined in the Bessemer Converter or the open-hearth furnace into wrought iron or steel; and as the steel is rolled into the finished rails in the monster rolling mills. The slides were admirably made and the subjects well chosen.

Those present were Wills, Haley, Buck, Clouser, H. H. Ewing, Blumberg, Hoch, Graham, Morrison, Crothers, Gentieu, John and Don Price, Taylor, in addition to Professor Smith, Koerber and Srager.

Dean Smith Reports On Registrars' Convention

Dean E. L. Smith reported to the student body, during the chapel period on Tuesday morning, April 24, the proceedings of the Seventh Convention of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars. The convention was held at Columbia University, New York City, on April 18, 19 and 20.

Dean Smith said that the organization had been formed in order to attempt to bring about uniformity among the colleges and universities of the country in handling all statistics and records relating to the scholastic side of the various institutions. The registrar's office should be a bureau of information or a clearing house for scholastic affairs. The Association was formed in 1910 with a membership of seventeen. At the last meeting over a hundred representatives from various colleges and universities were in attendance. When commenting upon the convention, Dean Smith mentioned as among most interesting features two speeches, the first by Albert S. Bard, on "The Relative Standing of Students," and the second by S. A. Kalbach, of the United States Bureau of Education, on "The Aims and Effort of the Bureau of Education." In this last paper, the speakers described the value of the various county surveys which are now being made by the department.

Dean Smith then spoke of the various methods of grading students in use in different institutions, and commented on their good and bad features. He spoke also of the Y. M. C. A. work being done at Columbia, and urged those students of Delaware College who may find it possible to attend the Student Conference at Eaglesmere next June. He stated that students would find attendance at this Conference profitable student ample time to think over some of the life-problems students must face after graduation; and second it gives those in attendance the opportunity to hear the greatest student speakers in the country, as John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, and Sherwood Eddy.

While at the convention, Dean Smith attended the meeting of representatives from the second collegiate district, which meeting was a part of the various sectional conferences held at the convention.

Dean Smith also stated that he had visited the National City Bank of New York, one of the largest banks in the country, where he took up negotiations with various officers, which he hopes will result in making it possible to place some Delaware graduates with that institution. Such a connection between banks of that character and the college will doubtless strengthen the course in banking and commerce which it is proposed to introduce shortly into the college curriculum.

Students In Agriculture Are Making Good

Frazier Groff who graduates from the Agricultural department in June has just been elected to research scholarship in Agronomy at the University of Missouri. He specialized in this line at Delaware and took as his thesis, "The Occurrence of Sterile Spikelets in Wheat." Some results of this work have been embodied in an article by Professor Grantham and Mr. Groff, and will shortly appear in the Journal of Agricultural Research, an official publication of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

W. I. Brockson, a graduate of the Agricultural Course 1915, who holds a research fellowship in Agronomy at Iowa Agricultural College, has been elected to the position of instructor in Agronomy at the University of Illinois, beginning Sept. 1st, 1916. Mr. Brockson will receive his masters' degree at Iowa next June.

W. C. D. Notes

Minstrel Show
At the Women's College on Saturday evening, April 15th, the renowned troupe of Delaware College Minstrels gave a performance which afforded great amusement to an appreciative audience.

Though the "show" (as it was afterward learned) was practically impromptu, all agree in that it was highly entertaining.

Among the various jokes and take-offs was an imitation of Professor Pohl entering his class, together with his joyous allusion to the blithesome harbinger of Springtime, i. e. two bluebirds and four robins.

Another portion of the programme was the presentation of a noble army in full battle array. The various troops were composed of Messrs. Newton and Stevens who, it was learned, "swopped" uniforms. Mr. Newton is to be specially commented on for the "smile that wouldn't wear off."

A most touching Romeo and Juliet balcony scene between two dark complexioned lovers, was also depicted. This, sad to say, wound up with a most ludicrous anti-climax when the ardent "Romeo" finally discovered that he had been serenading the wrong "gal."

The celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Vale nee Messrs. Reynolds and Brower, honored the audience with their usual performance of magic, fortune telling, etc. The audience concluded that Mr. Vale was indeed an exceptional man, for besides exerting an hypnotic influence over his faithful spouse, he spoke to the audience in broken German-English, and addressed his fond "frau" as "Mrs. Vale," then as "Miss Vale," and finally as "Mademoiselle Vale."

On Tuesday, day after vacation, when two students strolled into the 10.50 English class precisely at quarter after eleven, Professor Dutton looked up from his analysis of Browning's poetry with the words: "A little early for Thursday class."

Spring housecleaning has revealed many things at the Women's College. While cleaning a bureau drawer one morning last week, Miss Mary Dennison found herself to be the unwilling possessor of a nest containing five tiny mice. The girls in the neighboring room heard Miss Dennison's calls for help and ran to her assistance. The mice were finally drowned in a tin can. Announcements concerning the time of the funeral services will be made later.

WANTED—The Educators' Association are going to use a number of College students for some high class educational work among school patrons during the summer. Ambitious students either men or women, would have a fine opportunity for pleasant work among pleasant people at a salary from $75 to $100, guarantee, the average earning being above $6.50 per day. Address Mr. John W. Branch, 25 South 61st St., Philadelphia, Pa. adv.
