New Post Office Recommended For Newark

Mellon and New Decide Newark Should Have One Of Two Offices Allocated To State; Site Ready For Building

The joint committee of the Treasury and Post Office Departments, headed by Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General New, recommended to Congress Monday that Newark should have an appropriation of $60,000 for a new post office. It was pointed out in the report that Newark was the only town in the State that had receipts exceeding $20,000, where there was no Federal building. The report also mentioned that the government owned a site in Newark. Postmaster Evans stated that he did not know when such a building would be started, as he had had no official notification of the fact that Newark had been selected for a new office.

In the appropriation bill, two offices were provided for Delaware. The other town selected is Georgetown, where $85,000 will be expended for a site and building. This announcement was unexpected, though when Senator Bayard and Congressman Houston held a conference last summer with Mayor Fraser and Postmaster Evans, they said that Newark was the first town on the list for an office. At that time a trade in lots was made with the University and the new lot at Main and Center streets secured. This measures 187 by 94 feet and is bordered by two streets, allowing for a convenient and safe delivery entrance. The government purchased the original lot at Delaware and South College avenues, 14 years ago.

The post office has been in its present quarters for eight years, and the amount of mail handled and the revenue has doubled in that time. At present the annual revenue is well over $20,000 and besides mail contributing to this revenue, the local office handles over 60,000 pieces of "franked" mail from the Experimental Station each year. Under governmental regulations, an office handling that amount of mail should have at minimum 1,500 square feet of space, while the local office has barely half that. It has been impossible to engage new clerks to take care of the increase in mail because there was neither room or equipment for them, and this has greatly impeded service. The only method possible for handling the increasing volume of mail was for the post office employees to work overtime.

DEAN McCUE KIWANIS CHAIRMAN FOR AG. DAY

Dean C. A. McCue of the University of Delaware, who is chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club, has sent out notices to the farmers of New Castle county, naming February 2 as Agriculture Day.

Each member of the Kiwanis Club will act as host to one farmer at the luncheon which will be held in the du Barry room of the du Pont-Biltmore hotel. Dean McCue will be chairman for the day.

University Dual Winner in Debate

Friday night, the University of Delaware debating team, in two sections, won a contest of lustrous and forceful logic from Schuylkill College.

The question, "Resolved that the United States should cancel the war debt owed by the Allies," was threshed out by two sections of each team, orating simultaneously at Reading and at Wolf Hall. The outcome won't be much help to Mr. Mellon, for the issue was won both ways; Delaware winning in the affirmative at Reading and in the negative at Wolf Hall. The judges' decision in each contest was 2 to 1.

Dr. Claude L. Benner, head of the Economics Department, University of Delaware, was master of ceremony at Wolf Hall. The judges were: David L. Ward, Superintendent of Schools, Wilmington; Frank Martine Heal, principal of the Willard Hall School, and F. Kinney Mason, an official of the Du Pont Company. The Delaware team which took the negative at Wolf Hall was composed of Phillip Cohen, Frederick Whitney and Louis Handloff. The section which traveled to Reading from Delaware to win the affirmative side was made up of Lawrence Elliott, Isaac Quillen and Joseph D. Craven.

Corn Growers Have Fine Show

Vincent Mayer Wins Coveted Honor; Prizes Awarded Friday; New Officers Elected

The Delaware Corn Growers' Association finished their five day show last Friday with the awarding of prizes and the annual election of officers. The show, held this year in the new fire house, Middletown, was marked by the exceptionally high quality of entries. There were 57 exhibitors with 149 entries. J. E. Metzger, of Maryland Experiment Station, was judge, with J. M. Graham, of Delaware University, assistant.

Vincent Mayer, of Newark, won one of the most coveted prizes of the show for the best white ear shown. Beside the ribbon, he received 1/2 ton of 295 fertilizer donated by G. Ober and Sons through their Middletown agents, Shallock Brothers.

The exhibition caused considerable interest and was well attended. Particular credit is due to Professor G. L. Schuster, secretary of the association, who supervised the planning of the show, the local committee, and the Middletown merchants, who provided the hall.

One of the features of the show was a judging contest for teams from the agricultural classes of Delaware High Schools. The decision on this contest has not yet been announced. The team from Newark High School consisted of George Cook, Alexander Zabenko and Vincent Mayer.

The following officers were elected to serve the association for 1927: James W. Hopkins, Lewes, president; James T. Shallock, Middletown, New Castle County vice-president; Denny Pleasanton, Dover, Kent County vice-president; A. M. Tarr, Seaford, Sussex County vice-president. Professor George L. Schuster was re-elected secretary-treasurer. (Continued on Page 7.)

Sophs Foiled In Frosh Banquet Raid

Delaware Freshman Party Under Auspices Of Wilmington Department Of Safety; Sophomores Get Partial Satisfaction

Monday night the ancient feud between the Frosh and the second year men of the University of Delaware broke forth in white fury on the occasion of the Freshman Banquet. Only the efforts of the Wilmington police saved the turkey, or whatever it was, and the Frosh, who with some interruption, completed their party from soup to nuts. The decision went to the Wilmington cops.

The Frosh had secretly planned to go to Wilmington via special busses, attend the performance of Alice Brady in "Lady Alone" at the Playhouse, and then feast sumptuously at Lampros' Restaurant. They had their evening meal at the Commons and then stole off in groups to go to Wilmington. But the secret leaked somehow, and the Sophs captured a bus with 20 Frosh, and locking up the Frosh in Recreation Hall, took the bus to Wilmington. However, the prisoners escaped and got to Wilmington in time for the performance. Other Sophs, not fortunate in being in the bus raid, laid in a supply of flour and started for Wilmington in any conveyance handy.

The Freshmen, 70 strong, had seats in a body in the first balcony, and the arriving Sophomores went into peanut heaven. Here the second year men attempted to interrupt the pleasure of the yearlings by verbal bombs followed by a shower of flour. It happened that this demonstration was also noticed by nearly everyone in the du Pont building, including the theatre, and at the conclusion of the first act, Miss Brady asked their kind indulgence. She was applauded and presented by a bouquet from the Freshman class. Miss Brady was followed by Robert Priest, manager of the theatre, who asked nothing but promised much in the way of violent ejection. He was awarded with quiet.

At the conclusion of the performance, the Sophomore reception committee gathered at the Eleventh and Market street entrances to the Hotel. One porter and three lone bell-hops held the fort at Eleventh street, but the battle started and waged at Market street. The air was dense with language and flying flour when the police arrived and dispersed the Sophomores with hard glances. The cops then escorted the yearlings to Lampros, where a surprise awaited them. Here they discovered Dick French, Handy Culver, Roger Holt and Hap Howell, of the Sophomore class, finishing the toothpick course of the Freshmen repast. They had gained access to the victuals by impersonating waiters.

The Frosh sped their parting quests with no invitations to return and the dinner went on with no interruption. The cops lounged in the doorway and the Sophomores hugged the curb. Finally, the cold and hungry waiting dampened their enthusiasm and they returned to Newark without further molesting the Freshmen, who concluded their banquet and came back comfortably by bus.

ACCIDENT ON LINCOLN HIGHWAY

A car owned by Mr. Walter Layfield collided with a car operated by Professor Gabriel last Saturday during the heavy snow-storm. The accident occurred in the early afternoon, between this town and Wilmington, about three miles from here. The raging storm was responsible for the collision. Mrs. Robert Valleau was in the car with Professor Gabriel, going to Wilmington, and it was at first thought that she was seriously injured, but she is recovering and suffering from only slight injuries. Both cars were somewhat damaged.

DRS. HULLIHEN AND BENNER TO PARTICIPATE IN INVENTORY CONGRESS

Florence E. Preston Dies Saturday

Newark Shocked At Sudden Death Of Professor's Wife

Newark was shocked to hear of the death early Saturday morning of Mrs. Howard K. Preston. Mrs. Preston had been ill with gripe and bronchitis, but was much improved, able to sit up in her room. She was taken suddenly worse about five o'clock Saturday morning and died in less than an hour. Mrs. Preston had a host of friends here and was greatly admired as a devoted wife and mother. She is survived by her husband and by two small sons, Kent and Lynn. She leaves also an aged, invalid mother, who lived with her.

Professor and Mrs. Preston came to Newark after their marriage in 1912. Professor Preston has been a member of the faculty of the University of Delaware since that time, except during a period of the World War, from May 1918 to December of that year, when he was with the du Pont Powder Company at Nashville, later going with the New Jersey Highway Commission until February, 1920, when he returned to Newark. Mrs. Preston, before her marriage, was Miss Florence Earlin Snyder. She was born in Belvedere, New Jersey, but her parents moved to Easton, Pennsylvania, during her early childhood.

Mrs. Forrest Lamb, of Allentown, Pennsylvania, a sister of the deceased, was visiting at the Preston home at the time of Mrs. Preston's death. Frank Preston, a brother, and his wife, of Trenton, New Jersey, arrived on Monday. Professor Preston's parents were unable to come, because of the father's illness.

The funeral service was conducted by Reverend Dr. Hallman, of the First Presbyterian Church of this town, assisted by Reverend R. Hittinger, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, who is a dear friend of the family. A. D. Cobb sang "Lead Kindly Light." The pallbearers were: Messrs. Warren A. Singles, H. E. Tiffany, W. E. Holton, R. W. Heim, F. A. Wheelless, J. K. Johnston, Lester Tarr, and Carl Rankin, all of this town.

Newark Partially Snow-Bound Sunday

Bus Service Suspends; Drifts Not Cleared Till Monday; One Farmer Makes Harvest

Newark was partially snow-bound Sunday as far as bus and automobile traffic were concerned. On several of the roads leading to Newark snow had drifted in spots to a height of 5 feet, making an impassable barrier to machines.

The midnight bus of the Wilmington and Philadelphia Traction Company, leaving Newark Saturday, was caught in drifts on the Lincoln Highway and did not reach its destination till 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Passengers, however, were taken to Wilmington in lighter cars. The bus company suspended service till 8 o'clock Monday morning when the drifts were cleared sufficiently to let the big machines through. Pleasure cars got around these drifts by detouring through adjoining fields.

One large drift, opposite Bowers' farm, two miles south of Newark, proved a financial as well as traveling discomfort to motorists. On attempting to detour through adjoining property, they were met by the tenant and assessed a toll of one dollar for the privilege. This was paid grudgingly, but it was paid and it is estimated that the ill winds blew this person considerable revenue before the drift was cleared.

The Levy Court was criticized for not having men out Saturday night and Sunday to clear the roads. Workers with plows and scrapers were out early Monday, however, and by noon had the way clear on the main roads.

Farm Bureau Campaign A Success

Membership Drive Is Hampered By Weather But Making A Strong Finish

The membership campaign of the New Castle County Farm Bureau has passed the first week. President H. C. Milliken estimates that the total membership at the present date is approximately 350. Mr. Milliken is highly pleased with the activities of many of the solicitors. He commended Mr. George C. Burge, chairman of the Middletown community, upon the management of the campaign in his community. At the present time Mr. Burge and his solicitors have secured sixty members and they expect their membership to total one hundred when the territory has been covered. Mr. Burge has a strong committee of solicitors. Among his solicitors who have gotten unusual results are Mr. Harvey Johnson and Mr. Harry Seemans. This is the first year that Mr. Johnson has been a solicitor, however, he has been highly successful. The first day he was out he secured twenty members out of twenty men seen. Mr. Seemans' record is almost as good. Out of the twenty men he saw the first day he secured sixteen members.

Mr. Lee C. Hoffecker, chairman of the Bear community, states that they have been on the job and are securing a very fair membership. Mr. Hoffecker stated that two of his committeemen, Mr. Alfred Davidson and Mr. James Heinel, had worked in the community for several days and he was pleased with the membership that is being secured.

Mr. H. Wallace Cook says that the membership secured in the Newark community is not measuring up with that of the Middletown community. However, a very good membership will be secured by the time the territory has been covered. Mr. Cook stated that they are getting memberships from fifty per cent of the farmers they see.

The inclemency of the weather during the last few days has retarded the campaign somewhat. It is now Mr. Milliken's intention to get in touch with each community chairman and make final plans for completing the membership campaign within the next week or ten days.

MISS HUBERT TO RETURN

Pierre du Pont To Cease Building Schools

Chagrined At Attitude Toward His Efforts Will Probably Not Renew Need Of Service Citizens; Will Continue Support Of Foreign Study Plan

HAS SPENT $5,000,000

In a statement made last week, Mr. Pierre S. du Pont said that in view of the general attitude toward his work in building schools for the State of Delaware, he will probably not start another building program after the present work under way is finished. The deed of trust of the Service Citizens expires in August, after eight years of operation, and unless certain things happen to change Mr. du Pont's mind, this will probably not be renewed. Mr. du Pont has personally spent $5,000,000 on schools in Delaware.

One thing which may change his mind and work for a continuance of the Service Citizens will be the decision of the present Legislature on the school appropriation. If they fail to pass an adequate appropriation, Mr. du Pont is through. He stated that he thought they should pass an annual appropriation of $2,000,000 for the improvement of schools and that it should be used for new buildings instead of repairs.

The Delaware School Auxiliary, of which Dr. Joseph H. Odell is president, will continue to function until work under way is completed. Mr. du Pont said he would continue his support of the Foreign Study Plan for the time being, though he hoped it would eventually be taken over by the State.

ROTARY SCHOOL

The first meeting of Group 4 of the Wilmington Rotary Forum was held at the home of R. W. Heim, South College avenue, last Thursday evening. Bush, Jr., Benjamin P. Foster, George F. Huber, John R. Lambson, Canby C. Mammel, Franklin J. Murphey, George W. Pusey, Adolph A. Rydgren, Dr. Wm. Speakman, Rev. Richard Trapnell, Wm. P. White, and R. W. Heim, Forum Leader.

SIDE WALKS MUST BE CLEARED

The Town Council is determined to enforce the ordinance requiring tenants and property owners to clear sidewalks of snow. Chief Keeley has been ordered to report all delinquents. The ordinance requires that all walks must be cleared by tenant or, in case of vacant premises, owner six hours after snow has stopped falling; except when snow falls during night or on Sunday. Then the snow must be cleared the next morning, or in case of Sunday snow, Monday morning. A fine of $1.00 and costs is the penalty for failure to observe this ordinance.

Dr. Benner's talk, which was titled "Woman's Place in the Modern Economic World," concludes the series of talks on current economic problems which Dr. Benner has been giving for the club.

State Boys' and Girls' Clubs Increase Membership 42%

Annual Report of A. D. Cobb Shows Remarkable Growth
In Club Work; County Agent's Work Marked
By Practical Results

The recently issued annual report of A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents and County Club Agents, shows a remarkable increase in results, in 1926, in both of these departments of Delaware University Extension work.

The report of the County Club Agent section of the work shows the most rapid development of any field. This part of the extension program, which is comparatively new, is of the greatest importance, because through this medium the agricultural leaders of the next generation are reached and their co-operation gained during the formative period of their careers. Mr. Cobb's report states that the year 1926 brought forth a club membership increase of 42 per cent, the total club membership now standing at 1376. It is interesting to note that of the 1376 members, 846 are girls.

Mr. Cobb's report covering the activities of the County Agents and the County Club Agents follows, in part:

4-H CLUB WORK

Enrollments

If increased enrollment is a true measure of success, our Club work has had its best year in 1926. The total number of boys and girls enrolled was 1376, a 42.5 per cent increase over the enrollment of the previous year. Of this number 530 were boys and 846 were girls, and 1044 boys and girls completed records on their projects. This is a completion of 75.3 per cent which is lower than last year, and is at least partly accounted for by the fact that we had so many new club members this year who failed to realize the importance of getting records in on time. The Club Agents report many records still coming in.

It is interesting to note that 31 club members enrolled in more than one project and completed records, making a total of 1456 result demonstrations started and 1173, or 80.5 per cent completed. This year has marked a still closer co-operation between Club Agents and the State Board of Education, rural school supervisors, and school teachers. Through a ruling of the State Board of Education, the plan of allowing one school period a week for club work, which originated in Sussex county two years ago, was made statewide this year. This plan has permitted Club Agents to hold more regular club meetings with an opportunity to reach more boys and girls of club age. There are only two apparent dangers in this practice; that the school authorities may make more demands on the time of Extension Agents than they can meet, and that Club Agents may abuse their privileges and interfere with school programs by not adhering to definite visitation schedules. This year Club Agents were asked to prepare a schedule of their school visits and give them to teachers. Since this was done no complaints have been received from school authorities. Rural school supervisors in Sussex county have given splendid co-operation to the Club Agent and are enthusiastic supporters of the present plan of co-operation.

Co-operation and stimulation of interest in club work through the supplying of leadership, offering of prizes for club achievement and providing for club rallies and exhibits, have been given this year by the County Farm Bureau, local Granges, Parent-Teacher Associations, local banks, New Century Clubs, Seaford Kiwanis Club, Dover Rotary Club, State Board of Health, Kent-Sussex Fair Association, Charles Warner Lime Company, Supplee-Willis-Jones Milk Company, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, State Corn Growers Association, and many other organizations and individuals.

Eighth Annual 4-H Club Short Course
The eighth annual 4-H Club Short Course was held at the University of Delaware in August. There were 32 girls, 49 boys and 5 local leaders in attendance. Funds were provided by banks and other organizations and individual donations. A number of club members paid their own expenses. The program was put on by members of the Extension Staff, teaching staff of the University of Delaware, and the club members themselves. Through the courtesy of Pierre S. du Pont, the group spent a day at the gardens at Longwood.

Kent-Sussex Fair

Approximately 800 entries were made by 300 club members with the Club Department of the Kent-Sussex Fair in July. Cash premiums and scholarship awards offered by the Fair Association amounted to $1,000.00. Judging contests were held for all club projects and 22 scholarships to the 4-H Short Course were awarded by the Fair to winners of these contests. The number and quality of club exhibits at this fair was the best ever made in the State by club members.

Camp Vail

Six boys and six girls represented Delaware at Camp Vail at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., in September. Eight boys and girls had expenses paid by the Exposition, 2 girls were sent by the Russell Miller Baking Company of St. Paul, Minnesota, and 2 boys were sent from New Castle county on funds donated by local friends of club work. Delaware club members again ranked high in judging contests and their exhibit and demonstration of the culture and use of Delaware sweet potatoes was a feature of the Exposition.

Delaware State Corn Show

Twenty-five corn club members exhibited corn in the boys' class at the State Corn Show and about the same number took part in a State judging contest. Irene Tarr, of Seaford, the only corn club girl in the State, defeated the boys for the silver trophy cup presented annually by the State Corn Growers' Association.

4-H CLUB PROJECT RESULTS

Corn Clubs

There were 102 members enrolled in corn clubs, just twice the enrollment of last year. Of these, 72 completed records on their projects, growing 3,734 bushels of corn on 92 acres, an average of 40.8 bushels per acre. This production is about 15 bushels per acre below our average club production during the last seven years, but is still about 8 bushels above the state average. Too much rain and cloudy weather seems to have been a limiting factor in corn production this year. Four of the corn club members this year were girls, and all finished their project.

Soy Bean Clubs

Interest in soy bean club work continues to decline and this year only 2 boys enrolled in this project. One of the boys has returned a completed record showing a production of 20 tons of hay on his 5 acre plot.

Irish Potatoes

Nineteen boys entered potato clubs this year and 17 of them reported a total yield of 517 bushels on 6.5 acres of land. Yields were low but the price for early potatoes was good and these boys made money.

Sweet Potatoes

Enrollment in sweet potato club work doubled in 1926 with 31 members enrolled and 21 completing their records. They grew 1290 bushels of sweet potatoes on 14½ acres of land. Twenty-seven of these enrollments and 17 of the completed records were in Sussex county.

Dairy Clubs

During the last three years interest in dairy club work has shifted from New Castle county to Kent and Sussex counties. Likewise the demand has changed from Holstein heifers to Jersey or Guernsey animals. The interest is about equally divided between these two counties with a total enrollment of 26 boys, 17 of whom kept records on 18 animals for the year. The report of the New Castle County Club Agent includes a detailed report by Marvin Klair giving the record of feed costs and milk receipts from his five-year-old Guernsey cow. His profit for this period was $41.99.

Swine Clubs

The renewed interest developed in pig club work last year was continued this year and 37 boys and girls enrolled. Of this number 49 completed records on the costs and returns from 100 animals. Most of the boys were interested in producing a market animal for immediate sale, rather than developing a pure-bred involving a longer period of time and greater uncertainty of returns. This reflects the common practice of their home communities.

Poultry Clubs

A one hundred per cent increase in enrollment reflects the growing appeal of poultry club work to both boys and girls. One hundred and twenty boys and 49 girls enrolled this year and 86 boys and 33 girls completed records involving the ownership and care of 3618 birds. Interest is developing in keeping flock records in the senior project and less difficulty is encountered in securing completed records in this rather difficult project. One New Castle county boy had an average production of 184 eggs per bird this year.

For the third year the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad sponsored a poultry club in New Castle county, and this year gave to each of 6 boys and 4 girls, 10 pullets and two cockerels. At the Sesqui-Centennial Poultry Show at Philadelphia, these club members won $35.00 in cash prizes in competition with poultry club members from Illinois, West Virginia and Maryland.

Health and Nutrition

In Kent and Sussex counties 182 girls and 123 boys were enrolled in health clubs, and all completed the records required. In Kent county 65 boys and girls adopted recommended practices in the use of health score cards, good posture, prevention of colds, good elimination and care of teeth. Co-operation in conducting the work in Kent county was given by the State Board of Health, the three County Welfare Nurses, and the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. The program dealt entirely with food habits. Members recorded their food habits over a two week period and were weighed regularly during a twelve week period. A detailed record of weight and height gains of these children is found in the Kent County Club Agent's report.

In Sussex county sufficient assistance was not available to permit of detailed record keeping. The 210 boys and girls took their own weights at the beginning and end of the three month period and each kept a food score card under supervision of their school teachers.

Clothing Clubs

Considerable concern has been expressed over the number of clothing club enrollments as compared to those in other projects. The continued interest on the part of girls in every community and the often expressed appreciation of parents should for all time quiet any doubt of the value of this work and provide economic reason for accepting just as many enrollments as each agent can satisfactorily supervise.

The statement of Miss Helen L. Comstock, Club Agent of Kent county, in her report this year is so indicative of the value of clothing club work that it is repeated here:

"There will always be need for clothing clubs. Now that children wear washable garments the year around, it requires a greater number of dresses. They not only need to learn the proper construction of clothing, but the suitable selection, and proper care of garments."

"There has always been a larger percentage of clothing clubs than any other one project. There are several reasons for this. Probably the most important reason is that it is the one project that is of interest to all girls."

"Another consideration of almost equal importance is that it requires no great outlay of money, for in the county there are many, many homes where the pennies have to be spent very carefully. Many of the girls work in the fields in the summer to earn money for the material for their clothing club articles."

The following short quotations from a few girls' stories show the interest of the girls and must touch the heart of the most hardened objector.

"I have done the third year of sewing and am ready for the fourth year. I wanted to join the third year so I cut corn for a neighbor till I had enough money to buy a dress, bloomers, and slippers, which I cut out and made by myself with a least bit of help."

"I have been in club work for three years. I like the club work. But I had to pick blackberries and tomatoes to get enough money to get the material for my three years' work."

There is a little girl in Kent County who does not forget the Heart H. Her parents live on a very small farm. The land is poor and there are eight to be fed. Perhaps the parents could do better, but they know little better. They are the product of their environment. The girl has no money to spend, but that does not crush her love of giving which she expresses in this paragraph of her story.

"These are some of the Christmas presents I made last year. I made a handkerchief for my father, a holder, cooking pad and wash cloth for my mother, and a dress and doll for my little sister. So when Christmas morning came, I gave them each one a Christmas present, and they liked them very much."

There were 577 girls enrolled in clothing club work in the State this year and 474 of them finished their work. Each of these girls completed at least 4 articles of clothing.

House Furnishings

One club of 11 girls in Sussex county enrolled in this project and all completed the requirements. The girls had instructions in doing over floors, other woodwork, etc., the selection of rugs, draperies, wall paper, and the making of baskets in preparation for doing over their own rooms. Each girls' room was inspected by the Agent and the girl whose room showed the most improvement was awarded a prize by a local organization interested in their work.

COUNTY AGENT WORK

Under the section of work directed by the three County Agents, Mr. Cobb reports more direct and tangible results than have ever been achieved previously. He states that during the year 1926, County Extension Agents made 2,287 farm and home visits and answered 3,892 requests for information that came into the respective offices. The County Agents have had the active co-operation of 221 volunteer local leaders in projecting programs in 50 agricultural communities and have held 465 demonstration meetings attended by 7,485 persons. In addition the agents have addressed 548 other meetings.

The report on County Agent Projects follows, in part:

Soils

County Agents devoted 33 days to soil problems in their counties this year, their work in this connection being largely of a miscellaneous nature. Five method demonstrations were given, and 4 result demonstrations started and completed.

In Sussex County the Agent advised with several large land owners in connection with a drainage project near Frankford, and distributed 100 soil survey maps.

Glasgow

Glasgow School will hold the regular monthly P-T. A. meeting Wednesday evening of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dayett, Sr., gave a dinner on Saturday afternoon of last week in honor of Mr. H. L. Dayett, Sr.'s, birthday, which was on January first. Owing to the death of their granddaughter, the dinner had been postponed. Many relatives and friends were entertained.

Mrs. Flora Brooks was at her home here for a few days of last week.

Misses Beulah Leasure of this place,
Ruth Poole, of Preston, Md., and Earle Cox of Lewisville, Pennsylvania, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cleaver, of Christiana, on Thursday evening of last week.

Misses Ruth Poole and Mary Campbell and Ernest Sheldon, of Newark, spent Tuesday evening with Miss B.
R. Leasure.

Mrs. J. L. Ford was with her parents over the week-end.

Quite a few men are busy scraping
the snow from the road from Newark to Middletown.

LEROY SYKES SHOT CLEANING REVOLVER

"Roy" Sykes was admitted to Union Hospital, Elkton, Saturday, suffering from a bullet wound inflicted while he is alleged to have been cleaning a revolver at his home on the outskirts of Elkton. The bullet passed through his lung, but physicians at the hospital have hopes for his recovery.

Sykes was out on bail on charges of selling liquor in Cecil county and also in Delaware. A charge against him in Delaware was to have been heard before the January term of Federal Court which began this week.

Elkton

About thirty members of the Elkton Rotary Club were guests of the Wilmington Rotary Club at their dinner and dance held in the Hotel du Pont-Biltmore, Monday night in honor of Mr. Harry H. Rogers, president of Rotary International, who comes to Wilmington from San Antonio, Texas.
The affair was known as "Harry H.
Rogers Inter-Club Ladies' Night."

The Fourth Quarterly Conference
will be held by District Superintendent Colona in the Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church on Thursday evening
following the evangelistic service. Dr.
Colona will also preach that evening.

Miss Flora Scotten, aged about 61 years, died early Tuesday morning at the home of her brother, Gove S.
Scotten, On Main street, Elkton, after a brief illness. Miss Scotten led a quiet and reserved life, and was well liked by all who knew her. She is survived by one brother, Gove S.
Scotten, and a sister, Mrs. Horace Jenkins. Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon, with interment at Galena.

Three fire alarms were sounded in Elkton on Saturday, two for out-of-town calls and one in the rear of the home of Thomas C. Major, where a chimney was discovered ablaze. The firemen extinguished the blaze without much damage. The first out-of-town call was at the home of Mr.
Wyre in North East, whose small bungalow was partially destroyed, with its contents. The second was a barn on a farm near Andora, which was destroyed. All properties were insured.

Evangelistic services began in the Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church on Monday night, in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. G. Harris. Visiting ministers are expected several evenings during the meetings.

ful tea last Saturday afternoon.

Mermaid

Harmony Grange met on Monday evening at the Pennington home because of the extreme cold. Although the attendance was small on account of sickness and blocked roads, a very pleasant evening was had. After the business meeting the program of the Lecturer's hour was all impromptu as,
because of absences, the regular program was postponed. The social hour closed with a treat of saltines and fudge by the host and hostess.

Among those on the sick list reported recovering are Mrs. Scott, Leonard Eastburn and Mildred Dennison.

On Friday evening, several from the Mermaid attended a surprise shower to Miss Martha Gregg, of Marshallton, who is to be married to Egbert Klair on the twenty-fifth of January.

The Missionary Society of White Clay Creek Church was held at the Wm. P. Peach home, last Thursday evening.

On Sunday, callers at the Leonard
Eastburn home were Mr. and Mrs.
Louis Guest and the Pennington family.

Harry Pierson and C. L. Walker and family, of Wilmington, were recent callers at the Pennington home.

Members of the community were shocked at the very sudden death of Mr. Jacob Moore on Friday.

Public Sentiment

Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed. Consequently he who molds public sentiment goes deeper than he who enacts statutes or pronounces decisions. He makes statutes and decisions possible or impossible to be executed.—Abraham Lincoln.

New Post Office

Newark has cause to feel a resigned gratitude for the fact that a new post office is actually in view. Of course, the appropriation has been only recommended, but it will probably be a mere matter of form in having it passed through the Federal Legislature.

The Government has owned a site in Newark for fourteen years, and for the major portion of that period the town has been in dire need of increased postal facilities. The present plant occupies just half the minimum space postal experts recommend for the amount of business transacted in Newark, and the best part of the present mechanical equipment is antiquated and inefficient.

The site where the new building will be erected is ideal in every way, and when the structure is completed, it will be a fine supplement to the other town improvements that are making Newark an outstanding community.

Anyway, What Is the Difference?

The Dover Delawarean recently, in true Quixotian manner, aimed an editorial lance at a windmill when they took Roger W. Babson to task for his opinion on present business conditions in the United States. By direct assertion and innuendo they conveyed the impression that Babson functions as the statistical mouthpiece of an oligarchy of wealth, who also employ the Coolidge administration in a program to grind up common people into the economic dust under the feet of these Caliphs of Cash.

While we hold no particular brief for Roger W. Babson, and if our down-state contemporaries feel that way about the general state of affairs, it's all right with us; we would like to set them right on some of the details they barbed their lance with. In the first place, Roger Babson makes no monetary profit from the school of business administration bearing his name. It happens to be an endowed institution, incorporated under the charitable and educational laws of Massachusetts. In the second place, Babson has no busted bank on his hands for the exceedingly simple reason that he has never owned a bank. And, thirdly, Babson is not inconsistent in his opinion of the Coolidge administration. While that is a personal opinion, and, by the laws of our broad country, open to criticism by any one, it is based on cold cash figures that show that the present average income and purchasing power of the people of these United States is greater than it has ever before been in normal times.

Babson, in his confidential services to business men, and his public releases to newspapers, acts primarily as a reporter of existing conditions. While he has reported certain industries in process of reaction, it does not argue that the general business situation is headed for the dumps, any more than that a scratched finger will make a physical wreck of a person. It might, but it generally does not.

ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE

The Philosopher

Colman-Wood sat in his study and talked. He did not appear to be aware that the late afternoon fog made the room as dark as night. He did not appear to be aware that all London was taking tea at this time. He did not even seem to realize that he was alone; for he talked aloud.

"A man must work; work is his destiny, his reason for being. He must toil and know the feeling of sweat on his brow before he can know the purpose of life and the meaning of happiness. Without work life has no significance. . . . What privilege to get up at dawn and plow all day in the fields; to build homes with one's hands; or to drive great, steam-snooting engines!"

"The time will come—perhaps—perhaps the time will come when this earthly life will be something simple and beautiful beyond imagination: the sort of life that man needs and feels now and then vague presentiments of. But it will take centuries, and work. All that we can ever do to have a share in that future life is by preparing for it now, by work."

"That is man's only hope: work. He must learn the difference between drudgery and work. He must learn that all leisure is a curse. We are depressed, we see life as a dark and dirty alleyway through which we are passing without a light, because we know not work. . . .

"And I must work." Colman-Wood stood up quickly. "I must labor and make things with my hands." He strode forward eagerly. His being tingled. He felt lightning in his veins. Apparently he did not notice the table in his path; for he walked into and upset it with a crash. He cursed, and stepped cautiously to the left only to trip over a foot-stool and fall on his hands and knees. He wept, crawling on his knees and feeling awkwardly with his hands for the chair he had just quit.

A swift patter of steps outside; the door opened; the lights went on with a click. The servant took him by the arm and gently guided him back to his chair. Colman-Wood suddenly left off sobbing. He lifted his head and, turning his dull dead eyes to where he heard the other man moving about, said, "You may bring my tea, Marston."—S. W.

Local esteem is far more conducive to happiness than general reputation. The latter may be compared to the fixed stars which glimmer so remotely as to afford little light and no warmth. The former is like the sun, each day shedding his prolific and cheering beams.—W. B. Clulow.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

The Top Hat

An old journal, dated January 16, 1797, gives the following amusing account of the wearing of the first silk hat in London:—"John Hetherington, haberdasher, of the strand, was arraigned before the Lord Mayor yesterday on a charge of breach of the peace and inciting to riot, and was required to give bonds in the sum of £500. It was in evidence that Mr. Hetherington, who is well connected, appeared on the public highway wearing upon his head what he called a silk hat (which was offered in evidence), a tall structure having a shiny lustre, and calculated to frighten timid people. As a matter of fact, the officers of the Crown stated that several women fainted at the unusual sight, while children screamed, dogs yelped, and a younger son of Cordwainer Thomas, who was returning from a chandler's shop, was thrown down by the crowd which had collected, and had his right arm broken. For these reasons the Defendant was seized by the guards and taken before the Lord Mayor. In extenuation of his crime the Defendant claimed that he had not violated any law of the kingdom, but was merely exercising a right to appear in a headress of his own design—a right not denied to any Englishman."—London Times.

EXCERPTS FROM MARKHAM'S SPEECH

From Edwin Markham's speech at "College Hour" at Wolf Hall, last Wednesday.

"No one knows what poetry is, because it springs out of the emotions and not out of the intellect."

"Science gives one the meanings of the world in terms of law. Poetry begins where science ends, comes to light up a realm that is not lighted up by science at all."

"At the summit of art stands religion, which is the peak of art itself."

"The artist may imitate up to a certain point, then he must add something of himself."

"The tree in the picture and in the poem may be more wonderful, more suggestive than the tree itself."

"Art is one of the things that children rebuke our littleness."

"Silence is the best substitute for wisdom; if you are not wise, be silent."

EASTERN STAR ELECTS OFFICERS

Newly-elected officers of Newark Chapter, No. 10, Order Eastern Star, were installed at the first meeting of this month, in the Chapter room, Red Men's Hall. The installation ceremony was performed by Worthy Grand Matron Leach of New Castle, assisted by other grand officers.

The elected officers installed were: Mrs. Alice D. Truitt, matron; Robert S. Gallaher, patron; Mrs. Arzie Lewis, associate matron; Mrs. Edna Wood, conductress; Miss Anna Gallaher, associate conductress; Mrs. Katherine C. Lynam, secretary; Mrs. Irene Mote, treasurer. The appointed officers were installed at the same time.

The retiring matron and re-elected patron were presented with jewels. The retiring officers and matron-elect received several gifts from the members. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

DELAWARE LEADS IN CONCRETE ROADS

A survey recently completed by the Portland Cement Association shows Delaware to be far ahead of any other state in the Union in its proportionate length of concrete roads. Delaware has about 550 miles of concrete highway with the entire country showing approximately 44,000 miles concrete roads.

Including several widening projects, about 50 miles of new roads were added in Delaware in 1926.

Maintenance costs on concrete paving are perhaps more easily obtainable in Delaware than any other State, in view of the fact that it builds virtually no other type. C. D. Buck, chief highway engineer, has estimated that the slab maintenance on Delaware's 500 or more miles of hard surfaced roads ranges between $10 and $70 a mile. Including snow removal, grading of earth shoulders, painting of guard rails, etc., the average annual maintenance of Delaware's hard roads is $295 a mile.

W. C. D. Junior Prom

The Junior Prom of the Women's College, given last Friday evening in Old College, was voted the best dance ever given by Women's College, from the stand-point of attendance, music, decorations, and all arrangements. One hundred and sixty couples, representing the faculty, alumnae, and the three upper classes of the college, were present. The dance was given by the Junior Class for the members of the graduating class. The president of the Freshman Class, Miss Margaret Middleton, was also a guest of honor.

In the receiving line were: Miss Marjorie Johnson, president of the Junior Class; Miss Elizabeth Wiley, president of the Senior Class; Dean Robinson, Miss Nora E. Keeley, faculty-advisor of the Junior Class; Miss Ethel Parker, social advisor from the faculty; Mrs. Walter Hollihen, and Mrs. George E. Dutton. George Madden's eight-piece orchestra furnished the music. The committee for the patronesses included Ruth Larter and Martha Hill; for the music, Hattie McCabe and Jane Warner. Those in the receiving line received beautiful corsage bouquets, as did also Miss Ruth King, dietitian of the Women's College, in appreciation of the assistance she gave the girls in their arrangements.

Old College was beautifully decorated with a latticed effect in black crepe paper, forming a trellis, on which hung red and orange poppies. The dance was formal and opened with a grand march, led by Miss Katharine Horton, vice-president of the Junior Class.

Forty-two freshmen had been chosen by their "big sisters," the juniors, to serve the refreshments. These girls were attractively uniformed in maid's costumes and wore bell-boy caps perked cockily on the sides of their heads. Following the dance and just before the refreshments were served, several students gave a twenty-minute program of attractive novelty dances. These girls were: Misses Elsie Hubert, Dorothy Hayes, Helen Morgan, Edith Kimes, Sara Goldstein, Rebecca Cann, Marian Robbins, Edna Timmis, and Mae Wisneski.

Other committees responsible for the success of the party were: Decorations, Dorothy Bond, chairman, assisted by Lillian Benson, Thelma Shellen, Frances Malcolm, and Harriett Barkley; supper committee, Grace Smedley, chairman, assisted by Ella Reynolds, Martha Maull, and Olive Murray; Sara Coffin was in charge of the waitresses, assisted by Romaine Robinson, of the Freshman class. Programs, Christine Baker, chairman, assisted by Jean Lobach and Elizabeth Thornley; favors, Alice Holloway, chairman, assisted by Frances Eckbert and Edith Biddle; entertainment and novelty committee, Frances Malcolm.

PARTY AT BLUE HEN TEA ROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Truitt entertained at cards last Saturday evening at the Blue Hen Tea Room. The guests were: Misses May and Edna Chambers, Mrs. Harvey Boyce, Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fader, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brewer, Mrs. Orville Little, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reynolds, Miss Florence Steel and Miss Helen Steel.

FIELD FIRE

Thursday the Aetna Fire Company was called to extinguish another field fire at Harmony Station.

NEW CENTURY CLUB NOTES

The Newark New Century Club met in the club house on Monday, January the seventeenth, the president, Mrs. A. D. Cobb in the chair. Mrs. Cobb read "A Message to Women," from the President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The program was in charge of Mrs. Armand Durant. Miss Nell B. Wilson played Chinese music. Mrs. Henry Winter Davis introduced her ten-year-old nephew, Jack Rogers, who has been living in Paris. He sang a French song and entertained with a few incidents in his school life abroad. Mrs. Katharine Maltby Blaisdell, of New York City, was the speaker of the afternoon. She talked informally of her life in China and her impressions of Peking—telling of many interesting Chinese customs. Mrs. Robert Price played and interpreted Chinese nursery rhymes.

There will be a benefit card party for the club in the club house Tuesday evening, February first.

Owing to illness there is a change in the program for next Monday, January the twenty-fourth. Instead of a play by the Dramatic Club at 8.30 in the evening, there will be an afternoon meeting at 2.30 at which time Mrs. C. O. Houghton will read a play of George Ade's, called "The Mayor and the Manicure." All members are urged to be present.

—Mrs. J. C. Hastings, Secretary.

PARTY FOR MISS HEISER

A very delightful "shower" was given at the Blue Hen Tea Room last Friday evening by Miss Dora Law for Miss Olive Heiser, whose engagement to Mr. Herman Dimmock was recently announced. So cleverly planned was the whole affair that Miss Heiser walked unsuspectingly into the tea room, only to be greeted by twenty-five friends and a goodly array of gifts. Nor did the cleverness of the planning stop there, for at intervals during the party Miss Heiser was surprised by more gifts given in a manner to add to the charm and excitement of the occasion. Bridge was played and Mrs. Walter Ritz, of Lynn, Massachusetts, won first prize; Miss Edna Ellison, of Wilmington, the second. Of the "draw" prizes, Mrs. Oliver Goffigon, of Elmira, New York, had first choice; Miss Olive Heiser, the second. Supper was served in the dining room.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Delaware Musical Association will present the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Shubert Playhouse, Wilmington, on the evening of January 31, and feels a pardonable pride in making this announcement.

The Boston Symphony is one of the really great orchestras of the world. Its forthcoming appearance is its first in Wilmington and music lovers there and in the vicinity will thus have opportunity for a really unusual treat.

The personnel of the orchestra includes 108 trained musicians, recruited from the highest ranks, and it will be under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky, who has been its leader since 1924.

Mrs. William N. Bannard, 1104 Greenhill avenue, Wilmington, is now taking orders for seats and will continue to do so until the tickets are placed on sale at the box office a few days before the concert.

But if you would be happy in Berkshire, you must carry mountains in your brain; and if you would enjoy Nahant, you must have an ocean in your soul. Nature plays at dominoes with you; you must match her piece, or she will never give it up to you.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

4-H Club Boys Awarded Prize

Twenty boys of the New Castle County 4-H Clubs have been awarded a year's subscription to Boys' Life Magazine through the courtesy of Charles Warner Co. of Wilmington. The selection of the boys was made by County Club Agent Ed Williams, of Newark.

"The basis of selection of these fortunate club members was not only their record of the past year's work in which they were entered, also on the general and special interest in club work shown by boys," said Mr. Williams when mentioned on the method of selecting winners. "The announcement of these subscriptions would give the worthy club members of the county," continued the Club Agent, "made last spring by the Charles Warner Company."

This is the second year that organization has furthered its plan to reward the winners of clubs in the county with an award that should prove educational as well as interesting. It is believed by Agent that the donors will continue this award for the coming year.

Newark Smothers Del. City, 54 to 20

High School Boys Find Little Opposition; Full Squad Gets In Contest; No Girls' Game

Last Wednesday evening the male quintet from the Newark High School held a basketball picnic at Fort Du Pont. Delaware City furnished the baskets and Newark a plethora of filling. The final computation was 54 to 20, and the only bit of brightness in the score keeper's evening was that Ann Chalmers wasn't in the game.

Coach Malin used his entire squad before the evening was done, and all but four of them registered on the scoreboard. Riley was high point man with six baskets and two fouls. Morris showed a better brand of basketball at forward and contributed 8 points to the total. Jaquette, who is rapidly regaining form that was off, due to injuries, caged two from the field and shot four fouls.

McManus did most of the individual execution for Delaware City, with 7 points. The score:

Last Wednesday night, the University of Delaware basketball team proved their big league calibre by meeting the West Point Cadets on their own floor and losing by only three points. When you consider that the student body at West Point is selected for physical perfection and that diversified athletics is an important part of the curricula, the Blue and Gold deserves considerable applause for their close fight. In fact, they more than held the Army to a close score, they gave the Cadets the fright of their lives by leading at the end of the first half, 8 to 6.

The game continued in the second fast and brilliant, but clean, and the Army, through Mills' shooting from the field, finally gained the verdict. In a last minute rally, LeCarpentier and Jaquette each got a basket. Johnny LeCarpentier was the star of the game, statistically and from pure basketball ball brilliance. He had high individual score with 8 points and played a whole of a game both offensively and defensively. The score:

Delaware Loses To Pratt, 21-17

Blue And Gold Visit City Of Unburied Dead And Find A Live One

Friday night the University of Delaware went across the Brooklyn Bridge and entered the grave yard of New York. However, they found some ghosts that could not only walk, but do a number of agile things necessary to win a basketball game by 21 to 17 tallies, or perints, as they say in Brooklyn. After their dazzling showing at West Point, Delaware deserves small applause for their game against Pratt Institute.

DiJosephs and LeCarpentier chalked most of Delaware's points, getting 11 between them, while Longyear of Pratt scored 7 for his side. Pratt led at the half 11 to 8. Delaware caught them, but the Brooklyn ghosts slipped away in a closing rally to win by 4 points.

Saturday, Delaware will oppose Drexel Institute, in Philadelphia. The score:

Aetna Bowling League In Full Swing

The Aetna Bowling League has settled down to a hard winter's fight for the pennant honors. The four teams comprising the league bowled Friday night and last night with the National and Curtis Company team, getting the edge with a winning average both nights. Friday the Fire Company and the Continental teams rolled themselves into a tie, each winning one game; while National and Curtis team won from the Business Men, 2 to 0. Last night, National and Curtis beat the Fire Company two games, and the Continental team took the Business Men's pin busters into camp by the same number of games. Crow, of the Fire Company team, had high score Friday with 188 pins in the second game, while H. Jackson, of Continental, took the honors last night with a score of 189 in the first game. Newark Defeated By Tome, 31 to 12

High School Succumbs To Rugged Play Of Prep School; Williamson Sharp Shoots For Newark

Last Saturday afternoon Newark High School gave Tome a work-out at Tome and succumbed to a basketball technique that smacked of professional training.

We don't mean by that that the amateur standing of the prep school boys is questioned, but the rules as interpreted in that game were on a professional basis rather than scholastic. This allowed for a more rugged style of play, which the local boys were not familiar with and were unable to solve. Strange to say the most diminutive member of the High School squad played rings around his teammates and rang up as many tallies as any one in the game. Williamson, though of half-pint portion, is a finished basketball player and accounted for 7 points. This was not surpassed and only equaled by two of Tome's stars. One of these two happened to be "Shorty" Chalmers, which

A. & P. STORES LOWER THE PRICES OF BREAD

For the benefit of the public the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company has reduced the price of bread, again passing its savings on to its customers, announcing that its increased sales makes the big reduction possible. There will be no change in weight or quality, assurance is given. Grandmother's bread, formerly 7 cents, is now 6 cents, and pan loaf, formerly 10 cents, is now 9 cents. This change, operative at once, extends to all the stores of the company, established in 1859, and having as its motto, "Where Economy Rules."

Cover crop demonstrations are under way in Kent for soil improvement and addition of organic matter in corn and soybean fields. Demonstrations covering live rows were conducted on three farms in Sussex county, using scarlet clover with corn and soybeans after cutting.
Three demonstrations using oyster shell lime are under way in Sussex county.

Farm Crops

Corn—Seven demonstrations of dust
fungicides to improve germination and eradicate fungus disease were conducted in Kent county in co-operation with the Extension Plant Pathologist. Results are not as yet complete, as corn has not been husked. In all observations it was noted that treated seed germinated more freely than the untreated.

In Sussex county a number of seed
samples were sent by the County Agent to the State Seed Analyst, including corn, soybeans and wheat.
The results of the seed testing discussed at community meetings.
Six demonstrations of the use of potash and muriatic acid of salt were started in Sussex county. The materials were applied in addition to the amounts of fertilizers usually used by growers. Results are not available.

Wheat—Demonstration of treating wheat with copper carbonate to control stinking smut or rust were continued along lines started in 1925. Fields on eleven farms where treated seed was used in 1925 were inspected in June and on farms results were compared with check plots where seed was not treated. The average "burn" infection on treated plots was 2.6 per cent and on untreated plots 19.65 per cent.
Based on figures secured by County Agent the Plant Pathologist reports that bushels of seed treated by copper carbonate in 1925, and 20,600 bushels in 1926.

Alfalfa—Delaware does not produce sufficient quantity of alfalfa hay to meet the needs of its livestock. Because of its known feeding value, and the fact that previous demonstrations have shown that alfalfa can be successfully grown in practically every section of the State, County Agents are recommending additional planting and giving advice as to best methods of seed, proper inoculation, irrigation and cultivation.

Cultural demonstrations were given by the New Castle County Agent on selected farms, using hardy, thrusting seed, lime, and proper rotation. The purpose of these demonstrations is to encourage the growing of more alfalfa hay in this section, by showing that it can be grown economically, and that the cost of this hay will cut down the cost of milk production. In this county the taken from farm management shows that the amount of feed purchased on a farm can be reduced by 50 per cent through the use of alfalfa hay instead of a combination of hay or corn stover for feed.

Beans—Previous demonstrations with soybeans have resulted in a county becoming the main producer of soybean seed in the United States for soybean seed. As a cash crop the section, soybeans have supplied a considerable acreage of land which was not profitable. Kent county produces some seed which is used in the county, and a considerable quantity of soybean hay largely to dairy animals. New Castle county has produced little seed, the production of hay has increased, although slowly.

The growing of soybeans for hay has been demonstrated as of practice in New Castle county during the last few years, the Agent this established four demonstrations and the results to be secured from soybeans as a cash grain crop. On the two plots from which data are available, the yield was 23 bushels per acre which had a cost value of about $25.00 more than the average return from an acre of wheat this year.

Potatoes—In New Castle county
where the bulk of market potatoes are produced, the use of certified seed or second generation from certified seed, has become the general practice due to the demonstrations conducted by the County Agent over a period of several years. For the four years just ended the demonstrations have been conducted to compare the yields of certified seed and second generation seed. For the three years ending in 1925 the certified seed produced an average of 41 bushels per acre over second generation seed. It is not felt that the negative results of this year should be too seriously considered as disease and weather conditions were unusual. However, the results this year may be a basis for continuing the project which might otherwise have been considered to have served its purpose.

Tomatoes—This was an off year in tomato production due to the glut season of 1925, and very few canneries operated. Three field demonstrations were conducted—two in New Castle county and one in Kent. In the Kent county demonstration Bonny Best tomatoes from southern grown plants produced more marketable tomatoes than other varieties of either southern or northern grown plants. In the New Castle county demonstrations, good seed, and proper fertilization and cultural practices were emphasized. The resulting yields were slightly over four tons per acre, about double the estimated average yield for the county
this year.

Orchard Spray Service—As an outcome of the practice started two years ago, of having the County Agent accompany the Extension Plant Pathologist one day each week during the season in visiting orchards in Kent and Sussex counties, an orchard spray service was started this year. Based on information secured during field trips, orchard spray notes are prepared by the Extension Pathologist, covering problems of insect disease and control. These letters are distributed by the County Agents to orchardists in their counties. This service was also extended to New Castle county where about 35 farmers having small home orchards were interested.
Ten editions of the service were distributed this year.

The duties of the County Agents in connected with all horticultural projects are largely those of furnishing contacts between the individual fruit growers and the specialists of the Extension Department and the Experiment Station.

Livestock

Dairying—Improved feeding methods of dairy cattle were emphasized
this year in New Castle and Sussex counties. Results in Sussex county demonstrated that when soybeans sell for less than $1.75 per bushel, they can be profitably fed to dairy cows.
Alfalfa hay reduced the cost of purchased dairy feeds by at least 30 per cent.

The second annual dairy school at Nassau was well attended and emphasized the need of a testing association. Two months later 25 producers signed as members of a testing association made possible through the cooperation of the Inter-State Dairy Council which agreed to furnish sample kits and do the testing. This modified plan has worked successfully.
Only two members dropped out. About 50 boarder cows have been discarded and in most cases were replaced by better animals.

The bull club organized in 1925 has five blocks headed by splendid bulls.
About $350 has been paid on indebt-ness and the members now have 43

heifer calves and 11 bull calves from these sires.

The milk sales from Nassau amounted to $170,000 this year. Five years ago no milk was sold from this territory.

Swine—Cholera control by the State Board of Agriculture and local veterinarians was given material assistance
by the Sussex County Agent who organized communities for the wholesale vaccination of hogs during the severe outbreaks of cholera which occurred during the year.

Poultry—Poultry Extension Work
is under the direction of the Poultry Extension Specialist who directs all projects. The work of the County Agents consists in locating demonstration farms, arranging for tours and meetings, and the handling of publicity and reports of the agent devoted to the poultry activities in cooperation with the specialist. Details of the work are given in the Specialist's report.

Delaware Led Nation In Child Saving Last Year; Conference At Washington Shows Comparative Results

Dr. C. A. Sargent, in charge of the division of child hygiene, Delaware State Board of Health, reports that in the National Conference of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, held in Washington last week, it was brought out that Delaware lead the nation in comparative results, during 1926, in child saving.

During the conference the Maternity and Infancy Act was given serious discussion. Under this act, all States doing child saving work receive financial support from the National Government.

Summarizing the activities of this department of the State Board of Health, Dr. Sargent said that there were fourteen nurses, 5 in Wilmington and 9 throughout the State, who visit homes, supervise mid-wives, deliver birth certificates and give advice to mothers on the care of children. These nurses deal with children from the pre-natal period to the age of adolescence.

In addition to the nurses there are 18 health centers, 4 in Wilmington and 14 throughout the counties, where clinics are located.

During the past year there have been 272 conferences conducted by physicians and attended by 21,218 mothers, 328 pre-natal cases registered and 683 examinations conducted. There were 9,684 infants and children under school age registered and examined at clinics. In this number 924 defects were detected and 759 of these defects corrected.

The nurses made 17,726 visits and inspected 5,912 children. Four little mother classes were organized with an enrollment of 125. All completed the course arranged.

In the rural sections of Delaware, where mid-wives flourish, 217 were enrolled with 22 classes of instruction opened for them.

There were visits made to homes of 10,704 children under school age and a total of 19,072 home visits made altogether. There were two lectures to physicians, two to nurses and 19 to other groups with 41 group demonstrations.

The work Delaware is doing to prevent diphtheria was a feature of Dr. Sargent's address to the National Conference and the progress he reported was considered remarkable. In this work 41,361 children were reached and clinics were conducted in practically every community in the State.

"HOLD THAT LION"

When is a cat not a cat?
Answer: When it's a lion!
Because he doesn't know that, in the language of big game hunters, a "cat" means a lion, Douglas MacLean becomes involved in a lion hunting expedition in the course of his thrilling and hilarious adventures in his latest comedy, "Hold That Lion."

This will be the feature picture at the Newark Opera House next Monday and Tuesday. Film fans, who feel the need of a strong laugh tonic, will find this MacLean vehicle the right kind of screen medicine. Watching the smiling funmaker trying to act romantic while minus his trousers, or attending a fashionable dance in a pair of stolen Scotch kilts, or getting familiar with half dozen hungry lions, is a sure cure for all aches and pains.

The above are just a few of the many gags and laugh moments in this smile-a-minute comedy, which begins in a New York sky-scraper and ends in an African jungle. Between these two scenic extremes, MacLean chases a beautiful blonde with whom he has fallen in love at first sight. It would be unfair to relate how he proves himself a hero as a big game hunter, despite his craven fear. Suffice to say that even the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would indorse his humane and humorous method of capturing a ferocious lion.

William Beaudine, who made such an excellent directorial job of "That's My Baby," wielded the megaphone on this one as well. Rosalie Mulhall wrote the original screen story and Joseph Franklin Poland attended to the adaptation. Constance Howard supports the star.

Examination W

Examination W

This week all the public schools, from the kindergarten through the High School, are holding examinations in the various studies. Prof. J. B. Moore, in speaking of examinations, said it is an often misapprehension and the significance of examinations is generally misunderstood. The following is, in brief, the fundamental uses of examinations: 1. To determine the student's knowledge of the subject. 2. To determine the student's ability to apply knowledge. 3. To determine the student's ability to solve problems. 4. To determine the student's ability to work under pressure. 5. To determine the student's ability to work independently. 6. To determine the student's ability to work in a group. 7. To determine the student's ability to work in a team. 8. To determine the student's ability to work in a community. 9. To determine the student's ability to work in a world. 10. To determine the student's ability to work in a universe.

The first essential is to determine clearly what the examination is to determine. Examination is at least three things: 1. A test of knowledge. 2. A test of ability. 3. A test of character. 4. A test of personality. 5. A test of intelligence. 6. A test of power. 7. A test of influence. 8. A test of authority. 9. A test of leadership. 10. A test of greatness. 11. A test of glory. 12. A test of honor. 13. A test of fame. 14. A test of fortune. 15. A test of power. 16. A test of influence. 17. A test of authority. 18. A test of leadership. 19. A test of greatness. 20.
