CARS SMASHED IN ACCIDENTS NO ONE HURT

Three Cars Badly Damaged In Accidents In Newark During Week. But Occupants All Escape Injury; One Driver Fined

TRAFFIC CASES

In two accidents in Newark during the past week, cars were badly damaged, but occupants escaped with minor injuries. Last night, Frank Gregg, of Providence, Md., had a miraculous escape from injury when he wrecked his car on West Main street, at Oak Lane. Gregg, who was said to have been hurrying to Wilmington where his sister was reported dying, ran off the road with his, which struck two abutments and then somersaulted. Gregg was practically uninjured, but his car, a Ford sedan, was badly smashed. The accident occurred about 11:15.

On Friday, Mrs. Esther Connell, of Landenberg, Pa., in making a left turn at Chapel and Main streets, was struck by a car driven by Arthur Hauber, of Newark. Mrs. Connell was arrested on a warrant signed by Mr. Hauber, charging reckless driving, and was found guilty of the charge in a hearing before Magistrate Thompson. She was fined $10. She agreed to pay for the damages to Hauber's car, which were estimated at $400. Her car was also badly damaged. Neither of the drivers were injured. It was brought out in the hearing that Mrs. Connell had taken a short turn, and had invaded Mr. Hauber's right of way.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Palmer were slightly injured and their car damaged, when they were struck by another car, near Betterton, Md. The driver of the other car drove into the highway from a side road without stopping, and crashed into the Palmer car.

Traffic Cases

On Sunday, G. Clifton Oertle, of Philadelphia, was arrested by Town Officer Cunningham for reckless driving on the streets of Newark. He was fined $10 by Magistrate Thompson.

Yesterday State Highway Officer Carpenter arraigned Solomon Lowenstein, of Elkins Park, Pa., before Magistrate Thompson. The charge was reckless driving; the fine $10.

Membership in the Library, which is in the Old Academy Building, is $1.00 per year. The library is supported by these memberships and by help from the Newark New Century Club. During the summer approximately 75 new books were added to the shelves of the Library, and now funds are urgently needed for further operating expenses.

Anyone who has been overlooked during the drive, and who wishes to take out a membership, can do so at the Library, or by notifying one of the members of the membership committee. The membership committee is composed of the following ladies: Mrs. A. D. Cobb, chairman, Mrs. Middleton Hanson and Mrs. W. R. Wilson.

OFFER HISTORIC BLOCKS OF WOOD

Newark Schools Ask For Block Of Wood Cut From Old White House Trusses

The Newark Schools have filed a request for one of the souvenir blocks of wood cut from the trusses, which were removed from the roof of the White House, two years ago, when the Executive Mansion was remodeled. There are 5000 of these blocks which are being distributed to schools throughout the country by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

These trusses had held the White House roof more than 112 years over twenty-six Presidents of the United States. They were placed in the mansion when it was reconstructed after the Battle of Bladensburg—in 1814—and the sacking of the Capital. Though still in sound condition, they were removed when the recent remodeling plans called for a new arrangement of the roof supports.

To avoid duplication the lumber association will distribute these souvenir blocks only to the principals of individual schools who request them. It is pointed out that they are intended to serve as patriotic inspirational material for the school children of the country and the Association desires to get them directly into the hands of those responsible for exhibits of such material in each school.

Unfortunately there is not enough of this historic lumber available to make it possible to provide a block for every school in the country. As it is the blocks have been cut down to a size 2 1/4 by 2 1/4 by 4 inches, the smallest presentable size in which it was felt they could be cut. So it will be a case of filling the first requests received. Planned distribution to several hundred schools that had already requested exhibit samples prior to the decision to distribute the blocks to schools generally, has already cut the number available for other institutions to about forty-eight hundred blocks, but a special effort will be made to distribute these with as much fairness as possible.

The blocks are of pine, all in sound condition. They will bear printed labels telling of their source, and with each block there will be sent a printed leaflet telling the history of this now famous lumber. They will thus be available for effective memory in both natural and civil history work.

STREET PROGRAM ABOUT COMPLETE

Difficulties Encountered In Laying South Chapel Street Storm Sewer Have Retarded Progress

The town engineer, Merle Sigmund, reports that the laying of the curb and gutter in the fall street improvement program has been completed, and that sixty per cent of the grading on the improved streets has been accomplished. The completion of the contract as a whole has been delayed by unforeseen problems in the laying of a storm sewer on South Chapel street, but it is expected that the work will be finished by the first of November.

Twelve thousand feet of curb and gutter has been laid on South Chapel, Center, Manuel and Academy streets, and on Kells avenue, and much of the grading on these streets is finished. Some of them have yet to be covered with cinders, but that will probably be done next week. The foundation for the Amiesite has been placed on Center street, and the Amiesite will be put on next week.

Difficulties, due to an old sewer, which have been encountered in trenching for a storm sewer on South Chapel street have confined the workmen to that spot, and delayed the work all around. As soon as these are overcome, the contract will be cleaned up in short order.

DELAWARE COLONY WILL HOLD VISITORS' DAY, SAT.

Invitations have been issued to the various organizations interested in Delaware Colony, the State Home for Feeble-minded at Stockley, to attend the Annual Visitors' Day and Pound Party to be held at the institution, on Saturday, between the hours of two o'clock and four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Delaware Commission for Feeble-minded will hold a meeting at the Colony at one o'clock, at which time a treat of ice cream and cake, furnished at the personal expense of the Commission, will be given all of the children. At two o'clock all of the buildings, including the new dormitory, which is nearing completion, will be open to the visitors, and at three o'clock the children attending the Colony school will give a play and the Superintendent will make a report. The public is cordially invited. Members of the Board of Lady Visitors will be at each cottage to greet the visitors and show them around. Those bringing donations should label them with the name and address of the donor.

LEGION INSTALLATION

The Department of Delaware, American Legion Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of department and unit officers, on Monday, October 21, at the du Pont-Biltmore. Dugan, National Vice-Commander, American Legion, and Miss Adelaide Fitzgerald, National Vice-President, Eastern Division, American Legion Auxiliary.

On Tuesday William Johnson, aged 61, from Stamford, Conn., was picked up on the road near the Newark Country Club, in an exhausted condition. Yesterday a collection was taken up and Mr. Powell bought a ticket and put the old man on a train for Stamford.

Four hundred copies will be printed, and one will be given, gratis, to any Delaware poultryman who requests it and who will keep his poultry record on it.

On the back of the calendars, this year, are the usual forms for keeping complete single entry records of the poultry business, and a new feature will be poultry disease notes prepared by H. R. Baker, new poultry pathologist of the State Board of Agriculture. Calendars may be obtained by writing Ed Willim, Jr., New Castle County Agent, or H. S. Palmer.

WINS HUNT CLUB CUP

The competition for the Hunt Club Cup was over the outside course, and "Sunday Night's" victory, gives this showy black mare a leg on the cup, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

Tip Top Farms placed again in the saddle horse class, when "White Socks," ridden by Miss Charlotte Dayette, took the yellow ribbon in that event.

SCHOOL BOARD FIXES TUITION

Names Rate For Out Of State Pupils; Board Receives Reports; Stress Need Of Additional Building

A number of pupils come to the Newark School from other states. In arriving at the tuition rates to be charged the school authorities fixed the tuition rates at the actual cost of instruction plus the per capita cost of debt service. In grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 the tuition rates are $130.29, based upon the actual per capita cost for 1928-1929. In the elementary school the rates were fixed at $57.11. This difference is caused by several factors, such as greater number of text books in the high school. High school text books usually cost twice as much as they do in the elementary school. The greater provision for individual differences and differentiated of study in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 also adds an increased cost. All of these factors, however, tend to give every pupil that training which seems best to fit needs for future plans and work.

The school report, as presented to the Board of Education, shows an enrollment of 979 in the white school and 121 in the colored school. The percentage of attendance for the month of September was 96.7.

Efforts are being made to continually place special emphasis on teaching pupils how to study. This is a school's greatest mission and one which is too often overlooked. It is being tackled through the pupil's schedule of recitation and study for school and for home. The report cards carry the schedule of time for home study. The supervision and guidance of unprepared work is observed daily so that the proper differentiation can be made between inability or misunderstanding and carelessness in lesson preparation.

The 15 minute period at the end of the day also provides for individual suggestions and conference with pupils for clearing up daily difficulties. These office hours for fifteen minutes on the part of all members of the staff gives all pupils little reason to leave the school with misunderstandings if they capitalize this added opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Richards presented to the school a fine large steel engraved picture fully framed. The artist is the celebrated Hovenden. The title is "Breaking Home Ties," which is especially suitable for school use in the high ideals the picture portrays. It has been placed in the main corridor near the front entrance.

The class of 1929 presented to the Newark School a fine Seth Thomas electric clock; which has been placed in the auditorium.

A study is being made of the building needs of the Newark School. As is well known, the new building at the present time provides for 17 class rooms. Enrollment at present has crowded this space beyond its most effective capacity. Another year will probably bring critical conditions of overcrowding and a serious lack of class room and laboratory space. Application will be filed with the State Board of Education for building increases in 1930 and 31.

An original Columbus Day program was given Monday by the eighth grade group under Mr. Charles Boone. Josephine Blake played the part of an American pupil, for whom these characters acted their parts: Columbus, Charles Gibb; Queen Isabella, Anna Bell; King Ferdinand, Earl Melvin; Sailors, Frank Butterworth, Clifford Lomax, James Baird and Leslie Eklund. Mary Hayes gave an original story about Columbus. Marguerite Plé told of the old age of Columbus, and Lillian Mahan recited Van Dyke's "America For Me."

This afternoon Dorothea Chalmers, Warren Hunting, Alice McCormick, Margaret Wilkinson, Dorothy Wheelless and Lillian Brown, all members of last year's graduating class, will be presented with their gold keys of membership in the local chapter National Honor Society. These keys are given by Professor Ira S. Brinser.

CHIEF CAPTURES HEAVILY ARMED NEGRO GUNMAN

Keeley Makes Daring Arrest At Cannery Following Attempted Murder; Disarms Negro Who Had Drop On Him

HELD FOR COURT

Reckless daring on the part of Police Chief James Keeley resulted in the bloodless capture, Sunday morning, of a heavily armed negro desperado, who had attempted to shoot another negro. The captured negro, John Jackson, of Dallas, Texas, is in the Workhouse awaiting trial. The negro he fired at is James Bowman. The shooting and capture took place at the cannery between 7 and 7:30 a. m., Sunday.

Chief Keeley was called by Bowman, who stated that Jackson had tried to murder him. The Chief, with Officer Cunningham, went directly to the cannery, where Bowman pointed Jackson out. As Jackson saw the two officers approaching he pulled a 45 caliber army model Colt automatic pistol from his belt and leveled it at the officers. Both officers pulled their revolvers, but refrained from shooting for fear of striking someone of the crowd which had gathered and was then scattering in all directions. Jackson then ran around one of the shacks with the officers at his heels. Cunningham went around one side of the shack and Keeley the other. As Keeley rounded a corner of the building, he saw Jackson crouched in a bed of honeysuckle with his hand projecting and pointing the pistol. Without hesitating the Chief leaped feet first on the negro, flattening him out and disarming him before he had a chance to shoot. Jackson was then manacled and taken to the lock-up. A penknife with a vicious four-inch blade was taken from him when he was searched.

Jackson had a hearing before Magistrate Thompson, Monday night, and was held in $1000 bond for the Court of General Sessions on the charge of attempted murder was not pressed, although Bowman appeared against him as a witness. In default of bond, Jackson was committed to the Workhouse.

NEW CENTURY CLUB

The Newark New Century Club met on Monday afternoon in informal session, with Mrs. Ezra B. Crooks as chairman. About 35 members attended.

The feature of the meeting was a talk given by Miss Grace Holden, a member of the senior class at the Women's College, on her work during the summer with the workmen's children at the large cannery at Camden. This work was carried on this summer at both that cannery and the one at Rehoboth. The work was under the general direction of the Consumers' League of Delaware, and the Council of Home Missionary Societies, whose headquarters are in New York.

The principal financial backing for the project came from the Wilmington Council of Churches and from the local churches.

Miss Holden told in particular of her work at the Camden cannery. There she had charge of a group of mostly Polish children. The children spent their entire day at the welfare center, which was in an abandoned school building. Some instruction was given the children, inasmuch as was possible in a group of the sort. Most of the time was spent in play, directed by the leaders. The children were given a substantial lunch at noon.

The system was found so successful both from the point of view of the cannery officials, the mothers and the townspeople, who had previously been annoyed by the children marauding their gardens, that it was continued after Miss Holden and her assistant were forced to leave the work to return to their studies.

Announcement was made that Professor Elisha Conover will speak at the next meeting of the club.

REMOVING TREES FROM ELKTON STREETS

The work of removing the trees along the Eastern side of Church street, Elkton, was started under the direction of the Elkton Town Council, Monday, after a delay of several weeks owing to a legal fight between the State Forestry Commission and the town fathers.

About a month ago, when the work of laying a new concrete sidewalk on Church street, was started the local representative of the State Forestry Commission learned that Mayor Taylor W. McKenney had given orders to the town's employees to remove the trees along the sidewalk line, whereupon an injunction was issued to prevent him from carrying out his plans. Counsel for the town filed a demurrer to the injunction, and upon hearing argument on the demurrer, the court ruled that the law requires the town to obtain a permit from the Forestry Commission before removing a tree.

Following this the town made application for a permit to remove the trees, and then the Forestry Commission and the Town Council reached an agreement. The commission granted the permit desired by the town, and the town agreed to plant new trees in

Blaze Blocks Work At Largest Pulp Mill In Country; Loss Upwards of $50,000

The Radnor Pulp Works in Elkton, owned by the Jessup & Moore Paper Company, of Wilmington and Philadelphia, closed down Tuesday for probably six weeks because of the fire which late Saturday night wrecked a portion of the plant.

The damage probably will be about $50,000; it may exceed those figures, all depending on just how badly the machinery is found to be damaged. A thorough examination has not yet been made and probably will not be done for two or three days, when insurance adjusters are expected.

The undamaged portion of the mill started operations Monday morning and was kept going until all the stock on hand was used up, after which it was impossible to operate again until the chipping department is in a condition to work.

The fire was discovered in the engine room of the chipping department and in a few moments had spread to the chipping room, the place where the wood is cut in small bits and made ready for the digesters, in which it is cooked. The Elkton fire department was on the scene in less than 10 minutes, but the flames had leaped to the second and third floors of that section of the building.

Fire companies from Newark, Perryville, Havre de Grace, Chesapeake City, and Rising Sun responded to calls. Most of the companies ran their engines to the creek, only a short distance away, and got the fire under control in less than an hour. Newark, Elkton and North East were spotted together and pumped into the heart of the fire.

The closing down of the mill may necessitate the shutdown of the Providence mill, six miles north of Elkton, because the latter gets its supplies from the Elkton plant. Both mills are owned by the same company.

The Radnor mill, the largest chemical pulp works in the United States, was located in Elkton in 1880 by the late William M. Singerly, of Philadelphia. He had pulp made at Elkton shipped to Providence, where the paper was made for The Philadelphia Record, which he then owned. The mill had shut down only about 15 minutes before the fire broke out. The origin is a mystery.

place of these removed, but on the opposite side of the street.

Christiana

The all-day services at the Presbyterian Church, last Sunday, proved both interesting and profitable. A number of former members of the church were present; many old acquaintances were renewed, many long-forgotten events recalled, and many interesting tales retold. It is an interesting fact to note that all three ministers who took part in the services were at one time or another connected with Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church. Rev. Samuel L. Irvine, pastor of the Christiana Church, resigned the pastorate of Lower Brandywine twenty-six years ago; Rev. Thomas S. Armentrout, retired, of Wilmington, who preached the sermon at the morning services, was also formerly for many years pastor of the same church; and Rev. Colin C. Weir, who preached in the afternoon, is Lower Brandywine's present pastor. Music at both services was furnished by the combined senior and junior choirs, and lunch was served in the church during the noon recess. The offering, which was for the benefit of the cemetery fund, was a most generous one, and greatly appreciated by the officers of the Cemetery Association—Charles M. Appleby, president; Frank Moody, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Appleby, secretary and treasurer. Among the former members of the church who were present at this service were: Mr. Thomas Donaldson, Mrs. Mary E. Webber, Miss Elsie Webber, and Miss Fannie Cannon, all of Wilmington; Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett, Cooch's Bridge, and Mr. George W. Clark, of Delaware City.

At the meeting of the Aid Society connected with the Presbyterian Church last Wednesday evening, the ladies changed the date of their Supper from November 20 to November 19. Mrs. B. H. Moor, as chairman of the Entertainment Committee, presented an interesting program, consisting of readings by Margaret Moor, Ruth Phelps and Mrs. Moor, a recitation by Alice Walker, songs and guessing contests by the whole society.

Beginning with next Sunday, October 20, the regular Presbyterian preaching service will be at 2 p. m., with Sunday School at 1:15—a little change in the time, which all who are interested are asked to note.

Don't forget that the ladies of the Methodist Church are planning to serve another of their marvellous suppers in the basement of the church next Wednesday evening, October 23. Remember the date.

Unfair To The Firemen

Last week's issue of the University of Delaware Review carried a news story covering the fire in the H. E. Tiffany residence, which gave small credit to the local Fire Company for the manner in which it extinguished the blaze. The story stated that: "There seemed to be quite a bit of unaccountable delay . . . before water was thrown on the blaze. . . . Considerable damage was done by the fire and still more by the firemen and their hose."

The first statement might be questioned for accuracy. The Fire Company, with apparatus, was at the scene of the fire three minutes after the alarm had been received. Any delay in having a stream on the blaze was occasioned by a change to a smaller size hose to mitigate the damage by water. However, this was but a delay of moments. The second statement is quite possibly accurate, but it is phrased in a way to cast rather unfair and unjust reflection on the firemen. Fire fighting methods are necessarily destructive and damaging to property. In many cases where fire is quickly brought under control and extinguished, the water damage will exceed the fire damage. However, the water damage will never exceed the potential fire damage. Fire consumes, water only damages.

Newark can boast with good reason of the record of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company. It is purely a volunteer organization. Its members not only risk their lives and ruin their clothes in the service of the community, without a penny of compensation, but they raise the major portion of the maintenance and operating expenses of the company. The members not only give their time and services in time of fire, but each week spend time in studying and practicing new and improved methods of fire prevention and fire fighting. Each man is assigned a position and trained in his work, and the company is organized to the point where there is no lost action in getting to the scene of a fire and going into action. Through its own efforts the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company has provided this community with a fire fighting service that is as well equipped and as effective for the needs of the community as any paid fire department, anywhere.

Aetna's service, and the security it affords, has come to be taken for granted, and it is seldom that it is accorded much praise for its work. Its record is so consistently excellent, that it has become commonplace. Aetna does not look for praise, but it certainly does not appreciate or deserve unfounded and aimless criticism. Constructive criticism, directed to its president or chief, will be gladly received and given interested attention.

Atheistic Universities Founded

A week ago today the first two anti-religious universities in the world were opened; one in Moscow and the other in Leningrad, Russia. Three hundred students, among them 47 women, were enrolled in the Leningrad institution; 400 were entered in the Moscow university of atheism. During the past week the Central Trade Union, with headquarters in Moscow, has ordered the opening of nine additional anti-religious universities in towns in the Moscow province. Fifty-two thousand rubles was appropriated for the establishment of the additional nine.

The trade union headquarters also instructed trade union organizations throughout the Soviet union to appropriate from their cultural fund a fixed sum each month to local organizations of militant atheists for anti-religious propaganda.

Night schools have been opened in many large factories and clubs in Moscow to prepare a body of trained anti-religious propagandists, and several Moscow churches recently have been converted into anti-religious museums.

The university opened last Thursday in Leningrad, was named after Stepanoff Skvortsoff, a pioneer atheist in Russia. In an address at the opening of the Skvortsoff University, Professor Tan Bogoraz, of the Russian Academy of Science, declared that at the present time, when the church is attempting to regain its lost power in Russia, a relentless struggle, based on strict science, must be carried on against religion.

The founders of these institutions say that they are intended to prepare a large body of anti-religionists and active propagandists of militant atheism.

Unquestionably many of the honor graduates of these universities will be assigned to America, as disciples of Phallus, to carry their foul proselyting to the vitals of our most fundamentally important institutions, the schools and the churches. And they will find willing converts as the atheist agents of Communist (Third) International already have been successful in winning recruits to their banner, and planting their outposts firmly within the walls of our religious and educational structures.

And yet we are asked to give diplomatic recognition to the Soviet republic, and many who call themselves patriotic Americans, are clamoring for recognition of this monster, which has openly avowed its intent to destroy our churches, and to corrupt our educational system. We learn that in our own community are those who pooh, pooh the seriousness of the Communist program of atheism-pacifism-anarchism, and say that facts and conditions are exaggerated. Well the facts stated in the opening statement of this editorial are both unvarnished and authenticated. Perhaps there are some who will welcome these Russian scholars and find their ideas amusing and quaint. But the American nation, as a whole, will sooner or later awake to the menace of this invasion, and demand that the Communist agents in this country be banished or confined, and their friends and well-wishers silenced.

Others First

An old man who had met life serenely and tranquilly for more than eighty years was asked the secret of his cheerfulness. He answered in four words: "Thinking of other folks. . . . You can't travel very far in this world," he explained, "without finding that your path is all tangled up with other folks' paths. Some people think that if they can only travel their paths without getting hurt themselves, they're going to be happy."

"But there's more to it than that. When you've learned to dodge a collision, not because you're afraid of getting hurt yourself, but because you're afraid of hurting the other fellow, you're getting near to happiness. But when you arrive at a point where it's a genuine pleasure never to cause grief to another living soul, you're still closer. In other words, when you get so far that it's a joy to you just to make others happy, you're about there yourself."
—Great Thoughts (London).

In Reply To A Defense Of Pacifism

In a letter published in The Post, last week, Mr. Edward L. Richards rose in defense of certain pacifist organizations, and their campaign for disarmament. With some of Mr. Richards' sentiments, The Post was in complete accord, with others we differed in our opinions. The letter following this introduction is in reply to Mr. Richards' letter and contains sound logic on the cause of adequate National Defense. It is written by a man who has a great fund of authentic data at his disposal, and who is prepared to give fact substantiation of statements he makes.—Ed.

Fort Du Pont, Del., Oct. 15, 1929
Mr. Charles B. Jacobs, Jr., Editor,
The Newark Post.
Dear Mr. Jacobs:

I was glad to read the very interesting letter and quotation of Mr. Edward L. Richards and your splendid editorial comment thereon which appeared in the October 10th issue of The Post. Like you, I was impressed with what Mr. Richards has written, and I believe him to be sincere in his efforts to promote the welfare of the nation and of the world as he sees it. That he is actively working toward a definite goal, using, or sponsoring, methods which he sincerely believes to be the correct ones, is commendable. However, Mr. Richards, like a great many other sound Americans, overlooks, in his zeal, a number of fundamental facts, and is apparently unfamiliar with some others.

In the first place, World Peace and Brotherly Love, as now preached by a multitude of individuals and organizations, depends entirely upon a much more highly developed form of civilization than at present exists. For thousands of years the more or less arbitrary conventions of civilization have gradually been overcoming the human impulses that first burned in the breast of primitive man. Laws are enacted which make crimes of acts which have no place in civilization as man conceives it. The schools teach our youth the ethics of civilization and the philosophy of man, that they may better realize the requirements of a perfect civilization. The Church consistently teaches the doctrines of Christ, that we may more easily follow in His footsteps. But with all the inter-related and inter-dependent elements of our extremely complex civilization working toward a common end, we still have murderers, thieves and criminals of every sort. All are victims of human impulses that civilization has not yet been able to successfully overcome. Therefore, until we can absolutely subdue these primitive passions and instincts which lie buried in the breasts of everyone of us, World Peace is not possible of attainment, and national disarmament is ridiculous.

The same reasoning is applicable to our own national situation. While pacifist and slacker groups are loudly advocating inter-nationalism and immediate national disarmament as an example to the rest of the world, openly stating their refusal to sanction or support any future war whatever the cause, many thousands of our citizenry, among them many devout Christians, are engaged in armed warfare against the nation's criminal element. These murderers, thieves, vandals and burglars are, for the most part, highly organized and expertly directed. Not satisfied that our door locks and window catches are sufficient protection, we hire, arm and place in battle front before our wives, children and property, more guards than our little peace-time Army has ever numbered. The annual cost of this sort of warfare entails the loss of thousands of lives and a billion dollars of our property. This is the situation as it exists in the United States today.

Now, inasmuch as we believe that the practice of the principles of Jesus' teaching placed in the lives of these criminals in the United States would make unnecessary this warfare against them, and inasmuch as we try our best to sow the seeds of Christianity and Brotherly Love so widely that all mankind will follow Him to peace and to the safety of civilization, why should we not, as a matter of logic in comparison with the advocacy of World Peace, if the pacifist and slacker groups are correct, discharge and disband our armed police and constabulary, who far outnumber our Army, and thus set an example to the rest of the world of our faith in "these higher and finer forces"? Or are we the wiser to follow the course of Nehemiah in building our temple of Christianity with the trowel of doctrine and precept in one hand, and the sword of self protection in the other? Which method is the most logical and sane?

We know Jesus as the Man of Peace, but did not Jesus, as you state in your able editorial, employ, on the proper occasion, one of the weapons of the infantry of his day—the scourge? Did not at least one of Jesus' three executives carry a sword? And, on the occasion when Peter used that sword, did not Jesus, knowing that the use of weapons would be futile at that particular time, direct Peter not to throw his sword away, but to place it in its sheath?

In the second place, the organizations listed in the September 26th issue of The Post, to which Mr. Richards has reference, with the possible exception of the Peace Committee of Friends, are, in my opinion, insincere in their apparent efforts to bring about World Peace. The same is true of a multitude of similar subversive organizations, the names of which, together with records of their activities and affiliations, rest in my files. The majority of these organizations are openly Communist or are working hand in glove with Communist bodies, while a lesser number are carrying out a program which involves the saying and doing of many things that are highly pleasing to the Communists and Socialists, all of which means that, under the guise of Americanism and Christianity, the program of Communism and Atheism is being carried into our homes, our churches, schools and colleges, and into every place in which youth congregates. Under the labels of "modernism" and "liberalism," we, as a nation, are taking in Communism with large gulps in spite of ourselves, all because we do not think properly, and because we are so deluged with so-called "modernism" and "liberal thought" that sane control is impossible. Fatuous Americans are all too ready to allow George to do their thinking for them.

One of the straightest thinking ministers of the gospel that I have ever had the pleasure of knowing, is a modernist, and he preaches modernism in religion to a certain extent. He told me just the other day that modernism is likely to totally unseat religion in the United States today, if so-called "liberal thinking" with which we seem to be inflected, is not controlled by the intellects capable of doing so in the interest of humanity. Does anyone think that Communism, Socialism and Atheism are overlooking such facts as these? I believe that my article on "The Atheistic Movement in the United States," which follows Mr. Richards' letter in the issue of October 10th, leaves little room for doubt insofar as Atheism is concerned. And Communism and Socialism include atheism according to their own records. A college of atheism is being instituted in Russia by the Soviet government at the present time, its first sessions being attended by 300 students, 47 of whom were women. The Communist doctrine, as set forth in its official records, directs that the "friendship of liberal-minded ministers shall be sought," and that "conferences on the economic conditions among the people shall be held from time to time with these ministers, educators, and other liberal elements."

Is there not a sufficient basis here for the "liberalism" that is flooding the country? The evidence that I have leaves no doubt in my mind that Pacifism is an integral part of the communist program, with Communists, Socialists and Pacifists all dipping out of the same seething caldron. Therefore, when Mr. Richards states that these organizations and myself are working for the same ends, I deny that there is any relationship between their efforts and mine. I do not want war, nor a revolution nor a world dictatorship of communism; neither do the many splendid patriotic organizations and individuals who are waging a battle against the destructive forces of Communism-Pacifism-Socialism. I realize fully, in view of the situation being brought about by the Communist (Third) International throughout the world, that a World Peace cannot be successfully effected at this time. We are not prepared for World Peace, and the disarming of America will certainly set no example of "faith" to the rest of the World. I do believe in the perpetuation of America its ideals and institutions, and I further believe that this can be effected only by adequate national security until civilization is ready to undergo the test, if it can be termed such, of real and lasting World Peace and Brotherly Love. Until then let us follow the example of Nehemiah.

Very sincerely yours,
Victor E. Devereaux,
2nd Lieut., Eng.-Res.
Secretary-Treasurer.

Lodge Notes

JR. O. U. A. M.
The American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., continues to have live business sessions each and every Monday night. Councillor Lewis, with his wit and humor, is ever on the job for all emergencies. A fall and winter campaign will start at an early date. The fall applications are starting to roll in now. It is hoped for a large increase in membership. At recent meetings the Robinson School bill, now pending in Congress, was discussed, after approval of the same had been voiced a resolution was adopted as follows:

Whereas, There is now pending in the Congress of the United States a bill, known as the Robinson Public School Bill, whose purpose is declared to be: To aid and encourage the public school, and promote the public educational facilities of the nation, so that all the people of the several states and territories without regard to race, creed or color, shall have larger educational opportunities, and thereby abolish illiteracy, make more general the diffusion of knowledge, and provide for the general welfare, and to provide further for the establishment of a department of education, and the appointment of a secretary of education, to be a member of the cabinet of the president of the United States, and

Whereas, This organization believed that the upholding of America and America's ideals and principles depend upon better and higher educational facilities, and

Whereas, The success and strength of our order as well as the stability of our government itself depend upon education and the enlightenment of the youth of our land, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Newark, Delaware, most fervently pledge loyalty and support to the bill introduced by Hon. John M. Robinson, of Kentucky, which is now pending, and call upon each and every representative we have in Congress from the State of Delaware, to use all their power and influence to procure the passage of this bill. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our representatives in Congress, and to each of our United States Senators, same to be spread on the minutes of the Council, also copy sent to Newark Post for publication.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

ON TRAFFIC AND ROAD CONDITIONS

Editor of the Newark Post.
We read a great deal these days about bus and truck accidents, but we do not say anything about the size of these monsters that travel our State highways. If they want them the size of freight cars they should have special highways, and these not built by the State. No truck should be allowed on the present roads over two tons.

One morning of this past week a large dray truck of a contractor passed through Glasgow road. Well, it had all the road; cars in passing were compelled to take the ditch and stop.

We hear a lot from the Highway Commission about compulsory insurance, as if this would stop accidents and make people more careful. This will not do anything but drive many people off the highways.

What they should do is to get after the fellow that cuts in, then cuts out again the length of three cars, and turns in some side yard and stops.

Also the road hogs. I find the buses and trucks are the main offenders. This is also something that might keep the State Highway Commission busy. Drive over a few of the dirt roads after heavy rains, I cannot understand the useless large amount of money that is being spent on about seven miles of road leading to St. Georges. This amount would fix some roads that I am going to mention and some left over.
I do not mean that they could concrete them, but they could make them fit to drive over. One is the old Baltimore line from Cochrane to the Maryland line about two miles. Another is at Howe School in Kirkwood the other the Chestnut Hill road leading from pike at Walsh Tract School. This road is a disgrace to the state. A portion of the road is in the state, not by the state, but by some other part of the state cannot be described. These roads that I have mentioned have been promised. They get busy talking about them just before election, then forget, but the people that use them do not.

One of them, the old Baltimore pike, they blame on Maryland. Let Delaware finish its part then see what the other state will do.
Frederick D. Downs.

TELEPHONE AND PROGRESS

No industry is called upon to respond more quickly to the progress and changes made in the world than the telephone. It not only gives the service required today; it must be years ahead of the time in preparing for the future.

The great telephone achievements of recent years, such as international long distance and the general improvement in facilities throughout the world, have played an increasingly important part in the development of modern civilization.

Play Scoreless Tie In Opening Game On Frazer Field; Delaware Loses Ball On Ursinus' One Yard Line

In the first home game of the season the University of Delaware football team fought a scoreless battle with Ursinus. Both teams played hard tense football with the advantage going from one team to the other. Both elevens had chances to score; Delaware, in the second half, coming within a yard of the enemies goal line.

The Blue and Gold outlasted Ursinus decisively in the first period, making three first downs, and stopping every Ursinus offensive at the line of scrimmage. During this period Captain "Ace" Taylor tore off two long runs to place the ball deep in enemy territory. However, Delaware did not seriously threaten to score in this quarter.

In the second period, Young, Ursinus' sterling fullback, began to find holes in the Delaware line, and crashed through to make two first downs. Both teams resorted to kicking in this period and kept the ball in the middle territory most of the time. Delaware opened a short passing attack from behind the line that accounted for several good gains.

At the opening of the second half Ursinus began a merciless pounding at the Delaware line, which began to show results, and the Collegeville forwards and backs began streaming through on both the offense and the defense. Several of Taylor's kicks were partially blocked. On one forward passing play Ursinus had every Delaware man covered, and Taylor, after hesitating, started to run the ball. Four tacklers dove at him, but he eluded all of them and carried the ball five yards before he was brought down. In the same period Taylor intercepted a pass and carried the ball 35 yards to Ursinus' 15-yard line. A short pass, Craig to Taylor, gained thirteen yards and the ball rested on Ursinus' two-yard line. On the first play Haggerty hit the line for a yard, leaving Delaware three downs to make the additional yard and the touchdown. On the next play, Taylor tried an end run, but the Delaware defense crumpled and he was thrown for a three-yard loss. On the third down, Taylor hit the center of the line, but Ursinus stopped the play in its tracks, and there was no gain. On the last down, Taylor was again given the play, but the Ursinus forwards came through as the ball was snapped and "Ace" was smothered as he received it, losing five yards. This was Delaware's last scoring gesture.

In the last quarter, Ursinus opened an offensive that looked good for a score. They smashed the Delaware line for gains until the ball rested on the Delaware five-yard line. As the Blue and Gold line was apparently yielding and on the run, it appeared that Ursinus would score. However, a fifteen yard penalty was placed on Ursinus for holding, and a few plays later Ursinus was again penalized fifteen yards for clipping from behind. This removed the ball from the danger zone and neither team made any effective effort to score from then on.

"Ace" Taylor played the outstanding football of the game, and did most of Delaware's offensive work. Kane, Warren and Staats were towers of strength on the Delaware defense, and saved the day on many occasions. Hopkins, who was put in in the second period, was the only Delaware back to make much impression on the Ursinus line.

Scoring touchdowns in the first and third periods, the University of Delaware junior varsity football team defeated Beacom's College, 12 to 0, in a game played in Wilmington, Friday. Loose playing by both teams marred the game, but Doc Doherty's aggression had the edge throughout.

The Newark High School soccer team lost its opening game last Friday, when it bowed to the experience and superior playing ability of the Claymont eleven, 5 to 0. The Newark boys waged a stubborn defensive fight, but the Claymont team outclassed them.

Takes First League Game Without Being Threatened; Newark Attack Lacked Coordination

The Newark High School football team won its first game on the D. I. A. A. schedule, here, on Friday afternoon, defeating Middletown, 6 to 0. The game was not as close as the score indicated, as Middletown never threatened the home team's goal, while Newark was constantly pushing into Middletown's territory. However, Newark's attack lacked smoothness and unity, and it was not until the third quarter that Sommermeyer went over the line with a pass from Captain Frank Mayer.

Newark had three triple threat men in the back field, Mayer, Dean and Smith, but they could not seem to make their plays click. There was little or no interference provided for the ball carrier, and the Newark backs were usually stopped by Middletown's secondary defense. The Newark line played a strong defense game, and the Middletown offense charged at it in vain. The work of Captain Frank Mayer of Newark, both on defense and offense, stood out above the crowd. Coach Gillespie states that he is not as yet satisfied with the combination, and more shifts and changes are likely.

Tomorrow Newark will play its second league contest with DuPont, at Du Pont.

BOARDS THAT "GROANED"

Although the phrase "groaning boards" is usually associated with the heavy meals of older days, the phrase seems to have a double origin. For boards that really groaned were the wonder of London in 1682. There was exhibited to the King an elm plank which, when touched by a hot iron, produced a sound resembling deep groans. The mantelpiece in the main room of the Bowman Tavern in Drury Lane responded in the same way to the treatment and it was thought to have been made from the identical elm tree. The dresser at the Queen's Arms Tavern, St. Martin le Grand, was found to possess the same quality.

CAPE COD LIFE STILL HAS PRIMITIVE SIDES

Down Cape Cod way life is still a little primitive, despite all the modern improvements that have sifted in with tourist trade. Item: any day in the street of town or village you may see the courteous iceman painstakingly cleansing a chunk of his product with a whisk broom before carrying it around to the kitchen door. And item: local "talkies," according to one patron who frequently motors from Truro to Provincetown for amusement, fail to synchronize on an average of three seconds. He says he has timed the intervals.

OLDSMOBILE DEALER LEADS IN TERRITORY

The season has been highly successful for the sale of Oldsmobile cars, and the Hammond Motors Company, 37th and Market streets, Wilmington, have over-sold in Wilmington to such an extent that it leads its territory, which is east of Pittsburgh.

Some of the salesmen have been so successful in following out their work as planned by the factory, on sales promotion lines, that they have been given the opportunity of allying themselves with the Olds Motor Works.

Hammond Motors is starting a new sales training course and have five new salesmen in this training. The modern sales promotion course which is put out for the use of dealers, not only teaches the construction and the mechanical specifications of the car, but is a more than elementary course in grammar. Salesmen are taught the right use of the proper word at the proper time. Not to have to grasp and grope for words or thoughts, but to rely upon lessons taught in the sales promotion school, and with the proper word at the proper time, the salesman may give the impression that may be the keystone of the sale.

It is hard for the layman to understand why such needs are necessary, but the romance has gone from owning an automobile. It was not so long ago that when a man made a round-trip to Atlantic City in one day without puncture, without breakdown, running out of gas, or some such similar inconvenience, it was a front page news item. Today, an uninterrupted and pleasant trip of the same distance is accomplished in the space of a few short hours, and it is expected.

In the old days, the enthusiastic owner was enthusiastic over some particular mechanical detail. He had acetylene lights, or some patented windshield or top, or some particular gadget here or there. His car, two weeks newer than his neighbor's, had many niceties and improvements.

Today people are interested in the mechanical phase of the car only insofar as its performance is startling and economical. The feminine influence has been felt to such an extent that paint, upholstery, and appointments play an important part in selling. If the salesman is not able to intelligently talk about the vital factors of the car, his style is cramped. Everyone is interested in the riding qualities of their automobiles, and comfortable riding can be called to attention, and made appreciable more easily through the use of a few well-chosen words.

The blue prints have been forwarded to the Seattle factory, and engineers and mechanics there will be engaged for some time in the construction of a limited number of these new cores as working models and for samples.

THE SCREEN IN THE MODERN SCHEME

The history of the screen dates back to the very dawn of ancient civilization. But not for many a century has there been such a keen appreciation of it as we find in the home-making world today.

We live in compact quarters. Aside from the artistic part the screen plays, it is most utilitarian—hides gracefully many a housekeeping gesture that we prefer to make in semi-privacy. And so, since modern decorators are intensely practical as well as artistic, they find themselves planning entire schemes around a lovely screen.

In this direction the work of Robert Winthrop Chanler has received more than usual attention for its originality and charm.

In his estimation the purpose of a screen is to create an atmosphere of romance and mystery by providing a visible space and an invisible; beyond the screen is a domestic sanctuary; it takes the place of a hedge, shrubbery, or a wall around a home. His ideal of design is abstract—never the realistic interpretation of a subject.

In the screen illustrated by courtesy of Park Avenue Galleries, New York, another artist has executed a design which nevertheless fits into the scheme of a quiet room and adapts itself to the modernistic as well as to other types of furnishing.

While the finest modern screens are painted directly upon the canvas, many very effective things are also done through the medium of modern papers and fabrics. In interesting variety these may be had ready-made at the better studios and shops at prices well within the average income. Or one may choose a clever wall paper or design in hand-blocked linen, chintz or fabricoid in harmony with a certain decorative scheme and have it tailored upon a screen of conventional or modernistic outline. Any good wall paper house, decorator or department store specializing in home-furnishings will attend to details of workmanship.

By means of a movable screen the whole atmosphere of a room can be changed at will. It may add mystery to an otherwise uninteresting room; can be used to mask an ugly door, a radio, a wardrobe, or for creating a place of privacy. And finally, the screen can add a truly artistic touch to the room by the nature of its design.

HOLLYWOOD STAR PURCHASES CHRIS CRAFT

One of the most recent purchasers among motion picture stars of Chris-Craft, for which the Marine Construction Company, at the foot of Commerce street, Wilmington is State distributor, is Ken Maynard, featured in Westerns.

It all happened rather suddenly. Ken Maynard was prowling along the shores of the rugged coast of California one sunny afternoon, in search of a little excitement. He came to a small harbor where several boats were moored. Something in the harbor took his eye. It was a small boat circling round and round the bay. He was interested at once and upon investigation found that it was a Chris-Craft towing a girl on an aquaplane. He immediately wanted to be out on the board himself. As he is a great swimmer, the idea appealed to him immensely.

He watched the young lady get towed around in the spray for some time, and finally he could stand it no longer. So down he went to the shore, and frantically waved his hands to flag the craft. It stopped and came up to him, and then it was he saw a fellow actor at the wheel.

The upshot of it was that he got his clothes off and slipped into a bathing suit, and ten minutes later he was riding the surf-board instead of the girl—enjoying a thousand thrills. On his return to Los Angeles he purchased a Chris-Craft and is now a full-fledged yachtsman.

The Marine Construction Company maintains a 26-foot boat ready at all times for demonstrations, which may easily be arranged by a phone call.

THE FIRST PUBLIC UTILITY

Gas was first of the public utilities. It was followed by electricity which, in the opinion of many ages, was sound the death knell of the gas industry.

This was a logical belief, for the early use of gas was restricted almost entirely to lighting. But when electric power took its place in this field, a period of progress began for the gas industry in other fields that is still continuing.

A steadily increasing number of homes favor gas-fired heating systems. In industry, where manufacturing and chemical processes require heat, gas has more than 20,000 uses.

The gas industry is a major factor in our economic and social development. First of the utilities, it remains one of the greatest.

MUNDORFF GINGER ALE SALES ON INCREASE

Although the coming of cool weather results in a falling off in the sales of most bottled drinks, H. A. Mundorff and Son, Thirtieth and Market streets, report a good business with Canadian Club ginger ale as well as their quart-size pale dry ginger ale. While the Canadian Club has been bottled for some time by Mundorff's, the quart-size is comparatively new, but is selling very well. The value of ginger ale as a healthful drink, particularly at meal times, has resulted in many families keeping a supply always on hand.

The usual morning collection was taken in Church one morning, and the minister noticed a lot of dollar bills in the plate and two pennies. "Ah," said he facetiously, "I see there is a Scotchman present."

SCHOOL NURSES' HOME AWARDED TO ART STONE CO.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the "Better Homes and Building Exposition," held in the Wilmington Armory, under the auspices of the Real Estate Board, last week, was that of the Art Stone and Tile Company, 2500 West Fourth street, at which Arthur Pavoni is the president. A display of tile and cast stone work was carried and attracted a great deal of attention. The multi-colored tiles, arranged in clever designs, brought forth many complimentary remarks.

The Art Stone Company finished last week its contract on the Christy restaurant job, in West Chester, and is now engaged in furnishing the cast stone trim for an apartment house at Third street and Edgemont avenue, Chester.

New contracts received during the week were for all the tile and terrazzo work on the new Talleyville school and all the tile work in the new nurses' home at Brandywine sanitarium.

(Continued from Page 3.) This community was shocked Saturday evening when the death of little Margaret Venable, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Venable, became known. She had been only a few days with the dreaded disease, diphtheria, and died at ten o'clock. Margaret was a great favorite with every one that knew her. The mother and two other children, Hazel and Pauline, also suffered from the same disease, but are reported in same condition. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon with interment in Forrester Presbyterian Cemetery.

A row jumped the fence enclosing the new women's prison of the New Castle County Workhouse is open today from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., for public inspection. The new building is completely outfitted and is one of the most modern prison buildings in the country. The women prisoners of the workhouse, now numbering about 30, will take up their residence in the building on Friday. Mrs. Elmer L. Leach, wife of Warden Leach, is head matron and has two assistants. In addition to the inside work in the new building, the women will also do outside work, including gardening. Work on the new prison building was started more than six months ago. The structure is of brick conforming with the other buildings. Lights have been placed about the building and an attractive drive leads up to it. The grounds about the building have been put in good condition by men prisoners of the institution, who also did other work in its building. The board of trustees of the Workhouse, Warden and Mrs. Leach and other officials are greeting guests who visit the building. Announcement has been made that inspection parties cannot be conducted through the building after it has been put into use as it would disturb the routine.

Rally Day was observed in St. Barnabas' P. E. Church on Sunday. Miss Helen Littell, former missionary to China, was the speaker and told of the work being done in that country and of the ignorance against which missionaries, doctors and American teachers must fight. Miss Littell told of the great need of doctors in China. She said that only about 20 per cent of the children born in that country survive their first year as there are so many hardships, lack of food and fake treatments. The Rev. E. A. Rich and Mr. Frederick Bringhurst, superintendent, also spoke briefly at the session.

At the meeting of the Young People's Service League on Sunday evening, question games were played following a short business session. Miss Carolyn Mullins, president, presided, and Joseph Pyle was elected secretary, succeeding Miss Mabel Brown, who resigned. Miss Roberta Ford and Edward Ehart were appointed to study the work of the New Castle County Workhouse and give their report within the next few weeks. The same report will also be given before other organizations in the State. Social and program committees were appointed and announcement was made that a Halloween party would be held by the Diocesan organization in Old Swedes' parish house, Wilmington, the first week in November.

A barn on the property of Edward Cranston was destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon. The origin of the blaze is unknown. Mr. Cranston had placed some tools in the barn a short time before the fire broke out. The flames threatened the Cranston home which was close to the barn, but the firemen from the Mill Creek, Cranston Heights and Minquas Fire Companies succeeded in saving it. Damage is estimated at $5.00.

Mr. George Sasse, of Wilmington, is spending some time with Mrs. Catherine Frost.

Miss McIntosh died Tuesday afternoon about 2:30. She was ordained elder in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

A Roast Chicken Supper will be held on Cauffel Estate, next Thursday, October 24, for the benefit of Wesley M. E. Chapel.

MILFORD CROSS ROADS SCHOOL

The pupils of Milford Cross Roads School are devoting much overtime to the preparation of a Halloween program to be presented at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting to be held in the school room next Wednesday evening, October 23, at 8 o'clock.

A humorous play, "What Do You Know About Ghosts," will be given in realistic form by a group of boys. Everyone likes Delaware Reed in the role of a negro, for Delaware can take the part to perfection. Well, this time Delaware will perform as Washington Jefferson Jackson Lincoln. Plenty of names, eh? George Reed as Tim, the Irishman, will make you laugh throughout the play. Edward Kennedy as Ted Knight and Marlon Kwiatkowski as Tom Day add to the merriment.

Not to be outdone by the boys, a group of girls will present a two act play, "Who Was Scared?" Evelyn Jester as Dorothy; Hazel Johnston as Katharine; Carolyn Guthrie as Virginia; and Anna Mills as Louise. Girls in Madame Desantelle's select boarding school plan a night of mystery on Halloween. Helen Kwiatkowski as Miss Fairlee and Mary Kwiatkowski as Madame Desantelle make the plot thicken. You'll enjoy the unravelling of the plot.

The papers have been so full of stories about haunted houses recently that we're sure that you'll enjoy "The Haunted House," a play given by boys and girls. Paul Davis will be Leon;
