Special Services For Red Men

The Improved Order of Red Men of Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, attended church in a body last Sunday morning at the M. E.
Church. The pastor was greeted by a crowded house. His discourse was based upon David's words to Solomon, "Be Strong, therefore, and show thyself a man." The emphasis placed upon the principles of the Order—Freedom, Friendship and Charity—as elements of a strong man, the kind needed to-day, was highly edifying to the auditors, and greatly appreciated by the visitors. A number of visitors from other Tribes were also present.

NEWS

Here and There

Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson and Mrs.
Sarah L. Bilderback, two of the oldest residents in town, visited the Barum & Bailey shows last week in an automobile.

Walter Burris, of the Bear, was in town last week. Mr. Burris has announced his candidacy for Sheriff of New Castle County, on the Republican ticket.

There is some class to the new

Miss Agnes Medill is coaching
the ladies of Christiana for the entertainment to be given tomorrow
evening at the Presbyterian Church of that town.

Henry Leak, of Deandale, was run over by an automobile yesterday between Wilmington and
New Castle, and severely injured.

Joseph Lloyd had his finger mashed at the American Vulcan-ized Fibre Mill, yesterday.

Dr. Groff, who has had his office here for two years, will leave shortly for Australia. Before going he will take a special course for a month at University of Pennsylvania.

The stork visited the home of Will Adkins on Chapel street last week, and left a fine baby boy.

John Ennis, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

Wm. F. Lindehl has purchased a lot from Theodore Armstrong, on Prospect avenue, and will build this season. It is reported that twelve or fourteen houses are being built or plans being made for this section of the town.

D. C. Rose has put in cement pavement on his lots facing the Fraternal home, and will start to erect two cottages of the Florida type.

Ernest Pizer is getting along nicely with his residence on Wilkins Terrace.

Dr. Blake will start to build in a few weeks.

Mrs. Thomas will erect a house on a lot purchased on Prospect avenue.

Herbert Eastburn, who purchased the Morris Jordan Farm,
at Milford Cross Roads this spring, has recently had a new windmill erected. He says it saves him a lot of hard work. Of course, H. H. Shank put up the windmill.

of Winfield Coverdale, John Hough Fisher, Frank Clarke and John Lindell, will sing on May 28
at Ebenezer.

lished an office on Main street,
and are now ready to serve the public. Call Phone 1-2-3.

Soper, son of the apple king, of Kent county, and somewhat of a Prince of the Orchard himself, attended the exercises of the Red Men on Saturday. In speaking of the prospects down State Mr.
Soper said everything looked promising. The apple crop has not been injured and the largest crop ever grown in Delaware is looked for. Mr. Soper expects to have 11,000 bushels of the early variety alone.

We have noticed that Levi Murray is wearing a very prominent smile of late. His landford, Geo.
Kerr, has had Mr. Shank install one of those famous Hayes Double Cylinder Pumps on his farm.
It has two four inch cylinders and throws water at the rate of a barrel a minute. No wonder Mr.
Murray is happy.

Dr. Cook, of the Experiment Station has returned from a trip down State where he has been investigating the diseases of small fruits. He reports some damage by the strawberry weevil around Seaford, but says in spite of this and the late frosts, that in all probability there will be a large crop. The grapes around Smyrna and Dover have been hurt some,
but it is thought not to any serious extent, by frosts.

George Johnson took a business trip to Lancaster the early part of the week.

John Scarborough is confined to his bed with a bad case of measles.

RED MEN'S FRATERNAL HOME FORMALLY OPENED

Saturday was a gala day for Newark. Red Men and visitors from all over the State assembled at the Home which was dedicated last spring, and held the formal exercises opening the home to those members of the Delaware tribes deserving of its care.

Grand Sachems and chiefs stalked around the grounds with serious mien while their squaws, Daughters of Pocahontas, did the work of preparing and serving lunch. Stalwart young braves and Indian maids were in their glace. Boys representing the different tribes enjoyed the field

sports, while the band played strains from Hiawatha. Pretty In-record unequalled in any reservation in the country. He expressed his surprise at seeing such a Home perfectly furnished, and such beautiful surroundings, and promised to try to carry back

some of Delaware's enthusiasm
to his native tribes.

Several little Indian maids appeared and sang popular selections. Showing how quickly the Indian catches modern spirit,
they sang "Has Anybody Here
seen Kelly."

Joseph Nowrey, Great Toca-
kon, G. C. U. S., of New Jersey, then in a happy spirit presented to David C. Rose the following resolutions:

To the Great Council of Delaware, Improved O. R. M.:

ing had in charge the purchase

veloped a plan whereby the property might be acquired and the object of the Aged and Indigent Fund of this great Council could become a realization for the future benefit of the infirm trailing to the land of the setting sun.

To accomplish this result there was opposition to meet; prejudice to overcome, and unity within our membership to be acquired. With dian Maid and National airs.

About three o'clock Great Chiefs and Sachems from foreign tribes arrived. The program of the day began by the raising of a beautiful American flag, by P. G. S. David
C. Rose, the band playing the Star Spangled Banner. Led by Mr.
Rose, the assembly gave a rousing cheer for the Stars and Stripes.
Some suggested three cheers for Mr. Rose, which was given with a whoop.

The fine flag staff and flag was the present to the Home by S. J.
Wright, of this town. A notice
base of staff said:

Presented to the Red Men's Fraternal Home by a Red Man's Friend.

After a selection by the Henry & Young's Band, the Hon. Frederick O. Downs, of Massachusetts was introduced the speaker of the day. Mr. Downs in a very pleasing address gave a summary of the strong traits of the Order, and complimented Delaware as the first State to have a Fraternal Home for Red Men, and mentioned Delaware as standing first in her boast of every seventh man in the State was a Red Man, a and loyalty of their Chairman.

These resolutions speak for themselves, and can be doubly appreciated when it is realized that this is the first written commendation ever given to a Red Man
for work done.

Mr. Rose accepted the resolutions in a few words and invited
an inspection of the Home.

The Home and grounds have been put in excellent shape since the dedication last Spring. The house is furnished throughout with much taste. The paper, selected by Mrs. Thomas, was donated by the Jacob Thomas Wall Paper Company. Other donations that have been received are 25 gallons paint by James Bradford Co., Wilmington, two cars
stone by Charles Warner Co., plate glass for dining room by Howard Marston, of Wilmington,
marble posts for entrance by E.
M. Thompson, work on entrance arch by George W. Griffin, flag staff and flag by S. J. Wright, and One Thousand Dollars by Hon.
D. C. Rose. The rooms have been furnished by the different tribes of the State. It is now one of the institutions of the State, and will compare favorably with any similar institution in the country.

Many a youthful Hiawatha—
"Much perplexed by various feelings," will dream of the 14th sun of the Flower Moon, when he saw "The handsomest of all women—Minnehaha."

And some day, when he is an old prophet perhaps, with the heat of summer suns
coming here and watching purple vapors toward the fiery sunset in the dusk of evening and wait the time "when he shall go on the long and distant journey, to the portals of the sunset."

A pleasing feature was the post cards of the Home presented by the editors of the Delaware Ledger.

TRUST CO. BULLETIN

The Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company gave another proof of its progressiveness this week by the appearance of a neat four-page bulletin.

The paper is edited entirely by the Trust Company management and in the first number have given to the community an idea of what they are doing and trying to do. The bulletin places Newark again in the lead, this being the first bank in the State to publish its own organ, edited entirely by the Bank staff.

Several interesting articles appear in the different departments and a short history of what the institution has done for the town of Newark. The whole paper shows that spirit of progressiveness which has characterized the management since the bank was started.

The Directors of the institution are men long associated and acquainted with the business world and are men old enough to exercise that caution that is necessary to the success of a bank, yet in spirit they have shown themselves to be men of the present and future in their enthusiasm and energies toward making our town up to date.

We clip the following from Delaware's first-bank bulletin issued by Newark Trust Co.:

WHO WE ARE.

The Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company is one of Newark's most progressive financial institutions.

It was organized June 27, 1905, and commenced business July 17, 1905. Since commencing business its success has been most gratifying to its Board of Directors.

For some time previous to the organization of the Company, the need of another financial institution in Newark was felt by some of our most progressive and successful business men, and this growing need resulted in the formation of this Company, with a paid-in capital of $300,000.00. It was resolved to make this Company a Modern Trust Company in every respect, giving to the public the most up-to-date and efficient banking service possible. It was felt that those who were to become customers should be entitled to the profits of the Company, and so it was decided that interest should be paid on all deposits. Every one opening an account, however small, was to receive interest on the money deposited.

To date our surplus and undivided profits earned amounts to over $11,000. After having paid back to depositors in interest over $8,000. We can truthfully say that we were the first bank in Newark to pay interest to all depositors.

Newark is growing; it should grow, and we are going to do all we can to make it grow. The needs of the town and community are developing and its relations are becoming complicated so the machinery of business must keep pace with them if prosperity is to exist.

It has been and always will be the policy of this company to give to the public the best service possible in every way. We are progressive—we keep in touch with some of the most progressive and successful bankers of this section of the country.

We find out what they are doing, what methods they use for the advancement of their business and to promote the best interests of their patrons. We adopt these methods and if possible try to improve them. The Trust Company is a necessity to any community. It is a more flexible institution than a bank, because it has agency and trustee powers which National, State, and Savings Banks lack. For this reason its field of operation is broader and it appeals to that large part of the public whose needs are not met by other institutions.

Views Of A Kicker

Some weeks ago your paper had a letter from one of our citizens, suggesting that we boom the town as a summer resort.

This is a good idea, but it would require a good ad writer to display our advantages and beauties, so as to cover up the unsightly things in this town.

What would he say about pig-pens?

What would he say about carrying the offals from butchering in the back yards?

What would he say about overflowing cess pools?

What would he say about our stagnant gutters and paper being thrown on the street?

Newark can be made a popular summer resort, but not until the Board of Health, the Town Council and citizens themselves get busy.

If Newark can forge ahead, as it does under the criticisms, personal bickerings and petty jealousies, ye Gods, Mr. Editor, what would it do if everybody got in the band wagon?

I am not an old resident here, but have lived here some years, and never have I seen a town with more chance than this.

One of the strange things is this—When I came here I inquired about the manufacturers and very few citizens know anything about them. They had no more idea of what the paper and fibre mills were doing than I did, who had received only outside information.

You have gotten in a rut and nothing less than a calamity will ever bring you together. You couldn't start a pig race and have the whole support of the community.

Get together.

A KICKER.

HOW TO IMPROVE LAND

The natural sub-soil of the land of which I am writing is a reddish sand and clay loam, not more than 25 per cent. clay, with continuous cropping, with no practical method of improvement, the surface soil brought it to the condition as represented in the unimproved sample about 3 or 4 inches of surface soil—and that, so lacking in plant food, that it would not produce any kind of crop that would pay for the labor of cultivating.

Scarlet Clover has been the all important material for bringing this soil up to its improved condition. To get the first crop of clover on such soil, plow in July and harrow in thoroughly 400 lbs. of good commercial phosphate, then sow the first rain, sow 8 quarts of seed per acre in a harrow. The next spring, in April, sow 400 lbs. of phosphate composed of 1-3 potash and 2-3 phosphoric acid; if this crop should not be a heavy one when coming in, plow, turn it under; if the prospects are good for 2 tons of hay per acre cut and turn the stubble and plant in corn. Just before or after corn is planted top dress with 30 bushels of lime per acre. This land is then seeded to clover in August, after the cultivation of the corn is finished. Do not sow seed at the time of the last cultivation of the corn, but wait until the first good rain, and then sow seed and harrow in with a small tooth harrow just the width of the row, without tearing out side roots of the corn. This method of cropping every year can be continued for an indefinite time, as has been done for 12 years, at least, with my own soil, which is now producing 50 to 60 bushels of shelled corn and 2 tons of dry hay to the acre. This land will produce now in its high estate of fertility, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and fruits to the amount of $100 to $200 per acre, with additional application of commercial phosphate. Every time I plow this land I turn 1-2 inch of subsoil so as to get this deep soil.

If this land was rented for one-half and the tenant used the same good judgment in the management, it would return the owner, after paying for all material purchased for improving same, $14.88 per acre.

Young man, there are great possibilities for you to get an honest living and lay aside a good pension for old age out of what is now unproductive soil.

Talkers Vs. Silent Men

Mr. Editor:

Men, as well as women, talk too much. The silent men of History are the men who do things. Just run over in your mind the truly great and lasting men, and they have been men who did things. The ideal of my life has been to win the title of the Silent Man of the Community, but here I am breaking forth. I am a stranger to many of your readers. I am not in the faction. I was not on the Gravel Train and would have felt all at ease on the Gentlemen's Limited. I have heard you talk often and ask why is it that the town of Newark, situated as it is with the advantages it enjoys, does not forge to the head.

It may appear a silly reason to many of you, but it is because we talk too much. Observation will prove that the man who does less than any man in town is the man who can be heard every day of the year in this town. He is an encyclopaedia of information, knows the law on every conceivable subject, thinks all those opposed to him as detrimental to the town. He has the town more at heart than any citizen of the town. He is the most conspicuous figure in public assemblies and always with a fund of information on any conceivable subject.

He can give the history of any man who dies—his worth to his family and community. And yet—tell me one single thing that man has done.

Observation will prove that the woman who causes the most trouble is not the one who takes an interest in her home, her club, but who talks. No woman ever lived who is required to go to the postoffice over ten times a day. She talks too much.

The man who has done most for this town are the silent men. The engineer who held the throttle on the Gravel Train did not talk.

The train dispatcher who sent out the Gentlemen's Limited did not talk.

Who are the men who have made the most money, own the most property? Who are the men who have done the most for the improvement of the town and are holding balance of power? It is the Silent Men of the town. There are silent men on both sides, but they are the men who are doing things in this town, and if the man who talks will only keep quiet for awhile, the Silent Men will make this town what we want it to be.

A TALKER.

Look Ahead

The study of history is either present or future never past. The Philosophy of History should always look toward the future progressive not retrogressive. It is impossible to look back and judge aright. The correct vision is ahead. Pessimists are created by the study of History—constant looking backward.

There would be no such thing as pessimism if Forward was the cry.

A man who studies History, progressively and does not see the world is growing better, is either a fool or not capable of good reasoning.

I am tired of the Past. I have just returned from the funeral and instead of contemplating finding out how much better he was than I am, of how he made mistakes, lived in a more auspicious and opportune time, that he was stronger than I—his good points—all this is not (I do not ask you to pardon the use of the word—it is in the Dictionary and its meaning is very clear.)

This is the result of looking backward. Look ahead of you. The time is not out of joint. Stop cussin' spite. You or some one else was born to set it right.

A Woman And An Overland

A woman is going to leave Buffalo for a 4,000 mile trip in an automobile. She intends to do all the work on the car herself; to keep it clean and in repair. Strange for a woman she does not expect to have a man around.

Now, you say it cannot be done with any car you know.

Yes, it can be done—the car is an Overland.

RED MEN'S FRATERNAL HOME

The Red Men's Fraternal Home of Delaware is now a living reality, and it is pleasing to know that the Delaware tribes were the first in the country to establish a State institution for their aged members and their wives.

The work here accomplished is in accord with that noble trait of the Indian of the forest: to care for the old and feeble members of his tribe and honor them with that feeling which has here been so materially portrayed.

CHARITY AND FRIENDSHIP

We were especially pleased to see our fellow townsman, Mr. Rose, complimented as was his due. The set of resolutions commending his work had a special meaning when we learned that this is the first time in the history of the Order that a member has been commended for work done during his life time. And it was no breach of precedent, when it is known how Mr. Rose worked for the success of this home. Not only has he given materially to the foundation, but has given his time and moral interest in the affair since its inception. He has had practically control of the repairing and beautifying the building and grounds, and while many would have still been planning, Mr. Rose has gone to work and completed the task.

This work has been not only a help to the Order, of which he is a Past Great Sachem, but is now one of Newark's institutions, in which the whole State is interested, and toward which all of us may point with pride.

We may disagree with Mr. Rose in some other matters, but we gladly take off our hat to

THE MAN WHO DOES THINGS.

He has erected a monument that will not crumble for many years, and when he has passed on to the happy hunting grounds in the land of Podemah, his children will look with pride to the Fraternal Home of the Improved Order of Red Men, the first in Delaware, the first State home in the country, toward which their father did so much to establish.

Around Town

The notice by the Chairman of the Street Committee, prohibiting signs or posters on trees is a good one. He ordered all removed. They have been torn down, and many thrown in the street. Muffle the drum.

Many residents will sit up Friday night to see the comet and any other stars that may shoot from the School Board.

It is an interesting study to trace the history of the circus back to the days of Rome. Newark prefers the present day performance.

It was Red Men's Day, all right. Even the statue of George Washington on the lawn of the Red Men's Home was decorated with feathers of a Delaware Tribe.

Great institutions always in trouble—Ask New Century Club. The entertainment will be given in the Opera House this evening, instead of the College.

Council refused to take advantage of Elk River proposition on moral grounds. They offered to give it for three cents when they had been offered six cents. Who's got the button?

If you start a revolution in education be sure it is a step forward.

Don't confuse riot with revolution.

The eye of every citizen of this town riveted on the School Board. All is quiet and darkness prevails, except here and there a faint twinkle of Elk lights. It is midnight and Officer Reed armed cap-a-pie stands on guard.

Tuesday P. M.
Mr. Editor of the POST:

You claim to be trying to find out and publish the truth. And on that claim I write you for information and if possible want it in Wednesday's issue. The rumor is going about town that Council met last night and in a discussion regarding the Elk River proposition that the superintendent tried to force the issue by saying it had to be decided. I understand that Council told the officers of the Company at the last meeting that an answer would be given them at the next regular meeting.

The meeting last night, I believe, was a special meeting to discuss the cost of producing light at our own plant. What I want to know is this—Did the representative of Elk River say they wanted to accommodate Newark, if possible, and to do so would furnish light at 3 cents per K. W., but if Council did not accept last night that they had a proposition where they could sell it at 6 cents. And to this Mr. Jacobs replied that he thought Council should object on moral grounds to accept it for 3 cents.

To live where such high ideals enter a corporation is indeed a revelation. To furnish light for 3 cents, when it can be sold for 6 cents, straight!

Millennium has come. I suppose I will get all details in your issue but wanted this information.

If Council shuts up our plant or hands it over to a private corporation, school election will be a pleasant dream beside what will happen when the tax payers find it out.

I hear also that Council is to give a definite answer Wednesday night, when they had decided to wait until the next regular meeting.

I want to say that I have not always approved of the action of those who are now called leaders, but those who are holding out against giving our plant to a private corporation will win the approval of the town.

I do not think for one moment that they would willingly do us harm, but they have it in their power to wreck our plant that has cost lots of good money and can hold the balance of power.

We have entrusted the utilities of this town to these men, and though we may not always agree with their management, we do not want any one else to manage them unless we as taxpayers so decide by vote.

There is no sub-let provision. Children are not permitted and 6 cents versus 3 cent talk is children's talk.

Man Around Town.

THE "KICKER" AGAINST MUNICIPAL ABUSE ENCOURAGED BY BOSTON

There is a great gulf between the "knocker" and the "kicker." The latter is an efficient and often an indispensable factor in the maintenance of good government. Without the "kicker" there would often be inefficient and perhaps stagnation in municipal, State and National administration. Abuses would never be corrected; there would be no progress. In the case of a certain class of public officials there would be flagrant indifference to the welfare of the community, if not open exploitation of the people. The "kicker" is, therefore, a necessity—an aid and inspiration to good government—when his activities are prompted by a public-spirited desire to improve the methods of government and to get results which will conduce to the advantage of his fellow-citizens. Every important and useful advance in government has been the work of "kickers."

The right of the citizen to kick against abuses in municipal administration is recognized by the official publication of the city of Boston, the "City Record." In a recent issue it advised the citizens of the Hub how to make complaints about inefficiency in any of the departments of the government of that city. It suggested to them to write to the heads of departments in which there was just ground for public complaint, and if these officials failed to reply within a reasonable time to bring the matter directly to the attention of the Mayor. Thus Boston not only approves, but encourages the "kicker." It recognizes his usefulness and stimulates his activities. A city without "kickers" is either a city with a perfect government and with no room for improvement, or it is a city in which the people are indifferent to their own welfare and progress is an unknown element. The "kicker" has a work to do, and if he does it in the right spirit he is an agency for good. But there is no place for the "knocker." He is a menace to every community in which he is tolerated. He is an agency of destruction, the mouth-piece of calamity and stagnation. On the other hand, the "kicker" who kicks wisely and well is often a builder, a man who produces results, and therefore an ally of progress.

St. Thomas' Entertainment

The entertainment given at the Parish House of St. Thomas' Church was a delightful affair. Much credit is due Mrs. Rhodes under whose supervision it was made such a success.

The striking features of the entertainment was the singing by Miss Mabel Bowen and the quartet, composed of Winfield Coverdale, John Hough Fisher, Frank Clarke and John Lindell. Their melody of songs drew forth much favorable comment. The quartet will sing for the Ebenezer Church in the near future.

Students' Oratorical Contest

The contest of Orations by students of Delaware College will be given Saturday evening, June 11, in the College Oratory.

Subjects of these orations will be different phrases of the Temperance Question. Congressman Richardson Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, the hero of the Merriam, is expected to be present. He will make an address in Newark the next afternoon, June 12.

College Notes

Messrs. Walls, Harvey, and Davis composed the tennis team to represent Delaware in the Swarthmore tournament this afternoon.
The members of the team have been practicing faithfully, and it is hoped they will bring back laurels to Old Delaware.

On Saturday a number of the College students went to New Castle for a little practice shooting in preparation for the championship shoot to be held in June.
The boys used the State range,
and for the first practice did v-
well in their shooting.

Those who went were Messrs.
Heisler, Taylor, Vandegrift, Handy, Carswell, Ayerst, Davis, Eastman and Gwilliam. Lieut. Stayer supervised the shooting.

Special Meeting Of Council

Council met in special session on Monday evening. The report for the cost test was made and discussed. It has been found that light can be produced at our plant under normal conditions at about 3 to 4 cents per K. W.

At the last meeting of the Elk River Co. made a proposition to take over the town's plant and manage same and furnish light at 4 cents per K. W.

Mr. Maloney, representing the Elk River, made a new proposition to furnish light at 3 cents per K. W. The subject was thoroughly discussed. Mr. Jacobs objected to turning over the town plant to a private corporation with such a small margin of saving. It was suggested that if we closed our plant, it would endanger the town
in case of fire.

Council meets this evening to give the Elk River people a definite decision.

It was decided to do some curbing, and bids will be opened for same. Council adjourned until Wednesday evening.

Run Over By Traction Engine

Wesley Davis, a highly respected resident of this town, was seriously injured yesterday near New Castle. Mr. Davis was assisting in some hauling with a traction engine. Just before reaching Hare's Corner, the engine got out of order, and Mr. Davis was trying to adjust some chains back of the truck when the engine ran back over him, breaking both legs.

He was rushed to the Delaware Hospital, where he is receiving attention. It was thought, owing to Mr. Davis' age that it might prove fatal, but reports from the hospital late Tuesday night claim he is resting easy and there is good ground for his recovery.

Sunday Evening Services Interesting

The Sunday evening sermons

Mr. Alderson, at the M. E.
Church, continue to grow in in-attention. Next Sunday even-

the Ideal Young Man." A cordial welcome will be accorded all visitors. And a most hearty invitation extended to young men.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day exercises will be held on May 29, in the Methodist Church. The Reverend Alderson will preach a special sermon to the old soldiers. All the old Com-

The Memorial Day flags furnished by the Anti-Tubercu-week. The sale is in charge of the Public School. It is hoped that a good support will be given for this cause. Of all the uses to which we put our money, it is doubtful whether any of it is to a more worthy cause than this.

STORY

OF A

Business Growth.

This month 3 years ago I started here at 34 New London
Avenue just above B & O.

From a very small stock of groceries I have now a full line of general supplies.

My store is considered a little out of the way but some one has said, you know, that if a man
make a better mouse trap or sell a better article the world will make a beaten path to his door.
I am getting that path.

I buy from the leading firms and my goods are fresh and of the first quality. I positively refuse to hold goods. So I sell at a small profit.

I carry full line of flours and feeds of leading brands.

A line of Shoes and Working
Men's Furnishings of all kinds.

I am very proud of my store.

I am grateful to my patrons. I have built up this business and hope to continue.

I have purchased this property
during the last year; have improved it and am ready to give you my best service.

HOLEPROOF Famous Guaranteed Hose

Nothing that a man puts on gets harder treatment than his sox. Out of their inability to stand the strain grew the drudgery of darning, the discomfort of wear-

Until a bright mind strengthened the weak points—heel, toe and garter-grip—with a 6-ply weave of 63-

ASK ANYBODY FROM DELAWARE

This Is What "The Searchlight" Thinks
Of A Delaware Senator

In striking contrast with some of his more famous and more notorious colleagues, Harry Richardson, of Delaware, stands out, in some respects, the strongest and weakest member of the United States Senate. He is strongest in that he really represents all the people of his State. With possibly three exceptions this is true of no other member of the most exclusive club in America. He is strongest in that he is under no obligations for favors received and he is strongest because he has no anxiety about favors to come. He is weakest because he cannot command the attention of the world by making bloody-shirt speeches, by playing the demagogue, by joining cliques to obtain results or by getting his picture in the newspapers with a certificate of deposit serving as a frame. With a manner most retiring—a voice soft and low and a personal presence not at all striking, Senator Richardson, like the best dressed man in a throng passes unnoticed. He entered the Senate the same day that Jeff Davis made his appearance. Davis declared himself, demanded his and served notice that he was ready to meet all comers. He wanted the best and he wanted it quick. He was the big noise in Washington for a week and he has never been heard from or heard of since. Harry Richardson expressed no preferences, voiced no prejudices, took what was offered him and, by some singular coincidence got about all the things Davis wanted but could not get. Thus in every walk of life Harry Richardson asserts himself and his great strength with the resolute courage of a man who knows and with the quiet dignity of a gentleman who respects the rights of those who cannot enforce them.

It was characteristic of Harry Richardson to place his resignation at the disposal of his friends in Delaware when his illness kept him away from the Capitol during the Tariff debate. It takes a very strong man to offer, in good faith, to relinquish a seat in the United States Senate upon call. Roscoe Conkling and Tom Platt did it and bitterly regretted the step—both being retired forthwith by their constituents. The Senator from Delaware, who should write him name Harry Richardson, to conform to the colloquial pronunciation, took no chance. The people of Delaware will continue him in office as long as he will consent to serve.

Those who assert that they never heard of Harry Richardson will be much surprised to learn that he is well and favorably known wherever food products are sold. His firm is one of the oldest packing concerns in America. "Ask anybody from Delaware," is the trade slogan of the house of Richardson and Robbins, and this invitation to inquire means precisely what it says. More than a million dollars have been spent in sending this evidence of good faith around the world. Imagine such an invitation being extended by the big, carry-everything, sell-everything, fool-everybody warehouse where the refuse of legitimate trade finds quick outlet and where the public becomes rich in experience! Impossible. In the four corners of the world, in Hong Kong, in the Transvaal, in Sitka, in Melbourne, in camp, in home and wherever men and women meet to eat there the personal warranty of Harry Richardson stands high above any pure food law. He has made the output of his great plant with his own hands, he has served it in his own home and he would not permit the most lowly cow puncher on the range take a chance with anything bearing his label. When Harry Richardson bids the world "ask anybody from Delaware" he means that they shall ask about him, his business, his home, his credit, and above all other things the product of his plant, which was established by his father.

When a lad of 16 he was given his choice between a job in the factory of Richardson & Robbins at $1.50 a week or a complete college education. The boy went to work. Tough as was the factory job he preferred it to Greek and Mathematics. Mr. Robbins, the Junior member of the firm, died in 1877, and this gave the boy of 23 the chance of a lifetime. He had made good so far and in so many ways that his father took him into partnership. Eighteen years later the burden of the great business fell upon his shoulders entirely—his father passed away.

Some years ago the First National Bank of Dover was looted by William H. Boggs, its cashier. Harry Richardson was then, as now, president of the institution. The amount stolen was equal to the total deposits and there was some impairment of capital. Early on the morning of the day that the report of the robbery was confirmed half the population of Dover was in front of the bank prepared to demand all that was theirs. Harry Richardson pressed his way through the crowd and from the steps of the bank made his first, last and only speech, saying:

"I would like you to go away from here and give us time to straighten out this matter. I will see that you get all of your money. There will be no delay in settlement. The money must be brought here from Philadelphia, and until it comes we must ask you to be patient."

"Are you going to stand back of the bank, Harry?" an old man asked.

"With every dollar I have."

"There ain't no need to send to Philadelphia for money then. We all can wait."

The crowd moved away. The bank was opened on time and no person ever lost a penny unless it was Harry Richardson, who never discusses the matter.

The various fights for political supremacy in Delaware during the past twenty years have been a National scandal. The whole Commonwealth was debauched by one or another of the contenders for the seat in the Senate which Harry Richardson now places at the disposal of his friends and more than $5,000,000 was spent in corrupting the political morals of the community but despite all this Harry Richardson was elected to the Senate without the improper use of a dollar in a community which it is generally believed that the legal right to vote carries with it the moral right to barter and trade in votes.

Harry Richardson is a member of the United States Senate by common consent. His millions represent clean money. He stands for the highest ideals in life and he has woven into his business and into his politics the warp and woof of individual honesty and absolute sincerity.

It is a great thing to be a good man.

"Invitation To Zion"

To the NEWARK POST.

"Peace to thee."

I have just received the NEWARK POST of April 20th, through the kindness of a relative. I can not help writing to tell you how much we think of the paper. It is a rare gem in the way of a weekly paper, most papers are filled with medical advertisements and other catch penny ads. Your editorial on the Presbyterian is good; think of a religious paper printing medical ads, when the word of God tells us so plain that Christ is the healer of his people. Mark 16: 18. Then Mark 11: 24. Turn to Jer. 17: 5, and see the reward of those who trust in man. When I read your paper I think you are almost a Zion man. Did you ever hear of a little city just half-way between Beer (Milwaukee) and Babel (Chicago)? This is where I live, a Kingdom of God City. We have no tobacco—if any comes in who tries to smoke a finger of scorn is pointed at him. Saloons are unknown. No doctors, no drugs, no hospitals, no pig, no oysters. We live the Levitical law as taught in Lev. 11. Read carefully the 7th verse that makes Mr. Pig no good and verse 10 proves oysters are forbidden as unclean. Christ came not to destroy, but to fulfill. He says not one jot or tittle shall pass away. Our little city is founded on the lake front, contains 6,000 acres. We have a beautiful place to live out the Kingdom life. To be sure, we have battles to fight, but we have a brave General to lead us on to victory. Zion's banner was trampled in the dust with the downfall of Dr. Dowie, but under the leadership of General Overseer Voliva once more our banner floats to the breeze. Many sinners are saved, and wonderful healing takes place. How I wish everybody would come to Zion City and hear the Bible truths of Zion as taught by Wilbur Glen Voliva (Vol-i-va). We would be glad to welcome our old Newark friends into our city. Our Zion Home will accommodate 300 guests. So if you will but come we will take the best care of you and take delight in showing a city that has been established by God. "Where God rules man prospers." Our Tabernacle seats 7,000 people and we have a robed choir of 250 to 300 voices. A

PRESS BULLETIN

Of The Delaware State Board Of Agriculture

The newest thing in spraying in Delaware is the use of arsenate of lead and the self-boiled lime sulphur wash for the two great enemies of the peach fruit, the curculio and the brown rot. The United States Department of Agriculture in connection with the Experiment Stations of several of the States, has been working on the problem and a pretty definite recommendation is now made. It is as follows: Spray about the time the caps fall off the fruit with two pounds of lime to 50 gallons of water. In two or three weeks from this time spray with the self-boiled lime sulphur, omitting the arsenate of lead. The arsenate lead paste is mixed with a little water and added to the lime water in the first instance and to the self-boiled lime sulphur in the second. For both the second and the third sprayings the self-boiled lime sulphur is made by using 8 pounds of quick lime and 8 pounds of flour of sulphur to 50 gallons of water. The lime is placed in a suitable barrel or other receptacle, and about two or three gallons of cold water is poured over it, and as soon as it begins to slake the moistened sulphur is added. As soon as the slaking is over the mass is cooled by adding cold water and then the spray is diluted to 50 gallons, and strained ready for spraying. No fire is used in this process. Instead of this self-boiled mixture, one and a half gallons of the commercial lime sulphur wash is sometimes used to the 50 gallons of water, and the two pounds of arsenate of lead.

In response to inquiries, letters have been received by the Delaware State Board of Agriculture from a number of Experiment station men giving their views and experiences. Dr. S. W. Fletcher, director of the Virginia station, says: "We are strongly recommending the use of lime sulphur, either self-boiled, home boiled, or factory boiled, for the summer spraying of tree fruits. We are especially recommending the use of self-boiled lime sulphur and arsenate of lead on peaches, and the use of factory boiled lime sulphur diluted 1 to 30 on varieties of apples subject to bordeaux injury, such as Ben Davis, Winesap, Albemarle, and Grimes Golden."

Professor W. H. Chandler, of the University of Missouri, writes: "This station recommends the use of the self-boiled lime sulphur and arsenate of lead, or of arsenate of lead with plenty of lime, to control the peach curculio and brown rot. A good many men in this State have sprayed with arsenate of lead twice and have had very little peach scab or brown rot. It seems that the arsenate of lead has considerable value as a fungicide, and controlling curculio, almost controls brown rot; so we recommend either giving two sprayings with arsenate of lead, the second of which is combined with self-boiled lime sulphur, and another one about one month before the fruit is ripe with self-boiled lime sulphur alone; or we recommend the alternate plan of spraying twice with the arsenate of lead, using plenty of lime to prevent injury."

Several others have tried this remedy and all recommend it in spite of the fact that there is danger of possible injury to the peach leaves.

OVERLAND IS THE CAR

A 40 h. p. Overland with 112-inch wheel base. Price with single rumble seat, $1,250—double rumble seat, $1,275—with 5 passenger Touring or Close-Coupled body, $1,400

The Reason

The car is amazingly simple. Three of the models operate by pedal control. Push a pedal forward to go ahead, and backward to reverse. Push another pedal forward to get on high speed. It is as simple as walking. A 10-year-old child can master the car in ten minutes.

The Overland has less parts than any other highgrade car. One invention alone does away with 47 pieces. The car is almost trouble-proof.

OVERLAND "Model 38" is the first real car for $1000. Built by the same expert mechanics who made famous the costly Pope-Toledo cars. It is the only car at the price that gives plenty of room everywhere; that is really comfortable either on long or short rides or country tours; it is the easiest car in the world to drive—barring none; and it will stand up and give absolutely perfect service under conditions which none except the most expensive and carefully constructed cars will endure.

Like all our Planetary Models, the well known Overland Motto applies—"Only pedals to push and no noise but the wind."

The Reason

The Overlands' supremacy—wherever known—is due to the following reasons:

The Overland engine is a wonderful creation. It is so automatic, so silent and powerful, so free from the usual troubles, that it appeals to the average buyer.

The OVERLAND stands the test.

There may be stronger and more serviceable cars than this—but no one around here knows which one it is.

Look for the "Story of an Overland" in next week's issue.

Overland Model 38—Price $1,000. 25 h. p.—102-inch wheel base. With single rumble seat, $1,050—double rumble seat, $1,075—complete Toy Tonneau, $1,100

All prices include Magneto and Full Lamp Equipments.

Sunday School Lesson

By R. S. Holmes

Lesson VIII. May 22, 1910.

THE DEATH OF JOHN THE BAPTIST.

(Matt. 14: 1-12.)

Golden Text: "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." Prov. 16: 32.

Jesus had become famous. Everywhere in his native land his name was a household word. Some loved, some hated, all were curious. "Who is he?" was often asked. The story of his deeds came at last to Herod. The effect the narration had upon that wicked man is the occasion for this preservation for the world by Matthew of the reason for and the manner of the death of John the Baptist.

THE LESSON.

Vs. 1. "Herod the tetrarch." This man's name was Herod Antipas, a son of Herod the Great and ruler of one of the provinces into which Palestine was divided after the great king's death.

"Tetrarch" means really "governor of a fourth part." He was a wicked man. Hebrew in origin, Roman by education and affiliation, he had all the vices and almost none of the virtues of the two nations combined in his personality. To the ears of this man came the fame of Jesus.

Vs. 2. The verse shows how conscience and superstition were combined in this man. The reports about Jesus troubled him. "It is John," he said. That was conscience. "He is risen from the dead," he continued. That was superstition. Guilty fear filled him. This is the first hint that John was dead. How came he to die? The remaining verses tell the story.

Vs. 3. Arrest, chains, prison for a good man for the sake of a wicked, shameless woman. Herodias was the wife of Herod Philip. The two Antipas and Herodias were living in adultery. All the world knew it, and John the Baptist dared to tell the king so. Herod loved the sensational. John had interested him. He sent for John to preach. He wanted a new sensation. John furnished it.

Vs. 4. He was not afraid of the king. Stern and uncompromising, he told the king the truth, and the heart of the woman was filled with hate. The most vindictive thing in the world is overtaken sin, be it in man or woman. This woman's hate was implacable.

Vs. 5. The king was a murderer in his heart, and he was a coward besides. He did not dare to anger the common people. John was a popular idol. A man who dares to attack fearlessly is always dear to the popular heart. To arouse that heart against himself not even wicked Antipas dared to do. It would have made a tumult, made doubtless, riot and bloodshed, and a swift inquiry by Rome.

Vs. 6. A birthday of a king was a great occasion. Such days are yet. We keep, even we common people do, our birthdays, and make them times of happiness, and mirth sometimes. Herod and his lords made the king's birthday an occasion for a banquet and a drunken orgy. The queen's daughter, Salome, shameless and wicked as her mother, danced for the gratification of the revelers. It was a dance to make decency blush, and it pleased the worthless kinglet.

Vs. 7. There have been many bad promises made in this world. Unlimited, unmodified promises are bad. This was one. What would such a shameless girl be asked to ask? He doubtless thought of gold, or gems, or gratifications for her royal lusts. With an oath he swore it. "Whatsoever" is an all-embracing word, and a king's oath must not be gainsaid. If the king shall be false to his oath, what will the subject be?

Vs. 8. Did she answer? Not she. What do I want? She goes with the promise to her mother. What a pair to talk together! Poor John in the prison did not know, could not know, how his life was being bargained away by the two wickedest women in Palestine.

The girl returned to the banquet hall, and made the infamous request. What an awful thing that was. How could she say it?

UNDERWOOD STANDARD TYPEWRITER

A LEADER

The principle of construction in the Underwood was found first in the Underwood, and every typewriter seeking business in the same field with the Underwood which has been put on the market since the advent of the Underwood, has been an imitation of, and in general appearance like, the Underwood.

The last "Blind" advocates of importance have now fallen into line, and there is not to-day a single "blindwriting" typewriter actively on this market. Recall all the arguments you have heard in past years by Underwood opposition, and you will realize what an advance agent to progress the Underwood has been; then bear in mind that the Underwood was the first fully "visible", has had time to develop and improve, and is to-day the most perfect typewriter made.

"The Machine You Will Eventually Buy"

UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER COMPANY INCORPORATED

Philadelphia Branch,

725 Chestnut St.,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

But she did. She repeated the words her mother had taught her.

Vs. 9. Only a few words are needed to tell the rest of the story. It sobered the rash king. He was sorry. No wonder. But what was one Jew's life to a king? What was crime when compared to an oath? It must have made silence in that hall. Would he do it? What was the life even of a prophet to an oath sworn in the presence of his nobles? He gave the gruesome order. "Give her his head." Oh, the sins of the world! Oh, the sins of the kings of the world! Oh, the sins of the women of the world! Nothing can condone them. History will never forgive them.

Vs. 10. This is the short, sad record. It needs no comment.

Vs. 11. Think of it. Shudder over it. Weep at the depths to which a woman can fall. That girl took the ghastly thing and carried it to her mother. What had Salome when all was done? If any sense of modesty was left in her, she had a memory over which at times even her face must have crimsoned. What had her mother? Satisfied hate. The thought of the enormity of the crime of the Empire of Rome under the Caesars is horrible. This is one of the side lights which the New Testament throws on the whole colossal wickedness.

Vs. 12. Poor disciples. Not disciples of Jesus. Oh, no. Humble adherents of John. Men who loved him and remained near him. Men hoping, doubtless, every day that Herod would have compassion and release their prophet. And at last all they had was a headless body. The voice would be heard no more. The last prophet was dead. The least in the new Kingdom of God was to be greater than the last martyr of the old-time law.

How pathetic that last sentence is. "They went and told Jesus." What else could they do? It is all we can do now, when grief comes, grief greater than we can bear. But it is a lovely thing to do. Jesus will always hear the story of woe, will always comfort in the sad hour.

The Golden Text says it is better to be slow to anger than to be a king, or that is what it means. It says it is better to be self-controlled than to be a conqueror. That is a Golden Text worth remembering always. If Herod had been slow to anger, he would never have put John in prison. If Herod had been self-controlled and not maddened with drink he would never have made the rash promise. All the wisdom of this world has not been uttered by the present age. That old Book of Proverbs is filled with wisdom as a rich placer mine with nuggets of virgin gold.

PRACTICAL.

It is better not to hear than to use what is heard basely.

Conscience is active when least expected, and its activity is found in the most unlikely hearts.

It never occurred to Herod that a new era had dawned, and that an age that had produced a John could produce a greater than John.

To arrest a man for crime is right. To arrest a man because of another person's hate is wrong. The worst enemies are women. Men cannot hate as women can, even as they cannot love as women can.

Courage is a wonderful virtue. It is never bravado. It never blusters. It is seldom noisy. But it acts.

The truest courage is that which dares to stand out against power when power is wrong. It costs nothing to tell a beggar he is a sinner. There is no danger in that.

John said to a king: you are a law-breaker. You and your parliament are adulterers. It would not have been less offensive to have been less direct.

The offense of John lay in the fact that the king knew he was telling the truth.

Hate can sink the human heart to the lowest depths of hell. Herodias would have made a good second for Jezebel.

Heart-broken disciples were faithful to the end. They did the last thing love can do.

Then they told Jesus. There is the example that we should follow. Do your best clear up to its last possibility. Then go and tell Jesus.
